

Tears for the Bride

By ROBERT MARTIN

CHAPTER THIRTY FIVE
"POOR Earl," I said sadly.
"Never mind him," Jake Fortune said bitterly.

"He's not such a bad guy," I said gently. "He tried to protect you, and your daughter, whom he madly loves. He had a problem, and he wasn't talking, not until he knew the score. When Eileen heard me accuse him of trying to kill Ralph, she believed me, thought he had really done it—for her. That almost drove Earl crazy, trying to figure it out. For all he knew, Eileen might have been mixed up in it, too. He—"

"No," Jake Fortune said harshly. "Earl knew the score. Right after I saw you carry Ralph away, I guessed that he was still alive, and I began to run. I met Earl, and I lost my head, and I told him what I'd had to do—because he wouldn't lose me the money. I told him that I'd swear I'd seen him shoot Ralph, out of jealousy, and because he wanted Eileen. The whole country knows that she killed him for Ralph. I told him that you might come swooping around, and to watch the ravine—I didn't want to take a chance on being seen there. Then I left him, got a rifle, and waited behind a fall fence out back where I could watch the ravine. At noon you showed up, began your poking around, and I took a shot at you."

"I said, 'And Rex Bishop, fixing a fence in the bottom, saw you shoot at me, and he came up to you and asked questions—and you shot him.'"

"I never saw the old man. I was watching you. He came walking fast up along the fence, and he was mad. He knew I'd shot at you, because he told me he'd been watching all along. He began to shout at me, and he pointed at the ravine, and— I always liked old Rex, but I had to shoot him, to keep him quiet."

"I shivered, thinking of all the things that made a person kill, and I said, 'Jake, there's a woman, I suppose?'"

"His heavy mouth went loose, and he gave me a beautiful grin. 'Two women, and I'm fifty-six years old,' he leered at me lewdly. 'A blonde in Cleveland, and a brunette in Toledo. They cost me a lot of money.'"

"I'll bet," I said. "When did you get the idea about Judy Kirkland?"

"When I told you in Dan's Place that she was blamed herself, that she did not want to face Ralph's folks?"

"That gave me the idea," he admitted, smiling at me. "There was no harm in trying. I went out to her place. The lights were on, and it was wide open. I found her upstairs on the bed, asleep. I locked the windows, rigged a pencil with a cord tied to it, and stuck it in the key. I read it some place, and it worked."

"It's an old trick," I said. "You ran the cord from the pencil under the door, turned the key until the bolt was almost ready to click shut, closed the door and pulled the cord. The pencil acted as a lever and flipped the key over, locking the door from the inside. The pencil fell to the floor, and you pulled it out under the door. I saw the yellow speck on the key last night, but I didn't tumble until now that it was paint from one of your pencils. You couldn't be certain of what Earl Seltzman would do, so you tried to frame Judy, too."

He tossed the pencil he'd been holding across the table. "Maybe that's the one I used," he said.

"There'll be dents in it, from the pressure on the key," I said.

"Why don't you look at it and see?" he invited.

I let the pencil lay and watched him. "And then you typed the suicide note on Judy's typewriter."

"With one finger," I thought of old Rex Bishop, and of Judy, too. She would have died if I hadn't found her as I did. Maybe, for me, in the final scoring, the one life would cancel out the other. I hoped so, and I said, "You followed me to Dan's Place, knowing that I was looking for Earl Seltzman, because I'd been to his house. You went in ahead of me, warned Earl that I was hunting for him. He ducked out the back door, after talking his poker pals that I was a peaky insurance salesman, and to cover for him. He was already leery of me, because I'd slapped him around a little, and he didn't know what you were up to. You knew that I would guess that Earl had scooted out the back door, that I would come out that way, too, and you waited behind the door in the alley, and— I stopped, remembering the sound of the bullets."

"I'm a rotten shot," he said. "All ways have been."

"You missed me three times," I said.

"I won't miss now," he said. "The fear returned, and I had a wild desire to jump up and run."

GIRAFFE SUFFERS FROM ARTHRITIS
OKLAHOMA CITY—It's bad when a giraffe has laryngitis but it's worse when its arthritis. That's what is ailing a lady giraffe in the Lincoln Park Zoo and it has Director Julian Frazier up in the air. The victim, who hasn't a name, is in serious condition. Frazier says he is going to have to rig up some sort of sling today to hoist the ailing giraffe so she won't have to bear any weight on her forelegs.

TRAIN 50 YEARS LATE

KITIMAT, B. C. (U)—When the first train pushed through the outskirts of this one-time Indian village, now a booming aluminum plant center, it was 50 years behind schedule.

Kitimat was chartered as the West Coast terminal of the Canadian National Railway early in the century. Speculators tied up land along the route, however, and the line veered north to Prince Rupert, just "across the tracks" from the southern tip of Alaska.

Now the new 10-million-dollar, 46-mile rail link will be a line of supply and a shipping route for the giant aluminum reduction plant and an expected pulp mill which will give birth to an industrial city in the wilderness. Kitimat is 400 miles north of the United States border.

British Pubs Ask Extension On Time For Staying Open

LONDON—The suspect in the jewelry robbery case has been maneuvered in a pretty tight corner. It seems unlikely the sweet-faced grandmother could have done the deed. But Scotland Yard has analyzed her nail polish, and there are loopholes in the account of her movements on the night of Feb. 15.

At this moment of television suspense, the boss of the pub growls: "Time, gentlemen, please—sorry, got to close, 10 o'clock and it's the law, you know."

So the customers troop out into the cold grumbling, the TV is switched off and no one knows what befell Grandma.

So irritating has the problem become that it appears television may accomplish something which no power on earth has managed to do up to now. It may bring about a change in regulations to permit British pubs to stay open a little later. Until the end of the play, anyway.

The closing hour varies place to place from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The 10 p. m. pubs seem to be hit at the crucial moment.

Be Careful, Mom, Dad, It Isn't That Easy

SCHOOL DAZE — Sandra Dunn (center), Herald staff writer, studies questions while taking a sixth grade test at Sanford Grammar School. "It was tough," she said afterward. (Staff Photo)

By SANDRA DUNN
Herald Staff Writer

"Junior, I'm ashamed of these grades. What do you do with your time; shoot marbles? Why, when I was in school, I made straight A's..."

Hold it, Mom or Dad. Lay that paddle down. You should be glad Junior brought home his report card instead of his examination papers. You might have to answer the questions.

To see if children have as easy a time in school as some parents maintain, I took a sixth grade test yesterday at Sanford Grammar School.

Walking into the classroom, I thought: This is going to be a push-over.

Of course, that was only what I thought.

I soon found out I was in for some hard work. Herold Heckenbach, school principal, had agreed to pull no punches. I was to get the same test the students had taken. For one hour, I ceased to be a newspaper reporter and actually became, in the eyes of Heckenbach and Mrs. Sybil Routh, the teacher, just another sixth grader.

It had the opportunity many grown-ups wish for. I was a school kid again.

At home at night, after we settle down in the old easy chair, a lot of us conjure up a pleasant dream of our school days.

We wish that we could become a child again, just for a day, all the while retaining our adult knowledge. Would we amaze our teacher? She would have to give (Continued On Page Seven)

Recaptured Lewis Taken To Raiford; To Return Later

William Lewis, 20, recaptured convict who had been held in the Seminole County Jail since Monday, was taken to the State Prison at Raiford yesterday.

Lewis will be returned here at a future date to face charges of stealing a Jeep and assault with intent to kill. Another charge of assault with intent to kill has been filed in Orange County, but will be held against his parole.

Lewis, one of three Negro convicts who fled the State Road Camp at Oviedo Saturday night, was wounded and captured in a gun battle in Orlando late Sunday.

The other two escapees were cornered Monday night at Oviedo. One convict John Leroy Young, 20, was killed, and the other, Marvin Merritt, 27, was wounded in the resultant shooting.

Merritt was taken to the prison with Lewis.

One charge of assault with intent to kill was placed against Lewis as the result of an axe attack on Thomas Hollingsworth, 31, an elderly Oviedo flower grower.

Hollingsworth, a patient at Winter Park Memorial Hospital, received two broken arms and cuts on the head in the attack Sunday.

Police Chief George A. Kelsey of Oviedo said Hollingsworth's description of his attacker tallied with that of Lewis.

Lewis, at the time of his capture, was driving a 1927 Jeep stolen from a house near Longwood on the Longwood-Oviedo Road.

Lewis went down with a bullet in the leg in the exchange of fire near Pinech School in Orlando.

He fired at State Trooper Richard K. Doyle's patrol car with a shotgun, damaging the ear. Doyle returned the fire and wounded him in the leg.

A charge of assault with intent to kill was filed in Orange County as a result of the attack on the Highway Patrolman.

Two state prison investigators arrived in Oviedo yesterday from Tallahassee to investigate the shooting there Monday night.

They are H. D. West and R. C. Haynsworth, working out of the office of State Agriculture Secretary Nathan Mayo.

West said he and Haynsworth were trying to reach Police Chief Kelsey and A. D. Stanley, guard at the Oviedo State Road Camp, in "straighten out" conflicting stories of the shooting.

Stanley made a statement to Peace Justice Then Austin Sr., that he and Kelsey had fired the shotgun blast that killed Young. Kelsey also said Stanley did the shooting.

The full story of the shooting is scheduled to be aired at an inquest at 1:30 p. m. Friday in Oviedo Town Hall.

The board, whose members represented Naval Air Stations in the district and their supporting Fleet Air Units, carefully reviewed these forms, consolidated and redesigned them, and finally determined which forms were to be standardized for all activities.

Of the original 2,500 forms selected for review, consolidation and elimination resulted in a catalogue containing only 112 forms.

Accordingly, the first phase of the program consisted of a compilation and review of over 2,500 printed and mimeographed forms, many of them similar in purpose, but different in design, that were used by two or more Naval Air activities. This was done by Mr. William E. Glasgow, of the Branch Publications and Printing Office at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville.

Mr. Glasgow, given by Mrs. Carter, revealed a total of $27.60 spent during the past two months for earned and dried milk. Mrs. Carter stated that the milk had been furnished for eight children in two families.

Sanford Base Hits At 'Old Man Waste'

The Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Sanford, along with many air stations throughout the Sixth Naval District, will hit hard at "old man waste" in the near future to the tune of more than $12,000 per year.

This intended saving of the taxpayers money was accomplished recently when Captain J. S. Thach, USN, Commander, Naval Air Station, Sixth Naval District, appointed a Publications Control Board to eliminate duplications in the printed and mimeographed forms utilized by the Naval Air Station under his command and the fleet aircraft squadrons supported by them.

The board, whose members represented Naval Air Stations in the district and their supporting Fleet Air Units, carefully reviewed these forms, consolidated and redesigned them, and finally determined which forms were to be standardized for all activities.

Precautionary Call Is Issued By Union For Southern Bell

The Southern Bell Telephone Company has issued a "precautionary call" for workers to strike at 6 a. m. Monday unless a new contract has been agreed upon by midnight Sunday.

Officers of the Southern Bell union in nine southeastern states were telegraphed the tentative strike call last night. But a spokesman for the CIO Communication Workers of America said it is merely a "precautionary call" intended as a "routine and necessary precaution."

The Company today presented to the Communications Workers of America an improved proposal which it hoped would form the basis for prompt agreement on a new contract.

The offer, contingent on Union acceptance of a no strike clause, was made in bargaining which was taking place today following a recess of several days. The Company, asked Monday that bargaining be resumed. The present contract expires midnight, March 15.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Leaders of the Hungarian Communist party today accused Premier Imre Nagy of "rightist deviationism" and of supporting mistaken "rightist ideas" in speeches and articles.

Western observers in Vienna said Nagy's dismissal from office appeared imminent. He had been his country's chief mouthpiece for Soviet ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov's policy of more consumer goods. His downfall had been expected, since the Soviet Union and Hungary early this year returned to policies emphasizing heavy industrial production, which includes war materials.

A statement by the Hungarian Workers Communist party's Central Committee, published in all Budapest newspapers, accused Nagy of encouraging elements who tried to frustrate industrialization and deny the necessity of heavy industry development.

Only by development of heavy industry, it added, could there be a development of light industry and agriculture.

The statement said the criticism of Nagy was voiced at a session of the Central Committee held March 24. The chief speaker at the meeting was the party's first secretary Matyas Rakosi.

Action Committee For 17-92 Project Proposed Last Nite

An action committee to see the U. S. Highway 17-92 project through to completion was proposed last night at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce's board of directors.

The proposal was made by Sen. Douglas Stenstrom, a member of the Chamber's Long-Range Roads Planning Committee, at the meeting in the City Commission Room at City Hall.

Four-laning of the highway, tagged as the number 1 road project in Seminole County was discussed by Stenstrom and John Melich, vice president of the Chamber.

The State Road Department, Melich said, plans to send two appraisers to look over the highway to determine which side will be widened.

The board endorsed the resolution passed recently by the Roads Planning Committee. The resolution, emphasizing the importance of the 17-92 project, said four-laning of the highway "will not only aid and promote the development of the economic life of Seminole County, but will also materially decrease the death and traffic toll through traffic accidents on the said highway."

The 17-92 project will be further discussed at a meeting of the Roads Planning Committee tonight at Elmer's Restaurant. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock.

Bailey Odham is chairman of the committee.

Present at tonight's meeting will be Richy Green, Deland, district engineer for the Highway Department. (Continued On Page Seven)

Jaycees Sponsor Radio Broadcast

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce recently began sponsoring a program, "The Jaycee Forum," over radio station WTRR every Friday night at 8 p. m.

The purpose of the program is to inform the people of Seminole County on topics of current interest. A panel of Sanford citizens from various occupations ask the guest questions pertaining to the topic under discussion.

To date the panel has questioned two insurance men, Andrew Carraway and James Gut, on the recent new ruling of the State Insurance Commissioner on fire insurance coverage; Warren Knowles, City Manager; and Bob Brown, chairman of the City Planning and Zoning Board.

Guests appearing before the panel Friday night Mar. 11, will be State Senator O. Douglas Stenstrom and State Representatives, Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Volie A. Williams Jr. Any question the public would like answered by the legislative delegation may be mailed to the Jaycees and it will be asked of them Friday night.

Meeting Postponed By School Board

The regular meeting of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction has been postponed until Monday, Superintendent W. T. Milwee announced.

The meeting had been scheduled for Thursday.

Sides on the remainder of the Pine Crest elementary school, 27th St., will be let at the session, which will start at 10 a. m.

TOY PISTOLS BANNED

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Council has passed a bill banning "realistic" toy pistols. Councilman David Ross said more than 100 hold-up men were arrested with toy pistols last year.

Forest Lake Academy Ceremonies Held Today

The Seminole County legislative delegation and two county commissioners participated in ground-breaking ceremonies for Forest Lake Academy's new boys' dormitory today at Maitland.

Present were Sen. Douglas Stenstrom; Representatives Volie Williams Jr. and Mack Cleveland Jr.; and Commissioners John W. Melich and W. B. Miller.

Stenstrom congratulated the person, president of the Conference and said that Seminole County was watching its progress.

Among those speaking at the event were H. S. Hansen, educational secretary for the Southern Union Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. He talked on "The Future of Forest Lake Academy."

Other speakers were V. G. Anderson, president of the Conference, and H. Lester, Academy board member, Apopka.

The invocation was given by H. V. Reed, minister of the Maitland Seventh-Day Adventist Church, and the scriptures were read by A. D. Burkh, minister, Kress Memorial Church, Winter Park.

Guests were introduced by D. R. Ross, chairman, Forest Lake Academy Board, and R. L. O'Connell, academy principal.

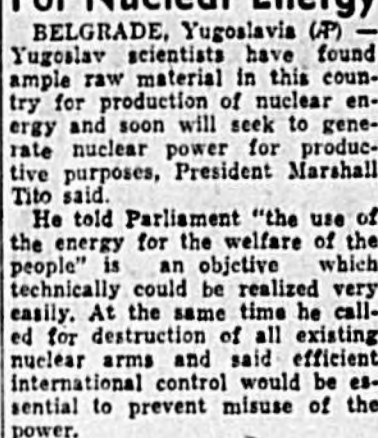

The Academy band, led by Jack Kinsinger, and the Color Guard, directed by Capt. L. K. Stevens, participated in the ceremonies.

The choir sang selections under the direction of Daina Ramsey.

E. E. Lutz Jr., minister, Orlando Central Church of the Seventh-Day Adventist, gave the benediction at the building site.

Forest Lake Academy, a new boys' dormitory, is being built at Maitland.

The Academy band, led by Jack Kinsinger, and the Color Guard, directed by Capt. L. K. Stevens, participated in the ceremonies

Constitution Club Asks Florida House For Investigation

MIAMI (U)—The Constitution Club of Miami has asked the Florida House of Representatives to investigate whether Rep. John B. Orr Jr. was eligible to run for office.

Orr said he would welcome the investigation and called the club "a group of radical McCarthyites."

The club sent a resolution to members of the Legislature questioning whether Orr could have "conscientiously, properly and without any mental reservation" taken the qualifying loyalty oath because he previously had represented a client contesting Miami's anti-communist ordinance.

Orr was attorney for Alfred P. Rosenberg who sought to have the ordinance declared unconstitutional. The suit was filed in 1950 and was dismissed after Rosenberg was dismissed after Rosenberg was indicted under the Army.

The qualifying loyalty oath reads in part:

"I have not and will not lend my aid, support, advice, counsel or influence to the Communist party."

Coast Guard Says Improper Loading Cause Of Sinking

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Coast Guard said yesterday that shifting winds off the Virginia coast were the cause of what it called improperly loaded cargo caused the freighter Mermackite to capsize and sink in an Atlantic storm last Oct. 7.

The ship's master Capt. Patrick J. McMahon was negligent "in allowing the cargo to be loaded in such a manner that shifting was possible," a Coast Guard board of investigation reported.

No comment was immediately available from officials of Moore-McCormack Lines, Inc., of New York City, operators of the freighter. Several court suits on behalf of American are pending against the firm.

The Mermackite sank off the Virginia Capes. Thirty-seven of her 13-man crew perished, including Capt. McMahon. Eleven survivors were rescued 48 hours after the sinking.

The freighter was en route from Victoria, Brazil, to Baltimore, Md., with 9,003 tons of iron ore.

Eisenhower Honors 11 Army Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today happily created the "Society of the Remagen Bridge" in personally honoring 11 Army veterans who spearheaded the dramatic capture of that strategic bridge over the Rhine in Germany 10 years ago.

Marking the 10th anniversary of the seizure, the President invited the group to the White House and presented each of the veterans a certificate of membership in the new society.

There's even Chevrolet

There's even more to Chevrolet styling
than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights—they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up where they can be seen for safety's sake.

The smart leapers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its lowness, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity, the added stability.

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Red Cross Gives Aid To Millions Who Are In Need Of Assistance

There was a time in our early history when people counted entirely on direct help from their neighbors or close relatives to see them through periods of misfortune. Our way of life stems largely from that personal, across-the-fence sharing of adversity. Today life is more complex. The protective unity of families is weakened as individual members scatter from the home community.

But people have not changed. In time of trouble, they need assurance that they are not alone. To help provide this assurance, millions of Americans turn to the Red Cross. Because they join and serve, they are able to extend a friendly hand to those who most need help.

We see that help in the millions of pints of blood freely given through Red Cross for those who would die without it. We see it when a New England fisherman who lost his boat in a hurricane is given another so that he can earn a living for his family. We see it in emergency help to the family of a serviceman who is away from home.

An account of Red Cross operations in Florida during 1954 was recently received by Gov. Leroy Collins, showing more than 17,000 of the state's citizens active in the humanitarian services of the agency.

Highlights from the report revealed that, through the Red Cross, Floridians last year assisted 11,000 servicemen's families with personal problems and helped 5,400 war veterans in applying for government benefits. Red Cross volunteers also gave more than 65,800 hours of service at military hospitals and another 46,700 hours at veterans administration hospitals. Training in swimming and lifesaving was given 22,800 Floridians, another 21,500 received first aid training, and 5,400 were certified in home nursing.

Polio epidemics which struck the state during 1954 also found the agency on the job. Red Cross nurses and volunteers were recruited for the affected areas, and more than 460,000 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin, provided by Red Cross, were distributed by the Office of Defense Mobilization to public health departments over the state.

The 1955 Red Cross campaign for members and funds is now going on. In Seminole County, volunteer workers are driving toward a $8,750 goal.

A community's success is tied up with its growth, prosperity and well-being as a whole, and with the well-being of its residents as individuals and units of the community. The Red Cross, by being of service to a large cross section of any community, contributes in no small way to its prosperity and well-being.

During the past fiscal year, the Seminole County Red Cross chapter gave more than $6,000 in financial aid to servicemen and their families in the county.

In addition to offering many vital services, the chapter serves in the capacity of acting field director for the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station under A. G. Scarborough, field director, Air Force Base, Orlando.

Seminole County has been fortunate in having "a very dearth of disasters," the chapter emphasizes. A percentage of the funds raised in the county will go to the National Red Cross to take care of great disasters. Through the campaign now being conducted, the chapter says persons from northern disaster areas who are vacationing in Florida or have chosen Seminole County as their permanent home, may contribute to disaster relief in their home states.

In almost every corner of the earth, the Red Cross is recognized as a symbol of the good neighbor. It may represent you—through your membership—in helping other people in time of trouble. Or it may represent warm-hearted people, whom you do not know, rallying to your aid in an emergency.

The fund campaign is now on. You have an opportunity to keep alive one of the great American traditions—friendly, neighborly help to our fellow men.

Mechanical Brains Face Uptrend

NEW YORK — Mechanical brains cut down to handle the problems of the small business man are being offered in increasing numbers today. And still more are in the building or testing stages.

King-size electronic computers are already in the field to handle scientific and engineering problems so complex that the average man can't understand what they're trying to do, let alone how they do it. They are part of the move toward automation — with the theoretical goal of a completely automatic factory — and some factory workers worry lest they spell loss of jobs.

Most of the companies in the business machine industry also are turning to the field of the smaller computers for specific purposes, such as helping oil companies tabulate automatically the flood of on-the-cuff transaction of their credit card customers, or aiding finance companies handle mortgage loan accounting.

Here are a few of the new devices just being offered, or promised for delivery within the next year:

National Cash Register says that early in 1956 it will install the commercial use of the first of its National Computers, priced at around $200,000, and tailored to the needs of "any business which can profitably use electronic computation."

The company has built a tape punching machine which can turn a cash register, accounting machine or adding machine into a device to feed recorded data directly into the new computer, where it to be handled by electronic rather than human brains.

At a more lively level, the company is pushing a change-computing cash register. At checkout counters in self-service stores, and the customer the amount of each item, the total charge, the amount of money the customer offers in payment, and the change due.

Underwood Corp. will market, at around $15,000, a baby brain for small business men. The electronic computer, Electron 20, the company says, can handle an entire payroll in one operation — including computation and itemizing of gross earnings, and deductions for income tax, hospitalization, defense bonds and social security tax.

Farrington Manufacturing Co. of Boston will field test a new electronic system called Scandex, devised to let oil companies use automatic tabulation in their book-keeping on gasoline credit cards.

The United States and Canada have adopted the system together.

Now, simplified signals are to be sounded on sirens, horns and other warning devices. There are two signals. One is the "alert" and the other the "take cover."

The "all-clear," in effect since 1951, has been eliminated in view of radioactive fallout.

U.S. Civil Defense headquarters here said it could be unwise to give a general all-clear since some areas could still be in danger because of fallout.

A spokesman said individual areas would handle their own all-clear communication to citizens through radio or other means, including patrol groups.

Items From An Oddity Almanac

NEW YORK — Items from an oddity almanac:

Are men's shoes taking years off their lives?

A leather firm has raised the question whether the fact women wear much lighter footwear may partly explain why they live longer than men. Men's light summer shoes weigh three pounds a pair, heavy winter shoes five pounds or more.

This firm figured the average man lifts a foot 33,000 times a day or a total of 41 1/2 tons of leather—if he is wearing shoes that weigh five pounds a pair. By wearing light shoes that weigh a pound less each he can take a load of 16 1/2 tons off his feet every day.

(Maybe if we went barefoot, fellows, or better yet, stayed in bed all day, we'd live to be 100!)

First Lieutenant Department Said Powerful Section

By C. E. FLETCHER, ADC

The First Lieutenant's Department, to define it in a single phrase, might be termed the powerful section of the Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron Fifty-One operational machine. LCDR E. J. Still, USN, is head of the First Lieutenant's Department.

It is the responsibility of this department to continually inspect and observe operative equipment under their cognizance such as vehicles, water, and electrical equipment.

Vehicles are inspected and serviced each day. Many small discrepancies are handled and repaired immediately by the First Lieutenant's Department. In other cases the discrepancies are analyzed by the department and if the nature is such that it is beyond the scope of the Public Works Dept.

Upkeep of spaces, condition of buildings, inspection of fire fighting equipment, proper clearance of fire lanes, observance of safety precautions, and many more duties combine to make a day in the First Lieutenant's Department a full day for all its personnel.

Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate Charles E. Fletcher is the department's leading petty officer. Other enlisted men assigned to the First Lieutenant's department are: W. O. Mills, boatwain's mate first class, Ray Morris, boatwain's mate third class, Marvin Venn, aviation machinist's mate third class, Billy Baxter, airman, Don Partain, airman, Anthony Cassano, photographer's mate airman, and Don Schneider, aviation machinist's mate airman.

The world of tomorrow: Fred Fittera, automotive showman, predicts speeds of 150 miles an hour will be commonplace on super-highways 25 years from now. . . . accidents will be cut to a minimum. . . . motorists will wear safety helmets as well as safety belts.

Almanac travel notes: More people in this world live on rice than on daily bread. . . . but rice-short Japan is now trying to get more of its population to switch to wheat. . . . some six million Japanese children dren in elementary schools now get bread at luncheon. . . . the country also is going in for television in a big way. . . . what are the most popular programs? Baseball, wrestling, boxing—and old movies!

Odd facts: The giant neon spectacular sign in Times Square, advertising a soft drink, has 35,000 light bulbs, and a 50,000-gallon-a-minute waterfall. . . . a recent survey showed grade school students misspelled the simple word "question" in 133 different ways. . . . but a common word that teen-agers often find hardest to spell is "quietly" . . . whether this proves anything, we don't know.

Almanac personality: Frank Luther, known as "the Big Crosby of the handpulp set," believes he has told more stories to more children than anybody in history. . . . at 34 Luther, who has been a cowboy, prizefighter, evangelist, detective and operatic tenor, has made 550 records for children since 1930, sales have reached the $5 million mark. . . . Frank, who has two kids of his own, holds this theory about children:

"A child's emotional patterns are set for life by the time he is two years old. When he's six he speaks with his father's accent, he gossips like the neighbors like his mother, and he has the same attitudes towards other races and religions in life in general that those close to and around him have. . . . In other words, whatever you do to yourself, you do to your children, too."

Volcanologist Gordon A. MacDonald urged the refugees to wait. He warned that new eruptions "are still possible. I don't know when it will be safe."

However, families from Kalapana and Ohihika were told they could go home today on condition radio-equipped trucks and drivers wined by in both tiny south coast villages.

Rearmament Concerns Two Dangers

WASHINGTON — In deciding to reararm Germany, the West had to choose between the potential danger of revived German militarism and the more immediate danger of an aggressive Russia.

The potential danger remains although, starting out, German rearmament will be under some controls: an armed force of 500,000 men tied in with Germany's Western neighbors and NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States more than five years ago proposed German rearmament and has fought for the idea since. It is coming close to being reality. France, remembering three German invasions, has been cool.

In Germany itself there is much pacifism and opposition to rearmament. Under the pressure of changing events this pacifist mood may evaporate and become again one of militarism.

The German military leadership has been a consistent dominant, antidemocratic force, contemptuous of civil authority.

Gordon A. Craig, Princeton professor and specialist on German militarism, in a recent lecture considered the danger of rearming Germany by asking: Who will the new German military leaders be?

Reports from Germany have said only those officers who had no connection with the Nazis will be commissioned. But Nazism has been only one short chapter in German history. The military leadership, anxious for acquiescence to justify its existence.

It is possible the new leadership, even though non-Nazi, will continue the old story by reverting to type. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, however, is anxious to justify its existence.

Even if there are favorite son candidates or possibly a candidate of the Republican "Old Guard," it is doubtful that more than two or three names will be presented to the Republican convention.

The entire session could be staged in the late afternoon or early evening and television audiences across the nation would have ample opportunity to view the proceedings.

The Democrats, however, face the possibility of a half dozen or more names being placed in nomination. Speeches and demonstrations would run into the wee hours even if the session began at noon.

Eastern TV watchers likely will find themselves sitting before their sets until after midnight with the Democrats meeting in Chicago.

Were the convention in San Francisco, it is likely that down in the east would greet the last nominating speeches on the West Coast.

Exploitation—Democrats in Congress are all set to make the most of real or fancied differences between the State and Agriculture departments over farm export policies.

There is, basically, considerable reason to believe that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson would like to move much faster than State is willing to go in getting rid friend of the West, has pushed Germany into rearmament. He is 79 and will not be around long. What happens after he leaves the scene is a guess. The West had to gamble on it.

Will the present democracy continue with strong civil controls on the military or degenerate after Adenauer into a power struggle, chaos, revolution and the return of a dictatorship of some kind?

Rearmed Germany may remain a loyal ally. Or she may burst through Allied controls and plunge into huge rearmament aimed at regaining her lost territories.

The West German intensely desire reunion with East Germany, where the Russians have built an armed force with the help of German generals captured in the war.

It is even possible the new military leadership, if it gains enough power, may take Germany out of the Western alliance and shift to Russia.

Craig recalled that under the first German republic in the 1920s, when Germany's army was limited to 100,000 men, the generals schemed secretly with the Russian Communists to get arms.

Perhaps the only happy prospect in the picture of German rearmament, besides the immediate strength it gives the Allies, is that the Russians seem far more worried about it than the West.

of surplus commodities under special bilateral agreements with other countries.

In any case, a State subcommittee under Senator James O. Eastland (D), Mississippi, is preparing to get the facts from the principals on both sides.

It is perhaps significant that Eastland's colleagues in the House, Rep. Jamie Whitten (D), Mississippi, first brought the question of a conflict of interests between State and Agriculture into the open.

Benson apparently tried in advance to smooth the troubled waters by stating in a recent speech that 500,000 bales of cotton—the commodity in which the two Mississippians are chiefly interested—will be sold under the special program.

Mystery Sub—The Navy is particularly interested in reports that a mysterious submarine has been sighted off the Florida coast and both air and surface lookouts are being kept for the unexplained U-boat. There is no fear that the Soviet Union is planning any sneak atomic attack launched from a submarine, or that submarines might be smuggled ashore.

The Navy's interest stems from a desire to spot and study the characteristics of the latest-type underwater vessels of the Red navy and check performance against the American submarine fleet.

Seminole Hi

By YVONNE CULLEN
Most of the Juniors are walking around the hall sporting new class rings. Every year it seems like they cause a little more excitement than the year before.

Six weeks exams are half way over with now, but you don't see any of the kids at the movies and other "hang-outs" right now.
Mixed chorus rehearsals for Glee Club district started this week, and of course everybody's hoping for a first division, and working mighty hard at it.

Some gossip: What was this I heard in Touchton's yesterday about how sweet, cute and handsome Bud Davis is, and what a lucky girl Janice Kinlaw is. There are some jealous girls around SHS, so Janice you sure had better hang on to a boy like that while you can.

Everybody's sorry to hear about Terrell Jean Nelson and Harold Pate breaking up, but maybe it won't be too long before they're back together again. Who's identification bracelet is it Margaret Moore's been wearing around lately? It's hard to believe that Margaret's going steady but I guess miracles do happen.

Randolph Crow's got a "crush" on, but then I did say I'd wait until the next article to put that in, didn't I. . . He has been dating Patti Witte, but I promised him that I'd keep it a secret so don't anybody tell PLEASE.

Jimmy Butler was home last weekend, and Pat Harrington had a date with him every night he was home. It must be love. Tough luck for all you girls who've got crushes on him.

Pat Dunn and Alvin Thompson are still one of the cutest couples around anywhere. Shirley Anderson and Dale Osteen are the newest steady couple around and I might say one of the cutest and best suited.

Guess that's all for now . . . Be seeing ya ! ! !

Few Years Remain To Fight Cold War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has only about three to four years left to carry on the cold war with Russia from a position of overwhelming military might.

After 1959, the power relationship will become more nearly balanced. That will mean international political advantage for Russia.

Gen. M. D. Taylor Made Commander Of Far East Forces

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was named U. S. Far East commander and head of the United Nations Command yesterday.

Effective April 1, he will succeed Gen. John E. Hull, who is retiring at his own request after 37 years in the Army.

Appointment of Taylor was expected. He has been given increasing responsibilities in recent months until he commanded all ground forces in Japan, South Korea and Okinawa.

Hull will spend a month in the office of the Army chief of staff in Washington before he retires. He has been Far East commander since October 1953.

Taylor assumed command of the 8th Army in Korea Feb. 11, 1953. His place as commander of ground forces in Japan, Okinawa and South Korea will be taken by Lt. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, deputy chief of staff for plans and research. Lemnitzer will be replaced by Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, assistant chief of staff for operations. Taylor is in Thailand to check on the military situation.

He is known for his record of bravery and a quiet, studious personality which does not advertise his knowledge of eight languages, including Japanese, Chinese and Korean.

In World War II Taylor went on a dangerous mission behind the lines prior to the Italian surrender. He joined his surrounded division in the Battaglia forest by a daring parachute jump during the Battle of the Bulge.

NAVY REQUESTS $150

BORTON (AP)—A Navy request for $150 to transport 100 seamen to march in the annual Evacuation Day—St. Patrick's Day parade March 17 in South Boston, drew a broadside last night from the City Council.

"Anybody could almost hit a golf ball from the Fargo Building Naval headquarters . . . to the starting point of the parade," said Councilman William J. Foley, a World War II Navy officer.

us an extra-large report card. All our A's couldn't be crowded on the usual size.

We can't be too sure with such fancies. After all, we need never face a show-down. We can't go back.

But there I was, the exception. I had my adult knowledge and I was back in school. Now all I had to do was floor them with my wisdom and depart with a neat score of 100.

Heckenbach, a you-are-trapped smile on his face, put me through the paces on arithmetic, spelling, science, English, the whole works. I looked about for an adding machine and an encyclopedia.

But this was a test and I had to dig back into my mind for the answers. They came with what seemed to be dog-sled slowness.

Psychologists say that as we accumulate new knowledge, we forget much of what we have learned in the past. As Heckenbach fired questions at me and I wrote down answers, I felt I was the living proof of that theory.

Typical questions:
What happened to the Philippine Islands on July 4, 1946? (They gained their independence.)
How is human sound produced? (By means of the larynx.)

Here are some other things sixth graders must know:
John got 82 per cent on his test, Alice got 70, Joan 64 and Harold 63. What was their average mark? (79.5 per cent.)

If an old-time sailing vessel went 2,331 miles in 63 days, how far did it average per day? (37 miles.)

Write 68 as a Roman numeral. (LXVIII.)

Which of these cities was the first capital of the U.S.? Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Charleston, New York.)

Multiply $1\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$. (4 1/8.)

What is the tallest mountain peak in the U.S.? (Mt. Whitney.)

You can come out of your base now, parents, as I break the news that those are only some of the "easy" questions.

Can you name the capitals of all the states? Try it sometime when you have a couple of days to spare.

So that I might take the test under the same conditions as those experienced by students, Heckenbach provided classroom atmosphere in the form of Mrs. South and seven students.

Unfortunately, I had forgotten to bring an apple for the teacher. An apple might have helped.

Students gathered around me were Diane Baly, Shirley Jones, Lucetta Brinson, Martha Hood, Fred Dudley, Johnny Walchal and Dickie Westfall, all of Sanford. They looked relieved because they were not taking the test.

At last, I handed in my papers to Heckenbach. He graded them, and, after keeping me in suspense for a while, told me with a smile: "You've passed."

It was a big moment. The guinea pig had survived the experiment.

Later, Heckenbach and I discussed the question of how today's students compare in intelligence to those of past decades.

"Children today have broader experiences through the facilities of modern inventions," Heckenbach said. "This makes it easier for them to learn."

He pointed out, too, that another advantage is the parents are forever striving to give their children "something better than they had."

As I left the school, I thought about what Heckenbach had said. I came to the conclusion children may have it easier today, but parents are even luckier.

Parents don't have to take sixth grade examinations.

ment, and two of his assistants. At last night's board meeting, Melch also reported that another Chamber project, paving of the old Lake Mary road, will be started in two weeks.

A report by the Publicity and Advertising Committee revealed that an agreement is being worked out by the Chamber and the Chambers of Palatka and DeLand for joint use of a billboard north of Calhoun. The billboard would advertise the attractions of the three areas.

J. C. Davis, chairman of the Baseball Committee, reported that about 80 persons attended a fish fry held recently for the Kansas City Athletics. Davis said plans are being made for a barbecue for the Richmond and Minnea polis teams.

A report on the Central Florida Fair at Orlando was given by the Fair and Exhibit Committee, headed by Gus Schmah and Marcel Failla. The Chamber had a booth at the fair, and a large quantity of fruits and vegetables, donated by area distributors, was handed out to persons attending the fair.

Mrs. Bobbie Jo Hunt, Longwood, was named as the Chamber's official delegate to the meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., May 1-4.

Frank Evans of Lake Mary said that Mullet Lake Park is in bad condition. Melch told him that the county Sportsmen's Association spent considerable money building up the park, but that the park facilities had been abused by many persons visiting it.

Evans also pointed out the need for early construction of the sidewalk from the Lake Mary School. The project was authorized some time ago by the County Commission.

Melch, chairman of the County Commission, said M. C. Hagan, county surveyor, is laying a center line for the sidewalk and construction will start in the near future.

Plans were made to hold an Easter food sale downtown on Saturday, April 9 with Mrs. M. L. Raborn Sr. in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. George A. Slone, president, invited members to her home on Summerlin Avenue Thursday night to hold and stuff Easter seals for the Crippled Children's Society. This is a yearly project of the club.

Mrs. B. E. Chapman reported a total of $43.80 realized on the recent rummage sale. Proceeds will be used toward the club's various charities.

There were 15 members present at the meeting which was presided over by Mrs. Slone.

7. Named W. A. Kratzer, retired State Road Dept. Engineer, as a man who must pass on all subdivision roads before they are accepted for county maintenance.

8. Referred to the County Attorney a request by Sanford Industries Inc., that the county contribute $700 for the corporation to continue its efforts in gaining new industries.

The request was submitted by a delegation of corporation officers, headed by Bill Stempfer, acting president. County Attorney Cleveland was instructed to find out if the contribution can legally be made.

Mrs. J. M. Dingman, secretary of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, asked when paving of the old Lake Mary Road was to begin. Commissioners Otis Fouracre promised the work in his district would be started in two or three weeks.

TV Awards Are Made In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney and Danny Thomas, clutching two Emmies apiece, today proved that television has three solid networks.

The two ABC stars, along with NBC's George Gobel and Loretta Young, plus Art Carney and Audrey Meadows of the CBS's Jackie Gleason Show, dominated last night's seventh annual Emmy awards of the Television Academy.

The show, sparking with excitement, was nationally televised over NBC-TV.

Disney, already the possessor of 22 movie Oscars, won an Emmy for the best variety series on TV. And his "Operation Under Sea," an episode in the Disneyland series, was adjudged the best individual program of the year.

Thomas, star of Make Room for Daddy, was named the best actor in a regular series. His show was selected the best situation comedy series.

The six awards out of a possible 21 gave ABC its healthiest showing yet in the awards. NBC and CBS, which heretofore had dominated the annual awards, got seven apiece.

The remaining award went to the syndicated series Stories of the Century, which is not confined to one network. This series won in the best Western or adventure series category.

Loretta Young became the first actress in Hollywood history to hold both a movie Oscar and an Emmy. She said the thrill "was equal in both cases." She was named the best actress in a regular series.

George Gobel, in his first year on TV, climaxed a meteoric rise by being named television's outstanding new personality. Carney and Miss Meadows were named best supporting actor and actress in a regular series.

Other awards:
Best cultural, religious or educational program: Omnibus.
Best sports program: Gillette Calvecade of Sports.

Best children's program: Lassie.
Best daytime program: Art Linkletter's House Party.
Best Western or adventure series: Stories of the Century.
Best audience guest participation or panel program: This Is Your Life.

Best actor in a single performance: Robert Cummings, "Twelve Angry Men," Studio One.
Best actress in a single performance: Judith Anderson, "Machbeth," Hallmark Playhouse.
Best male singer: Perry Como.
Best female singer: Dinah Shore.
Best mystery or intrigue series: Dragnet.

MEMBERS CALLED AWAY FROM TELEVISION SETS
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The annual town meeting approved an $800,000 budget last night—but only after some 100 town meeting members were summoned from their television sets to vote.

Town officials reported that competition offered by a highly publicized TV show (the "Peter Pan" musical), delayed the town meeting about an hour while they telephoned members in order to secure a quorum.

scope of matters subject to arbitration would be broadened, and additional cities and additional jobs would be reclassified to higher wage schedules. Also, included were 18 items on which tentative agreement was reached last fall.

As part of its proposal for a no-strike clause to protect service to the public, the Company has offered to open to arbitration any disciplinary action taken against an employee as a result of a breach of the clause.

F. M. Malone, Southern Bell Personnel vice-president, explained that the Company's wage offer would improve earnings of telephone employees by more than $6,000,000 a year.

"Forty-five thousand employees—a nine out of every ten—will get an immediate increase in pay. Other employees—those with less than 12 months service—will receive from one to four increases during the next year totalling up to $10.80 per week. These increases will result from the Company's regular progression schedules which provide for higher pay as employees gain experience."

"Under the Southern Bell offer, more than 8,000 employees will receive at least $1.00 per week, and over 11,000 women in the business will receive $2.50 or more per week. All other employees with more than 12 months service will receive an immediate increase from $1.00 to $3.50 per week, and in addition will receive the amounts provided by improved progression schedules."

Malone said the proposals were "made with the earnest hope that they will form the basis for a prompt and reasonable settlement."

result in an annual saving of at least $12,000, a tremendous administrative saving, the magnitude of which defies estimation, will be appreciated in man-hours, reduced paper work and standardized office procedure.

Although other Naval activities have initiated publications control programs, this is the first time that so many diversified fleet units and shore stations have worked together to economize through the standardization of printed forms. As the Publications Control Board, established by Commander, Naval Air Base, Sixth Naval District, continues to move its effectiveness, it is likely that its procedures will set a precedent for adoption throughout the Navy.

Tears for the Bride

By ROBERT MARTIN

CHAPTER THIRTY SIX

"I turned my head. Sandy sat there, the sunlight glinting on her bronze hair. There were tears on her face. She reached out and touched my hand. Her fingers felt cool and wonderful. Behind her stood the tall, gaunt form of Homer. Iolia. He smiled shyly.

"Hi, folks," my voice said.

An elderly, gray-haired nurse came in. I closed my eyes. There were whistles, and Sandy's fingers left my hand. "You're fine, Jim," her voice said close to my ear. "Everything's fine. Sleep now." I felt her lips on my cheek. Presently I knew that she was gone.

I heard a faint clink of glass on metal. I opened my eyes. The nurse was at a steel table by the foot of the bed filling a hypo needle. I said, "What time is it?" She smiled at me, glanced at a wrist watch. "Almost twelve o'clock noon."

"What day?"

"It's still Sunday."

I closed my eyes again, remembering that final and terrible scene in Jake Fortune's kitchen. "I want to see John Morrissey," I said.

"Later," the nurse said soothingly. "You've had a spinal, and a little ether, and you must rest now. Dr. Sweet will be here to see you before long."

"Where's Dr. Morrissey?"

"Nobody knows," she said. "He left a note last night for his landlady, Mrs. Brown, saying that he'd be gone for a day or two. It's rather odd for Dr. Morrissey to go away like that. Fortunately, Dr. Sweet—"

"Listen," I pushed myself up from the pillow.

"Now, now," she hovered over me. "We mustn't get excited. I felt the prick of the needle in my arm, and then the gentle pressure of her hands against my shoulders. I sank back and closed my eyes. Sometime during the afternoon I awoke. The spinal anesthesia had worn off and my legs felt tingling and there was the beginning of pain in my side. Old Dr. Sweet came in. He probed, checked my bandages, looked at a chart, grunted, and barked at me, "Hurt yet?"

"A little."

"It will, it will. A forty-five slug. Just missed the lower duodenum. Lucky. Bowel wounds are bad, even with penicillin—don't let anybody tell you different."

"Where's Dr. Morrissey?" I asked, thinking vaguely that I'd asked it before.

Germ-Free Animals Are Wanted

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists hope to develop a menagerie of germ-free animals to help in the study of a variety of health problems ranging from polio to tooth decay.

The National Institutes of Health of the U. S. Public Health Service is seeking congressional approval to build a special laboratory for rearing generations of chickens, guinea pigs and possibly other animals under absolutely sterile conditions.

The animals would be used to test the effects of germs and other substances purposely introduced into their bodies. Since the animals would be free of infections at the start, scientists would expect to get a better idea of the effects of the introduced substances.

Efforts to raise germ-free laboratory animals began as far back as 1937, but NIH scientists say the greatest advances made in the field, in the United States at least, have resulted from a project at Notre Dame University, headed by Dr. James A. Reyniers.

The Notre Dame group, working since 1928, has developed special apparatus and procedures.

Animals are born in a germ-free environment. From that time on, the air they breathe, the food they eat and the quarters in which they live are kept sterile.

The government scientists were inspired to seek a laboratory of their own by the success of experiments they began two years ago as guest researchers at Notre Dame.

These experiments were conducted with amoebic dysentery, which is estimated to infect more than 11 million persons in the United States. Most of these persons are not actually sick, but sometimes patients with mild or apparently cured infections may suddenly develop liver complaints and dysentery. Individuals who never show symptoms may be carriers of amoebic parasite.

The aim of the NIH-Notre Dame study was to determine whether, in the experimental animal at least, the presence of other germs in the body might have an influence on amoebic dysentery.

Two groups of guinea pigs were used in the test: (1) germ-free animals and (2) conventional animals.

males, harboring common intestinal bacteria.

After inoculation with parasites, none of the germ-free animals developed this dysentery, whereas 34 of the 37 conventional animals came down with the disease.

The NIH researchers say the results point to the potential importance of germ-free investigations in a number of research areas.

In polio research such animals would be useful in investigating multiplication of the polio virus in the intestinal tract and the influence of bacteria on its multiplication and excretion.

In studies of tooth decay and diseases of the gums, scientists might be able to better understand

WESTERLY, R. I. (AP) Things have gone completely to the dogs here. One of the dogs, a pointer, has been found with a pound of them, he reports, "and nobody seems to want them—not even some owners whose license tags appear on the canine."

The thing that hurts him most, though, is that he has to pay for feeding them out of his own pocket under city ordinance.

SCIENTIFIC TRIP
LONGVIEW, TEX. (AP) Obviously this thief wanted to go straight and narrow path. His loot: one York engineering manual, one Kauter-Esser slide rule, a triangular architect's rule and two 60-degree drafting triangles.

the precise role played by germs. NIH scientists have previously shown that it's possible to produce these conditions in conventional animals by variation of diet. But it has never been possible completely to separate germ-caused dental troubles from those stemming from diet, heredity and the endocrine gland system.

TV HURTS WRITING?
DETROIT (AP) — Teachers of creative writing consider television a barrier to good writing, says Thomas Gauley head of the Derby High School English Department.

"What we stress in writing is simplicity, and you don't learn anything about simplicity from television," he says.

"We tell the students to write about their own experiences," Gauley said. "But very few of them think they have anything interesting to write about. So many are used to the tangled plots of television, the constant action on the screen and the frequent bursts of callous brutality. They fail to understand there is beauty in writing about a quiet day in the country."

U. S. First Marine Division Heads For Beachhead-Home

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U. S. 1st Marine Division is heading for a new, strange beachhead—home.

The division's last contingents assigned to Korea are on route to San Diego. The 2,500 officers and men left last weekend aboard five transports. The Army's 24th Division, redeployed from Japan, is replacing them.

The 1st came into existence in the 1942 staging preparations for Guadalcanal. The Leathernecks were known as the Pacific war's island hoppers. They weren't supposed to stick around long enough to fight a land war. But they did in Korea—three years storming up and down Korean hills. They suffered 22,000 killed, wounded and missing.

Then the division slayed through the postarmistice period to help the Koreans rebuild homes, churches, schools and lives. Tied down in the battle for the Nakdong bulge of southeast Korea in the early months of the war, they got back to their element—amphibious warfare—Sept. 16, 1950. They spearheaded a 40,000-man invasion force in the daring Inchon landing.

But from then on, it was slow and bloody—an indication of what the next three years were to be like.

The Leathernecks had the dirty but necessary job of taking Seoul from an enemy ordered to stand and die.

There was never too much love lost between the Leathernecks and the rest of the 8th Army. But the Marines fought as an integral part of the Army through the war—except for one bitter phase.

That was in December 1950. The Halls of Montezuma never looked farther away. A few hundred yards ahead lay the Changlin Reservoir. Ringing the hills were divisions of the Chinese Communist army waiting to crush the Leathernecks in a gigantic vise. The Marines contended they were sold short—forced to go it alone as temperatures dropped to 40 below zero. Their trust M-1 rifles, which under normal circumstances might have stopped the Chinese, failed to fire. The division suffered 3,500 casualties, more than half from frostbite, before it pulled back to the sea.

The Changlin Reservoir taught a lesson: their island-hopping equipment was to no avail in Korea. They tried innovations. While the Army scoffed at the lumbering thermal bomb, the Marines ordered them in bunches from the States. In the winter of 1951, the Marines reported a minimum number of frostbite cases. The Army, still using the old shoe-pac, continued to suffer.

The Marines put the helicopter to landing within enemy rifle range to airlift wounded to rear area hospitals. The Army followed suit later. And in November 1951, an entire Marine battalion was airlifted by helicopter from a reserve position to the front lines—only a few hundred yards from North Korean troops!

Other "firsts" followed for the division. The most prominent experiment was with the armored vest—and it now seems here to stay as standard military equipment. It saved many Marine lives. Forty-two Marines won the Medal of Honor in Korea.

RETIREMENT IS PARTIAL
LANCASTER, PA. (AP) — Dr. John L. Mentzer, 58, has retired from his medical practice but didn't get all the way to the skidlines. He has been reelected to his 61st term as director of the Farmers National Bank. He has been chairman of the board since 1948, served as president of the bank for 42 years before retiring in 1948 from that post.

ALMOST EVERY YOUNG MAN'S DREAM—A local young man gets a try-out with a pro-baseball team. Carl Overstreet reported to the Richmond Virginians Spring training camp this morning for a try-out and while at the plate taking a few cuts, the owner of the club, Harry Siebold, appeared on the field decked out in catching apparel and took over the duties just to get a closer look at this young man. (Staff Photos)

Strolling In Sanford

Any Daughters of the American Revolution who are visiting in the City are invited to attend the regular meeting of the Sallie Harrison Chapter tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. E. Talar, 807 Magnolia Ave. The Rev. J. B. Root, pastor of the Congregational Christian Church, will be the guest speaker.

County Judge Ernest Householder will speak at Crook's Academy at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow on "The Relationship of the Parent, the Juvenile and the School."

Oddity Department—Many stunned eyes were focused on the middle of E. First St. in the downtown section shortly before noon today as a large metal drum broke away from a soft drink truck and nonchalantly rolled down the street defying all traffic. So much for the lighter side. The fragile ending came when the carefree barrel decided to terminate its little tour by resting comfortably in the fender of a shiny new automobile. Apparently everyone was so fascinated to stop the drum that decided to "take a stroll in Sanford."

County Seeking To Give Vaccine

Detailed plans now are being worked out for the possible administration of polio vaccine to 1,700 Seminole County children who will be eligible to receive it if it is licensed, Dr. Terry Bird, County Health Officer, said today.

As was announced by state health officials, all first and second grade pupils in public, private and parochial schools in the state are included in the planned program. Vaccine also will be available to other through physicians at the same time.

But parents were warned by Dr. Bird not to jump to conclusions that the current planning indicated the vaccine already had been proved effective.

"The vaccine which will be furnished by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is the same vaccine that was given to 400,000 children last spring," he emphasized.

"We do not know yet whether it really prevents paralytic polio. Until April, when we will learn the results of the evaluation study now being conducted at the University of Michigan, we cannot know if the vaccine is effective."

Dr. Bird added:

Life-Long Ambition Finally Comes True

By CARL OVERSTREET
Herald Staff Writer

Today I realized every man's top ambition. No, I didn't meet Marilyn Monroe, swim the English Channel, or receive a million bucks through a rich uncle's will.

I was—if only for an hour—a professional baseball player.

Clad in an official uniform emblazoned with the number 97, I tried out with the Richmond baseball club at its Spring training camp here.

Every man secretly believes he would make a wonderful ball player if given the opportunity. I had that golden opportunity.

As I did my stuff at the old stadium, I was closely watched from all sides. But not by big league scouts. The players were afraid I might beat one of them with a bat or a ball.

"You look just like Dom DiMaggio," another newspaperman commented.

"Did you see that like Dixie Dean," still another spectator shouted. I noted that he put the emphasis on "Dixie."

The important thing was that I started at the top. Harry Siebold, owner of the club, took time out to size me up himself. He even served as catcher as I clouted a few.

I waited for him to hand me a contract. After all, I am no hold-out. I was even willing to furnish the fountain pen.

Turning over and over in my mind was the question: Should I ask for a bonus the first season or wait until later?

I knew I was a born baseball player.

After playing baseball for an hour, I wished I had never been born. I kept putting my foot in my mouth—and those spikes hurt. Everybody ducked. Why? I had walked up to the plate. I was going to murder that ball. I pointed

$200,000 Sale Is Made By Whiddon

The largest grove in the Central Florida area so far this month was sold for a reported $200,000 by Benjamin and Samuel Echelman to A. F. Powell of DeLand through C. A. Whiddon Sr., local real estate broker.

The 110 acre bearing grove is located in West Orange County in what is known as Windemere.

In recent reports from several Central Florida counties, there has been a considerable amount of activity in the citrus industry with quite a large number of grove sales being transacted in and around Seminole County.

Industry Subject Of McKibbin Talk At Jaycees Today

Planned industrial districts was the subject of an informative talk presented today at the Jaycees noon luncheon by Clifford W. McKibbin Jr. who pointed out the available sites for industry and the many new business opportunities in the Sanford and Seminole County area. The speaker further brought out in his speech that "industrial growth does not just happen. It must be planned."

McKibbin came to Sanford in January, 1949, to serve as City Manager which capacity he also held in Winter Park before coming to this City. He has had an active part in the local organization of the Boy Scouts of America.

A short report on the progress of the newly formed Jaycees was given by Tommy Stinger who announced that the boys' group had elected temporary officers and has drawn up and accepted its by-laws.

At the present time the Jaycees are sponsoring a membership campaign with George Andrew Speer and A. B. Peterson Jr. as co-chairmen of the drive. Membership cards may be obtained from the Jaycees Information Booth or by contacting any Jaycee.

EXPERIMENT SUCCESSFUL—WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield says the experiment of moving 3-cent mail by air when space is available has proved "quite successful" and he may ask Congress to make the plan permanent.

Collins Removes Smith As Chairman Of Barber Board

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. Collins today removed Joe L. Smith of Miami as chairman of the Florida Barbers Sanitary Commission because of alleged irregularities in issuance of licenses last year.

The governor has the power to remove a barber board member. Confirmation of the Senate is not necessary.

The governor announced removal was not intended to cast any personal reflections on Smith who had offered his cooperation. But, he said, while he believed Smith had no intent of wrongdoing he had to share responsibility for the wrongdoing of the board.

Smith told the governor he had information he was willing to present to a grand jury of license purchasing by applicants.

The two other members of the barber board resigned last week. The governor said he would not ask the Leon County Circuit Court at this time to call a grand jury to investigate the situation.

"I will ask the new board I shall appoint to confer with the attorney general as to what action should be taken to prevent recurrences," he said.

Smith said he knew of barbers who received licenses without taking examinations. He said some told him they bought their licenses. "I don't know where he got the licenses," Smith said.

He described the go-between as "a Miami man . . . an Italian . . . a dangerous man . . . a racketeer."

Smith told the governor that on four occasions last year he was introduced to higher license applicants by C. B. Rankin, then chairman of the board, and was told by Rankin that "Mr. Peter had told him to give the man the examination on the short form, which was referred to as the Negro paper."

Ten Puerto Ricans Convicted By Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal court jury early today convicted 10 Puerto Rican Nationalist party members of seditious conspiracy after deliberating the case for nearly 16 hours.

The group had been charged with trying to bring about the "political independence of Puerto Rico from the United States by force and violence and armed revolution."

Testimony at the trial linked the Nationalist party with the 1950 attempt to assassinate former President Truman and the wounding of five congressmen in the U.S. House of Representatives March 1, 1954.

In charging the jury, Judge John F. X. McGuehey said it must decide whether the defendants helped in these shootings. If the jury found that the shootings were the isolated act of a few persons unaffiliated with the defendants, the jury could not consider them against the defendants, he said.

The new convictions brought to 27 the number of Nationalist party members who have been convicted, or pleaded guilty to, seditious charges in the past six months.

U. S. Finally Gets Touch Of Spring

Another mild, pleasant day appeared the outlook for most of the nation today.

The later winter spell of spring like weather sent temperatures into the upper 80s in western and central Texas yesterday. Readings were in the 70s northward into western Nebraska, the central Mississippi Valley and southern Virginia.

General warming was reported throughout the Gulf and Atlantic coastal states with temperatures as much as 25 degrees higher early today than yesterday. Readings in the 60s were reported from Texas and the west Gulf states northward to the lower Ohio Valley.

LOCKED OUT—WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower got locked out of the White House momentarily today. He had gone into the rose garden just outside to greet a group of foreign students in this country to study atomic energy technology.

Exercise Is Secret Of Youth, Says Dr. Gibbs Who Is 99 Today

The secret of maintaining youth is exercise. So says J. C. Gibbs, retired Michigan doctor now living at 802 Magnolia Ave. here in Sanford, who today is marking his 99th birthday.

"You have to keep your muscles limber," he said, "and you have to exercise the brain too." To explain the latter comment he waved his hand at the books surrounding him on the porch swing.

With the century mark just around the corner, Dr. Gibbs is very unconcerned that he does too much exercise. He lingers those "muscles" by pushing a lawn mower, walking nine blocks to the Post Office every day, picking fruit, and doing most of the chores of a yard attendant. Consequently his home and yard are one of the tidiest in Sanford.

Mrs. Gibbs says "I can't do a thing with him. If I go to town in the car he walks; says he needs the exercise. The only thing wrong with him is that he is a little hard of hearing."

"His friends have kept him busy all morning," she went on. "As soon as one leaves another comes. Just give him a book and he's completely happy."

Mr. Gibbs, with a twinkle in his eye, remarked that people nowadays don't get enough of the muscle building exercise.

He was born in a log cabin at Kalamazoo, Mich. and began a general practice of medicine in Crown Point, Ind. in 1886. In 1922 he retired at the young age of 65. While in Florida on a trip he decided to stay in Sanford and has made his home here ever since. The climate "just agreed" with him.

As The Sanford Herald reporter left Dr. Gibbs, he was seen reaching for the rake to complete his unfinished chore. Seems as though the kindly gentleman is thoroughly confident of his theory that the secret of youth is exercise.

Dr. Harry Jessop Will Speak Sunday

Dr. Harry E. Jessop, author of college textbooks, lecturer, and president emeritus of the Chicago Evangelistic Institute, will be the guest speaker at the 10:45 o'clock Sunday morning service of the Church of the Nazarene.

He will also speak at a special afternoon union service of the following churches: Free Methodist Church of Sanford, Wesleyan Methodist Church of Sanford, and the Lake Mary Nazarene Church.

Special singing is being planned and the public is invited to attend.

John C. Andrews Dies At Bay Pines

John C. Andrews, 76, died March 8 at Bay Pines Veterans Hospital. He was born May 25, 1878 in Green County, Ga. and formerly lived in Sanford at which time he owned a grocery store at Paula Corner.

Mr. Andrews served as Chaplain in the VFW Post in Craddock, Va. He is survived by two sons, J. W. Andrews, Atlanta, Ga.; Joe E. Andrews, of Sanford; and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Spivey, Sanford, Mrs. E. L. Gay, of Miami, Fla.

Funeral services will be tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Brison Funeral Home and burial will be in Oakland Memorial Park.

COLLINS 46 TODAY

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. Collins found a fancy cake on his desk this morning. It was a gift from his office staff on his 46th birthday today.

The cake remained on the desk while Collins conducted a removal hearing for Joe L. Smith of Miami, chairman of the barber board.

Owners Determine Future

Need Is Told
Of Right-Of-Ways

The future of the move to four-lane U. S. Highway 17-92 rests with owners of the abutting property.

That was the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce's Long-Range Roads Planning Committee as it met last night at Elmer's Restaurant.

"Four-laning of U. S. 17-92 to current standards," said Braxley Odham, chairman of the committee, "will require a lot of right-of-way. If this right-of-way can be bought cheaply enough, the project will go through. If not, it won't."

The help of all Seminole County residents is needed to insure the completion of the project, Odham said in requesting that property owners join in the great cooperative effort.

He cited the danger of "jeopardizing an opportunity" and warned that if cooperation is not shown on right-of-way, the state might go ahead with a bypass.

Odham again emphasized the importance of the project to the county.

Four-laning of U. S. 17-92 has been tagged by the committee as the county's number 1 road project. The State Road Board has appropriated $800,000 for the project.

Campbell Thornall, fifth district member of the State Road Board, said recently that the amount will cover the portion of the highway from Orange County about to the "Big Tree Road, approximately eight miles south of Sanford.

Four-laning of the highway, the Chamber committee pointed out in a resolution recently, "will not only aid and promote the development of the economic life of Seminole County, but will also materially decrease the death and traffic toll through traffic accidents on the said highway."

The highway is the principal arterial highway running north and south through Seminole County and has one of the highest traffic counts of any road in Florida, according to the State Road Department.

Rickey Green, district engineer for the Highway Department, showed preliminary maps at the meeting last night. Two of Green's assistants were also present.

Fire Department Answers Alarms

The Sanford Fire Department answered four fire alarms yesterday. The first came at 1:20 p. m. when it was called to assist the Forest Rangers at a grass and wood fire at Elder Springs.

The second fire at 1:50 p. m. was also a grass fire out of the City at Mulhawk Ave. The men were gone 40 minutes.

At 2:35 p. m. another alarm was turned in at 118 W. Second Street at the Automatic Laundry operated by Fred Kennedy. The cause was a defective boiler, however nothing was damaged.

The last call came at 2:53 p. m. when another grass fire was discovered at 2615 Mulhawk Ave. This was out of the city.

Fla. Supreme Court Affirms Sentence

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Florida Supreme Court yesterday affirmed Samuel J. Hornbeck's death sentence for the 1933 slaying of a Duval County patrolman.

Hornbeck, who was fleeing a bank robbery charge, had just robbed a restaurant and with a companion was attempting to shoot his way through a police cordon when patrolman Thomas Allen Robinson Jr. was killed.

Defense attorneys claimed Hornbeck should not have been tried for first degree murder because none of the robbery victims was killed and premeditation had not been proved as far as the patrolman was concerned. They said Robinson could have been killed by a wild shot from another officer.

Justice B. K. Roberts, writing the court's opinion, said the patrolman was slain in the course of the robbery and that was all that counted.
