Southern Bell To Report On Sanford Storm Workload

A full report on the Southern Bell Telephone Co.'s workload during and after the April 8 tornado that struck Sanford and nearby areas will be given at today's 7 p.m. Sanford City Commission meeting. The commission meets at City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

Larry Strickler, manager of the telephone company's Sanford office, will submit a three-page report of man-hours, numbers of employees, equipment required and number of poles replaced during and after the storm, and will outline the company's emergency procedures for the commission.

"I will assure the city manager and the commission that Southern Bell will continue to cooperate in any way with restoration procedures and on day-to-day activities," Strickler said.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles told the commission on April 12 that Southern Bell employees showed a lack of cooperation during the storm. He said they "did nothing and offered nothing when asked."

"The message given was that their union rules do not allow them to work during the storm and that if any work involves lines in trees, they could not handle it but would have to call for their tree crews."

Strickler had said that it was reported to him that a telephone company craft employee, who happened to be driving downtown during the storm, apparently indicated his contract would not allow him to work during storms.

Knowles said at that time, Strickler said today that there is nothing in the company's contract with the Communications

Workers of America, the union representing Southern Bell craft employees, that prohibits them from working during a storm.

Strickler had said earlier that it was reported to him that a telephone company craft employee, who happened to be driving downtown during the storm, apparently indicated his contract would not allow him to work during storms.

Strickler said that in a storm situation employees under his control are not qualified to handle power lines or wet trees, and that the safety hazard must first be eliminated.

The commission also will consider two annexation requests and two requests for rezoning.

Two ordinances are scheduled concerning annexations. The first is for a portion of the property between E. 28th Street and E. 28th Place and between Palmetto Avenue and Sanford Avenue. Rosa Sweet and Dalay Simmons are the owners.

The second involves a portion of property north of and abutting Pine Way and between Mellonville and Ingraham avenues. The tract involved is the Sunland Corp. site owned by Mayor Lee P. Moore.

The rezoning requests are as follows:

—A portion of property east of and abutting Americana and Rolling Hills boulevards and between Airport Boulevard and the eastern extension of Lake Mary Boulevard from apartment district to mobile home district. The request was made by the Dreyfus Interstate Development Corp. for a mobile home park.

—A portion of the property south of and abutting Lakes Drive and between the 28th and 30th avenues, both extended south, from agricultural to medium industrial. Owner-trustee Thomas McDonald is requesting the change in zoning to build an industrial park.

The commission also will consider a request from First Federal Savings and Loan of Mid-Florida to be added to the list of approved depositories for city funds.

Dorothy Brenner, vice president, said the institution is especially interested in deposits of $100,000 for periods of 30 days to six months.

Congregate Living Center Ruckus On Zoning Agenda

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Zoning and requests for amendments for zoning will highlight two public hearings scheduled by the Seminole County Commission on Tuesday.

At the 10 a.m. public hearing, the board will consider adoption of an ordinance establishing the Fern Terrace Street Lighting District in Fern Park, and consider a request for a borrow pit permit on Lola 3 through 21 on property described as Lola on the west side of Lake Rena Drive off State Road 434, near Altamonte Springs.

Tuesday's 7 p.m. public hearing promises to be more controversial.

One item the commission will hear is an appeal from Equity Development Systems Inc. against the county Board of Adjustment in denying a special exception permit to develop an adult congregate living facility on property located at the intersection of Dean and McCullough roads near the Orange County line.

Developers Jordan M. Carlucci and Charles N. Millican, former president of the University of Central Florida, were denied a request for special exception Feb. 15.

The developers propose to use the 80-acre site to build and sell 480 patio homes set in a retirement village concept. Unlike other retirement developments, the units will be sold, not leased or rented, with prices ranging from $47,000 to $70,000.

The proposed retirement village also would include a 120-bed health center, in addition to a recreational complex.

The retirement village would house about 700 persons and employ between 120 and 140.

According to Barbara Wavell, district program specialist for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, the proposed project falls into the state's definition of adult congregate living facilities and would be licensed by the state. While the project falls under state guidelines, it has come under sharp opposition by area residents.

Little Lake Georgia Estates residents, who live in both Seminole and Orange counties near the site, are opposed to the retirement village.

Area homeowners have asserted that the number of retirement village residents and the number of staff are of character with the surrounding neighborhood and that the retirement village would have an adverse impact on traffic, density compatibility, and a small nearby lake.

In order to be granted a special exception, the developers of the retirement village must show the commission their project is compatible with the county's comprehensive land-use plan.

Other zoning matters on the agenda include:

—A request from Gary H. Weiss for rezoning from A-1 Agriculture to M-1 Industrial on property located at the northeast corner of Fifth Street and Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

—A request for specific amendment by Joseph S. Zajick for a change in zoning from Medium Residential Density to Commercial and rezoning from R-1A Single Family Dwelling to C-2 Retail Commercial on property on State Route 436 between Maple Street and Lake Harriet Drive, Forest City.

—A request by the commission for specific amendment from Public-Quasi Public to Commercial and rezoning from A-1 Agriculture to C-2 Retail Commercial on property on North Street, Altamonte Springs, a former motor vehicle inspection station.

—A specific amendment from Low Density Residential to Industrial and rezoning from R-1 Single Family Dwelling to C-3 General Commercial and Wholesale on property on the north side of Magnolia Street west of Brentwood, Altamonte Springs.

Police Dog

Lake Mary Training It From A Pup

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary Police Department again has a German shepherd on its staff, but it will be about nine months before Magnum actually goes to work.

It's been nearly two years now since police dog Dennis, a four-year veteran of the department, retired when his master, Sgt. Dale Picou, left Lake Mary to join the Altamonte Springs Police Department.

Magnum, a dog especially bred for police work, was eight weeks old when he was acquired about six weeks ago. He was selected as the best from two litters.

And he is being trained in the English style by his partner, Sgt. Sam Belfiore.

The $500 cost of acquiring the animal for the department was paid by interested residents of the community. Over the last six weeks it has cost about $140 for Magnum's special food, shots and regular veterinarian visits.

All these costs are being borne by a fund set up with donations from residents.

Since food is important for the police dog's stability, his diet is high in Vitamin C, calcium, brewer's yeast, natural multi-vitamins, cod liver oil, kelp and garlic.

His intensive training is to begin in three to four months when he is willing to accept rigorous training, and by the time he is a year old he will be ready to work. "He will do the work of another patrolman," Chief Harry Benson said.

Benson has been sold on police dogs since his days with the Orange, N.J., Police Department. "They are excellent for the small amount of money it costs," he said.

Benson reminisced about the police dog in the Orange department. He recalled that the dog tracked down a rapist within 45 minutes of an attack. At another time, it took the dog about 30 minutes to find a lost child whose feet were stuck in the mud of a stream with water up to his chest. All the dog had to do on each time was a scent.

In the search for a new dog, Benson said he concentrated on finding a year-old German shepherd which he hoped someone might donate. When his search proved fruitless, he looked for a puppy and was able to find a breeder who bred for the work characteristic.

The cost of maintaining a police dog runs about $700 a year, Benson said, and he expects these costs will be paid from donations.

Police dogs definitely affect incidents of breaking and entering and prowlers, the chief said. And they are especially useful on night patrol, because they can detect persons within a short distance when a patrolman can neither see nor hear them, he said.

Benson said a well trained police dog also can search large buildings and industrial complexes. "You know if the dog clears them, there is no one there," he said.

"You take a little gamble by Magnum, Lake Mary's new German shepherd police puppy, sits on command for his trainer, Lake Mary Police Sgt. Sam Belfiore. The officer expects the 3-month-old pup to be completely trained and ready for duty in the next nine months.

acquiring a German shepherd puppy," he said, noting that if the dogs have the usual hip weakness of their breed, it won't show up until they are a year old.

"But the English for years have been training them from puppies effectively," he said. The time gained gives a year more of useful work.

While Benson expects Magnum to be ready for duty at one year old, a dog acquired at 18 months old isn't ready until he is two years old and thus would have a shorter working life.

During its puppyhood, Magnum is being taught by Belfiore and Benson to ignore having its tail pulled. "We wouldn't want him when he is on actual patrol to bite a child who might pull his tail," Benson said.

The dog also is being taught to hold by clamping his teeth on a person's arm. The only way a subject is hurt by the dog is if he tries to get away.

By being raised in a home, Magnum is a "people dog."

"He's not afraid of people and he loves children," Benson said.

Magnum was bred from two black imported German shepherds. "His sire and two sires before that were rated with 10 points for courage, and Magnum has courage too," Benson said. "As a show dog he might not be great. But even as a puppy he is far beyond show dogs for his work characteristics."

By being reared in the home, the dog and trainer learn to read each other. "It's almost like ESP," Benson said, noting that they can communicate even without speaking and almost know each other's thoughts.

Later this year Benson plans to have Belfiore and Magnum go to a training school in Philadelphia for special instruction. The school sends its instructors to England on a regular basis to keep abreast of the current training methods.

And ultimately Benson hopes the Lake Mary department can breed its own dogs.

Police dogs do normal patrol work, track, search buildings, protect police officers, search for lost children and conduct crime-scene searches.

Noting that a body found after it had been dumped in the city still has not been identified Benson said that if the department currently had a working police dog, the chances would have been better for finding clues.

"We will also train Magnum on drugs," he said. The training will not involve bombs and explosives, because this is not needed in Lake Mary at this time, he added.

Of the expenses for the police dog, Benson said he has no intention of asking the city for money at this time. "We are not asking the city to gamble with us. Residents are raising the money," he noted.

Orange Ave. Paving Is Topic In Longwood

City residents are expected to be on hand tonight to provide input when the Longwood Commission discusses the paving of Orange Avenue at a 7 o'clock equalization hearing at City Hall, 175 W. Warren Ave.

The city has proposed paving the dirt street from County Road 427 to Grant Street in order to upgrade the street to a two-lane east-west artery running from U.S. Highway 17-92 to County Road 427.

The board will hear comments and complaints from abutting property owners who will share in the proposed paving which carries an estimated $82,000 price tag.

Residents will split the paving bill 80-20 with the city should the commission decide to pave the dirt street.

Residents would be assessed approximately $40 per linear square foot for paving and drainage work.

Following the equalization hearing, the commission will open bids for the paving work at its regular meeting at 7:30.

At the regular commission meeting, the board will try to decide the final outcome of the city's land-use map.

The map was presented at a third public hearing a week ago, but a packed house of residents concerned about changes in several areas of zoning and confusion over some of the color codes that reflect specific zoning sent the commission back to a workshop session on the matter.

During last week's workshop session on the land-use map, the board learned that it might have already decided the zoning fate of one parcel in question months ago.

In December the commission granted the Hospital Corp. of America (HCA) a conditional permit to build a hospital between State Road 434 and W. Warren Avenue on property zoned for both residential and commercial use.

According to City Attorney Marvin Rooks, the board may have committed itself to zoning the parcel general commercial because that zoning category is the only one that permits hospitals.

Some residents in the area are concerned that if HCA is unsuccessful in its bid to build on the site, another business might purchase the property and commercialize the entire strip, thus leaving no buffer between commercial and nearby residential areas.

Commissioner Steven Ukert suggested at the workshop that the commission consider more restrictive zoning such as office-commercial use until the hospital's future is certain.

Rooks indicated the proposal could be a legal headache because the city already is legally obligated to change the zoning if it has already granted under conditional use.

However, the entire commission finally agreed to keep the entire strip zoned general commercial on the advice of City Administrator David Chacey, who indicated the strip was too narrow to be developed for office use.

In other tentative action taken at the workshop, the commission agreed to plan for residential use of property at the corner of Longwood Hills Road and Lake Emma Road, and to change the proposed land use of Commissioner Russell Grant's industrial property west of Grant Street to multi-family zoning.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Is There Help For Hemorrhoids?

DEAR DR. LAMB— I have hemorrhoids. I don't know how I got them nor do I know what they really are. Could you please give me some insight on them? How can I get rid of them? I don't eat the foods I should because I am always working. I am a very active man. I also have a hard time moving my bowels. Your help would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER— With all the TV commercials I am a bit surprised that you don't know what hemorrhoids are. I guess if more people understood hemorrhoids, fewer would believe that all the preparations advertised would really help much.

Hemorrhoids have been known since the earliest days of medicine. They are really varicose veins of the rectum. The veins become over-stretched and ballooned out. If the dilated hemorrhoid vein develops a clot in it, it is called a thrombosed hemorrhoid. These may undergo changes leaving a tag.

If the hemorrhoid is in the external area it can cause symptoms, including itching. Local application of desensitizing agents may bring relief. So will thorough cleansing of the folds in the area and a warm sitz bath.

Internal hemorrhoids cannot be seen or felt, as they are inside the rectum. They may cause no symptoms except bleeding. Applying things externally will not help internal hemorrhoids and putting in suppositories above the external hemorrhoids will not help external hemorrhoids.

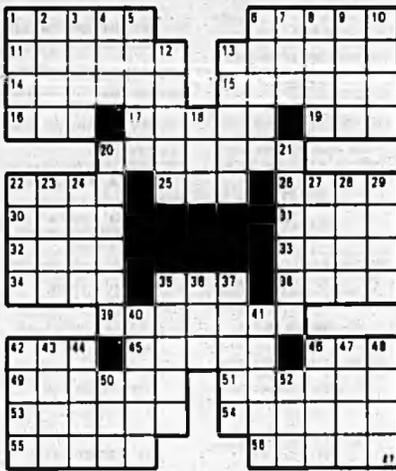

Sitting a long time will aggravate hemorrhoids. So will poor bowel function such as you describe. Straining at the stool is one of the most common ways of increasing pressure inside the rectal veins and causing or aggravating hemorrhoids. Good bowel function is important in the management of hemorrhoids. That usually means adequate bulk and fluids and avoiding straining.

There may be associated problems, such as a fissure (crack) in the anal area that make matters worse. And there are new ways of treating some cases without resorting to surgery. In other cases surgery is the only way to correct the problem.

To help you understand the problem better I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-12, Hemorrhoids: New Treatments for an Old Affliction. Others who want this issue can send $3.00 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I would like to know if anything can be done for color blindness or partial color blindness. I know a lot of people cannot get jobs they want because of this problem. Someone told me they heard something about contact lenses helping. Can you give any information?

DEAR READER— Yes, there is a new lens called the X-Chrom Lens which was invented by Harry I. Zeltzer of Waltham, Mass. It is worn like any other contact lens, except at present it is available only in the hard form. And, of course, only patients who could wear contact lenses can be fitted with the new X-Chrom Lens. It is a ruby red lens that can be placed over one eye. Correcting one eye is sufficient to provide the full spectrum of color. And it has to be used regularly for six months for the person to develop the ability to recognize all those colors that are new to him. You should be able to check with your eye doctor about getting such a lens if you have a color blindness problem.

South's ace and South runs off four spade tricks. You have to discard on the fourth spade.

Your first thought is to simply let a small club go. Your clubs look useless indeed.

Hugh Kelsey has you look further. South needs six or seven points in clubs for his two no-trump opening. If he holds as many as three diamonds he can be sure of four spades, one heart, two diamonds and two clubs for his nine tricks. Therefore, you must play him for just two diamonds if you want to beat the three no-trump contract.

Now your discard is clear. Chuck a diamond. Declarer will attack diamonds and you must win the second one and lead a club. Your partner is sure to get in with a club to lead a heart. Your three hearts will beat the game.

Why couldn't you have checked a club and made the same play? Because South could cash his ace-king of clubs after you ducked the first diamond, and then throw you in with the ace to force you to play a heart to his jack or a diamond to dummy.

Here is another hand from "More Killing Defense at Bridge." You get off to the lucky opening of the three of hearts. East's queen falls to

Penny Sales Tax Hike Won't Cost You Much

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The penny sales tax increase taking effect this week will cost the average family $80 and mean higher electricity, telephone and cable television bills.

The $99 is on routine purchases including clothes, restaurant meals and tickets for entertainment. Floridians making special purchases like a car or boat will pay more. The penny increase will mean an extra $80 in sales tax on an $8,000 vehicle.

So-called essentials, including food, medical care and shelter, will remain exempted from the sales tax, as well as some 80 other categories of purchases not so essential, including laundry and dry cleaning and professional services.

Most Floridians will get back much of the additional sales tax in reductions in city, county and school board property taxes and deductions on federal income taxes.

Despite the effects for taxpayers, the penny increase represents a significant new revenue source for government because up to a third of the sales tax is paid by tourists and because of the substantial growth in sales tax revenues likely to occur once Florida's economy rebounds from the current recession.

The increase will generate about $770 million during the 12 months beginning July 1. The money will be split 50-50 between the state and local governments and be used for tax relief, education and law enforcement.

The sales tax has been at four cents on the dollar since 1968 when a statewide public school teachers strike prodded legislators into boosting it from three cents. It will go to a nickel at midnight Friday.

Stores and businesses have been rushing to change sophisticated cash registers so they will automatically calculate the new tax. Sam Alexander, director of auditing for the Department of Revenue, expects business machine servicemen to be working overtime during the next several days.

New car dealers have been confused over which sales will carry with them a 5 percent tax.

Alexander and Revenue Director Randy Miller have concluded after a study of the tax increase bill that new cars or trucks ordered on or before April 30, this Friday, will be taxed at a 4 percent rate even if delivery is made later, as long as an invoice is made out and the dealership submits the tax in its April returns.

Invoices normally aren't made out until the vehicle is delivered, but dealers will be changing their accounting techniques to save customers $80 or more.

Construction trade groups are trying to get an exemption from the tax increase for materials for projects already under way

Here is how the nickel sales tax will be charged. The tax will be zero for purchases of one to nine cents; a penny for purchases of a dime to 20 cents; two cents for 21 to 40 cents, three cents for 41 to 60 cents; four cents for 61 to 80; and a nickel for 81 cents to $1.09.

because the contractor is stuck with the bid price he negotiated earlier, based on an assumption that the sales tax would be 4 percent.

Building trades lobbyists hope to get Gov. Bob Graham to push for the exemption during the special legislative session he intends to call soon. The issue came up during final work on the sales tax hike two weeks ago, with the Senate favoring the exemption for ongoing construction projects, but the House opposing it.

Here is how the nickel sales tax will be charged. The tax will be zero for purchases of one to nine cents; a penny for purchases of a dime to 20 cents; two cents for 21 to 40 cents; three cents for 41 to 60 cents; four cents for 61 to 80; and a nickel for 81 cents to $1.09.

Justices Of The Peace: Do Ordinary Folks Make Better Judges?

HOMERVILLE, Ga. (NEA) — There's quite a bit to be said around here for Roger Metts. He's a decent, good ole boy. He was born in a neighboring county; he attended the local schools; he used to be sales manager for a potato chip company, now he sells new and used cars at the Ford agency.

And yet he has his detractors.

Particularly down at the court house.

The reason is that Metts is a judge as well as a potato chip and automobile salesman. He serves the district as a justice of the peace. He says he does the best job that he's able to, but he can't convince the community's suspicious legal establishment that he knows what in tarnation he's doing. Let's be blunt about it. The legal establishment thinks Judge Metts is something of an embarrassment. Lawyers point out that he lacks higher education, particularly in the law. They say that he is well-meaning, and conscientious, but that is not enough to merit a seat on a Georgia bench.

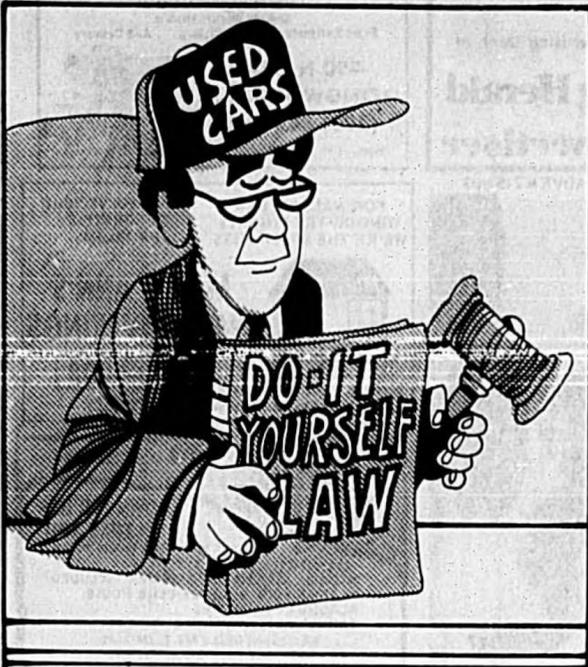

"Think of it," grumps one of the critics, "the man is a peddler, not a judge. He sells potato chips, he sells Thunderbirds, for god's sake! I give it to him that he knows gear ratios and gas mileage ratings, but he doesn't know law. He would have to be an attorney to know the law."

So there is the rub of the complaint. Judge Metts is an ordinary person. He is one of almost 2,000 JPs in Georgia who have no formal legal schooling. He sells cars, others sell insurance or burial plots. Some Georgia JPs are grocers and tractor mechanics; a few are even unemployed.

And the same can be said for much of the rest of the country. Folks like Roger Metts are administering justice in 43 of the 50 states. Specifically, there are 20,200 judges in what's called the nation's "courts of limited jurisdiction," and fully 13,200 of them are not legally trained.

Thus the complaints at the Homerville court house are being echoed throughout America. And JPs far and wide are the targets. "I've got a brother in Pennsylvania," says one Homerville attorney, "and he knows a JP who is a janitor in a school. I mean,

And this lawyer thinks Georgia is a good illustration of the problem. Because there are no standards here at all for justices of the peace. Half the judges are elected, and half are selected by state authorities, and there are no conditional requirements regarding background or intellect.

The result is the state has more than a few JP duds. Wayne Snow, chairman of Georgia's Judiciary House committee, says gavel here have been wielded by wackos and incompetents. And there are tales at the Homerville court house of JP "perverts, political dandies, and plain thugs who use the courts to get rich."

The perverts shall be left nameless. The political appointees, however, deserve further attention. Critics claim they use the positions simply for status. Even Judge Metts, who was elected to office, says most of the appointees he knows insist on being called judge but refuse to do any work.

Then there are the "plain thugs" who serve as Georgia JPs. Chairman Snow says corruption of the JP fee system has been rampant for scores of years; he believes some judges make as much as $100,000 a year, or more than U.S. Supreme Court justices, by taking advantage of their lofty rankings.

But Snow adds that the days of the worthless or corrupt JPs may be nearing an end here. At least the conditions that permit worthlessness and corruption may be terminating. The state has written a whole new constitution which includes a substantial reform of Georgia's judicial apparatus.

For one thing, the new constitution would require that all judges be qualified for office and that includes justices of the peace. Also, there would be a standardization of the selection process. Snow says Georgia will vote on the new constitution in November, and he expects ratification.

Until then, however, the system will remain as it is. And Judge Metts, for one, doesn't think that's so bad. He says ordinary folks may in fact make better judges than those with legal training: "That's because we are flexible, a man don't have to be trained to know that law is common sense."

Besides, the judge says: fully trained people do not want to be justices of the peace. Because in the main there's no money in it. "Last year I worked hard and I made $500," he grins, scratching his neck. "Heck, if some educated feller really wants this job, I'll be glad to let him have it."

Illegal Aliens Arrested

United Press International

Immigration agents are trying to open up jobs for unemployed Americans by tracking down and removing illegal aliens filling relatively attractive positions across the country.

Immigration and Naturalization Service and Border Patrol agents raided numerous sites in nine cities Monday, the first day in a week-long "Operation Jobs," arresting about 1,000 illegals.

An immigration official in Dallas said the 475 illegal aliens arrested by immigration authorities in Texas the first day of the raids were taking jobs away from legal residents and depressing wages.

"We're going to try to vacate these jobs and see if we can refer these jobs for legal residents," Vincent Henderson said. "We'll do anything that we can to put an American citizen to work in a job that was vacated by an illegal alien."

my Lord, the man empties garbage cans."

The attorney quickly adds he has nothing against maintenance men ("Don't use my name"). But he insists that legal observers everywhere are concerned with what they think are unqualified civilians in the nation's courts; at best, he adds, the reliance on them fosters risky, inconsistent justice.

Boston Arms Unravel Sox

There haven't been this many young men bearing such powerful arms in Boston since the Battle of Bunker Hill. During spring training, Manager Ralph Houk of the Boston Red Sox said he was very impressed with the young pitchers on his staff and if they continued to show improvement the team could be in the thick of the American League East pennant race.

In the first two weeks of the season, the young arms of John Tudor, Bob Ojeda, Luis Aponte and now Chuck Rainey, already have left an indelible imprint on the opposition.

Rainey became the latest to bring a smile to Houk's face when he blanked the Chicago White Sox, 5-0, on five hits in the second game of a doubleheader Monday night to help the Red Sox complete a sweep and stretch their winning streak to seven games.

Jim Rice's eighth-inning RBI single gave the Red Sox a 3-2 victory in the first game.

The double-header was a makeup of games snowed out on April 6 and 8, but the temperature at game time was 41 degrees and with a stiff 20-mph wind blowing from the north, conditions were little better than they were on Opening Day.

"Wasn't it a beautiful night?" said Houk. "Are we glad we waited to play them? You bet we were."

Astros 8, Cardinals 2

At St. Louis, Ray Knight drove in three runs to back the four-hit pitching of Nolan Ryan and lead the Astros to victory. The triumph was the first of the season for Ryan, who had lost his first four decisions. Ryan struck out five and walked two in pitching his first complete game of the year and handing the Cardinals their second straight loss after a 12-game winning streak.

Pirates 6, Braves 4

AKT Atlanta, Bill Madlock ripped a two-run homer with two out in the eighth to help the Pirates hand the Braves their fourth straight loss after 13 consecutive victories. Jason Thompson and Mike Easler also homered for Pittsburgh. Kent Tekulve picked up the victory in relief.

Winter Springs' 8 Stuns Longwood

By JOHN REICH
Herald Sports Writer

The Winter Springs III Bronco Team at the Five Points Complex has not had what you would call an outstanding season this year. In fact, the team was winless and the troops were becoming quite disgusted with their display of the National Pastime?

Five Points

It looked grim for Winter Springs as they assembled for their contest versus Longwood. Winter Springs had already fallen to Longwood, 22-1, and even the chance to beat Longwood may not have been theirs for Winter Springs numbered only eight.

But Joey Chavis saved the day, the first of two times, as he appeared on the scene five minutes before game time.

It appeared to outsiders that the scruffy Winter Springs crew would fold against the "Up-town" Longwood Squad. The Winter Springs team pulled themselves up by their bootstraps, though, and entered battle with a stiff upper lip.

Well, with the aid of some supernatural force, and J. J. Childers and Kevin Jones, Winter Springs scored three in the first and three in the last to squeak by Longwood, 8-7.

J. J. Childers, who had been hampered by arm problems all year, somehow struggled through the game, and when the dust cleared, he had given up only five hits, fanned five, and displayed excellent control.

The offensive punch of Winter Springs was provided by Kevin Jones (three hits), Mike Defazio (single, two runs, one RBI) and Jay Chavis (three runs, and three RBIs).

Jimmy Golding was the defensive star for Winter Springs as he played a smart, heads-up first base.

This was a team who would have made the Bad News Bears look like the New York Yankees. Coach Richard Defazio played the part of Morris Buttermaker and J. J. Childers that of Telly Stein.

In other Five Points Mustang baseball games Longwood I won their 11th straight as they downed Sanford 11-7. Longwood seemed to have overpowered Sanford as they scored six runs in the third inning which put Sanford away. Longwood's hitting barrage was led by Lance Reyes, Jeff Livermois, and Casey Kelley, each with two hits.

Forest City III ran past Winter Springs II, 12-3, as "Pop's Pirates" won their 11th straight, also. Winter Springs jumped ahead 3-0, early on, but Bob Mauro's men came back with six runs in both the fourth and the fifth on the strength of only six hits, to take the game. Leading hitters for Forest City were Jason Dearing, David Hamilton, and Tommy Frank, all with two hits.

Forest City II and Winter Springs fought a fast and furious battle, but when the smoke had cleared, the two teams stood at a 7-7 tie. Both teams played good, solid baseball; Forest City II accumulated six hits, led by Black, who had two hits and two RBIs. Winter Springs II's hitting was led by Teligg's and Hummel (both with two hits).

In Pony League action, Lake Mary handed Longwood II its first defeat, 5-2, as Carl Turner's troops powered past Longwood with five hits and excellent pitching by Jeff Gressing.

Donny Gorman led all hitters with three hits while Gressing kept Longwood II subdued, allowing only two hits.

Casselberry massacred Winter Springs, 18-3, by plain ol' hittin' the tater. Jeff Poindexter (four hits), Rod Dunkelacker, Mike D'Amico (both with three hits) and Eddie Taubensee (two singles) did the deed for Casselberry.

In Girl's Mustang action, Casselberry II continued to lead the league as they ran by Winter Springs I, 12-3. The hitting barrage was led by Debbie Murray (two singles), Betty Hill and Jill Knutson (each with three hits).

In an offensive duel, Casselberry I defeated Forest City III 10-3, as they capitalized on their 13 hits. Forest City's Heather Meyer and Nikki Birks each turned in two hit afternoons.

Forest City in a high scoring battle, defeated Forest City II, 9-4. Forest City I, behind the power-hitting of Patu Jackson, (one homerun, two singles) scored nine runs on eight hits. Other timely hits by Deanna Jeffers (three hits) and Kim Steinke (triple) helped seal the fate of Forest City II.

Going into the top of the sixth, Winter Springs II thought they had Lake Mary "in the bag." Winter Springs II was cruising with a 4-0 lead in the sixth, on the strength of Kim Miners' shutout pitching when Charlie Simm's girls fell apart. Giving up 11 hits and yielding six runs, Lake Mary snatched victory from the clutches of Winter Springs II, 6-3. Outstanding sluggers for Lake Mary included Kim Miner, Rachel Rhoads, Kim Soles (three singles each) and Kelley Soles with two singles. Also noteworthy was the superb Lake Mary defense which yielded only five runs despite their pitcher (Jackie Suggs) allowed 24 hits and four walks.

Drugs And Youths, A Mounting Problem

Nearly half the Seminole County students in grades 6 through 8, and about 40 percent of those in grades 9 through 12, use alcohol and drugs in their homes or the homes of their friends.

We don't know how anybody else feels about it, but we think that's shocking information.

It's information that comes from a countywide survey of drug use among students, completed in 1980. A similar survey is in the works to update that data and to determine if Seminole County students are following national trends toward almost-daily use of pills and alcohol, as they decrease their use of marijuana.

The students in the 1980 survey admitted most of their drug and alcohol use occurs weekday evenings and weekends. Peer pressure, perhaps, appears to be the single-most contributing cause of young people entering the drug-alcohol scene.

Still, we can't help wonder if parents aren't falling down on the job. Parents are, after all, those with the prime responsibility for the attitudinal and moral upbringing of children.

True, there are a myriad of complex influences on young people's lives, but conscientious parents who provide the honest, loving care and direction to their children may find them in that percentage of non-users of drugs and alcohol more often than those who throw up their hands and confess there's nothing they can do about it.

School officials, parents and professionals in Seminole County are truly concerned about this problem. So much so that there are several drug action committees in existence composed of these concerned citizens whose aim is to correct this serious social problem.

Out of those committees has come the Seminole County Drug Awareness Task Force. Unfortunately, most of the members come from those other committees so it may be spread a little too thin.

On May 5, there will be a reorganizational meeting of the drug awareness task force at Seminole Community College.

This is an excellent time for any citizen who knows this problem exists, is concerned about it, but hasn't really had an opportunity to do something about it, to get involved.

A handful of parents, educators and law enforcement people can't do the job alone. It's going to take more public participation. After all, that's whose problem it is.

Bad-Debt Doctors

The government has been more than generous with students in this nation, loaning funds at low interest rates to complete their educations.

By far the vast majority of students who took advantage of the program have completed their schooling and scrimped and saved to repay their federal loans. They are the hardworking and honest citizens.

However, there are some deadbeats who have taken advantage of Uncle Sam's concern and generosity. Among them are thousands of doctors and dentists who are making lost of money but are delinquent on their loans.

An audit by the Health and Human Services Department shows that 63,000 doctors, dentists, veterinarians, pharmacists and nurses are in arrears by nearly $31 million in repaying loans from the Health Professions Student Loan Program.

These "professionals" are not only cheating their government, they are giving the whole program a bad reputation. The department's inspector general recommends withholding Medicare and Medicaid payments to delinquent doctors and boosting penalties for late payments. We say, "Get on with it."

BERRY'S WORLD

"People say you're not sensitive. Mr. President, the gang at the Pentagon thinks you are VERY sensitive!"

Everybody knows fame is fleeting. Now Bud Laver wants to do something about it.

The colorful ex-superintendent of schools is spearheading a committee which will form the first Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame.

The panel will be made up of 15 members. Eight of the members will be permanent. Seven or more at-large members will be selected annually.

Seminole County's six high school principals along with Seminole Community College President Dr. Earl Weiden and Laver, who is the chairman of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's sports committee, make up the elite eight.

Laver says "at least seven other members" will be selected annually. "Emphasize at least seven," says Bud. "If we find more good ones than that, we'll stick them on there." The Chamber of Commerce's Chairman of the Board Gib Edmunds is in charge of procuring the at-large members.

The next meeting is on Thursday, May 13 at the Chamber. Laver hopes to have the at-large members intact by then.

"We hope to start inducting by the summer," informs Laver.

Chamber President Jack Horner feels the Hall of Fame will have some scrambling to do in the beginning, but points out this isn't going to be a sentimental journey.

"We have some catching up to do," acknowledges Horner. "There're guys like John Krider who was very instrumental as Florida State (baseball) League president.

"After we catch up though, the person is really going to have to have accomplished something to get in," he added.

Both Laver and Horner believe this is the first Hall of Fame of its kind in this area.

Speaking of baseball, the Montreal Expos made out pretty well with the one Sanford Raines they signed, so they're going to try another one.

Red Raines, brother of Tim, will join the Expos' Class A team in Jamestown, N.Y. in June. The ex-Seminole High great was impressive enough in a couple of tryouts with the Expos to warrant the assignment.

BUSINESS WORLD

Executives Are Healthy

By LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whether it's the executive health care programs that have come into corporate vogue, or just individual good sense, the man at the top seems to be in good health.

A new study by Howard Sloan Associates, Inc., a New York executive and attorney recruiting firm, indicates the chief executive officers of big companies generally do not have high blood pressure, watch their diet, exercise regularly, and miss hardly a day from work because of illness.

About 100 chief executives of companies in the Fortune 500 list answered the questionnaire, and Sloan concluded on the basis of their responses that CEO's stay very healthy even though most of them work at their jobs 60 hours a week or more.

Sixty-one percent of those answering described their general health as good. Only 4 percent admitted to being flabby; the rest marked "in between."

Possibly the most surprising thing was that only 8 percent reported having high blood pressure, which is popularly supposed to be a hazard of the executive suite. An overwhelming 79 percent said their blood pressure was normal and 12.1 percent said it was low. The remaining 2.5 percent did not know.

On the long working week, 87 percent said they worked 60 hours a week or more. And 92 percent said they missed less than three days a year from work for reasons of health.

Forty-two percent admitted to being somewhat overweight but 58 said they definitely were not too heavy.

Ninety-five percent said they exercised dietary restraints and 95 percent said they regularly got more than six hours sleep.

Ninety-three percent exercised regularly with 24 percent putting in six to 10 hours a week.

Somewhat surprisingly calisthenics was an exercise favored by the biggest group, 24 percent, followed by tennis and racketball 19 percent, walking or hiking 17 percent and running or jogging 13 percent. Golf was a sport of 13 percent. There were smaller percentages for swimming, biking and yardwork. Many, of course, mentioned more than one form of exercise.

Stephen H. Berger, President of Howard Sloan, said he personally was not surprised by the relatively low incidence of high blood pressure. He said it has been his experience that it is an important characteristic of a good CEO that he or she can cope with extreme stress without exhibiting such physical strain. Possibly a little surprising is the fact that 84 percent of the respondents were smokers; about 8 percent very heavy smokers.

Whether this 32 percent sample of the CEO's of the Fortune 500 companies is big enough to be conclusive is a question. In most surveys that would be considered by statisticians to be a satisfactory percentage, but in a case like this, persons might choose not to answer for personal reasons so the sample could be tilted.

Dr. Jack Bratton, medical director in New York for Life Extension Institute, which has been providing regular programs of executive health care to corporations for 68 years, told United Press International he suspected a detailed study would show a definite correlation between a low incidence of high blood pressure among CEO's and their devotion to regular health care programs under direct medical supervision.

While Haig's Away, Aide Plays—Rough

WASHINGTON — Behind every international crisis, there are diplomats who spend as much effort maneuvering against each other as they do trying to solve the crisis. It presents the opportunity to play a starring role and climb ever higher on the ladder of power.

Take the case of Lawrence Eagleburger, undersecretary of state for political affairs. In the diplomatic pecking order, he's regarded as No. 3.

But when two international crises — the Falkland Islands and the Middle East — erupted simultaneously, Eagleburger saw a chance to elbow aside the No. 2 man, Deputy Secretary Walter Stoessel, and become a superstar himself. Here was the situation:

Secretary of State Alexander Haig, the undisputed Numero Uno, took personal charge of the hotter of the two crises, the Falkland Islands dispute. In the style of his

Red Army Blues

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Morale within the armed forces is abysmally low, alcoholism and drug abuse are chronic among soldiers, and military equipment is constantly plagued by design and performance problems.

Those complaints probably sound familiar, but in this case they have absolutely no relationship to any real or imagined deficiencies within the U.S. military establishment. Instead, they are typical of the problems regularly encountered in the Soviet Union.

This country's citizens seldom hear of the USSR's military shortcomings because the Defense Department prefers to portray the Soviet army as a highly trained, generously financed, well-equipped, virtually invincible juggernaut.

"American generals testifying before Congress always tell us about Soviet strengths. They tell us a lot less about Soviet weaknesses," says Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. "Everything is geared to make it appear that there is a huge gap between Soviet and American weapons, with ours grossly inferior."

But Aspin, whose credentials include past service as a Pentagon systems analyst and current membership on the House Armed Services Committee, has produced compelling evidence that suggests that the vaunted Soviet military apparatus is, in fact, a slothful, corrupt and flawed organization.

The information comes from a variety of sources, with much of it derived from Soviet emigres or defectors with military experience who now live in this country.

When new military conscripts arrive at the regiment with which they are to serve for two years, they are systematically abused by second-year soldiers who beat up the recruits, force them to perform menial tasks and steal their uniforms and personal possessions.

The second-year men, in charge of physical training, regularly resort to techniques approaching torture. In one case, a recruit was forced to exercise until he pulled out all of the stitches from a recent stomach operation.

Beatings imposed as punishment lead to irreversible physical damage, suicides and desertions. New conscripts receive rations barely adequate for survival because most of the food is taken by officers and older recruits.

Soviet soldiers are paid only 3 rubles and 80 kopecks per month — the equivalent of about $8 — but even those wages are frequently stolen by older conscripts and used to purchase vodka and drugs.

"Everybody drinks all the time. Absolutely everybody — all the officers and all the soldiers. All the time," one former Soviet lieutenant reported. "People drink anything they can lay their hands on," added a former reserve officer.

Alcohol is extracted from hydraulic brake fluid, aircraft deicing fluid and anti-freeze. Some soldiers resort to drinking cologne. Others smoke hashish and opium derived from plants that grow in Soviet Central Asia.

Because one-fifth of all USSR military personnel are officers — a ratio 50 percent higher than in the United States — the Soviet military establishment is under constant pressure to produce more officers.

But "nobody wants to study at military commissioning schools," one former officer explained. As a result, Army recruiters often attempt to trick young soldiers into signing contracts that commit them to 25-year military careers.

"About the only prospect that lures conscripts to re-enlist," says Aspin, "is an assignment to supervise a warehouse, which they use as a source of income by looting army supplies and selling them for personal profit."

Electronic equipment, spare parts for trucks, blankets, construction supplies and a host of other items are among the materials regularly stolen.

A former Soviet army technician recalled that he was supposed to be in charge of two radar stations "but only one worked and then only half the time" because his unit's officers had stolen and sold much of the equipment."

DON GRAFF

Profiling American Poverty

After more than a year of taking little but lumps for its efforts, the Census Bureau finally has come out with something it can point to with some pride.

It is a statistics-crammed first report on the detailed information supplied by the one-in-five households that completed a long form in the 1980 census.

How much pride the nation can take in some of those statistics is another matter. Those pertaining to income in particular.

It is up in every category — per capita, family and household. And poverty level — now set at $7,412 annually for a non-farm family of four.

Some 27.5 million Americans were living at or below that level at the time of the 1980 count. Why they were should disturb all Americans.

More than 8 million were single women heading households, a quarter of them with children under 6.

As Census Director Bruce Chapman observed in releasing the report, "poverty seems to attach itself to people trying to raise children alone."

It does much more than that. Those 27.5 million poor Americans represent 12.9 percent of the total population, in itself a disappointing decline of little more than a point from the 13.7 percent of the 1970 census. Among whites alone, however, only 9.4 percent are below the line. For people of Hispanic origin, the figure was 23.8 percent and for blacks, 36.3 percent.

There is also a geographic pattern to poverty. While the greatest percentage decline was registered by the South, Southern states still recorded the highest rates — 24.5 percent among all Mississippians, 46 percent for the state's blacks. There are similar high correlations for Arkansas and Louisiana, notably among other states.

Even in the better news there is some that is less so.

The census report records median family income nationwide at $19,908. Naturally, it is higher for some. Surprisingly, perhaps, it is highest for families of Asian origin — a median $22,075 — followed by whites with $20,840 annually. Trailing again are Hispanics at $14,771 per family and blacks, at the bottom, with $12,618.

It is suggested that the high Asian showing reflects both more workers per family and more education, a relationship supported by report statistics in that category. While among all adult Americans, 68.3 percent have completed four years of high school, for Asians the level is 74 percent with, as with incomes, a similar dropping off for the other major ethnic groups: whites, 69 percent; blacks, 51 percent; Hispanics, 43 percent.

None of the bad or not-so-good news can be dropped on the doorstep of the present administration. It was, after all, not even in office when the Census Bureau was doing its number on the nation.

But it is worth keeping in mind while the budget-cutting pressure continues on programs and services that most affect the very population groups the 1980 statistics identify as still in most need of assistance.

Poverty, in a nation that has committed itself to the elimination of discrimination, remains intensely discriminatory.

his old boss, Kissinger, was secretary of state and a Nobel Prize winner by the time he was 50.

In any case, Eagleburger sent a cable to his old colleague Haig, recommending Stoessel for the Middle East crisis shuttle. Then he called the White House plane to undercut his own cable. He spoke with an aide to Haig, Alvin Adams. My reporters Dale Van Atta and Jeff Nesbit have transcribed the conversation from a tape recording.

After a brief preliminary, Eagleburger gets to the real reason for his call.

"Uh, listen, I want to make one point," he says. "In one of the cables you will be getting, you will find Mr. Stoessel's name. I have put that in the cable because I'm a nice fellow, but I feel very strongly, very strongly that if he's going to buy — if (Haig) is going to buy the proposal at all — it would be better if my name were there, because I'm nastier. Do you understand?"

Adams hadn't heard the transmission, so Eagleburger repeated it all.

"I frankly think it ought to be my name, not his, because I will be nastier." He added: "You won't understand what I'm talking about until you read the cable. But when you do, would you make the point to the secretary that I would prefer the other name?"

Despite his elaborate scheming — a cable (which Stoessel would see) followed by a contradictory phone call (which Stoessel wouldn't know about) — Eagleburger failed to win the high-profile assignment he obviously wanted. Haig sent Stoessel to the Middle East instead.

In the Byzantine world of Foggy Bottom politics, even No. 1 apparently has to watch out for ambitious underlings. It takes one, as they say, to know one.

Footnote: A State Department spokesman said that Eagleburger had no comment.

Hogan's Homer Lifts Bowl America Past Medco

Cindy Hogan slammed a home run in the fifth inning Monday as Bowl America edged Medco Pharmacy, 11-10, in Sanford Junior League softball action at Ft. Mellon Park. Hogan with two hits and Loyda DeAlba with three paced the BA attack. Lisa Hartman picked up the victory while Dawn Morgan took the loss. Pam Morgan, Tammy Fisher and Jennifer Crotty had two hits each for the losers. In the second game, Valerie Gordon ripped three singles as Briar Construction belted Kiwanis, 11-3. Cecelia Solochart and April (couldn't read the spelling) rapped two safeties for the losers.

Lendl 'Outplays' McEnroe

DALLAS (UPI) — Ivan Lendl sidestepped answering whether he is the world's best tennis player, but he walked through top-ranked John McEnroe in their highly touted World Championship Tennis Finals showdown. Lendl, 22, of Czechoslovakia, defeated McEnroe in four sets Monday night, pocketing first prize of $150,000 and pushing his winnings in less than four months to a whopping $948,250. The 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 win before a crowd of 16,422 at Reunion Arena if not devastating, was decisive. "He just outplayed me," said McEnroe, who has lost his last four matches against the 4-foot-3 Lendl. "He's playing confidently. You can't take anything away from him. Obviously, his record is better than mine and he's playing better than I am," McEnroe observed.

Intimida... Confident Lake Mary Takes On Clermont For Regional

By SAM COOK

CLERMONT — Tonight's Region 2A-10 championship here between Lake Mary's upstart Rams and the hosts is just a simple case of a woman not being able to make up her mind.

The confused one is Ram coach Cindy Henry. Monday morning she was all worried about the Clermont gang intimidating her freshmen-dominated squad.

Just a scant 24 hours later, though, the attractive blonde was singing a different tune. Much like a lady in a dress shop choosing between casual and formal attire.

"Yeah, I thought we might be intimidated yesterday," she said Tuesday morning. "But that was before I learned a few things."

One thing she learned, was that Clermont and Lake Mary had a common opponent — Tavares. The Rams dropped two games to Tavares, 5-1, and, 3-2. Clermont ripped Tavares, 8-7, early in the year, but just two weeks ago whipped Clermont soundly, 12-1.

"The Tavares coach said 'they were very good hitters, but weak on defense,'" related Henry. "After I got a look at their schedule, I'm confident, not intimidated."

Lending to that confidence is the improved pitching of Lisa Sinkins and the flashy defensive play of shortstop Kim Averill.

Prep Softball

"Kim's only hitting .314, but you wouldn't believe how many shots she's hit that are caught," points out Henry.

Along with her mound work, Sinkins lead the Ram hitters with a crisp .454 average. Sophomore Lisa Gregory is next with a .372 mark, followed by Andrea Fenning at .307.

Clermont's Pete Sherwin feels Henry has nothing to worry about. "Those girls have played in tournaments before," he pointed out. "She doesn't have anything to worry about."

A look at the record, however, reveals the Rams may very well have something to worry about.

In three short years, Sherwin has built quite a program at Clermont. In 1980, Sherwin's girls' 1st in the district finals to Umatilla, 7-6. Umatilla went on to win the state title. Last year, Clermont was ripped, 4-3 in the district finals.

In post-season play thus far, Clermont has had two laughers. It beat up on South Sumpter, 15-3, and ripped Dunnellon, 14-3.

KIM AVERILL... flashy fielder

"Yeah, I thought we might be intimidated yesterday, but that was before I learned a few things."

— Cindy Henry

Big innings keyed both games. Clermont erupted for eight runs in the first inning against South Sumpter and never looked back.

Against Dunnellon, Sherwin's lusty-hitting crew piled on seven runs in the third inning to break open that contest.

"We really haven't had that many big innings," said Sherwin Monday. "But we've worked doggone hard on our hitting. We average 11 runs a game."

Leading that hitting attack is sophomore shortstop Yvonne Thompson with a sizzling

.615 average. Freshman third baseman Nancy Jones is batting .541, while senior center fielder Starretta Cole is hitting .333. Junior first sacker Sharon Brown swats the ball at a .478 clip.

Clermont has compiled a 14-4 record en route to its present standing. Lake Mary, meanwhile, played a tough schedule while posting a 10-8 mark. All but two of the losses came to 4A schools.

The Rams pulled out two close victories in the district tournament. Terry Blayne and Jill Lewis rapped RBI singles in the 7-3 championship game win over Mount Dora.

Adcock Roofing Widens Lead

Adcock Roofing has opened up a 1½-game lead in the Sanford Little American League after Monday's action.

Adcock chalked up its seventh win without a loss, beating Butch's Chevron 19-8. But the game for Adcock came when S&H Fabricating and Engineering upset Krayola Kollege 8-7 in seven innings. That leaves S&H Fabricating and Engineering and Krayola Kollege with identical 6-2 records.

Atlantic Bank won by a forfeit in Monday's other game.

Three games are scheduled for today in the Sanford Little National League. Unbeaten Poppa Jay's plays Sanford D.A.V. at 5 p.m. at Fort Mellon, while second place Suniland Corporation plays Cardinal Industries at 5 p.m. at Bay Avenue Field. Rinker Materials battles the Railroaders at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

Butch's Chevron scored a single run in the top of the first, but Adcock Roofing capitalized on a pair of errors and took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first.

Butch's regained the lead with two runs in the top of the second, but Adcock exploded for 10 runs on six hits in the bottom of the second and walked to the victory. Patrick Williams had a triple and single in the second and Reginald Bellamy belted a home run.

Winning pitcher Sammy Edwards pushed his record to 5-0 as he hurled the first three frames.

Bernard Mitchell had a double and two singles for the winners. Von Eric Small smashed a home run and single, Dougherty had a triple and single and David Reuscher had a double and single.

Jerry Harkness had a double for the losers. Jason Heffington stroked a two-run single in the top of the first to give Krayola Kollege the early lead, but S&H Fabricating and Engineering picked up five runs in the bottom of the first, using four hits, including a triple by Troy Rollins and a double by John Wright.

Heffington slammed a two-out solo home run in the top of the third and Krayola Kollege took a 7-5 lead with four runs in the top of the fifth. Harrison Hampton and Travis Pickens both had doubles to key the four-run rally.

John Lewis drove in a run with a triple and scored on a sacrifice by Gerald Morris to tie the score in the bottom of the fifth.

In the bottom of the seventh Wright opened with a double and Tim Hampton was safe on an error. Wright was thrown out at the plate when he tried to score on a wild pitch, but Anton Reid walked and John Lewis drove in the winning run with a single.

Wright had two doubles for S&H, while Leonard Richardson had a double and single.

Heffington blasted a home run and triple for Krayola Kollege while Pickens had a double and single.

Donald Grayson made a triumphant return to the Junior League Monday night as he nailed a home run in his first at bat. Despite Grayson's blast, Rotary tipped Elks, 8-7, in extra innings.

Rotary Trips Elks Despite Grayson Homer

Rotary posted a hard-fought extra-inning victory over Elks Monday to remain atop the standings in the Sanford Junior League, while Kiwanis dropped into third place after suffering a loss to previously winless Moose.

Both Rotary and Moose won by 8-7 scores. Elks was playing its first game with Donald Grayson back on the roster, and it didn't take Grayson long to make his presence known. After

Junior League

Jack Jackson reached base on an error with one out in the bottom of the first, Grayson became the first junior leaguer this year to put the ball out of Chase Park.

Rotary tied the score with a pair of runs in the top of the second, using walks and a single by Greg Pond.

Steve Sellers doubled and scored on an error in the top of the fourth to give Rotary the lead for the first time, but Elks tied the score in the bottom of the fourth. Grayson led off and was safe on an error. Jasper Collins followed and also reached base on an error. After a double steal, Grayson scored on an error by Rotary catcher Eddie Korgan.

Korgan walked to open the fifth and Craig Dixon followed with a triple to put Rotary in front again. Dixon scored on a ground out.

Rotary picked up two more runs in the sixth, using a single by Bill Penick and a double by Darris Little.

But Elks tied the score again with four runs in the bottom of the seventh. Henry Williams led off with a walk and Reginald Hayes followed with a single. With two outs, Grayson was intentionally walked to load the bases and Collins followed with a two-run double. Two more runs scored when Antoine Cockerham was safe on an error.

Mike Edwards opened the eighth for Rotary with a double and scored on a one-out double by Korgan.

Elks had the first two batters on base in the eighth, but couldn't push a run across the plate. Sellers, Korgan, Edwards and Little had two hits apiece for Rotary and Terry Williams had two hits for Elks.

Kiwanis scored three runs in the top of the second to take a 4-3 lead and increased its lead to 7-3 with three runs in the top of the fourth.

But Moose came charging back, scoring five runs in the bottom of the fourth to tie the score at 7-7. The only hit for Moose in the fifth was a single by David Goldstick.

Dexter Debone opened the top of the seventh with a single for Kiwanis, stole second and went to third when Dwayne Willis grounded out. Theodore Graham then smashed a line drive that Moose second baseman Kirk Blocker snared. Blocker fired the ball to third for an inning-ending double play.

Raymond Smith walked to start the Moose half of the eighth and Roger Hall popped out. Smith was out at second when Vernon Ramassar hit into a fielder's choice. Ramassar stole second and was stealing third when Richard Leonard struck a single for the game-winning RBI.

Patriots Pluck Sims In Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Sims, a 6-foot-4, 265-pound defensive end considered by far the outstanding prospect among this year's group of college seniors, was selected by the New England Patriots today to open the National Football League draft.

Sims, a native of Kosse, Texas, was named UPI Defensive Player of the Year and also won the Lombardi Trophy as the nation's outstanding lineman. Through his four-year career at Texas, the last two as a starter, Sims had 322 tackles and 31 sacks.

Baltimore picked Johnnie Cooks, a 6-4, 240 linebacker from Mississippi State. Cooks was selected the southeast conference defensive player of the year by UPI and also was named the defensive MVP in the Hall of Fame Bowl where he had 11 tackles.

Cleveland, which obtained Tom Cousineau, the No. 1 pick in the draft three years ago from Buffalo, was expected to go for a running back. The Browns, however, opted for another linebacker, Chip Banks, a 6-5, 230-pounder from Southern California.

Sanford 800 Scores Away Competition

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor
How good is Sanford 800? Well, coach Gene Williams' group hasn't lost in six contests. That's pretty good.

Saturday, however, the Sanford crew added another feather to its headpiece the easy way. Maitland 801 forfeited the soccer match.

Forfeits aren't all that uncommon in soccer. This one was kind of strange, though. The match was in Maitland and 16 Sanford players showed up. Even though Maitland was on its home field, it produced only six performers.

Reputation and rain travels a long way. Williams' unbeaten bunch gets back into action Saturday morning at 10 at the Sanford Airport against Winter Park 803. Sanford 800 is still ranked the number one age eight and under team in the Central Florida League.

In other Sanford Soccer Club play, Sanford 480 Celery City Printing Co. rushed to a 4-0 halftime lead en route to a 7-3 victory over Pine Hills 481.

Richards' Brothers, Albert Whip 081

Celery City's dynamic duo of the Richards' brothers — Durrand and Sheldon — combined for four goals to lead the charge. Along with a hat trick by Matt Albert.

Sanford Soccer Club

Durrand started the scoring with a breakaway goal and Matt Albert followed up for a 2-0 lead on an assist by Tim Roberts. Durrand scored again unassisted before Albert rammed home his second goal for a 4-0 bulge on a feed from Sheldon.

Defensively, goalie Darry Gann stopped a penalty kick and turned in a perfect first half in the net. Ricky Shea and Steve Sapp also turned in stellar efforts, according to coach Suzy Reno.

In the second half, Sheldon scored on a feed from Durrand and Albert connected from 15 yards out for the hat trick. Sheldon finished the scoring on a pass from Denny Kearns.

Celery City, 6-0, travels to Red Bug for a 12:30 p.m. game with F.C. United 480.

Celeste 'Rolls' FC 220

Elsewhere, coach Wayne Albert's Sanford 201 Celeste Industry stayed among the unbeaten with an 8-3 pasting of F.C. United 220.

Chuck Roll, who also swings a good stick in the Sanford Youth Baseball League, turned in an excellent defensive job in the net for 201.

Rusty Smith started the scoring on an assist from Danny Bachrach. Chris Ray followed with a penalty shot kick before Alex Piquer and Mike Altizer added unassisted goals for a 4-1 intermission lead.

In the second half, Brent Posey, Troy Deppen, Mitch Albert and Piquer all kicked in unassisted goals to give Celeste its victory.

Albert cited David Farr, Cory Stickney, Charley Butler and Eric Miller for defensive prowess.

Celeste, 5-0-3, goes to Maitland Saturday for a 10 a.m. match with 281.

Sanford 200 Boatworks dropped its second game of the year by an 8-1 count to Winter Park. Boatworks, 4-2, travels to Union Park Saturday for a 10:30 a.m. match with South Orange.

Tucker Blanks 281

Donavan Tucker turned in an "outstanding" performance in the net as coach Phillip Walsanen's Sanford 880 club blanked Maitland 282, 3-0.

Tim Walsanen, with an assist from Randy Bowlin, and Greg Dean furnished the offensive fire power for Sanford.

Coach Walsanen praised Barry Coleman and Bill Schanel for their defensive work. Sanford

080, 4-2, hosts Winter Park 081 Saturday at 9 a.m. at Sanford Airport.

Brewer Kicks Key Goal

Sanford 000's Troy Brewer tallied an unassisted goal with just 30 seconds remaining to lift 000 to a 1-1 tie with College Park 001.

"Rick Austin did a good job the whole game in the goal," said coach Tom Brewer. College Park's only score came on a first-half penalty kick.

Sanford 000, 2-4-1, plays Pine Hills at 11:10 a.m. Saturday at the Fairgrounds.

Coach Suzy Reno's other team — Sanford 400 Kiwanis — battled the rain and small (seven) numbers before falling to Downtown Orlando 401, 6-0.

Kiwanis trailed just 1-0 in the opening half, but Orlando broke loose for five goals in the second session. Reno cited Joe Barrett and Steve McCormick for good performances.

Kiwanis, 1-4, hosts F.C. United 481 at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Sanford Airport.

Coach Clark Adams' Sanford 881 squad turned in a strong second half, but it wasn't enough to avert losing to Winter Park, 8-0.

Sanford 001, 6-7, travels to Maitland Junior High School for a 10:10 a.m. game Saturday against Maitland 062.

California May Cancel Sirhan Sirhan's Parole

BOLEDAD, Calif. (UPI) — Sirhan Sirhan shouted "God forbid" upon learning at a parole hearing that another convict accused him of threatening to kill Sen. Edward Kennedy if he is freed from prison.

Sirhan, 28, who assassinated Kennedy's elder brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, in Los Angeles in 1968, appeared Monday before a three-person panel weighing demands the state cancel the parole it has set for him in September 1984.

Sirhan's outburst came as his lawyer, Luke McKinnock of Los Angeles, branded the allegation by a convict who knew Sirhan "untrue."

Hinckley Trial Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strict security was imposed today in U.S. District Court for the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr., 26, the college dropout charged with the attempted assassination of President Reagan.

Metal detectors screened those who entered the courthouse for the historic trial, while a newly installed camera monitored all movement outside the courtroom.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker was to begin jury selection from a pool of 300 potential jurors following a pretrial hearing on a number of legal questions in the long-delayed case.

National Deficit Growing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget negotiators have pulled "off the table" a proposal to limit Social Security increases and are now working with a new set of numbers that would produce a 1983 deficit of up to $110 billion, sources say.

Negotiators, who originally hoped to keep the deficit under $100 billion, planned to meet again today at the White House.

University Official Guilty

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) The jury that convicted a former University of Illinois administrator of embezzling $600,000 to pay for a sordid secret life of strippers, sex and X-rated clubs refused to believe his contention he was insane and could not help himself.

Robert N. Parker, 58, was convicted Monday on 157 counts of felony theft for stealing the money from the school's fund-raising arm, the University of Illinois Foundation. His lawyer said the verdict probably will be appealed.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy thunderstorms triggered at least 10 tornadoes and bombed the South with baseball-size hail and 1-inch rains whipped by high winds for the second straight day, causing extensive property damage. Alabama and Georgia bore the brunt of the storms Monday, which rumbled from Texas through the Carolinas. At least six tornadoes blasted Alabama and one touched down in Georgia and Mississippi. Between late Sunday and early Monday another 20 tornadoes cut a swath through seven states from Florida to Texas. Thunderstorms moved into the Carolinas today and produced hail the size of golf balls. Showers and thunderstorms continued from western Virginia to central Georgia early today. Showers and a few thundershowers dotted the Atlantic Coast from the Florida Keys through New England and the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes. Wild storms moved across Georgia, packing damaging winds and hail. Montgomery, Ala., was battered by golf-ball size hail and nearby Summerfield was pounded by hail the size of baseballs. Heavy rains doused the Middle Atlantic Coast states during the evening, dumping 1 1/4 inches at Cape Hatteras, N.C., 1 inch at Salisbury, Md., and nearly an inch in Newark, N.J. and New York City. In New York more than 2,000 customers in Queens, in New York City, and Westchester were temporarily without power when heavy rains short-circuited power sources. Florida braced for a fourth consecutive day of heavy rains. Forecasters said could cause extensive flooding in urban areas. Ironically, the three days of rain skipped around drought-stricken Lake Okeechobee, south Florida's major reservoir.

'He Was In Jail The Whole Time'

'Missing Person' Wasn't Missing At All

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

After a seven-hour search for a Longwood man reported missing Monday evening, sheriff's deputies finally found him...in the Seminole County jail.

"When we get a call about a missing person like this one, we always call the jail to see if perhaps, the person had been picked up by one of our deputies or another agency," according to sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki. "The jail, however, told us initially that he was not there but we later discovered, after having our deputies searching, along with our range and water people and the Orange County helicopter, that he was in the jail the whole time."

The confusion began when Cynthia M. Pratt, 31, of Longwood, told deputies she had not seen her friend, Steven Kenneth Smith, 18, also of Longwood, since 7 p.m. when he left their home to go dirt bike riding in a wooded area off Delix Road.

Meanwhile, Smith had been arrested that evening and charged with reckless driving and attempting to flee and elude a police officer, deputies said. Smith is being held under $500 bond in the county jail.

"We are conducting an investigation," Spolaki said. "Disciplinary action will be taken if allegations are such as we assume. That is, if the person did not acknowledge the man was there (in jail) when first asked."

GOVERNOR GIVEN A LAWYER
Winter Park millionaire builder Robert W. Govern, who is being held under a $10 million bond in a Jacksonville jail on drug, racketeering and tax evasion charges, has been granted a court-appointed lawyer.

Two Orlando attorneys, representing Govern at a hearing Friday before U.S. Magistrate Harvey E. Schlesinger, said the government had stripped Govern "of any ability to defend himself and secure reasonable bond," and therefore, Schlesinger appointed Jacksonville attorney Brent Shore to Schlesinger declared him indigent and eligible for court-appointed defense. Govern's bond remains at $10 million.

The Winter Park building magnate, dubbed "The Galaxy" by neighbors, was one of 13 people charged in an 18-count indictment handed down by a Jacksonville grand jury April 13. The indictment charges the men with operating a $100 million marijuana distribution ring in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Lawyers W. Ford Duane and John M. Robertson told Schlesinger they could not represent Govern, whose assets are estimated by government officials at $13.3 million, without some guarantee they would be paid for their efforts in the anticipated four-to-six-week trial. The government has seized Govern's assets, saying they were used or procured in illegal drug transactions.

When questioned by Schlesinger as to his financial standing, Govern said he did not know what he could do to procure counsel since the government had taken "everything I own." Govern, at first, said he did not want a court-appointed lawyer.

U.S. Attorney John Lawlor told Schlesinger that Govern has assets in offshore corporations and banks but that the Internal Revenue Service has been unable to verify the holdings because of problems in dealing with laws of the Caribbean nations.

Schlesinger appointed Jacksonville attorney Brent Shore to represent Govern and said if Govern is later determined to be able to pay for his legal aid he will be required to do so.

A co-defendant in the drug-related case, Levo D. Mauser, 22, of Altamonte Springs, said he has retained Chandler R. Miller, of Winter Park, to represent him in the trial.

MEAT, DRINKS STOLEN
Thieves made off with about $100 worth of meat and beverages from a Sanford man's home sometime between 8 a.m. April 15 and 11:36 a.m. Thursday.

Vance A. Taylor, 51, of 2415 Bay Ave., told police the thieves entered his home through an unlocked garage door and stole the drinks and frozen meat.

HEAD START BURGLARIZED
Thieves broke into the Project Head Start offices in Sanford sometime between 3 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday and stole an undisclosed amount of meat from the freezer.

The thieves apparently entered the building by breaking a bathroom window.

APOPKA MEN CHARGED IN DRUG DEAL
Two Apopka men are free today from the county jail on $5,000 bond following their arrests Friday on drug-related charges.

Thomas Casey Turcott, 30, of 218 Ulysses Drive, is charged with possession and delivery of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia, deputies said.

Michael Allen Webb, 25, of 3516 Shirley Drive, is charged with two counts of possession and delivery of marijuana, and resisting arrest with violence, deputies reported.

Undercover narcotics agents said they arrested the two men at about 11:35 p.m. near a softball field off Grant Street, Longwood, after agents reportedly purchased 10 pounds of sinsemilla — a high grade marijuana — for $13,500. The street value of the marijuana is estimated to be about $28,000, deputies said.

THE SPIRIT OF LONGWOOD
The Longwood Elementary School Fife, Drum Corps and Flag Corps brought home the Grand Marshal Award for Group II Bands recently when it participated in the Springtime Tallahassee Festival Parade. Prior to the parade, the group, consisting of fourth and fifth graders, spent two days touring the state capital. The corps is under the direction of Ann Flynn and the flag corps is instructed by Kathy Wood.

Ma Bell Mending Its Image With The City Of Sanford

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Southern Bell Telephone Co. is making a special effort to polish its image which was damaged by the April 6 hail storm. City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles criticized the telephone company employees for lack of cooperation during and after the storm.

At Monday night's City Commission meeting, Larry Strickler, manager of the company's Sanford office, reaffirmed his firm's commitment to the city to work together in the best interest of the public.

The bad feelings developed after a telephone company employee reportedly told city personnel that a union contract with the company prohibited employees from working during storms.

Strickler said earlier that the contract with the Communications Workers of America has no such provision. He added, however, that employees under his control are not qualified to handle power lines or wet trees until any possible safety hazards are removed.

Strickler said Southern Bell brought in employees and equipment from Orlando, Melbourne and Daytona Beach to assist in storm repair work. And cable and other equipment was provided through expedited shipping from Jacksonville the evening after the storm. Costs to replace damaged cables totaled $400,000 he said.

In other business, the commission: —Designated First Federal of Mid-Florida as a depository of city funds. The designation allows the S&L to bid for city deposits in sums of $100,000 or more for terms of 30 days to six months.

—Gave preliminary approval for the requested annexations of two parcels of property. The first, owned by Rosa Sweet and Daley Simmons, is located between E. 28th Street and E. 29th Place and between Palmetto and Sanford avenues.

The second parcel, the site of the Sunland Corp. plant owned by Mayor Lee P. Moore, is located north of Pine Way and between Mellonville and Ingraham avenues.

—Adopted ordinances rezoning the Dreyfus Interstate Development Corp. property abutting Americana and Airport boulevards from apartment to mobile home zoning. Also rezoned from agricultural to medium industrial was the Thomas McDonald trust property south of Silver Lake Drive.

British Fleet Ready To Strike

United Press International

The commander of the British fleet warned Argentina his battle groups were "ready to strike" the Falkland Islands and British commandos were reported already on the islands today preparing another counter-invasion.

"South Georgia was the appetizer," Rear Admiral Sandy Woodward told reporters aboard the aircraft carrier Hermes Monday night. "Now this is the heavy punch coming up behind."

The fleet commander's comments coincided with a report in the Times of London that British commandos were on the Falklands scouting out a landing site for a possible invasion. The Defense Ministry denied the report, saying "there is no truth in it."

"My battle group is properly formed and ready to strike. This is the run-up to the big match, which in my view should be a walkover," Woodward said.

In London, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said in a television interview Britain would use force again to recapture the Falklands if Argentina refuses to resume talks to avert further violence.

"It is obvious we cannot go on like this forever," she said, just hours after telling a cheering Parliament that Argentine troops had surrendered on South Georgia island, 800 miles east of the Falklands.

"We have to judge when is the best time for the various military options with the least loss of life," she said, repeatedly warning that "time is getting extremely short" for Argentina to pull out its invasion forces.

The crowd demanded the Falklands remain under the Argentine rule imposed April 2, but also chanted with the Spanish name for the islands, "Malvinas yes, regime no."

The protesters — shouting "We support the Malvinas but not the dictatorship" — gathered in the heart of the capital at the request of labor unions that had supported the invasion despite previous strained relations with the regime.

Despite Argentine vows to fight, British newspapers said today an attack on the Falklands could be imminent and reported members of the elite Special Boat Squad were already on the islands 450 miles off the Argentine coast.

The Times, quoting informed sources, reported a small British force was on the Falklands to find a landing site for the main British force. Commandos had cleared the way for the Sunday attack on South Georgia.

The Royal Navy task force of some 40 ships has been told to land at its discretion, but not to attack the Falkland capital of Port Stanley where the main part of the 10,000 Argentine troops are believed dug in, the Times said.

The Daily Express, quoting government sources, reported a battle of the Falklands was imminent.

The British Ministry of Defense refused comment.

Mrs. Thatcher repeated her call for the withdrawal of Argentine troops and said the British re-capture of South Georgia and the threat of a new attack enhanced chances for a diplomatic settlement.

Argentina was thought assured of support by most Latin American nations in the OAS for a denunciation of Britain, but diplomatic sources doubted Buenos Aires would get backing for sanctions.

Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendes demanded Britain withdraw its fleet and its allies — the Commonwealth and some nations in the Commonwealth — end their trade bans.

Wrecker Driver Tells Longwood To Take Its Job And 'Stick It'

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood's City Commission meeting started out innocently enough Monday night — until the question of preferential treatment for the city's wrecker truck driver led to verbal fireworks.

Three weeks ago, the commission granted Fred Patterson, 1187 Second Pl., an exception to city Ordinance 472, prohibiting the parking of wrecker vehicles in residential sections.

Patterson had requested the exception on the basis that parking the wrecker at his home would save up to 30 minutes in emergency response time. He received support on his request from Commissioner Russell Grant, who said he felt the response time was critical enough to possibly save lives, and from Police Chief Greg Manning, who indicated the quick response time of the wrecker truck had been helpful to the city.

But last week the commission became concerned that it might have violated its own ordinance by granting the special exception until City Attorney Marvin Rooks could draft an amendment to the ordinance. In approving the special exception for Patterson, the commission gave him a May 10 deadline before the matter would again be brought before the board.

On Monday night, Rooks presented an amendment, but Patterson, feeling he'd been the victim of a broken promise, bluntly told the commission what it could do with the city wrecker job.

"I'm not a city employee," he said. "You can take May 10 and stick it where the sun don't shine," he added bitterly, and stormed out of the meeting.

When the red-faced commission gathered its composure, it instructed Rooks to look into the possibility of canceling Patterson's contract with the city.

Patterson's abrupt departure temporarily leaves the city without a wrecker truck driver.

The commission has scheduled an emergency meeting on the matter for Wednesday at 4 p.m.

"We'd better look for somebody pretty quick," said Commissioner Tim O'Leary.

Almost forgotten after the verbal sparring between the commission and Patterson was the commission's unanimous vote to adopt Longwood's long-range land-use map.

The map, the subject of more than seven months of debate, public hearings and workshop sessions, will set the tone for zoning and growth in the city over the next five years.

"We've done a lot of work on the land-use map, and there's been a lot of compromise," said Mrs. Lormann.

A week ago the map was presented at a third public hearing, but the commission tabled a final vote on adopting it and scheduled one final workshop session after some residents complained about parcels of zoning and confusion over color codes on the map.

The map must coincide with the city's comprehensive land-use plan.

In other commission action Monday, the board approved May 13 and 14 as the scheduled days for Longwood's annual cleanup.

City crews will be available those two days on a call-in basis for the removal of debris from residents' homes.

A written agreement between the city and developer Dick Williams was presented by Rooks. Williams agreed to place $3,000 in an irrevocable bank account as an assessment for the paving of Overstreet Avenue, where Williams will build a 16-unit condominium project.

Floridians Give Reagan Good Marks, Poll Shows

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Most Floridians believe President Reagan is doing a good job as President and state residents are more optimistic about the future of the nation than other Americans, according to a statewide survey.

The survey, released Monday, found 88 percent of Floridians approving Reagan's performance compared to a 66 percent approval rate in a national survey taken at the same time.

Of the Floridians questioned, 38 percent disapprove of Reagan's performance.

The president drew his greatest support in the north part of the state with a 69 percent approval rate compared to 47 percent in southeast Florida.

Seventy-one percent of college graduates like what he is doing while 36 percent with a high school education or less approve his performance.

The Florida results showed 61 percent "more or less" satisfied with the way things are going in the nation, 18 percent "very satisfied" and 21 percent "not at all satisfied."

Salmon Recalled

The Food and Drug Administration today announced more voluntary recalls of 7.75 ounce cans of salmon because they may have a defect in them that could permit the formation of the toxin that causes botulism, an often fatal disease.

Today's announcement brings to more than 50 million the number of recalled salmon cans.

The cans were produced at two Whitney-Fidalgo Seafood Co. plants and by St. Elias Ocean Products cannery and distributed under a variety of brand names. They can be identified only by codes stamped onto one end of the can.

Cans recalled from the Whitney-Fidalgo, Kodiak, Alaska, plant include all 1980 and 1981 production. The cans have a two-line code with five characters in the top line. The codes will begin with HD13, HD14, RD13, RD 14, MD13, MD14, CD13, or CD 14. (Example of top line code: HD13A)

Cans recalled from the Whitney-Fidalgo, Anchorage, Alaska, plant were produced in 1981 and have a two-line code with five characters in the top line. The codes will begin on the top line with RA13 or CA13. The bottom line will end with the number "17". (Example of entire code: RA13A over 1817)

The cans recalled from the Anchorage plant are limited to those produced on one packing line. The damage exhibited is a different defect from that noted in the other recalls but is also attributed to a can re-former machine.

The St. Elias Ocean Products Co., Cordova, Alaska, is also recalling cans of salmon manufactured at its cannery in 1980 and 1981. The recalled cans will have a two-line code with only three characters in the top line. The codes will begin with the letter R, P, M, C, or K. The second character will be a "square" symbol, and the third character will be number 0 or 1. (Example of top line code: P (square) 1)

Cans of salmon with these codes should not be opened or eaten, but returned to their place of purchase.

These are the sixth, seventh, and eighth Alaska canneries to announce recalls since FDA began its investigation of cans from salmon packers in February following the death of a man in Belgium and the illness of his wife from botulism traced to salmon packed by the NEFCO-Fidalgo Packing Co. of Ketchikan, Alaska. The investigation revealed that some cans may have been damaged by a machine that handles them while they are being re-formed at the canneries. The machine may have caused tears in the edges of the cans, leaving holes or other defects in the can seams when the ends are attached. The defects could allow the development of botulism toxin in the cans.

The recalls announced previously by FDA and still in effect are: with K13 in the three middle positions of five characters. Chugach Alaska Fisheries, Cordova: cans coded on top line with RO03, PO03, CO03, MO03, KO03, RO13, PO13, CO13, MO13, or KO13.
