Teen driver flees from police, hits house

A 15-year-old Wekiva area teen faces probable charges of leaving the scene of an accident, as well as driving without a license after crashing into a house.

The incident occurred just after 1 p.m. Wednesday as Seminole County deputies were pulling onto the teens street. The teen, Justin Schulaka, had been through the court system for a 1998 burglary and the deputies were on their way to visit him because of information they had received that Schulaka was in violation of his community control.

Schulaka was just leaving his house in a friend's car and tried to speed away when he saw police. He lost control of the car and smashed a home at 109 Ledbury Drive, the same home that he was arrested and charged with burglarizing.

Four others were in the car at the time. None were hurt and police expect to file charges against only Schulaka.

Eaton rejects plaintiff's claims

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton ruled Wednesday that the city of Longwood has sufficient police power to close its streets for its Annual Fall Arts Festival, thus denying a request for a temporary injunction by five Warren Avenue residents.

As part of a law suit filed against the city by Winter Springs attorney Mike Jones, the plaintiffs sought to force the city to keep Warren Avenue and Wilma Street open during the traditional event scheduled the weekend prior to Thanksgiving. The city, and the Central Florida Society for Historical Preservation, which runs the two-day festival, contended that changing the logistics of the festival layout would ruin the event.

Judge says Longwood has authority to close streets for festival

In his order released Wednesday afternoon, Eaton wrote: "It should be noted that the Art Festival has taken place for several years and no testimony was presented that established substantial inconvenience or lack of the ability of the City to respond to emergencies in the past. Indeed, the plan for the festival which was presented shows that the city can react to emergencies and provide services for the plaintiffs during the Art Festival should the need arise."

Plaintiffs Beatrice Morris, Richard Morris, Laura Morgan, Barbara J. Smallwood, and James B. Hopkins testified Friday before Eaton. They complained of lack of access to their homes, crowded streets, litter, and general inconvenience.

"We just want the same rights as every Longwood resident," said Morgan. "The right to come and go from our homes as we please."

City Attorney Richard Taylor and co-counsel Donovan Roper argued that the See Longwood, Page 8A

Authorities offering $1,000 to solve vandalism at Seminole High School

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Police are searching for a suspect who apparently drove a stolen car into a building at Seminole High School and set the car on fire.

In the early morning hours of Oct. 25, a stolen 1988 four-door Dodge was driven through the rear gate of a fenced in parking lot at the school. A cinder block was placed on the gas pedal of the vehicle as it was put into gear, and it slammed into Building No. 19, the Spray Paint Booth Building.

The Dodge collided with the building, causing damage to the block structure and garage door, according to a police report.

A $1,000 reward is being offered by the State Fire Marshal's Office to anyone with information leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspect.

Police do not have a lead on who might have been responsible for the incident. The car was stolen from a residence in the Seminole County area, police said.

"We are canvassing the area, but we have no leads right now," said Detective Kris Ziegler of the Sanford Police Department.

Police were called to the scene when school officials found the burned car at 6:45 a.m. The Fire Department and investigator were notified, along with the State Fire Marshal's Office.

"The car was left in front of the building, and it was burned to a crisp," said Coleman. "I was told that the seat covers were See Vandalism, Page 8A

Chubby's still Twistin'

But don't ask him to Limbo

By Russ White

Chubby Checker fondly recalls performing before 400,000 people one evening in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

"We were Twistin' the night away," said the King of the Twist. "That was back in 1961 or 1962," he said. "The Twist was hot and so was the night. Some people were collapsing in the heat. I couldn't believe the size of crowd.

Chubby Checker's played a lot of places but never to so many people."

On Saturday Checker returns to the Sanford Heritage Festival for a second straight year.

"A good town, fun people," he said Wednesday from his office/studio in Conshohocken, Pa. "We're glad to be back. Glad to Twist again in Sanford, Florida."

At 58, Checker's date book is filled. He played a week ago in Hinkley, Minn. He's going to sing the National Anthem at a Boston Celtics game on Friday. On New Year's Eve, Checker and the Wildcats are playing the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans.

For 40 years, thousands upon thousands have paid to hear Chubby Checker, whose recording of the Twist is one of the top songs in the Rock era. Checker has sold more than 250 million records worldwide. The Twist was No. 1 twice (in 1960 and 1962), the only single to accomplish that feat. He's played the White House and the Peppermint Lounge. He had a concert at what had been the Berlin Wall.

Checker, whose real name is Ernest Evans, was 19 when he recorded the Twist. He and the Twist were known throughout the world at the start of the 60s, the See Chubby, Page 7A

Police crack smash-and-grab robbery ring

Suspect claims to have links to Russian mafia

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A year-long investigation into a convenience store ATM smash-and-grab robbery ring has led to the arrest of a Sanford man, who law enforcement officials believe has connections to the Russian Mafia.

Seminole County deputies, working in conjunction with investigators from the Lake County Sheriff's office, arrested Jerry Carl McCormick Saturday at his Decottes Avenue, Sanford, residence. The arrest warrant was issued when McCormick's blood sample matched those taken from an ATM machine robbery at a HandiWay store in Sorrento dating back to August of 1998.

Investigator L.P. Brown of the Lake County Sheriff's office, who has worked the case for more than a year, said McCormick is linked through confidential intelligence files by various law enforcement agencies to the Russian Mafia.

McCormick, 40, was booked into the Seminole County jail of $50,000 bond. The Lake County warrant charges him with burglary to a structure, grand theft, grand theft auto, and possession of burglary tools. McCormick has a lengthy criminal record and was facing outstanding warrants from Lake County, Bay County, and Dade County at the time of his arrest.

Brown said that on August 24, 1998, McCormick and three other men were involved in the Sorrento ATM robbery when See Police, Page 8A

This one's for Dimpsey

When Veterans Day Roll Call is heard at 11 a.m. today — 11-11-99 — 94-year-old Leander Dimpsey of DeBary will call out, "Here."

Dimpsey's a proud old Salt. He joined the Navy in 1923, five years after the armistice was signed to end World War I. He was 18 years old, enduring boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

"In those days, we slept in hammocks on coal-burning ships," Dimpsey said. "As a seaman apprentice, I made $21 a month ... by the time I mustered out in 1952, I was making $700 a month pushing recruits (as a Chief Boatswain) at Great Lakes."

Dimpsey said he retired after World War II but was recalled to help prepare sailors for the Korean Conflict. His son, Leander Dimpsey, Jr. enlisted around this time.

"It was in my blood," said Leander Dimpsey, Jr., 67. "I wasn't as tough as dad, though. I used to get sea sick something awful."

The Leanders — father and son — are members of the Fleet Reserve, which is the host association for today's Veteran's program. Leander Dimpsey, Sr. will ride in a convertible during the parade on First Street. He walked the route up until a year ago.

"I'm doing fine," Dimpsey said, "but the legs aren't what they were. I had good sea legs, you know. Never did get sea sick. And I was out there a long time. I spent World War II in the Alutians."

Dimpsey said he regretted not being able to be with his son during Dimpsey Jr.'s formative years. Leander and Helen Dimpsey, who celebrate their 68th wedding anniversary this month, had no other children.

"Wasn't in port long enough," Dimpsey said on Wednesday.

His longevity and his military acumen, Dimpsey said, come from his grandfather, "Gramp" Homan, who served with General Sherman in the Civil War.

"Gramp marched through Atlanta with Sherman," Dimpsey said. "And he lived to 103."

The name "Dimpsey" is Irish and often is confused with Dempsey, as in Jack Dempsey, the prizefighter. Leander Dimpsey, Sr. was born in Portage, Wisconsin in January 1905. He came to Florida in 1952 to be warm.

Leander Jr. Dimpsey owns five acres of land in DeBary, and his parents live in a home adjacent to his.

As dad rides in the Veteran's Day parade, son will be cooking hot dogs at hamburgers for the reception afterward at the Fleet Reserve.

"Pop will be fairly hungry by then," Dimpsey said. "So will all the fellows."

Veteran's Day is celebrated at the 11th hour on the 11th day of the 11th month in big cities and small towns throughout American. Only a handful of World War I veterans survive, and the numbers from World War II are diminishing. Leander Dimpsey is the real thing.

The organizers decided last week that a bugler would not play "Taps" this year at the park ceremony.

"We're always thinking of those who are gone," program official Andy Bolton said, "but let's make this a day for the survivors."

This one's for you, "Pops" Dimpsey.

Officials concerned about disease from mice

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Tests performed by the Florida Department of Agriculture indicate that mice sampled in the Orange County area may have leptospirosis, a bacterial disease more commonly associated with animals in tropical areas.

Further testing is being conducted to clarify the type of leptospirosis that is present, and to identify if the bacteria could make people ill.

State officials said that leptospirosis does not currently pose a threat to Seminole County, and that the wave of rodents seeking shelter in homes appears to be moving toward the Lake County area.

An average of one person is reported with leptospirosis each year in Florida. People become infected through direct contact with water or moist soil contaminated with urine from infected animals. Most people infected had a history of working with animals such as dogs, rats or cattle.

"It is not unexpected to find it in rodents," said Bill Bigler, a medical doctor with the Department of Health. "We are concerned about it being in rodents that are moving in with people."

In general, the bacteria is not transmitted person-to-person. No human cases of leptospirosis have been reported this year in Florida.

Health care providers are being asked to report suspect cases to their county health department. Symptoms include fever, neck ache, chills, and fatigue.

The symptoms typically appear four to 19 days after exposure. The bacteria can only be identified by a blood test. Leptospirosis can be effectively treated with antibiotics.

Health Department officials said Leptospirosis can be prevented through good sanitation.

People who are working with rodents should wear gloves. Anyone who has detected mice in their homes is advised to keep foods in closed containers, and to wash dishes as soon as possible and put them away.

The Department of Health also advises caution when disposing of mousetraps, especially if any skin on the hand has been broken.

Driver resents chauffeuring widows who need a lift

DEAR ABBY: Never did I think I'd be writing to you, but for the past few years I have been plagued by widows who cannot drive. However, most are not shy when it comes to expecting neighbors to drive them to church, to shop, to the doctor or the dentist, to senior affairs, etc.

Dear Abby

What in the world were these women — and their husbands — thinking in years past? It's a well-known fact that women usually outlive their husbands. Did they think a chauffeur would automatically appear when the husband died? Or were the husbands stubborn male chauvinists who refused to accept the fact that they might go first?

I loved your item re: Who would a man rescue if both his mother and his wife were going over the falls and he could rescue only one? You humorously wrote, "... it's so important for women to know how to paddle their own canoes." Amen! Healthy ladies: LEARN TO DRIVE!

Thankfully, the new generation has all girls and women learning to drive early. Those no-drive widows are such a pain.

WIDOW-DRIVER
IN ILLINOIS

DEAR WIDOW-DRIVER: I have another saying for you: "You don't have to run to the fire every time you hear a siren." Perhaps your pain would be less if you made yourself less available. I'm sure those nondriving widows would try harder to arrange other transportation if they could hear what you're saying under your breath!

Another thing to consider: Not all older widows are good candidates for learning how to drive.

DEAR ABBY: With regard to the letter from "Bound and Boiling," I just want to reassure the three young women who spent the night bound and gagged in the fast-food restaurant that, as a political scientist who has studied crime and violence for more than two decades, I am firmly convinced that they did the right thing in not resisting.

The risks involved in resisting an armed robbery far outweigh those of not resisting.

As the old military axiom goes, "Great courage is required to take a seemingly unheroic action."

ERNEST H. EVANS,
LEAVENWORTH, KAN.

DEAR ERNEST: I agree. It takes presence of mind to remain calm in an emergency, and to weigh whether heroism is prudent.

DEAR READERS: This wonderful poem, written as the closing remarks for a friend's speech on Memorial Day at a veterans cemetery, was sent to me by the author's wife, Marie C. Middleton. I think it is fitting to print it to honor Veterans Day. Read on:

A SOLDIER'S PRAYER
by Maj. Gen. James B. Middleton
Lord, bless the wives who grieve alone,
And comfort the mothers
who mourn their own.
Give solace to the fathers who lost their sons
On foreign shores and in places unknown.
Lord, strengthen the resolve of we who remain
To see that they did not die in vain.

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable — and most frequently requested — poems and essays, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's "Keepers," P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

Transfers of assets may present risks to new holders

Sometimes, when a debtor is faced with the possibility of having a substantial asset or assets seized, he or she is tempted to transfer or "sell" the asset to someone else in order to "protect" it. However, under Florida law, such a transfer may be futile because Florida law provides creditors a number of remedies for just those types of situations.

For example, subject to a number of limitations a creditor may obtain the following: (a) Avoidance of the transfer or obligation to the extent necessary to satisfy the creditor's claim; (b) An attachment or other provisional remedy against the asset transferred or other property of the transferee in accordance with applicable law; (c) An injunction against further disposition by the debtor or a transferee, or both, of the asset transferred or of other property; (d) Appointment of a receiver to take charge of the asset transferred or of other property of the transferee; or (e) Any other relief the circumstances may require.

However, before the above remedies may be obtained by a creditor, the creditor must prove that the transfer was fraudulent.

Florida Statutes define a fraudulent transfer as a transfer made or obligation incurred by a debtor if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation: (a) With actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the debtor; (b) Without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation and the debtor was engaged or was about to engage in a business or a transaction for which the remaining assets of the debtor were unreasonably small in relation to the business or transaction; or (c) Without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation and the debtor intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed that he or she would incur, debts beyond his or her ability to pay as they became due.

Naturally, a debtor's intent to hinder, delay, or defraud may be difficult to prove. Therefore, the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act provides a number of factors that a Court may consider in determining whether the actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud exists. Those factors include whether: (a) The transfer or obligation was to an insider (such as a relative of the debtor); (b) The debtor retained possession or control of the property transferred after the transfer; (c) The transfer or obligation was disclosed or concealed; (d) Before the transfer was made or obligation was incurred, the debtor had been sued or threatened with suit; (e) The transfer was of substantially all the debtor's assets; (f) The debtor removed or concealed assets; (g) The value of the consideration received by the debtor was reasonably equivalent to the value of the asset transferred or the amount of the obligation incurred; (h) The debtor was insolvent or became insolvent shortly after the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred; (i) The transfer occurred shortly before or shortly after a substantial debt was incurred; and (j) The debtor transferred the essential assets of the business to a lienor who transferred the assets to an insider of the debtor.

The Uniform Fraudulent Transfers Act affects debtors who succumb to the temptation of transferring assets about to be seized. However, perhaps more importantly, under certain circumstances, a fraudulent transfer may also impact a good faith buyer who gets a good deal. Caveat emptor. In the coming weeks we will discuss other aspects of the law that affect both debtors and creditors.

Biographies from some of Sanford's early citizens

It's time for more biographies of prominent citizens of Sanford as proclaimed by the April 29, 1933 special edition of the Sanford Herald.

Julius Dingfelder
Julius Dingfelder was the Sanford representative of the firm of E.L. and M. Dingfelder, commission merchants of New York City, and had established his residence here in 1929.

He was born in Munich, Germany during the World War and served nine months in active service with the German army. Since moving to Sanford, he had been presented with an honorary membership in the Campbell Lossing Post American Legion. He was also a member of the local Kiwanis Club and Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and found time to participate in Boy Scout work.

Dingfelder was president of the Sanford Jewish Community Center and resided with his family at 709 Magnolia Avenue. He was married to the former Gertrude Bauer and they had two children, Margaret Fannie and Simon Leroy.

For outdoor recreation, he liked to swim and go hiking, but was also fond of reading and music.

W.C. Hill

W.C. Hill was one of Sanford's principal businessmen as president of both Hill Lumber Company and the recently organized Hill Feed Company with offices at West 13th Street.

He was a lifelong Sanford resident and had been engaged in the lumber business most of his life. He had established one of the most successful and progressive lumber supply businesses in Central Florida.

As a boy he attended local schools, but later became a student at the Porter Military Academy in Charleston, South Carolina. His parents, W.J. Hill and Mrs. Alice Stiles Hill were pioneer residents of Sanford.

He was a member of the local Odd Fellows Lodge, a Mason, Shriner and First Methodist Church. With his family, he resided at 1900 Magnolia Avenue. He was married to the former Sara Ann LeGette and they had one daughter, Caroline, 14.

In 1927, Mr. Hill had served as a city commissioner. He was a game hunter of long experience while his interest in dogs was his chief hobby.

E.E. Brady

E.E. Brady had served as sheriff 1917-21 and had run for office several times since. He had moved to Sanford from Americus, Georgia in 1903 to become a livestock dealer and continued in this business.

Mr. Brady was married to the former Carrie Sims and they had one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Moore.

He was a long time member of the Sanford Elks Lodge. He liked all sports and was particularly fond of horses and riding.

Mack N. Cleveland, Sr.

Mack Cleveland came to Sanford from Hartwell, Georgia in 1917 and worked at different jobs including night clerk of the Sanford House and as employee of the Crown Paper Company. He then moved to South Carolina where he spent a few months as a street car conductor and later became a livestock dealer.

In 1920 he returned to Sanford and joined the fire department; in 1925 he was appointed chief. (He served in this position about 35 years.)

He resided with his family at 2483 Palmetto Avenue which included his wife, the former Lois Shifflet, and a son, Mack Jr., age eight.

The organizations that he belonged to included the Odd Fellows, Elks, Moose, Modern Woodmen of America and First Baptist Church.

Frank Woodruff, Sr.

In 1910, Frank Woodruff had been elected to the Orange County Commission and served until 1913 when Seminole County was formed. At that time, he was appointed by the governor to the first Seminole County Commission and served as its chairman.

He also served on the Sanford City Council 1900-1907 and was mayor in 1903. In 1916 he was elected to the state legislature where he served three terms.

Mr. Woodruff was born in Sanford February 26, 1871, and was a lifelong resident. He attended local schools and also Erskine College.

The former Minnie Devlin was his wife and they had four sons: Frank Woodruff, Sr.; J.D. Woodruff; Dr. Ralph G. Woodruff and Dr. Harry Woodruff. He and his wife resided at 520 Oak Avenue.

In 1889 he founded the business that was presently operating under the name of Woodruff and Watson. He was now in the real estate business.

Mr. Woodruff belonged to the Masons and was a member of First Presbyterian Church.

Question Answered

In my September 28 column about early Sanford libraries, I asked where the Labor Building and Carpenter Hall was located. The upper floor had housed the first Sanford Public Library and Reading Room. Art Harris called me to give the following information.

The building known as the Carpenters Union Hall was located across from the fire station on Palmetto Avenue. It had two stories and was built in 1887.

Mr. Harris served as secretary of the Carpenter's Union for many years and he named Walter Deal and Ted Benham as trustees. One of the first blood drives in Sanford was held in this building.

The first floor housed at one time A.L. Thomas' Barber Shop before he moved across the street, and also the Florida Power and Light office.

A loan office was later built on that site; across the alley was Stein's Jewelry and Luggage which faced First Street.

Vintage View Correction

Most of you probably realized that Tommy Vincent couldn't have taken the 1953 picture of the navy planes published October as he would have been too young. Tommy was born in 1952. This was an official Navy photograph which belongs to the Sanford Museum. As stated before, it is one of the photographs in the Historic Sanford 2000 Calendar now on sale at the Seminole Herald, Sanford Museum and Knights Shoe Store.

challenged. This might be one of those days where you'll show your stuff.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Don't treat indifferently an opportunity that may come your way today through the good auspices of a friend. It might be of limited duration and won't be there tomorrow.

Win at Bridge

Save partners the guess

Your partner — never you — makes a horrendous error, allowing a defeatable contract to make. I hope that your immediate reaction isn't to criticize him. Yet if it isn't, you are in a microscopic minority of bridge players. Still, before putting in your 11 cents' worth, ask yourself if there was any way you could have helped partner to find the winning defense.

Who was to blame in this deal, and why? Defending against three no-trump, West led his fourth-highest spade. East won with the ace and returned his original fourth-highest spade, the four. After taking the trick with his jack, West cashed the spade ace, then led the spade five over to East's nine, declarer pitching two diamonds from the dummy and a heart from hand. Back came a diamond, which declarer ran to dummy's queen. Then he claimed nine tricks: three diamonds and six clubs. South's three-no-trump rebid shows, in principle, what he held: a maximum one-level opening with a (near) solid six-card or longer club suit and stoppers in the unbid suits. A singleton in partner's suit is the norm.

West wanted to know why East had led a diamond rather than a heart at trick five. Well, that defense was understandable, because if West had a red-suit ace, he should have cashed it before leading the fourth spade. So, from East's perspective, West had a king left. And that was presumably the diamond king. So that was the suit to lead.

If West had just paused to cash the heart ace at trick three or trick four, none of this disaster would have occurred.

Doctor Gott

Different meds can lower pressure

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am a 90-year-old woman who continues to enjoy excellent health even though, despite medication, my blood pressure never drops below 180/95. I am currently taking propranolol and lisinopril. Should I worry?

DEAR READER: Because of your age, your complicated question appears deceptively simple. The elderly often develop high blood pressure as they age; the hypertension is necessary to drive an adequate blood supply through narrowed, rigid arteries. In fact, some authorities would be satisfied keeping your blood pressure at its current level with the medicines you are taking. On the other hand, disregarding for a moment the physiological necessity of higher blood pressure in the very old, I must confess that I would feel uncomfortable about your hypertension were you my patient. I'd like to bring it into the 150/90 range.

Years ago, physicians had, at best, two or three medications to treat hypertension. Today, however, there are many drugs for this purpose, including diuretics (kidney stimulants), beta-blockers, calcium-channel blockers, ACE inhibitors and spin-offs from these major drug groups. You are presently taking a beta-blocker and an ACE inhibitor. I believe that you could be helped by either an upward adjustment of one or both medicines — or by the addition of a mild diuretic. Ask your doctor about this strategy. While you do not appear to be in any immediate danger for stroke or heart attack, I think that your overall health would be even better if your blood pressure were lower.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I take several medications, each of which causes constipation. The combination is, as you can imagine, a real problem. My doctors shrug it off and give me no suggestions. However, a gastroenterologist advised Milk of Magnesia. This causes me to have fatigue and weakness. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER: Medicine-induced constipation can be an enormous challenge to treat. As a first step, I would suggest increasing fiber and bran in your diet, using potassium-rich dried fruits (apricots, prunes), trying 6 oz. of hot prune juice with breakfast, and maintaining a generous fluid intake. Some patients are helped by daily Metamucil or FiberCon.

Next, try a stool softener with or without a laxative. If this isn't effective, the Milk of Magnesia is a logical choice. I am not aware that this common laxative is associated with fatigue and weakness. Such symptoms may be the result of prescription drugs or of the very diseases for which you are taking medication.

midst of the rock'n'roll era - and his music continues to be extremely popular.

In recent weeks, there have been a number of television mini-series on rock'n'roll, but Checker said Wednesday he has not tuned them in.

"It hurts to watch," he said. "Many of the original artists - especially the black ones - were treated unfairly. There was a lot of shady dealings - disc jockey payola. Bad stuff."

"If an athlete did well, no one could take away what he did on the field," Checker said. "If a musician did well, that didn't mean he would get his music played on the radio. There was a lot of shady dealing. A lot of hurt."

Checker, who got his big break on Dick Clark's American Bandstand, was one of the more fortunate. Clark's wife gave Chubby his name.

"Only I wasn't so chubby then," he said. "Well, a little chubby."

More than anything else, Checker said he believes the most important thing he did was teach people how "to dance apart to a musical beat." That's what The Twist was all about. The Twist, The Fly, The Pony, The Shake.

Checker said, laughing, you might also add the Limbo.

"Chubby Checker plays the Limbo but he doesn't do the Limbo anymore. I split my pants one night doing the Limbo. Embarrassing. Chubby doesn't want that to happen again," he said.

"America has been dancing apart for 40 years - ever since The Twist," Checker said. "Before there was Michael Jackson, there was Chubby Checker. That's what I hope everyone remembers. Dancing apart 60 minutes an hour, 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

The moves from the Twist, Checker said, were adapted for disco, aerobics, funk, break dancing and hip hop.

"Everyone's been doing the Chubby Checker," he said. "Kids aren't really finding anything new. They're finding Chubby Checker."

Checker said he hopes that his music can give a solid bridge from decades past into the 21st Century.

He said he intends to keep on being a world class mover and shaker.

"I've not written any books or let them do a Chubby Checker on A&E's Biography," he said. "My life is music. Chubby Checker does music. Music that allows people to have fun."

city indeed had the legal right to close off the streets for the festival, which is in its 23rd year, and contended that while crowds approaching 40,000 for the two day event did represent an inconvenience, the city was not involved in a "taking" action of their property and has made reasonable accommodations to help alleviate the plaintiff's complaints.

The city has offered to provide the plaintiffs cell phones, designated parking spaces at the Longwood police department a block away, and a shuttle service utilizing golf carts to help provide the residents access and egress to their properties.

"I'm pleased at the outcome of the hearing," said city attorney Richard Taylor. "It was the correct outcome. The law states that the greater needs of the community as a whole prevail over the inconvenience of a few."

In his decision Eaton further wrote: "Balancing the interest of all concerned, the Court concludes that the city of Longwood is acting within the scope of its police powers to temporarily close the streets in question for the purpose of hosting the annual Art Festival and that the decision of the City should not be disturbed through injunctive intervention."

Taylor said testimony by the plaintiff's indicated their plight was a temporary inconvenience and that the festival caused no irreparable harm.

"We will absolutely extend the offer again to the plaintiffs of the use of golf carts, cell phones and designated parking spots to help ease their inconvenience," said Taylor.

The temporary injunction hearing was one part of the suit filed by the plaintiffs. It remains to be seen if Jones will press for other areas of the suit that seeks $15,000 in summary damages plus attorneys fees.

The 23rd Annual Fall Arts Festival is scheduled for Nov. 20 through 21 in Longwood's Historic District. Proceeds generated by the Central Florida Society for Historical Preservation are used to maintain the Bradlee-McIntyre House on Warren Avenue and to run education and information programs about the city's history to Seminole County school students.

flame retardant, and this car was burned down to the metal."

Police believe that the same suspect was involved in spinning a car's tires on the football field at Seminole High School's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, and in the school's Senior Park. The tire marks were found on the morning of Oct. 25.

The vehicle apparently slammed into Building No. 19 two to three times, then backed up, and a cement block was placed on the accelerator as the car was put into gear. The Dodge slammed again into the building. The car was then apparently torched, school officials said.

"It looks like the car slammed into the door, but couldn't get access," Coleman said. "So, they put the cement block on the accelerator."

School officials have not determined whether Building No. 19 can be repaired, or if it will need to be replaced.

"You have cracks at the top of the building, and cracks running along the lines of the blocks," Coleman said. "In some cases, you have cracks in the blocks themselves. The point of contact appears to be near the door of the building."

Coleman said she does not believe that a Seminole High School student was responsible for the incident.

"My gut feeling is that this was a non-student," Coleman said. "With a $1,000 reward posted, and a sign placed in the cafeteria that very day, teenagers will talk to teenagers. Someone would have known, and someone would want $1,000."

they stole a van from a repair shop in St. Johns County and drove it through the window of the convenience store. In addition to making off with the ATM machine, the group stole two cases of cigarettes. During the robbery McCormick was cut by broken glass and bled on the store floor, the van, and the cartons of cigarettes.

Jeffrey Mathis, an accomplice in the robbery has already been tried and convicted to 12 years in prison.

Brown said investigators went through extraordinary steps to link McCormick to the Sorrento ATM robbery. They took impressions and photographs of the van's tire marks, castings from footprints, as well as the blood samples found at the scene. The group McCormick ran with is suspected in a number of smash-and-grab ATM robberies over the past year, primarily in Lake and Osceola counties.

Brown said law enforcement intelligence indicated McCormick had plans to hit another convenience store ATM weeks ago as Hurricane Floyd approached the Central Florida area, but backed off after inspecting the store and then leaving. Authorities arrested him for attempted burglary and grand theft and secured a search warrant to take a blood sample from McCormick. The matching samples, confirmed by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement gave police the probable cause they needed to secure McCormick's weekend arrest.

The Lake County investigator also indicated that McCormick was targeting another convenience store ATM in Mt. Plymouth prior to his arrest Saturday.

"This group would target large vehicles like 10-year-old Suburban's that are not equipped with airbags and drive them right through the store windows and doors," said Brown.

"There were very quick and seldom left evidence behind."

SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS

King's Auto Service: It pays to love what you do

Just because King's Auto Service was established in 1968 doesn't mean they haven't kept up with the ever changing world of automotive repair.

In fact, the staff of Kings is some of the most educated and up-to-date in all of Seminole County.

That's because owner Craig Smith has committed himself to the business and to keeping his people well trained.

"Training is a very important part of today's auto repair business," Smith said. "Keeping current information on hand and investing in the best quality equipment to ease in repairs helps us to keep our labor costs down and provide prompt, guaranteed service."

All of this is possible because Smith honestly loves what he does and where he does it. It's hard to run a business for 31 years and not love what you do and grow attached to the area in which you do it.

"I have had a love for cars since I can remember, actually for anything mechanical," Smith explained. "I also love Longwood. It's a wonderful town with great people and a wonderful history."

Through the years, Smith's dedication to increased training and education has allowed his business to become nationally recognized by the ASE for master auto tech, master collision tech and H.D. truck tech. Kings Auto Repair is also Chrysler and Ford Motor Company certified.

Every care deserves the attention and dedication give at Kings Auto Service. Its worth the trip to Longwood.

Solar Bears split, return home for two games

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - The Orlando Solar Bears earned a split of two games over the weekend against the Utah Grizzlies to move to 7-3-1 on the 1999-2000 International Hockey League (IHL) season.

With 15 points, Orlando currently stands tied for fourth place with the Grand Rapids Griffins in the IHL's Eastern Conference.

The Solar Bears are only three points back of the Eastern Conference-leading Cleveland Lumberjacks heading into a trio of contests this week with the Cincinnati Cyclones. Orlando and Cincinnati meet four times in the next six days.

The Solar Bears and Cyclones open the series tonight (Thursday) at Orlando Arena and then play again on Friday.

Faceoff tonight is set for 7 p.m., while the contest on November 12 is slated for a 7:30 p.m. start.

On Saturday, Orlando visits Firstar Center in Cincinnati for a 7:30 p.m. matchup with the Cyclones.

For more information on group or season tickets, please call the Solar Bears ticket sales office at (407) 872-PUCK. Individual game tickets can be purchased at the Orlando Arena box office, at any Florida Ticketmaster outlet, or by phone through Ticketmaster at (407) 839-3900.

Last Friday at The E Center in suburban Salt Lake City, Utah, netminder Rich Parent stopped 31 of 32 Orlando shots on goal to send the Solar Bears to a 4-1 defeat and consecutive losses for the first time this season.

Grizzlies defenseman Darcy Werenka opened the scoring with an unassisted goal at 1:51 of the first period on Utah's first shot of the game.

Former Orlando defenseman Patrick Neaton gave Utah a 2-0 lead with his first goal of the season at 3:28 of the second period from center Richard Park and left wing Brad Lauer.

The Solar Bears got one back at 4:12 of the second period as Mark Beaufault tallied his first of the season from defenseman Brett Clark and right wing Dean Sylvester.

Right wing John Purves gave the Grizzlies a 3-1 lead after two periods of play with a goal at 6:25 from former Orlando center Rob Bonneau and right wing Sean Tallaire. Tallaire scored the only goal of the third period at 16:54 from Purves and Bonneau to seal a 4-1 victory for Utah.

The Solar Bears out-shot the Grizzlies by a 32-27 margin.

In his first start in net with Orlando, 10-year National Hockey League (NHL) goaltender Rick Tabaracci made 23 saves. The Solar Bears were 0 for 8 on the power play, while Utah converted 1 of 7 man advantage chances.

On Saturday, Orlando got back in the win column with a shootout victory over the Grizzlies before a crowd of 7,825 at The E Center.

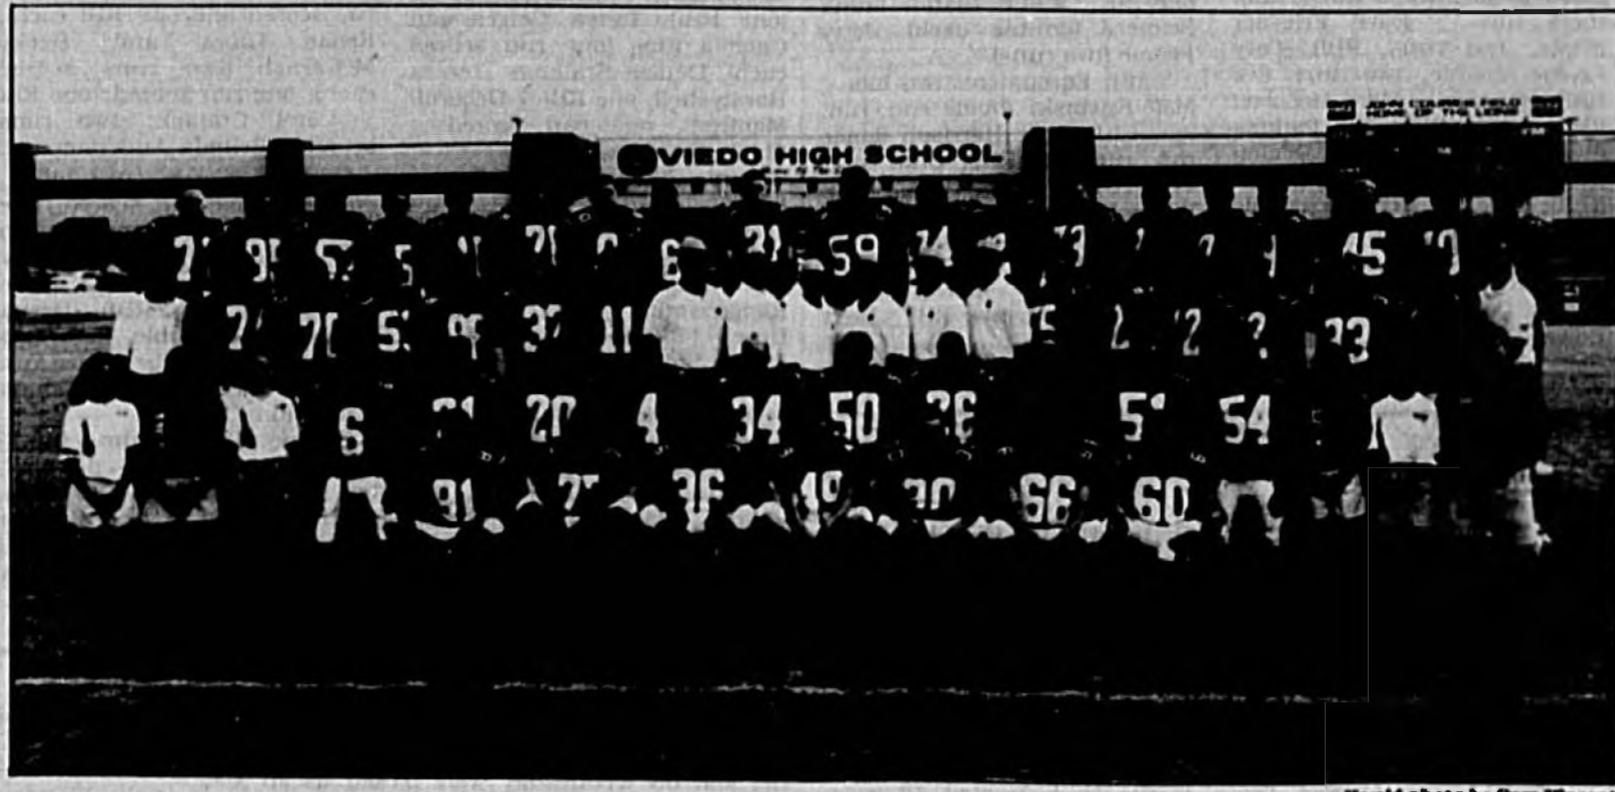

The Solar Bears struck first at 2:24 of the first period as defenseman Terry Hollinger scored his first goal of the season from right wing Bob Lachance and center Gary Shuchuk.

Later in the first, center Andreas Karlsson tallied his second goal of the season from right wing Herbert Vasiljevs and Hollinger to make it 2-0 for Orlando after one period of play.

The Grizzlies came back to tie the score with two goals of their own in the second period. Defenseman Jeff Sharples scored a shorthanded goal 3:23 into the third period, the first

SANFORD - After opening the season with a 3-3 record, with all three losses coming at the hands of district foes, most people figured the Oviedo football season was over.

Sweep keeps everyone alive in Women's Softball

By Dean Smith

SANFORD - In a weird set of circumstances a doubleheader loss actually tightened up the standings in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Women's Fall Slow Pitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park Tuesday night.

Jenny Blowers' two-out, two-run double in the bottom of the seventh inning capped a four-run rally as the Sharks edged Curt's Alleycats, 6-5, in the opening game of the evening.

League-leading Bixon Chiropactic then had little trouble in whipping Curt's Alleycats, 15-4, on the strength of an inside-the-park grand slam by Rosa Williams and an 11-run second inning.

Donnie's Darlins then won what turned into a battle for second place, using a pair of five-run innings to clobber Vaughan Incorporated, 14-3.

While the win by Bixon Chiropactic and the doubleheader loss by Curt's Alleycats allowed the leaders to widen their advantage to a game-and-a-half over the rest of the teams, the sweep also kept the Sharks in the hunt and now all of the teams are separated by no more than two games in the win column.

Bixon Chiropactic leads with a 5-1 record and is trailed by Donnie's Darlins (4-0), Vaughan Incorporated (3-4) and Curt's Alleycats and the Sharks (both 3-5).

Next Tuesday at Pinehurst Park, Donnie's Darlins battles

Curt's Alleycats at 6:30 p.m. before Vaughan Incorporated plays the doubleheader against the Sharks at 7:30 p.m. and Bixon Chiropactic at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were: Sharks: three hits - Judy Schroter (one run scored); two hits - Dawn Evans (one triple, one run scored, two RBI); one hit - Robin Bishop (one triple).

Peters' only hand an RBI single in the top of the first inning as the undefeated leaders jumped out to a 5-0 advantage and never looked back.

Longhorns remained just a game back, scoring five runs in the top of the fourth inning to erase a 3-0 deficit and held on for an 11-9 victory over Smith Equipment.

In the late game, Wolfs used a nine-run second inning to wipe a 4-1 Celeste Industries lead and coasted to a 15-5 triumph.

In a game left over from October 21st, Wolfs scored 10 runs in the first two innings to erase a 5-0 deficit and a 6-6 tie and held on for a 13-9 victory over Smith Equipment.

Porsche wins Classic GT Enduro and Rolex Vintage Enduro

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH - Porsche teams dominated Victory Lane at Daytona International Speedway on the second day of Historic Sportscar Racing.

The team of John Harrold and Kevin Wheeler took the checkered flag in the Rolex Vintage Enduro. Harrold and Wheeler commanded a 41-second lead over the pack in a 1972 Porsche 914.

"Our key play was our co-driver in the beginning not getting into trouble and staying right with the front runners," said Wheeler. "We were going to anticipate some yellow flags and have some pit strategy. But there were no yellows and with the mandatory five-minute stops that they have it makes things even out for everybody in the pits.

"So basically the only advantage you have is on the track. We knew we had an excellent shot to win if we stayed in the top 10 in the beginning and had no trouble."

The Vintage Enduro was Wheeler's first trip to Victory Lane at Daytona and he didn't wait long to make his second trip to the podium.

Wheeler returned two hours later to help capture the win in the Rolex Classic GT Enduro Class G4 along with co-driver John Bourassa in a 1967 Porache 911S.

"I thank Johnny for letting me step in," said a jubilant Wheeler. "He didn't need any help but he let me finish the race off. The last few laps I was having a good battle with Ken McKinnon. I couldn't get by him but that's what made me work up a sweat."

Other class winners in the Rolex GT Enduro were Charlie Koninsky in a 1965 Corvette in Class G2; Eric Brezel in a 1972 Porsche 911 in Class G3; Hurley Haywood and Bob Snodgrass in a 1970 Porsche 911 in Class G5; Gary Jones and Bryan Weeks in a 1965 Mustang in Class G6; and John Higgins in a 1967 Porsche 910 in Class G7.

The HSR Thundersports Series Final winner was Rudy Junco Jr. driving a Chevrolet Intrepid, and in the HSR Feature 2-Liter Shootout Brian Redman, driving a 1971 Chevrolet B-19, took the checkered flag.

PETTY TO RUN DODGES?

MIAMI - In a move that many people had been anticipated, the Charlotte Observer is reporting that Petty Enterprises will switch to Dodge Intrepids for the 2001 NASCAR Winston While no official statement has been issued, insiders say Richard Petty, who won 175 of his 200 races in Chrysler sheetmetal, has informed Pontiac of the switch.

Also, trackside parking is offered along turns 1 and 2. The first 25 cars or vans (no motor homes, please) will receive free admission for their cars (drivers and passengers pay regular price). Tailgate parties welcomed and encouraged.

In racing action from November 5th:

Late Model - It was the veteran against the youngsters Friday and when it was all said and done in the 25 lap Late Model, veteran Eddie King rose to the top.

Last week's feature winner, Rookie Travis Kittleson won the heat and started from the pole with King outside. King raced Kittleson side by side for three laps before moving out front. Another young driver, Justin Drawdy, quickly moved under Kittleson and closed on King.

Caution flew just after halfway for a crash involving Jeff Emery and Frankie Sweeney. Both cars were out for the night.

During the caution, Kittleson pulled his machine to the pits with mechanical problems dropping from third spot.

For the remainder of the race

Drawdy kept the pressure on King but the former Speedworld track champ kept his Scotty's Home & Hardware Centers Ford Thunderbird out front the rest of the way.

Drawdy took second followed by Larry Osteen, Rob Underwood and Ronnie Roach...

Limited Late - Sonny Hughes warmed up for next weeks SARA season finale by taking his first career Limited Late Model win at Speedworld.

Hughes led all 15 laps and withstood heavy pressure from second and third place finishers Mike Murphy and Jeff Scofield.

Hughes led all 15 laps and withstood heavy pressure from second and third place finishers Mike Murphy and Jeff Scofield.

Limited Late - Dialing a new Modified in as a favor for another driver, Tank Tucker dominated the Modified class.

Following Tucker to the checker were Jason Boyd, Eddie Hartin, Joe Middleton and Jim Flynn...

Sportman - Jeff Wright defeated a four-car field of Steve Redditt, Doug Samion and Ray Rivers...

Mini-Stock - Pedie Allison raced to the win over a small field of Bo Davis, Jim West, Randy Blakeslee and Tom Rose...

Bomber - Mark Scherer came home first in front of a nine-car field with Rich Clouser, Billy Morton, Brandon Johnson and Steve Franco finishing second through fifth.

have won three district contests in a row and on Wednesday were picked as an All-Orange team and will face Class 6A-District 3 champion West Orange in Winter Garden on November 19th.

The other big winner on Wednesday was Lake Brantley, which will now host 6A-3 runner-up Dr. Phillips instead of traveling to West Orange.

That game will be a rematch of last year's first-round game in which the Panthers humbled the undefeated Patriots, 53-7.

Lake Mary also caught a break as instead of hosting a good Dr. Phillips team, which only has losses to state-ranked Osceola, Palm Bay and West Orange, it will now welcome 6A-District 1 All-Orange Orange Park to Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

Seminole, meanwhile, got a mixed blessing on Wednesday as it found out it will not be traveling to Kissimmee to face defending state champion Osceola and All-America running back Willie Green.

But on the bad side, the Fighting Seminoles will have to travel seven hours to Panama City to face Class 5A-District 1 runner-up Dwyer.

The regular season will come to an end this Friday with the Class 6A playoff trio taking on Class 5A neighborhood rivals in tune-up games.

Lake Brantley will take on Lyman at the Carlton Henley Sports Complex; Oviedo will be at Winter Springs for its Senior Night; and Lake Mary will welcome Lake Howell to Don T. Reynolds Stadium for Homecoming.

All three games are set for 7:30 p.m. starts.

STATE VOLLEYBALL AT DISNEY

LAKE BUENA VISTA - The Winter Springs girls will be looking for a championship they thought they should have won last year when they travel to Disney's Wide World of Sports complex for the FHSAA Volleyball Championships at the 5,000-seat Fieldhouse.

The championships began at 10 a.m. this morning with semifinal contests in Class A, 3A and 5A being played today.

On Friday, also starting at 10 a.m., the 2A, 4A and 6A semifinals will be played.

In the Class 6A semifinals, Winter Springs will face Palm Bay at 7 p.m. with No. 1 state-ranked and three-time defending state champion Olympic Heights (31-0) from Boca Raton taking on Braddock (24-1) from Miami at 8:30 p.m.

The winners of the semifinals would return for the finals on Saturday with the Class A finals at 10 a.m.; the Class 3A finals at 11:30 a.m.; the Class 5A finals at 2:30 p.m.; the Class 2A finals at 4 p.m.; the Class 4A finals at 7 p.m.; and the Class 6A finals at 8:30 p.m.

short-handed tally given up by the Solar Bears this season, and 11 minutes later, veteran defenseman Zarley Zalapski fired home the game-tying goal from Richard Park and Darcy Werenka.

In the shootout, Karlsson, newly acquired right wing Wes Mason, and Shuchuk all scored on their attempts to help Orlando end a two-game losing skid;

For the game, Utah out-shot the Solar Bears by a 31-22 margin, and Orlando netminder Rick Tabaracci made 29 saves.

Orlando went 1 for 8 on the power play, while the Grizzlies scored on 1 of 5 opportunities with the man advantage.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK
ORLANDO - The Orlando Solar Bears Player of the Week for November 1-7 is defenseman Terry Hollinger.

Hollinger posted an even rating in two road games over the weekend against the Utah Grizzlies and turned in a one goal, one assist effort in Orlando's 3-2 shootout victory on Saturday against Utah.

For the season, the native of Regina, Saskatchewan, has tallied four (4) points on a goal and three (3) assists in 11 games.
