It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas

Homes for the holidays

By JERANA HUGHES
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD - The halls will be decked and the trees will be trimmed for the Sanford Historic Trust Ninth Annual Tour of Homes. Take a step back to yesteryear with a tour of some of Sanford's finest historic buildings. Tour goers will be treated to six beautiful old homes, built in the early 1900's lovingly restored and cared for, and all decked out in all their holiday finery.

The tour will begin at the Cultural Arts Center, at the corner of 8th Street and Oak Avenue, a building with its own rich history. The building was designed by architect E.J. Moughton, Sr. and was completed in 1924. Also on the tour this year is the historic Little Red School House on Bee Tour, Page 2A

Paul and Jona Porter warmly welcome Historic Trust Tour of Home goers into their home, left, as Sanford Main Street Program Director Jennifer Singelsen, and volunteers Billy Higgins and Lisa Ayers decorate

Santa's sleigh, which will be powered in Saturday's Winterfest parade by a Jeep donated by Sanford Motor Car Inc.

SANFORD - Kick off the Christmas season with Winterfest '97 starting today in historic downtown Sanford. Winterfest is a three day event that will feature music, light displays, arts and craft exhibits, children's activities, etc. "We're going to have a great event," said Jennifer Singelsen, program manager for Sanford Main Street.

Festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. tonight with the Claytons, a husband and wife group, who will be leading all carolers who come out to sing songs of the season. All citizens who come out for the sing-a-long will be given a booklet of holiday tunes.

Singing will go on till 7 p.m. At that time, Sanford Mayor Larry Dale will be lighting the Christmas tree at Magnolia Square. Caroling will continue afterwards till 8 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 6, will be the "Florida Christmas" parade. The parade starts at 11 a.m. and will go through Downtown Sanford. "It's going to be a really good, strong parade," said Singelsen. Participants must be in line at 10 a.m. Check in is at 9:30 a.m. at Fort Mellon Park Picnic Pavilion, and Sanford Main Street asks that only one representative from each participating group come to the check in. Line up positions are posted at the Youth Activities Department at City Hall. The parade, according to Singelsen, will run from an hour to an hour and a half. ## Sanford seeks help for weatherization program

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The City of Sanford is seeking assistance from the community to keep a home weatherization program afloat.

Through a federal grant and for the past nine years the city's Community Development Department helps very low income families with housing repairs. In order to continue receiving the grant, the city must provide a 10 percent match, according to Stacy Tebo, contract technician for the program.

Of the $118,000 available from the United States Department of Energy, Tebo said the city needs to raise about $13,000, the first installment by December. Tebo said her office has appealed to county business owners for help. The response has not been very encouraging.

"I sent out about 200 letters but have not received any response," Tebo said. "More letters went out this week."

Tebo, who administers the program on behalf of the entire county out of City Hall, said at least half of the 23 homes weatherized this past year were in the Sanford area. To qualify for the program, people must have very low annual incomes that start at about $9,800 for a family of one. The city also conducts emergency home repairs on low income homes and provides assistance to families with power bills.

"Many of the people we help are elderly, some living only on a social security check," she said.

The purpose of the national program, Tebo said, is to conserve energy and assist homeowners to cut costs related to weatherization. Typical repairs include windows, doors, insulation, pipes, attics, roofs, heating and air conditioning.

Annette Aviles, 32, who lives with her widowed mother Daley Aviles, 87, in Sanford, said the program is great. The city recently finished extensive work on their home of 16 years.

"We're very happy," Annette Aviles said. "My dad always took care of this stuff. My mom can't do it. The house was falling apart and almost in pieces and she didn't know where to

Local Christian women defend Promise Keepers

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Wives of local Promise Keepers strongly oppose the opinion of NOW supporters. Recent controversy of NOW members and their obvious protest against the men's organization has sparked an outcry from women nationally and Women from Focus on the Family, an outreach ministry formed by James Dobson.

According to "Time" magazine, NOW has passed a resolution declaring Promise Keepers "the greatest danger to women's rights." The group is waging war against these men and is engaged in a media distortion campaign to attack Promise Keepers and the women who support them, according to Focus on the Family information.

Focus information also added, "NOW feminists distort the voices of Christian women who support Promise Keepers by stereotyping them as weak, ignorant and controlled by men."

Local women whose husbands have attended Promise Keepers conferences and strive in an effort to maintain the integrity that the organization promotes disagreed with NOW women. The general consensus was most definitely to the contrary of NOW supporters.

Cindy Wilcox, a local dental hygienist, said, "The whole focus of Promise Keepers is to build women up. They want them to be better husbands and fathers. I've seen a better person in my husband because of this organization. If all Promise Keepers is doing is encouraging men to become a more responsive husband and father it's a great thing. Just think, if all men were great fathers then there would be no dead beat dads and they would take responsibility for their children. The group also promotes that all races get along. I've seen nothing but good out of it."

Kathleen Menendez added, "As a single mother I've seen the men at my church that have attended Promise Keepers have a great change. They have been so supportive and helpful with my children and of me as a single See Defend, Page 2A

A scene from last year's Walk Through Bethlehem at First Baptist Church of Longwood.

'Walk' is an opportunity to experience the time of Christ

By SUSAN WESSNER
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - First Baptist Church of Longwood will be the night for another year for "Walk Through Bethlehem." One may encounter the sights, sounds and customs of a time long ago and experience the time of Christ in a unique and special way.

In its third presentation, members of the church have also made available the tour in Spanish and for the hearing impaired. The cost is unbeatable at a free admission.

According to Terri Gunter, public relations coordinator for the church, there are over 275 cast members with 29 booths or scenes. This is the first year a synagogue has been added.

The congregation is also excited about the fact that over 150 new members were added to the church because of this event. There were 365 decisions to live for Jesus just after last year's tour.

The attendance last year was over 11,000. Planners for the activity expect from 15 to 20,000 this year.

"We've increased the booths and scenes," Gunter shared. "There are 29 coordinators. One for each booth. There are two to three people manning each booth. Jake and Ruth Brain and their sons Allen and Todd were the head coordinators and co-chaired the walk. Susan Reel was in charge of the staffing."

Gunter cited other statistics and trivia surrounding the Walk Through Bethlehem. "The city covers 15,946 square feet or .360 acres and is 202 feet long and 85 feet wide. Over 10,000 square feet or 1,213 square yards of cloth covers the walls with over 250 four by four posts and 12,328 feet of two by two lumber used inside the city."

She continued by saying, "We used 10,000 square feet of black plastic on the roof with palm fronds screwed down because everything must be secured and the city must be protected from the rain and other elements. Approximately 100 gallons of paint was used. Over 248 pounds or 20,766 pieces of paper in the form of flyers, brochures and tickets have been distributed."

With a laugh she mentioned that "at least 100 beads were given by men for the tour and over 215 lunches for workers have been served while our worker, Norma, has made 1,555,435 revolutions back and forth with her golf cart delivering items needed."

Although vandalism has been a slight problem Gunter assured those interesting to attending that 50 angels are standing guard to watch over the city. The Longwood Police Department has provided officers to handle traffic control and assist when needed.

Shepherds, Roman soldiers, a tax collector, census taker, salt seller, fish salesman, basket weaver, brass and metal workers, vegetable and fruit sales people, ones weaving and dyeing clothes and those selling animals are just some of the people one will encounter on their journey. An Inn, carpentry shop and numerous other places of business will also be represented.

Young and old alike are invited to attend. Children will be invited to make potholders, homemade silly putty, and draw, learn Bible stories and more.

The Walk Through Bethlehem begins tonight from 6 to 9 p.m. It will also continue Saturday from 2 to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 2 to 9 p.m. Next week the schedule will be Friday, Dec. 12 from 6 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 13 2 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 14, 2 to 9 p.m.

Pastor sees potential for growth

By SUSAN WESSNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Central Baptist Church in Sanford on State Road 46 has been blessed with Jimmy Dale Patterson, who has ministered there for over 17 months. Many church members sing praises of the time that he came to work among them.

He acknowledged that his decision to come to Sanford involved much prayer, talks with God and his wife and feeling led by God. "We felt there was much potential for this area," he said. "We felt that God could use the talents that he gave us to help this church grow."

And grow it has. Not only have many new activities been created but also numbers have increased 150 in the first year, 51 by baptisms.

Other ministries include the Associate Pastor, Jerry Fugate; Music Minister, Jack Thomas; and Youth Minister, Jim Pagan.

Patterson summed up his mission statement by saying, "Number one is to exalt God. Number two evangelize the stranger and three, equip the saints. God must come first. Then we must have a heart for the lost. In equipping the saints we must realize that we have a responsibility to disciple the believer."

As he spoke of how loving the members are he shared all the numerous programs that members can choose to be involved in. "We have something for seniors, children, youth and adults," he said. "Our Happy Hearts senior group is probably the most active group of all. They are a fun group. They meet monthly for a luncheon and go on monthly trips together. They recently went on a Fall Leaf tour to North Georgia and North Carolina where they stayed for a week. They go there each year."

Numerous choirs are also present at Central Baptist. An adult ensemble, a choir of approximately 50 to 60, an ensemble of 12, a youth choir of grades 6 to 12, a handbell group and a special education group that will perform a yearly drama and musical presentation during the month of December.

"We have the best children's choir," he said. "There are about 100 children in it. They are ages 3 to the sixth grade. The music minister's wife, Sherril Thomas, leads this choir. We will have weekly performance from our choirs this month."

The youth group attends a Youth Camp on a yearly basis and most winter seasons are visitors for a ski retreat weekend, although this summer the group will attend a local rally in place of the skiing. "The youth program is very ministry oriented," Patterson cited. "We don't want it to just be all fun and games. They also go yearly to North Carolina to make repairs on homes of less fortunate people. They go with the men of the church that have some expertise in that field. Also this month are youth will go to a nursing home and adopt a grandparent."

"Brotherhood" was noted as a group of men, led by Dick Bradley, that minister to the needs of the community, area and state. They are thought of as a mission group.

As for a women's ministry, he mentioned that the ladies are active with "Women on Mission." This is a program that is the counterpart to "Brotherhood." According to Patterson, the ladies are heavily involved in praying and supporting missionaries and learning of the needs of missionaries.

A financial management class called, "Crown Ministries" is an ongoing class offered on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. Dave and Joyce Farr direct this Biblically based money management course.

Also on Thursday evenings at 6:30 p.m. Sally Luce leads interested parties in a weight loss program called "Weigh Down." "Weigh Down" has received national attention on various new broadcasts. They have referred to the program as praying yourself thin but participants are encouraged as know that weight loss is a way of life and with the help of God and other believers the battle can be won.

Services for the church are Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. for discipleship and Sunday school classes with worship at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. that evening. Wednesday activities include children's choir at 6:30 p.m. and at mid-week Bible study and prayer time at 6:30 p.m. An attended nursery is always available at all services.

A storybook visit by Mrs. Santa Claus

Mrs. Santa Claus visited Midway Elementary School on Wednesday morning. She brought the children a book of Christmas stories and read to a group of them before lunchtime.

Although the boys and girls had heard one of the stories many times before they seemed very excited Mrs. Santa took the time to read it again.

As Mrs. Santa read "The Night Before Christmas," she had considerable help from twins Yakira and Yasmine Henderson, Joel DeAlba, Syteria Knight and Kwandarius Staley.

Each helped her along with Dasher and Dancer, Prancer and Vixen, Comet and Cupid, Donner and Blitzen.

"You know your reindeer," Mrs. Santa said, and the children smiled.

Their eyes were full of wonder and joy, the same eyes she has seen for many years wherever she visited. Times have changed, she said, but the children do not.

No matter what they knew about computers and the website, these children still dreamed about Christmas and had things they wanted to share with Santa Claus.

"Where is he?" they asked. "In his workshop, preparing for Christmas," she said.

"When will you see him?" "Soon," she answered.

"Do you know what I want," asked Kwandarius Staley.

"What would that be?" she said.

"A scarecrow," Kwandarius said.

"That's unusual," she said. "I don't know if Santa has ever

RUSS WHITE

Staff Writer

been asked for a scarecrow." "I'd like to have a scarecrow and see him come to life."

At this, Yakira and Yasmine began to hum and sing a song from the Wizard of Oz - "If I Only Had a Brain."

The twins were especially excited about the day. "It's our birthday," Yakira said. "Today, we are six years old."

Mrs. Claus - who bears a striking resemblance to a friendly grandmother named Molly Noll - thought for a second about her 14-year-old twin grandchildren. "Their names are Joseph Andrew and Zachary," she said. "They used to be Drew and Zach but they like the more grown up names now."

Good golly, Miss Molly and Mrs. Santa were, indeed, one in the same.

"I like being Mrs. Santa," Noll said, her red cheeks getting even redder. "More importantly, I like being able to come to schools and read to the children every opportunity that I can."

After retiring from the Seminole County School System which she served for 28 years as a media assistant, Noll realized the need for men and women to volunteer their services as readers.

Some weeks, she comes to Midway each day for a half-hour or more.

Noll, who joined the Optimist Club of Sanford a year ago, was delighted that the club president Audrey Ogden also was very active in reading programs for children, visiting many schools in the area. "Audrey is very good with the children and she wants each of the Optimists to read," Noll said.

David Toate, the Curricular Leader at Midway Elementary, said that the Optimists and others from groups such as RSVP/VISTA are very much appreciated at the school.

"Our children are especially well-behaved on reading days," Toate said.

"It truly takes a village to raise children," said Sharon Tanner, the principal at Midway. "We're very grateful that others from the community come to help us as readers."

"The children not only enjoy being read to, they also enjoy reading."

On this particular day, several of Midway's 428 students were handsome gold stickers that proclaimed "I read to my principal today."

At lunchtime, Molly Noll stood outside the principal's office. She had taken off her Mrs. Santa dress and stocking cap but retained the great red cheeks.

"One of the children saw me and told me how much I looked like Mrs. Santa," she said.

Because several paragraphs of this column were transposed on Thursday, we are running a corrected version today. A nicer read, boys and girls.

Longwood looks locally for public safety head

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD - City Commissioners by a vote of 3-2 on Monday decided to limit the search for a public safety director to local candidates.

The commission overturned its previous decision to advertise nationally for the position, which was recently created when voters agreed that the Police and Fire departments should come under the management of a public safety department.

Police Chief Greg Manning, who will retire Dec. 19, is serving as interim public safety director. Assistant Police Chief Terry Baker and Fire Chief Charles Chapman have said they will apply for the job with a salary range of between $66,670 to $74,192.

Artes said her mother didn't realize how much was wrong until the city told her. Walls were crumbling, the front door was almost off the hinges and wood was rotting, she said.

"Now she has heating and air which she never had before," Artes said. "It used to get so cold here for her."

On behalf of homeowners in need and to keep the program, the city is appealing to local businesses and the community for donations, including cash or building materials. Business owners are eligible for a 50 percent tax credit. For more information, call 330-5661.

mother."

Cindy Stiffey cited, "In my opinion Promise Keepers does more to uplift and praise their wives. They encourage husbands to come home and get closer to the wives and family. I've seen good come out of this. My husband has grown closer to this family and children. Anything that encourages that can't be bad."

Darlene Scott, teacher's assistant, mentioned, "All I can say is since my husband has been involved in Promise Keepers he is more open to my feelings and things that I want rather than dominating. He's more concerned with what the kids and I think and feel."

Marlene Davis, mother-in-law of a Promise Keeper, said, "I've seen such a change for the better. He's so caring and involved with the family. He puts them first and truly cares for them."

Maureen Bravo shared, "Nothing that NOW is promoting is true. There were several of us that were intercessors for the Washington, DC conference. We watched as men knelt and asked for God's guidance to be the men He wants them to be. When NOW was there the men were polite and responded in a positive fashion while NOW were responding negatively. Promise Keepers in Washington was open to all women. The men would move aside and help women up the steps; they were polite, courteous and caring. They promote getting the races involved with each other, not in opposition. None of the Promise Keepers were anything but respectful and courteous. They showed a loving acceptance in the sight of God. It sounds to me that the opposition is just some sad and unhappy people that don't really understand what Promise Keepers is all about."

Dress warm and enjoy the games

SANFORD - With the weather man calling for temperatures more in line with Chicago than Florida this weekend you may not feel much like venturing out of the house to take in a sporting event.

But if you stay cooped up in the house you are going to miss a plethora of athletic activities this weekend and you will kick yourself if you don't attend a couple. So put down the remote, put on the thermals, gloves and a coat and get out of the house.

Tonight one of the most anticipated battles on the prep basketball schedule, the boys' basketball game between Lake Mary and Oviedo, will take place at Oviedo High School at 7:30 p.m. Get there early, a full house is expected.

Also, the highly regarded boys' hoop teams from Seminole and Lake Howell will be taking part in the prestigious Rotary Tip-Off Classic at Winter Park High School tonight and Saturday. If you find yourself a little short on cash, the Rotary people will accept a canned food product as admission.

Also on tap tonight is the opening of the wrestling season for Lake Mary and Seminole, who will do battle at Lake Mary high school.

The Sanford Recreation Department will also hold its opening ceremonies and jamboree for its youth basketball program tonight at Sanford Middle School and then open the regular season on Saturday and Sunday at SMS.

On Saturday, some of the best slowpitch softball players in the country, including Carl Rose, the leading home run hitter in the country last year in open softball with 22, and who has hit 1,300 over the past eight seasons, will take part in the five-team Supreme/Tracer Home Runs Unlimited Round-Robin at the Seminole County Softball Complex off Douglas Road in Altamonte Springs.

In addition to 10 games running from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., the event will also feature The Catapult home run contest at 5 p.m. and a Mutt & Jeff game, matching players 6-foot-2 and under against players 6-foot-4 and over at 6 p.m. Admission is free.

And those are just a few of the activities on the agenda.

The complete (that I am aware of) is as follows:

TONIGHT

- Auto racing - FASCAR at Orlando SpeedWorld, 8:30 p.m.
- Boys Basketball - Lake Mary at Oviedo, 7:30 p.m.; Lyman at colonial, 7:30 p.m.; Winter Springs at Lake Brantley, 7:30 p.m.; Seminole vs. TBA and Lake Howell vs. Mainland, in Rotary Tip-Off Classic at Winter Park High School, TBA.

Rams silence Lions

New sophomore star helps lead Lake Mary girls past Oviedo

By JEFF BERLINCKE
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - It's a sophomore thing at Lake Mary.

For the past couple of years, the Lady Rams have depended on their underclassmen to come through at crunch time. Last season, they only had one senior with significant playing time, but four sophomores sparked a trip to the Class 6A state final four and a runner-up finish.

It's the same story this season. Stephanie Dale is the only senior starter, as four juniors and the latest sophomore sensation, Lindsay Manz, lead the way.

Manz led the Lady Rams last night with an inspired performance off the bench as Lake Mary coasted to an easy 58-42 win over always-dangerous Oviedo.

The win improved Lake Mary to 10-0 and solidified their position on top of the district and conference races along with their number two ranking in the state.

Oviedo fell to 9-3, but combined with losses to Seminole and Lyman, the Lady Lions are off to an uncharacteristic slow start.

"The only thing I ask of my kids is that they play hard for 32 minutes," Oviedo coach Tom Bieri said. "There's no question Lake Mary is far superior to us, but we never quit. I'm proud of the way we played."

Mary Lou Johnston overcame a rocky two-point first half to lead the Lady Lions with 18 points despite the strong Lake Mary defense which shut her down until the game was out of question.

For Lake Mary, the game was little more than another step towards a return trip to Lakeland, the site of the state final four. Mary Leah Sutton led the Lady Rams with 18 points in her return from a broken elbow. Sutton hadn't played since early in the season but her return sparked the Lake Mary effort. Lauren Bradley scored nine in the first quarter on her way to a 13-point performance.

Lake Mary started slowly as Oviedo ran a deliberate offense. Johnston held the ball for periods of time, much like Lyman did in a slowdown effort last week that ended with in a 15-point loss to Lake Mary.

Oviedo led 8-6 early after a pair of buckets from Kelly Brock, but Lake Mary came back when Bradley scored on a put-back and hit two straight short jumpers to put Lake Mary up for good.

The Lady Rams started to pull away before halftime and outscored Oviedo 17-10 in the third quarter to wrap things up, allowing coach Carl Brown to play his bench for much of the fourth quarter.

Manz, a sophomore, sparked the team and Brown noticed her effort.

"We're still trying to find the right combinations but Lindsay came in and had a great game," Brown said. "I told Lindsay we really needed a big game from her tonight and she came out ready to play."

So did the rest of the undefeated Lady Rams.

Junior Mary Leah Sutton scored a team-high 18 points in her first action since breaking a bone in her elbow to lead Lake Mary past Oviedo 58-42 Thursday night.

Rams boys win soccer opener

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY - Lake Mary jumped on Oviedo for three first half goals as the Rams opened their season by avenging last year's season-ending loss 4-2 in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer game at Don T. Reynolds Stadium Thursday night.

"Oviedo was someone special we knew we had to be ready for," said Lake Mary head coach Larry McCorkle. "We only had three weeks to get ready. In the back of our minds that we wanted to get off to a good start against the team that ended the season for us last year."

Pat Mangan netted the first of his two goals 10 minutes into the game.

Sanford's own Jeff Blake of the Cincinnati Bengals will celebrate his 27th birthday today. The Seminole High graduate got an early present Thursday as the Bengals killed the Tennessee Oilers 41-14.

Beer :30 outscores Bill Heard

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Mike Marshall drove in six runs with three two-run home runs, but it was six singles in a four-run bottom of the fourth inning that spelled the difference as Beer :30 outscored Bill Heard Chevrolet 25-22 in Sanford Recreation Department Men's Fall Thursday Night Slowpitch Softball League action at Chase Park.

The slugfest was part of a scheduled tripleheader that originally was supposed to be played on November 13th.

In the other games, co-leader Franklin Ball Bonds got a 7-0 forfeit victory from Blake's Boys and no results were received from the scheduled game between the other co-leader, Stoooges, and the Power Team.

Franklin Ball Bonds is now 8-2, while Stoooges is 7-2, Beer :30 and Blake's Boys are both 6-4, Bill Heard Chevrolet is 4-6 and the

Fill a basket or bucket for a holiday gift

Most homeowners are real familiar with the expression Do-It-Yourself (DIY) for home repairs and improvements. Well, that same sense of thriftiness and creativity can be applied to gift giving. Gift baskets are very expensive when purchased already assembled. Gift baskets, boxes, buckets and other useful containers continue to be favorites that allow for uniqueness and usefulness. Following are some ideas that might help you when sharing at a special holiday or just as an expression of friendship.

- A mug filled with packages of herbal tea, coffee, hot chocolate or special spiced cider. If you have some favorite cookie, cake or muffin recipe, this might be the time to share them also.

- A small box with sewing notions...needles, thread, measuring tape, scissors, pins.

- To share special seasonings and spices, you might assemble a gift bag or bowl of salad and pasta herbs, pizza spices or sexy ethnic spices for omelet and egg recipes.

- A bucket with small hand tools...measuring tape, hammer, screw drivers, level, paint brushes, liquid nails...this one could get to be expensive, but if it helps a handyperson be prepared with the right stuff, it might be an excellent investment!

CONSUMER FOCUS

- A basket with cookie cutters, kitchen sachet, spices and your favorite cookie recipe, this gift might include a sample or even the offer to assist-giving time.

- A terra cotta pot with flower or herb seeds. You might even include garden gloves and small garden tools. A watering can or actual plant might also inspire a green thumb.

- Create a gift certificate sharing your skills and time to do a repair job, run an errand or do a certain task.

- Any of the gift baskets, pots, boxes and bags you create might be enhanced with colorful tissue paper, raffia, cellophane wraps or even fabric (cloth napkins are great for actually wrapping small packages). Include a spoon, mini whisk or cookie cutter as part of the package decoration.

Any gift has the potential of becoming waste if it is not used by the receiver. However, there are some gifts that are less likely to be tossed. If you consider carefully the normal activities of recipients, you are likely to select gifts that are compatible with their lifestyles. Many of the suggestions are not unusual or exciting. However, if you intend for gifts to bring some form of satisfaction and not become a burden to receivers because they have to be displayed, stored, cleaned or dusted routinely, take a close look at this list.

Children: Books; Lessons (swimming, dancing, music, karate, art); Educational tapes/video/movies; New experiences on an airplane, boat, bus or train; Play at local theater; Meal at an ethnic restaurant; Trip to an amusement park or zoo; Savings bond.

Responsibly For Senior Citizens: Spend time together doing something they like; Take them shopping for food; Pay a monthly premium for health care; Pay for a routine prescription or health care item used with a chronic illness or disease; Pay a utility bill; Provide a month's supply of canned fruits or vegetables of their choice; Provide a service: clean in hard-to-reach places, clean out refrigerator or freezer, do laundry, freeze a meal or dish prepared with their recipe, maintain lawn for 1 month, make a household repair.

Individuals and Families: Supply of favorite snacks; Home baked bread; Book: household tools (hammer, extension cord); Can crusher for recycling cans; Books; Low toxic cleaning supplies; Faucet aerator; Fire extinguisher; Rechargeable flashlight; Restaurant gift certificates; Health care (dental care, eye exam, physical exam); Low-flow showerhead; Magazine subscription; Door mat made from recycled materials; Roll of postage stamps; Smoke alarm; Mailing address stamp; Gourmet foods; Tickets to favorite sporting event; Toothbrushes and toothpaste; Unscented lotion; Recycled paper; Gift basket full of recycled products.

Brutal stepdad leaves child frightened

DEAR ABBY: My mom got married about four months ago, and although it has been only a short time, it's all gone haywire. Her husband has an awful temper, and he's hit her several times. We have even had to leave our own home to get away from him because he is so brutal. Yet my mom keeps going back to him.

I begged her to get the police involved, but she wouldn't. Finally one night, after he had broken her wrist and thrown me out of a chair, he left. We didn't hear from him for three days. Then he came back during the night and tried to break in. My sister called the police and we had three weeks of freedom until my mom dropped the charges against him. My siblings and I were scared and angry, yet Mom brought him back on my sister's birthday.

Now that my stepdad is living with us again, I am scared, and I don't want to live with my mom if she's going to let him stay here. My dad died, so I can't live with him. I have considered running away, but I would like to know - is there a better way? Please help me.

NOWHERE TO TURN IN ARIZONA

DEAR NOWHERE: You appear to be intelligent and strong, and deserve to be commended for seeking advice from an adult. You should not have to run away in order to get away from your stepfather.

There are two ways to handle this. The first would be to go to a teacher or counselor at your school and repeat what you have told me. It may be easier to clip this letter and take it with you.

ADVICE

Should your stepfather become violent before you can talk to a trusted adult at your school, you and your siblings should get out of the house and go to a neighbor's home to call for help. Ask the telephone operator to connect you to the 24-hour Child Protective Services Hotline. It is staffed seven days a week and will send the police to remove you to a safe place.

Please write again and let me know how you are. Meanwhile, you are in my prayers.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from Andrea Ryner, writing on behalf of her friend who had recently lost his eyesight, I was reminded of "Abe" - a man in our town.

Abe is retired now, but for years he made his living doing small-engine repairs on outboard motors, power saws, lawnmowers and the like. He did expert work, and some of the customers who brought items to his shop never realized that Abe was blind.

Some years back, he went into the woods to gather some special bark. He knew exactly where he was and what he was doing, but he was gone somewhat longer than usual. Some friends became worried and reported him missing. An informal search party was sent out, and one of its members encountered Abe in the woods. They exchanged greetings and Abe joined in the search for the "poor lost guy." About an hour later, it was mentioned that the man they were looking for was blind. Only then did Abe realize that the person he was helping to search for was himself!

There's no doubt that Abe was gifted in his ability to hear, feel and think, and this story proves that while we rely heavily on vision - in its absence, other senses can compensate.

DORCAS PEARSON, HOQUIAM, WASH.

DEAR DORCAS: Abe is obviously a remarkable man who has managed to focus on his abilities rather than his disability. More power to him.

DEAR ABBY: In commenting on your advice to "Sad Mom-to-Be," the woman signed "Been There, Done That" said her husband was also selfish, inconsiderate and inflexible, and her son is "now stuck with a name that means nothing to him."

I am always amazed that people who hate their names feel that they are stuck with them forever. "Been There" should look at her own "flexibility." My ex-husband and I have both changed our names, and so have at least five other relatives and several friends.

There are very few possessions, physical or acquired, that are not changeable nowadays, and my name was a lot easier to improve than my nose!

GERTA FARBER, OAKLAND, CALIF.

DEAR GERTA: I salute your honesty - and what an interesting and unusual name you chose. I'll wager that changing your name was a lot less expensive than your nose job.

Abused woman wants love next time around

Dear Mary,

I want to get married again but I want to get it right this time. I was sexually abused by my alcoholic father when I was a young girl. I hated that man and swore I'd never marry anyone like him. Well the good news is, my ex-husband did love our children, and was a great "Disney" dad. The bad news is, as a husband he was a philandering, partying man-child who became addicted to alcohol and low-life women.

So, here I am - I still have never had a close, loving relationship with a decent man. I know they're out there because lots of my friends are married to them. I think it would be really sad to live my whole life never knowing what it's like to have a good relationship with a man that deserves me. I seem to only be attracted to the wrong kind of guy and I'd rather stay single the rest of my life than to make another mistake. Do you think it is possible that I'm so damaged by my past that I'll never be able to love and be loved by a good man? Want To Do It Differently

Dear Do It Differently,

As you have noticed, we tend to be attracted to the same kind of men throughout our lives, unless we change our programming. Changing programs is more easily said than done.

You've got one thing going for you right now. You've decided that being alone is better than just repeating the same old cycle and getting the same old results. That drastically improves your chances of getting it right if or when you get married again. Certainly, sexual abuse damages a young girl deeply. The very person you should be able to turn to for protection and support is violating your body and spirit. It almost always damages a girl's self-esteem and predisposes her, in many cases, to be attracted to men who will pick up where "dear old dad" left off.

Therefore, there are two challenges for you. First work on your own self-esteem, courage and inner strength. We tend to attract the same kinds of persons that we are, so be the best you can become. Second, select dates and friends with your head, not your hormones. Watch how a man uses alcohol. Does he use illegal drugs? Does he speak kindly of his parents, children, and former lovers? Is he kind to children, animals and others less fortunate than he? Let respect, trust and admiration grow into love rather than reacting to hot flashes - they always cool down.

Valerian may help people sleep

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is valerian an effective sedative?

DEAR READER: This is the fourth in my series on herbal remedies. The dried leaves and roots of this plant have been used for centuries as a sleep aid and mild sedative — without the hangover so common with prescription drugs.

Scientists have yet to discover the active ingredient in valerian, but the compound appears to be effective for some people. It is free of the risk of habituation or addiction, and devoid of side effects — although up to 10 percent of users may experience unexpected stimulation.

The herb can be taken in several forms, most often as a tea. The usual daily dose is 400 milligrams of the tincture, or about 3 milligrams of the solid extract.

As with other herbal remedies, quality control in manufacture, standardization of dose and the presence of contaminants are potential problems. Therefore, such compounds should be purchased only from reputable dealers. (Next time: feverfew.)

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 78-year old man with occasional constipation. When I take a laxative, the result is a large stool. Does everyone walk around with a bowel full of feces? (No nonclinical remarks, please.)

DEAR READER: Duty noted. All of us walk around with colons full of stool. This is the normal state of affairs, even though we all know people who appear to be more full of stool than others. (Sorry, I couldn't resist!)

During digestion, the food we eat gives up its nutrients and passes into the large bowel where it remains while the moisture it contains is reabsorbed into the body. If it stays too long in the bowel, excessive moisture is reabsorbed, the stool becomes hard, and constipation ensues. This is the reason why elderly people commonly suffer from constipation: Peristalsis is slowed because of age.

Bran and fiber stimulate the bowel to empty, hence, these natural substances often lead to regular and satisfying evacuations of stool that has not become dehydrated. Stool softeners act by retaining moisture so that the bowel contents do not become hard and dry.

Although most adults do not need to have a daily bowel movement (uh oh!

I can imagine the mail I'll get about this!), most of us feel comfortable evacuating at least every two or three days. Any longer than that, and constipation — or worse, an impaction — is likely to occur.

The short answer to your question: The bowel is supposed to be full of stool that is emptied at periodic intervals.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there a product for females that would reduce the risk of sexually transmitted diseases? Also, I need a lubricant because I am post-menopausal.

DEAR READER: Female condoms might be the answer you seek. Designed like a male condom, this latex product substantially reduces the risk of pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases; also, lubricated versions are available. Check with your pharmacist.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Watch, then think

By Phillip Alder

When giving partner a ruff, usually you send him a suit preference signal. In theory, it is simple. If you lead your highest spot, you are asking partner to return the higher ranking non-trump suit; you hope to get in again and deliver a second ruff. And if you lead your lowest spot, you are asking for the lower ranking non-trump suit to be returned. Fine, but what if partner doesn't know whether your card is high or low? Then you hope that he either guesses well or, more reliably, works out which suit to return.

Against four spades, West led his singleton club six: two, king, seven. Back came the club nine: jack, spade two, club three. The two missing clubs were the 10 and eight, so West didn't know if the nine was high or low. Should he return a heart or a diamond?

Sitting West was one of the world's greatest ever players, Victor Mitchell, who died in 1965. He had watched the club spots closely, but he was none the wiser. Analyzing the situation, he deduced that if South had the diamond ace and not the heart ace, she would have won the first trick with dummy's club ace and drawn two rounds of trumps. So, Mitchell switched to a low diamond. Now the contract went two down as the defenders took two diamonds, one club and two club ruffs. Mitchell loved to bet a few dollars on his luck at both the bridge table and horse track. At which do you think he was more successful?

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, Dec. 6, 1997

In the year ahead you are likely to be far more adventurous than you have been in the past. In part this may be due to some new friends you'll make. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You and your mate are likely to have a meeting of the minds today concerning domestic finances. In other areas, though, you may spar with associates. Astro-Graph year-ahead predictions make great Christmas stocking stuffers for all signs of the zodiac. Mail $2 for each to Astro-Graph, c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state the zodiac signs you desire. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might have to contend with some problems today that are not entirely of your own making. For best results, avoid feeling sorry for yourself. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It is best not to take large risks today in order to achieve nominal gains. Remember this if an associate presents you with a questionable proposition. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The forces you marshal today to advance your ambitions might be inadequate. Do not get involved in something where your own strengths aren't enough. ARIES (March 21-April 19) A failure to use your imagination and talents today is tantamount to quitting before you start. Do not endorse the opposition with powers they don't possess. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A wise old adage reminds us not to be a borrower nor a lender. This could be especially pertinent in involvements you have with friends today. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In advancing your personal interests today you might use tactics companions find offensive. Be doubly certain that your goal is worth the risk. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might lack the courage of your convictions and your intentions may not be activated. If you don't have faith in your own ideas, why should others? LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you fail to prioritize properly today, your hasty involvements could be given more attention than the duties others expect you to fulfill. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The option to make your own decisions could be quashed today if you put yourself in a position where you let your peers do your thinking for you. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Emphasize resolving complications today instead of trying to find fall guys. Remedy problems first and you might not have to make accusations later. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you think twice before risking your resources and efforts on questionable endeavors. Today, however, you might leap first and look later.
