High Bilirubin May Be Normal By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB: In a recent column you stated that bile salts are made from cholesterol and increased elimination of bile salts leads to a decrease in cholesterol. My 21-year-old son has bilirubin "on the high side of normal." The doctor stated that the high bile level is apparently normal in my son. He is slim and athletic and regularly eats large amounts of meat, eggs and other fatty foods. Is a high bile level ever normal? Could a high cholesterol level lead to the overproduction of bile? Is there a relation between the blood bile and his cholesterol level? Some people may have a mild elevation of bilirubin without having any significant liver disease or other medical problems. I presume the elevation in your son's case was sufficiently mild and in the absence of any other evidence of disease the doctor has wisely decided that it is of no significance. For more information on bile and the biliary system send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 49, Gallstones and Gall Bladder Disease. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. The mild elevation of bilirubin would not have anything to do with your son's cholesterol level or his diet. Although it's unrelated, your son should change his eating habits and use lean meat, fish, poultry and avoid fatty foods. If he wants to keep his cholesterol intake down he should use a very limited amount of egg yolks. Most heart specialists believe that diet is a significant factor in producing fatty cholesterol deposits in the arteries that leads to heart disease. This process can begin early in life. Many of the young men examined after death in the Korean War were found to have significant fatty cholesterol deposits in their arteries despite the fact that these men had an average age of 22. The best time to start a program to prevent heart and vascular disease is early in life and then continue it.

Sanford Won't Scrap Various Local Projects

Sanford will not scrap various local projects, including a possible cut-off of federal revenue sharing funds, despite the city's decision to accept a new form of government. Mayor Lee P. Moore said today. "If the funds are done away with, the city will continue to provide those capital investments that are priority items," he said, adding that in the past years the city has met requirements for capital improvements out of general funds. Moore said the bond issue for the new city will have received $1.4 million since the inception of the five-year program, officials said. "The City of Sanford won't arbitrarily abandon capital improvement projects in the event the revenue sharing program isn't extended," Mayor Lee P. Moore said today. Commissioners Eye New Form Of Government County Seis Stage For Historic Step

Sanford County is expected to take an historic step today by shifting to a county manager form of government and hiring Roger Neiswender as its new executive assistant. County commissioners interviewed this morning said Roger Neiswender is the No. 1 choice for the new $25,000-a-year job which will alter the entire form of county government. The county's 30-year-old director of development edged out three out-of-state competitors who were among 250 applicants. The new executive assistant, Neiswender will hold down the county's top appointed position and will be responsible for all the day-to-day operations of county government. Since Seminole was founded in 1913, the county government had operated under a system which placed all authority for day-to-day operations in the county commission. But in 1974, management consultant E.H. Underwood recommended a switch to the manager form of government to streamline the county's operations. Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski said it wouldn't surprise him if the decision is "unanimous." Kwiatkowski said he is leaning toward "someone who lives in Seminole County." Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway said Neiswender is his top choice. However, Hattaway said he wanted to see what other commissioners had to say before accepting a new assistant is scheduled to come before the board. Hattaway's confirmation of Neiswender as his choice for the position secured the job for the director of county development, because two commissioners had already announced they favored Neiswender. Commissioners Richard Williams and John Kimbrough said Monday they would support Neiswender. Williams said today he would not have accepted the switch in Seminole's form of government unless at least four board members supported it. Kimbrough said a unanimous decision would be the "first one in six months. Let's go do it." Initially both Kimbrough and Williams opposed the switch but both commissioners now say they will support Neiswender. The title "executive assistant" in other counties is called a county manager or county administrator. But here in Seminole commissioners feared the title of manager or administrator carried too much authority. So, Underwood came up with the title "executive assistant" and it was approved by all five commissioners. Neiswender was born in Norfolk, Va. He has a master's degree in planning and a bachelor's in business administration from the University of Tennessee. Before joining the Seminole County staff, Neiswender was an intern with the City of Titusville. As director of county development, Neiswender has had weekly contact with county commissioners. His work in county government was favorably viewed by most county officials. Officials estimated it would have taken an out-of-towner eight months to get up-to-date on Seminole.

Lake Mary Okays Water Contract

Lake Mary will donate a 50-foot by 75-foot parcel of land and drill a 12-inch well on the plot and donate both well and site to the city. City Attorney Gerry Massey, Tallahassee, noted the city received approval for the purchase of the water system from Sanford rather than improving the city's current water facilities, as part of the approved plan. Massey said the federal loan approval could be revoked if the plans were changed. He added, however, approval probably would be given if a change were made. "But, we have no guarantee," he said. The attorney assured that the city has the right to terminate the contract for purchase of the water supply at any time. The contract for purchase of the water supply at any time. One Woman Can Cause Problems

The Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) has approved a proposal to provide up-to-date maternity benefits for its only female employee, while at the same time releasing an open letter to the public concerning SCOPA's requested amendment to the legislative act which created the Port Authority. Acting Monday at its monthly meeting, board members unanimously passed a proposal which will establish a fund to cover maternity expenses up to $700. The letter sets forth in detail the reasons behind the board's request for the amendment, which would have a double-barreled impact. Part two of the amendment concerns interest rates on industrial revenue bonds presently are set up at a maximum of 7.5 per cent. SCOPA is seeking to have this interest cap removed so that its rates would be free to fluctuate with the existing industrial bond market. The board feels, according to the letter, that such an action is necessary in order to make SCOPA competitive in today's bond marketplace. The schedule also calls for appearances by Debra Gary and Carol Formel, aerobotic experts who perform individually in the Pitts Special, a small biplane designed strictly for aerial stunts/maneuvers, and the Bellanca-Viking aerobotic plane. The stunt pilots will be coordinating their efforts with those of an aerial comedy team, the JJ Comedy Act, and wing walker Joe Hughes, a daredevil who has done aerial stunts in movies and who uses a colorful, vintage aircraft. The gates will open at 10:30 a.m. both days, and visitors will be treated to a variety of pre-show entertainment. Included will be static displays of vintage airplanes, an exhibit on naval aviation, maneuvers by radio controlled aircraft and demonstrations by a drill team from Orange Park. The Navy Band of Orlando will play concerts on both days at 1 p.m. The Naval Training Center drill team and 50-state flag team will appear Sunday. Beer, soft drink and food concessions are scheduled to be open throughout the show.

NATION IN BRIEF

Ford Backers Confident Of Victory In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — President Ford's camp was confident of victory today over Republican challenger Ronald Reagan in Illinois' presidential primary, while Jimmy Carter sought in a four-way race to strengthen his bid for the Democratic nomination.

As the candidates wound up campaigning Monday for the Midwest's first primary, Carter, the former Georgia governor, and Senator Shriver both criticized Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. And Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace insisted his partial paralysis would not impair his ability to be president.

In a state in which the Democratic vote is dominated by Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago machine, Carter was trying to finish off Wallace's presidential bid, while the Alabama governor fought to repair damage from Carter's victory in the Florida primary last week. Shriver, out of funds after beatings in New England, hoped the mayor's ward workers would rescue his candidacy.

Reagan, meanwhile, predicted some time ago he would lose Illinois to Ford, and both Republicans finished their work in the state Saturday. Also gone was former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris, the only other Democrat on the ballot, who spent little time in Illinois.

Storm Threatens Coos

By The Associated Press

The mid-Atlantic coast was threatened by a developing storm today.

During the early nighttime hours, a winter storm continued to develop and organize over the lower Mississippi valley region. The storm was expected to spread north into the central Appalachians, possibly reorganize as a coastal storm on the mid-Atlantic coast, and then move northeastward.

Winter storm warnings for heavy snow were in effect through today in western Maryland and northwest Virginia. Winter storm watches were issued in the central mountains of Pennsylvania, northeastward through southern New England, eastern New York State and Vermont. The storm watches were continued for tonight in southern New England.

Revenue Battle Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight being waged by the nation's municipal leaders for the preservation of revenue-sharing is seen by many of them as the last battle between the cities and the federal government.

The cities, with large concentrations of industrial and construction workers, minorities, elderly people left behind in the rush to suburbia, are hardest hit by recession and inflation and slowest to recover. Brightening economic indicators are little solace.

In a speech Monday to 2,000 city officials gathered here, President Ford spoke of "the pace and the strength of our current economic recovery." But city officials say it hasn't reached them yet.

Addiction Increase Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heroin addiction is steadily increasing in the United States but has not yet returned to the peak levels of the late 1960s, the National Institute on Drug Abuse said today.

Experts believe there now are between 500,000 and 600,000 active heroin users not in treatment programs.

"There is a steady increasing incidence of heroin abuse both in the former epidemic levels," an institute spokesman said. Even now, experts in drug abuse cannot agree as to how many addicts there were between 1968 and 1970 when the heroin problem was out of control.

Utility Firm's Profits Up

ATLANTA (AP) — The Southern Co. has reported a 70-per-cent increase in consolidated net income for the year that ended Feb. 29.

A company spokesman said Monday that net income rose from $133.8 million in the year ended Feb. 28, 1974, to $227.3 million the past 12 months.

The Southern Co. is a holding company for Alabama Power Co., Georgia Power Co., Mississippi Power Co., and Gulf Power of Pensacola, Fla.

Council Grants Leave For Police Patrolman

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Police Patrolman Betty Woodward, terminated by Public Safety Director Douglas Keller last week because she is "unable to devote full time to the job due to illness" was placed on indefinite leave of absence by city council order Monday night.

In addition, the council, on a 4-1 vote with only Councilman Lawrence Goldberg opposing, instructed that the city hospitalization insurance of Mrs. Woodward, employed by the city for nearly seven years, be continued in effect "at least until May 1."

Council member June Lormann, who spearheaded the move, supported by Councilmen Gerard Connell and Parker Anderson, had no criticism for Keller's action, adding he had done what he thought best for the police department to keep it up to full strength.

Goldberg, however, said he and Keller had tried to contact Mrs. Woodward, her family and doctor concerning the illness, but they had not responded.

Mrs. Lormann said she discussed the matter with Mrs. Woodward's family and that the patrolman, demoted from desk sergeant to road patrol several months ago by Keller, should be back on the job in a few weeks. Mrs. Woodward has extensive surgery at a Gainesville hospital in recent weeks.

Goldberg demanded that the exact nature of Mrs. Woodward's illness be made public, insisting that the jobs of three employees — two promoted and a new one hired — are in jeopardy if Mrs. Woodward is ever able to return to her job.

In addition to her full-time employment with the city under a half-dozen police chiefs, Mrs. Woodward, daughter of the late Claude Layton, looks on proudly, many years as the city's first full-time police chief and volunteer fire chief as well, would not say how long she has been with the city.

Anderson took full advantage of the "rules of order," prepared by City Attorney Neil Julian Jr., and a dubbed "Julian's rules," outlining conduct and parliamentary procedure at meetings, to delay the council's decision.

Julian, meanwhile, lectured the council on its responsibilities, saying a decision should be made on the length of leave being granted to Mrs. Woodward, adding that it is now a problem could become a "crisis."

He said, "It is wrong for the city to let these employees be terminated for some vague time. I think you are making a bad mistake, putting off a decision."

Anderson said after the meeting he does not personally know Mrs. Woodward, but that a principle was involved. Connell said a city employee, who is stricken with a catastrophic illness, has the right to some protection.

Man Sentenced In Theft Ring Case

Raleigh U. Akins, 32, of Orlando, was sentenced to three years probation today in circuit court after pleading guilty to attempted grand larceny in a 1974 burglary by members of a multi-county "steal-to-order" theft ring that Sheriff's agents broke up with raids last August.

Akins will serve the probation following two three-year concurrent prison terms meted in Orange County in burglary and stolen property cases.

Today, Akins told Judge Robert B. McGregor that he was the lookout for admitted burglar ring member Calvin Yates, of Sanford, when Yates broke into a residence in Casselberry on Sept. 28, 1974, and took a television, a stereo and a camera.

Akins told the court that the television was sold, the stereo broken and that Yates gave the camera "to a girl that he was dating."

"She wanted a camera for her husband," Akins said.

Robert B. McGregor said one provision of Akins' probation is that he not associate with other members of the smashed burglary ring.

"I got involved with the wrong people," Akins said.

"I've hurt a lot of people, especially my family. I appreciate you giving me a chance and I won't get involved with people like this again. I'm going to try to be a decent citizen again."

Yates was recently jailed in Orange County for violation of probation in a stolen property case. He was scheduled to be sentenced in that case next week at St. Johns County Court. Claude Van Hook told the court that Yates is going into a hospital today for ankle surgery.

Van Hook said the Casselberry burglary is the only break-in in Seminole in which Akins is alleged to have participated with burglary ring members.

McGregory said one provision of Akins' probation is that he not associate with other members of the smashed burglary ring.

"I got involved with the wrong people," Akins said.

"I've hurt a lot of people, especially my family. I appreciate you giving me a chance and I won't get involved with people like this again. I'm going to try to be a decent citizen again."

Hawkins Criticizes PSC

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Public Service Commissioner Paula Hawkins says the PSC is not doing enough to make sure utilities are not wasting customers funds by operating inefficiently.

She succeeded Monday in getting the commission to order a staff investigation into the feasibility of requiring efficiency studies on each utility when it requests a rate hike.

The PSC action came as it rejected a request by Western Union to boost the price of telegrams and money orders by $1.

Mrs. Hawkins said the efficiency studies were needed to insure that money wasn't being squandered in mismanagement or expensive trials.

Tax Revenues Increase

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida sales tax collections rose in February, but not enough to ease officials' concerns about the state's drab budget.

The Revenue Department reported Monday that collections last month from the state's largest income source was $107.4 million, a $9.2-million increase over February 1974.

That was still $200 million short of reduced estimates made Jan. 31 by state officials. At that time, they trimmed expected income for the fiscal year by $24 million to $2.15 billion, but avoided a cutback in spending by using all available reserves.

Striking Employee Charged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A striking Central Telephone Co. employee has been charged with criminal mischief after police said he tampered with phone company equipment.

Leon County Sheriff's deputies said Bruce G. Davis, 30, of Tallahassee, was arrested Saturday night after police said they caught him tampering with a telephone terminal box. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Officials said the incident was part of a series of vandalism reports made since members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers went out on strike against the phone company last Thursday.

Maitland Man Pleads 'Guilty'

By BOB LYD
Herald Staff Writer

A Maitland air conditioning dealer has pleaded guilty to grand larceny in an incident that started out as an illegal air conditioner repossession and his business partner is being sought by sheriff's agents for failure to appear for trial in a circuit court.

Emmett M. Fierro, 23, of Orlando, told Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor that he went to a Fern Park construction area Jan. 19 to "repossess" an air conditioning unit that a man had failed to pay for. "And I got the wrong unit," Fierro said, "I went to the home next door to the one my customer bought."

Sheriff's deputies said Fierro and his business partner, Nathaniel Charles Thomas, 37, of Maitland, were charged with grand larceny, attempted grand larceny, aggravated assault and use of a firearm in commission of a felony after contractor James Salaciak tried to stop two men from stealing a second air conditioning unit from a house under construction on Graham Road, Fern Park.

Deputies said Salaciak discovered two men cutting tubing and wiring on an air conditioning unit after another unit at a nearby house had been stolen. When Salaciak tried to stop the suspects' pickup truck he was shot at with a pistol, officers said.

Casselberry police assisted deputies in stopping the suspects at SR-436 and Red Bug Road.

On Monday, Fierro told the court he knew that he had no legal right to remove the unit. "A pre-sentence investigation (PSI) was ordered after William Scott Thornburgh, 67, of 21 S. Cortez, Winter Springs, pleaded no contest to lead assault on a 10-year-old girl.

Richard Mims, 28, of Oviedo, pleaded no contest to battery and resisting an officer without violence on his person in a Jan. 17 melee at Club 436, Altamonte Springs. Mims is free on bond pending sentencing on April 23. Maximum sentence on the aggravated assault charge is five years in prison.

State Atty. Abbott Herring's office dropped a charge of possession of controlled substance — hashish — against Dennis John Lewis, 28, of 500 Queensway Mirror Circle, Casselberry.

The court continued the grand larceny trial of Arlene Valle, 34, of 141 Temple Drive, Longwood, until the week of April 12.

Unless the oil companies appeal to the Supreme Court, the case will go to Connecticut for preliminary proceedings with similar suits filed by other states, Whisenand said.

Police Probing Thefts

Sheriff's detectives today were probing a number of burglaries in which electronic equipment was stolen.

James Olen Nutt, of 1006 Virginia St., Altamonte Springs, reported a tape player and 75 stereo tapes, total value $750, were taken when his auto was burglarized.

Deputies said Stephen A. Cyr, Pressvian Avenue, Longwood, reported burglars made off with a citizens band radio, tapes, tape player and portable radio, valued at $513, after breaking into an auto.

Mary M. Owbry, of New Smyrna Beach, reported auto burglars took two speakers and 50 tapes, valued at $390, from her car while it was parked at Society Park Apartments, Fern Park.

Gloria E. Davis, 105 Exeter Ave., near Lake Mary, reported two speakers, a tape player and 50 tapes were stolen from her auto.

Proposed Utility Rate Hike In Dispute

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — City Attorney Gary Massey told Council Monday night that he plans to file a suit against the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC) in Circuit Court today to establish jurisdiction of utility rates within the city.

Massey said he expects papers to be served on the North Orlando Water and Sewer Corp., a subsidiary of the Florida Gas Co., which has applied to PSC for a 112-per-cent rate increase, today.

Massey said he will attempt to get a temporary hearing before a judge on Wednesday to ask for an injunction to stop the hearing on the rate increase request, which the PSC has scheduled for Thursday at 9:30 a.m. at the Howard Johnson's.

Over Councilman John Daniels' objections, the council voted to take Massey's advice and postpone filing a suit against Southern States Utilities, which serves part of Tuscaloosa within the city, until the question is settled as to whether the PSC or the city council has jurisdiction of setting rates for utilities within the municipality.

Daniels pointed out that several hundred homeowners, whose rates were raised by Southern States last summer, were promised months ago that a suit would be filed by the city to have their rates restored and overpayment refunded.

In their case, Seminole County Commissioners had granted an increase to Southern States for customers in the county, but the company had also extended it to Winter Springs residents without taking the request to the city as well.

Massey estimated last week that the suit against PSC would cost the city roughly $5,000 in legal fees. Mayor Gerald Pliland said that, this will shorten the time before a final decision on the case can be expected, he said.

They backed the council 100 per cent in the legal action, we are taking," Pliland said.

Approved payment of $1,169.82 to the law firm of Pitts, Ebanks, Ross and Rumberger for the legal services provided by Howard Marsee to defend the city in the suit brought by Seminole Baptist Temple to prevent the city from withdrawing the church's land use and building permits.

MOTOR LODGE on Lee Road. "There is no way I can physically get the members of the PSC served papers by Wednesday," Massey added.

Massey told the council he was wrong in stating previously that an appeal would have to be taken to the District Court and then to the State Supreme Court. As it can be taken directly to the State Supreme Court. This will shorten the time before a final decision on the case can be expected, he said.

Shevin Announces Support For Flat-Time Sentencing

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Proponents of a radically different sentencing system that would get tough on criminals by doing away with parole have gained an influential ally in Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin.

Shevin announced Monday that he supports the "flat-time sentencing" concept being studied in both the House and the Senate and charged that Florida's current system puts "the odds in favor of the criminal."

Shevin also called on lawmakers to enact handgun controls this year.

"Presently, 70 per cent of all convicted felons in Florida spend no time behind bars for their crimes," Shevin said in his annual legislative recommendations.

Hawkins Criticizes PSC

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Public Service Commissioner Paula Hawkins says the PSC is not doing enough to make sure utilities are not wasting customers funds by operating inefficiently.

She succeeded Monday in getting the commission to order a staff investigation into the feasibility of requiring efficiency studies on each utility when it requests a rate hike.

The PSC action came as it rejected a request by Western Union to boost the price of telegrams and money orders by $1.

Mrs. Hawkins said the efficiency studies were needed to insure that money wasn't being squandered in mismanagement or expensive trials.

Tax Revenues Increase

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida sales tax collections rose in February, but not enough to ease officials' concerns about the state's drab budget.

The Revenue Department reported Monday that collections last month from the state's largest income source was $107.4 million, a $9.2-million increase over February 1974.

That was still $200 million short of reduced estimates made Jan. 31 by state officials. At that time, they trimmed expected income for the fiscal year by $24 million to $2.15 billion, but avoided a cutback in spending by using all available reserves.

Striking Employee Charged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A striking Central Telephone Co. employee has been charged with criminal mischief after police said he tampered with phone company equipment.

Leon County Sheriff's deputies said Bruce G. Davis, 30, of Tallahassee, was arrested Saturday night after police said they caught him tampering with a telephone terminal box. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Officials said the incident was part of a series of vandalism reports made since members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers went out on strike against the phone company last Thursday.

False Promises Charged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida benighted from its early primary because of the political paralyzation President Ford poured into the state, but some Ford promises were just to lead the gullible, Ronald Reagan's campaign manager says.

L. E. "Tommy" Thomas held a news conference Monday that some people may have overlooked Ford's weaknesses as president because of his promises.

"Nobody has pointed out how Ford won with the blatant use of political power we have never seen before," Thomas said. "I'd go so far as to say he bought the win with the taxpayers' money."

Shevin Can Sue Oil Firms

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has made it final ruling that Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin can file an antitrust suit against 11 major oil companies.

The federal court in New Orleans notified Shevin's office it had refused Exxon Corp.'s request for a rehearing, Deputy Atty. Gen. James Whisenand said Monday.

Unless the oil companies appeal to the Supreme Court, the case will go to Connecticut for preliminary proceedings with similar suits filed by other states, Whisenand said.

School Funding Hike Urged

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Coalition for Responsible Funding of Education has urged the legislature to give its highest priority to education funding needs.

The coalition of education groups met Monday to plot strategy to seek considerably more for education than the $70.9 million Gov. Reubin Askew recommended for public schools.

Co-chairman Zolle Maynard, a former state school official, said that coalition members are scheduling a series of meetings with local legislators to seek the extra funding.

Grady To Oppose Chiles

WEST PALM BEACH (AP) — Dr. John Grady, who ran a surprisingly strong race as an American party candidate for the Senate in 1974, said today he will try again this year, challenging Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

"I detect in the citizens of Florida a feeling of frustration and anger against the deficit, waste, controls and power of big government," Grady said in his campaign announcement.

"The loyal and productive citizens are ready to act and lead the way in the restoration of constitutional government and individual rights."

Prominent Banker Dies

BOCA RATON (AP) — Thomas F. Fleming Jr., head of a 14-bank holding company and a key figure in education, is dead at the age of 92.

Fleming, who founded the First Bank and Trust Company of Boca Raton in 1956, died Monday after a bout with cancer.

His Boca Raton bank became the home for First Bancshares of Florida, Inc., when the holding company was founded in 1970. The chain now has $550 million in assets and member banks from Miami to Fort Pierce.

U.S. Must Take Stand On Africa

No doubt remains that African revolutionaries and their Soviet sponsors, buoyed by the Communists' success in Angola, have their sights set directly on Rhodesia.

The U.S. State Department, as well as Britain, said as much recently when they warned Rhodesia to start negotiating "realistically" with its black majority because the opportunity for Premier Ian Smith to negotiate pragmatically is fading rapidly.

More recently, the nine ministers of the Common Market met briefly in Luxembourg to issue a statement which, among other things, demanded self-determination in Rhodesia. During that time, the British Foreign Office, the father of State Roy Hattersley made it plain that the Common Market intends to pressure Rhodesia to "conform to normal standards of behavior."

No doubt remains that African revolutionaries and their Soviet sponsors, buoyed by the Communists' success in Angola, have their sights set directly on Rhodesia.

When the average broke 1,000 points and stayed above that mark last Thursday, many an investor was fully prepared for a direct and sudden move to follow in the opposite direction, because that is how it has behaved in the past.

And it is immoral for the Western nations to legitimize Communist revolutionary victories by failing to vote against them in the United Nations, by immediately recognizing the illegitimate governments installed by the Communists, and even by applying pressure on the countries in the revolutionaries' gunships beyond the sanctions that already are in force.

On the other hand, the majority of the people in Angola who became victims of Communist gun barrel imperialism did so in Zaire, Zambia and other who are fearful of Soviet domination of Africa. So do many other people in the world who are struggling for self-determination.

Until we tell them exactly what we will and will not tolerate in the way of Soviet adventurism and expansionism, there cannot be any stability in the world.

Media And The CIA

It is unfortunate that the names of American journalists who have acted as agents for the Central Intelligence Agency for the collection of intelligence overseas will apparently never be disclosed by the CIA.

That leaves a cloud on the credibility of many journalists and news agencies who have been or will be suspected of clandestine espionage activity.

The agency ended its relationships with correspondents for major domestic news organizations in 1974. Last week the new CIA director, George Bush, put a halt to the use of stringers, or part-time correspondents, as agents.

But Bush has told the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Operations that the CIA is not at liberty to reveal the names of any individuals who have cooperated with it, including journalists. The committee then gave up its effort to obtain the names from him.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — On a dismal day in 1949, a 23-year-old Stanford law student, named Frank Church, was told by his doctors that his backaches came from terminal cancer.

He refused to accept the verdict. He underwent massive surgery, then X-ray treatment. By the time he recovered from the ordeal, the six-foot Frank Church weighed barely 90 pounds. But the cancer was gone, and it has never returned.

It's hard to imagine that the charismatic, husky healthy Senator of today almost left his mark as a cancer fatality statistic.

His round blue eyes gaze deeply behind his glasses; his tan skin is stretched tight on a cherubic face; his greying hair flops out of place with a boyish rascality.

"After that experience," the Senator reflects, "I decided that life itself was the major risk. It could be snatched away at any moment. It has to be lived to the fullest. I had to take big chances. Win or lose, I had to play for high stakes."

The high-stake game he chose was politics. In the solid Republican state of Idaho, he ran for the Senate in 1956 on the Democratic ticket. He

Around

The Clock

Is it possible for a photograph to save someone's life? Irene Brown, assistant vice president of the Flagship Bank of Sanford, thinks a polaroid camera shot might have been instrumental in saving her life.

Seems Mrs. Brown was speaking to the Eastas, Fla., Women's Club a couple of months ago and someone in the audience took a polaroid picture of her as she addressed the organization.

Upon looking at the picture, Mrs. Brown said, "I thought, when did I get that double chin, and dismissed it from my mind."

"But," she said, "that incident was the beginning of a fast-moving chain of events which culminated in the successful excision of several infected glands and a tumor — all by X-ray."

According to Mrs. Brown, until the picture-taking event, she had had no pain and "no apparent outward evidence of any problem."

She credits the woman who took the picture, one Helen Revere of Eastas, with the possibility of unknowingly... being instrumental in saving my life."

Mrs. Brown has written Miss Revere, telling her how much she appreciates the picture-taking and also to offer thanks to the American Cancer Society for having educated her as to the warning signals and to her doctors for their skill.

You know, it might do well for all of us to pay a little more attention to our bodies and look for those warning signals. And, if you're unfamiliar with them, contact your doctor or the American Cancer Society and they'll be most happy to familiarize you with them.

Don't delay... do it today!

Sunland Parents and Friends organization is holding its 10th annual rummage sale from now till April 3 at the old Nolle's Store at 434 N. Orange Ave. in Downtown Orlando, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. week days and 9-1 on Saturday.

The gigantic sale offers clothing, household goods, books, cameras, small appliances, jewelry and plants, for bargain prices. Highlight of the sale will be lovely orchid plants raised by Dr. Charles Carter of Sunland Hospital. Clothing for Sunland children will be given free upon proof of same.

The parents' group provides needed items for the retarded residents of the two Sunland centers.

According to Dr. Clifford H. Cole, administrator of Florida's Venereal Disease Control Program the state is having the worst epidemics of syphilis and gonorrhea since World War II. VD rates for 1975 reveal that syphilis has increased by 10.7 percent over 1974 and gonorrhea by 17.7 percent.

As part of the campaign to combat the sexually transmissible diseases, about 2.5 million matchbooks imprinted with prevention measures for men and women will be distributed in the state during the next five months by the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. They will be dispensed in cigarette machines and county health clinics principally in big cities where VD rates are highest.

Dr. Cole blames "the pill" combined with decreasing use of gonorrhea-inhibiting vaginal cream for much of the increase in cases of VD.

"There is evidence," Dr. Cole said, "that during the last half of 1975 the public awareness program which we are conducting is beginning to have a definite impact. The incidence of syphilis decreased by 1.3 percent between June and the end of 1975 and gonorrhea decreased 3.3 percent."

The resignation will take effect as soon as Labor members of the House of Commons have selected a new leader who will become prime minister, the Press Association reported.

The report said the 60-year-old Labor party leader informed the cabinet of his intention this morning and told the Queen of his plans at an audience later.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army forces opposed to President Suleiman Franjeh said they fired a warning artillery shot at the hilltop presidential palace today as the Christian president tried to negotiate a face-saving way of meeting demands that he resign.

"We only fired one round of artillery at his palace this morning," said Lt. Ahmed Alkhatib, whose force of Moslem deserters from the regular army has taken over army garrisons in many parts of Lebanon. "It was just a warning, just to make his knees quiver."

Khatib did not say whether the shot hit the palace, and there was no confirmation of his claim from the palace or the office of Brig. Aziz Adhab, the commander of the Beirut garrison who proclaimed himself provisional military governor of Lebanon.

World In Brief

British Prime Minister Announces He Will Resign

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has informed his Labor party cabinet and Queen Elizabeth II that he plans to resign, the British Press Association reported today.

The resignation will take effect as soon as Labor members of the House of Commons have selected a new leader who will become prime minister, the Press Association reported.

The report said the 60-year-old Labor party leader informed the cabinet of his intention this morning and told the Queen of his plans at an audience later.

World In Brief

British Prime Minister Announces He Will Resign

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has informed his Labor party cabinet and Queen Elizabeth II that he plans to resign, the British Press Association reported today.

The resignation will take effect as soon as Labor members of the House of Commons have selected a new leader who will become prime minister, the Press Association reported.

The report said the 60-year-old Labor party leader informed the cabinet of his intention this morning and told the Queen of his plans at an audience later.

Shot Fired At Palace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army forces opposed to President Suleiman Franjeh said they fired a warning artillery shot at the hilltop presidential palace today as the Christian president tried to negotiate a face-saving way of meeting demands that he resign.

"We only fired one round of artillery at his palace this morning," said Lt. Ahmed Alkhatib, whose force of Moslem deserters from the regular army has taken over army garrisons in many parts of Lebanon. "It was just a warning, just to make his knees quiver."

Khatib did not say whether the shot hit the palace, and there was no confirmation of his claim from the palace or the office of Brig. Aziz Adhab, the commander of the Beirut garrison who proclaimed himself provisional military governor of Lebanon.

Danny Kaye: Doing Things I Want To Do

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—When he was in England to conduct the London Symphony Orchestra, a reporter asked Danny Kaye why did he make those comedy films. His reply: "Because movies are most like I am, not like I used to be." For the same reason he rejected the notion of a return to the London Palladium, where his postwar appearances made him something of a national hero.

"Sure, I could probably go back there and do the same routines and get a nice reaction," he said. "But it wouldn't be the same. There was something about that era that made it just right, and I would never be able to recapture what happened 20-25 years ago. It would be walking backwards."

"Likewise I don't want to go to Las Vegas; I've done that. Another television series? Those four years I did on CBS were among the most enjoyable of my life. But I wouldn't want to repeat. Nowadays I just want to do the things I want to do."

Right now he is on a larky tale "The Recently Taped a New Version of 'Peter Pan' in London, playing Captain Hook to Mia Newley. The special has a score by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley. The special has appeared in England and will be seen here at Christmas on NBC.

Kaye has been taping "Pinocchio" in Hollywood, not the gospel according to Walt Disney but a new interpretation from the classic. Danny is Gepetto, Sandy Duncan is the boy-puppet Peter, with a score by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley. The special has appeared in England and will be seen here at Christmas on NBC.

"Think of it," he murmured, "I am not playing in the American League expansion team which will start playing in Seattle in the spring of 1977. It's a natural adjunct to his ownership in radio stations in Seattle, Spokane and Portland and an outgrowth of his long-time devotion to baseball."

"I'd like to be in a club like the Rainiers and he has his own ideas about what the operation should be: 'Seattle is a major league stadium and this will be a major league team, but I would like the stadium to have a small-town feeling.'

"I'd like to build up a family atmosphere at the games, and whoever dreamed up ladies' night and free bases for the kids had the right idea. I'd also like to see more cross-playing between the leagues. Fans miss a lot of seeing only one kind of play. I'd like to bring the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds to Seattle for games."

TV Violence Studies Are Finally Out

By JAY SHARBUIT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Two violence-on-TV studies commissioned by ABC are out now after five years of work by two research teams. And they sort of differ on how best if violence is shown on television.

One study, by Dr. Melvin S. Heller, a child psychiatrist, and Dr. Samuel I. Poksy of Temple University, found that "exposure to aggressive television content did not lead to heightened assaultive behavior."

In other words, TV violence didn't prompt kids to whip up on bystanders or objects any more than their usual custom.

The other study, by Lieberman Research, Inc., says "under certain conditions and depending on the types of violence portrayed, exposure to related violence is capable of producing increased inclination towards aggression in children."

But the words "is capable of" and "increased inclination towards aggression" are a bit baffling. They don't actually show if TV violence does or doesn't increase aggression among young viewers.

The Lieberman study covered nearly 10,000 kids aged 7 to 14, who lived in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. The Heller-Poksy study of TV violence and kids — the study also covered adolescents and young adults — involved a much smaller sample of children, 50 in all, ranging in age from 10 to 15.

All were what this study called "emotionally vulnerable children," meaning that in laboratory they're the most susceptible of kids to the varied forms of violence seen in television programs.

What they should do is put an Electronic Founding Platform in every home containing young viewers. It should be hooked up to the TV set and put in an area away from the reach of the kids.

And if a parent catches the kids watching excess violence on TV, a break whack. The device would then switch off a set for a week and set off a red alert at network headquarters.

That might accomplish much more than two more studies on the effect of television violence on young viewers.

Katt: 235 Career Wins And Unknown

By Herald Services

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—James Lee Katt would be perfect for an American Express commercial. Only in his case, they might fail to recognize the name as well as the face.

Jim Katt has won more major league baseball games than anyone in the world actively engaged in throwing for a living. You can look it up. He has totalled 235 victories in a career which stretches back, on the big league level, to 1899.

Yet he's so anonymous they didn't even have him listed among the 200 game winners in the most recent Book of Baseball Records. Shame on you, Seymour Swaff.

You could put Jim Katt on "To Tell the Truth" and the panel would figure him for a tulip farmer. He came out of Michigan's tulip country.

Jim Katt needs one of those plastic identification cards at a convention of baseball players. He won 23 games for the Minnesota Twins almost a decade ago and pitched them into a World Series. He won 20 games last year for the Chicago White Sox, at the age of 36. He still needs a cosigner to pick up a prescription at the corner drug store.

When he reports to the Philadelphia Phillies for spring exercises, he will be aligned with his "older" major league team in four years. He's a left-hand pitcher for the Bicentennial Year.

The fact is that at the age of 37, Jim Katt feels it's nice to be wanted as an athlete.

"I know that our team is in a process of change," he says in a bit of understatement, since Bill Veeck bought the White Sox this winter and set up a trading table in a hallway. "and I know that the Phillies had scouted me last year and were looking for a left-hand pitcher."

On the last day of last season, he went to Chuck Tanner, then the manager of the Chicago White Sox, and asked to be traded to the Phillies.

He is a big (6-4.5), imposing man with a strong face, big jaw and the gait of a guy who makes his living in a physical way. He is from the Dutch farm country of Michigan, where he attended 71-73 on Rickses Green's 30-foot local hero was an old major league pitcher of Dutch descent named George Zuverker. But he was inspired to play baseball by his own father, who was a great Connie Mack admirer.

Katt signed for a bonus of $4,000 with the Washington Senators organization, and when they were moved to Minnesota in 1961 he was firmly planted there for the next 12 years.

He feels some of the lack of attention during that period was due to his stolid personality and that, with the exception of 1966 (when he won 25), he did not have really big years, like Sandy Koufax did.

"They don't remember it when you win 18 or 19 games a season," he says.

But there was a remarkable consistency in his pitching, even if it wasn't always appreciated. "In Minnesota," he says wryly, "winning 14 games sometimes wasn't enough."

He had to redesign his pitching style in mid-career because he tore some tendons in his left elbow that bobbled him most of three years and forced him to rely less on pure speed.

"I don't mind being called a power pitcher," — and more on gulle.

In this he was aided by Johnny Stein, a pitching coach for whom he has great respect and who imbued him with a sense of pace and style.

In this he was aided by Johnny Stein, a pitching coach for whom he has great respect and who imbued him with a sense of pace and style.

Going to Chicago late in 1973, he rejoined Stein, a vital factor in his resurgence with the White Sox as a 20-game winner the last couple of years.

"I don't blame Minnesota for trading me," he says. "I was 10 and 21 in 72 when I fractured my wrist sliding into second base. The next year, I just went bad."

The art of pitching has changed considerably in the 16 years he has been in the big leagues. He has experienced the phenomenon of the bullpen as a starting pitcher's greatest aid.

"During a game," he rationalizes, "you try to get through the batting rotation three times. But the further you go, the more the percentages increase that the hitter is going to catch up to you."

"The first time up, you catch him cold. The next time he hits the ball good, but it goes right at somebody. He's adjusted to your rhythm now. So it makes sense to go to a relief pitcher quickly."

It's a complete change of pace when somebody like Rich Gossage (the fire-balling White Sox reliever) comes in. He can throw the ball past anybody. When I first came up to the majors, there was no way he would be going to be a relief pitcher. But now the relievers can fire smoke. And I don't feel bad when they left me for one of them."

He is a man interested in going into electronic communications — he has done some play-by-play broadcasting in the Twin Cities — or coaching. It is easy to visualize him, with his poise and accuracy, as a major league manager some time in the future.

"That's if somebody remembers the name."

Five Local Women Golfers Eye State Women's Tourney

Five women golfers from the Sanford-Deltona area have their fingers crossed as they get their games in order for the 47th annual Florida Women's State Golf Association tournament early next month at Ocala's Silver Springs Shores.

Grace Sayles and Tricia Stenstrom will represent Mayfield Country Club, while Deltona entries include Mrs. Frank Grant, Virginia Dexter, Mike McElwee and Minerva Proctor.

"We did not have anyone finish high from this area last year, but there are some high hopes this area," admitted Mrs. Grant, director of the area.

The deadline for entries is Friday, and qualifying starts April 4. Match play runs Tuesday through Friday. Pensacola's Evie Kirkland defeated Sylvia Fardon of Tallahassee last year for the championship. The biggest question of the tournament, however, is whether the 1973 and 1974 champion Alice Dye of Delray Beach is recovered from tendonitis, which prevented her from playing last year.

KAIDERS RAISING NET FOES

Stuart Thompson cautions the net to avoid a return in one of the recent tennis matches for the Seminole Community College team. The Raiders are 7-0 against junior college competition.

But Wooden took didn't think the Hoosiers, 28-0, belong in the same class with the championship UCLA squads.

"Before you compare them to any of the other great teams, they've first got to win a national championship," said Wooden, who served as a television commentator for Indiana's triumph over St. John's Saturday.

Nevertheless, Wooden likes Indiana — especially the clawing man-to-man defense which is the trademark of Coach Hoiberg. "It's going to be an excellent team to beat them," he said.

Alabama just might be the team to beat. The Crimson Tide, 23-1 and ranked sixth in the latest Associated Press poll, won the Southeastern Conference title and are coming off an impressive 79-61 triumph over North Carolina.

The two sides were to meet again today, and Miller scheduled a meeting Wednesday in Tampa with the association's 24-member executive board. Miller noted that the owners attached to their proposal a memo that outlining of spring training was contingent on a favorable recommendation by the board to the players.

In the 18-page owners' proposal, they agreed to abide by an arbitrator's decision in the case of pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally, which gave them free agent status after they had completed their one-year contract, then played the following year without signing a contract — the one-and-one clause. Two federal courts upheld this landmark decision.

Ironically, Messersmith's free agency is effective today, just seven days after a federal appeals court supports last year's decision by arbitrator Peter Seitz that made the pitcher free to deal with all 24 clubs.

The free agency offered to the rest of the players is slightly different than that won by Messersmith. While Messersmith can deal with any major league club, that still depends on the player's association reaction to the offer. The owners and baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn have said that spring training will open when progress is made in the negotiations.

Here's Key To Fishing Tale

Nothing like a fish getting even with his captor. The fish story of the week belongs to Bob Orrell, who took an Illinois visitor, William Workman, out on the St. Johns River last weekend. Seems the guest had always heard about the famous river and was going to be content just to say he had fished it, never mind catch anything.

With that assurance, Orrell, something of an expert with a rod in his hand, headed north of the Osteen Bridge. As happens so often, the expert was outshined by the rookie, four bass to one.

The unusual part of the story came in the picture-taking session. Workman had his car keys in one hand and was posing with his four bass when Orrell suggested he pry open the mouth of the biggest bass.

The keys fell into the fish's mouth and was gulped down.

Only a pair of long-tipped pliers prevented an on the spot operation.

It did, however, provide Workman with an ideal after-dinner anecdote which matched the bass for eating.

Golf tournaments are in. The Oviedo Rotary Club is putting on a Social Security tournament Thursday at Winter Pines in Chulavita Park. In case one hasn't guessed, it's exclusively for the 62-and-over set. Entry fee is $12, which includes cart, green fee, sandwich, beverage and a golf ball which will be tossed to lose on that wide-open course.

The Chelsea Title Invitational is set April 16 at Walt Disney World's Magnolia course. It's designed for Realtors, mortgage bankers and savings and loan association people. Entry fee is $15, which includes the works. The field will be cut at 144, and deadline for entries is April 9.

The Matland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce is hosting a tournament April 21 at Rolling Hills in Altamonte Springs. It's a 1:30 p.m. shotgun start. Entry fee for golf, with usual extras, is $12. Dinner reservations are $7.50, and the entrée is cornish game hen. Deadline for entries is April 16.

Get those drivers driving, and putters putting.

Indiana Everyone's Favorite In NCAA

Indiana's basketball team is the favorite in the East Regional at Greensboro, N.C. The Scarlet Knights beat North Carolina, 85-81, in one semifinal Thursday night.

"There is no doubt Indiana is a great team," said John Wooden, who coached UCLA to the NCAA title 10 of the past 12 years before retiring after last season.

But Wooden took didn't think the Hoosiers, 28-0, belong in the same class with the championship UCLA squads.

SPORTS

NC-Charlotte In NIT Semis

NEW YORK (AP) — The North Carolina-Charlotte basketball team did a very good imitation of the Oregon Ducks — so good in fact that you couldn't tell the facsimile from the real thing.

And they won, just like the Ducks usually do.

"We slacked off," said Oregon's Ronnie Lee after the 79-72 loss to the unheralded 4bers in the quarter-finals of the 39th National Invitation Tournament Monday night. "We didn't go for loose balls like we usually do. We might have taken them too lightly."

Lymn Swamps Brantley, 13-2

FOREST CITY — Mickey Mannings drilled a pair of his Monday to pace Lymn's at his home as the Greysouths buried Lake Brantley, 13-2, in a six-inning high school baseball game.

Lymn 4-0 3-0 11-1 3-3
Walt Grawe, 10-11

The Wolfpack advanced by beating Holy Cross 78-68 in Monday night's other match at Midway Square Gardens. Kansas State will play Kentucky and Louisville will meet Providence tonight to decide the other semifinalists.

The 4bers finished their surprising victory behind Cedric West. Oregon 156-166 in a high school golf match at Sheoak Country Club.

Oviedo combined four sub-40 scores Monday to outdistance West Oregon 156-166 in a high school golf match at Sheoak Country Club.

Japan Crushes Norway

OSLO (AP) — Japan beat Norway 3-2 Monday night and won in total goals 8-7 after two games in a pre-world championships warm-up ice hockey international match.

The first game Sunday night was tied 5-5.

Japan and Norway will play in the Group B of the championships starting in Switzerland later this week.

The suggestion that rich owners will collar the market and make fares of the various races also is illogical. It hasn't happened. Owner Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox can't be expected to try to sign $100,000-a-year men for every position.

"The first year will be a tense one and the second could be hectic," says Lee MacPhail, the personable and sharp-minded president of the American League. "But if we can live through two years then, with our eight-year reserve plan in effect, I feel sure the game will stabilize."

"But right now we are entering a sort of twilight zone. Nobody is sure what will happen."

Sign Of The Times: 600 Baseball Players For Sale

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — If the players accept it — and how can they now refuse? — then for the next two years the proud American game community could be thrown into a state of chaos.

In those two years, virtually every player — the great, the near-great and the mediocre — could become a free agent and throw himself on the market. The exception would be those players with long-term contracts. They are a handful. But they could gain their freedom a year after their contract is up. Not that any of them will, but they can.

The game could become one big bazaar. Franchises could be jeopardized, strong teams such as the Oakland A's could see their shelves stripped clean, teams such as the San Francisco Giants and the Minnesota Twins might have to struggle to survive. Some could go bankrupt.

That's the dark picture. The other picture is that level heads will prevail, among both players and owners, and that the system will survive.

But the potential of self-destruction is there. No one is especially to blame. But attribute it to the fact that the players are free agents and owners, and that the system will survive.

Now the owners, under heavy stress, have told the players that they will agree to let the law prevail for the next two years. A player may play an option year, then become a free agent and look around for a buyer with a lot of dough, just as Catfish Hunter did.

But don't expect too many Catfish Hunters. When Charley Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, pulled a boner on Catfish's contract, Hunter got his freedom and signed with the New York Yankees for $13 million.

"Catfish was a unique case," says Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' $170,000-a-year pitching property. "You can't expect any recurrence like that. It's a case of supply and demand."

Seaver, the Mets' three-time Cy Young winner and maybe the best pitcher in baseball, can speak sympathetically of the case because he might find himself in a similar situation.

Asking a three-year $800,000 contract, Seaver failed to sign before the March 10 deadline. The Mets re-wired his contract, by declaring pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally free agents because they played a year without a contract. The decision was upheld by two federal courts.

That, unless the Supreme Court says otherwise — and it hasn't — is the law of the land.

Now the owners, under heavy stress, have told the players that they will agree to let the law prevail for the next two years. A player may play an option year, then become a free agent and look around for a buyer with a lot of dough, just as Catfish Hunter did.

But don't expect too many Catfish Hunters. When Charley Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, pulled a boner on Catfish's contract, Hunter got his freedom and signed with the New York Yankees for $13 million.

"Catfish was a unique case," says Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' $170,000-a-year pitching property. "You can't expect any recurrence like that. It's a case of supply and demand."

Seaver, the Mets' three-time Cy Young winner and maybe the best pitcher in baseball, can speak sympathetically of the case because he might find himself in a similar situation.

Asking a three-year $800,000 contract, Seaver failed to sign before the March 10 deadline. The Mets re-wired his contract,

Japan Crushes Norway

OSLO (AP) — Japan beat Norway 3-2 Monday night and won in total goals 8-7 after two games in a pre-world championships warm-up ice hockey international match.

The first game Sunday night was tied 5-5.

Japan and Norway will play in the Group B of the championships starting in Switzerland later this week.

The suggestion that rich owners will collar the market and make fares of the various races also is illogical. It hasn't happened. Owner Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox can't be expected to try to sign $100,000-a-year men for every position.

"The first year will be a tense one and the second could be hectic," says Lee MacPhail, the personable and sharp-minded president of the American League. "But if we can live through two years then, with our eight-year reserve plan in effect, I feel sure the game will stabilize."

"But right now we are entering a sort of twilight zone. Nobody is sure what will happen."

It's Final: Hoosiers Are No. 1

By The Associated Press

Indiana is No. 1 in the final Associated Press college basketball poll of the 1975-76 season, a position the Hoosiers fans have been claiming all along.

St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca agrees.

"They deserve all the accolades they received this year," Carnesecca said after the burl Hoosiers' coach, Carnesecca's Indiana 76-70 Saturday in the opening round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's post-season tournament. "They just managed to like no other team."

It was the first time since 1953 that Indiana captured the top spot in the AP poll. Then, the Hoosiers were led by Doc Schuland and Bo'oy Leonard. It also was the last time Indiana captured the NCAA title.

Be A Loser With The Trim Clinic

If you've never been losing weight, cheer up! There's hopes for you at the Trim Clinic located on Hwy. 436 at Millland Ave., in Altamonte Springs. Under the strict direction of Ann Dellato director of the clinic, Diane Falstead counselor and two registered nurses you will receive individual instruction, supervision and the attention necessary to achieve optimum weight control and loss.

Trim treats your individual weight problem. No exercise, no starvation diets, no diet candies, no criticism and no public humiliation.

"At Trim, you'll get what you need: professional advice, personalized diet, weekly weight loss monitoring, motivational assistance, weekly vitamin supplements, personal counseling.

All personnel at Trim are professionals, not amateurs dabbling in fields foreign to their training. Join the losing team at Trim Here are just a few of the many success stories to Trim's credit.

Rosalie Childress lost 18 1/2 lbs. in a little less than 6 weeks. She had tried Weight Watchers and actually gained weight. Low calorie diets, acupuncture, hormone shots — the whole bit. Nothing helped till she came to Trim Clinic. She began her 10 week program at 143 lbs. and now she weighs 124 lbs., and her goal is 120. Over a 4 inch loss in her stomach, 3 inches in the bust, 2 in the hips and 2 in the waist went along with her program. Her dress size went from 16 to a 12. "My husband and I are delighted" states Rosalie. Margaret Ostrander is 22 lbs. lighter since Jan '76. thanks to the Trim team. She too tried Weight Watchers with no avail. Margaret really appreciated the doctors thorough physical and recommendations before starting her 10 wk. program since she has hypoglycemia. Margaret started off at 180 lbs. She's now down to 156 and has set her goal at losing 30 more lbs. The loss of weight paid off with immediate results showing in her face. "I look and feel terrific!" states Margaret. "I do a lot more now, and my outlook on life has changed" exclaims Margaret happily. She's not afraid of being on her own to maintain her weight after she achieves her goal. She feels Trim's maintenance program and their Behavior Modification workshops have helped her realize her reasons for overeating.

Willie Wright is a slim trim man thanks to Trim Clinic. Willie weighed 180 lbs. and set a goal for himself of 150 lbs., and he surpassed it by losing 31 1/2 lbs. Willie thinks the program is fun, and recommends it to anyone "who wants to lose weight without damaging their health."

Ralph Rendslend has been going to Trim Clinic only 3 weeks and has already lost 34 1/2 lbs. Weighing in at 214 lbs. he is now down to 179 1/2 and has set his goal for 185.

Lois R. Hollingsworth reports, "It's a great program. It is the first time I've been on a diet without getting shaky or irritable. I have more energy than I had before going on the program which I need with my busy schedule."

Both John and Tilly Torres have been on the Trim

Some sights to see while in London? On a grey day, the majesty of the British House of Parliament, standing in the heart of London, seems especially important. The Thames River and Westminster Abbey, the 323 ft. Victoria Tower; the Clock Tower which houses Big Ben — these are all fine for grey days. On sunny days it's possible to see all sorts of castles and gardens in London. Compton Wynnyates, a monument to the Elizabethan age, which rises up beyond fine gardens of flowers, sculptured fountains and fruit trees. On any day, a trip to London verifies much of America has sprung.

NFL To Tell Memphis 'No'

SAN DIEGO (AP) — National Football League officials are expected to solve one of their problems by turning down the Memphis bid for a franchise in 1976, but still have a host of other controversies in front of them today including the "Rozelle Rule."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said that he expects legal obstacles against the controversial compensation rule named for him might be eliminated if the owners and players get together on a new overall contract.

There hasn't been a player-owner pact in two years.

Although a judge in Minneapolis ruled the compensation issue was not negotiable, Rozelle said, "That's one of the things that could be taken up in collective bargaining. And it might be the key to what happens after that."

"Some of the players have indicated they feel there is a need for a structure... that they want modification. When owners and players start this collective bargaining right after these meetings, it depends on how it goes."

Rozelle said he thought it would be possible the courts and maybe Congress will implement a collective bargaining agreement.

On the opening day of NFL meetings the actions were routine with no definite agreements.

John Bassett, the millionaire Canadian who owned the Memphis Grizzlies of the now-defunct World Football League, said he planned to petition the NFL to be admitted as its 29th member. Bassett ran into opposition and needs 21 affirmative votes on his petition. He is the man who signed Larry Coonka, Paul Warfield and Jim Kick award from the Miami Dolphins and they are still under the corporation that staged World Football League competition in Memphis.

Rozelle was one of the cities top-most in the list for expansion, alluded to negative aspects of the current application.

"Expansion is a form of dilution," he said. "When things are relatively solid, clubs don't look at negatives."

This time, however, the negatives include the continuing problems of legal actions that have gone against the league and the failure to gain a new master contract with the players' association.

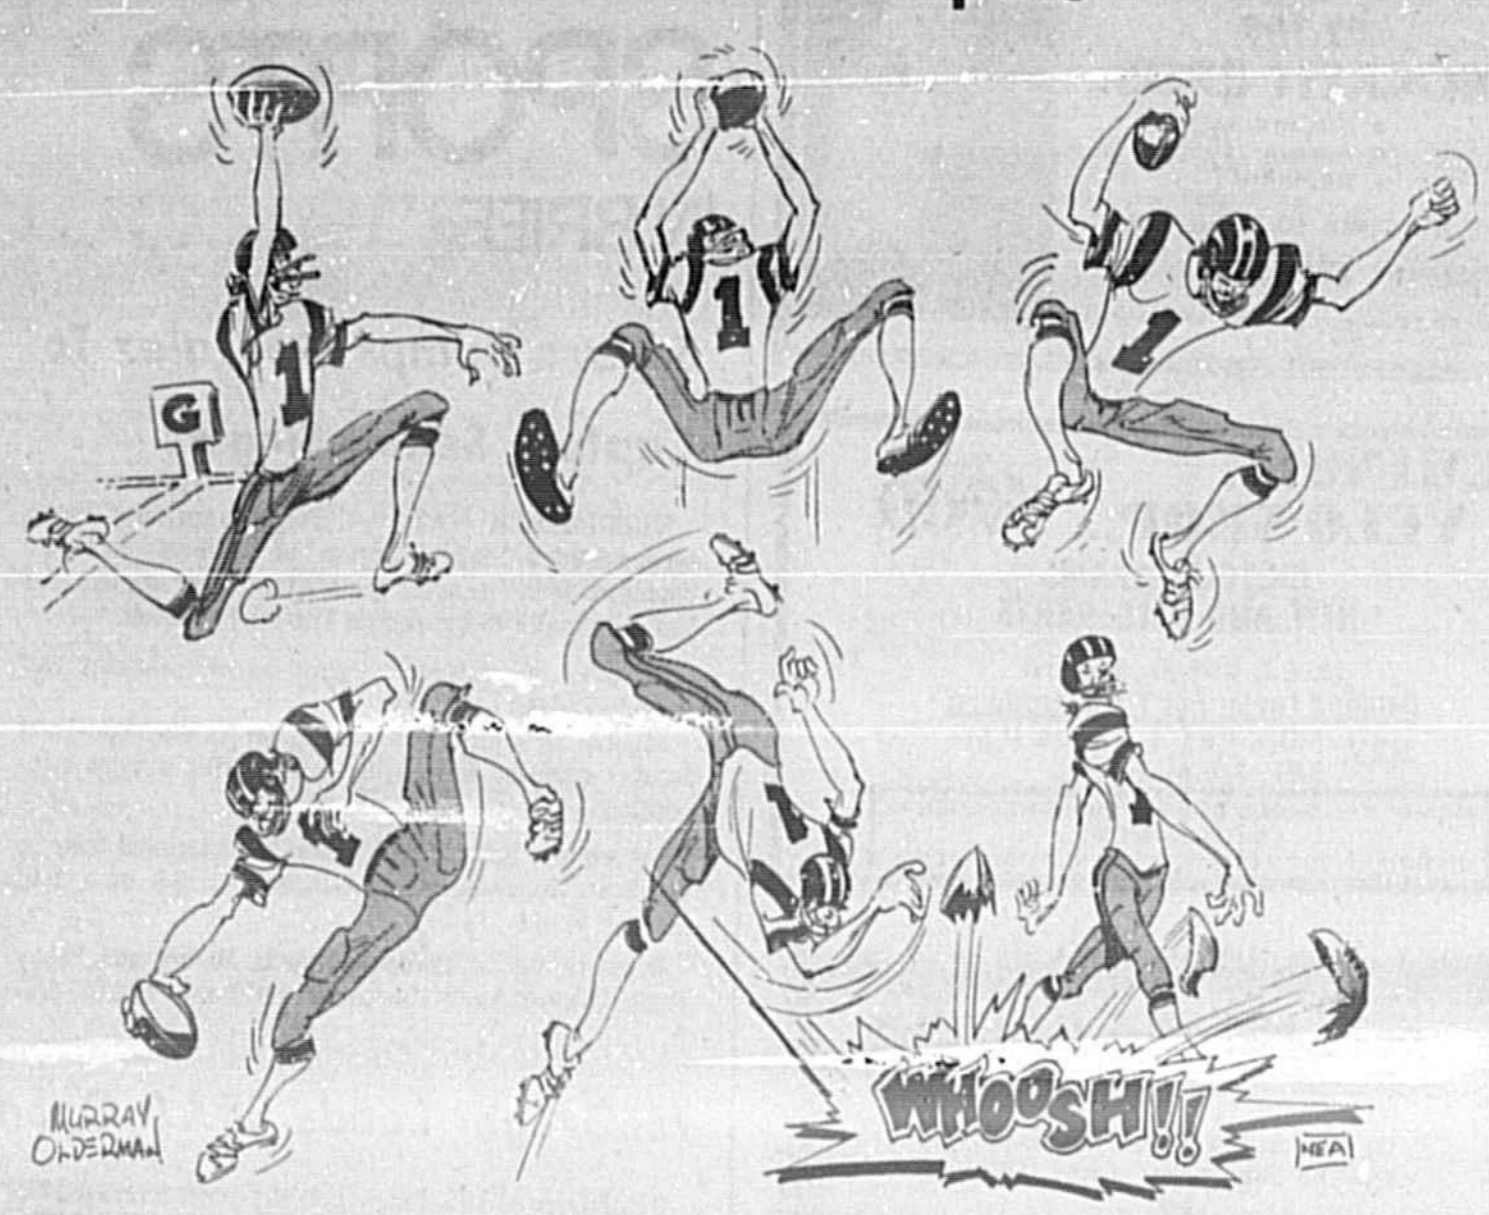

Seattle and Tampa Bay have not yet been stocked from the expansion draft of current players, nor has the collegiate draft been held.

Rozelle said both are expected within the next three weeks.

He also reported that television viewing of Sunday doubleheaders and Monday games would be six per cent and other football television up three per cent from the 1974 total of 10,236,222.

However, for all 269 games played, including 79 preseason, 182 regular season and eight World Football League, said he planned to petition the NFL to be admitted as its 29th member. Bassett ran into opposition and needs 21 affirmative votes

Donation Proposal Tabled

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The Seminole County Board of Realtors Tuesday tabled a resolution supporting the county commission's practice of seeking "voluntary" cash contributions from builders and developers for capital needs including school sites, roads and traffic signals.

The action came on the heels of remarks made by the board's board of realtors' legislative committee and wife of Seminole County Commissioner Richard Williams, urged support for continuing the program, saying stopping the contributions will raise property taxes.

Lamar Williams, an associate realtor, member of the board of realtors' legislative committee and wife of Seminole County Commissioner Richard Williams, urged support for continuing the program, saying stopping the contributions will raise property taxes.

Mrs. Williams said the county currently has $5 million worth of commitments promised by land developers and builders on the books.

"Zoning already approved would increase Seminole's population from the current 140,000 to 300,000," she said, adding the county has received more than $200,000 in donations from developers and builders at this time at the rate of $300 per apartment unit and $200 per home built unit.

Deputy Sheriff Beaten, Robbed

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Police and sheriff's detectives today said they have no suspects or leads in the robbery and beating of Deputy Sheriff Vann Stuart Tuesday night at his Sanford residence by burglars who escaped with several handguns, apparently leaving their handcuffed victim for dead.

Stuart, 27, managed to stumble from his 200 E. 24th St. residence to a neighbor's home a half hour after the attack and police were called.

A spokesman at Seminole Memorial Hospital said this morning that Stuart was listed in good condition with several deep lacerations on the back of his head.

Investigators said the plain clothes civil division deputy apparently surprised the burglars, two white men dressed in tee-shirts and jeans, when he arrived at the residence, where he lives alone, about 8:30 p.m.

However, detectives said they haven't discounted the possibility that the assailants, armed with pistols — a 9 mm automatic and a .38 caliber revolver, possibly equipped with a silencer — may have been waiting for the deputy to come home.

Sheriff John Polk said Stuart was a sheriff's radio dispatcher for several months in 1969, served in the U.S. Army, and then returned to the department as a deputy in March 1973. "I don't think the men knew he was a deputy," Polk said. "I believe he just came home and surprised the burglars who were ransacking his house."

Officials said Stuart was a vice squad agent for a short time, then became a uniform deputy and for the last two years has been assigned to the civil division.

Police said Stuart parked his sheriff's department car in front of his garage and entered his residence by the back door to find that the front door of the house had been entered by hand and the glass shattered.

Quiet Court

Basketball courts are, for the most part, forgotten in the spring, when a young man's fancy traditionally turns to — among other things — baseball. So the nets are left to swing in the gusty March breezes, waiting forlornly for next season.

Utility Hearing Opposed

Winter Springs city attorney Gary Massey was to seek an injunction in a circuit court hearing this afternoon to stop a Florida Public Service Commission hearing in a utility rate increase request by North Orlando Water and Sewer Corp., a subsidiary of Florida Gas Co.

Massey filed a lawsuit Tuesday afternoon in circuit court at Sanford seeking to block the 9:30 a.m. Thursday hearing, set for Winter Park. The private utility has asked the Public Service Commission for a 112 per cent rate increase to fund increased operating costs and system expansions.

The private utility has asked the Public Service Commission for a 112 per cent rate increase to fund increased operating costs and system expansions. The city hopes, by the lawsuit, to establish that the city has jurisdiction in any rate increases requested by any public utility within its boundaries and not the state utility regulatory agency.

While the city struggles with the PSC over legal questions, Winter Springs residents are protesting the proposed rate hike. A petition urging the utility company to find an alternative to rate increases for obtaining working capital is being circulated in the Winter Springs area, and car pools to the PSC hearing are being organized.

Large scale canvassing of the 1,100 residents affected by the proposed rate increase is planned and organizers are aiming for signatures from every customer. More than 200 indignant residents attended a Saturday morning meeting at Winter Springs City Hall to protest the proposed rate hike.

Handing Over the Money

Kay Jesse, chairman of the second annual Women's Mini Golf Tourney presents a $1,500 check to Roger E. Seney, treasurer of the Deltona Golf. The money will be added to Gold Spenders Fund for worthy area non-profit organizations.

Beginning in the next school year, the school system will provide a teacher and a portable building, while the county will be expected to develop and maintain $5,000 worth of nature trails.

By the 1980-1981 school year, school officials expect to provide four teachers, one aide and a program administrator. The county will be expected to provide a parks director, a secretary and two park specialists.

Nature Center Slated For Big Tree East

The nature center is scheduled to get underway in September, Mrs. Palmer said. Mrs. Palmer, the coordinator for science and environmental education, said the education program presently is designed for fifth graders.

In attendance at the meeting were School Supt. William P. Laver, Asst. Supt. Dan Deags and School Board Chairman Robert Feather. Though Feather was late in arriving he told the commission, "We appreciate it very much."

Mrs. Palmer explained school officials will just receive a portion of the park in conjunction with the county. The land was not leased, as such, but an interlocal agreement will be drawn up.

The motion to approve the concept was made by Commissioner Richard Williams and seconded by Commissioner Sid Vilhen Jr. "We need to put that land to work," commented Vilhen.
