Stenstrom Senior Citizen Of Year

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford attorney Douglas Stenstrom was honored Wednesday by the Kiwanis Club of Sanford as the ninth recipient of the prestigious Randall Chase Senior Citizen of the Year Award at a luncheon at the Sanford Civic Center.

Stenstrom, who was Seminole County's youngest ever county judge, served two terms as state senator for Seminole and Brevard counties. He served 25 years as attorney for the Seminole County School Board.

On being presented the plaque by Mrs. Randall Chase, widow of the late Sanford business leader and innovator, Stenstrom said he realized there are more deserving senior citizens, but assured the group because of the significance that Chase had to him as a boy, "there is nobody they could have presented it to that it would mean more to."

Stenstrom revealed that small loans from the Kiwanis Club and Rotary Club had enabled him to stay in the University of Florida 44 years ago and Randall Chase had provided the money to allow him to complete his junior and senior years.

In 1940, he said when he went to see Chase in hopes of getting a $50 or $75 loan, he was nervous about calling on the "richest man in Sanford." But after being questioned on courses he was taking, his grades and how much he needed for books, tuition and room and board, he was told by Chase that he didn't think he should be working, but should concentrate on his studies.

"When I walked away it dawned on me for the first time I was going to get a college education," Stenstrom recalled. He added that after graduating he became the first civilian employee at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

"When I got my first pay check I paid back the Kiwanis Club, from my second, I paid back the Rotary Club and in the next four months before I went in the service I paid back Mr. Chase."

Stenstrom was nominated for the award by the Sanford Rotary Club, which cited his work as chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which was instrumental in obtaining the new Osteen Bridge (later named in his honor), the State Road 46 overpass and six-laning of French Avenue.

To build the Seminole Memorial Hospital, Stenstrom headed a $800,000 bond issue and got $276,000 grant from the Bert Fish Estate.

He has served on the Board of Governors of the Florida Bar Association and as chairman of the Florida Board of Independent Colleges and Universities and has been an active member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford for 25 years.

The award is presented each year to a citizen of Sanford and Seminole County over 60 years of age who has contributed to the community.

Past winners have included George Touhy, Gen. Joseph Hutchison, Dr. George Starke, Harold Kastner, Scott Burns, John Krider, Andrew Carraway and Jack Weible.

Veterans Day Vietnam Fighters Getting Spotlight For Five Days This Year

United Press International

Americans celebrated Veterans Day by concentrating on the men who fought in Vietnam, and thousands of survivors, some still dismayed and bitter, gathered in Washington, D.C., for a five-day tribute. The occasion was marked on many college campuses with nuclear disarmament rallies.

Attention was focused on a black granite wall, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, listing the names of the 57,939 Americans killed in Vietnam. As the names were being read aloud Wednesday, President and Mrs. Reagan visited the memorial and lighted candles.

Reagan honored the dead, saying, "The tragedy was they were asked to fight and die for a cause their country was unwilling to win."

A special ceremony was planned today for Arlington National Cemetery.

In cities and towns across the country, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organized parades for the holiday, formerly known as Armistice Day.

New York planned its traditional huge parade down Fifth Avenue. Other commemorations included a candlelight ceremony in St. Louis, a turnout of World War I veterans in Albany, N.Y., and a wreath-laying and band concert in San Diego. In San Francisco, the Army will open an exhibit of memorabilia and photographs emphasizing women's roles in war.

In Little Rock, Ark., a candlelight vigil

With five days of ceremonies planned in Washington to honor the 2.7 million Americans who served in Vietnam, many veterans hoped they were overcoming the stigma of the unpopular war.

"When the Vietnam veteran came back, he got spit on," Jim Hall, 37, a warehouseman in Racine, Wis., said during his trip to Washington. "I think this is the beginning of recognition. I am very proud to be here."

Veterans delegates from each state are represented and the brotherhood of the occasion gave them a chance to talk about their frustrations.

"It was unknown what Vietnam would be like," said Charles Dobson, 37, a former 173rd Airborne brigade medic, who suffers a psychological affliction involving nightmares and flashbacks of combat experiences.

"We gave ground. We took it back. We gave it back. I felt a lot of resentment about that. I came here to work out a lot of my emotions."

Nuclear disarmament groups such as Union of Concerned Scientists, Ground Zero, the Lawyers Alliance for Nuclear Arms Control and the Physicians for Social Responsibility scheduled anti-war rallies and workshops on college campuses around the nation.

Local Veterans Day Observances Held

Several observances were scheduled for today in Seminole County.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10104 held a Veterans Day ceremony at 11 a.m. today at Memorial Park in Sanford.

Youngsters in All Souls Catholic Elementary School held a brief Veterans Day ceremony this morning at the school's flag pole.

And Lake Mary High School Junior ROTC youths marked both the anniversary of the Marine Corps and Veterans Day today.

honoring the state's 83,000 Vietnam veterans was set for the state Capitol steps.

"We don't want a ticker-tape parade," said veteran Rick Crummins. "We want people to accept us for what we are and not for what the war was."

Bevier: 'I Want To Get It Behind Me And Get On With ... My Life'

Although Dr. Robert L. Bevier pleaded guilty to charges of malpractice, alcohol and cocaine abuse before a state hearing officer and could face suspension or revocation of his license to practice medicine, he says he did so only to bring order to his life.

Bevier, who has been a licensed physician since 1974 and most recently conducted his medical practice in Lake Mary, pleaded guilty Wednesday before state hearing officer Thomas Oldham to the malpractice and alcohol-drug abuse charges.

Although Bevier had previously and repeatedly said he would fight any attempts to suspend or revoke his license, he pleaded guilty to seven related charges in Orlando Wednesday "in order to get this behind me, avoid further publicity and get on with my life," he said.

According to Diana Hull, spokesperson for the state Department of Professional Regulations (DPR) in Tallahassee, Bevier is charged with:

— Ordering and receiving six, 1-ounce vials of cocaine flakes of which he could not account for four of them;

— Failing to prescribe drugs in good faith and in the course of his professional practice;

— Making deceptive, untrue or fraudulent representations in the practice of medicine;

— Prescribing drugs other than in the course of his professional practice;

— Being unable to practice medicine with reasonable skill and safety to patients by reason of illness, use of alcohol, use of drugs, etc.;

— Gross and repeated malpractice; and — Failing to maintain records detailing the use of drugs.

The charges encompass a period of

Twin Brothers Mean Double Trouble

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Bill and Earl Downey had their opponents in the decathlon seeing double Wednesday.

That's because they're identical twins.

The brothers, who recently turned 55, are entered in their first Golden Age Games.

Bill, from Hialeah is 15 minutes older than Earl. He's competing only in the decathlon.

Earl, from Lake Worth, is taking advantage of his youth to compete in the decathlon, the 100 and 200-meter freestyle swimming events and the 220 and 440-yard runs, the mile run and long jump in Saturday's track meet.

Meeting the brothers is an entertaining experience. On Wednesday they were constantly at each other's side, offering encouragement and tips on how to improve performances.

They're self effacing and hesitant to talk about their own accomplishments. Each is proud as punch to talk about his brother.

"Bill ran the half-mile and the mile at the University of Illinois on their national championship track team in 1947," Earl said.

"And Earl ran the mile and half-mile for the University of Tennessee," Bill continued.

The brothers were optimistic about their chances in the decathlon events. But changes in the Olympic event made by the Golden Age Games sponsors hurt the brothers, who figured to excel at the distance runs. The mile and half-mile runs are not included in the Golden Age decathlon. The only running events are the 50, 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes.

"Earl should do pretty well in the shorter distances. In fact, I predict he'll win the 220," Bill said.

Bill runs the longer distances better, but he topped his brother in a head-to-head run in the 440-yard dash Wednesday. Bill's 1:08.85 timing in the event was second in the event. Earl's 1:09.3 was the third best in the event. Defending decathlon champion Donald Hull won the event with a 1:06.08 time.

The twins have trained together for the decathlon and their most intense competition is with each other.

"We fought constantly until we were about 12 years old," Earl said. "Then we went to different prep schools. After that everything was all right."

The Downey twins are only two of the outstanding athletes competing in the decathlon.

Also entered in the event are Hull, of Port Orange, who recorded the best time in the 50-yard dash, to go along with his first in the 440. Hull is also the favorite to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

John Ullom, of McMurray, Pa., who competed in the 1980 decathlon event, got off to a blazing start. He and Hull were neck-and-neck in their heat of the 50-yard dash. The judges awarded the victory to Hull but Ullom and most of the spectators thought Ullom had won the event.

In the 65 and older age bracket, Gilberto Gonzalez was far and away the best competitor in the first day's events. Gonzalez, who is from San Juan, Puerto Rico, is a regular competitor in Master's AAU events around the world.

He had a personal best of 115 feet in the discus throw and recorded a 15-foot, one-inch long jump which would have set an age bracket decathlon record if the event was sanctioned by the AAU.

Gonzalez will not be participating in Saturday's track meet because he's signed up to compete in a Buenos Aires, Argentina, meet.

Golden Age Games sponsors did not release the results of Wednesday's five events. A list of winners will be available following the completion of all 10 events.

Parks Chief Named

A two-month inquiry into operations of Seminole County's parks division has resulted in Manpower Director Leonard Carswell being named acting division director.

Carswell replaces Butch Alexander, whose resignation will be effective Saturday.

Also named Wednesday as temporary supervisors are Dan Peters, who will supervise parks, grounds maintenance and recreation crews. Harry Radel will take over as facilities maintenance supervisor. Peters has been serving as recreation coordinator and Radel is a tradesworker in the division.

The administrative inquiry, conducted by Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton, Personnel Director Lois Martin and Public Services and Development Director John Percy, recommended tighter control over distribution of county materials and a reorganization within the division to provide better supervision for employees.

The report said because of a communication problem in the division there was no "team spirit." That communication problem was enlarged by rumors of corruption and favoritism which circulated in the division.

"The potential exists for the perception of favoritism, abuse or illegal practices in various moonlighting activities and involvement in off-duty projects," the report said.

All 51 employees in the division were interviewed in the inquiry, which followed a probe by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and the State Attorney's office.

That probe resulted in two arrests. John Varney, former facilities and parks coordinator, was fired after he was charged with four counts of grand theft in connection with activities in the division.

His secretary, Johnnie Butler, also resigned and pleaded guilty to malfeasance, a misdemeanor. — MICHAEL BEHA.

IN BRIEF

Social Security Commission Studies 'Terrible Options'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Facing choices ranging from increasing taxes to raising the retirement age, a presidential Social Security panel is looking for ways to produce up to $200 billion to save the system that pays benefits to one American in seven.

The 15-member National Commission on Social Security Reform, bipartisan but Republican-led, has no shortage of choices to ball out the retirement system, but all of them are "terrible options," in the words of Chairman Alan Greenspan.

Senate Finance Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kan., said the immediate cash problem could be solved by speeding up payroll tax hikes and capping the annual cost-of-living payment to retirees.

Capping the annual cost-of-living hike at 4 percent for two years instead of basing it on inflation, and tying it to wages instead of prices thereafter, would provide up to $140 billion, he said.

Speeding up a scheduled 1986 tax increase to 1984, and moving up a 1990 tax increase to 1987 or 1988 would close the rest of the gap, he said. The tax, now 6.7 percent each for employers and employees, is to rise to 7.65 percent by 1990.

Jilted Teenager Surrenders

BURKE, Va. (UPI) — A jilted teenager armed with a rifle released the last three of his nine hostages today and surrendered to police, ending a 21-hour standoff at his former high school.

Fairfax County Police Chief Carroll Buracker said James Stevens, 18, surrendered at 9:55 a.m. and was taken to the county detention center for processing.

Buracker said unbeknownst to authorities there was a fourth person in the administrative offices of Lake Braddock High School — a reading teacher identified as Arlene Didier, who was hiding in an adjacent room next to a copying machine. Neither police nor Stevens knew she was in the building, he said.

Police identified the last three hostages as school principal John Alwood, a woman named Kathy Repert and Dale Rumberger, a drama teacher.

Buracker said Stevens was charged with 10 counts of abduction and one of felonious use of a firearm.

He said Stevens did not explain why he took the hostages.

Tylenol Trying Comeback

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Johnson & Johnson Inc., parent company of the maker of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules, will use a tamper-resistant package in its plan to reintroduce the pain reliever to the market. Chairman James E. Burke was to detail the reintroduction strategy at a news conference today in New York.

The capsules were pulled from the market after seven people in the Chicago area died six weeks ago from taking capsules that had been laced with cyanide.

The pain-reliever capsules, made by McNeil Consumer Products Co. of Fort Washington, Pa., had an estimated 37 percent of the analgesic market before the Chicago deaths.

Geneva Anti-Power Line Forces Unite

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

There will be a united front from Geneva residents at their Tuesday meeting with the state Cabinet in Tallahassee.

Leaders of several groups signed an agreement Wednesday pledging not to submit proposals for a western route for Florida Power & Light Company's twin 500,000-volt electric transmission lines.

Sid Kraftsow of People Against Power Intrusion, the group which convinced the Cabinet not to certify FP&L's planned route through the eastern side of Geneva; Bob Cardenas and Millie Gilbert, leaders of residents opposed to the western route; and Lou Childers, whose Floridians for Reconsidering the Line group is opposed to the line's construction anywhere in Florida, all signed the agreement.

Lee Kraftsow, also of PAPI, is ill and did not sign the agreement but he already has withdrawn his support for a western route.

The agreement includes a pledge to oppose the route anywhere in Geneva. The Cabinet said it would certify the eastern route if no alternative to the west is found.

"I have signed a declaration for a united Geneva," Kraftsow told about 100 people at Geneva's community hall Wednesday night.

"We were unable to find a route because of opposition, opposition partly to our looking and partly because there may not be one," he said.

"I'm going to tell the governor we could not find a line to the west," he said. "We're not even going to show him what we've done."

But Kraftsow said he would take the half-finished line that PAPI leaders drew to the west in case Gov. Bob Graham wants to see some evidence of their work.

The Cabinet told Kraftsow and the PAPI group to come up with a western route for the line when the group attended an Oct. 6 meeting. Only after they began working on the alternative did residents in the western area, who helped convince the Cabinet not to certify FP&L's proposed route, oppose the plan.

The issue has raged for about a month straining relations in the community of 2,500.

Kraftsow now believes there will be violence if the line is routed anywhere in Geneva.

"I'm also going to tell the governor we believe there will be civil disobedience. This line is so hated," he said.

Margaret Cammack said even though the western corridor will not be introduced by PAPI it will most likely be shown by FP&L attorney Carlos Alvarez.

Those attending the meeting hope to recruit their neighbors to accompany them on the trip to Tallahassee. More than 120 were at the Oct. 6 meeting. They hope to exceed that number this time and convince the Cabinet that there's no good place in Geneva to put the line.

The group elected Cardenas as a spokesman for the group. Cardenas has scheduled a meeting at 7 p.m. Friday at the Community Hall to discuss strategy for the meeting.

Mrs. Gilbert and Ann Bolling are taking reservations for buses which will go to Tallahassee for the hearing.

...Bevier Awaits Unsure Future

Bevier's practice from August 1981 to April 1982, Ms. Hull said.

Bevier's lawyer, J. Michael Matthews, and DPR lawyer Charley L. Adams asked hearing examiner Thomas Oldham to accept Bevier's guilty plea, recommending that the state Board of Medical Examiners suspend Bevier's license to practice medicine in the state for one year.

Oldham said Monday he would make such a recommendation to the Board "shortly" and that the final ruling "will probably be made Dec. 8 when the board meets in Orlando. However, the board is not bound to accept the recommended sentencing and could impose a greater or lesser penalty."

"I know I said I would fight it," Bevier said. "But, if I had gone on fighting, it could have been dragged out for quite some time. This way, I get some clear direction. I want to get it behind me and get on with some order in my life."

"My office has been closed for two months now," he said. "My practice is ruined, destroyed. I don't even have the resources to continue fighting it."

Bevier's license was suspended under an emergency order by the DPR in September and Oldham said that suspension will continue until the board makes its final order next month.

"I think the board will accept the hearing officer's recommendation of the one-year suspension," Bevier said. "During that time, there are a lot of things I could do. I will continue to read medical journals — I get a ton of them — and I'll take courses to stay up on the latest practices."

"I could also work for a federal agency, like the Army, Navy or Veterans Administration because they don't require licenses for some positions. I could go up North and take residency training or go into medical engineering — I have a degree in engineering, you know," Bevier said.

"I voluntarily pleaded because I've got to get it behind me," he continued. "I can't keep battling it. I just got tired of worrying about it. It was too much of a mental strain. Also, maybe the board will only suspend me for three months, who knows?"

Meanwhile, Seminole State attorneys say they are continuing their investigation into possible criminal conduct concerning Bevier's medical practice.

"We're still looking into it but it would be inappropriate to comment on it or the state hearing until the Board of Medical Examiners actually takes action and makes its ruling," said W. J. Patterson, executive director of the Sanford office.

Bevier said he has not been "approached in any way with the possibilities of criminal misconduct. The state attorney's office has not spoken with me about anything. I know nothing of any criminal action," Bevier said.

However, Bevier is expected to appear in Seminole circuit criminal court in two weeks as a defense witness in the trial of Frank Vitale, 30, of Orlando, who is charged with trafficking in morphine, prosecutors said.

Vitale claims Bevier gave him two vials containing 28 grams of morphine for pains in his back and arms. If convicted, Vitale could face a minimum of 25 years in prison.

Seminole High In Midst Of Homecoming Week

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes had the first-place float in Wednesday's Seminole High School homecoming parade in Sanford.

Taking second place in the competition was the Student Government Association and third place went to Polyglots, the Foreign Language Club.

The winners of the competition were announced by assistant principal Jim Thompson at a pep rally today at the school. The theme for the parade was "Memories."

Seminole High will wrap up this year's homecoming festivities with a football game against Daytona's Mainland High School at 8 p.m. at Seminole High's stadium. The Seminoles are 0-0 on the season. Mainland is 4-4.

The homecoming queen will be announced at halftime and a dance will follow the game at the Knights of Columbus hall in Sanford.

DeLand Church Official Buried

Services were held Wednesday in Gainesville for the Rev. Dr. William M. Ferguson, superintendent of the DeLand District of the Florida Conference, United Methodist Church. He was killed Friday in an automobile accident.

The accident occurred around 6 p.m. on State Road 40, three miles west of Barberville when his car collided with a horse. Bishop Earl G. Hunt Jr. of the Florida Area, United Methodist Church, officiated at the service held at 3:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church, Gainesville.

Burial will be at Hillcrest Cemetery in Gainesville. Ferguson had been serving as the administrative head of the 55-church DeLand District since he was appointed in October of 1980.

A native of Greenwood, S.C., Dr. Ferguson transferred into the Florida Conference in 1966 from the South Carolina Conference, where he had served since 1949. His pastorates in the Florida area have included the Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church, Gainesville and the Gainesville Group Ministry.

He is survived by his wife, Myrtle, his mother, two sons, Leonard, of Nashville, Tenn., and Ericardo, of Trenton, S.C., two grandchildren, a brother and a sister.

The family requests that memorial gifts be sent to the Sickle-Cell Anemia Society.

A New Commercial Era In Space

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Four astronauts flew the shuttle Columbia into space today carrying two commercial satellites for paying customers for the first time.

The countdown clicked along smoothly toward its Veterans Day blastoff — the space shuttle's fifth trip, but first as a freighter under charter.

As many as a half-million people watched the launch of the first four-man space crew — astronauts Vance Brand, Robert Overmyer, Joseph Allen and William Lenoir.

The astronauts planned to launch the two satellites later today and Friday, conduct a spacewalk Sunday and land Tuesday in California.

Air Force space trackers said the Columbia came within 60 miles of the two-man Soviet Salyut 7 space station over the Indian Ocean four hours after launch.

The critical final hours of the countdown began at midnight when engineers began pumping more than a half-million gallons of frigid liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen into the shuttle's burgundy-colored external tank.

The weather was excellent for launch time, but officials expected rain at Edwards Air Force Base in the Mojave Desert the past two days would force the astronauts to land on a paved runway Tuesday instead of a lake-bed landing strip.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials hailed the $250 million mission as an important step toward shifting much of the shuttle system's operational costs from the government to commercial users.

Satellite Business Systems and Telesat Canada, the owners of the twin 7,300-pound, drum-shaped communications satellites, are paying NASA $18 million for carrying the satellites into a low orbit. They got a cut rate because they signed up early.

The Columbia took off this morning for its fifth trip into space, and its first for paying customers.

Govern Faces 105 Years In Prison

A 34-year-old millionaire, described by prosecutors as one of the largest marijuana brokers in the nation, could face up to 105 years in prison and $200,000 in fines following his conviction on charges of running a massive marijuana distribution organization, tax fraud and racketeering.

Winter Park builder Robert Govern showed little emotion Wednesday when his 12-count conviction was read in court in Ocala. His wife, whom he married at the Seminole County jail following his arrest, sobbed at his side.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated 19½ hours over three days before finding Govern guilty and also convicted four other defendants. Another defendant was acquitted.

Govern was charged with heading up a distribution operation that sold as much as one million pounds of marijuana in several states, including Florida, from 1977 to 1981. The other four defendants who were convicted were charged with working in the operation.

U.S. District Judge John Moore II set sentencing for Dec. 23 in Jacksonville.

The four other defendants convicted were Leon Mausser, 33, of Altamonte Springs; Keith Gustafson, 30, of Big Pine Key; Thomas Wilkerson, 28, of Lady Lake, and Chad Zelle, 39, of Edgewater.

Gabriel Quintero Jr., 28, of Ocala was acquitted. The jury also ruled that Govern should forfeit $5 million in property in Winter Park, West Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale and Orlando under the Racketeer-Influenced and Corrupt Organizations statute (RICO).

The prosecution charges that the property was either used in the drug dealing operation or bought with the proceeds.

Lawyer Cap Wilson, who represented Govern, said he would file a post-trial motion for acquittal along with an appeal.

Investigators said the Internal Revenue Service became suspicious of Govern when his assets increased drastically in 1979. The federal Drug Enforcement Administration entered the case two years ago when firemen found 25,000 pounds of marijuana in a burning barn on Govern's farm near Eustis.

Govern's name also came up in 1981 during Operation Grouper, that resulted in 250 drug arrests. Some of the smugglers who pleaded guilty in that case named Govern as one of their top customers.

Clark Bows Out Of Casselberry Mayor's Race

Bill Clark, a Seminole County court bailiff, has given up the battle to become a mayoral candidate in Casselberry's Dec. 7 municipal election.

"I have decided not to fight for personal reasons," he said Wednesday, abandoning an effort to request a court order directing his name be placed on the ballot for the split one-year term.

Clark was disqualified as a candidate earlier this week in a ruling by City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh because he didn't complete the paper work necessary until 5:03 p.m. last Friday, three minutes after the qualifying deadline.

With Clark removing himself from the contest, former Councilman Charles Glascock has won election to the mayor's office unopposed to replace Mayor Owen Sheppard. Sheppard has resigned, effective Jan. 10.

Meanwhile, 10 candidates are running for three seats on the Casselberry City Council.

The candidates include: Seat 1 — Richard Russo, Bertha Rines, Jim Hill, Michael Bratman and Margaret Driggers; Seat 2 — incumbent Frank Schutte, and Frank Stone; Seat 3 — incumbent Bill Grier, Carl Robertson Jr. and Valentino Zeek.

Supreme Court Expands Police Search Powers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — If a suspect has been lawfully arrested, police can then search his attache case without a warrant, the Florida Supreme Court has ruled.

In a unanimous decision Wednesday, the high court upheld the conviction of an Orange County man who had been charged with attempting to bribe a police officer. Armond P. Savoie was arrested by a police backup team in 1979 after he handed $5,000 to Winter Park Police Officer Malone Stewart in exchange for the physical evidence being used in the prosecution of another man.

After placing Savoie under arrest, the officers opened his attache case without a warrant and recovered the evidence. Savoie appealed his conviction on the grounds that the search was unlawful.

Confession Hearing Opened

PERRY (UPI) — A critical two-day hearing on a motion to suppress an alleged confession by Christine Falling, the Blountstown baby sitter who had five children die in her care in two years, will be open to the public and press.

After a five-hour hearing Wednesday, Taylor County Circuit Court Judge Royce Agner ruled against Miss Falling's attorneys who had sought to have the hearing closed.

Miss Falling goes on trial Dec. 14 in Taylor County on a first-degree murder charge for the death of 8-month-old Jennifer Daniels of Perry in July 1981.

Workers Cheated Out Of $

MIAMI (UPI) — An intensive four-week federal investigation into labor practices in Miami-area businesses found widespread violations of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, officials say.

The investigation, conducted by the U.S. Department of Labor, concluded that Miami garment and fan factories, hotels, restaurants, construction and security businesses cheated 3,250 employees out of $1,090,000 over the last two years, said a Labor Department official Wednesday.

The workers were cheated out of legitimate wages by companies paying below the legal minimum wage and those withholding overtime, said Robert H. Chauvin, the director of the department's Miami-area wage-and-hour division.

Dozens Killed, Wounded By Bomb Blast In Lebanon

United Press International
A car packed with explosives blew up today next to the Israeli military governor's headquarters in Lebanon's southern coastal town of Tyre, killing and wounding dozens of people, reports said. New fighting erupted in the mountains east of Beirut.

The outbreaks came as Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin left for the United States and Israel accused Egypt of violating the peace treaty between the two countries by seeking closer ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

U.S. envoy Morris Draper was expected to return to Beirut today with Israeli proposals on starting negotiations with Lebanon over the withdrawal of all foreign forces from the country.

Polish Strikes Fizzle

United Press International
Special masses were scheduled today to commemorate Poland's pre-war Independence Day and there were renewed appeals from the underground for marches and other unauthorized ceremonies after the church services.

Riot police battled protesters in Warsaw, Mowa Huta and Wroclaw Wednesday but relatively few Poles took part in the street unrest.

There were also few attempts to heed Solidarity's call for an eight-hour general strike in work places around the nation.

Heart Attack Or Stroke Fells Brezhnev

LEONID BREZHNEV
...who will take over now that he's dead?

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Leonid Brezhnev, who forged detente with the West only to watch it crumble at the end of his 18-year reign over the world's most powerful communist nation, is dead, the Soviet Union said today. He was 75.

There was no official report on where Brezhnev died Wednesday or the cause of death, but officials said he apparently suffered a heart attack or stroke.

In a simply worded announcement, the official Tass news agency said: "Leonid Brezhnev died a sudden death at 8:30 a.m. (12:30 a.m. EST) on Nov. 10, 1982."

Brezhnev was both head of state and general secretary of the Communist Party, whose leadership he took over from Nikita Khrushchev in 1964.

An official announcement today said Yuri Andropov, 68, former chief of the KGB, was named chairman of a committee to organize Brezhnev's funeral, a sign he could succeed

Brezhnev as party secretary, the more powerful of the two leadership positions.

Konstantin Chernenko, 71, a close Brezhnev aide, also had been mentioned as a possible successor.

Unless a choice is quickly made, there could be a wideopen struggle for succession at a time of East-West tension reminiscent of the Cold War era.

Analysts said they expected the Council of Ministers, which is in charge of the Soviet government, and the Politburo, the top executives of the Communist Party — to rule the country in the interim.

A Soviet source said Brezhnev was rushed to a special Kremlin clinic on Moscow's Granovskiy Street where doctors worked for hours to revive him before declaring him dead. The resuscitation efforts were said to be the main cause of the 2½-hour delay in the announcement of his death.

The Kremlin broadcast a statement pledging to follow his policies and warning their foes in the West they would never "catch the Soviet Union unawares."

The death of Brezhnev, the fourth Soviet strongman since the 1917 revolution, came at a time of near Cold War with the United States that shattered detente — the greatest achievement of Brezhnev's reign.

In his final days, Brezhnev lashed out at "hot-headed" Western leaders, accusing President Reagan's administration of "adventurism, rudeness and undisguised egoism."

"We shall do the utmost to see to it that those who like military ventures should never take the land of the Soviets unawares, that the potential aggressor should know — a crushing retaliatory strike will inevitably be in for him," Brezhnev said at a Kremlin reception Sunday — the 65th anniversary of the Revolution.

Retail Sales Slow; GNP May Show Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paying customers continued to be scarce at retail stores in October, disappointing economists who are waiting for a spending surge to end the recession.

And an administration spokesman says further declines in factory production and other economic indicators may force a downward revision in the measure of the gross national product for July through September.

Retail sales increased by just 0.6 percent last month, the Commerce Department said Wednesday, with automobiles and furniture almost the only things being bought in greater quantities.

Total sales of retail stores, adjusted for routine seasonal buying trends, were estimated at $89.6 billion in October, 3.6 percent higher than a year ago.

September's sales figure, first reported to be up 1 percent from August, turned out to be less of an improvement, up only 0.6 percent in revised figures.

And the GNP, first reported up at an annual rate of 0.8 percent for July through September, may be revised "down to a small decline," Robert Ortner, the Commerce Department's chief economist, said Wednesday. The government will publish that revised figure Nov. 19.

A decline in the GNP would show a troubled economy for three of the past four quarters and raise questions about the declarations of economic improvement made by Republican politicians prior to the congressional elections last week.

"It's the fourth month since we've got a tax cut and a decline in interest rates and consumers still aren't spending," said private economist Michael Evans of McMahan, Brafman, Morgan and Co.

Ortner responded by saying he was encouraged by the fact sales were up even 0.6 percent.

"I think with improvement coming through even at a moderate pace, there is a decent chance that November may turn out to be the trough of the recession," Ortner said.

In other economic news Wednesday: — Commercial and industrial failures hit a near-record 689 in the week ended Nov. 4, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. reported, with retailing and construction companies showing the highest rate of failure.

— Stock prices were sharply lower at the close of the New York Stock Exchange as investors cashed in on profits from Wall Street's historic rally. The Dow Jones industrial average closed down 16.73 points to 1,044.52.

— Initial claims for unemployment insurance improved for the second consecutive week, as 650,000 people applied for benefits, the Labor Department said. The figure was adjusted for seasonal layoff patterns.

Duty Expanded For Marines In Beirut

Inevitably, the responsibility of the Marines is being expanded in Beirut. The expansion is likely to continue. The question is whether the Marines' role can be expanded enough and prolonged enough to leave a stable government in place when the Marines leave Lebanon.

Originally, the Marines were emplaced around the Beirut airport, as a buffer between the Israeli army and west Beirut and in order to restore Lebanese control over the airport, which had been seized by the Israelis.

Now President Reagan has announced that the Marine mission will be expanded to include patrols in east Beirut. Presumably, this will strengthen Lebanese government forces in an area that has been totally dominated by the private army of the Christian Phalangist militia.

The Moslems of west Beirut have been disarmed, first by the Israeli army and then by the Lebanese government forces. The Lebanese government said it would move into the east Beirut section later and disarm the Christians but has not done so. Disarming the Phalangists would be difficult. They are better organized than the government forces and more heavily armed. And their leader, Amin Gemayel, is president of the Lebanese government.

There can be no real stability in Lebanon until all foreign military forces withdraw from the country. That includes the Israelis, the Syrians and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But, even then, the government would be unstable if it lacks the armed force to contend with the private army of the Phalange. Building up the government forces is a task that will take months and years. Disarming the Phalange will not be accomplished in a matter of days or weeks. The war has greatly increased the power of the Phalange.

We must be prepared to keep the Marines there as long as they are needed, for the long haul. Otherwise, little of lasting value will be accomplished.

No Arms Freeze

Whatever the people's verdict on the nuclear freeze proposal (it was approved Nov. 2 in eight states), the Kremlin remains to be persuaded.

A talk delivered in Moscow recently by Leonid I. Brezhnev made that clear. He called 500 generals and defense officials together and made a tough speech that was given extraordinary publicity by government organs.

The Soviet leader accused the United States of "adventurism, rudeness and undisguised egotism" and said our foreign policy "is threatening to push the world into the flames of a nuclear war."

Brezhnev said the Soviet Union would not abandon its "line for detente" but would "perfect combat readiness" in a constant and extremely responsible way, proceeding from the growing requirements—then no fortuity will take us unaware.

The Kremlin perceives the United States as having "unfolded an unprecedented arms race, especially a nuclear arms race," aimed at attaining military superiority.

That perception will not be changed by the outcome of the recent vote in eight states on the nuclear arms freeze.

The nuclear arms race will continue because the governments of both the superpowers believe they have to run just as hard as they can to catch up.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Don't you just WISH we could have elected Ted Koppel to something or other?"

Seminole County's "Appreciation Dinner" for outgoing County Administrator Roger Neiswender will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at Lake Mills Park in Chuluota.

The event will be an all-you-can-eat barbecue and more than 200 people have purchased tickets to the event.

Neiswender will be leaving county employment Nov. 23 to take a job as the Orlando office manager of Post, Buckley Schuh and Jernigan, a consulting firm which did more than $100 million in business in Florida in 1981.

Commissioner Robert Sturm's Nov. 2 victory over former Commissioner Robert French was pretty convincing. Sturm garnered more than 60 percent of the votes but French did have several pockets of strong support. Two of those pockets, Precincts 50 and 56, were placed in Sturm's district after the 1980 election when French was defeated by Barbara Christensen.

When the subject of redistricting came up again this week, Sturm told Mrs. Christensen he would gladly yield the precincts back to her district.

She said redistricting should be deferred until 1984, before the election.

Sturm said he knows why — the French Connection.

Next week is American Education Week. Seminole County has scheduled several events but the newest one is a reception honoring retired educators.

The reception is scheduled for Tuesday at 3 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

Current and retired educators are invited to the event.

The Auburndale Sertoma Club is sponsoring the 7th annual Florida State Bluegrass Championships.

Banjo, mandolin and fiddle contests are scheduled and the 1983 champion bluegrass band and clogging group will be named at the event scheduled for March 18, 19 and 20.

Carl Aller, "the original Florida Cracker," will serve as master of ceremonies for the event.

More than $4,000 in cash prizes and trophies will be awarded. Contestants who pre-register before Jan. 31 will have their picture and biographical sketch in the program.

More information on the event can be obtained by writing the Auburndale Sertoma Club, Box 1526, Auburndale, 33823.

Proceeds from the event are used to fund the group's state and national speech and hearing activities plus several local projects.

DeLorean Sparking Comments

The arrest of John Z. DeLorean of DeLorean Motor Co., fame on charges of conspiring to transport and sell cocaine has been seized on by the anti-business Left as symptomatic of the terminal illness of capitalism.

Alexander Cockburn, the chic-leftish Village Voice columnist, suggests cocaine is "an emblem of capitalism's great resourcefulness," his point sarcastically being that businessmen are as willing to sell hard drugs as automobiles, computers or groceries.

Joseph Kraft, the Washington Post pundit who usually thinks before he writes, says that the DeLorean affair is a sign that "greed at the top has been systematized and sanctified."

It's easy to see how John DeLorean works as a handy symbol for demagogues on the Left. From a low-ranking engineering job at General Motors Corp., he rose to become group executive of GM's Car and Truck Group, in charge of the corporation's five U.S. car divisions, the Truck and Coach Division, and Canadian operations. He made it to the executive suite of America's biggest business in less than 17 years, running past colleagues who spent an average of 40 years getting there. His salary was $650,000 per year. It was a good bet that he would become GM's president at the unheard-of age of 49. Then, in 1973, he quit. Simply put, DeLorean believed he was too good for General Motors. For eight years, he worked to put together the DeLorean car company. Thanks to his track record at GM and pure panache, he snookered the British government into plunking down $150 million to help finance the car factory in Jobs-hungry Northern Ireland.

But DeLorean misread the market for stylish, expensive sports cars, which was hurt more by the deep slump in the auto industry worldwide. Instead of slowing production to conform to demand, however, DeLorean doubled it. His personal vision led not to further entrepreneurial glamor, but to jail.

The history of business is full of figures whose blind pride led them to personal ruin. DeLorean, who made a virtue of being a maverick at General Motors, must have thought that boldness and chutzpah would serve him better than integrity and morality.

The story of DeLorean the criminal is not the same as that of DeLorean the businessman-engineer. He knew how to build cars, no doubt of that. But in attempting to salvage his enterprise by selling drugs, he changed careers. He left the world of business and entered the world of the dope dealer, crossing a line that principled businessmen never go near. Today, the Left is claiming that that line doesn't exist.

There are myriad lessons in the pathetic end to John DeLorean's story. One of them is that honorable businessmen are being tarred by his crime, a reminder that capitalism has enemies who delight in cocaine dealing, when it is done by a man in a coat and tie.

VIPs Use Planes As If Own Them

WASHINGTON—When Adm. John Hayes, commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard, wants to fly out of Washington on official business, he doesn't have to check airline schedules like lesser mortals. He simply has his driver take him to an inconspicuous white hangar at the north end of National Airport and hops aboard a Coast Guard plane kept there for his convenience.

When Federal Aviation Administrator J. Lynn Helms wants to take a trip, he uses his agency's $800-a-hour Citation jet, and generally takes his wife along for the ride. The planes Hayes and Helms commandeer for their trips are just two of the 650 aircraft owned by federal agencies other than the Defense Department. The planes are worth $340 million and last year cost $440 million to operate. Most of them have proper uses, such as inspections and surveillance, but many are routinely abused by high officials with an inflated sense of their own importance.

My associate Peter Grant checked the flight records on Washington-based Coast Guard and FAA aircraft for the last six months, and found that they are used mainly to stroke the egos of imperial bureaucrats. For example:

—Adm. Hayes' use of the Coast Guard plane sometimes costs the taxpayers 10 times what a commercial flight would have cost.

—The FAA's two planes at National Airport are intended primarily for use by agency inspectors to monitor the nation's air

BUSINESS WORLD

Freight Forwarders Help

By LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want to fly giraffes from Kenya to a zoo in California your best bet probably is to call Schenkers.

The 110-year old West German freight forwarding firm, one of the world's largest with 300 offices and revenues last year of $2.4 billion, won't blink an eye. If it can't find a commercial plane with a cargo bay deep enough to accommodate the giraffes' long necks, Schenkers will know how to borrow a deep bay military plane for the job — provided the money is right.

And the money must be right, said Gerhart Stebich, president of Schenkers International Forwarders, the American subsidiary. "We aren't interested in forwarding giraffes for the sake of publicity."

Stebich says he has 28 offices in the United States and his sales have grown from $37 million in 1972 to $259 million in 1981.

The Munich-born Stebich, who lives in Scarsdale, N.Y., expects this business to keep right on growing mainly because he thinks Americans are going to have to increase their international trade a lot and that's Schenkers' field.

He says thousands of American businesses that never have tried much to export could export and will do so in the years ahead. Ultimately, he expects the new Export Trading Company Act recently signed by President Reagan to have a big beneficial impact on exports.

Experienced freight forwarders can help American manufacturers and marketers to sell abroad, Stebich said, and Schenkers is devoting a lot of its effort to that end. Schenkers has operated in the United States since 1891 but suffered great setbacks in its business here and, indeed, throughout the world in the two world wars.

Founded by Gottfried Schenker, a Swiss, in 1872, it started by simplifying the business of shipping freight over a number of different railways and across various frontiers and customs zones, handling the documentary work and other details. It spread into ocean transport and ultimately into the air.

Stebich said although air freight forwarding is not growing fast right now, it will continue to grow at the expense of surface transportation in the future for all except bulk commodities because time is so much more important in the world than it was in the past. Small, regular shipments delivered quickly are the order of modern trade, not huge, slow-moving shipments that tie up capital in financing inventory and fail to meet competitive conditions.

Before the end of the nineteenth century, Schenkers already was a big power in world shipping. For example, it took on a single contract the job of shipping 50,000 horses from Russia to South Africa. The combine has grown even faster in this century. It is presently headquartered at Frankfurt-am-Main and is controlled by the German Federal Railway System.

Freight forwarding is a big business in the United States as well as globally. Stebich says he has 1,400 competitors in the U.S.

Schenkers has attracted business by its attention to detail and its ability to handle special projects. It has a dominant figure in the packaging and movement of collections of art worth many millions of dollars.

It moved all the machinery for the Japanese Nissan company's new light truck plant near Nashville, Tenn., and has an enormous global share of the delicate business of packaging and forwarding computer systems.

Stebich admits Schenkers hasn't always been entirely infallible. Some years ago it took on, with some fanfare, the task of handling the first-ever shipment of European wines to the People's Republic of China. But somewhere on the overland journey across the vast Soviet Union, the wine mysteriously vanished and was replaced by water.

Waves Detect Cancer

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A van sets up in a parking lot outside a factory in Japan and male workers walk in one door, sit down in a special chair for about five minutes and submit to a painless diagnostic procedure that could save their lives.

The test in the diagnostic clinic on wheels detects prostate cancer in its very earliest and most curable stage, even before any lumps can be felt.

When the sound wave probing — called transrectal sonography — is over, the worker walks out a door on the other side of the van. The parade of workers continues until all at risk for prostate cancer, due to their ages, are checked.

Japanese authorities claim ultrasonic detection of prostate cancer often can spot incipient or cancerous changes that are still too small to be detected by digital palpation — the traditional method of prostate examination.

The scene in Japan was described by Dr. Daniel G. Miller. He saw the unusual prostate cancer detection system in action. Now a made-in-Japan transrectal sonography unit is in action at the Preventive Medicine Institute-Strang Clinic in New York.

Miller said it is on loan from the Kyoto Prefectural University of Medicine. So is Dr. Masahito Saitoh, a urologist from the Kyoto university who is versed in use of the equipment.

Saitoh has been working with Miller over the last two months, helping him to evaluate the technique and train American physicians in use of the equipment.

Cancer of the prostate is now the third leading cause of cancer deaths among men. For men over 50, it is the second most common form of cancer.

Miller said when caught in its early, treatable stages, prostate cancer can be successfully cured — with patients remaining free of the cancer for five years — about 80 percent of the time.

He said the transrectal sonography units first appeared in Japan 10 years ago. Now there are 50 in use.

In one study of 2,321 patients over a 3 1/2-year period, Japanese scientists reported 57 patients were suspected of having a prostate cancer on the basis of transrectal sonography. Nothing had been detected through digital examination.

Miller said the diagnostic unit consists of a six-inch transducer probe covered with a water-filled balloon which is inserted into the patient's rectum, an electronic device similar to a television screen, a specially designed chair for the patient, and a 35mm camera.

The operator retracts the tube from the rectum about half an inch at a time and photographs the ultrasonic images.

Miller said if the test ever is used in mass screening for prostate cancer, the fee would be about $25 per person.

In America, palpation is widely considered the most reliable method available to examine the prostate gland, Miller said.

OUT IN THE COLD: The unmaking in 1976 of the CIA's Kremlin mole, code-named "Trigon," caused a crippling of the agency's intelligence operations in Russia whose effects are still being felt, according to CIA documents. The concern in Washington is that this could seriously hamper efforts at verification of any U.S.-Soviet arms control agreement.

When Trigon was caught, the CIA was ordered to curtail its agents' operations inside the Soviet Union until it was learned exactly how the superspy had been exposed. The suspension lasted more than a year, and greatly degraded U.S. espionage capabilities.

In early 1977, the Russians began shifting their missile-test aiming points. Their deception techniques included digging fake craters to fool satellite-gathered information on the accuracy of Soviet missiles.

The Russians also produced forgeries of Western classified documents to undermine arms control and modernization efforts.

As if all this weren't bad enough, genuine intelligence data on Soviet strategic weapons was withheld from some of the CIA's own verification experts, and continues to be to a certain extent. The point of this exercise is to siffle dissent to the administration's political views by denying information to those who might put forward contrary opinions.

Rodney's Comedic Foresight Spices Prep Football Predictions

After a respectable 9-3 record last week, my record stands at 73-30-1, four games behind Sam Cook who was 8-4 last week and is 77-26-1 for the year. Speaking of respect, a man who gets none is this week's guest picker Rodney Dangerfield, who recently said after reading a copy of the Cushman Gazette, "I wish my record was in the paper after I read it." Will lend his comical foresight to this week's games.

MAINLAND AT SEMINOLE

It's Homecoming at Seminole, but the question is, can an 0-8 team get up for even Homecoming? Most people think the 'Noles won't be ready, including Mainland's Buccaneers who will end up walking the plank — in an upset Seminole by 4.

Dangerfield's pick — I heard Jerry Posey walked into a store to buy some rat poison and the lady behind the counter said, "You want me to wrap it or are you going to eat it here?" —

Mainland by 21.

LAKE MARY AT COCOA BEACH

Scheduling Wymore Tech was a good move for the Rams but scheduling Cocoa Beach wasn't. The Minutemen have lost two straight and are hurting for a victory. Lake Mary is hurting for an offense, let's hope they get one next year — Cocoa Beach by 14.

Dangerfield — What, are you kidding me? Lake Mary and I have a lot in common — Rams by 12.

LYMAN AT SPRUCE CREEK

The Greyhounds look like good candidates to win the Five Star Conference with Spruce Creek and Lake Brantley left to play. Spruce Creek was surprising early in the season but they haven't had the magic lately — Lyman by 10.

Dangerfield — Lyman's goal-liners are doing the work of three men, Larry, Moe and Curley — Spruce Creek by 32.

OVIDEDO AT BISHOP MOORE

For the last four seasons, it has been

Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

more like "Bishop Morgue" Oviedo is on fire and the Hornets won't be able to extinguish it — Oviedo by 25.

Dangerfield — Coach Jack Blanton walked into McDonald's and the girl told him, "You don't deserve a break today." — Bishop Moore by 2.

LAKE HOWELL AT APOPKA

Depending on what Lyman does, this game could decide the outcome of the Five Star Conference race. Apopka is very tough at home, though, and should stay in the race for at least another week — Apopka by 6.

Dangerfield — Lake Howell is tough, ooh they're tough — Silver Hawks by 8.

DELAND AT LAKE BRANTLEY

The Patriots have won two in a row and seem to play with a lot more intensity at home. DeLand is a very erratic team and Lake Brantley will be able to contain them — Patriots by 8.

Dangerfield — I have to pick the Bulldogs, my wife's their mascot — DeLand by 11.

EASTERN KENTUCKY AT UCF

UCF couldn't beat Eastern Kentucky if they put 22 men on the field. Eastern Kentucky is one of the most powerful teams in NCAA Division I-AA — Eastern Kentucky by 50.

Dangerfield — Sam Weir will go into hiding this week, which reminds me of something that happened when I was a kid. I was at the beach and got lost. I asked a cop if he could help me find my parents and he said, "I don't know kid, there's so many places they could hide." — Eastern Kentucky by 111.

FLORIDA AT KENTUCKY

The Gators blew it, bit the big one, choked or whatever you want to call it last week. Kentucky is about as good as West Texas State — Gators by 28.

Dangerfield — I tell 'ya, I'll eat quiche if Kentucky doesn't win — Kentucky by 3.

LOUISVILLE AT FLORIDA STATE

It looks good for the Seminoles who deserve a major bowl berth. Louisville deserves a decent burial — FSU by 30.

Dangerfield — I had a headache thinking about this game, my wife didn't give me Tylenol, she gave me the cyanide straight — Louisville by 13.

GEORGIA AT AUBURN

Auburn is expected to be the host team of the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando but it might go even higher after the War Eagles beat Georgia — Auburn by 5.

Dangerfield — I had nightmares about this game. I tell 'ya, I wake up every morning, look in the mirror and throw up. I asked the doctor what was wrong with me, he said, "I don't know, but your eyesight is perfect." — Georgia by 34.

WASHINGTON AT ARIZONA STATE

The Huskies came through with a big win over UCLA this week and climbed back into the top 10. Despite being on probation, Arizona State's Sun Devils will probably go to the Rose Bowl and might wind up undefeated — Arizona State by 12.

Dangerfield — The Sun Devils, sounds like they're possessed. But you know what they say, "Possession is nine-tenths of the law." — Washington by 66.

PENN STATE AT NOTRE DAME

The Irish pulled off the biggest upset of the year last week but they won't be able to do it two weeks in a row — Penn State by 10.

Dangerfield — It's not easy being me, you know — Notre Dame by 3.

Five Star Picture Could Blur, If...

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman High seems to have a pretty easy path to the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 titles — but there are some interesting possibilities should the Greyhounds lose one of their two remaining games.

Here's how they stand going into Friday:

	5 Star district		overall
Apopka	5	1	5	3
Lyman	4	1 1/2	5	3
Lake Howell	4	2	1	5
Mainland	4	2	1	4

Apopka sitting on top is a bit deceiving. Lyman whipped the Blue Darters in head-to-head competition. So if Lyman and Apopka finish 6-1, the 'Hounds win.

Lyman closes with Spruce Creek and Lake Brantley. The Greyhounds haven't won at Daytona Beach's Memorial Stadium in a few years which bothers coach Bill Scott.

Of course, they haven't been as good as this team in several years either. Spruce Creek is a very erratic team. The closing game against the Patriots is in Altamonte Springs.

Coach Dave Tullis' team has come a long way in the past month. One could point to victories over Seminole and Lake Mary, though, as the main reason for that progression.

Brantley, however, has played well in its past five games, not just its last two wins. Only a freak fumble recovery in the end zone kept the Pats from nipping Mainland.

The Lake Brantley defense may be able to stay with Lyman, but can the offense produce against the 'Hounds rugged defense. Probably not.

If Lyman were to lose either game and Apopka beats Lake Howell Friday night at home, the Blue Darters would be the champions.

If Lyman loses one of the remaining two, Lake Howell beats Apopka and Mainland takes care of Seminole — there will be a four-way tie. All teams will have 5-2 records.

"And you can throw any reasoning system out the window," said Fred Rozelle, executive director of the Florida High School Activities Association. "I think we had a four-way tie in Dade County one year. It was really something."

If there is a four-way or three-way deadlock, Rozelle said it is impossible to determine a winner. A playoff must be held the following Monday at 7:30 p.m. Rozelle determines the site.

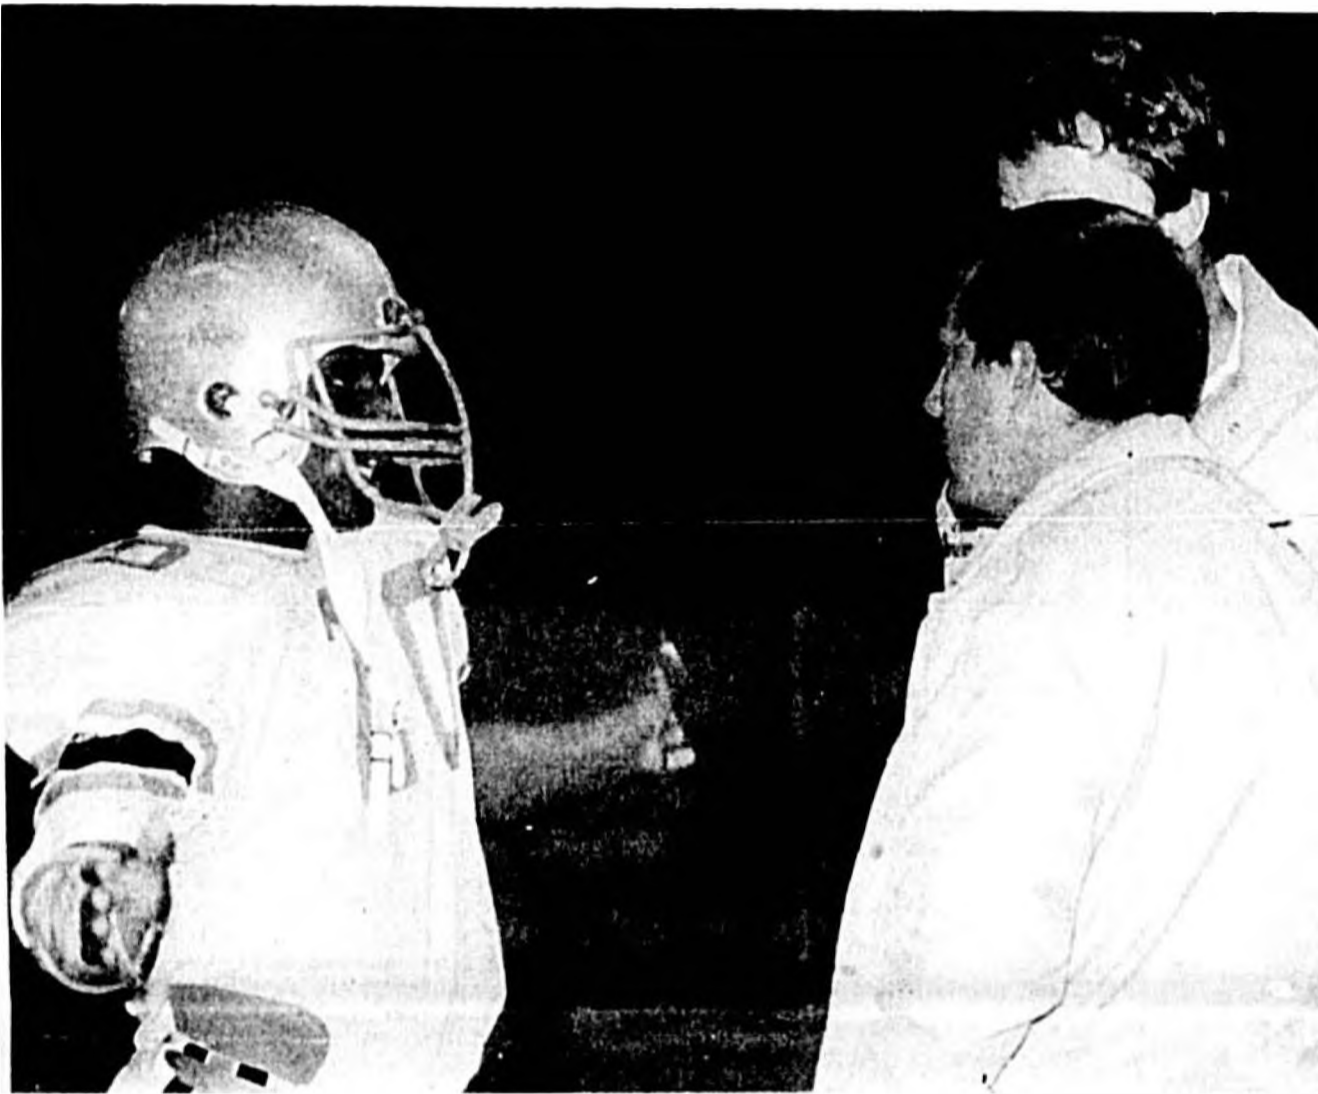

The last year Sam Weir was coaching at Lake Howell (1980), a three-way tie developed among the Silver Hawks, Spruce Creek and Apopka. Lake Howell won, using the tiebreaker system, something Rozelle instituted three years ago.

If there is a three-way tie, three coins are flipped and the odd team gets a bye.

The two others line up on the 10-yard line and the tiebreaker system is used as it would be in an overtime game. Each team gets four downs to score a touchdown or a field goal. Eventually one will win. He then plays the other team for the championship.

If four teams are involved, the pairings are determined and then the two winners meet forty minutes after the outcome of the first game is decided. The waiting period is shorter if just three teams are involved.

Apopka, Lake Howell and Mainland will finish their conference and district seasons Friday night. No doubt several eyes and ears will be tuned toward Altamonte Springs on Nov. 19.

Rocky Knocks Out The Barn

There was a "Rocky" ending to the Sanford Men's Softball League season Wednesday night as Cardinal Industries' Rocky Jernigan delivered the knock-out blow to cap a four-run seventh inning and propel Cardinal into second place with a 9-7 victory over The Barn at Pinehurst Field.

Jernigan came up with the score tied at 7-7, two runners on base and one out in the seventh. Two runs came across on Jernigan's hit to make it 9-7 and The Barn, despite getting runners on second and third in the bottom of the seventh, could not come back.

In the first game Wednesday night, Session Time slid past S&H Fabricating, 8-4.

The Barn jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

Cardinal turned the tables and took advantage of two errors on The Barn for a three-run third inning to take a 3-2 lead. Billy Griffith had a sacrifice fly and Randy Brown an RBI single in the inning.

The Barn bounced back with three runs in its half of the third to take a 5-3 lead. Keith Gover's double knocked in one run and Mike Throne followed with a two-run double.

Another sacrifice fly by Griffith and another RBI single by Brown, enabled Cardinal to score two runs in the fifth and tie the score at 5-5.

Again The Barn rebounded and scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth. Tom Szabo's sacrifice fly and Throne's single drove in the runs.

Saturday's Region 3 Draws 7 Quality Teams

Cross Country

There are seven pretty good cross country teams competing in Saturday's Region 4A-3 meet at Boca Raton. The problem, though, is just four of those teams can advance to the State Meet at DeLand on Nov. 13. The girls start at 9:30 a.m.

"It should really be a competitive meet," said Lyman girls coach Joe Laughlin. "John I. Leonard is the favorite with Lake Brantley and Winter Park right behind."

Then you can toss in Laughlin's

Greyhounds, Lake Howell, Colonial and Edgewater. Region 3 is comprised of districts 5 and 6. With Lake Brantley, Winter Park, Lyman, Lake Howell, and Colonial and you have five teams ranked in the state's top 10 poll from district 6.

John I. Leonard, defending champion from Lake Worth, is a notch ahead of No. 6 Lake Brantley in this week's poll. Winter Park, Colonial, Lyman and Lake Howell complete the poll.

Although District 6 is loaded with talent, it doesn't compare to the Orange Park team some of which will run into in the State Meet. The No. 1 ranked Parkers have the top three ranked runners in the state led by Sandra Braach with a two-mile time of 11:06.

Locally, Lake Brantley's Kathryn Hayward leads four Lady Patriots in the Seminole County Top 15. Her best time is 12:05. Ellen Stern (third, 12:18), Joanne Hayward (seventh, 12:39) and Barbara Holmes (13th, 13:04) are next in line.

Lyman is paced by Schowonda Williams (fourth, 12:19), Cindy Gaskell (10th, 12:55) and Michelle Schindler (14th, 13:07). Lake Howell's Kerry Ryter is sixth in 12:38. Other Silver Hawks include freshman flash Angle Smith (ninth, 12:55), sophomore Lyn Lucas (11th, 12:58) and senior Kathy Compton (15th, 13:09).

Along with the top four teams, the first five individuals advance to the State Meet. —SAM COOK

Lady Raiders Host Tourney, Prepare For Banner Season

The Lady Raiders of Seminole Community College will prepare for the upcoming basketball season in the SCC Pre-Season Tournament this Friday and Saturday.

Visiting teams include Brevard Community College, Rollins and Gulf Coast and game times are 6:30 and 8 p.m. on both nights.

SCC, under coach Sol Batocn, has the potential for a good year with three returning players and a fine crop of freshmen.

The starting lineup consists of three players 6-0 or taller. Katrina Andersson will start at forward and is one of the Raiders' top recruits. Andersson is 6-1 1/2 and comes to SCC from Switzerland. Out of Apopka is 6-0 Evelyn Riviere who will also be starting for SCC in the tourney.

Former Seminole High standout Cathy Jones, a 5-11 freshman, also earned a starting slot on the front line. The Raiders' center will be 6-0 freshman Valerie Roesler out of Pittsburgh. At point guard, Batocn will go with 5-6 sophomore Mindy Patrick out of Lake Brantley High.

Adding strength on the bench are sophomores Debra Garrison of Longwood, a 5-10 forward and 5-6 guard Mary Kane of Melbourne.

The remaining members of the team are freshmen and look promising. Another Seminole High standout, 5-7 guard Sebrina Melton should see plenty of action along with 6-3 center Suzie Wintermeiser out of Orlando Evans, 5-11 Melissa McClelland out of Tarpon Springs and Orlando Boone graduate Mary Jo Miller.

Batocn and the Lady Raiders are looking forward to a banner season and the pre-season tourney should give the fans an indication of what to expect in the future. — CHRIS FISTER

C-Berry Sets Polar League

The Casselberry Recreation Department will have a Polar Softball League for both men and women which runs for 10 weeks.

The "B" League schedule will open with games Dec. 14 for men and Dec. 16 for women. All teams will play once a week at 7 p.m., 8 p.m. or 9 p.m.

Entries are on a first come, first serve basis. The fee is $190. Contact Sandy Lomax at 830-8579 for further information.

Cavs Finally Snap Streak

The team from Cleveland decided it was time for somebody else to be cavalier.

The Cavs snapped a 24-game losing streak over two seasons Wednesday night, using Ron Brewer's 33 points to defeat the Golden State Warriors, 132-120, in overtime at Oakland, Calif. Brewer had 27 points after halftime, including seven in the extra period.

"We're not the team of last year; we're better," he said. "But thank God we got five extra minutes to show it tonight."

The Cavaliers tied it, 110-110, in regulation when Scott Wedman hit a three-pointer with two seconds remaining.

In other games, Milwaukee topped Boston, 105-101, Philadelphia bombed Chicago, 145-108, New Jersey defeated New York, 99-90, Detroit ripped Indiana, 115-91, Seattle downed Dallas, 94-91, Utah stopped Denver, 125-119, and Phoenix beat Kansas City, 106-100.

Sabres Drop Flyers, 7-2

United Press International

It's an added bonus when Gilles Hamel scores two goals and an assist in addition to his hard skating and checking. And that's just what he did in the Sabres' 7-2 win over the Philadelphia Flyers in Buffalo, N.Y., Wednesday night.

"My thing is to play hard. I needed a couple of checks to wake up," said Hamel, recently recalled from Buffalo's minor-league team in nearby Rochester.

"I've never scored a professional hat trick, but ... I had something to prove."

In other games, the New York Rangers edged St. Louis, 5-4, Washington blanked New Jersey, 3-0, Hartford topped Quebec, 7-5, Pittsburgh nipped Edmonton, 5-4, Toronto whipped Detroit, 8-2, Chicago clipped Montreal, 6-3, and Vancouver downed Los Angeles, 4-2.

JASON'S BIG CATCH

Little Jason Christopher Mitchell may have his catfish out of the water, but it's still a struggle for the two-year-old Sanford youngster. Jason pulled in this four-pound catfish while fishing off the wall at Lake Monroe with his grandmother, Bobbie Mickle. He used a minnow for the catch.

Cubs Will Make Strong Bid For Garvey

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Garvey officially left his rich Dodgers' tradition behind and Floyd Bannister discovered a wealthy future before him in baseball's seventh annual free-agent re-entry draft.

Garvey, the glamor name in a weak crop of NL free agents, was selected by nine clubs and at the conclusion of the one-hour draft, Los Angeles declined to retain negotiating rights for the lifetime .302 hitter, who hasn't missed a major-league game since 1975 and has posted five 100-RBI seasons.

Garvey, 33, thus effectively severed his 27-year relationship with the Dodgers and is expected to be wooed seriously by the San Diego Padres. Also selecting Garvey were the Chicago Cubs, the Chicago White Sox, Houston, the New York Yankees, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Seattle and Texas.

"I have to sit down and meet with (President) Ballard Smith and (owner) Ray Kroc to plan our strategy," said Padres' Vice President Jack McKeon.

But the Padres may find competition from an unlikely source.

Cubs' General Manager Dallas Green claims Chicago is in stronger position to sign Garvey and added, star first baseman Bill Buckner is ready to move to left field to make room.

"We think with Wrigley Field as an inducement we can sign Steve Garvey," Green said. "We have the support of the (owners)

Baseball

Tribune Company to do what it takes to sign him ..."

Bannister, 27, headed an impressive list of AL free agents available and he was selected by 16 teams, including the Yankees, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and the World Series champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Although he sports a paltry lifetime record of .51-68 in the major leagues, Bannister led the league last season with 209 strikeouts while posting a 12-12 record with Seattle.

The Yankees and Phillies are expected to make strong bids for Bannister, who says he wants to play his home games in a "pitcher's park" rather than the Kingdome, where the ball carries well and the power alleys are just 357 feet away.

Don Baylor, 33, who cracked 24 homers and drove in 93 runs as a designated hitter with California last season, was selected by six teams, including the Brewers. The Angels declined to retain negotiating rights for the 1979 AL Most Valuable Player.

As Class A free agents — requiring compensation of an amateur draft choice plus a professional player — were a pair of AL outfielders, Steve Kemp of the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore's John Lowenstein. Kemp, 28, was drafted by nine clubs, while Lowenstein, 35, was picked by seven teams.

Major league RBI leader Hal McRae was chosen by the Yankees, California and Pittsburgh.

Five teams — Boston, California, Los Angeles, Minnesota and Seattle — elected last year not to participate in the selection of Type "A" ranking players and were excluded from the 1982 re-entry draft.

The Cardinals' first four selections were left-handed pitchers, with relievers Tom Burgmeier, Terry Forster and Woodie Fryman following Bannister in order. The Brewers, who retained negotiating rights to left-handed reliever Bob McClure, also chose Bannister, Burgmeier, Forster and Fryman within their first five selections.

Bannister and Forster were each selected by 16 teams, tops among the 41 players available.

Nine of the 1982 free agents were not selected by any team. They were: Cleveland outfielder Miguel Dilone, Houston infielder Kiko Garcia, Kansas City pitcher Don Hood, Oakland infielder Dave McKay, Montreal infielder Mike Phillips, Philadelphia outfielder Bill Robinson, San Francisco first baseman Reggie Smith, San Diego catcher Steve Swisher, and California pitcher Luis Tiant.

Thornton Wins Comeback Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Designated hitter Andre Thornton of the Cleveland Indians, who recovered from two years of disabling injuries to regain his position as one of baseball's leading sluggers, today was named the American League's Comeback Player of the Year by United Press International.

The hard-hitting Thornton received 20 votes from UPI's 52-member panel of baseball correspondents from across the nation to easily beat out Baltimore's Jim Palmer for the award. Palmer, who regained his All-Star pitching form after a dismal 7-8 campaign in 1981, received nine votes.

"Needless to say, I'm very gratified (with the award)," Thornton said. "To be able to come back and do the things I'd done in the past was very satisfying."

Pitcher Rick Sutcliffe of Cleveland was third with five votes followed by outfielder Reggie Jackson and third baseman Doug DeCinces of California with four each.

Outfielder Al Cowens of Seattle and pitcher Geoff Zahn of California received two votes each and designated hitter Hal McRae of Kansas City, third baseman Toby Harrah of Cleveland, pitcher Bill Caudill of Seattle, third baseman Paul Molitor of Milwaukee, catcher Bob Boone of California and designated hitter Carl Yastrzemski of Boston each got one vote.

SKILLFUL HEAVE

Nine-year-old Sanford youth Brian Grayson lets loose with an aerial toss in the Sanford Recreation Department's Football Skills Competition at Chase Park. The skills competition included passing, punting and kicking for ages 8-12 and the contests were held the past two weekends after the flag football season ended.

'I Will' Echos During Exchange Of Vows

Helen and Elton Young of Casselberry have been married 65 years — the longest time any of the couples reaffirming their vows in unison.

By DORIS DIETRICH
People Editor

"Do you take this woman...?"
The Rev. S. Edward Johnson, pastor of Sanford's First Christian Church, addressed this question to some 47 men at the Sanford Civic Center Sunday when couples from Orange, Seminole and Volusia counties reaffirmed their wedding vows in unison.

And later the 47 brides took their turns in answering, "I will," to, "Do you take this man..."
Following the impressive joint wedding ceremonies, the bridegrooms kissed their brides as memories drifted back a half a century and longer. There were smiles, hugs, kisses and a few tears.

Paulee Stevens was the mistress of ceremonies for the event. A gala reception with refreshments was served by committees made up of members from the Over Fifty Club of Sanford, Sanford Senior Citizens Club and representatives of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

A variety of door prizes were awarded and music for dancing was provided by the versatile German Band of Seminole Community College Community Band when many spirited couples showed their expertise on the dance floor. Other entertainment was also featured.

Paulee Stevens compiled the following trivia: total married years, 2,447; most living family members, Roosevelt and Brownie Lee, Sanford, 4 children, 22 grandchildren, 24 great grandchildren; marriages performed the farthest away, England and Nova Scotia; marriages performed the closest, five in Sanford; couple traveling the farthest, Edith and John Harrison, Baltimore, Md.

Miss Sanford, Catherine Stewart, appeared with Mrs. Chip (Joan) Edwards and her 2-month-old son, Wesley, probably the youngest patron attending the festivities.

Couples married 58 years are: William and Viola Sheard, Charles and Lily Boyer Sr., Clyde and Maude Reynolds and Burke and Julia Steele.

Also reaffirming their vows were Fred and Susie Collum, married 59 years; Richard and Rose Knight and Remus and Nina Johnson, married 60 years; John and Edith Harrison and Robert and Izetta Cobb, married 61 years; George and Margaret Baumbach and George and Beulah Wells, married 63 years; and Robert and Mary Lormann married 64 years.

GUILD GALA

Dora Lee Russell, right, a member and past president of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, sells Linda Keeling a ticket to the Guild's Gala Fall Frolics Ball Saturday at the Sanford Civic Center, from 8 to midnight. The event, in celebration of Ballet Guild's 15th anniversary, is open to the public at a $15 per couple donation. Music for dancing will be by Passenger. Door prizes, food, contests and a cash bar will be featured.

Child Molester Could Be Kin

DEAR ABBY: Although you have been criticized for printing too many letters pertaining to sex, you cannot alert parents often enough to the danger of children being sexually abused.

I am the mother of a 2½-year-old daughter who was raped by my 15-year-old brother.

Thank God, she was able to tell me what happened in her own words. I could see she was hurting so I took her to a doctor, who is now treating her for gonorrhea! By the way, it wasn't easy for the doctor, since he had never treated a patient that young for a social disease.

Abby, please keep telling parents to take their children seriously when they come to them with stories about sexual matters.

How many mothers would believe a 2½-year-old could be raped? How many mothers even consider the possibility that their child could be sexually molested by a family member or a friendly neighbor?

Parents, I urge you to keep a careful watch over your children, and when they give you any hint that they are being violated, investigate thoroughly. Thank God, my child will be OK. Will yours?
SMARTER IN DAYTON

DEAR SMARTER: Thanks for letting me remind parents once more to teach their children that their bodies are "private" — and if anyone tries to entice them into any kind of "play" involving their bodies, to report it to Mama and Papa at once.

DEAR ABBY: Re "Pigged-Out in Pottsville, Pa." who complained about her friends sending candy, fruitcake, nuts and home-baked goodies to friends they know are trying to watch their calories:

We have a similar problem with friends and relatives who bring over these goodies, knowing that my husband is diabetic. They usually say, "I know Bob can't eat these, but Merry Christmas!" I feel as though they're saying, "Merry Christmas to everyone but Bob."

Why not send a small fruit basket or even some diabetic candy or cookies to let that person know he's not forgotten? UPSET IN ARIZONA

DEAR UPSET: A thoughtful idea. Thanks for a timely reminder.

Garden Circle: Bees And Ecology

MIMOSA CIRCLE

The November meeting of Mimosa Circle, Sanford Garden Club, was held at the home of Mrs. W. B. Moye, with Mrs. W. S. Willis as co-hostess.

Plans were made for the forthcoming Holiday Table and Craft Show, which is scheduled for Nov. 19 and 20.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Carl Chorpene spoke to the members on the importance of bees in our ecology.

Without the fertilization of bees many of the important food crops of the world would no longer be in existence, she said. Bees are divided into groups, aside from the queen. The drones fertilize the queen, who may lay thousands of eggs in one season, Mrs. Chorpene explained.

The worker bees bring in the food, keep the hive clean and fan the queen with their wings if she becomes too warm, the speaker said.

In their constant search for food the pollen from one plant adheres to their legs to be transferred to another similar plant, thus fertilization takes place, she added.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

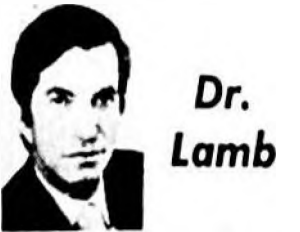

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE HEDE OSOL

For Friday, November 12, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY November 12, 1982
This coming year you should be able to bring to a successful conclusion several situations which have been hanging fire. When the old is accomplished, strike out for new fields.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could become involved in something today which affects others more than yourself. Try to advise from the background without being drawn into things. Order now: the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you choose to do so, you have the ability today to fit comfortably into all types of circumstances. Enjoy yourself regardless of the hand you're dealt.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Although you may not even be aware of it, you're likely to be the center of attention today. Conduct yourself so as to enhance your image.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have a gift for being able to make friends from all walks of life. This quality will be accentuated today. All you encounter will be aware of it.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your possibilities for personal gain look promising today. You'll be able to discern what's of real value from that which is of small value.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to keep all that you do today in proper balance. Don't schedule more than you can handle. On the other hand, don't waste your time being idle.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Proper pacing can do much to enhance your productivity today. Schedule what needs doing so that you'll have adequate time for each task.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Seek fun activities today which do not contain any elements of competition, but which merely bring you together with those whose company you enjoy.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is a good day to invite friends to whom you feel socially obligated over to your place for a little get-together. Impromptu arrangements will be enjoyable.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll do better today with projects of a mental nature than you will with those that are purely physical. Give your brain a workout and your muscles a rest.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Analyze your income and expenditures today and see what steps you can now take to bring your budget into a better balance. Ways can be found.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have good leadership qualities today, but they may remain dormant unless specific situations call for their use. Take charge when necessary.

Some Liver Disease Can Cause Itching

DEAR DR. LAMB - A year ago when I was in the VA hospital I was told I had cirrhosis of the liver. I'm 64 and had been a steady drinker of beer for some time. I don't drink any form of alcohol now, and I don't intend to. I got the word, no alcohol or else. I had an accumulation of fluid in the abdomen which went down in two or three days after taking pills. I did not vomit blood but in the last 10 months I had two black stools. I feel good now, eat the foods they outlined for me and my mental function is good.

I have this prolonged generalized itching. I used Atarax but that didn't do any good. A skin doctor gave me some pills that help, but if I stop them I itch. Am I stuck with this itch for the rest of my life?
DEAR READER - I am glad you quit alcohol. It is the cause of about 60 percent of all cases of cirrhosis. And cirrhosis of the liver is the eighth most common cause of death in the United States. It is actually the fourth most common cause of death in men between ages 35 and 54 and sixth in women of the same age group. And just to think 60 percent of these deaths could be prevented. Itching is a complication of liver and gallbladder disease. It can be very annoying. If your liver function returns to near normal, possibly you will stop having the problem.

That large accumulation of fluid in the abdomen is a sign of poor liver function. The pill you took probably was a diuretic to help wash out sodium and fluid from your body. In advanced cases of liver disease the fluid retention can become a major complication. Surgery to improve circulation to the liver and abdomen may become necessary. Bleeding is common in patients with liver disease, including infectious hepatitis. The liver's role in forming prothrombin, a substance essential to clotting, is disturbed. Then large varicose veins of the esophagus may develop and bleed.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 7-8, Living With Your Liver, to give you more information on its function. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper. P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am concerned after reading your column that raw egg whites destroy biotin. The only way I can get my 14-year-old daughter to eat a balanced breakfast is by including a milk shake that contains a raw egg. If the egg white in the milk shake is causing her a deficiency I will eliminate the milk shake. Please advise.

DEAR READER - It takes a lot of avidin, the substance in raw egg whites, to induce a biotin deficiency. There is biotin in the egg yolk so the net effect of one raw egg is not likely to cause a biotin deficiency.

Biotin is an important vitamin but it is widespread in our food and unless one uses LOTS of raw egg whites an adult or a teen-ager is not likely to have a biotin deficiency. A deficiency may cause digestive complaints and dry scaly skin. Both of these are commonly caused by something else other than a biotin deficiency. But I'm not enthusiastic about raw eggs in the diet. A cooked egg may be better or leave it out of the shake. Raw eggs can be a source of bacteria that cause food poisoning.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH, and Pass/Opening lead. Includes card symbols like spades, hearts, diamonds, clubs.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Even the simplest looking hand can furnish some surprises. Playing in any number of hearts South should make exactly nine tricks. West will open the king of clubs. East will play the deuce, but West will continue since he can see that this club continuation can't hurt him. If East's deuce is the bottom of three, as is most likely, South's queen will drop under the ace, while if it is a singleton, East will get to ruff the third club.

It is the bottom of three and the defense will get two clubs, a spade and a diamond.

Now for the surprise. This particular West player was a suit preference nut. He believed that any low card wanted a shift to a low-ranking suit. Hence, in accordance with his special dementia, he shifted to the four of diamonds at trick two. East's queen fell to South's king.

South drew trumps, finessed against West's jack of diamonds, got to discard his queen of clubs on dummy's fourth diamond and wound up with 11 undeserved tricks.

Note: The suit preference signal is a valuable one to use provided that you bear in mind that it only applies when it is unmistakable. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Video Games Are Fun, But Possible Hazard

United Press International
PITTSBURGH — The U.S. surgeon general says video games may be hazardous to the health of young people, but he has no scientific proof.
 Surgeon General Everett Koop said Tuesday many young people are becoming addicted to the video machines.
 Koop, a Philadelphia pediatric surgeon, said people, "are beginning to understand" adverse effects of video games.
 The surgeon general, speaking at the University of Pittsburgh's Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic, said doctors and psychiatrists are seeing "aberrations of childhood behavior" because of video games.
 He described symptoms brought on by the games as "tensions, sleeplessness in kids and dreams that have to do with the things they have been doing all day."
 Koop said he had no scientific evidence on the effect of video games on children, but he predicted statistical evidence will be forthcoming from the health care fields.
 "They are into it body and soul," Koop said.
 "Their body language is tremendous and everything is zap the enemy. There's nothing constructive in the games."
 "There are educational video games," Koop said, "but the kind the kids like and the kind they are addicted to are Marlans coming in that have to be killed, the enemy is coming here, you have to zap them."
 Electronic games and television also may make some children too ready to accept real violence or even willing to copy it, Koop said.
 Video games manufacturers disputed Koop's conclusions.
 "We have no evidence of a cause-and-effect relationship," said Charlene Margaritis, spokeswoman in Los Angeles for Mattel Electronics, which makes the Intellivision home video system.

Shuttle Carries Students' Experiments Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Aaron Gillette has sent Massachusetts coastal sponges aloft on today's space shuttle, and the results of his experiment may provide insights into the way human tissue heals in zero gravity.

For millions of years, tiny sponge cells have formed easily into living, healthy sponges, but Gillette is betting their natural formation will be stymied in weightlessness. He believes the sponges' formation is tied to gravity.

And if that's the case, he said, healing an astronaut's injury in space may be equally difficult.

"I assume that if gravity does play a major role, then once they are in outer space they shouldn't form into sponges again," said Gillette, 18, of Winter Haven. "That's what we will be looking for in this experiment."

Gillette, a freshman biology student at Western Carolina University in North Carolina, is one of three college students who has experiments aboard the shuttle Columbia.

Gillette's experiment involves thousands of sponge cells stored in 18 plastic bags of sea water. Once in orbit, astronauts will break open an inner packet of chemicals to trigger growth.

Some of the chemicals in Gillette's experiment are strong enough to give the shuttle astronauts a skin rash if they leak out of the plastic bag.

"I'm sealing everything inside three bags so that won't happen," Gillette joked.

Michelle Issel, a freshman at American University in Washington, D.C., will also have an experiment aboard the Columbia. She is sending a crystal sample into orbit to determine if it will grow "more perfectly in zero G (gravity)."

The crystal she will try to grow is triglycine sulfate, which is used in infrared radiation detectors in satellites. She will be comparing the growth of a crystal from solution in zero gravity to that in gravity on Earth.

"I hope to find that weightlessness eliminates the causes of malformation in crystals," Miss Issel said.

As a crystal grows in gravity, said Miss Issel, it becomes heavy and sinks to the bottom. The solution doesn't reach the bottom of the crystal, so it grows up and out in a wafer shape.

The crystal will be grown in a thermal-controlled apparatus that will be carried in the astronauts' living quarters. Small electric heat pumps will provide the warmth and the heaters will be driven by 30 flashlight batteries.

After the mission, she will analyze the resulting crystal for flaws with an electron microscope.

Miss Issel, 18, of Wallingford, Conn., said she "didn't like science and I was not doing well in my science classes" until she entered NASA's shuttle experiment contest two years ago.

"After winning this, I am more interested in science," she said. "I enjoy science and I hope to incorporate a scientific interest in my career."

Scott Thomas, 18, of Johnstown, Pa., will have the third experiment aboard the shuttle. It involves the study of fluid motion in weightlessness.

On Earth, when you heat a pan of liquid, the fluid rises to the top because of gravity convection, said Thomas.

In a weightless environment, there is no gravity convection but the liquid still moves around. Thomas said the reason is because of the variations in the surface tension of the fluid.

"This experiment can't be done on Earth because gravity convection masks the effect Scott is looking for," said Dr. Roger Kroes, a NASA scientist who is Thomas' adviser for the project.

Thomas' experiment will consist of several pans that have heaters built in the side and bottom. During the flight, mission specialist Joseph Allen, a physicist, will inject oil into the different pans and a video tape camera will record the activity.

Thomas, a freshman at Utah State University, said his experiment is similar to ones done on Apollo 14 and Apollo 17. He said his experiment may reveal information about processing materials in space that can't be made on Earth.

Bawdy Business Coming Under Fire

ORLANDO (UPI) — New laws regulating nude dancing, adult bookstores and other sex-related businesses may soon be enacted in Orange County, officials said Tuesday.

Since January, 76 arrests — ranging from prostitution to illegal drug possession — have been made in the county's "topless" clubs.

After five years of court battles and other legal tangles, county officials said they are close to developing some highly effective controls on sex-oriented industries in the area.

The proposed laws will concentrate on zoning, licensing, advertising and descriptions of conduct in adult clubs, Assistant County Attorney Hugh Trees said.

The laws under consideration would require new adult entertainment establishments to be at least 1,000 feet from schools, churches, public buildings and residential areas; require licensing of all persons involved in sex-related businesses; regulate advertising of the businesses; and keep nude dancers at least 5 feet from customers.

Law enforcement agencies and owners of adult amusement businesses have been at odds since 1977, when the county tried to regulate nude dancing in bars.

The first law banned nude entertainment in public view in businesses that served alcoholic beverages.

Bar owners promptly installed private booths to get around the regulation.

Then the county banned nude dancing in clubs that sell alcoholic beverages, but the bar owners started giving away booze and asking for a "donation" at the door.

So the county banned nude dancing from bars where liquor was served — even if it was free.

Since 1977, the number of topless clubs in Orange County has dropped from 28 to 17.

Officials were encouraged on election day when voters said in a referendum that adult entertainment is a community nuisance in three general areas: nude dancing, adult bookstores and advertising of sex-related activities.

County commissioners wanted a vote of confidence before going ahead with a crackdown, officials said.

Seminole Legislators To Organize Friday

The Seminole County Legislative delegation will hold its reorganizational meeting at 10 a.m. Friday at the Longwood City Hall, 301 W. Warren Ave.

State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, is expected to be selected delegation chairman at the meeting.

Seminole County's new legislative delegation, in addition to Brantley, includes: state Reps.-elect Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, and Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs; Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach; Sen. Toni Jennings, R-Orlando; Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, and state Rep. Tom Drage, R-Orlando.

Brantley was re-elected to his third consecutive term in the Florida House.

unopposed, in the Nov. 2 general election.

In calling Friday's meeting, Brantley said the delegation will not consider any proposed legislation.

The meeting's purpose, he said, is to elect a new chairman for the 1983-84 term and to introduce the new delegation members. — DONNA ESTES.

Add One Of These To Your Christmas List

MIAMI (UPI) — It's a Christmas shopping list must for anybody who has friends in fear of assassination.

The anti-ballistic fashions at Lanson's men's wear, jackets in safari and ski styles, are guaranteed to fend off a variety of weaponry — including a .357 magnum at 15 feet.

"A .22, a .38, a .45 — it's good against them all. They tried them out and it's legitimate," said Mac Fields, assistant manager at the downtown Miami store. "The fact is that we're selling quite a few of them."

The jackets, which are manufactured in Israel and stylized in New York, come in tan, olive or blue, with removable panels of bulletproof plastic.

The jackets weigh just 4 pounds, sell for $345, and carry million-dollar liability guarantees if they fail to stop bullets.

"South Americans mostly buy them," said store manager Steve Wolk.

Expressway Group Revived

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Expressway Authority, inactive since 1979, has been reactivated to search for funds to upgrade Lake Mary Boulevard and State Road 436.

County commissioners named Sanford City Commissioner David Farr and Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine on Tuesday to serve on the authority with the five county commissioners.

The first action of the authority will be to seek $102,300 from the state Department of Transportation for its 1982-83 budget.

Reactivating the expressway authority was listed in reports by groups studying the needs of S.R. 436 and Lake Mary Boulevard as vital to procuring at least $200 million needed for the projects.

Farr served on the Lake Mary Boulevard study committee, which urged the upgrading of that highway to six lanes between Markham Woods Road and U.S. 17-92. The report also urged construction of a four-lane connector between Lake Mary Boulevard and Sanford Avenue. The road goes through parts of Lake Mary, Sanford and the county.

Constantine was on the group which studied S.R. 436 through Altamonte Springs and recommended construction of a four-lane elevated highway between U.S. 17-92 and Wymore Road. The report also recommended shuttle bus service along S.R. 436 and expanded commuter service between Altamonte Springs and Orlando.

But the reports did not identify funding sources for the $200 million projected cost of the improvements. The committees suggested a variety of sources might need to be tapped to fund the projects.

The expressway authority's top priority will be to study using toll roads to help raise funds for the projects.

In addition to toll roads, the committees also urged county and city officials to push for increases in the gasoline tax which could be used for local road construction, creation of a special taxing unit in the areas affected by the improved roads and a countywide sales tax increase which would be spent specifically on the projects.

Bus Service Added To Altamonte

Bus service to Altamonte Springs will be added Monday by the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority.

The additional service is part of a major series of improvements by the bus line. The improvements are described as the transportation authority's largest expansion ever.

The Altamonte Springs service will consist of two express runs to downtown Orlando. The Altamonte Springs and other service improvements were made possible by the addition of 18 buses paid for with federal and city grants and by Orlando's first contribution of an operating subsidiary to the transit firm.

Eighteen bus drivers have been hired to operate the new buses.

Ten more buses will be on the road during rush hours now and six more will be in service at mid-day.

New routes on OSOTA's itinerary include a pair of express runs designed for commuters from Altamonte Springs to downtown Orlando. Each will make one run downtown in the morning, arriving just before 8 a.m., and one will return north in the afternoon, leaving the Pine Street terminal shortly after 5 p.m.

Altamonte Express "A" will serve State Road 434 west of Interstate 4, using Montgomery, Wymore and Lake Destiny roads. Express "B" will travel S.R. 434 east of I-4, as well as Palm Springs Road and S.R. 436 going by the Interstate Mall. Both express buses will travel I-4 between Seminole County and downtown.

The "B" bus will make a second trip downtown during morning rush hour from the Interstate Mall only. Park-and-ride lots will be set up at the Interstate Mall and at the Goodings Shopping Center on S.R. 434.

Another service includes an expansion of the Naval Training Center route, number 13, to Goldenrod. At the request of about 2,000 Goldenrod residents who petitioned the authority, that route will be extended north on Lakemont Avenue to Aloma Avenue, to University Boulevard and Goldenrod Road. The route will provide direct service from downtown Orlando to Winter Park Hospital.

OSOTA is receiving $360,000 from the city in operating subsidies this year, $125 million from Orange County, and $125,000 from Seminole County. It's also receiving $1.1 million this year from the federal government.

Hormones Are Linked To Heart Disease

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — An excess of certain hormones may be responsible for heart disease and heart attacks in workaholics, the impatient and other "Type A personalities," a Duke University scientist says.

Dr. Redford Williams said Thursday, Type A men, characterized as high strung, produce high levels of cortisol, adrenalin and noradrenalin while solving mental arithmetic problems and high levels of testosterone while performing reaction time tests.

About 12 Type As out of every 1,000 suffer heart attacks, compared with only four or five for every 1,000 of the more relaxed Type B personalities, the psychiatrist said. Williams' tests are designed to help find out what causes that difference.

His work is described in the Oct. 29 issue of Science magazine.

He said smoking and high blood pressure already have been discounted as explanations for the difference in heart attack rates.
