Mrs. Winifred (Bill) Gielow accepts Woman of the Year Award from Bob Daehn, chairman of Kiwanis Club Awards Committee

Mrs. Gielow Named Woman Of The Year

By JEAN PATTESON Women's Editor

Mrs. Winifred (Bill) F. Gielow was honored by the Kiwanis Club of Sanford yesterday when she was presented the Roberta Gatchel Woman of the Year Award for 1975 at the club's Annual Awards Luncheon in the Sanford Civic Center.

"I am just overwhelmed," said Mrs. Gielow, upon accepting the handsome engraved plaque. "I feel this is the most covetted women's award in Sanford and my appreciation goes to my club (Woman's Club of Sanford) and to the hundreds of people who have helped me in my community efforts . . in particular, for his help, encouragement, patience and endurance, my thanks go to Walter Gielow." Presenting the award was chairman of the Kiwanis Awards Committee, Bob Daehn, who with committee members Phil Rush, Ralph Austin Smith, Ernie Cowley and Bill Fraasa, made the selection from eight nominations. These nominations were made by Woman's Club of Sanford; DAV Auxiliary 30;

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce; Seminole County Unit, American Cancer Society; Norman deVere Howard Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club; SISTER Inc. and American Legion Auxiliary Campbell Lossing Post 53. Guests of honor at the awards luncheon were former Woman of the Year award winners Irene Laney, Valerie Colbert, Rosamond Chapman, Charlotte Smith and Dr. Maria Perez. Also, Mrs. Dottie Karns, president of the Woman's Club of Sanford, was present to accept the Woman of the Year

Sanford in 1957, and is a member of the First resbyterian Church where she has served as

Women's Circle, She has been on the board of directors of the Seminole County United Fund since 1964 and secretary for 11 years. Mrs. Gielow is also active in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, serving as a director, on the membership committee and the Ladies' Civic and Community Affairs Committee. She was a director of the Good Samaritan Home Building Fund and was instrumental in securing a $4,000 grant from the Washington Foundation for the establish ment. Her family has assisted greatly in furnishing the home. As a member of the Chamber Beautification Committee, Mrs. Gielow has seen the upgrading of Memorial Park and the old bandshell on the Sanford lakefront, and the landscaping of traffic islands at the junction of Park and French Avenues. She is urrently involved in developing a scenic walkway along the lakefront as part Seminole County's Bicentennial celebrations. Mrs. Gielow is a director of Seminole Mutual Concert Association; on the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army; a staunch Get out the Vote supporter and involved with Seminole County Mental Health Association. Finally, as a member of the Woman's Club of Sanford, she has served as conservation chairman and Community Improvement Project (CIP) chairman. The Woman of the Year Award is made in honor of Kiwanis Club benefactress, Mrs.

Union chiefs see this as the exception rather than the rule. But with jobs getting more scarce, situations of workers taking some form of pay cut are increasing. Although few workers are accepting any actual drop in hourly wages, the result of shorter working hours has the same effect in reducing the size of paychecks.

Compromise Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) - The margin of the Senate vote blocking the first part of President Ford's energy-conservation program could increase pressure on the President to compromise. Ford repeated his promise to veto the bill after the Senate approved the measure 66 to 28. The House earlier approved the tariff-delay bill by a 309-114 margin. Majorities of two-thirds of those voting in both chambers are required to override a veto.

Jury Indictments Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) - The investigation into Richard M. Nixon's tax returns will go no further than the indictment and trial of his former tax lawyer and a document appraiser, it has been learned. A Watergate grand jury indicted Los Angeles attorney Frank DeMarco Jr. and Chicago appraiser Ralph G. Newman. However, sources say that no additional persons face prosecution in the tax case. Energy Cuts Are Required

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has outlined a promising strategy for bringing down world oil prices and making the industrial nations less vulnerable to price-manipulation and boycotts by Arab oil producers. It would require, of course, American people dig in for a period of using less energy and paying more for what they use.

President Ford's plan to add a $3 per barrel tariff to imported oil is a first step toward inplementing the Kissinger strategy. The skepticism this move has generated, and the effort in Congress to head it off, indicates that it may be harder to sell the strategy to our own people than to sell it reduce demand for oil from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. OPEC members aiready have cut their oil production by 25 per cent in order to keep a growing surplus from undermining the high price they are trying to maintain. Sooner or later, as Mr. Kissinger sees it, they will have to cut their price in order to sell enough oil to meet their own financial needs.

At that point, the programs for energy conservation and development of alternate energy sources, which the oil-consuming nations would be pursuing, could be jeopardized. Prices must not get so low that we would slack off in our own energy programs and start buying plentiful Arab oil again in such quantities that we become vulnerable once more to the OPEC monopoly. That leads to Mr. Kissinger's concept of a "floor price" of $7 to $8 a barrel that the consumers would agree to maintain no matter what the Arabs do.

Obviously this would commit the United States of America to a long-range program based on fuel prices deliberately kept high to encourage conservation and stimulate development of new fucl sources. The big question is whether our economy, already caught in a recession, can be expected to recover and maintain healthy growth if energy is

Board, a business-sponsored research organization, has just issued a study showing that between 1947 and 1971 American manufacturing output rose at an average annual rate of 4.3 per cent while energy use was increasing by only 2.7 per cent. The Board projects that by making more efficient use of energy our economy could grow at satisfactory rate of 3.5 per cent a year while our

Real Can Of Peas

The Food and Drug Administration has given an attentive ear to Consumers Union, the private agency which purports to advance the interests of the unwary public in the marketplace. on an issue that is of questionable consumer benefit.

And the FDA proposes "within the next two months" to support a regulation that would require each can of fruit or vegetables to be labeled with the drained weight of the contents, instead of the net weight.

Now Consumers Union and the accomplished homemaker are both aware that the brine in which a can of peas, for instance, is packed is essential to preservation of the product and enhances its flavor. Consumers Union, however, is concerned that the number of peas may vary from brand to brand and can to can to the confusion of the purchaser and insists that inclusion of the liquid in net weight is deceptive.

Canners, who fill their containers before cooking, contend that the high cost of accurate drained weight labeling would nullify through inevitable price increases any peace of mind that shoppers might win from the change.

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - A friend from a foreign country asks why President Ford isn't telling us just how rough our future is going to be. It is his considered opinion we will have to change our life styles drastically and permanently. His belief is echoed by some researchers at the National Science Foundation and by a number of thoughtful economists in and out of the government. I don't know how permanent our change in living will have to be, but one thing is clear: In the next few years, we will be required to make more sacrifices than we have been publicly discussing. We are caught simultaneously in four major economic revolutions, each of which puts a major strain on our living standards. One, we

By The Associated Press Syria is trying to drum up Arab pressure on President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to get him to make a new Fgyptian-Israeli agreement dependent on an Israeli troop withdrawal on the Syrian front.

Arab diplomats in Beirut said Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam is visiting Algeria, Libya and Morocco to seek backing for his government's demand that any Israeli pullback in the Sinai desert be simultaneous with a withdrawal on the Golan Heights. The diplomats said Khaddam headed across North Africa after returning Tuesday from Saudi Arabia.

After Plane Crash In Bay

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Three professional wrestlers swam ashore after a small airplane crashed into Tampa Bay as they were returning from matches in Miami Beach early today, officials said.

A fourth occupant of the plane was missing. Police said pilot Ronald Reed, who wrestles as Buddy Colt; Gary Williams, known in the ring as Gary Hart, and Dennis McCord, known as Iron Man Mike McCord. struggled ashore on their own power and were rushed to Tampa General Hospital. Rescue officers said a helicopter and patrol boat were being used to search for a fourth occupant of the plane, you likely will get an off-key sound. It's one way to tell when you may be having battery trouble. Auto horns seldom wear out. Chrysler test laboratories have sounded a horn as many as 350,000 times without failure. The standard test of 50,000 toots, well beyond the

The lab also tests horns for vibration, salt spray, sound distribution and single-sound endurance. The standard for the latter test is five minutes. But plenty of drivers know that if the horn switch sticks open or shorts, the horn will blow longer than that if nobody's around to shut or disconnect it.
