Outlook Remains Grim

England Enters Common Market

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — British business is only months away from its best chance for booming profits since World War II, entry into the European Common Market. But the immediate outlook remains grim.

On Jan. 1 this country will take into the world's richest trading club some of the worst economic credentials in Europe — near stagnant growth, record strike losses, an unstable currency, its highest unemployment since the 1930s and rampant inflation.

Opportunities abound as Britain's nearest and best customers progressively take down tariff barriers during a planned transition period. Britain's present home market of 55 million people will be replaced by 300 million Europeans in the expanded 10-nation community.

By some forecasts here, removal of the tariff walls will boost British trade by over $700 million a year, more than enough to meet higher food prices and other costs of joining Europe.

But entry is a double-edged sword. European members will be free to outsell the British here if they can. Under the present tariff system their sales to Britain are already 30 per cent higher than British sales to the Common Market countries.

Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government won office in June 1970 promising to put the economy right. It still has a long way to go.

For British businesses, strikes remain a crucial problem. The country lost more than 13 million man-days of work last year because of stoppages, a record since the 1926 general strike.

Heath made a controversial strike-control law his top priority in domestic legislation, despite total opposition from the trade unions. The law, enacted early this year, failed to prevent crippling strikes and may have aggravated them.

Meanwhile, industrial troubles and trade losses forced Britain to let the pound float down in international currency markets since June, outside fixed exchange rates. The government refuses to name a date for restabilizing the pound. This could help in the common market because the cheaper pound reduces British export prices.

The British press tended to blame the float on foreign speculators losing confidence in Britain. Foreigners have lost faith in this country before, during the dark days of the blitz for example, and been proven wrong.

The more important question is whether the British are losing confidence in themselves to solve a series of implacable problems, including strikes and the trouble in northern Ireland, among others.

N. Y. Beef Purchased

Todd Industries, Inc., a Miami-based publicly owned firm, announced today that an agreement in principle has been reached for the acquisition of Moore Meats, Inc., New York Beef, Inc., of Sanford, Westland Meats, Inc., and certain real estate holdings in the Greater Miami area.

According to Jack H. Stein, Todd's president, the agreement calls for an exchange of stock whereby Todd Industries will acquire 100 per cent of the stock of the other firms.

Exact terms of the proposed acquisition were not disclosed other than that the transaction is based upon these companies showing combined sales of at least $10 million and combined earnings of at least $200,000 for the current fiscal years.

Moore Meats, based in Miami, and New York Beef, based at Sanford Airport, are engaged in the wholesale meat business. Westland Meats, based in Miami, is a retail distributor of meats.

Stein added that the agreement is subject to the ratification of the respective boards of directors and stockholders approval.

Traylor attended local public schools and was graduated from Virginia Military Institute in 1956 with a BS degree in chemistry. He has been associated with Traylor Chemical and Supply Company, founded by his father, W. L. Traylor Sr., for five years. He assumed the presidency last August first. Active in community affairs, he is on the Board of Sales and Marketing International and is a member of the County Club of Orlando and the Citrus Club. The Traylor family, including wife Yvonne and children Margaret and William L. Traylor, III, reside at 150 Chelton Circle, Winter Park.

W. 21st Avenue, Oakland Park. The community will be geared for young families and will consist of 12 three-story buildings with a total of 144 units — 95-two bedroom, two bath units and 49-three bedrooms, two bath units.

ORLANDO — Thomas E. (Tom) Gamble has returned to Central Florida from Fort Pierce as general manager for the fresh fruit division of Hi-Acres Concentrate, Inc., it was announced by Charles E. Bradshaw, Jr., president of the company.

AN EXPERIMENT in harvesting hyacinths by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is beautifying Trout Lake in Eustis. It is expected to take four weeks to rid the lake of all the plants. Hyacinths are a problem to boaters and fishermen in almost every fresh water body of water in the state.

Hyacinths Removed In Research Project

In an experiment that could lead to the improvement of every body of fresh water in the state, the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is conducting a hyacinth harvest in Trout Lake in Eustis.

Four Game and Fish Commission men, using a rented harvester and an airboat, keep two Lake County dump trucks busy hauling the hyacinths away.

When the research project began nearly two weeks ago, about one-third of the surface of the 80-acre lake was covered by the plants. Since then, the workers have removed nearly 3,000 cubic yards of the compressed hyacinths at a rate of 30 to 40 truck loads a day. The project is expected to take four weeks to complete.

A temporary dock has been set up at the water's edge, from which men with long poles hook onto the masses of weeds as they are dragged or pushed to the harvester's intake rollers. The airboat is used to herd the hyacinths toward the harvester.

The plants are then dragged in through cylindrical rollers and smashed to about one-fourth their original bulk. A conveyor belt carries the hyacinths to waiting trucks.

The hyacinths are then dumped on the shore where they are allowed to dry before more compacting. Eventually, the weeds may possibly be used in the preparation of a peat-type rooting material for plants. Other experimental uses of the harvested hyacinths include fertilizer and cattle food.

Hyacinths have long been a problem for boaters and fishermen. The most common method of eradication has been spraying them with a weed killer. But many fishermen blame massive fish kills on the spraying operations.

MEN FROM THE Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission use long poles to drag and push hyacinths into the huge cylindrical rollers of the harvester. An airboat is used to herd the hyacinths toward the harvester.

Rotary Hears Talk On Agri-Business

Agri-business is a vital influence on American life style and its importance to Florida, an agriculturally oriented state, should be emphasized. Ecology, now attracting so much attention because of its affect on life itself, has an effective colleague in Agri-business. These points were made by William Boardman, Executive Secretary, Dairy Farmers, Inc., as he spoke to the Rotary club, Monday noon at the Civic Center.

The speaker pointed out that government's intrusion into private industry, and especially into life support services, has been increasing and is a source of irritation to producers and marketers. "We complain of the high cost of food, because of government regulations and inspections," Boardman said, "but we should be conscious of the fact that American food is still the best, and for this quality, the lowest cost in the world."

The Dairy business, said Boardman, tries hard to keep legislators informed about the influence of proposed laws, not only on milk and milk products, but on the life style of Florida. Land taxation was given as an example. Greenbelts' perpetuation is vital to Florida.

Space-age fibers have many uses

By JOYCE ROARK
Copley News Service

There are a number of fibers that we use everyday but few people are aware of them. The names may seem technical but they are the chemical names given the fabric.

The tradenames will be more familiar to you but actually, the chemical names aren't any more technical than the names acetate, polyester, nylon, etc.

Polytetrafluoroethylene (Teflon) is most commonly known as a coating for cooking utensils. However, this substance is also made into fabrics. It's used for household webbing, filter fabrics, upholstery, stopcocks in laboratories, pump packings, etc.

Polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE) has good heat resistance and is very water repellent. It's not a strong fiber but it is tough. The non-stick property makes it inert to chemicals and stains.

The only problem with PTFE is its ability to change its shape. When PTFE is placed under pressure, it will change its shape enough to ease the pressure. Thus it will "stretch" out of shape if pressure is applied to it. An example would be upholstery when someone is sitting on it. Since there is no recovery from this stretching of PTFE, replacement is necessary.

A popular fabric for indoor-outdoor carpets and other end uses is polypropylene. It's inexpensive to manufacture so it should be low priced as an end product.

It's strong and resists moisture. The melting point is very low making the fabric unsafe to iron. Due to the moisture resistance, polypropylene is very difficult to dye.

At Disney World

FFVA Holds Convention

Where is agriculture going? Where will it be many years from now? Those are the questions when the gavel sounds, opening the 29th annual convention of the Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association (FFVA) being held September 24-29 at the Contemporary Resort Hotel, Disney World, Florida.

"Agriculture in Tomorrowland" has been chosen as the theme around which this year's fete will revolve. Guest speakers will gear their messages to the theme, workshop sessions will attack the theme, in short, the entire tone of the convention will reflect this theme.

People who know where agriculture is going in the years to come have been asked to address the assemblage. Senator Ed Gurney and Senator Lawton Chiles are slated to address separate sessions. The keynote address will be given by W. R. (Dick) Bryan, Executive Director of Community Services, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

Four days of convention will begin with the annual golf tourney being held on the Palm and Magnolia Courses at Walt Disney World.

Men and women will compete in individual contests for equal prizes.

Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday are filled with gourmet meals, exciting guest speakers, and informative workshop sessions. Plenty of time has also been allotted for the entire family to visit the Magic Kingdom and enjoy the wonderful fulfilled world of Disney.

Convention Chairman L. A. Masters, Hastings, is calling this year's convention "The most exciting convention ever." Masters elaborated saying, "The location of Walt Disney World and the fine program put together by the convention committee are going to be long remembered by the FFVA members and distinguished guests."

"This year the entire family of each and every member and guest will carry home with them a better understanding of the size and scope of the Sunshine State's agricultural industry. This understanding will find its way to all parts of Florida and to many other parts of the United States." Chairman Masters concluded, "When we have the opportunity to take our message on a person-to-person basis throughout the country, this is truly an exciting event."

The Sanford Herald Station Operator Shot By Robber

A service station operator suffered a gunshot wound in the head Thursday night after fleeing an attempt by two men, both armed with pistols, to rob the Eastern Oil station at SR 436 and Lake Howell Road intersection. Curtis M. Brannon, 44, of Casselberry, the one of two attendants at the station, received a two-inch gash in the head, when a bullet was fired from a .25 caliber revolver by one of two robbers involved in a struggle with Brannon.

Sheriff's Deputy Jay Leman reported the two robbers became involved in an altercation with Brannon and Edward Jackson Gunn, 46, of Altamonte, another station attendant. Deputy Leman reported one of the would-be robbers held a pistol on Brannon and ordered him to lie on the floor. Brannon refused and lunged at the armed man, grabbing his arm. The pistol fired with the slug striking Brannon a creasing blow on the left side of the head.

At the same time Gunn, the other attendant, chased the second robber out the rear door while Brannon and the gunman scuffled on the ground. Finally, the robber broke away from Brannon and joined his confederate in escaping on ambulance to Winter Park Memorial Hospital for treatment. He was released later.

Detective Sgts. A. J. Calangelo and Johnny Wright were assigned to investigate the case. Calangelo said the robbers were black, one about six feet and weighing 170-180 pounds. He described the second suspect as between 5-foot-10 inches to 5-foot-11 inches in height and weighing about 150-160 pounds.

MURDER OF WOMAN PUZZLES PROBERS TAVARES, Fla. (AP) — The discovery of the dismembered body of a missing liquor store manager has not helped investigators in solving the murder, Lake County Sheriff Frank Meech says.

Because of their deviant or anti-social behavior, society has historically made outcasts of many persons regarding them with disgust, making them the butt of jokes, or harassing them for their actions. Now in a revealing series exclusive to The Herald, reporter Marilyn Gordon gives an inside look into the lives of seven such persons, who will tell their stories in their own words with names changed to protect their identity.

26,856 Students Enrolled 32 Schools Open Tuesday

When school bells ring Tuesday morning in Seminole County some 26,856 pupils are expected to be enrolled in the county's 32 schools. This was the figure projected today by School Supt. John Angel, who advised the school system had used this figure from Walter Teague, associate superintendent, in assigning 1,274 staff members, including teachers, principals and associated personnel.

The superintendent said there would be "about 2,300" more students starting the 1972-73 term than a year ago, which is indicative of the growth being experienced by the county, particularly in the southern portion. Angel added that Bus Elementary School is substantially complete and will be opening its doors to take part of the overflow.
