

REGIONAL DIRECTOR GRANTS OUR REQUEST AT ATLANTA MEETING

Board Of Trade Secures Five Days Schedule

It is a pleasure to announce that efforts in behalf of growers and shippers toward securing normal transportation from how on for perishable and food products has met with perfect success.

It was Thursday, the 21st, that our representative met the government representatives in the office of the Regional Director, Atlanta, and on that date definite action was taken wherein effective Sunday, March 24, a reduction in tonnage on all perishable trains was ordered.

At this meeting D. C. Marlowe and W. D. Nelson were growers' representatives. Mr. Marlowe representing the Sanford Board of Trade and the Sanford Commercial Club and the Hastings Potato Growers Association.

Representing the government and railroads at the meeting were: Chas. R. Capps and J. T. King, for the Regional Director, Charles Barham, Traffic Director, United States Food Administration, Southern District, and W. W. Robertson, General Southeastern Agent Fruit Growers Express.

United States R. R. Administration W. G. McAdoo, Director General, Washington, D. C.

Southern Territory C. H. Markham, Regional Director, Heavy Building, Atlanta, Ga. March 21st, 1918.

To insure greater efficiency in the transportation of perishable fruits and vegetables, it is necessary to confine this transportation to a minimum number of lines. The widespread distribution, resulting from the solicitation of this traffic via a great many routes, has resulted in a situation where during a large part of the season no route has had a sufficient volume of perishable traffic to warrant proper service.

Florida East—Hereafter the movement of perishable traffic from Florida to Buffalo, Pittsburgh zone and points east thereof is to be confined to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Seaboard Air Line Railway, north of Jacksonville, West Jacksonville or Waycross. The diversion points for this traffic will be Jacksonville, West Jacksonville, Waycross and Potomac Yards.

Movement to the east via other routes will be discontinued.

West—From Florida to the west, there will be routes via the Seaboard Air Line Railway to River Junction or via Atlantic Coast Line Railway to River Junction or Montgomery when for Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans and beyond. To other western points there will be two routes via Montgomery, one from Jacksonville or West Jacksonville via G. S. & F. Ry. to Cordale, S. A. L. Ry. thence to Montgomery and lines diverging from Montgomery, and the other from Jacksonville or Waycross via A. C. L. R. R. to Montgomery and lines diverging from Montgomery, and two routes via Atlanta, one from Jacksonville

o. West Jacksonville via G. S. & F. Ry. to Macon, Southern Railway to Atlanta and lines diverging to Atlanta, and the other from Jacksonville or Waycross via A. C. L. R. R. to Albany, C. of G. Ry. to Atlanta and lines diverging from Atlanta.

Perishable traffic moving to the west, which may also include the Buffalo-Pittsburgh zone, will not be diverted to points east of the Buffalo-Pittsburgh zone.

Movement to the west via Thulahoma Everett, Savannah, Vidalia, Fairfax, Columbia, Petersburg, Jessup, Offeman, Willacoochee, Tifton, Yemassee, Florence or Wadsworth will be discontinued.

Routing Privileges It is not intended to deprive shippers of any routing rights except as to the defined routings up to the defined routes up to Potomac Yard, Montgomery and Atlanta. As information it is proper to explain that perishable traffic brought into Jacksonville by the Atlantic Coast Line will be carried out by the Atlantic Coast Line; that perishable traffic brought into Jacksonville by the Seaboard for the west will be carried out of Jacksonville by the G. S. & F.; that perishable traffic brought into Jacksonville by the Florida East Coast Railway will be carried out of Jacksonville for the east by the Seaboard or the Atlantic Coast Line, and for the west by the G. S. & F. or the Atlantic Coast Line as current conditions may justify.

Schedules As information, service via Potomac Yard and Pennsylvania Railroad will, effective March 24th and continuing until June 22nd be established on approximately the old basis. (Signed) C. H. Markham, Regional Director.

The Regional Director requests the co-operation of growers and shippers and urges respect for the routes designated in his circular. It was explained to Messrs. Capps and King that what the growers wanted was "movement" and that the question of routes, as far as the growers were concerned did not enter into the matter and the routes are logical and by them we are assured of speedy transportation which will make a market.

Colored American Citizens Americans of every section, of every class, and of every race have answered the call of their country.

"Twelve million colored people have rallied to the defense of their country in this crisis, and will do their full share in helping to win this world war for democracy." Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute, successor of Booker T. Washington, in that office, said recently in an address at the Twenty-seventh Tuskegee Conference.

The colored American citizens will do their part in producing foodstuffs on the farm, in conserving food in the home, and in fighting in the trenches in Europe, said Dr. Moton, and in addition the colored ministry and the colored teachers will preach and teach thrift among their race.

It has been impossible to obtain figures on the amount of Liberty Loan bonds purchased by colored Americans in the first and second loans, but it is known that according to their ability the colored race were very loyal and active and most liberal subscribers to the loans.

Services at Methodist Church There will be special services all this week at the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock, to which all are invited.

MILITARISTS CAST DIE ON BATTLE

Americans See No Danger In German Offensive

Washington, Mich. 25.—The German offensive, says the war department's weekly communique, issued today, proves that the German militarists, no longer able to control the German people by political maneuver have been forced to attempt a gigantic feat of arms to maintain their domination.

While the great attack has been able to make headway, no definite enveloping movement has been outlined, the communique says, and it would be premature to express opinions on the tactical phases with a combat situation inevitably changing in a battle of such magnitude.

Increased Teutonic activity on the Italian front also is noted in the review which says this may be the prelude to an offensive in this theater. The communique, however, devotes the greater part of its space to the German attack on the British front.

The assault launched by the Germans against the British front has reopened the fighting season in the west, says the communique.

"This operation continues to us that the German higher command, unable to control the strategic situation through political agencies, has been unceasingly attempted has been forced to engage in a desperate military venture in an effort to retain its domination over the peoples of the central empires and, if possible force a victorious peace by the fortunes of arms.

The German attack began with a brief but overwhelming artillery bombardment with high explosive and gas shells, at dawn on March 21, in the rolling country north of the Aise, 99 miles northeast of Paris.

From Croisilles, south to Venduil, the Germans concentrated this preliminary barrage in which a number of Austrian batteries participated.

"At the same time hostile artillery was active in the Ypres-LaBasse region.

German Losses Heavy "The German infantry divisions thereupon advanced to the attack along the banks of the salient in front of Cambrai. Furious fighting continued on the northern bank between Croisilles, Bullecourt and Lagnicourt; on the southern, along the line Gouzeaucourt-Hargicourt-Leverguler and extending across the Crozat canal to beyond LaFere.

"The British forces are heavily engaged. While the Germans have been able to make headway no definite enveloping movement is as yet outlined.

"Enemy casualties have been exceedingly heavy. The extension of the battle is possible.

"Prior to the German attack, great activity prevailed along the entire British front. The British troops were successful in a number of raids strongly driven into the enemy lines, proving their alertness and initiative.

"Our own forces in training in Lorraine are still holding on to the trenches northeast of Badonviller which were captured last week. In this region our artillery is continuing to batter the German lines and a number of scouting parties say enemy works have been considerably damaged.

"In our sector north of Toul our artillery has successfully bombarded enemy works and billets behind their lines.

"A hostile raid was attempted against our forces at another point. This operation was preceded by a strong barrage. Our infantry, well supported by artillery was able to stop the attacking column before our trenches were reached. Our troops raided hostile works east of Luneville. In the Laon area the enemy used a considerable number of gas shells causing only slight casualties.

French Front Active. "The French front has also been extremely active. Large raiding operations were undertaken, more especially in the Verdun area. A brisk

GET READY EVERYBODY FOR A CIRCUS

Red Cross Circus Will Be The Attraction

As the time draws closer for the big Red Cross Society Circus that will be held in Sanford on the nights of April 11, 12 and 13 it looks like the big tent will not hold the people for they are coming from every section of this part of the state.

Being a real circus with a goodly sprinkling of local talent and given for the benefit of Seminole Chapter Red Cross it has the endorsement of press and pulpit and will be a clean and moral and old time circus with the added attraction of side shows and local freaks that will cause more excitement than real side shows of old man Barnum in the old days.

Florida has not had the opportunity to see many of the old time attractions in the circus line and the "big Top" filled with the many attractions, with the country store, the side shows, the local clowns, the real acts in the ring by real performers such as the daring trapeze, aerial acts, the trained horses, the trained dogs, the knife throwers, the Wild West acts with fancy shooting and many other acts all supplemented by the famous Highlander Band in "kilties" is bound to hold the youngsters and the older ones spellbound and will carry all of us back to the happy days of childhood when the circus was the one big event of our lives.

All of us like to see the circus and those of us who do not have passed beyond the sphere of life when there is any enjoyment in anything. Get ready for the big Red Cross Circus in Sanford on the nights of April 11, 12 and 13. The Highlander Band will let you know when they are ready. Watch for future announcements in local papers and see the bill boards.

Huff Appoints Committee T. S. Huff, food administrator for Seminole county has appointed the following committee to assist him in his administration:

Publicity, R. J. Holly. Merchants' Representative, L. P. McCuller. Household Representative, Mrs. C. M. Berry. Hotel Representative, S. J. Carms.

DeLand now has a ten-acre park-ette in the heart of the city, which will be used for a free auto camp. Every opportunity for rest is afforded the tired motorist. Electric light, water, fuel and comfort rooms will be furnished free of cost to the traveler.

French attack against the hostile trenches in Malancourt wood resulted in the penetration of the enemy line on a front of 1,400 yards to a depth of 800 yards.

"The Germans in turn temporarily were able to penetrate the French trenches in Samogneux, Caurieres wood and Bezonvaux, while southeast of Arnes and west of Apremont the enemy thrust forward a number of units and succeeded in overrunning the French positions and took prisoners. (Hitherto there has been no indication of an extension of the German offensive to the French front.)

"We also note that Belgium units have taken over the important North sea segment of the western front which for a long time was held by the French.

"Simultaneous with the German operations in the west we note further hostile action in Italy, which may be the prelude to an offensive in this theater. An Austrian detachment launched a heavy assault in the Frenzela valley and was able to penetrate into the advance outposts, but was thereupon checked.

"Peace between Russia and the central powers may have been ratified at Moscow. However, the enemy is continuing to advance into Russia. Petrograd has been evacuated. The Russian general staff has moved from Smolensk to Moscow."

The review outlines briefly the principal events of the week on other fronts.

GIGANTIC STRUGGLE ON WESTERN FRONT GOES ON UNABATED

Germans Make Gains But Suffer Great Losses

The fighting continues on the western front and many rumors are current about the winners but the truth of the matter is that no authentic news is filtering by the censors as yet and there is no victory for either side at this time. The Germans claim that they have penetrated the allies' lines and they have, but not far enough to claim a victory.

The allies claim that they mowed down the Germans as they came on in mass formation and they have been the losers of the Germans have been the frightful but the inhuman Kaiser cares nothing for the loss of life for he is staking his all on winning a victory or at least the semblance of a victory in order to still the voice of the people at home that will soon swell into a chorus and overthrow his power.

Yesterday there were rumors that 500,000 Germans had been captured and with them the crown prince. Afterward the number ran to millions and at one time the Kaiser was captured but these rumors were not verified and the public is warned against placing any confidence in these tales. At the present time the immense armies are locked in a death struggle and there is no decision. The American people can take hope from the fact that the Germans cannot break through the allied lines for big gains although they have more men than the British and French and the next few days will result in the failure of the Germans along the entire front according to war experts.

War Summary

France has thrown the weight of her forces into the great battle raging with unexampled intensity on the western front, and British and French armies are battling together against the common enemy's desperate attempt to break through the allied line.

The British armies are holding fast on the Somme and also in the region north of Bapaume, Field Marshal Haig reports today. The Germans in their thrusts in the latter sections reached the British trenches at only one point, where they were immediately ejected. Their assaults elsewhere were smothered by the British fire with great losses to the enemy.

On the Somme line bodies of German troops which had succeeded in forcing their way across the river between Liecourt and Brie, south of Peronne were driven back to the east bank. On both sides of Bapaume the German attacks were repulsed today.

The greatest danger point at present seems to be farther south, where the Germans apparently have driven through the great width of the region they devastated in retiring in 1917, as the Paris statement today reports heavy fighting in the region of Noyon. This town itself is some 10 miles west of Chauny, in the region where Berlin yesterday reported the repulse of Franco-American reserves, but the German advance probably has been met considerably short of Noyon.

The wedge driven into the allied line is evidently a deep one, however, as the French troops are reported by Paris to be contesting for the heights north of the Oise with important German forces. The Oise on this part of the front runs southwest past Chauny and passes south of Noyon.

150,000 Hung Lost London, March 25.—Commenting on the results of the German offensive, the Daily Chronicle says:

"Assuming that the German losses are at least 150,000, the enemy has sustained a reverse for he has not obtained a strategical success directly conducive to a decision, while he has lost eight or ten per cent of his effectives without similarly lowering the efficiency of the allies.

"This matter is of the greatest importance for Germany at present is at the critical moment when the main power pendulum is swinging in favor of the allies. No weakness at the Anglo-French junction has yet been disclosed and the task before the enemy in the next few days of the battle is more formidable than that already accomplished."

May Bombard London

London, March 25.—"The ultimate object of this rapid and intent enemy advance is clearly the great strategic point of Amiens," says the Times, "and though it is still remote the situation is sufficiently serious to warrant a contemplation of this catastrophe. The fall of Amiens might have three-fold consequences: It would bring the enemy to a point from which to threaten our northern line, it would assist them to strike at the channel ports and it would endanger seriously the safety of Paris."

The Times advises the British people to take seriously the long range gun which has bombarded Paris and adds:

"We may be quite certain that our own inviolate shores will soon learn what the new gun can do."

Germans Heavy Losses

London, March 25. The Germans swarmed over No Man's Land in such great numbers in their first attacks that it was impossible for the British gunners to miss them, telegraphs the correspondent at British headquarters in France of the Daily Express. T20 batteries at Epehy fired steadily with open sights at 400 yards for four hours. Telling of the thrilling exploit of Leicestershire troops, the correspondent says:

"Perzies was held for a time by two companies of Leicestershires assisted by the tanks. The enemy kept pressing them back, however, and one company was completely cut off. Instead of surrendering, they held to the village until only a few men were left. Then the surviving officer led them in a charge through two lines of Germans and they fought their way back to our main body."

Beacham Helps Farmers

Following strenuous efforts on the part of Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator for Florida, word has been received from Washington to the effect that plans have already been worked out for handling Florida perishables on schedules which were in effect during former years.

Mr. Beacham has insisted that this matter be taken up with the greatest possible efforts on the part of the Food Administration, and the result, has been that all branches of the Food Administration handling perishables such as fruit and vegetables shipped from this state have combined in one great effort toward a solution of the problem.

A meeting of the railroad officials of southern and northern lines was held in Richmond, Virginia, on the 20th for perfecting the schedules.

Florida shippers can now rest assured that their needs will be taken care of and they cannot fail to give credit to the Food Administration for the excellent result obtained in getting this matter properly adjusted.

Through the work of Mr. Beacham, and the authorities at Washington, negotiations were carried on past the Department of Agriculture and directly to the attention of Director of Railroads McAdoo, who was shown that a great loss would result if Florida perishables were not taken care of.

Now that the needs of the grower will be filled, Mr. Beacham hopes that a great acreage of staple crops will follow the perishables as the farmers will have this land available in the near future, and there will be exceptionally strong market for corn, peanuts and other crops which are so badly needed at the present time.

Mrs. F. L. Woodruff will entertain next Thursday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Nellie Elder whose marriage to Mr. Goodspeed of Jacksonville will be an interesting event of the 31st of March.

LONGWOOD WILL HAVE AUXILIARY

Board of Trade Members Held Meeting Last Night

The Sanford Board of Trade, in and for Seminole County is constantly adding new territory to the organization and with Oviedo and Geneva already in with flourishing local branches of their own Longwood, Altamonte, Chuluota and Monroe are to follow.

With this idea in view Second Vice President C. W. Entzinger invited the Organization and Membership Committee under the chairman, F. P. Forster, to visit Longwood last night and talk to the people about organizing a Longwood auxiliary or becoming members without having a Longwood auxiliary.

On account of the absence of Secretary Marlowe notices of the meeting at Longwood had not been sent out and the usual large crowd of Sanford, Geneva and Oviedo people were not present at the meeting but Chairman Foster, President Holly and J. C. Hall, D. L. Thrasher and L. P. Hagan were present and at the Longwood Hotel met the people of Longwood and a most enthusiastic meeting was held, the results of which will be an active auxiliary to the parent organization. As all of the people of that section were not present it was thought advisable by the Longwood auxiliary to forego the regular election and organization until next Monday night at which time the Longwood citizens will meet again and elect permanent officers and become affiliated with the Sanford Board of Trade.

The good people of that thriving Seminole city are alive to the advantages of being members of this great organization. They have a good town at Longwood and they want it placed on the map in large letters and kept there and they realize that nothing will do this quite as well as a good live board of trade. They also recognize the good results obtained in reduction of freight rates and other benefits that were gained by the consistent and continued efforts of the Sanford Board of Trade that is working for the entire county.

The next auxiliary will probably be formed at Altamonte where there are now a goodly number of active members of the Sanford Board of Trade. Altamonte last night was represented by Howard Lyman and H. L. Haight, both of them great boosters for the Board of Trade.

LOCAL TALENT WAS GREAT

Entertainment at Congregational Church Great Success

The local Lyceum attraction at the Congregational church was better than any professional talent that has ever been brought to the city by the Lyceum Bureau and hereafter Sanford will not need to depend upon the outside organizations to put on the attractions in the musical lines during the winter season. The local talent last Tuesday night demonstrated that real ability exists in this city and their efforts to give this entertainment and assist the men who put up their money for the Lyceum attractions that failed to raise the money are appreciated.

Space will not permit a detailed report of the entertainment. Suffice to say that the church was crowded and that the entertainment was one of the best ever placed before an audience in this city.

The following program was rendered and every number was better than the professionals ever rendered: "My Native Isle" White Gentlemen's Voices "A Leaf from the Spray" Ney Mrs. Ella P. Hillburn "The Long Day Closes" Sullivan West Ladies' Chorus Reading, "The Two Roads" Mrs. R. C. Maxwell

Cornet Solo, "O Solitaria" Panofk Mrs. Jessie Stumon Herndon (a) "O Holy Father" (b) "Lullaby" Ladies' Quartette

"Spring is Here" Dick Mrs. A. M. Phillips "My Old Kentucky Home" Gentlemen's Quartette "Solo, Grand Organ"

Mrs. Lucile Aspinwall Takach "When Daylight Goes" Niedlinger Ladies' Chorus

Violin Solo, "Meditation," from This Massenet Mr. J. Reizenstein

"My Aunt Eliza" (by request) Mrs. Wren McGuln

The local Lyceum Association wishes to heartily thank all who have assisted in making the course just closed so nearly a success, especially those who contributed so delightfully to the benefit concert of Tuesday evening last, including Rev. Dr. Brower personally and the Congregational Society for free use of church, pipe organ and piano; Mrs. Julius Takach and the Ladies Chorus; Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Mettinger, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Fox, quartette; Mrs. Hillburn and Mrs. Phillips, solos; Mrs. Robert Herndon, cornet; Mrs. Maxwell, reader; Mr. Reizenstein violin; the gentlemen of the quartette; Mrs. McGuin, dramatist; Mrs. Deas, Mrs. Maines and Miss Mason, accompanists; Mr. and Mrs. Munson, flowers; Rev. Dr. McKinnon, special donation, $2.00; the M. E. Society, use of chairs, the school board, use of auditorium; Mr. Bradbury, janitor; patrons who purchased tickets or admissions; Messrs. Adams, Kent and Randall, ticket taking and ushering; the gentlemen who have put their hands in their pockets and without a grumble made up the deficit, Messrs. T. W. Lawton, Forrest Lake, A. R. Key, R. J. Holly, B. F. Whitner, D. C. Marlowe, E. A. Douglass, L. R. Phillips, S. J. Carnes, R. F. Connor and E. T. Woodruff. If there are no further difficulties in settlement with the Redpath Bureau, these sponsors, through the cancelling of the last attraction and receipt of the $20.75 from the benefit concert will have rebate so that their net outgo will be reduced to $3.00 each.

On The Hook Drive

The soldiers and sailors want books and Sanford is expected to furnish her quota. Send them to the Library Association if you have them. The following account of the books needed will be helpful:

"The most popular books in camp are the 'Quartermaster Manual' and 'Over the Top,'" says L. W. Jesselyn, librarian at Camp Johnston, near Jacksonville, Fla. "Private Regt. and 'Army Regulations' are close competitors, and we need Shakespeare, 'The International Encyclopedia,' Kipling and Service—a lot of additional copies."

The A. L. A. Library Building at Camp Johnston was formally opened on January 28th. "After the first half hour of service," says the librarian, "we made every technical and military science book 'reference,' and would not let them circulate. I can state with absolute certainty that every book on carpentry, mechanics, engineering, and in fact all the useful arts, and every book on military subjects would have gone before we closed that first night, if we had not made them 'reference.'"

"It's amusing," he says, "to see men lined up to get Carter's 'Horses, Saddles and Bridles,' or Captain Hayes' 'Veterinary Notes.' If I circulated the 'Quartermaster's Manual,' I would need a thousand copies. The automobile books are in great demand and the truck drivers are disappointed because they can't take these out. But if they stay here they are in use all the time, whereas, if I circulated them, they would be idle part of the time."

"But this is not simply a technical library. We had several shelves of the War and there are rarely six volumes in. Jack London, Shakespeare, O. Henry, Service, Kipling, Churchill, Stewart Edward White, Zane Grey, Richard Harding Davis and Irvin S. Cobb are all very popular."

Band Concert

Tuesday evening, March 26th. Watch the Herald of that date for the program, which will include some new features.

Boy Preacher Here

Charles Turner, the Boy Preacher will preach at the Star Theater Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All invited to hear him.

Sunday at Congregational Church This being Palm Sunday the morning theme will be "The Triumphant Entry, or the Word of Cheer for Tragic Times."

Miss Isabelle Phelps, missionary of the American Board at Pao-ting-fu, China, home on furlough will speak in the evening. Miss Phelps is thoroughly acquainted with China and the Chinese, is a thrilling speaker and brilliant impersonator. She has been visiting some important Florida points and Sanford is extremely fortunate in hearing her. It is possible that Miss Phelps will occupy the pulpit also in the morning; if so, the evening's presentation will be one of impersonations of women's life in China.

Do not fail to hear this worker who represents the Church in the front trenches of service. Bring a silver offering for the evening.

Preaching at Upsala

There will be church service in the afternoon at the school house at three o'clock, Rev. C. DeW. Brower of Sanford is to speak.

A Question

Why don't we get dumber instead of winker?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LETTUCE MARKET STRENGTHENS

Florida head lettuce sold to jobbers at a wide range of $1.00-2.75 per 1 1/2 bushel hampers, with fair to good demand. California iceberg met fairly good demand at $2.00-2.50 per crate. Northern hothouse head lettuce sold in Boston at 65-85c per dozen, and leaf lettuce ranged generally 10-13 1/2c per lb. and 25-40c per dozen. Lettuce shipments decreased 15 cars from California and total of 28 cars was 9 cars less than last week's movement. California has shipped twice, and Florida three times the volume of last season to date.

New Auto Horn

A horn to be carried on the rear of an automobile, which sounds automatically when the car is backed, has been invented by a woman.

HEORIC WOMEN IN FRANCE

Dr. Alonzo Taylor.

My words are not powerful enough with an attitude that amounts to most to religious exaltation, the woman of France bears the burden of the war, conditions being as they are,

and it is within the heart of the American people to preserve and hold to every convenience of our life at the expense of adding an additional burden to the womanhood of France. This is the exact question that is involved in our substitution of other cereals in place of wheat.

The woman of France must be enabled to hold up the morale of the French soldier until next spring.

The morale of the soldier in the fighting front, upon their shoulders.

Many lessons being taught to our

WHAT SHALL BE THE ANSWER

Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record, in a recent issue of that publication in an editorial summing up the war situation says:

America is made up of 100,000,000 units of individual men and women. It has well been said that God does not know America as America, except as He knows you and me and every individual who in the aggregate comprise America.

You are America to the extent of your individuality. Your responsibility in this world crisis is exactly the same as that of America as a whole.

America must put forth every ounce of its strength to save itself, but America will fail to do this to the extent that any individual fails to do his or her full duty.

Viewed from this angle, are you truly an American or are you merely a hanger on, shouting perhaps with the crowd, but doing no real effective service in this, the greatest crisis since man's creation?

Go deep down into your soul before you make answer to yourself, to your country and to your God to these questions:

What am I doing personally to uphold the government, to equip and sustain our soldiers and to lighten their burdens?

What sacrifice am I making to match the sacrifice of the soldiers who give up home and endure untold hardships and offer their lives to protect me?

What am I doing to increase the output of the things needed for war or to sustain the nation in its stupendous task?

Am I seeking personal gain of higher wages or shorter hours or larger profits merely for my own individual selfish interests?

Am I consecrating every ounce of my strength, every power of my being toward arousing the nation toward quickening latent patriotism into a living flame, toward increasing food production, increasing food consumption, and toward increasing the building of ships, the increased output of steel and iron and coal and chemicals and machinery, the expansion and at the same time the conservation of transportation facilities by rail and water and highway?

Am I adjusting my family expenses by cutting out every unnecessary thing that the money thus saved may be dedicated to the nation's use through Liberty Bonds, Red Cross or Y. M. C. A. work, or religious activities?

Am I merely a casual looker on, an unthinking beast with no realization of my individual responsibility to God and man, or am I consecrating all that is in me, all my powers of mind and body, to this great task, the most momentous to which mankind has ever been called?

Am I a shirker, a slacker, a physical, mental or a financial coward, or am I a man or a woman into whom God has really breathed the breath of life in its largest and divinest sense?

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Concerning Brining and Salting Vegetables

With the uncertainty of being able to secure an adequate supply of cans or even jars for the preservation of vegetables this summer it is imperative that every housewife should inform herself as to the processes of brining and salting such products. As a matter of fact brining and salting are the quickest and simplest method of preserving vegetables and eminently satisfactory in many cases more satisfactory than canning in glass or tin.

Because of these facts it is important that every housewife in Seminole county should cut out and keep for reference the following rules given by Dr. L. A. Round of the Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Among these rules are some of value in the commercial preparation of pickles, one or more of these formulas not as yet having been published even in Dr. Round's bulletin on this subject.

Dill Pickles (Family Use) (4 gals., Dr. Round's Rule) These must be made in a crock of keg, a water tight, non-metallic receptacle.

2 lbs. green dill or 1 lb. dry dill are required and 1 cupful strong vinegar or 2 cupfuls weak vinegar or grapefruit, or sour orange juice, and 1/2 lb. salt to each gallon of water; also 1 to 2 oz. mixed spice.

Put half the dill and half the spice in bottom of the crock or keg, then pack in the cucumbers. The vinegar may be added with the cucumbers. These may be of any preferred size and must be washed and drained. A small bit of stem should be left to each one.

When the container is filled to within about 3 inches of the top put in the rest of the spice and dill and cover with a clean cloth large enough to lap over all around. Then put on a clean wooden cover which will fit inside the crock and on top place a non-metallic weight. The cover may be of cypress or oak or a heavy stoneware plate will do but pine must not be used. And the weight must not be our Florida sandstone or limestone. However, bricks will do or heavy blocks of any wood but pine. Allow about half the measure of the crock for brine, placing the dry salt on the cloth around the edge of the cover, then pour in the cold water, and all around it cover over. Press the salt in on top the tendency will be for it to settle at the bottom and not evenly brine the cucumbers.

Puncture all large cucumbers before placing in jar. This will prevent "boaters" or "blowers."

Fermentation will begin quickly and scum will form like soapy suds. Remove it as it forms, otherwise the pickles will be injured.

Dill pickles will keep through warm weather—despite their reputation to the contrary—if properly protected. As quickly as fermentation ceases pour cottonseed oil 1/2 to 12 inch thick on top of the jar, or boiling hot paraffin. Paraffin shrinks however in the hottest weather sometimes so, as a safeguard, dip a large cotton cloth in the paraffin and tie it down over the jar, sealing it with a band of paraffined cloth around the outside.

Sunlight, also, is a preventive of the deadly scum which destroys the pickles and if the jars can stand always in the light with glass completely covering the top they are considered safe. Or when bubbling has stopped pickles may be placed with the dill (redistributed) in glass jars, the jars filled to overflowing from the brine in the keg. Release the spring each day until bubbling has quite stopped and there is no more gas to escape, then seal. Metal top jars should not be used for these pickles.

Commercial Dill Pickles Barrel Quantity—Dr. Round's rule. Fill barrels as crocks or kegs are filled. Put weight of bricks on and let stand about a week; all the bubbles have escaped. Then skim and put in the head prepared with a hole in it. Through this hole fill with brine and plug, after being sure the barrel is perfectly full. The oil may be used with barrels, also, if stand any length of time. Or the cucumbers may be put up without the dill and when resorted and counted the dill may be added. In this case, however, the pickles should stand at least a week before being taken out; otherwise the dill favor will not have penetrated sufficiently. This form of pickles cannot be added to as with ordinary salt pickles.

String beans and whole green tomatoes put up in this way with dill are very delicious.

Cabbage or spinach leaves may be added in order to give a better green color.

Plain Salt Pickles Barrel Quantity, Dr. Round's Rule. (Smaller quantities may be made by the same method.)

Put from 6 to 6 inches of brine in the bottom of the barrel, using 1 lb. salt to 1 gal. water and 1 qt. strong vinegar or 2 qts. grapefruit juice to the barrel.

(The cucumbers may or may not be washed before brining by this process.) Place cucumbers in the barrel and add cover with weight. Then on the cloth over the cover (around weight at edge) add as much salt as the water to be used indicates is needed (1 lb. salt to each gallon soft water.) This amount is for fermentation but when the barrel is full of cucumbers add 5 lbs. salt each week for 5 weeks (on top between weight and edge of barrel.) If more liquid is needed to fill full, add brine made as before but no vinegar. Skim off scum as it forms and stand barrel in sun, protecting if possible with glass top from rain.

These pickles can be kept indefinitely. To use soak in two waters (cold) for 12 hours each time or use water heated to 120 F. for a few minutes. (The cold process is perhaps better, though longer.) Then place in vinegar to cover, either sweet or sour, plain or spiced, and let stand from 4 to 6 weeks. Then drain and replace vinegar with fresh.

Sauer Kraut Dr. Round's Method Take off dirty, outside leaves; quarter and shred. Allow 2 1/2 lbs. salt to 100 lbs. cabbage (One level tablespoonful to one pound). Sprinkle in layers, add 2 qts. vinegar or 2 of grapefruit juice to each barrel. Pound down with wood masher and spread thick layer of outer leaves on top; from 2 to 5 or more inches thick. Cut out a cotton cloth larger than barrel and proceed as for dill pickles.

After 2 weeks will be ready to can or to protect the surface with oil or paraffin as for dill pickles. If surface is kept clean when bubbling stops or the kraut is canned when ready no bad odors will arise. If canned either the old or new brine will be used.

To Salt Down Cabbage Without Fermentation (Dr. Round's Method.) Allow 1 lb. salt to 5 lbs. cabbage. Remove outer leaves and quarter, packing tight with salt between. Put on cover and weights. After 24 hours if enough brine has not formed to cover add brine (1 lb. salt to 2 qts. water) to come up to the wooden cover. There will be a small amount of bubbling, but this will not continue long, and when it has stopped the surface of the liquid should be protected by oil or paraffin.

Other Vegetables in Brine Green peas, shelled; string beans and all sorts of "greens" (beet tops, etc.) may be brined by the same method.

Beets Fermented in Brine Dr. Round's Method. Beets may be processed whole (unpeeled) by using 1/2 pt. vinegar and 1/2 cupful salt, stirring till entirely dissolved, before placing on beets. Otherwise, proceed as before directed.

Dr. Round's bulletin may be had on application to me but these rules should be preserved as the bulletin does not contain all of those given here.

Riley M. Fletcher Berry, Emerg. Home Dem. Agt.

Woman's Club Notes The Literature Department will have the pleasure on Wednesday next of hearing a paper prepared by Mrs. Stella P. Arrington on "President Wilson and His Conception of His Office." This will not doubt be a most interesting paper as Mrs. Arrington has spent considerable time and effort in its preparation, aside from the fact of its being an all absorbing subject. We hope for a good attendance at this meeting.

The Social Department announces a change of entertainment on Tuesday, March 26th. Mrs. W. A. Fitts Jr., will be hostess at an afternoon bridge party instead of the evening bridge. Red Cross benefit. Mrs. Newman hostess, as shown in year book. The date for this benefit party will be announced later, it being purposed to occur sometime during April.

The Music Department announces "The Crucifixion", by Stainer, to be sung by the Woman's Club Chorus assisted by Messrs. Polk, tenor, and Stone, bass, at the Congregational church on Holy Thursday, March 28th, at 8:30 p. m. A silver offering to be taken. This is a fitting time for this beautiful, appealing oratorio and should be a keen reminder to all who hear it of the sacred event which Good Friday commemorates.

This department held its annual business meeting Tuesday afternoon, March 19th. The program topic was "Oratorio Music" and reproductions of selections by world famed artists from "The Messiah," "Stabat Mater" and "Elijah" were greatly appreciated. The Storr phonograph and records used were kindly furnished by the Wallace-Gibson Music Co.

During the business meeting interesting reports of the year's work were read by officers and committees. The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Norris Lewis, vice chairman; Mrs. Albert Phillips, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. L. A. Takach, chorus leader. The following committees were elected, Mrs. Ed. Higgins, finance, Mrs. F. L. Woodruff membership, Mrs. Takach, chairman of program.

A motion to create a permanent fund for aiding general club expenses was voted on and carried. A motion to make the Students' Recital April 18th, a benefit for this fund was seconded and carried.

The members are gratified at the work they have been able to accomplish this season and are looking forward to a still more productive year.

Do It Yourself
Get out of the "George Habit" and do something yourself. Extravagance at your table disheartens thrift at your neighbors. The Food Administration: The Red Cross, The Y. M. C. Welfare Department

The Welfare Department had its monthly meeting last Wednesday, March 20th. Though rainy weather ruled the destiny of the afternoon there was a fair attendance. The program committee had planned afternoon for an hour on the Conservation of our National Parks, but as the conservation of food is the vital theme of these days the afternoon was given over mostly to that topic. Mrs. R. R. Deas, chairman of the food committee had a food exhibit which was classed according to caloric value, and filled with varieties of food arranged, some showing their caloric value, the being very more expensive than other foods which had more nutrient qualities. Mrs. Deas was assisted in this by Mrs. Deane Turner.

Mrs. Charles read a splendid paper on "Food Values" written by Mrs. C. M. Berry, who is chairman of home economics in the club. Caloric values being stated in 1000 scientific values of foods was found young and old. Also those best suited for the man who works and those for the child, etc.

An exchange of recipes was an enjoyable feature of this part of the program, different members giving their choice recipes—helpful ones for war times. These were read by Mrs. W. E. Watson.

Following food exhibit an article on "Our National Parks" was read, mentioning Florida's Royal Palm State Park also.

The Department voted to give Mrs. Fuller, chairman of state cities to give club one of her enthusiastic talks on cities, April 3rd.

Welfare Department has promise of Dr. Masters' of Orange Park Sanitarium to give an address April 17 on "Health." Dr. Masters has been in Sanford three consecutive years and always meets with a hearty applause.

The program committee had planned afternoon for an hour on the Conservation of our National Parks, but as the conservation of food is the vital theme of these days the afternoon was given over mostly to that topic. Mrs. R. R. Deas, chairman of the food committee had a food exhibit which was classed according to caloric value, and filled with varieties of food arranged, some showing their caloric value, the being very more expensive than other foods which had more nutrient qualities. Mrs. Deas was assisted in this by Mrs. Deane Turner.

Mrs. Charles read a splendid paper on "Food Values" written by Mrs. C. M. Berry, who is chairman of home economics in the club. Caloric values being stated in 1000 scientific values of foods was found young and old. Also those best suited for the man who works and those for the child, etc.

An exchange of recipes was an enjoyable feature of this part of the program, different members giving their choice recipes—helpful ones for war times. These were read by Mrs. W. E. Watson.

Following food exhibit an article on "Our National Parks" was read, mentioning Florida's Royal Palm State Park also.

The Department voted to give Mrs. Fuller, chairman of state cities to give club one of her enthusiastic talks on cities, April 3rd.

Welfare Department has promise of Dr. Masters' of Orange Park Sanitarium to give an address April 17 on "Health." Dr. Masters has been in Sanford three consecutive years and always meets with a hearty applause.

Mrs. Savage announced the Children's Picture Day, at which time would be shown "Little Lord FAUNTLE ROY." It is the department's desire that a day a week be devoted to children when a good picture will be shown for the delight of young minds.

Growers of the Crystal Springs section have organized what is to be known as the Dasheen Company, which will have for its purpose the development of the dasheen industry and the distribution of the dasheen and its products.

Prospects are bright for the establishment of a regular schedule of trains on the Moore Haven extension of the Coast Line in the near future. A solid carload of lettuce moved from this farming section recently by way of Sebring, which at present the headquarters for shipments along the extension.

W. C. Groves of West Palm Beach is establishing a 600-acre hog ranch, which promises to be one of the largest of its kind in the state. The property, which was purchased from the Southern States Land and Timber Company is located on the Palm Beach Canal. Four hundred acres will be devoted to pasturage, and the remainder planted to feed crops. The farm will be stocked with Duroc-Jerseys, Berkshires and Pland Chinas.

Cultivate Your Aspirations. Very few people are satisfied with the work they are doing. Many of them have aspirations for something better, more congenial. If you have any natural leaning toward a higher grade of work, says Physical Culture Magazine, don't strive to put it out of your mind, but try to keep it very much in your mind. It may indicate a field for which you are especially gifted. If you have any ambitions, cultivate them. It is only those who dare to follow the guiding star of destiny by encouraging and cultivating these aspirations who ultimately move forward to their realization.

No "Short Change" Here. An automatic change calculator, which pays out correctly the difference between one dollar and the amount of purchase, is being used in many stores, at retail. The new change maker saves time as well as mistakes for the change is paid directly to the customer. The cashier merely presses a key marked with the amount of purchase.

Where Happiness Is Found. Somebody says that happiness is always where we find it, but seldom where we look for it. This may be a good opinion, but not good philosophy for the farm. There we find happiness where we look for it. Exchange.

I Am What I Am "By the grace of God I am what I am," a text found in 1st Corinthians, and 16th chapter, 10th verse, and used by the Rev. M. H. Massey, Pastor of the First Baptist church here last Sunday evening in one of his heart reaching and ever inspiring discourses. Rev. Massey took occasion to put the question to the congregation, "Are you what you are by the grace of God" or by the grace of some other foreign force. He said "that each one should search his heart and find out if he was not ashamed of himself after putting the question to himself. For," he said, "if a man is what he is by the grace of God surely he would not have cause to be ashamed of himself—yet if he does not have the grace of God and is what he is by some foreign force, then he ought to be ashamed of his position for the grace of God is ready for all those that seek it."

This sermon was just a bit different from any that the pastor has delivered since being in Sanford, and as well could be termed just a bit better than the others, and might show that the old adage of "The new broom sweeps clean" may be changed to "The older it gets the better it sweeps." Mr. Massey has that peculiar ability of being able to hold his entire audience to the very last word—the audience realizing that the sermons "are good to the last drop."

Notice

The colored citizens of Sanford cordially invite all the drafted boys of Seminole county to a reception to be given in their honor at the Sanford Colored High School Thursday, March 28th, at 7:45 p. m. An appropriate program will be rendered. The central committee requests the presence of all persons who are interested in giving our boys a rousing send off. Z. J. Jerry, Chairman. J. N. Crooma, Sec'y.

Gun Shoots 72 Miles

Paris, March 24.—The German "monster cannon" which has been bombarding Paris, has been located in the forest of St. Gobain, west of Laon, and exactly 122 kilometers (approximately 76 miles) from the Paris city hall.

The shells arrived at regular intervals of twenty minutes at first. The detonations ceased louder, amid the ordinary Sunday calm, than yesterday, but they seemed to have lost their power to disturb the population, which refused to be distracted from its Sunday habits to any great extent.

In the absence of means of transportation a great many persons were seen on the streets leading to the center of the city, walking to keep their appointments.

The rapidity of the fire increased after its first few shells landed, explosions following each other every fifteen minutes on the average. Some of the shots came after an interval of only twelve minutes.

SEARS AFTER RESULTS

Trying to Help Transportation of Perishables

The following letters from Congressman W. J. Sears shows that he is doing what he can to relieve the transportation congestion. Editor Herald, Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir: I have received many letters and telegrams from my district relative to the transportation of Florida food products and in the states recently I made a personal investigation. Conditions have certainly been bad.

I have repeatedly taken this matter up with the assistant director general of railroads in person and also with the director general of railroads. From the interviews I have had with them, I am satisfied relief will be given to the growers of Florida and that in a short time our crops will move as in the past.

You can rest assured I have done everything possible to secure relief for the growers and this I shall continue to do. In order that you may know the matter is being given careful attention, I am herein enclosing you copy of letter just received from Hon. Wm. G. McAdoo, director general of railroads. With kindest regards, I am, Very truly yours, W. J. Sears, M. C.

My Dear Congressman:

Referring to your numerous letters and your personal visit in connection with the movement of Florida fruits and vegetables.

I assure you that the railroad administration will make every effort to put this service on a satisfactory basis; the freight schedules are being revised and a meeting with committees representing the Florida shippers is being held by the regional director in Atlanta today to work out the details. I appreciate your deep interest in this matter and we will continue to give the subject our active attention.

Faithfully yours, (Signed) Wm. G. McAdoo.

Lecture at Winter Park "Jerusalem," a stereopticon lecture will be given tonight by Rev. G. DeW. Brower at Winter Park. The pictures were taken by Mr. Brower himself in the Holy City.

M. L. Scott Dies in Tampa Mark L. Scott died in Tampa Sunday morning after a short illness and the remains were brought to this city, the funeral being held from the Congregational church today at one thirty, interment being made in Lakeview. Rev. Brower officiated at the funeral and a large concourse of people attended the services.

Mark Scott was a former resident of this city, holding the position of city clerk for ten years or more, afterward moving to the southern part of the state where he lived until his death. He leaves four children to mourn his death, among them being Mrs. Will Beauty of this city.

Mr. Scott was a remarkable man in many ways, being without the use of whole arms yet being an expert bookkeeper and fine penman and despite his affliction making his living in office work. He was greatly respected in this city and his many friends are grieved to learn of his death.

When the Press Boys Come

When the press boys arrive at DeLand: The president of the Sanford Board of Trade (Bob Holly) and the chairman of the West Volusia County Red Cross Branch, both being hairless, should be boon companions.

The editor of the Ocala Star (J. H. Benjamin) will find old Volusia as peaceful as when he was editor of the DeLand News and ran the first daily country paper in Florida. Benjamin could give Willis Powell a few pointers.

The Sage of St. Cloud (S. J. Triplett) will find plenty to talk about.

Essington of the Orlando Reporter, who is the richest man in the Association will find a ready welcome among the DeLand millionaires.

Clarence Woods, the Bean Brummel of the Association will find himself in the home of his friends.

Andrews of the Estero Eagle will find some sincere people.

Good old Frank Harris of the Ocala Banner will find people who have been reading his paper for 79 years—or thereabouts.

Brossier Brothers of the Orlando Reporter-Star will see some things that they can recommend to Orlando.

Leach of the Lees Commercial will find a few hustlers.

Wilson of the St. Lucie Tribune and a score of other papers which he gets out in hustling East Coast towns, will find plenty of room in which to thread himself.

Mrs. C. V. S. Wilson of the Sarasota Sun will find a dozen editors who want a job in Sarasota county. Goodbye to the Wanchuk. Sarasota will enjoy a side trip to Orange City, where he lengthened and died before going to Wanchula and getting rich.

Storrs of the DeFuniak Herald will be shown the first Duroc-Jersey hogs in Florida, and one of the biggest and finest stock yards.

Tom Appleyard of the Tallahassee Record will be given a good time and what more does Tom want?

Hugh and Rood of New Smyrna will recognize that they are just visiting one of the New Smyrna suburbs.

Pascor Russell of the Palatka News will be given an opportunity to preach a sermon.

Walton of the Titusville Advocate will recall days of long ago.

There'll be Joe Earmart from Palm Beach Post, Fitz, the magnate from Daytona, Harris from Kissimmee, East Coast—and the boys and girls from all over the state.

There's a hearty welcome waiting for each and every one of the press boys—God bless 'em one and all. They are "the scream of the earth." DeLand News.

Welborn, in Suwannee county is gaining considerable fame as an egg-producing center. Since the first of January nearly 300 cases of thirty dozen each have been forwarded from this point. A. W. McLaren & Co. are the principal shippers.

Eighteen counties of western Florida have reported with favor on the proposed West Coast railroad route, which it is hoped will be established to give the public of this territory more efficient service. Such a route would eliminate to a certain extent the present routing of traffic by Jacksonville.

In the party are Mr. and Mrs. Fahmey, Mr. and Mrs. Roth, Mrs. Reed and her mother. The party carry their car on board the yacht.

DONEGAN BRINGS SUIT

Claims Big Damage for Conspiracy Against Him

Kissimmee, March 22.—Ex Senator A. E. Donegan today filed a case in the circuit court asking $1,175,000 damages for conspiracy, which is probably the largest damage suit ever filed in Ocala county and one of the largest ever filed in Florida.

The defendants in the case are Bankers' Trust Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of Georgia, W. D. Manley, J. R. Anthony, Jr., Telfair Knight, Bankers' Financing Company, a corporation under the laws of Florida, Roger Dadd, Citizens' Bank of Kissimmee, a corporation under the laws of Florida, C. D. Dyal, W. H. Tunnicliffe, Bank of St. Cloud, a corporation under the laws of Florida, George Nolan, Orlando Bank & Trust Co., a corporation under the laws of Florida, J. T. Miller, C. C. Young, L. W. Smith, State Bank of Haines City, a corporation under the laws of Florida and L. J. Fouts.

The plaintiff is a well known citizen of this city, at one time president of several banks and was considered one of the wealthiest men in the county. He will be represented in the case by the law firm of Carson & Williard of Miami and Kribbs & Steed of this city.

The defendants are corporations and their officers all connected with the Winton System of Banks operating in Florida and other states.

The suit grows out of the advertisement for sale to have been held here today, of securities of the face value of about a quarter million dollars which are in possession of the Citizens' Bank of this city. The sale was prevented by securing of an injunction from Circuit Judge Perkins at DeLand late last night.

The injunction was granted by Mr. Donegan, former president of the defendant St. Cloud National Bank.

In his suit charging conspiracy, and asking $1,175,000 damages, Mr.

Donegan claims that these securities are unlawfully held and that there is a conspiracy to ruin him financially.

The St. Cloud National Bank was thrown into a receivership several months ago. R. M. Johnson of Dallas, Tex., is administering its affairs.

Reports are that the potato crop in the Mill Creek section of St. Johns county is coming along nicely, and with favorable weather conditions a bumper crop is expected. Nearly 200 acres have been planted to spuds in this vicinity. A small acreage has also been planted to castor beans.

Poultry raisers of Osceola county are being urged by the State Poultry Agent to preserve eggs until higher prices prevail. There are now some twenty-five poultrymen who are members of the Osceola County Club, which is working for the betterment of the poultry business in that section.

Fifty-two thousand dollars have been appropriated by the State Board of Control, and will be expended for improvements at the University of Florida, Gainesville. Architects have been instructed to prepare plans for a $20,000 auditorium as well as a $14,000 addition to the Engineering Building. Work of construction, it is expected, will begin at an early date.

SHERM'S DOTS

THE DOTS SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.
By Clifford Leon Sherman.

Dear Folks:—The gunners on the transports and the convoy took a few shots at the submarine and immediately it disappeared. I guess we were all a little bit scared, but shucks—who wouldn't be? Because there was one sub there, it was quite likely there were more hanging around, so we proceeded very cautiously. On each ship there were a bunch of men starting into the water, and, if they saw anything suspicious near by, they would shoot or toss in a SAMMY.

WAR PROFITEER PUBLIC NUISANCE

No Extortion to Be Tolerated, but Liberal Disposition Toward Business Needed.

Shrinkage of Values Would Curtail Capacity to Provide Sineqs of War.

"Conscription of Men, Conscription of Money," Analyzed.

By OTTO H. KAHN.

Much is being said about the plausible sounding contention that because a certain portion of the young manhood of the nation has been conscripted, therefore money must also be conscripted. Why, that is the very thing the government has been doing. It has conscripted a portion—a relatively small portion—of the men of the nation. It has conscripted a portion—a large portion—of the incomes of the nation. Capital and business pay more than four-fifths of our total war taxation directly and a large share of the remaining fifth indirectly.

If the government went too far in conscripting men the country would be crippled. If it went too far in conscripting incomes and earnings the country would likewise be crippled.

Results of Conscription of Capital.

I would ask those who would go further and conscript not only incomes, but capital, to answer the riddle, not only in what equitable and practicable manner they would do it, but what the nation would gain by it?

It is true that a few years ago a capital levy was made in Germany, but the percentage of that levy was so small as to actually amount to no more than an additional income tax and that at a time when the regular income tax in Germany was very moderate as measured by the present standards of income taxation.

Only a trifling fraction of a man's property is held in cash. If they conscript a certain percentage of his possessions, in stocks and bonds, what would the government do with them?

Keep them? That would not answer its purpose, because the government wants cash, not securities.

Sell them? Who is to buy them when every one's funds would be depleted?

If they conscript a certain percentage of a man's real estate or mine or farm or factory, how is that to be expressed and converted into cash?

Are conscripted assets to be used as a basis for the issue of Federal Reserve bank notes? That would mean gross inflation, with all its attendant evils, dangers and deceptions.

Would they repudiate a percentage of the national debt? Repudiation is no less dishonorable in a people than in an individual, and the penalty for failure to respect the sanctity of obligations is no different.

The Thrifty Would Be Penalized.

The fact is that, the government would gain nothing in the process of capital conscription and the country would be thrown into chaos for the time being. The man who has saved would be penalized, he who has wanted would be favored. Thrift and constructive effort, resulting in the useful and fruitifying accumulation of capital, would be arrested and lastingly discouraged.

I can understand the crude notion of the man who would divide all possessions equally. There would be mighty little coming to any one by such distribution, and it is, of course, an utterly impossible thing to do, but it is an understandable notion. But by the confiscation of capital for government use neither the government nor any individual would be benefited.

A vigorously progressive income tax is both economically and socially sound. A capital tax is wholly unsound and economically destructive.

It may nevertheless become necessary in the case of some of the belligerent countries to resort to this expedient, but I can conceive of no situation likely to arise which would make it necessary or advisable in this country.

More than ever would such a tax be harmful in times of war and post-bellum reconstruction, when beyond almost all other things it is essential to stimulate production and promote thrift, and when everything which tends to have the opposite effect should be rigorously rejected as detrimental to the nation's strength and well-being.

There is an astonishing lot of hazy thinking on the subject of the uses of rapin in the hands of its owners.

The rich man can spend only a relatively small sum of money unproductively or selfishly. The money that it is in his power actually to waste, is exceedingly limited. The bulk of what he has must be spent and used for productive purposes, just as would be the case if it were spent by the government, with this difference, however, that, generally speaking, the individual is more painstaking and discriminating in the use of his funds and at the same time bolder, more imaginative, enterprising and constructive than the government with its necessarily bureaucratic and routine regime possibly could be. Money in the hands of the individual is continuously and feverishly on the search for opportunities—i. e., for creative and productive use.

In the hands of the government it is apt to lose a good deal of its fruitifying energy and ceaseless striving and to sink instead into placid and somnolent repose.

There need not be and there should not be any conflict, between profits and patriotism. I am utterly opposed to those who would utilize their country's war as a means to enrich themselves. The "war profiteer," as the term is generally understood, is a public nuisance and an ignominy. Extortionate profits must not be tolerated, but, on the other hand, there should be a reasonably liberal disposition toward business and a willingness to see it make substantial earnings.

For, taxation presupposes earnings. Our credit structure is based upon values, and values are largely determined by earnings. Shrinkage of values necessarily affects our capacity to provide the government with the sineqs of war.

The Conscription of Men.

Reverting now to the subject of the conscription of men, I know I speak the sentiment of all those beyond the years of young manhood when I say that there is not one of us worthy of the name of a man who would not willingly go to fight if the country needed or wanted us to fight. But the country does not want or call its entire manhood to fight. It does not even call anywhere near its entire young manhood. It has called or intends to call in the immediate future perhaps 25 per cent. of its men between twenty and thirty years of age, which means probably about 4 per cent. of its total male population of all ages. But it has called from incomes, business profits and other imposts falling principally on the well to do, approximately ninety per cent. of our war taxation, not to mention the contributions to the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other war relief activities.

Let me add in passing that the children of the well to do have been taken for the war in proportionately greater numbers than the children of the poor, because those young men who are needed at home to support dependents or to maintain essential war industries are exempted from the draft.

Our Laws Favor Sons of the Poor.

The draft exemption regulations discriminate not, as in former wars, in favor of the rich man's son, but in favor of the poor woman's son.

I realize but too well that the burden of the abnormally high cost of living, caused largely by the war, weighs heavily indeed upon wage earners and still more upon men and women with moderate salaries. I yield to no one in my desire to see everything done that is practicable to have that burden lightened. But excessive taxation on capital will not accomplish that; on the contrary, it will tend to intensify the trouble.

Taxation must be sound and wise and scientific and cannot be laid in a haphazard way or on impulse or according to considerations of politics, otherwise the whole country will suffer. History has shown over and over again that the laws of economics cannot be defied with impunity and that the resulting penalty falls upon all sections and classes.

The question of the individual is not the one that counts. The question is not what sacrifices capital should and would be willing to bear if called upon, but what taxes it is to the public advantage to impose.

I do not say all this to plead for a reduction of the taxation on wealth or in order to urge that no additional taxes be imposed on wealth if need be. There is no limit to the burden which in time of stress and strain those must be willing to bear who can afford it except only that limit which is imposed by the consideration that taxation must not reach a point where the business activity of the country becomes crippled and its economic equilibrium is thrown out of gear, because that would harm every element of the commonwealth and diminish the war-making capacity of the nation.

GOOD IMPRESSION

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

With well simulated surprise, Gerry Thompson proceeded down the car aisle to meet his sister's new friend. The few occasions upon which he had been privileged to enjoy that young woman's companionship, had not satisfied Gerry's eager state of mind, for his was an unmistakable case of love at first sight.

The moment the girl raised her eyes in acknowledgment of his sister's words of introduction, Gerry's heart had leaped from its normal position, as it seemed to have acquired a habit of leaping ever since at sight of her. Gloria would be going to the city tomorrow, Gerry's sister had told him, and he might take advantage of the long ride into town to create a good impression. So Gerry paused before the last seat down, and raised his hat in apparently surprised delight.

"So glad to see you," he said, pointing to the vacant seat at the girl's side. "May I?" And Miss Gloria nodded in bright assent.

"The time will pass more quickly with a companion," she said.

"To such a propitious beginning Gerry bent his best endeavor. How could he please her, win her admiring favor? Her nearness was most distracting. Surely he had not realized before her loveliness. Side-wise the girl looked at him.

"Aren't you going to talk?" she asked.

Gerry cleared his throat. He must be very careful in broaching a subject of conversation. Gloria is so well informed," his sister had warned him, "don't make the mistake of starting any topic you're not sure of." What was he sure of? Gerry did not know. In embarrassed despair he drew the morning paper from his pocket shaking out its folds.

"Polshéki," he began, reading from the printed headlines.

"Oh, please," the girl protested, "I'm so heart-sick of war. Just here, flying along through these glistening snowy fields—can't we talk of something else?"

Hurriedly Gerry turned the page. He had blundered at first effort. Over in this section of "woman stuff" he might find surer ground. Gloria leaned closer to smile with him at an absurd pictorial fashion. He felt encouraged to read feelingly a sentimental poem, but the girl laughed.

"Doesn't seem to fit in with my mood today," she told him. Then her eyes took on a glint of interest. "What's the story?" she asked.

Gerry read the title disgustedly. "Roses and Thorns. By Richard Golden." Of course," he added, "if there is anything particularly innane, that fellow writes it; sometimes I read his silly yarns on the way home—such rot."

"Why," inquired his companion, "do you read them if they are so foolish?" Gerry shrugged his shoulders—"To pass the time, I suppose," he said; "but can you fancy a person like that for—well, a lifemate?"

"Why not?" questioned Miss Gloria, wide-eyed.

"Romance is all very well in its way," Gerald told her, "but to be constantly associated with one of these 'dreamer of dreams'—not for me!"

Gazing from the car window the girl considered. "The poor writer may be a well-meaning kindly soul," she mused, "not as aggressive perhaps as some conceited young business men." Gerry was subdued; the rest of the ride passed in strange intermittent silence.

Miss Gloria held out her hand with a frigid little smile.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Thompson," she bowed in dismissal. Gerry strode along moodily. He had intended to invite her to lunch with him during this shopping tour in the city and now it was all ended. That "knock" of hers about a "conceited young business man," had evidently been given to chide his assurance. Well, he would pass the afternoon at a movie, and meet her on the train going home.

Girls were queer. He might then in humbleness be able to reinstate himself. His eyes sought her out before she had fairly selected her seat upon the homeward journey, but an intellectual-looking youth forestalled him as her companion. It was only at the station before the last, that the man lingering unnecessarily over the girl's hand, bade her good night and departed. Gerry's humbleness had vanished as he dropped into the coveted seat.

"I suppose you will be able to bear my presence for the few remaining miles," he remarked sulkily.

"Won't bother me at all," the girl assured him, "I'm going to read the story in the paper—Richard Golden's 'rotten stuff,' you know."

Gerry leaned suddenly forward. "Why," he asked severely, "were you so cut up over what I said about that fool writer—anything to do with that fellow who has just gone?"

Miss Gloria looked straight into his eyes: "No," she replied, "I am the 'fool writer,' I'm Richard Golden."

For a long moment they sat gazing at each other.

Gerry murmured helplessly: "Can you ever forgive my senseless prattle? Some time you let me try to teach you to care—as I care, Gloria?"

From beneath her lashes the girl's eyes twinkled up at him.

"It may be possible," she said thoughtfully, "that all young business men are not aggressively conceited. Anyway, I'm willing to learn." And the appealing little hand upon the car seat was clasped in Gerry's strong one.

HELP FRENCH MORALE

General Pershing Asks Encouragement for the Poilus.

Nation Has Kept Up Its Heroic Fight in the Face of Great Odds.

Chicago.—General Pershing was asked by Dr. W. T. Foster, who was sent to France to inspect the work of the American Red Cross, what this organization could do during the winter that would be the greatest help in the prosecution of the war.

"Assist in sustaining the morale of the French army," the commander of the American expeditionary forces replied without hesitation.

According to Doctor Foster, who recently returned to the United States, the Red Cross is accomplishing this purpose. In addition to aiding French army hospitals with surgical dressings and other supplies, the Red Cross is saving many civilians from starvation, caring for orphan children and rebuilding the devastated areas.

"The impression some have that more supplies are being produced in America than there is need for would be quickly dissipated," he declared, "if every one could see—as I did, the record of surgical dressings supplied to 1,800 hospitals. I also saw one French soldier so badly wounded a whole case of dressings was used to save him."

Americans who think our army expansion is cutting deeply into our civil life will find a comparison with the situation in France decidedly illuminating. A Red Cross official just back from France said:

"In a city of 15,000 people which I visited only one man, an old doctor, too old even longer to practice his profession, was left. I passed through 20 French villages in which there was not a single able-bodied man remaining."

It is stripping France in this manner that the nation has kept up its heroic fight against great odds. Today the French army is larger and more effective than ever, and hundreds of thousands of African and Asiatic workmen have been imported to carry on the duties abandoned by the French to fight for their country.

"Can a nation be whipped that has such a spirit as that?" asked the Red Cross official.

HOME DRESS MAKING PATTERNS

By Pictorial Review

One of the Season's Smartest Models.

Nothing is smarter than the frocks in princess line and this model combines simplicity and chic. It is developed in blue gabardine.

In the new princess effect is this delightful frock of dark blue gabardine, which closes at the left shoulder and along the left side-front under a box-plate. The box-plate, by the way, are applied, so that one or two may be omitted, if desired. A large collar finishes the open neck, or it may be collarless. In medium size the model requires 5 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

The simple directions for making, supplemented by the construction guide, require that a dart be taken up in the right front at shoulder, as the first step. Bring shoulder together and stitch along corresponding small "o" perforations. Next, close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Join right and left fronts matching triple notches, from single large "o" perforation in right front to lower edge and finish edges above perforation for closing. Large "o" perforations in right front indicate Semi-Princess Dress for Young Women.

Maroon serge made into a semi-princess frock for youthful figures. It is trimmed with braid.

After all no lines are more graceful than those of the princess, and any variation is acceptable. This design is in semi-princess effect with closing at the left side front under the plait. Two styles of collar—high and low, are provided for the neck, while deep cuffs finish the sleeves. The three-piece skirt with front gore forming a panel, is attached to the waist with plaits over which narrow straps of self-material are attached. Dark maroon serge is recommended for the development of the dress. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 58-inch material, with 1/2 yard 36-inch lining for the waist.

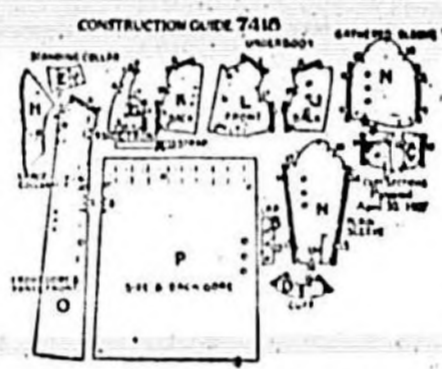

The lining must be made first, by closing the under-arm and shoulder seams and hemming the front. Next close the center-back seam, then plait the front.

Now, close the under-arm seam of the outer waist and gather lower edge between "T" perforations. The skirt is then taken and plaiting, placing "T" perforations on corresponding pondering small "o" perforations. Turn edge under on slot perforations and stitch 1/4 inch in from folded edge. Close back seam; turn upper edge under 1 1/2 inch. Form plaits creasing on slot perforations, bring folded edge nearest center-back to the seam, and remaining folded edges to corresponding small "o" perforations; stitch straight around 1 1/2 inch and 3 inches from upper folded edge.

Adjust side and back gore (in one piece) on waist with upper row of stitching over lower edge of waist, center-backs and front edges even; bring large "o" perforation to under-arm seam. Lap panel on side front and side-gore, with notches, and edges underneath even; stitch invisibly 1/4 inch from folded edge, from shoulder to 5 inches below. Tack between slot perforations above waistline. Close seam underneath leaving left side free above lower large "o" perforation in panel front and finish for closing. Close shoulder seam as notched.

Face the collar, sew to neck edge and stretch slightly to fit neck edge. To make the sleeve, close seams of both sleeve and cuff as notched, leaving seam of cuff having single notch free below the small "o" perforation and finish for closing. Gather lower edge of sleeve between "T" perforations. Sew cuff to sleeve as notched, bring seam of cuff with single notch to small "o" perforation at top of cuff to seam of sleeve. Sew in armhole as notched with small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fullness between notches. Hold the sleeve toward you when basting it in armhole.

For the finishing touch adjust the straps around the waist with upper edges of straps over stitching and tack to position.

VISIT TO SOUTH WITH BALL CLUB

There Are Many Things In Life More Agreeable to the Players.

PRETTY SOFT TO DUCK AWAY

Get Over Notion That Training Trip Is All Joy Ride for Ball Tossers—No Pleasure to Get Into Condition.

Yes, it's pretty "soft" to be able to duck away from the frigid, disagreeable weather of the North.

It's "soft" to miss the changeable weather of a Northern spring and bask in the steady sunshine of the South.

It's "soft" to linger in a fine, hospitable Southern hotel, listening to the palms sighing sweet lullabies and the pickaninies humming in to the accompaniment of a banjo.

It's "soft" to have someone paying your expenses while you are literally breathing in the fine romance of the romantic South and enjoying yourself flitting around a baseball field a couple of hours a day to wear off excess energy.

Yes, it's "soft." That's what the folks generally say when a ball player or scribe hands out the information that he is going South with a baseball club.

It's so soft, so pleasant, so agreeable than 97 out of every 100 men sent South for baseball purposes at this time of the year envy everyone back home, even though the folks at home are forced to dive into doorways to dodge the chilled breezes.

No Sweet Joy Ride.

The ball player doesn't need sympathy. He's pretty well provided for. But get over the notion that a training trip is all one sweet joy ride for him.

No one loves physical or mental pain. The average business man, when physically troubled, will close his desk and get away from his labors. He would feel offended if someone insisted that he should work.

Getting into condition is no sinecure. True, that's a part of the business, but even though a man is paid to suffer pain that's no reason he enjoys the pain. When a fellow is forced to continue his muscle-ripping labors when his muscles are crying out for rest that fellow isn't exactly enjoying himself.

More or Less Bunk.

The South may have its romance. But as for the impression that one gets from flowery novels on Southern "atmosphere"—well, there's more or less bunk about it. The South is very fine for those who live there. But when the lust for travel dies and all a man really lives for exists in the North you may rest assured that man will take the North in preference to the South any time. Undoubtedly the same applies to men who live in the South.

Southern hotels are hospitable enough if anyone ever saw a hotel which he thought really was hospitable. A hotel is a good place to go when you can't go any place else.

Southern training trips, are, of course necessary to baseball, but from the ball player's point of view there are many things in life more agreeable than going through the process of getting into condition in the South.

FIRST FOOTBALL STAR FALLS

Malcolm Gifford of Williams, Victim of Unfortunate Circumstances, Is War Victim.

Malcolm Gifford of Williams college, is the first American football star to fall in the great game "over there." Williams joined a Canadian regiment last spring and said that he would never return to America alive. He flung himself into the war game with the same spirit that he displayed in football. He did this largely to help him forget the unfortunate train of circumstances that had caused him to be accused and tried for the murder of a taxicab driver in Albany, N. Y. This incident saddened the life of the football star and he cared little what happened to him in Europe.

Superlatively Girlish in its Charm.

One-piece dress in cotton poplin for girls and juniors. It is trimmed with braided pockets and cuff and collar of gray silk.

Heavy cotton poplin suggests itself for the development of this attractive one-piece dress, with large collar pointed in the back and inserted pockets trimmed with braid. Straight turn-back cuffs finish the one-piece sleeves. In medium size the design calls for 3 3/4 yards 54 inch material.

The arrangement of the pieces of the pattern is planned so plainly on the cutting guide that the inexperienced dressmaker will find it easy to accomplish. The first section to be placed is the front of the dress. The straight edge of the pattern rests directly on the selvage of the poplin, while the large "O" perforations are on
