Guerrilla Ambush
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Guerrillas killed 24 Thai soldiers and militiamen in a weekend ambush in a sparsely populated area of northeast Thailand, the Communist Suppression Command reported today. Authorities said three terrorists told a patrolling militiaman that a Communist band was attacking a nearby militia post and help was needed badly. Two trucks and a jeep with more than 30 troops were sent to the rescue, and the guerrillas opened fire as they approached the camp. Reinforcements arrived by helicopter after the guerrillas disappeared.

Citizens Hold Key Oil Use Must Somehow Decrease

COPLEY NEWS
The federal government may have been surprised at how readily the major airlines agreed to cut back their operations to conserve jet fuel and thus help relieve the pressure on the nation's petroleum supplies. Their response surely had more than a little to do with the fact that airline traffic has been in a slump. On many routes planes have been flying half-empty anyhow. The airlines can operate more efficiently by consolidating flights and putting more passengers aboard each plane.

This is little comfort to travelers who now will find fewer flights to choose from when they are making a trip, and even less comfort to hundreds of airline employees who will be temporarily laid off. This is an example, and a relatively mild one, of the economic losses and inconvenience for individual Americans that can be caused by fuel shortages. How deeply business, industry and our personal lives may be affected by fuel problems in the months to come will depend on Middle Eastern politics and whether Old Man Winter is in a good mood or bad.

It makes relatively little difference whether 100 people fly between New York and Chicago in one airplane or two, as long as the airline manages to get them there. Thus air travel became the handiest target for reducing the amount of fuel consumed in meeting our nation's transportation needs. It would be a far different story if the government tried to "ground" the second car in American garages, or to limit other transportation services. When we consider the task of bringing about a significant reduction in the amount of fuel used for heating and electricity across the nation, it is hard to decide where to start.

William Simon, chairman of the President's oil policy committee, has noted that Americans are using petroleum at a rate of 17 million barrels a day, and with an "all-out effort" at energy conservation this might be reduced by 3.3 million barrels a day. Since the oil we import from North Africa and the Middle East amounts to about 1.1

million barrels of daily consumption, this would be more than free us from being at the mercy of uncertainties in the Arab world.

Can we achieve anything approaching the all-out effort Mr. Simon envisions? As far as energy is concerned, the American people have become spendthrifts over the years. To make a penny-pinch out of a profligate spender overnight is a major job of character reform. Circumstances are forcing such rehabilitation upon us.

Latin American Policy
Nixon Sets New Ground Rules
COPLEY NEWS
In recent days the attention of Dr. Henry Kissinger has been diverted to more immediate matters, but just before the war in the Middle East broke out the secretary of state had called for a serious re-examination of our relationships with Latin America.

Deliberately keeping the discussion broad at the outset, Dr. Kissinger proposed a hemispheric policy "designed by all Americans for all the Americas." He requested suggestions from other countries on how best to proceed to achieve that goal.

A new Latin American policy obviously is needed by the United States of America, but not one which is designed, as Dr. Kissinger suggests, on the thought that the Americas are homogeneous. President Nixon himself recognized that when he addressed Congress on U.S. foreign policy last May 3. Then, he too, was diverted by other things.

At that time the President said that our previous Latin American policies contained at least two basic flaws. First, he said, the United States tends to take its Latin American neighbors for granted. Second, our policy always has begun with the premise that all of the nations in Central and South America are irretrievably linked to us by commerce and by friendship. With these two observations, the President has given his nations on the American continent a foundation of which to be proud. It is true that our ties with a number of Latin American nations have been less binding than their ties with Europe. Sharing a hemisphere has had little impact on fundamental differences in language, culture and temperament.

To be sure Proxmire didn't find out what was going on, Haldeeman sent stern instructions to GSA in a memo marked "CONFIDENTIAL/EYES ONLY." "As far as the gardeners," directed Haldeeman, "they will be reduced in number and the entire responsibility picked up by assigning one gardener to the Secret Service in place of Brigido Damián Garcia, who is now on the payroll, and moving Garcia to the owner's personal payroll."

No detail was too small for Haldeeman's attention. He added: "Kalmbach feels that we do not need a housekeeper on a continuing basis, and that we can leave this way it is, with the daily check being made as it is now, and the dusting, etc., required for readying the house to be carried out by our own crew just prior to a visit."

Taxpayers 'Mowed'
Nixon's Lawns
by Jack Anderson
WASHINGTON — Mowing the lawn and trimming the hedges at San Clemente and Biscayne retreats became affairs of state for top presidential advisers who saw to it that the taxpayers got clipped too.

In letters and memos now in our possession, Nixon aides, confident that their prose would never be seen outside the President's tight circle, juggled the work schedules and the payrolls of the gardeners to make sure the public paid.

The White House and the General Services Administration has insisted that most of this work was done in-house. Our investigation suggests the main purpose, as it would be with any other home owner, was to keep the grass short and the flowers blooming.

Beginning in September 1969, the White Landscaping Company was selected by GSA to manure the presidential greens and grounds at San Clemente for $3,350 a month.

Economy Wave
Early in 1970, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked for an accounting of the public money that was being poured into President Nixon's vacation spas.

This touched off a sudden economy wave on the gardening staff. H. R. Haldeeman, the top presidential aide, was fired in the great tremors of the Watergate scandal, held an urgent discussion with Herbert Kalmbach, the President's lawyer who was keeping an extrajugal eye on the White House.

To make sure Proxmire didn't find out what was going on, Haldeeman sent stern instructions to GSA in a memo marked "CONFIDENTIAL/EYES ONLY." "As far as the gardeners," directed Haldeeman, "they will be reduced in number and the entire responsibility picked up by assigning one gardener to the Secret Service in place of Brigido Damián Garcia, who is now on the payroll, and moving Garcia to the owner's personal payroll."

No detail was too small for Haldeeman's attention. He added: "Kalmbach feels that we do not need a housekeeper on a continuing basis, and that we can leave this way it is, with the daily check being made as it is now, and the dusting, etc., required for readying the house to be carried out by our own crew just prior to a visit."

The contract with White Landscaping was cancelled a week later on orders from Kalmbach and a gardener was hired by the Secret Service from the landscaping company for $1,092 a month.

Poor Garcia, who apparently was paid less, was employed directly by the President but took his orders from the Secret Service's gardener.

White Landscaping didn't suffer in the deal but simply wound up with a new Coast Guard contract, where Proxmire would be less likely to detect it. The company was hired by the Coast Guard to trim the lawn around the Nixon staff offices for $2,477 a month.

Government Pushes TV Antitrust Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department wants to go further and ban in-house production of entertainment programs. Questions about the motives of the court action were renewed by the disclosure of White House memos proposing pressure tactics against the networks and other news media the administration considered unfair.

However, Justice Department sources say that President Nixon's well-known antipathy toward the networks actually delayed the suits. The antitrust division had been preparing the cases since the mid-1960s but two attorneys general, William F. Rogers in the late 1950s and Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach in 1964, decided not to file the suits.

After Nixon took office, Richard W. McLaren was installed as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division. At some point, he recommended to then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell that the suits be filed. Sources said that Mitchell demurred for fear that the action "would be seen as an attempt to muzzle the press."

That was at the time that former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was harshly criticizing the news media. "In the 18 months since the suits were filed, the department has taken no legal action against news programming and sources say none is in the works."

William Purkey will speak to teachers and administrators of the Seminole County Schools Friday, at the Seminole High School Auditorium. Purkey is professor of psychological foundations of education at the University of Florida at Gainesville.

NYC Firemen On Jobs
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A special panel empowered to impose binding arbitration starts a review today of a contract dispute which sparked the first full-scale strike by firemen in New York City's history.

The five-hour walkout ended Tuesday when city officials and leaders of the 10,900-member Uniformed Firefighters Association, who had submitted a court no-strike order, agreed to delay the dispute to a three-man impasse panel.

Fire Chief John T. O'Hagan termed the strike "almost totally effective" and said it had placed the city "in a condition of imminent peril."

The head of the firemen's union, Richard J. Vizzini, said he called his men back to duty because of "the gravity of the situation and because of the responsibility and dedication of fire fighters."

LYMAN HIGH HOSTS BANDS

Deltona Club Sponsoring Lectures

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent
The area of behavior modification with children and the effects of media violence on children.

Fourth and final lecture is scheduled for March 21, 1974 with Dr. Albert T. Craig, Professor of Education at FTU, speaking on "Education: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." Dr. Craig was the founding president of Valencia Jr. College, now the Valencia Community College in Orlando.

All speakers are well qualified to discuss subjects they will explain in their respective talks. At the close of each lecture, there will be a question and answer period. These lectures are being held to help educate the adults, not only parents of students, but all adults in aiding the youth of today in their education, in the many problems that confront them in this changing world of ours and to learn how they, the adults, can cope with those changes and how it might affect the coming generation.

Tickets will be sold only in a complete series of four lectures. However, price is very nominal. However, if one who has purchased a series ticket cannot attend one or two of them she may lend her ticket to another for that evening.

For tickets or further information call any of the following in Deltona: Mrs. John Hall, ticket chairman or Mrs. P. Munk, 789-2463; Mrs. R. Stowe at home; or Mrs. Charles Edwards (Fannette) of The Herald, at 634-8533.

Mrs. F. Rainier Visiting Relatives
The Donald Rainier family is enjoying a visit from his mother, Mrs. Florence Rainier of Bloomsburg, Pa. Mrs. Rainier is the mother of 10 children and Donald is the oldest. She also has 27 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Donald and his wife have seven children and three grandchildren. Rowena, the oldest daughter and her husband James W. Davis Jr., and son William, reside in Winter Springs.

Mrs. Rainier plans to remain in the Sanford area for the next month and is enjoying seeing all of the grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Rainier, along with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rainier, who live on West First St. have been visiting family members and plan to see that their visitor does some sightseeing too. She will remain in the area for the next month.

Area Activities

FESTIVAL OF FELLOWSHIP
The United Methodist Women of First United Methodist Church Sanford will hold their annual bazaar Friday Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This year they are calling the event a "Festival of Fellowship."

A complete chicken dinner will be served between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, corner of Fifth and Magnolia. Fast service is promised for those on a noon-lunch hour. Tickets are available from the Church office, from Methodist Women or at the door.

Four Bazaar Booths will display items for sale, they are "Trash and Treasures" (dishes used clothing etc.) "Country Store," (mostly baked goods); "The Garden" and "Crafts For Christmas."

Members of Mildred Babcock's oil painting class from Adult Education at Seminole Junior College are displaying some of their paintings in the Art's Corner of Seneca during November. There are landscapes, still life, portrait and abstracts in the exhibit.

Mrs. Babcock has taught in the adult program for about nine years and is a well known Sanford artist.

Of the 26 members of the class some had never had a brush in hand before beginning the course with Mrs. Babcock.

All find it a fascinating and rewarding hobby. The group meets on Tuesday and Thursday from 9-12 in the adult sector of SJC. The stress is on individual style and the student sets his own pace. Members take field trips during the course, enjoying the out of doors and using Mother Nature's palette of beautiful colors.

Vesco Faces Extradition To States

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Robert Vesco, the fugitive financier who spirited three sun-baked islands and Costa Rica while evading U.S. warrants, has been arrested and ordered to appear at an extradition hearing next week. Vesco was arrested Tuesday in his office at the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank by Asst. Bahamas Police Commissioner John Crowley. Officials said the arrest was made on a U.S. warrant charging Vesco in a fraud case involving funds embezzled from a Vesco-headed firm.

Pakistan Leaves SEATO
BANGKOK (AP) — Pakistan withdrew on schedule today from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, leaving the 15-year-old alliance with six active members and a seventh that is about to quit. Pakistan, one of the three Asian members in the alliance John Foster Dulles forged against Communist China, had not participated in SEATO's military maneuvers since 1967, and its participation in civilian programs diminished after the 1971 war with India in which East Pakistan became Bangladesh. It gave the required year's notice of withdrawal last November, and France is quitting next June 30 after being inactive for years. The remaining SEATO members are the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Britain, Thailand and the Philippines.

Soviets Issue Warning

MOSCOW (AP) — Defense Minister Andrei Grechko told the Red Square crowd at the annual anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution that "successes have been achieved in the relaxation of international tension," but he warned against "reactionary imperialist forces in the world which oppose the process of détente, are for increasing the arms race and are trying to revive the spirit of the cold war." New weapons shown in the military parade for the first time included a small, low-flying tank for air-to-air use with an antiracket rocket on top of its short canon and a SAM6 antiaircraft missile like one which the Israelis captured in the October war and turned over to the United States for study.

Montreal Transit Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal's 3,200 bus drivers and subway operators struck Canada's largest city for 24 hours today while they studied a new contract which one union official said would give them an average wage increase of 22.3 per cent by July 1974 and $700 in retroactive pay increases. The union members, whose average weekly pay is $170, were to vote on the contract tonight.

Vietnam Rice Seizure Believed Aim Of Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence analysts believe identified Communist attacks in South Vietnam are aimed primarily at seizing the important rice crop. These sources said that documents captured by the South Vietnamese indicate the Communist command has not yet ordered a general offensive. However, analysts said, such an offensive could come early next year.

Goldwater: Choose Resignation

ELLENBURG, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says if President Nixon must choose between impeachment proceedings and resignation, he should resign. "If it ever gets to that point, I think the President would be the very first person to wake up some day and decide, 'This has gone far enough,'" the Arizona Republican told newsmen while at Central Washington State College for a speech on Tuesday. But Goldwater said he did not foresee such a likelihood of this dilemma. Asked whether he would be willing to become vice president if President Nixon were to step down and Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford became president, Goldwater replied, "Sure, anybody would take it."

Balloonist Dunked

GWYNN ISLAND, Va. (AP) — Magazine publisher Malcolm Forbes has completed his cross-country balloon trip with a dunk in the icy waters of Chesapeake Bay. But Forbes, 54, said after the watery landing Tuesday that he is far from concerned he had made it to the East Coast. The publisher and his son, Bobby, 24, landed their 65-foot hot air balloon in waist-deep water just southeast of this island off Virginia's mainland. They were picked up by a fisherman. Forbes left Coos Bay, Ore., Oct. 4 in his bid to become the first person to cross the continent in a hot air balloon.

TV Antitrust Action Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is continuing antitrust action against the three commercial television networks despite fears that the public may question its motives. The government contends that the networks have illegally monopolized the production of TV entertainment programs and seek a court order prohibiting the networks from producing their own shows.

Democrats Win Post 'Gate Election In New Jersey And Four Big Cities

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF AP Political Writer

Democrats scored strongly in off-year elections with a Mariner mission, scheduled for a November launch. Model depicts the 1,100-pound spacecraft's scheduled close approach — 833 miles — to Mercury in the next March 1974. Also on the itinerary is a 3,200-mile approach to Venus, with the spacecraft's television cameras and scientific instruments expected to add greatly to present knowledge of the mysterious cloudy planet.

independent in a race with no Democratic candidate. Elsewhere, however, Republicans won few important races in the scattered off-year balloting Tuesday, a year after President Nixon's re-election landslide. One of the GOP's potential 1974 candidates, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, suffered a setback on a constitutional amendment proposal. His plan to limit future state spending and taxation trailed by nearly 300,000 votes with half the ballots counted and Reagan conceded defeat for the plan. "The Republican party has taken a smashing defeat across the nation," said Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. of New Jersey, who suffered one of the GOP's biggest setbacks in that state's gubernatorial race.

Californians Reject Spending Limit Plan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California voters rejected Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to put strict limits on how much the state could spend in the future and on how much it could tax them to finance its programs. While his name was not on the ballot, the vote was a defeat of sorts for the 58-year-old Reagan, who devoted most of his efforts this year to the tax control plan. With 12,819, or 90 per cent, of 14,237 precincts reporting, the proposed amendment to the state constitution was losing by 54.5 per cent to 45.5 per cent. There were 1,723,034 yes votes and 2,062,711 no votes. The proposal contained a formula intended to restrict spending to a percentage of the total personal income of state residents. The percentage is about 8.75 per cent this year, Reagan said. His proposal would have reduced it to 7 per cent over the next 15 years. "How can trying to reduce the people's taxes be a political defeat?" Reagan asked at a midnight news conference. "Naturally I wish we could have won, but I do not regret the attempt we made. "I look upon the campaign as a first step in alerting the people to the incredible rate of government growth," he said.

Nixon Seeks New Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is proposing a new energy policy which sources say will include a request for broad authority to increase domestic petroleum production and to decrease consumption. Specific measures were not revealed but Nixon was known to be considering such steps as imposing a nationwide highway speed limit of 55 miles per hour and ordering power plants to burn coal instead of oil or gas. The White House has said Nixon's new energy policy, which was to be unfolded today at a meeting with congressional leaders and in an evening broadcast to the nation, would probably include proposed legislation. An energy source said the legislation would likely seek specific new powers Nixon feels he needs to cope with the growing national fuel shortage. "The President was also expected to renew his appeal to the public for voluntary fuel conservation through lowering thermostat settings and driving less, but his top energy advisor, John A. Love, told newsmen Monday after a weekend meeting with the President that voluntary action just 'won't be enough.' Love previously advocated voluntary conservation, which he said could save up to 5 per cent of the nation's energy. But that was before last month's decision by the Arab oil nations to cut supplies to friends of Israel, threatening an estimated 14 to 21 per cent of the U.S. petroleum supply.

House Nears Approval On Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee is nearing final approval on Social Security legislation that would boost benefits by 10 per cent in mid-1974 and payroll deductions in January. The bill is before the Ways and Means Committee which Tuesday, approved 13-12 the Republican plan to raise the Social Security benefits and the payroll deduction tax base. However, final approval which would have sent the bill to the full House was delayed until today by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore. Ullman said he looks for a full House vote on the measure next week. Meanwhile, the House prepared to vote today on a bill that would temporarily raise the nation's debt ceiling from $465 billion to $478 through June 30, 1974. Unless Congress acts, the ceiling will automatically drop to its permanent level of $40 billion Nov. 30, at which time the national debt is expected to be about $467 billion.

GOV. RONALD REAGAN...Plan defeated

Market Basket Up, According To USDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — New government figures show it cost a family of four at least $40 per week to eat in September, up $3.30 in five months, even if the family bought plenty of beans and avoided expensive meat. The budget was compiled by the Agriculture Department according to a low-cost plan for a four member family whose income is between $4,000 and $8,000 per year. Under a "moderate" plan for a family making $8,000 to $10,000 a year, groceries in September cost $51.70 per week, compared with $47.80 last April. The new food cost figures were included Tuesday in a routine weekly publication "Food and Home Notes," which is sent upon request to daily and weekly newspapers. There was no official news release by the department. The three types of food budgets, for most household sizes, were up about nine per cent in September from last April. That covered five months during which the Nixon administration tried to curb soaring food prices through retail and wholesale ceilings. In another report Tuesday by the Outlook and Situation Board, the department said consumers cannot expect retail food prices to decline much during the remainder of 1973. The forecast was included in a summary of a report on the marketing and transportation situation to be issued later this month. Middlemen, including wholesalers and retailers, are currently trying to catch up from last summer when margins were squeezed by price controls. "As a result, retail costs for market basket foods will not fully reflect the expected decrease in returns to farmers in the fourth quarter," the report said. Officials said the retail price of a market basket of U.S. farm-produced food, which does not include imported products or seafood, cost an average annual rate of $1,064 during July-September. That was up seven per cent from the second quarter and 21 per cent above a year earlier.

SAVING ONIONS

The fall onion crop is plentiful. This means that there will be a variety of this all-purpose vegetable in supermarkets at reasonable prices again. If you use onions often it is a saving to buy them by the bag rather than one or two at a time. Onions will keep well if stored in a cool dry place in a container or bag that permits air circulation. Once cut put them in a plastic bag or covered bowl and place in the refrigerator. Chopped onions may be frozen.

Salad For Your Meals

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service
The salad portion of the meal is far too often a monotonous combination of less than crisp vegetables unimaginatively presented and flavored. Is it any wonder, then, that this part of the meal receives cool acceptance? ARTICHOKES STUFFED WITH GREEN PEA SALAD (Makes 4 servings)
1 1/2 cups mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon each: pepper, dill weed, oregano, dry mustard
1 package (10 ounces)

from green peas, cooked according to package directions, drained and cooled.
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons chopped onion
4 artichokes, prepared as directed for stuffing and chilled
Pimiento strips
Combine mayonnaise, lemon juice and seasonings; set aside. Combine peas, chopped egg, pickle relish and onion. Add enough of the mayonnaise mixture to moisten, about 1/4 cup. Stuff the prepared artichokes. Chill until ready to serve. Garnish with strips of pimiento and serve with remaining mayonnaise mixture for dressing.

SALADE DE LEGUMES ET FRAISES (Vegetable and Strawberry Salad)
1 head western iceberg lettuce
About 1/2 cup sliced cucumber, sliced
1/2 cup corn oil
1/4 cup white vinegar
2 tablespoons sliced orange or lemon rind
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon crumbled peppermint
Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in plastic crisper or bag. Cut enough cucumber slices into strips to yield 1 cup. Mix oil, vinegar, orange rind, sugar, salt, pepper, peppermint and onion in jar. Cut lettuce lengthwise into halves; place cut-sides down and shred finely across heart to yield 4 cups. Toss shredded lettuce in bowl with cucumber, strawberries and dressing. Spoon into compotes and serve at once. Makes eight servings.

1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cups halved strawberries
1/2 teaspoon anise seed
4 pounds fresh pork spareribs, cut into individual whole or half ribs
In a small mixing bowl thoroughly stir together the soy sauce, corn syrup, sherry, garlic, monosodium glutamate (if used), pepper, cinnamon, clove and anise. Pour this marinade over the ribs; cover and refrigerate about 3 hours.
Cover bottom of shallow roasting pan with a small amount of water to prevent drippings from scorching. Place ribs on rack in roasting pan, reserving marinade. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove pan from oven; remove ribs and rack and pour off wa-

BARBECUED SPARERIBS... With special marinade

Chinese-Style Ribs

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Dipping into a Chinese cookbook, a friend found an interesting marinade for barbecued spareribs and from it concocted her own recipe. When we tried the adaptation we thought it was delicious and easy to prepare and so we are passing it along to you.
CHINESE-STYLE BARBECUED SPARERIBS
2/3 cup soy sauce
2/3 cup light or dark corn syrup
1/3 cup dry sherry
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, if desired
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

ter and fat; return ribs to pan and brush with marinade. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Tightly cover pan with foil (or with roasting-pan cover if you have one) and bake 35 minutes, brushing with marinade twice. Remove foil (or other cover) and bake uncovered until crisp and tender—about 15 minutes longer.
Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry Delights

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Sneaking into the cranberry is here in its fresh form to make the most of. Whether cranberries are used in a stuffing for pork and baked apples, in a relish and salad, or in puddings and pies, they add tangy and refreshing flavor.

One good cook we know invented a recipe for Cranberry nut bars—very tasty on their own. These cookies are super when served the day they are baked but they may be kept overnight. They pick up a little moisture during the overnight stay but they still taste delicious.

CRANBERRY NUT BARS
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
2 eggs
1 cup flour, stir to aerate before measuring
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1/2 cup raisins, chopped
1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped
Confectioner's sugar, if desired
In a medium saucepan melt margarine, remove from heat, stir in sugar and molasses. Add eggs and beat until blended. In a bowl of an electric mixer thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and nutmeg; add to molasses mixture; stir to mix well. Stir in nuts, raisins and cranberries.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until top is golden-brown—20 to 25 minutes. Place pastries on rack to cool completely.

Cut into 3 by 1 inch bars in pan and remove with a small metal spatula; or turn out of pan and cut into bars. Before serving, if desired, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.
Makes about 27 bars.

Demand, Supply Factors

The shell game, even when played by the shrewdest, will never be as much fun or intriguing as the supply and demand game.

In discussing food prices, the economists say the free enterprise system will best allocate the resources to the production of items which the consumer places greatest value on.

Supply and demand? The economists say when there's plenty, the price will be relatively low. Goods are allocated to more consumers because of the low price.

As the supply dwindles, the price goes up, and as the price goes up there will be a greater supply, produced.

The recent floods brought on sad news forecasts for soybean crops. It was thought that there would be a short supply because by the time the waters would be receding it would be too late to plant soybeans. Worst than that; if, they said, farmers wait for the soybean planting deadline, it might be too late to plant supplemental crops.

The waters receded, soybeans were planted in the rich all left by the receding waters and there will be a record soybean crop!

The supply is affected by biological and economic factors, neither of which is always predictable or controllable.

Home economists have said it a million ways, proven it a thousand times, shop to reduce the portion cost of feeding your family. This could mean buying a very lean roast at a high price rather than a fat roast with fewer lean portions at a cheaper price. They continue to say compare. Are prepared foods cheaper for you or can you save on portion cost by preparing food yourself? Is your time worth more than your money?

Marketing specialists know about quality, quantity, constant supply and many other factors that make it profitable to be in the food business. They know the hazards of the supply and demand if, despite everything, they know people must eat, somebody must grow it, somebody must handle and process it, and somebody must sell it. Yet, everybody must profit or benefit from services they provide.

A Food Book For Arthritics

By Gaynor Maddox

Every year nutritional and medical scientists know more about the causes and possible cures for arthritis, suffered in some form by 15 million Americans. To date they have not been able to solve the problem but there is definite hope.

From a new paperback "Food and Arthritis" (Popular Library, $1.25), expressing the best research of America, comes this rather upsetting advice—upsetting but hopeful.

Medical prescriptions of vitamin supplements may bring the patient's diet up to nutritional requirements. But these supplements will not affect the arthritic condition. No, the vitamin supplements have blind faith in vitamin supplements as a means to ease their pain.

Experience has shown that a large percentage of women crippled with arthritis have been able to continue as homemakers with the help of expert guidance.

Eloise Davison's Eggplant and Sausage Fondue
Salad Bowl French Bread
Fruit Compote Beverage
ELOISE DAVISON'S EGGPLANT AND SAUSAGE FONDUE

The donor of this unusual and delicious recipe is well remembered as director of the Home Institute of the old N.Y. Herald Tribune.

1 eggplant, about 1 1/2 pounds
1 cup boiling water
1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted
1/2 pound bulk pork sausage
1 1/2 cups soft bread cubes
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
Pare eggplant and dice—there should be about 2 quarts.
Boil water until tender-drain and mash there should be about 1 1/2 cups. In a medium saucepan scald milk; add sausage and break up fine. Stir together the bread cubes, baking powder and salt; add with onion to sausage mixture; mix well. Add eggplant and mix well. Turn into an ungreased 1 1/2-quart oblong glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 1/2 inches) or similar utensil; bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned and set—about 35 minutes. Cut into portions and remove with a wide spatula. Makes 6 small servings.

FRIED WHITING
This fish, usually available in the fall, is relatively inexpensive; it has a white and delicately flavored flesh.

4 small whiting, about 1 1/4 pounds
1 egg
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Fat for shallow or deep-frying
Have the heads and backbones removed from the fish. Wash and dry. In a shallow container with a fork or a small whisk, beat egg with salt and pepper just enough to combine yolk and white. Dip fish, one at a time, in egg and then in crumbs. Fry fish in shallow or deep fat heated to 355 degrees, until cooked through and browned. Serve at once; garnish with lemon wedges. Makes 2 servings.

GOOD DINNER
Chicken with Mushrooms and Rice
Johnnie Ross's Shredded Zucchini
Tomato Salad; Basil Dressing
Fruit
JOHNNIE ROSS'S SHRIMPED ZUCCHINI
4 medium zucchini, 1 1/4 pounds
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper, if desired
Cut a thin slice from each end of each zucchini and discard; scrub in cold water; do not pare. With narrow fleshy side against a coarse grater, and using long downward strokes, coarsely grate zucchini—there should be about 5 cups. In a 16-inch skillet over moderately low heat, melt butter; add zucchini, salt and, if used, the pepper; cook, stirring often, until wilted and hot; or cover tightly and simmer, stirring a few times, until wilted and hot; either way cooking should take only 1 to 1 1/2 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

GRAPE BAVARIAN CREAM
A make-ahead dessert.
2 envelopes unflavored
1/2 cup Concord grape drink
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped
1/2 cup Concord grape preserves
Sprinkle gelatin over grape drink and allow to soften for about 5 minutes. Scald milk and stir in sugar and salt. Add gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold into whipped cream. Turn into a 4-cup mold. Chill until firm. To serve, unmold on serving plate. Garnish with grape preserves. Makes 6 servings.

Talking Turkey: Wild Tom Is A Wise Bird

By HUGH WILLIAMSON
Copley News Service

That wise wild gobbler in the cedar tree is chuckling in his beard because he just learned that the breeders of commercial poultry have canceled the Curo Turkey Trot.

It is turkey time now, and the celebrants can have a bird for the holiday feast if they are willing to cash in some savings bonds or knock down a feathered prize in the woods, which might be unlikely.

No more, Mr. Morton. The wild turkey today is the wisest of birds.

Old-timers will tell you that he can see a hunter at 300 yards through a barn door and hear him farther than that in a blue norther.

There is no shortage of turkey tales. Howard Dodge, a wildlife authority, was just now telling me about a hunter who shot a turkey in the Texas hill country. And then the hunter, who obviously didn't know much about turkeys, began to worry.

He couldn't find any heard on the thing, so he figured he had clobbered an illegal hen. He hid it in the bushes and later confessed to his rancher-boss, who said, "Man, you have bagged the biggest turkey tom on this ranch."

At any rate, a ranch cook identified the fowl properly and cooked it perfectly.

Getting back to Curo, Tex.: the poultry people used to have what they called a Turkey Trot every once in a while to observe the fact that the area is one of the most prolific poultry producing towns anywhere.

BAR COOKIES ARE DELICIOUS... With currant jelly layers

Meringue Bars Are Take-Alongs

By CECELY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The following bar cookie recipe has been used for about 25 years by Mrs. Edith Dahne, a resident of Manhattan, Long Island, New York. She takes these cookies to neighborhood get-togethers where each participant brings a contribution toward the refreshments.

- EDITH DAHNE'S MERINGUE BARS
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
 - 2 eggs, separated
 - 1 cup unsifted flour, fork-stir to aerate before measuring
 - 1/2 cup currant jelly
 - 1/2 cup granulated sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
- In a medium mixing bowl cream butter and confectioners' sugar; beat in egg yolks; gradually beat in flour. Spread mixture evenly in bottom of ungreased rectangular baking pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches). Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 10 minutes.

Meanwhile beat jelly with a fork or spoon to break up. In a small mixing bowl with clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff; beat in granulated sugar. 2 tablespoons at a time until meringue is very stiff and glossy and holds straight peaks; cans.

Spread jelly on hot baked crust. Drop meringue by heaping tablespoonfuls on jelly, spacing the spoonfuls about an inch apart. Very carefully spread meringue to cover jelly. Return to oven and continue baking until topping is lightly browned — about 25 minutes. Cool in pan on wire rack. Cut into 24 large or 48 small bars. Meringue will crack.

Tuna Pie For Health

- TUNA PIE FULL OF HEALTH
- Crust:
- 1 cup cooked brown rice
 - 1 cup whole wheat flour
 - 1/3 cup sunflower seeds
 - 2 tablespoons wheat germ
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/3 cup salad oil
 - 1/3 cup milk

Mix cooked rice, flour, sunflower seeds, wheat germ, salt and pepper in a bowl. Stir in oil and milk. Roll out dough between two pieces of waxed paper to a 10-inch round. Remove top piece of waxed paper and turn pastry into a 9-inch pie plate. Remove second piece of waxed paper. Make rim on edge of crust. Bake in a 400° oven for 20 to 25 minutes, until lightly browned. Cool.

- Filling:
- 4 eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
 - 1 cup thawed frozen chopped broccoli
 - 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 cup chopped pared carrot
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Beat eggs with milk. Add tuna, broccoli, cheese, celery, carrot, salt and pepper; mix well. Turn into 9-inch pie shell. Bake in 350° oven for 1 hour or until top of knee inserted in center comes out clean.

At any rate, a ranch cook identified the fowl properly and cooked it perfectly.

Getting back to Curo, Tex.: the poultry people used to have what they called a Turkey Trot every once in a while to observe the fact that the area is one of the most prolific poultry producing towns anywhere.

But the last time they tried it, the birds quit after about a block. The commercial turkeys are meaty and heavy, but they can't trot worth a gobbler. Trot? They can't even walk out of the back forty.

So Curo came up with "The Great Turkey Gallop." You would not believe it if I were not quoting a reliable source, namely my old friend and colleague, Robert E. Ford, a Dallas newspaper hand, an impeccable chronicler of facts or what may sometimes seem

Vickie Babcock's Applesauce Raisin Bread

1/2 cup flour
1 tsp baking soda
1 tsp baking powder
1 tsp salt
1/2 cup cornmeal
1/2 tsp nutmeg
1 cup Quick Oats

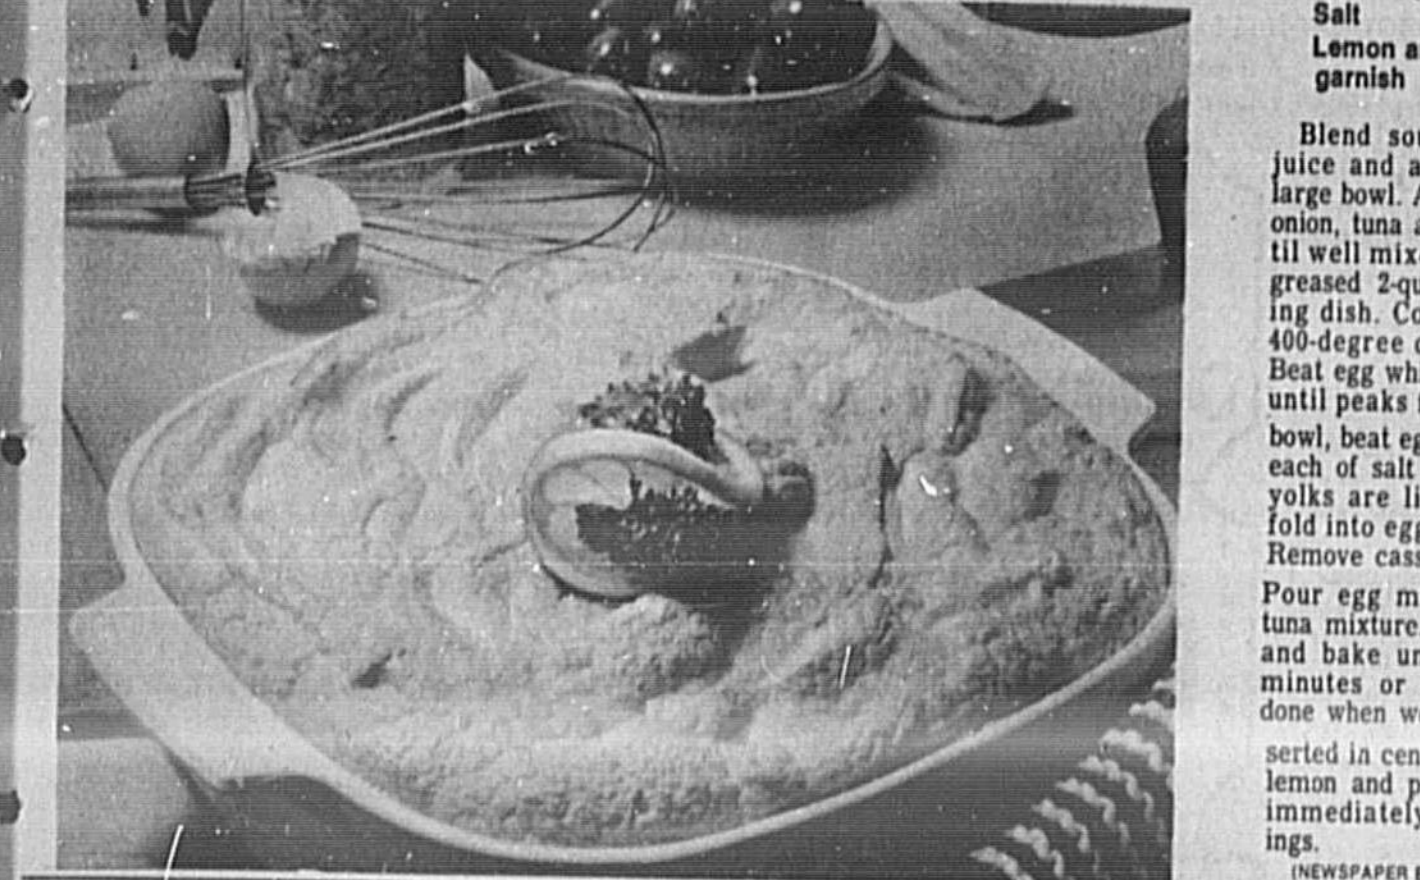

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1/3 cup salad oil
1 cup raisins

Combine dry ingredients. Add eggs, salad oil, and applesauce and stir till well combined. Stir in raisins and fill greased 9 x 5 x 3 loaf pan. Bake at 350° for one hour. (note: a cracked top is normal.) This recipe is from Vickie Babcock of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. She bakes with 57 ingredients because "it adds a lot of food value for the money."

Spanish Souffle, Ole!

By Allen Cairns
NEA Food Editor

Souffles come in many combinations and need not be picture-perfect to be taste-satisfying. A Spanish supper souffle combines olives, celery, tuna and rice for a very filling dish. Serve with a green vegetable and a fresh fruit salad.

- SPANISH SUPPER SOUFFLE
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) cream of chicken soup
 - undiluted 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - Pepper
 - 1/2 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
 - 1 cup sliced celery

Blend soup, milk, lemon juice and a dash pepper in large bowl. Add olives, celery, onion, tuna and rice. Toss until well mixed. Turn into ungreased 2-quart shallow baking dish. Cover and bake in 400-degree oven 25 minutes. Beat egg whites in large bowl until peaks form. In another bowl, beat egg yolks, and dash each of salt and pepper until yolks are light and fluffy; fold into egg white mixture. Remove casserole from oven. Pour egg mixture over hot tuna mixture. Return to oven and bake uncovered for 15 minutes or until eggs test done when wooden pick is inserted in center. Garnish with lemon and parsley and serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.

An Era Glitters 'Away'

By ELAINE COLONELLI
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD—Edith Head, the indomitable movie costume designer, shook her head sadly. "Hollywood used to be a lot of fun."

Remember when movie stars lived like characters out of a fairy tale? When housewives stood in matinee lines to see their favorite stars move through a Never-Never Land where everyone lived happily ever after?

Right in the middle of that glittering world stood Edith Head, her sketch pencil the magic wand that turned actresses into stars.

"You see, glamor was the essential ingredient in the early motion pictures.

"It was all fantasy, all escapism. There was no realism in Hollywood then. We didn't try to do things realistically," the Academy Award-winning designer said.

Costuming was a major ingredient in the fantasy. So what if Mae West dressed as a tight suit she couldn't move? Or if Carole Lombard's beaded gown weighed a ton? Or if Ginger Rogers' full-length milk-gown cost a king's ransom?

During the years of Hollywood's heyday, stars were used to the best of everything, Miss Head remembers. Luxury simply was accepted as a way of life. It may not have been practical or realistic, "but it was surely a lot more fun."

If ever there was a time when that old saying, "Clothes make the man (or woman)," was true, it was during the star era of the movies.

"The basis of those early motion pictures was that you can get anything you want out of life if you wear the right dress," Miss Head explained.

"Do you want a man? A happy marriage? A yacht? All the star had to do was wear the right dress, and she got what she wanted."

It was a formula that worked in movie after movie. And it worked in the lives of the stars themselves. Edith Head created the clothes that molded the images of stars from Gloria Swanson to Elizabeth Taylor. Even Grace Kelly caught the attention of her prince in an Edith Head gown.

But now the glitter of Hollywood has tarnished. "There is more reality in today's movies than there is in life," she said unapologetically. "I think people miss the glamor and fun."

Miss Head has saved a portion of that glamor in her collection of costumes worn by the movie greats.

They hardly are the sort of thing one would copy for personal wear. Some are downright unwieldy, restrictive and extravagant, Miss Head readily admits. That is the way they were intended to be. They are proof of all those ingredients that made up the glitter of the silver screen.

Does Miss Head have a favorite costume in the collection? "I suppose that if I had to name one, it would have to be the Mae West outfit. But I am like a woman with a lot of children. I love them all."

One reason for Mae West's special significance is that she was the first star Miss Head costumed. "And I'm still dressing her!"

Hollywood still keeps Miss Head busy. She works from her own bungalow at Universal Studios. One of her favorite projects at present is preparing costumes for two of the most beautiful men in Hollywood, Paul Newman and Robert Redford.

The circa 1930s costumes are for an upcoming movie, "The Sting."

The necessity of designing for both men and women is one peculiar aspect of movie costume designing, Miss Head said. She has relished the chance to work with such virile leading men as Cary Grant and Clark Gable.

In spite of her love of the extravagant elegance of the old Hollywood, Miss Head's own dress is a study in simplicity. She designs her own smartly tailored suits in quiet, neutral shades. Her hair is perennially drawn back in a prim bun. Her primary accessory is a necklace made of antique printed ivory disks. The disks were a "woman's ticket" for box seats at the theaters of Europe.

You May Never Survive Home

By JOHN SINOR
Copley News Service

Home is where you hang your hat. Home is also where you hang yourself, friends. The most dangerous place in the world is right in your own home.

More accidents happen there than anywhere else. (You could probably pinpoint it right down to the bathroom. As for time, pick any school day morning.)

I was handed a bottle of milk. "Taste this. Does it taste funny to you?" Well, there is no way for milk to taste right to me after I have been told it MIGHT taste funny. Just saying so automatically sours it for me.

I poured it down the sink. No courage. (Home is where most people accidentally poison themselves.) Any emergency hospital blotter will show you that home is a risky place to be. Home is where you fall down the stairs. Home is where the telephone cord tangles you by the legs.

The hospitals fill up with soapy patients who slipped in the bathtub at home. Don't leave any toys with wheels on the floor at home. They are dangerous. If a burglar should slip on one, he could sue a warren day last summer, the family went swimming in the pool next door. This distressed Kona the Wonder Dog who cannot stand being left alone.

Somehow, she climbed out of the upper deck and got up onto the roof. And there she stood, on top of a three-story house, looking down over the pool and barking at everybody. Naturally, everybody panicked. They rushed out of the pool and ran home to get the dog off the roof. One person fell on the sidewalk and skinned a knee.

Another popped himself on the head climbing onto the deck. The dog was rescued but there were two casualties to show how dangerous it is for dogs to run around on rooftops. Sometimes the best thing to do is go outside and sit in the backyard. Don't answer the phone. Don't open any mail.

Wholesale Answers Inflation

Copley News Service

You don't have to know somebody who knows somebody to get it wholesale. All you have to do is line up with one of the popular buying services springing up all over the country to help the inflation-weary fight today's 14-karat prices.

Chris Welles in the October Family Circle has called these main groups of wholesale services enabling more than the well-connected few to buy at wholesale.

The buying services operate on the principle that the more costs you can eliminate in getting the goods from the manufacturer to the buyer, the lower the price will be that you can afford to charge.

Also a group of buyers has a better chance to make a good deal with a manufacturer or dealer than a single buyer.

Usually only major brand name appliances such as TV sets, refrigerators, cameras and washing machines are handled by buying services. "You tell the buying service the make and model of the product you want," Welles says, "and the service provides you with instruction for buying the items from a participating dealer, either a wholesaler or retailer."

He found typical savings ran between 25 and 40 per cent off the official retail price and between 6 and 10 per cent over the wholesale price.

United Buying Service is listed as the largest and oldest of these services with 2.5 million members from 900 participating organizations, including the employees of AT&T and TWA.

Their chief rival is the National Association of Buying Services composed of a group of former United affiliates.

For the individual there are wholesale mail-order houses. "These," says Welles "are high volume, low margin versions of traditional mail-order firms who recruit members by mail at annual fees from $5 to $15."

Wholesale mail-order houses tend to specialize in smaller, less expensive items than buying services. Since they sell from their own stock, they also maintain a less extensive brand name selection.

Unity Buying Service Co. in Hicksville, N.Y., is mentioned as the largest of these wholesale houses with 67,000 members who pay $5 annual dues. They sell their goods at 25 per cent over the factory prices as listed in a confidential booklet accompanying the 400-page catalog.

Illustrated catalogs distributed by mail are the modus operandi of catalog showrooms, the fourth group discussed in Family Circle. says Welles, "you write the desired items and catalog numbers on an order slip and within a few minutes pick up the goods."

The newest form of wholesale selling mentioned by Welles are the warehouse outlets run by private entrepreneurs operating out of warehouses and tiny store fronts. There is no showroom display models, credit for delivery, and no repair services.

However, there are greater savings than you can find at other wholesale outlets. The most publicized wholesale warehouse outlet is Jamaica Gas and Electric which deals only with members of labor unions and civil servants.

Congress Hints Fast Approval Nixon Asks Emergency Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has asked Congress to give him emergency power to ration gasoline and oil, cut working hours, reduce highway speed limits, put the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time and suspend antipollution programs.

Congressional spokesmen predicted Nixon would get the powers quickly. The President said Wednesday he wants them by mid-December.

In a nationwide broadcast outlining his energy proposals, Nixon set 1980 as a target date for the United States to achieve energy self-sufficiency. He called for research and development programs rivaling the all-out efforts that developed the atomic bomb and "out-pace American astronauts on the moon."

The President also departed from his text to say he had "no intention of walking away" from his office despite some demands that he resign.

With petroleum heading for 10 to 17 per cent shortages because of Arab oil cutoffs, Nixon warned that the nation faces "the most acute shortage of energy since World War II."

Consumers of home heating oil must get through the winter with only 85 per cent of the fuel they used last year, Nixon said. Airline flights will be reduced 10 per cent through federal allocation of jet fuel, Nixon added.

Proposals At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at-a-glance are President Nixon's legislative proposals to conserve energy.

TRANSPORTATION
—Allow transportation agencies to adjust carrier schedules and service points after summary hearings.
—Lower speed limits on the nation's highways to 50 miles an hour.

POWER
—Open the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California to increased oil production.
—Impose "energy conservation fees or taxes," perhaps on the consumption of natural gas or the excessive use of electricity.

—Authorize the Federal Power Commission to suspend price regulation on new natural gas.
—Authorize the Atomic Energy Commission to grant without public hearings temporary operating licenses for up to 18 months for atomic power plants.

TIME
—Extend Daylight Savings Time throughout the year.

Congressional Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders have promised prompt action on most of all of the energy-saving measures requested by President Nixon in his address to the nation.

Senate Interior Chairman Henry M. Jackson said his committee would hold public hearings on emergency legislation today and would report a bill out by Friday. Senate approval could be expected next week, Jackson said.

On the House side, Democratic whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., predicted action on the President's proposals by the end of the week. "If he wants a bill, we'll give him a bill," said Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House subcommittee on power.

In his Wednesday night address, Nixon accused Congress of failing to act on any of

Property Tax Reform Proposed By CALNO

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Government Council of Altamonte Springs members Wednesday night voted unanimously to propose legislation to the Seminole Legislative delegation in January calling for tax reform in the county and throughout the state to solve the impact on roads, schools and municipal operations by rapid land development.

The group approved a plan submitted by Altamonte Springs Councilman Dan Dorfman that new houses be placed on the taxrolls immediately when occupied.

Casselberry Councilman Edith Duerr's suggestion that additional fees be collected when building permits are issued to provide for capital needs was also given the nod.

Dorfman said his plan patterned after New Jersey laws would have property owners pay taxes in advance immediately when they cause the impact on local government.

This would change current law state-wide which allows some homeowners to go as long as 27 months without paying taxes, Dorfman said.

Presently a house built after Jan. 1, 1973 would not be assessed for its full value until Jan. 1974 and taxes aren't collected until Nov. 1, 1974 and April, 1975. The money collected under Dorfman's suggestion would be used to provide services required.

Mrs. Duerr's proposed legislation would charge those seeking building permits for houses and apartments $500 per unit. Some $300 would be sent to the school board for school construction and the remaining $200 would be used for capital needs in the municipality.

Dorfman said it is obvious the problems suffered by local government due to the high growth rate are acute. He said attorneys have told him the county's plan to collect money through impact zoning is unconstitutional. "For someone to get a 26-to-27 month free tax ride is untenable," he said.

Mrs. Duerr said while the Dorfman plan is good, additional money is needed for new school construction. "It is unfair to penalize long-time property owners through overcrowded schools and increased tax needs caused by land development," she said.

HISTORICAL LONGWOOD HOTEL SOLD
THE 90-YEAR-OLD Longwood Hotel, bought in October last year for approximately $90,000 and renovated at a cost of $60,000 by Mrs. Grace Bradford (l), was sold Wednesday to Georges St. Laurent (r), chairman of American Wood Products of Longwood, for an undisclosed sum. St. Laurent plans to continue and improve the program for fine food in the restaurant, to extend the restoration work started by Mrs. Bradford, and to initiate landscaping and improvements to the parking area. Mrs. Sheila Brown (center), associate with Huskey Realty, helped close the sale.

Mooney Bill Death Sought

LONGWOOD — Calling costs borne by developers created by the Eugene Mooney, delegation chairman, requires cities to advertise impending annexations with changes in zoning to notify property owners within 60 feet and to hold public hearings.

The cities of the council — Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Lake Mary, Winter Springs and Casselberry — were asked to funnel statistics on cost for required advertising, public hearings and attorney fees caused by the requirements.

The cities have a policy of assessing these costs to the land developers seeking the annexation either through a flat fee or through a levy to the developer of actual costs.

Annexations of private homes by the cities is practically nonexistent.

By John A. Spolski

Dorfman insisted the law serves no useful purpose because many of its provisions are also required under home-rule legislation which went into effect in October. "The intent of the Mooney law is fulfilled under home-rule," Dorfman said.

Mooney sponsored the legislation when property owners in unincorporated areas complained that adjacent properties were annexed and re-zoned by cities where they were not permitted to object.

In other business, the group agreed to submit one name from all five cities for appointment to the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council membership.

CALNO mayors are to get together this week to choose and recommend a representative to the county commission for the appointment.

The present city representative, Winter Springs Councilman Victor Miller, has resigned.

Let's all hear it for the President! (Let's take a slight pause as most of our readers pick themselves up from the floor...you mean that guy is actually saying something good about Mr. Nixon?)

When he proposed that we all cut our speed to 50 m.p.h., he actually is saving me some embarrassment. The slapping-six which I'm presently driving has trouble getting up to 40! Now I won't have all of those "burn-bunkers" snorting at me...as they whiz by.

By now all of you should have received your county tax notice...and the accompanying Tax Facts Zipped.

Have you taken the time to analyze the information? Did you see how much of the tax dollar is consumed by the school board? Sixty-five cents from every dollar goes to education. Are we getting our money's worth? You tell me...

QUESTION—If we're all going to try and conserve fuel...and be willing to bend the rules a little on the ecological end! how about removing some of those anti-pollution valves on the newer automobiles?

Instead of getting only 10 miles to the gallon, perhaps we could go back up to the 18 and 20 per gallon we used to get.

Got another PUBLIC SERVICE SALUTE for you.

And we thank Lake Mary Elementary School Principal Jack Frost for making the recommendation.

We've been told that Mr. and Mrs. King, owners of Orange Paving Company of Altamonte Springs, permit all of their working mothers employees to take off one afternoon per week, providing they will go and help at the school where their youngsters attend.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -12 at Havre, Mont., to 76 at both Corpus Christi, Tex., and Key West.

Assistant State Atty. William Staley said Wednesday the charge of attempted murder against David Lee Griffin has been amended to manslaughter in the wake of the Sunday death of Casselberry City Councilman Richard Wirz.

Wirz was shot Oct. 16 and taken to Florida Hospital North. He was transferred later to Florida Hospital in Orlando where he underwent surgery early Sunday.

According to police reports Wirz, Griffin and Arthur Rainier were preparing for a hunting trip to Colorado when Wirz was shot with a .25 caliber revolver.

Rainier took Wirz to the hospital and police arrested Griffin at his Casselberry home Tuesday for the amended charge.

Griffin said he expected to be re-arrested Thursday for the amended charge.

Towards, police said. Griffin said he expected to be re-arrested Thursday for the amended charge.

Seminole Pulls Out
Seminole High School Principal Don Reynolds today announced the withdrawal of the Sanford Class Four-A school from the year-old Big Eight Conference due to financial problems.

The conference, comprised of Polk, Volusia, Seminole and Alachua County schools, may also experience similar withdrawals from Volusia County schools, Reynolds said. (Story page 8A.)
