

Give Your Kids A Chance!

TOMORROW'S LEADERS are in the schools today. To prepare for their future they should have the best facilities we can provide. Let's see that they have the chance they deserve to learn in schools at least equal to the demands of the day.

Seminole County's Growing!

POPULATION has doubled in the last eight years. Every survey made forecasts a continuation of this sweeping upward trend. SCHOOL ENROLLMENT has gone up over 50 percent in the last five years. With the added families that come here day by day we must plan for a school enrollment increase of at least another 50 percent in the next three years.

School Space Is Needed!

You know that the classrooms are filled to capacity now. The additional students demand added school space if we are to avoid the unsatisfactory daily double sessions. Our out-moded schools MUST be modernized and expanded quickly.

Pineau Here For Talks With Dulles On Franco-American Relations

By HENRY LOGEMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew to the United States today for urgent talks with John Foster Dulles on a growing rift in Franco-American relations.

creating a serious rift in the Atlantic alliance and jeopardizing the Dec. 16 NATO summit conference in Paris to be attended by President Eisenhower.

Pineau will see Dulles in Washington Tuesday afternoon. He will prepare for the meeting by talking in New York today with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

Worried French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau admitted that he neither knew nor understood how well his talks with Dulles turn out they will not soothe the anger of the French people over U.S. and British arms shipments to Tunisia.

later Selwyn Lloyd was reported anxious to meet with both Dulles and Pineau before the NATO summit conference Dec. 16 to help restore the "Grand Alliance."

All the main Soviet newspapers, including Pravda, Izvestia, Truth and Sovietways Weekly, carried dispatches from Paris under such headlines as "Scandal in the Atlantic Family," "Tunisian Thorn in Atlantic Side" and "United States Trying to Push France from Africa."

But this very unity of anger over the arms shipments may prove somewhat beneficial to France. Political observers expected it to help Premier Felix Gaillard's week-old government win its first vote of confidence Tuesday.

United States for full support of France's position in North Africa, particularly in Algeria.

Collins: State Letting Manpower Go To Waste

ST. PETERSBURG (UP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins said today that Florida is letting a vast reservoir of manpower go to waste because of a mistaken impression that older workers should be banished to the "baby sitting" detail.

Collins pointed out that Florida is a source for highly skilled professional and technical men who are needed but want something to do "and we are allowing a terrible erosion of human resources to take place by not finding productive places for them."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the State Chamber of Commerce annual meeting here, Collins said the state also is missing a bet by failing to provide the encouragement to young people to continue their education beyond the high school level.

He called on the chamber to cooperate with the state's program for employment of the over-45 worker by inventing the manpower needs of Florida industry which can be met by qualified older workers.

Delegates from the Mental Health Assn. of Seminole County attended the two-day state convention of the Florida Mental Health Assn. last Friday and Saturday at the San Juan Hotel in Orlando and heard panel discussions, talks by leaders in the mental health field and saw topical movies to round out the busy sessions.

C of C Membership Drive To Close Friday

An all-out campaign to climax the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce membership drive began this morning with team captains calling on prospective members personally during this week.

"We will bring our campaign to a close Friday morning at 8:30 when team captains meet to make their reports," J. Bralley Odham, chairman of the membership drive committee, said Friday at a meeting of the group.

The amount already raised, of the $10,000 quota, is $7,000, it was announced Friday afternoon as figures were totaled. This is the last phase of a four-phase membership drive, Odham pointed out.

Schools Provide More Than Assembly Rooms

Tomorrow is the most important day in Seminole County's history. It is the day when citizens go to the polls to approve a $2½ million school construction bond issue.

Necessarily, in order to insure the future growth of Seminole County, freeholders (those who own property) must turn out 100 per cent to mark their ballots and put their stamp of approval on the proposal to bring the schools of our county up to a par with other counties of the state and other states in the union.

Two members of the Seminole County Farm Bureau represented the local organization at the 16th Annual State Convention of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation held in Jacksonville last week.

Bralley Odham called on Sanford and Seminole County businessmen and professional people to send their checks for membership to the Chamber of Commerce office as soon as possible. "We hope that these prospective members will mail their checks before team captains call on them," the membership drive chairman stated.

Marine Corps Celebrates 182nd Year This Month

The United States Marine Corps, whose motto, Semper Paratus, (always faithful) brings to mind the significant battles of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Iwo Jima, and Korea, proudly celebrated this month their 182nd anniversary of the birth of the Marine Corps.

The Marine Security Guard at the Sanford Naval Air Station took time out from their relentless training Monday evening, Nov. 11, to celebrate the historical event in the old traditional way of the Marine Corps Birthday Ball.

The Ball commenced at 7:30 p. m. at the Chief Petty Officers' Club at the Naval Air Station. Guests, including Diane Peters, Miss Veterans' Day of Orlando, and runner-up, Miss Carol Rogers, were served cocktails upon their arrival and were officially welcomed aboard by Lieut. Francis Riney, the Officer-in-Charge of the Marine Detachment at NAS. The program was turned over to Master of Ceremonies Staff Sergeant Joe E. Chandler, who toasted to the valiant past, present, and future of the United States Marine Corps.

A dinner of roast beef, roast turkey, and all the trimmings (catered by the B.O.C. Commissariat Officers' Mess, NAS) was served at 8:00, and was followed by the reading of the traditional Commandment of the Marine Corps Message by Staff Sergeant Chandler, Guest speakers, Captain J. R. Reedy, Commander Heavy Attack Wing One, and Commander Lewis D. Tammy, Executive Officer, NAS, Sanford, spoke on the outstanding history, the traditions, and the noteworthy achievements of the Marine Corps since its origin, and wished them a future as brilliant and commendable as their past has proven to be.

After the speeches were given, the Marine Security Guard March, Private First Class Sir Archibald III, a white and brindle Bulldog, was escorted into the center of the ballroom by Corporal L. E. Griffith to receive his warrant of promotion to the rank of corporal. It was a touching moment for those who witnessed the promotion ceremonies of "Archibald" as he stood at attention, glistening from steam to start in his full dress blue uniform.

Following the promotion ceremonies, Master of Ceremonies Chandler spoke on the significance of the birthday of the Marine Corps while the Sidney Vihlen orchestra played the Marine Corps Hymn as background music.

At 9:00 p. m. the orchestra played "The Reminiscence of the Old Long Bays" as an accompaniment for the birthday cutting ceremony. As customary in the Marine Corps, Lieutenant Riney cut the first and second pieces of cake for the oldest and youngest enlisted men present, Master Sergeant Richard K. Schmidt, and Private First Class Thomas B. McTigue. The three layer cake, donated by Robbs' Bakery in Sanford, was skillfully baked and decorated personally by Miss Robb.

The top layer of the cake was adorned with the Marine Corps Emblem; the sides of the cake were decorated with each name of the 36 man Marine Detachment and the dates of famous Marine battle engagements; but the following phrase that decorated the front side of the cake seemed to sum up best of all the thoughts and events of the evening: "If the Army and the Navy ever look on Heaven's scene, they will find the streets are guarded by United States Marines."

The smartly dressed Marines and their Ladies spent the remaining hours of the evening dancing and dining to the music of Sidney Vihlen and his orchestra.

No Link to Walking
New York did he find any relationship between knock-knees and the age when the babe began walking, nor with how long the babe fed at the breast nor with whether the child's diet had been supplemented with vitamins during the first 18 months of life.

But there was an indicated relationship between knock-knees and weight, since the mean weights of children with the condition was greater than the mean weights of comparable children without it.

Dr. A. J. M. Morley who recorded a "natural history" of knock-knees concluded that "today's" knock-knees can be allowed to join the growing group of developmental deviations which seldom need treatment."

Studied Age Groups
He found that 24 per cent of the children he studied who were between 3 and 9 1/2 years old had only a slight amount of knock-knees or none at all.

But 22 per cent of the children that age had definite knock-knees. Among children 7 years old or older, however, only 1 to 2 per cent had knock-knees of the same degree.

Knees get closer together up to between 3 and 9 1/2 years and then start separating into normal spacing as the leg bones lengthen through natural growth, he found.

His study was thorough enough to dispel some of the age-old superstitions about knock-knees. For one thing, he found no relationship between knock-knees and flat feet. As a matter of fact, the feet of infants always look as though they were flat due to normal "fat pads."

Veterans Corner

There are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. My World War II GI term insurance policy lapsed two months ago. I'd like to reinstate and, at the same time, convert to a permanent plan. What premiums will I have to pay?

A. You will have to pay one monthly premium at the term rate plus the first premium at the rate required by your new permanent policy. Also, you must sign a statement that you are in as good health as you were when the term policy lapsed.

Q. If a school drops a veteran enrolled under the Korean GI Bill because of too many absences, would he be allowed to make his one-and-only change of course and study something else?

A. Only if he can establish that his unsatisfactory attendance record was due to reasons beyond his control. If he cannot establish this fact, he will be denied further training, under the law.

Q. I understand that World War II veterans must apply for GI loans before July 23, 1958. Does this mean I actually must have obtained my GI loan money before this date?

A. Not necessarily. Instead, the lender must have agreed to make you the loan, and must have requested VA's approval, before the deadline date.

Q. My daughter is eligible for schooling under War Orphans Education program. Would she be permitted to attend school in France?

A. No. War Orphans schooling in educational institutions outside the United States is prohibited by law.

Marine Corps Celebrates 182nd Year This Month

The United States Marine Corps, whose motto, Semper Paratus, (always faithful) brings to mind the significant battles of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Iwo Jima, and Korea, proudly celebrated this month their 182nd anniversary of the birth of the Marine Corps.

The Marine Security Guard at the Sanford Naval Air Station took time out from their relentless training Monday evening, Nov. 11, to celebrate the historical event in the old traditional way of the Marine Corps Birthday Ball.

The Ball commenced at 7:30 p. m. at the Chief Petty Officers' Club at the Naval Air Station. Guests, including Diane Peters, Miss Veterans' Day of Orlando, and runner-up, Miss Carol Rogers, were served cocktails upon their arrival and were officially welcomed aboard history, the traditions, and the noteworthy achievements of the Marine Corps since its origin, and wished them a future as brilliant and commendable as their past has proven to be.

After the speeches were given, Private First Class Sir Archibald III, a white and brindle Bulldog, was escorted into the center of the ballroom by Corporal L. E. Griffith to receive his warrant of promotion to the rank of corporal. It was a touching moment for those who witnessed the promotion ceremony of "Archibald" as he stood at attention in his full dress blue uniform.

Following the promotion ceremony, Master of Ceremonies Chandler spoke on the significance of the birthday of the Marine Corps while the Sidney Vihlen orchestra played the Marine Corps Hymn as background music.

At 9:40 p. m. the orchestra played the "Anvil Song" as the accompaniment for the birthday cutting ceremony. As customary in the Marine Corps, Lieutenant Riney cut the first and second pieces of cake for the oldest and youngest enlisted men present. Master Sergeant Richard K. Schmidt, and Private First Class Thomas B. McTigue. The three layer cake, donated by Robba Bakery in Sanford, was skillfully baked and decorated personally by Mrs. Robb. The top layer of the cake was adorned with the Marine Corps Emblem; the sides of the cake were decorated with each name of the 36 man Marine Detachment and the dates of famous Marine battle engagements; but the following phrase that decorated the front side of the cake seemed to sum up best of all the thoughts and events of the evening: "If the Army and the Navy ever look on Heaven's scene; they will find the streets are guarded by United States Marines."

The smartly dressed Marines and their Ladies spent the remaining hours of the evening dancing and dining to the music of Sidney Vihlen and his orchestra.

Knock-Knees Are Common In Young

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—A study shows that knock-knees are fairly common in the very young but that knees as they grow older are very much inclined to stop knocking together.

This conclusion was based on precise measurements of 1,000 pairs of knees ranging in age from 11 years down to infants who had just learned to toddle around without help.

Dr. A. J. M. Morley who recorded a "natural history" of knock-knees concluded that "toddlers' knock-knees can be allowed to join the growing group of developmental deviations which seldom need treatment."

Studied Age Groups
He found that 26 per cent of the children he studied who were between 3 and 3 1/2 years old had only a slight amount of knock-knees or none at all.

But 22 per cent of the children that age had definite knock-knees. Among children 7 years old or older, however, only 1 to 2 per cent had knock-knees of the same degree.

Knees get closer together up to between 3 and 3 1/2 years and then start separating into normal spacing as the leg bones lengthen through natural growth, he found.

His study was thorough enough to dispel some of the age-old superstitions about knock-knees. For one thing, he found no relationship between knock-knees and flat feet. As a matter of fact, the feet of infants always look as though they were flat due to normal "fat pads."

No Link To Walking
Nor did he find any relationship between knock-knees and the age when the babe began walking, nor with how long the babe fed at the breast nor with whether the child's diet had been supplemented with vitamins during the first 18 months of life.

But there was an indicated relationship between knock-knees and weight, since the mean weights of children with the condition was greater than the mean weights of comparable children without it.

He concluded that knock-knees in children under 3 years "can probably be safely ignored unless it is excessive or unless an underlying cause is present," such as rickets or abnormalities in bone development.

Morley is attached to the famous Institute of Orthopedics and the Royal National Orthopedic Hospital of London. He reported to the technical journal of the British Medical Association.

There are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. My World War II GI term insurance policy lapsed two months ago. I'd like to reinstate and, at the same time, convert to a permanent plan. What premiums will I have to pay?

A. You will have to pay one month premium at the term rate plus the first premium at the rate required by your new permanent policy. Also, you must sign a statement that you are in as good health as you were when the term policy lapsed.

Q. If a school drops a veteran enrolled under the Korean GI Bill because of too many absences, would he be allowed to make his one-and-only change of course and study something else?

A. Only if he can establish that his unsatisfactory attendance record was due to reasons beyond his control. If he cannot establish this fact, he will be denied further training, under the law.

Q. I understand that World War II veterans must apply for GI loans before July 23, 1958. Does this mean that I actually must have obtained my GI loan money before this date?

A. Not necessarily. Instead, the lender must have agreed to make you the loan, and must have requested VA's approval, before the deadline date.

Q. My daughter is eligible for schooling under War Orphans Education program. Would she be permitted to attend school in France?

A. No. War Orphans schooling in educational institutions outside the United States is prohibited by law.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations."

Faith, Affection, Security Are Results Of School Bond Success

From every side these days we hear much about our living in a new and different world. But when we get right down to the basic facts about our living we find that the most important things in life are the old things.

A minister thought of that while he was making a pastoral call on a family with a new baby. He drove to where the family lived in an automobile. That was new. He went into a sixteen-apartment building. That was new. He went up to the apartment in an elevator. That was new.

Then — he faced the father and mother beaming with affection for their first born. That was not new. That was old. It was older than the story of Bethlehem.

Faith, affection, security—these are up-urned in the minds of all of us during this particular season of Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Tomorrow we go to the polls to express our faith in the school system which takes care of the education of our children. As we place our mark of approval on the ballot we vote for school bonds—$2½ million school construction bonds—so that the faith we have in our school system can be endured for many years to come.

As we place our stamp of approval on the bond issue tomorrow we think with affection of the children who will be benefited by additional schools that will eliminate double sessions, crowded school rooms, inadequate playground facilities and the necessity of using janitors' rooms and lunch rooms for teaching.

And, too, we look for security when we vote for school bonds tomorrow. Security for our children when they are given the opportunity to receive the best education possible under our democratic form of government. We are secure in knowing that adequate schools will produce more scientists, engineers, teachers, ministers, doctors and lawyers to take care of our constantly expanding economy.

It is more than just a mark on the ballot when we vote for school bonds. It is our expression of faith, affection and security—it is expressing our desire to have the best for everyone in every corner of Seminole County.

Tomorrow as you go to the polls to cast your ballot in favor of the school bond issue, remember that you are insuring the future of our community in many ways—but most of all—securing for the young people their right to an education, the finest education possible.

Facts Of Life Of The Farm

The city dweller often has a curiously simplified notion of what a farmer does to make a living. Sometimes he thinks of crop-growing as a sort of production line operation; raw materials, a certain amount of processing (mostly done by nature), and then a harvest equivalent to packaging the factory's product for the consumers.

One of the principal flaws in this neat picture is the effect of the weather, a factor over which the farmer has no control. Adverse weather conditions can throw farm "factory" schedule out of kilter in a hurry, or even do as much damage as a fire or other disaster might do in a manufacturing plant.

A good illustration is provided by what happened over broad areas of the nation's corn belt this fall. In several states the corn harvest has been greatly delayed because of excess moisture in the grain. In some places where all the corn has normally been picked by this time of year, two-thirds of the crop is still standing in the field. Much of it will stay there until the moisture content is down to the proper level.

This has badly upset the farmer's production schedule. There will be heavy financial losses. Not because the farmer was inefficient or lazy or careless, but because uncontrollable weather conditions were not right. This is hard for the city man to realize, but it is one of the facts of life.

Moral Emptiness Revealed

Celebration of the 40th anniversary of the October Revolution, held in Moscow, was one of the most hollow of our era. With all the display of military might, the total moral failure of the Russian Communists was evident. Behind the taunts, the boasting, the long-windedness of Khrushchev, there was, also, moral emptiness. The aims and ideals of the 1917 revolution have not been attained; worse, they have been perverted.

Lenin came to power promising peace, and Khrushchev now has the biggest military machine in the world. In 1917 the Bolsheviks fought imperialism, and Khrushchev is the world's biggest and most cruel imperialist. Lenin and the Bolsheviks called for self-determination of the peoples, and look at Hungary—not to mention the other captive nations.

In 1917, the danger was that Lenin might be followed; in 1957, the danger lies in the weapons that Lenin's heir now commands. Take away Khrushchev's weapons and no one would follow him.

According to William Henry Chamberlain, the journalist, a prominent British Labor M. P. who met Khrushchev had the following to say of the man: "He is very much like Hitler in his ability to work himself into a genuine frenzy over quite imaginary wrongs and grievances." Before he joins Stalin in eternal shame, this man Khrushchev may turn out worse and more paranoid than even Stalin and Hitler. He is a hollow man and dangerous. Never could a revolution have had a more hollow heir or have been celebrated with so much moral emptiness.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Last week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The United States started last week to get into real competition with Soviet Russia in the nuclear missile field. Russia's Sputnik earth satellites had provided the necessary stimulus to action.

President Eisenhower announced that the United States must face a "very considerable" increase in defense spending to meet the grim challenge of Russian scientific progress.

To offset this increase, the President said, spending in other categories of the federal budget must be slashed. He implied that any hope of a tax cut next year had gone.

In a "flag-showing" exhibition that was part of the Eisenhower campaign, Gen. Curtis E. LeMay vice chief of staff of the Air Force, piloted a jet stratosphere plane on non-stop flights from the United States to Buenos Aires and return.

LeMay's plane flew 8,300 miles to Buenos Aires in 12 hours and 2 minutes at an average speed of 480 miles an hour. Returning, by a more direct route, he made the flight of 8,200 miles in 11 hours and 5 minutes at an average speed of 488.5 miles an hour.

At North Atlantic Treaty Organization Headquarters in Paris, smaller countries of the western alliance expressed fear that the United States and other large nations were permitting their preoccupation with nuclear weapons to overshadow the threat of Russia's conventional war-making strength.

There was a sudden and potentially serious flare-up in relations between the United States and France over the demand of Tunisia, France's one-time protectorate which obtained its independence in 1956, for weapons.

France fears that any weapons sent to Tunisia will be used actually to help the rebels in Algeria, Tunisia's neighbor on the west.

The United States fears that unless Tunisia gets weapons from western countries, it will turn to Russia.

Premier Felix Gaillard conferred with American Ambassador Amory Houghton Thursday on the situation. He was reported to have protested vigorously against any move by the United States or Great Britain to arm Tunisia.

Then it was announced that Foreign Minister Christian Pineau would fly to Washington to put France's case before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

President Carlos P. Garcia seemed assured, on the basis of the Philippines national election. But his vice presidential running mate, Jose P. Laurel Jr., on the Nationalist Party ticket, seemed

Warnings That Point To Suicide Tendency

By NORMAN H. BUNNING, M.D.
SUICIDE is not a very pleasant subject even for a doctor to discuss. But let's face it: it does happen, and it is becoming a sizable problem.

Perhaps by looking at some of the causes and some of the warning signs we may be able to help a few footloose souls and save a life or two.

Below Other Countries

The suicide rate in the United States is well below that of many other countries. One reason, of course, is that in America we consider suicide a sign of cowardice or mental instability, while in Japan and India, for example, it is not only acceptable but even honorable.

Most suicides occur in Spring. And early morning appears to be the favorite time for those seeking to destroy themselves.

Suicide Type

There is a sort of "suicide type" too. Doctors have found that the person who is very "hot-headed" (I don't mean "hugged-up") is more likely to take his life than the person who expresses his emotions and confides his difficulties to his doctor.

Dr. Henry P. Laughlin, associate professor of psychiatry at George Washington University Medical School, has found that the extremely depressed patient who undergoes the most radical emotional "lift" throughout the day is the one most likely to commit suicide.

Writing in a recent issue of "State of Mind," he reports that pre-suicidal danger signs in depressed patients include a decreased level of interest, withdrawal and difficulty in talking about problems. The person tends to lose interest in all kinds of things, he shuns his family, friends and business associates and keeps his desperate state to himself.

Dr. Laughlin also has noted a change in the normal sleep pattern of depressed persons bent on destroying themselves. Some potential suicides, he has noted, may wake one to four hours earlier than usual. During the course of depression, he says, this phenomenon may continue for several months.

Varied Motives

Motives for suicide are varied. Statistics show that 33 percent of the male suicides and 38 percent of the female, domestic difficulties are blamed in 50 percent of the females and 50 percent of the males, while unhappy love affairs cause 4 percent of male suicides and 10 percent of the female suicides.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. B.: My baby constantly cries and refuses to sleep. What is the cause?

Answer: There are many causes, such as improper diet, in which too little or too much food is given the child, or too much excitement before bedtime.

If the trouble keeps up, better call your doctor. He will help you "State of Mind," he reports that

Campaign Against Catching Diseases Under Development

By LEON BURNETT
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA (UP)—A major campaign in mankind's constant fight against "catching" diseases is under development in a group of weather-beaten barracks just outside Atlanta.

Researchers of the U. S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center are laying the groundwork for battles against billions of microscopic bugs that are responsible for infectious diseases. Aslan flu is one of the diseases involved, but others for which the Atlanta researchers are seeking preventive measures are yellow jaundice, leprosy, diarrheal ailments, and the common cold.

Two new diagnostic techniques have made the center's work easier and the general medical future brighter.

One is a process in which antibodies for a given disease are treated with a fluorescent material, then turned loose in a specimen of suspected diseased matter. If the disease is present, its germs will announce themselves under the microscope by glowing brightly.

The other process is a speedy and economical method of determining whether a person is immune to a certain disease.

Dr. Ulho Panti Kokko, one of the top administrators of the research laboratory at Chambliss, Ga., sees the center's work as a step toward prolonging the life span—which has already been lengthened substantially in recent decades.

"Of the millions upon millions of persons born on the earth since Christ lived, 5 per cent are alive today," said Dr. Kokko, a former medical officer with the Finnish army.

The research administrator used this statistic to illustrate medical science's great strides in expanding the length of the average man's life.

Arms Virus Study
The communicable disease center is a relatively new government agency whose primary function is the study of virus. It has said 10 new types of virus are discovered each year and all must be studied, classified and re-examined.

The center acts as a parent agency to state health departments, most of which are unable to afford the elaborate equipment needed to carry out diagnosis and

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

This is my son's birthday. I have just fought a birthday cake that keeps sliding off its layers. His father left this morning for another trip. For some reason or other this does not seem such a happy day, and yet I will remember that day seven years ago when he was born. How many mothers are there like me—millions—who recall that proud day when they at last produce the son. There are many of us who have daughters first. We love our girls, and are completely satisfied, but there when the great deed is accomplished, a self-complacent, smug, completely self-satisfied feeling slides over the triumphant mother. And seven years later, I can still remember keeping myself awake through the long night that followed his birth, patting myself on the back. Once a year this memory comes back. I wonder if it is the same for those who have but one girl.

Completely fun was the cocktail party given by Mosey and Paul Johnston Thursday night for their daughter Jane Ellen and her Navy husband Steve Rush. The Ruskas have been spending time in Sanford (they left Sunday, I believe). They have just returned from duty in Ville France, where life was a combination of divine luxury and appalling situations. The two older girls are fluent with their French and often acted as interpreters for their father, whose forte is German.

Gathering at the Johnstons for luncheon with the Ruskas or pleasant first time meeting were Ann and Harry Weil, Sara Warren Easter, Jay, Pat and Howie Hansen and Pat's lovely mother, Mrs. Harvey Eleanor Smith, Adelaide Moses, Carlie and Jack Strilling, and Bob and myself.

Nearly one hundred attended the lovely party given Friday night by Jean and John Dooley and Treta and Mike Michel. The occasion was a farewell to Ruth and Forrest Norvell, who will soon be departing for Patuxent River, and a welcome to Jean and Eric Bower. Eric is relieving Forrest as skipper of HATU.

Magnolia leaves and poinsettias decorated the twin living rooms of the Dooleys' delightful home on VAILT. The punch bowls were surrounded by powderpuff blooms and leaved. New fall party dresses were much in evidence, although the evening was extremely warm for November. Bob Fitzsimmons brought his parents who have been visiting from Minnesota. They cannot get over the heat. The Chamber of Commerce has really been ordering the warmth by the carload.

Forrest Norvell was presented with a silver cup "in appreciation" by his fellow officers in HATU. The loving cup was equally lovingly engraved, and if the size matters to Forrest, he will have much opportunity to recall his shipmates at the HATU high school.

Wrong way McCracken really became mired the other night when what he thought was a puddle across a road (somebody's shortcut of course), turned out to be a lake. That is Johnny's story anyway as he says—no one will believe it anyway.

Selling pop corn at the game the other night was Francis Rounhill along with many, many other S.H. S. parents anxious to raise money for a patio for their kids to use. Since these parents may work, cajole and beg—besides building the thing themselves, why not get out and vote on Tuesday if you are eligible. If you do, those with High School students may never have to use it. The patio and present high school would be turned over to the Jr. High students, and we are all getting pretty close to that mark. Let's get better schools for our children. Whatever you do on Tuesday, DON'T forget to vote!

Mrs. A. R. Mullins Captivates Audience With The 23rd Psalm

In a fascinating demonstration of skill and love of flowers, Mrs. A. R. Mullins captivated her audience Friday afternoon. Speaking before members of several circles of the Sanford Garden Club, Mrs. Mullins, president of the Federation of Garden Clubs of St. Lucie County, veteran flower show judge and lecturer, and wife of a minister, skillfully built into arrangements before the eyes of those assembled.

Theme of the afternoon was the depiction of the Twenty-Third Psalm through the use of flowers, dried plants, and greenery. Before starting her first arrangement, Mrs. Mullins assured the garden club members that the love of arranging was the first requisite—that one could never arrange successfully unless the love was part of one. She urged members to put all the flowers wanted into an arrangement—and then to remove two things. The result usually produces the proper number of blooms.

In her first arrangement "The Lord is My Shepherd," Mrs. Mullins used a circle as her base, signifying no beginning or end. Using dried material for the past, buds for the future and full blooms

Rites 'In Enterprise Friday Join Miss Evans, W. McKethan

ENTERPRISE—In a double ring ceremony, November 15, Miss Norma Evans, daughter of Andrew Evans and Mrs. Aletha Bond Evans of Enterprise, became the bride of Wesley Eugene McKethan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McKethan of Orlando City. The service was performed at 5:00 p. m. by the Rev. Donald J. Walling in the Barnett Memorial Methodist Church.

The bride was given a full length gown with a fitted bodice of rosepoint lace. It featured a bouffant skirt of chantilly lace and nylon net over slipper satin. The neckline was fashioned with a high V and Queen Elizabeth collar. The fitted sleeves came to a point. Her elbow length veil was fastened to a sequin studded tiara, borrowed from Mrs. Richard Glinchick of DeLand. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and small white chrysanthemums.

Organist was Mrs. Cecil Sellers, who played a program of nuptial music. Miss Helen Snodgrass of Enterprise was the maid of honor. Her gown was of street length light blue taffeta, which featured a Peter Pan collar, and tiny covered buttons down the front. Her headpiece was fashioned of two rows of matching feathers. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and small white mums.

Miss Carol Reale was the bridesmaid. Her dress was of gold taffeta, identical to that of the maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and small white chrysanthemums.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Evans wore a street length gown of printed crepon. Her accessories were white, and she wore a corsage of rosebuds. The groom's mother was gowned in a street length dress of maroon. She wore black accessories and a corsage of rosebuds. Tom Sarver of Enterprise served as best man. Robert Clark of Orlando, and Cecil Sellers, served as ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church annex. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth. Green fernery surrounded the three tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Tom Sarver presided at the refreshment table, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Dunn and Mrs. H. C. Peterman. The Bride's Book was kept by Miss Linda Dunn.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a beige sheath, contrasting brown duster, and red accessories. Upon their return the couple will live in Enterprise. Mr. McKethan is employed at Central Florida Motors in Orlando.

Sanford FP&L Employees Hold Barbecue Friday

All active and retired Sanford Power Plant employees and their families celebrated the completion of the 1957 overhaul of major equipment with a barbecue at the Elks picnic grounds in Sanford at 6 p. m. Friday.

All preparations for the event were under the direction of a barbecue committee of Mrs. R. A. Fender and Mrs. Walter Price, who added themselves proud as they secured the services of an expert for the actual barbecuing of pork loins and beef ribs together with his famous (secret formula) sauce. The expert Fred Bolly of Lake Monroe, was assisted by his twin brother and for this particular job he had as assistant, his nephew Frank Wolfer.

The committee had for its menu pork, beef, potato salad, cole slaw, baked beans, potato chips, pickles, bread coffee and soft drinks served by Miss Marchia Bumgarner, Miss Betty Ann Gill, Miss Annie Fender, Miss Helen Price, Miss Jeannette Price and Miss Agnes Stanfield daughters of Sanford plant personnel. For the kiddies there were balloons, and for the ladies Reddy Kilowatt ear rings as a souvenir of the occasion.

Among the distinguished guests present were vice president Loftin Johnson of Miami, vice president Alan B. Wright of Daytona; superintendent of power plants J. W. Keck of Miami; director of industrial relation George Crawford of Miami; production supervisor Charles Wolf of Miami; personnel representative W. L. Duncan Jr. of Daytona; Ebasco construction supt. W. J. Bond and Mrs. Bond; district manager Scott Burns and family; chief clerk W. O. Livingston and Mrs. Livingston, and distribution supervisor Henry Moore all of Sanford.

Plant supt. L. J. Reeves on behalf of all Sanford plant employees presented to J. W. Keck a framed 16"x20" photo of the Sanford Plant that was made just prior to the start of construction now underway, and a TV snack table that was made up by members of the Sanford plant group. Keck expressed his sincere appreciation for these gifts, and then presented to plant electrician R. A. Fender with fitting remarks his 15-year service pin. Rush N. Stafford, at this time presented to Mrs. L. J. Reeves who was celebrating her birthday a four-tier birthday cake, on behalf of all plant employees.

SOKC Season Will Get Underway Saturday, Dec. 14

LONGWOOD—Championship greyhounds will hit the track for the opening of the regular season less than a month from now, according to General Manager Jerry Collins of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The 1957-58 meet gets under way on December 14 with an 11-race Saturday night card. The season extends 92 racing days through March 21 with action scheduled nightly, except Sunday, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Pre-season schooling races are actually "just around the corner." Some 600 outstanding greyhounds will flash their speed in qualifying races starting December 4 and the public will be invited to attend free of charge.

All indications point to a third straight banner season at the Sanford-Orlando track. Since Collins took over operation of the track two years ago, attendance and mutual handle have increased an amazing 60 per cent.

A record winter season is in prospect for Central Florida—the new four-lane super highway to the track and tremendous advance interest in the racing season are among the many favorable tips to another spectacular campaign at the Sanford-Orlando oval.

Social Security Office Joins Farm Week Observance

"Farm-City Week, which is being observed nation-wide this week gives us an opportunity to stress the part old-age, survivors, and disability insurance is playing in the American way of life," Colonel Byron R. Patton, district manager of the social security office, announced today.

The Social Security Administration, through the Central Florida and 537 other district offices, is cooperating with farm and business industries in this year's observance of Farm-City Week.

"We of the Social Security Administration are in accord with President Eisenhower who, in his 1957 proclamation of Farm-City Week said: '... it is fitting that all citizens, rural and urban, should recognize their interdependence in contributing to the strength, character, and prosperity of our Nation.'" Colonel Patton declared.

He pointed out that the problem of family income in case the breadwinner's earnings are cut off by old-age, disability, or death is common to both city and farm workers. "Social security is designed to help solve this problem, but there is still need for people to understand that the program applies to city and country folks alike," he said.

Colonel Patton believes that many farmers feel that social security for them is a "special" program. This is especially true where retirement benefits are concerned he said.

Much of the misunderstanding, Colonel Patton thinks, is due to the fact that farmers, unlike most city people, continue to live at their place of business after retiring from full activity. He pointed out, however, that farmers are subject to the same restrictions on receiving social security benefits when they have earnings after retirement as are other beneficiaries of the program.

Emphasizing that old-age insurance payments for the farmer are not a farm subsidy, Colonel Patton pointed out that a farmer's right to continue to receive old-age in-

Bushman Hopes Grandson Will Reach Own Heights

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Francis X. Bushman looked proudly up to his 25-year-old fledgling actor who will someday reach the heights he himself scaled 50 years ago. Bushman was lunching with Pat Conway—his daughter Virginia's 6-foot, 3-inch son—who stars in the television series "Tomahawk." "He's my last hope for family stardom," Bushman said. "All the others have dropped out of show business."

NOBEL WINNERS—Prof. Chen Ning Yang (top) of the Institute for Advanced Study at

Young Pat was anxious to talk about his career, but Grandpa Bushman took the spotlight. The enormous difference between the flamboyant oldtimers and today's spoon-fed newcomers was reflected in their relationship. Bushman had "show biz" written all over him. Pat looked like a businessman.

Bushman played it large, with gestures and stentorian pronouncements. Lived In Luxury "At the height of my career I had a dozen secretaries and lived in a mansion on 200 acres," the grizzled veteran said. "My home cost a quarter of a million to keep up. I had 25 servants and drove a $30,000 Marmon car. It was royal purple trimmed with gold."

"Bucky really lived it up," Pat put in. "I earned six million bucks in one five-year period," his 72-year-old grandparent continued, "and I spent it faster than it came in. But I have no regrets. I would spend it even faster today. "I pray that Pat achieves the same things, but it's not possible. Young actors don't have the authority or distinction they did when I was a star."

"The halcyon days are over for movie stars," Pat agreed. "No star lives the way Bucky did." Flashily dressed in sports coat, slacks and vest, Bushman still is ruggedly good-looking, more handsome, in fact, than young Conway. He lives modestly in a small bungalow overlooking the Pacific, spending his spare time surf fishing.

Budded Bushy's Movie "I've studied all of Bucky's old pictures," said Pat. "Meet young actors do. And I've learned a lot from them, even though he made his last big picture more than 20 years ago."

Pat maneuvered the conversation toward his ABC-TV program, then wined when Grandpa interrupted. "I don't think he should work in horse opera. I never played in one in my life. He's worthy of greater things. "But no matter how good Pat gets he'll never live the life of a movie star the way I did. Those days are lost forever." Pat nodded mute agreement.

Seminoles Suffer First Defeat Friday Nite To Melbourne 6-0

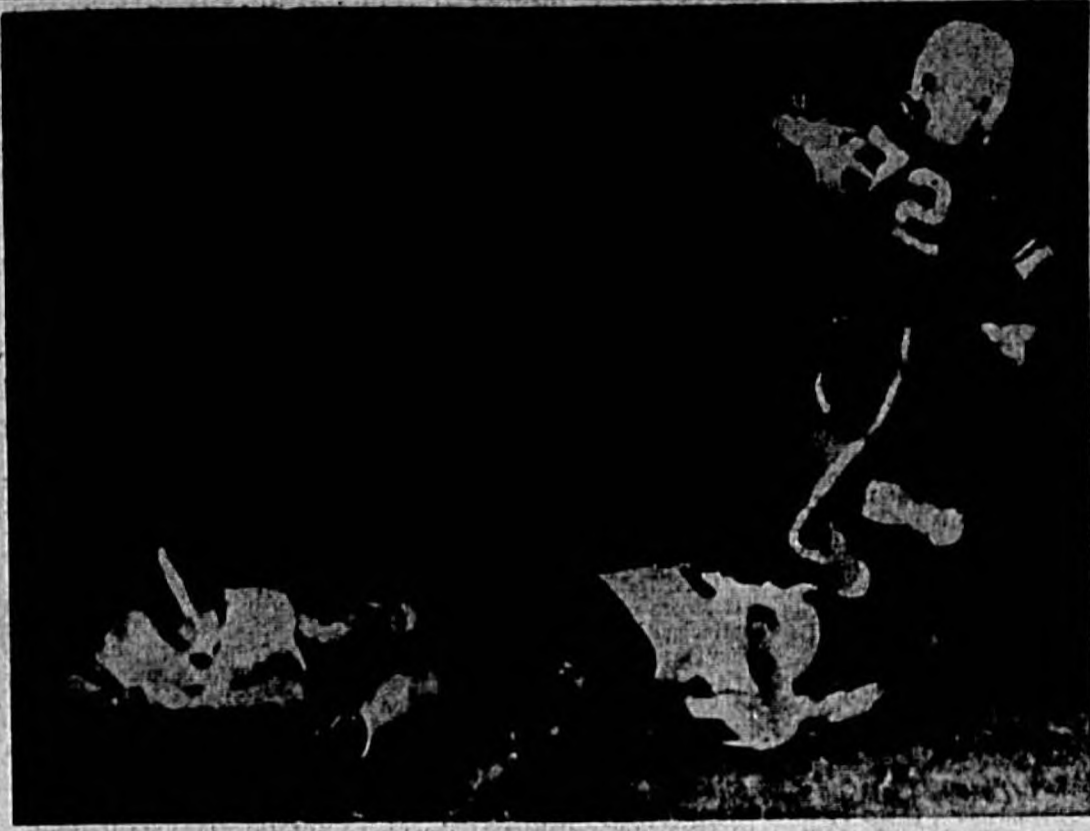

By Jerry Covington
The Fighting Sanford Seminoles had their perfect record marred Friday night with a hard-fought 6-0 defeat at the hands of a great Melbourne Bulldog team. According to statistics, Sanford held the edge throughout the night but it was one play that made the difference. With the six point difference, there was still no shame on the homefront because they played a terrific game offensively and defensively. The Brahman Bowl bound Seminoles now sport a 5-1-1 record with games against Lakeview, DeLand, and Cocoa remaining on the schedule. If they play ball as they did against Melbourne, they should take all three and still have the best record seen in these parts in many a year.

Fullback, Bob Johnson, played his greatest game of the year and completely took charge of things in the first half. Bob piled up 110 yards of the Sanford 158 total and picked up four of the Sanford eight first downs.

The defense, again, showed greatness, holding the Bulldogs to 96 yards rushing, and it looked as though they were going to be the difference. Claude Hittell also enjoyed his greatest night piling up 11 tackles and four assists. He was the sparkplug of the line, keeping them fired up on several goal line stands. Billy Tyre made so many tackles he was out on his feet at the end. Piling up 10 and aiding in three. Linebacker, Ronnie Russ broke through on several occasions and threw Melbourne for several losses—one that was a key play that held the Bulldogs on the 10 yard line in the second quarter. Eddie Barbour also earned his salt on defense piling up seven tackles—three of which were for losses. Tommy Brown, Dave Stan and Mike Tammy were great on part of the stands the Seminoles made.

Action in the first quarter got underway with the Seminoles receiving. On the first play from scrimmage, "The Little General," Cecil Dandridge, threw to Barbour for 14 yards and a first down. Johnson then proceeded to run wild. He picked up three successive first downs on several fine runs off tackle and Barbour also added with a 28 yarder. They moved the ball inside the 10 but failed to have the punch to go over. The great Melbourne defense was equally tough and completely bottled up the middle. On the fourth down, Billy Tyre attempted a field goal but was wide just by inches. The kick had the distance but it was a little off center.

Melbourne ran the ball only 19 times in the first half and the only threat they made came about halfway in the second quarter. Sanford had the ball in their own territory

MELBOURNE PLAYER makes a long run a couple of plays before their touchdown which beat the Seminoles 6-0 Friday night.

In desperation, the Seminoles tried to move on passes but were unable to click. As the seconds ticked away on the scoreboard everyone realized that it was too late to come out of the hole. The game is past now, but things are still looking up around Sanford. With the bowl game and three others remaining, it is my hunch that this will be the only defeat suffered. The team and coaches have provided many thrills this year and the good times are not over yet. The entire team played like the champions they are, and they weren't for one minute, the lesser of the two teams represented. Stick with them for the remainder of the schedule, and I'm sure you won't be disappointed.

Hockey Player Hurt In Game

By UNITED PRESS
TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—Maurice (Rocket) Richard, hockey's most colorful and high-scoring player, faced a threat to his career today in a cut Achilles tendon that will send him to the sidelines "for at least five weeks."

The 26-year-old Montreal Canadiens star was injured in the second period here Wednesday night as the Canadiens strengthened their hold on first place in the National Hockey League with a 4-2 win over Toronto.

Richard was sweeping toward the Toronto net in one of his typical scoring drives when the accident occurred. Dick Duff of Toronto closed in on Richard and drove him against the boards at the back of the cage.

Richard fell to the ice and the blade of one of Duff's skates accidentally slashed his right leg, cutting it wide open.

In the only other NHL game Wednesday night, the second-place New York Rangers and third-place Chicago Black Hawks played to a 2-2 tie in New York.

Football League with 378 yards on 99 tries, has entered St. Elizabeth's Hospital for tests and X-rays of an infected ear.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "in Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to their tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart"

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of The Herald's collection of original verses. These verses express the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Give Your Kids A Chance!

TOMORROW'S LEADERS are in the schools today. To prepare for their future they should have the best facilities we can provide. Let's see that they have the chance they deserve to learn in schools at least equal to the demands of the day.

Seminole County's Growing!

POPULATION has doubled in the last eight years. Every survey made forecasts a continuation of this sweeping upward trend. SCHOOL ENROLLMENT has gone up over 50 percent in the last five years. With the added families that come here day by day we must plan for a school enrollment increase of at least another 50 percent in the next three years.

School Space Is Needed!

You know that the classrooms are filled to capacity now. The additional students demand added school space if we are to avoid the unsatisfactory daily double sessions. Our out-moded schools MUST be modernized and expanded quickly.

Many Japanese Oppose Suspended Sentence Given Girard

By HARRY HUBBARD
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (UP)—Many Japanese reacted angrily today to the suspended sentence given U.S. Army Sgt. William S. Girard who shot and killed a Japanese woman last spring on what a Japanese judge called a "childish whim."

A three-man Japanese court today sentenced the Ottawa, Ill., soldier to three years at hard labor on the manslaughter conviction, but sentence was suspended for four years on good behavior. Girard walked out of court a free man.

Today's sentence will not become final under Japanese law until 14 days have passed. During that time both prosecution and defense attorneys can file an appeal. Indications were both sides have had enough and the conviction will stand.

Sentence Opposed
Opposition to the light sentence was led by the Socialist Party whose demands for a Japanese trial for the slaying of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a brass scavenger at the Camp Weir firing range Jan. 30 touched off an international furor.

Ishtar Asanuma, Secretary General of the opposition Socialist Party, called the verdict a "complete manifestation of the weakness of Japanese courts toward the United States."

Kayoko Sakai, the 30-year-old daughter of the victim, turned the suspended sentence "the same thing as a non-guilty verdict." She said she believed the sentence would not "provide Girard with a chance to atone for his crime."

Girard himself was glad to be out of it. "It was kind of tough," he told a press conference at Camp Drew.

"But I am glad the judge gave me another chance."
In Girard's home town of Ottawa, Mayor Fred Eichelkraut said, "I'm glad it's over and that Bill will be coming home to his mother soon."

Army Had No Comment
The Army had no comment, but military observers said Girard probably would have received much harsher treatment from a court-martial for the death. The Army charge probably would have been second degree murder or manslaughter, they said.

Train Jumps Tracks, Crashes Into Building

MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—The Boston and Maine Railroad's passenger train Red Wing jumped the tracks on an overpass today and plowed into a five-story brick building.

At least two persons—the engineer and fireman—were killed, eight were injured and scores were shaken up. The train, which runs between Boston and Montreal, was carrying about 50 passengers.

Dead were Engineer Harold J. Danforth of Somerville, Mass., and the fireman, identified only as Murphy, who was trapped in the cab of the locomotive, which toppled 11 feet to the street.

The seven-car train was traveling over a side track when it became derailed and tore into the Converse Rubber Co. warehouse in which 100 persons were working. The two-section locomotive tore a 15-foot gash in one corner of the building and fell to the street.

Stevenson Tackles U. S. Proposals For NATO Confab

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, working in a borrowed office in the State Department, today tackled U. S. proposals for the NATO conference in Paris next month.

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate is working without pay, expenses or title as a consultant for the administration of his old political foe, President Eisenhower.

Stevenson planned to leave for New York later in the day and then go to Chicago. He is expected to return to Washington in a few days to devote as much time as possible on plans for the mid-December meeting.

Budget Talks Underway Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—Top defense officials fly to Georgia today for budget conferences with President Eisenhower amid warnings of the cost of meeting Russia's space missile challenge may mean a tax hike.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said taxes should be increased if necessary to finance an adequate defense program—providing there is economy elsewhere along the line.

Americans must bear a "greater tax burden than we like" for a long time to erase Russia's threat, Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said Monday night in New York.

Meeting the challenge of Soviet long range missile and space satellite developments "will be costly and call for sacrifices on our part," Quarles said, "and greater tax burdens than we like to bear."

Most Make Sacrifices
Quarles said that if Americans are "annoyed" by the sacrifices they must make they can at least hope "those under the Communist
