Posey Steps Aside For Coach With 'Fresh Ideas'

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Jerry Posey, head football coach at Seminole High School for the past 10 years, has resigned. Seminole Printepal Wayne Epps said Thursday. He will continue as achietic director and job entry supervisor.

I've been at it for 10 years and it's time to get out," Posey sald Thursday afternoon. "I've discussed it with my wife (Martha) for the past two years and decided that this was it."

Posey said he had contemplated resigning last year when his team finished with four wins and six losses, but decided to stay one more year. This year's team gave him a nice going away present with a 33-13 victory over Spruce Creek Thursday night (See SPORTS, page 6A). The Seminoles finished with a 5.5

Although Posey said that 10 years was enough, he did admit that the lack of success the past few years began to gnaw at him. "We haven't been as successful as I've liked." he said. "Plus, with (son) Hal on the varsity and (son) Brett being a ninth grader next year. It was a good time to make the Posey, 44, also said he thought the move would be for the good of the program. These kids need someone to jack them up," he said. "We've been stagnant in some areas for a few years and it's time for a change. "Seminole needs a new man with some fresh ideas. It started to get complacent around here.'

Posey said he told his coaching staff about the decision Thursday before after practice. True to his style, Posey said he didn't want to make a big deal out of it and was going to tell the players and coaches next week.

Epps, however, said he encouraged his coach and longtime friend to "let the kids know now, before the game."

I always thought the world of Jerry and he's done a good job at Seminole," said Epps. "It will be a smooth transition for the new coach, too, because Jerry will work with him."

Epps said he will begin acpractice. He told the players cepting applications immediately. "We have some good ones already on the staff," said Epps. "But I don't want discourage anyone by restricting it to my staff. There are a lot of good coaches out there, too."

Poscy's assistants are Dave Mosure, Roger Beathard and Emory Plake. Mosure was a head coach at Miamt High School white Beathard was a head coach for one year at Lake Mary High School, Blake does not have any head coaching experience but has been Poscy's offensive backfield coach for the past few years.

and 316 against. County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn squealed a loud "ray" and hugged the county's labor at-torney, David Kornreich of Miami.

Eight ballots were challenged by the union for a variety of reasons, including one employee's faiture to have identification with him.

Some 371 of the 383 eligible to cast ballots participated in the election.

The first ballot laid on the table was against unionization and the stack of no's grew continually at the rate of nearly seven no's to every one yes.

Brother's Tale Of Jail Break 'Blatant Lies'

By Susan Loden

Herald Staff Writer Seminole County Sheriff John Polk today labled as "blatant lies" a jail inmate's allegation that a former corrections officer aided the man and his brother in an Aug. 23 jailbreak.

Polk said that the claims Michael Chyle, 22, of Tampa, made to a newspaper reporter the day after he and his brother were returned to the Seminole County lockup on Nov. A have not been supported by the persons Chyle claimed aided him and Jed Chyle in their climb over a jall wall to freedom.

Not only has that guard been cleared of any involvement in the escape, Polk said, investigators have determined that no sheriff's department personnel were involved in any way in the breakout. The brothers, who had buried a homemade rope in the jail's recreation area which they used to scale the wall, may have been aided by other inmates, Polk said.

Jed Chyle's girlfriend, Becky Davis of Tampa, who according to a newspaper report had paid the guard $500 to put the brothers together in jail and walk away from his duty station, said she had nothing to do with the escape, Polk

Ms. Davis gave sheriff's investigators a sworn statement refuting Chyle's story and successfully passed a lie detector test, Polk said.

The test was administered at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department by two independent testers, sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said.

The guard, who resigned from his job to accept a post on a Central Florida police force shortly after the escape, also gave a sworn statement that denied Chyle's claims. Polk said the officer, who has not been identified, was not asked to take a polygraph test because "I believe him."

The fisherman who gave the brothers, who were watersoaked and wearing prison garb, a ride in his truck from Lake Minnie to Volusia County also gave investigators a statement saying he did not accept $150 from the pair as Chyle had claimed. The man, who has not been identified by lawmen. said the brothers rode in the back of his truck and he had no contact with them during the trip, Polk said.

The Chyles were captured in Tennessee on Oct. 26, and Tennessee lawmen refute Chyle's claims that he and his brother turned themselves in after visiting with his 4-year-old daughter. Tennessee officials say the pair were arrested following a stake-out and will be returned there to face charges after they have been tried on the original Seminole County burglary

City Nixes Trash Pickup Rate Hike

By Rick Drunson Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Commission, in the first test of a new ordinance giving It authority to review rates charged by the city's four garbage franchises. denied a proposed increase by Danjohn Services on Thursday, because in the words of one commissioner, the company has an "attitude problem."

The commission approved the ordinance at its last meeting, just after Danjohn announced a rate hike to its 400 Lake Mary customers.

On Thursday, the commission told Jeff O'Connor, general manager of the Longwood company, it would not approve the hike of $8 to $10.50 a month until a city auditor could check the company's books and determine if the increase was justified.

O'Connor said earlier this month the increase was needed because Seminole County has almost doubled dumping fees at its landfill - from $9.75 a ton to his monthly dumping bill from $16,000 to $30,000, and "somebody has to pay

But at Thursday's meeting the commission said a letter from O'Connor, dated Nov. 12, said little about why the increase was needed and contained mostly complaints about staff members at City Hall.

O'Connor took to the podium and said the company's Lake Mary customers were "valued" but that it has had "racial" and "animal" problems since it started doing business in the city. He said dogs often knocked over garbage cans leaving trash strewn all over the

Questioned by Mayor Dick Fess as to what he meant by racial problems. O'Connor replied that he lost five black truck drivers due to complaints from "one or two" white residents about

"People would come out and say they didn't want 'niggers' in the truck and they didn't want 'niggera' in Lake Mary," O'Connor said.

Fess shot back: "We will not let one or two people in this community with racial biases dictate policies for this city."

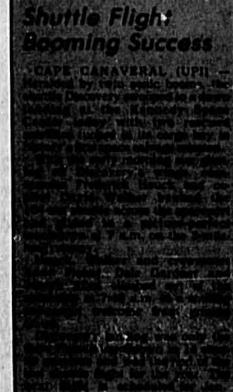

Convinced O'Connor was suggesting the city was full of bigots, Commissioner Burt Perinchief said Danjohn's "attitude problem" and "negative vibrations" were the main reasons it was having troubles in Lake Mary.

"I'm really kind of fed up with the whole thing and I'm a customer." Perinchief said.

Two residents denounced Danjohn's service, with one, Ethel Carson, asking if the company's garbage workers were having a contest to see how may trash cans they could destroy.

Baby Fae's Battle Ends

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (UPI) - Baby Fac. the infant whose three-week battle to survive with the transplanted heart of a baboon captured the world's attention, died after her kidneys failed and the tiny heart quit pumping, doctors said.

The 32-day-old infant, who had her fatally defective heart replaced with one from a 7-munth-old baboon Oct. 26 in a historic experimental operation that was both praised and criticized, died at 9 p.m. PST Thursday at Loma Linda University Medical Center.

Doctors who had been battling a "moderate rejection episode" with powerful anti-rejection drugs they knew could damage her blood purification system, said the baby's kidneys began to fall about noon, and they put her on dialysis to mechanically replace the kidney

But the walnut-sized heart that had pumped away faithfully since being implanted three weeks ago, gave out, despite doctors' attempts to massage it through the baby's tiny chest.

Doctors detected the rejection attempt last Priday and began giving Baby Fac increased doses of the anti-rejection drugs and put her back on the respirator she had grown strong enough two weeks ago to abandon.

Thursday morning, doctors had said the dark-haired, 5-pound infant was showing signs of PAWTUCKET. R.I. (UPI) - The naked body of a kidnapped 4-month-old girl was found in an alley a half-block from her home just hours after her father made a desperate plea on live television to "bring my baby home."

Police said they received an anonymous telephone call telling them where to find Jerri Ann Richard's body several hours after the broadcast, ending a desperate four-day search across two states by police and FBI agents.

A medical examiner said the infant, found Thursday shortly after 5 p.m., died of "massive" blows to the head. Authorities today were trying to determine how long the baby had been dead and where she had been killed. A tape of the telephone call was analyzed in an effort to track down the caller.

Police said they had no suspects, but they were checking the couple's family and business background to find anyone who might have a motive to steal and kill their

NEW YORK (UPI) - Gen. William Westmoreland testified he blocked a cable recommending the Army double its estimate of irregular Viet Cong troops, although he had not been briefed on the role of the "black pajama" forces. Westmoreland testified Thursday in his $120 million libel trial against CBS.

In the 1982 CBS Reports documentary "The Uncounted Enemy: A Vietnam Deception," Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops during the war, was accused of purposely keeping enemy strength estimates low to make it appear the United States was winning a war of attrition and should be given more troops to speed the end of the war.

The essential question in the suit is whether the Viet Cong's Self Defense and Secret Self Defense forces, earlier described as "older men, younger boys and Mama sans," should be counted in the enemy's order of battle, or their Westmoreland said he would not "endorse" such a cable without a briefing. The cable was never sent.

Well-known Miami Beach news stand operator Aifie Mart. 68, and 16 co-defendants surrendered on the charges Thursday in circuit court. Police said the group ran the largest bookmaking operation in Florida.

Circuit Judge Maria Korvick set bonds of varying amounts, including $5,000 for Mart, who has been the target of several gambling investigations since he moved to Miami Beach in the late 1940s. All 17 suspects posted bond and were released Thursday.

Five suspected bookmakers were arrested in the retirement community of Century Village, west of Boca Raton, on Tuesday. That investigation led to a raid in Hollywood, Fla. in which betting tally sheets from a suspected $1 million numbers operation were confiscated. No arrests were made.

Fern Park Man Gets Seven Years For Sexual Assaults On Pre-Teen

Facing a possible 45-year prison sentence for child rape, a Fern Park man has been sentenced to 7 years after pleading guilty to sexual battery, and lewd and lascivious

Scott Gregory Crumlich. 35, of 2114 Winnebago Trail, received the sentence Thursday from Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saift.

Sall also ordered Crumlich to serve 2 years of community control, a form of in-house arrest, after being released from prison and 8 years probation following that. He directed that Crumlich pay $100 a month towards counseling for the now 12-year-old victim until she is 18 years old. Crumlich also must pay a total of $5,214 in restitution.

According to court records. Crumlich had been charged with two counts of sexual battery to a child under the age of 11 and faced life in prison with a 25-year minimum sentence. He had been indicted by a Seminole grand Jury In September, 1983. and surrendered himself to authorities. The assaults reportedly occurred in 1982 and 1983 while the girl was 10 and 11.

Though raping a child under 11 is a capital felony which calls for the death penalty, the prosecutor on the case, Kurt Erlenbach, said a person cannot be sentenced to death for rape. The result is a life. sentence, he said.

In March. Sain ruled that testimony in the case could include expert opinon that the child could be displaying psychological symptoms not unlike battered wives.

Though the case did not go to trail, it was, reported that it would have been the first' time in Florida that type of evidence would -Deane Jordan have been used.

'Best' Burglar Receives 15 Years For $50,000 Longwood Stamp Heist

Herald Staff Writer

A "traveling hoodlum" who said he had the 'best mind around" has been sentenced to 15 years in prison for being one of the "best" burgiars in Florida.

When Pensacola police stopped John Ferenc. 56, in his van March 3, he had at least $333,000 and perhaps as much as $1.5 million worth of jewelry, coins, rare stamps and silver ingots in it. The haul included at least $25,000 worth of stamps taken in a $50,000 theft of stamps from a Longwood home.

The 15-year sentence issued Tuesday by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saifi for the stamp theft is in addition to 40 years Ferenc is already serving on burglary-related charges.

Assistant State Attorney Kurt Erlenbach asked for the 15-year sentence, the maximum allowed under statute, saying it would, "keep (Ferenc) off the street and from stealing from anyone else.'

In addition to several run-ins with the law during the past 22 years, Ferenc also has a 35-year history of mental problems.

During Tuesday's court hearing. Salfi and Ferenc, who representend himself, haggled about what could be discussed and entered into Ferenc, who said he has filed a motion to have Salft's gullty verdict overturned, wanted to reintroduce arguments supporting his ciain of innocence. Sain said those issues are scheduled to be discussed Dec. 4 at another hearing and were not proper at the sentencing hearing.

There were several terse exchanges between Sain and Ferenc with Sain telling Ferenc that if he insisted on discussing matters scheduled to be reviewed Dec. 4, that he would silence him and not allow him to talk further.

"You say I do not follow the rules, but the state has broken all the rules," Ferenc retorted.

"I must deal with sentencing issues today," Saift said. "You are wasting your valuable time. I just want you to do what I say." Saift asked Ferenc if he had any evidence to enter that was relevant to the sentencing hearing. After waiting several minutes, Salfi directed that the court record show Ferenc had been given 8 minutes to "rummage" through his papers organizing the evidence he wanted to submit.

The men also clashed over legal procedures.

"I have consistently asked for legal assistance but the court has denied my requests," Ference told Sain who countered by saying Ferenc has refused a public defender several times and could have a public defender if he submitted a formal written request for one.

Ferenc was found guilty of grand theft Sept. 6 during a non-jury trial before Salif. During that trial in Salfi's chambers. Ferenc also represented

According to court records, Ferenc broke into the home of Alfred Leonardo, 105 Clove Court, on Feb. 3 and reportedly went through dresser drawers and took two books of insured stamps. One book, worth $25,000, has not been recovered, according to statements made in court.

Ferenc, who has a 9th grade education and is totally disabled because of paranoid schizophrenia, maintained his innocence at the sentencing hearing as did his sole supporter, his girlfriend.

During the hearing, Evelyn Finch, of St. Augustine, took notes and began to sniffle after Salfi followed the state's recommendation and sentenced Ferenc to 15 years.

"This is all filegal," she said after the hearing. "The man is not guilty. He has been railroaded since two years ago," she said.

"I am the woman he is going to marry when this is all over, 'she said, refusing to say anything

According to court records, Ferenc has a history of mental disability dating from 1949 and a criminal record starting in 1962.

According to one investigator, Ferenc was adept in his field of crime as woman-killer Ted Bundy was in his, a comparison Ferenc complained about during the hearing.

Since 1962, Ferenc has been arrested at least 11 times and sentenced to 58 years behind bars, mostly for burglary-related crimes, according to court records. He has used at least six aliases, four birth dates and three birth places. A veteran, he was declared 10 percent disabled for psychiatric reasons in 1949 and was given 100 percent disability status for schizopherinic paranola in 1975.

During Tuesday's proceeding. Ferenc claimed that his food is being poisoned at the jail and told probation officials that his girlfriend has visited him faithfully despite being raped by guards while he was in jail in Escambia County.

While he reportedly told a probation official that he did not need psychiatric help because he knew as much as the psychiatrists, he asked during the hearing for mental counseling.

"I want it on the record that I need psychiatric help. I have been through hell," Ferenc said.

When the issue of restitution was brought up. Ference, tall and gray-haired, said he was not going to make restitution for a stamp book that "I am not going to pay them. I am not going to pay anything." he said.

"I have been raped of all my money."

A probation official told Salfi that it was difficult to get accurate information about Ferenc because of his nomadic lifestyle.

Ferenc has two sons in the Orlando area and five other children elsewhere, according to court records. He said his children were not present in the courtroom, maintaining publicity of his arrest has affected their lives and their disassociation

Exercise Won't Keep You Free From Colds

WASHINGTON (UPI) -Joggers, aerobic dancers and others who get regular exercise may believe their exertions ward off colds and other minor ailments, but there is no evidence to support their view, a scientist

Ten studies of the effects of exercise on 132 volunteers showed exercise stimulated certain factors in blood or serum responsible for defense against disease only slightly and temporarily at most, a scientist who reviewed the results said Thursday.

The studies were incomplete, however, and left the issue of exercise and resistance to disease open to question, said Dr. Harvey Simon of the Cardiovascular Health Center and Infectious Disease Unit of Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts General Hosp!tal.

Two of the studies showed exercise increased production of pyrogen, a fever-inducing agent. Simon wrote in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Pyrogen is identical to interleukin-1, a substance that gives a boost to disease-fighting white

However, researchers left a hole in those studies by not measuring the subsection

"What can we tell the athlete about exercise and infection? Despite interesting observations of host-defense mechanisms and interleukin-1 production. there is no clear experimental or clinical evidence that exercise will alter the freinfections," Simon wrote.

There is evidence regular exercise reduces the risk of heart disease. Athletes themselves also report better weight control, enhanced energy and stress control as benefits of exercise, but many also believe conditioning promotes "resistance" to infection, Simon said.

Panel Recommends $1 Cut In Phone Access Charge

Consumers with one telephone line will see their phone bills go up by $1 instead of $2 - if the government follows the recommendation from a panel on monthly telephone "access"

A seven-member panel of federal and state regulators Thursday recommended the 50 percent reduction in the flat "access" charges and also called for a substantial reduction in long-distance rates when the charges go into

The plan, hailed as a "landmark decision" by FCC Chairman Mark Fowler and a "partial victory" by consumer groups, would cut the concroversial access fee from $2 to $1 when it takes effect in June 1985.

The proposal is likely to be adopted by the FCC next

The compromise plan compiled with the participation of key congressional committees, telephone companies, and regulatory agencies - also would allow the access charges to increase to $2 in June 1986 but would keep them at that level until further studies are done.

The panel specified that for every dollar collected in access charges, the FCC should ensure that a dollar is removed from long-distance phone rates.

"Access" charges, paid to local phone companies, were aimed at recovering $11 billion in equipment and wires connecting local phone customers to long-distance services following the breakup of American Telephone & Telegraph.

The panel also suggested that states be allowed to offer various volume discounts to business phone customers.

Starvation Won't Go Away

One of the worst droughts in African history has ravaged the sub-Sahara region known as the Sahel. The United Nations estimates that as many as 150 million persons face possible starvation in 24 countries. Fortunately, the world is responding by rushing emergency food relief to the region.

That the international response is significant stems largely from the graphic television coverage of starving children with bloated bellies and spindly legs wandering aimlessly among the dead and dying in Central and East Africa. Such heart-rending scenes have rallied the world community to confront one of the great calamities in modern times.

For its part, the U.S. government recently approved an additional $45.1 million for emergency food assistance for the stricken area. In October, the Reagan administration sent a record 208,000 metric tons in emergency food relief to 15 African nations. Moreover, the White House has authorized the airlift of 130,000 metric tons of wheat and other foodstuffs to Ethiopia, where the famine is especially acute.

Private aid organizations estimate that Ethiopia requires 50,000 tons of food a month to feed its hungry. But a recent U.N. report disclosed that Ethiopian ports can handle only 30,000 tons per month and the nation's primitive transportation system can move only 15,000 tons each month. The combination of these handicaps with a civil war makes large parts of the country inaccessible. The very distribution of emergency food relief is a pressing problem.

Still, what is being done can only be temporary. Emergency supplies now being distributed cannot last indefinitely and they sufficiency that is necessary for the region's long-term survival.

Per-capita food production has declined steadily in sub-Sahara Africa during the last two decades. Some of the blame for shrinking food resources can be laid to prolonged drought and climactic conditions. But Africa's chronic food shortages are also due in no small measure to disastrous state-marketing decisions that have discouraged local production and driven farmers from their land. The net result has been a steady migration to the cities and an increased dependence on external food assistance.

To break this cycle of decline and dependence, the Reagan administration has offered $500 million during the next five years to those African nations that undertake reforms. such as providing incentives to local farmers. The proposal is supported by the United Nations and the World Bank, both of which have recommended free-market remedies.

To be sure, the feeding of Africa's starving millions must take precedence over the long-term solution of making that continent more self-sufficient. But until African nations are able to improve their agricultural productivity, widespread famine will stalk millions of humans into the indefinite future.

Greeks Lean To Soviets

When the dust settles after the presidential election, the U.S. government will have to deal with the problem of the Greek regime which is moving closer and closer to the Soviet Union.

Fresh evidence of the drift came early this month when Greek Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou, a leftist educated in the United States, charged that Korean Airlines flight 707 that was shot down by the Soviets was on a spy mission for the U.S. He made this charge in a speech to the ruling Pan-Hellenic

This is only the latest in a number of anti-American statements and moves by the Greek Prime Minister. Mr. Papandreou's political orientation also is indicated by his decision to visit Communist Poland on October 22. He is the first NATO head of state to make such a visit since the Polish regime imposed martial law and banned the Solidartty movement.

Since he came to power, Mr. Papandreou has done everything possible to destroy good relations between Greece and the United States and to weaken the NATO alliance. U.S. ships and aircraft still operate out of Greek bases, but that situation may not prevail for long. It would not surprise observers if U.S. vessels were replaced by Soviet warships.

There is historical tragedy in this attuation. Vigorous action by President Truman prevented a communist conquest of Greece. For many years, the communist elements that sought to turn Greece into another East Bloc satellite were outlawed. Today, the communists and their political allies hold the dominant position in Greek politics. They are as bent on serving Moscow in the mid-1980s as they were in the

The Soviet Union would score a major victory if they were able to detach Greece from the NATO alliance. Without the right to traverse Greek territorial waters or use Greek airspace, U.S. and other NATO forces in the Eastern Mediterranean would be seriously handicapped. The Mediterranean could become a Soviet lake.

While Papandreou's hostility to the United States is long-standing. and can't be fathomed except by those who have studied his background and motives closely, the Greek people are overwheiningly pro-American. The United States is home to a large body of citizens with ancestral roots in Greece, and ties are strong.

The United States cannot afford to remain on the sidelines with respect to Greece. It needs to find ways to come to the aid of three Greeks who want to preserve their freedom and who rightly fear the drift to East Bloc nation status. American authorities in the 1940s didn't allow Greece to move into Moscow's orbit after World War II.

Unions' Defense Stand

By John P. Cregan

George Meany, the late long-time head of the AFL-CIO, took a hardline on the issue of national security. He was proud of his pro-defense reputation and he left his stamp on organized labor. The public still perceives the AFL-CIO as a big supporter of a strong national de-

Today, AFL-ClO president, Lane Kirkland, continues in the tradition of his predecessor with strong pro-defense pronouncements. In a recent interview. Kirkland stressed that, "Our values deserve a strong defense." Such pronouncements seemed mandated, if for no other reason, by a recent survey which notes that 72 percent of the AFL-CIO rank and file opposed cuts in the defense budget.

There is disturbing evidence, however, that the union leaders' tough talk on defense is meant mostly for internal consumption. It plays well among the rank and file. When it comes to doling out money from its huge political war chest. however, the union hierarchy overwhelmingly favors congressional candidates who are weak on defense

Recently, the Center of National Labor Policy, a non-profit research foundation, published a report analyzing the relationship between the voting records of members of the 98th Congress on national defense issues and the support which they received from the political action funds of unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The findings of this study demonstrate that union campaign contributions are heavily weighted for candidates with below average defense ratings.

In 1982 there were 54 members of Congress with pro-defense voting records of O. These candidates received an average of $36,285 from the AFL-CIO political funds. At the opposite end of the spectrum, there are 155 members in Congress with a pro-defense rating of 100, by comparison, these candidates received an average of only $2,510 from the AFL-CIO.

Representative Ronald Dellums (D-CA) provides an interesting case study as a benefactor of union financial largess. A self-styled radical. Dellums is a sub-committee chairman and ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee. A few years back, Dellums showed where he stands on the issue of national security when he observed that the U.S. "should dismantle every intelligence agency in this country piece by piece, nail by nail, brick by brick." In 1982 Rep. Dellums received $17,500 in union political action funds, seven times more than the average received by the 155 pro-defense House and Senate members.

There are 218 members of the Peace Through Strength Coalition in Congress. The average union PAC contribution for these members was $4.017 in 1982. By contrast, the 138 co-sponsors of the Congressional Freeze Resolution received an average PAC contribution of $37,443.

The big-labor hierarchy should consider this study as they ponder the reasons why so many of their members abandoned the presidential candidate they so assiduously supported for a President they so vociferously opposed.

Perfect For The Party

Look for the 49 state defeat to be attributed to the personal defects of Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro and to the faults of their campaigns. They will have to carry the can in order to rescue the ideology, but this will be a burn rap. Mondale was a perfect repre-sentative of the Democratic Party in its current phase, and Ferraro performed far better than one would have expected for an obscure congresswoman from Queens who has never been associated with an important piece of legislation or an important political theme.

Now Mondale's campaign does deserve some criticism on professional grounds. Throughout, he appeared to be unaware that presidential elections are won by carrying the electoral votes of the various states. He courted, instead, the votes of interest-group constituen-cies, even in states that were beyond his reach. Interest groups do not deliver electoral votes. Mondale should have campaigned hard and early in his presumed Northeastern electoral base, for without that base he was lost from the start. If he had been successful in the Northeast, he then could have staged raids of opportunity elsewhere. Instead of pursuing this plausible strategy, he treated the electorate as a collection of lobbies, collecting the support of "spokesmen" who could not really deliver their constituencies. In the end, he carried only his two homes: Minnesota, his geographical home, and the District of Columbia, his spiritual home — the environment that has shaped his view of the nation at large.

Mondale's forthright promise, in his acceptance speech, to raise taxes also told its story. Mondale was saying that he needs more of your money to pay off his assorted constituency groups. The Democratic Party came before the voters as an income-transfer mechanism, but the voters understood that when Mondale talked about "compassion" it was a good time to put your hand on your wallet.

It is not surprising that Reagan did especially weil among younger voters, who have their earning years all before them. Imagine a young man and a young woman graduating from college this year. They get married, and each starts out at $20,000 per year. They will pay one third of their income to the IRS. Depending upon where they live. they will pay another hefty chunk in state and local taxes. They will end up being taxed around 50 percent, over all. Mondale promised to raise their taxes. Mr. James Reston blamed their support for Reagan on

'greed." But they would reasonably reply that they do not want still more of their income transferred to Mon-dale's interest groups.

Mondale did indeed get his message across. He was the perfect representative of his party. And that was his problem.

Royal Homecoming For Official

notwithstanding, you can go home again, and if you're a high govern-ment official, you can make the sentimental journey in style.

The pilgrimage of Helmut-Merklein, the Energy Department's assistant secretary for international affairs, is described at length in a Sept. 27 cable sent to Foggy Bottom by Thomas Robinson, the State Department's man in Indonesia. He titled his report "Returning Home: An Indonesian Odyssey.

Merklein was born 49 years ago in Indonesia - specifically, in a hospital high in the Bukit Barisan Mountains along the southwest coast of Sumatra. His father an Austrian plantation owner: his mother was an Indonesian-born German missionary. And though Merklein left the area when he was 2 years old, "this trip is the culmination of a lifelong dream," Robinson wrote.

Mirklein sandwiched the visit to

> Most of Merklein's three-day in Indonesia was devoted not to oil matters, but to the pilgrimage to his birthplace near Bengkulu, about 300 miles west of Jakarta. The side trip was arranged through official channels, states the cable, adding that "skids were greased by a letter from Minister of Energy Subroto to his old chum, Gov. Suprapto of Bengkulu."

The imperatives of protocol re-quired Robinson to travel to Bengkulu from Medan, some 550 miles away, to meet Merklein at the airport. "The guy was whisked away by motorcade, lights firshing and sirens wailing." for a courtesy call on the governor, Robbison reported. Then the five-cur caravan headed off into the mountains to the hospital site, where Merklein's reception was worthy of a visiting potenti le, cr at least a National Geographic photographer.

They were met by "the village chief and a contingent of dancers in gally colored costumes, accom-panied by drums and flutes." Robinson reported. "(Merklein) was led along a flag-lined path through the ranks of cheering villagers too numerous to estimate, a literal sea of humanity."

The hospital had long since crumbled, but "the villagers had cleared brush away and chopped a dirt path throughout the entire aite. a monumental task, just so this son of their soil could see and photograph the exact spot of his birth," Robinson reported.

He added that Merklein was "visibly moved," a reaction that "made this observer believe that indeed Dr. Merkiein does have a little Indonesian still in him."

The motorcade, swollen to 15 cars, departed — "all with sirens wailing and red lights fisshing." to visit Merklein's ancestral rubber plantation. Then, as the escort vehicles peeled off, "the group practically anuck into Bengkulu with only four vehicles and one airen ... (and) a final cavalcade. sirens blasting, for a VIP de-

Government Rounds Up And Exiles Political Foes

SANTIAGO. Chile (UPI) - Chile banished 40 opponents of its military regime to remote mountain villages and rounded up 3,000 suspected rebels in a house-to-house search of a Santiago slum.

Government spokesman Francisco Cuadra said 227 men with criminal and terrorist records were arrested Thursday during the roundup of an estimated 3,000 men and

He said another 40 people detained in raids by secret police on left-wing political groups had been confined to remote villages in the interior of the country for 90 days.

The arrests were part of a crackdown on political opponents begun 10 days ago when President Augusto Pinochet placed the country under a "state of slege" for the first time since 1978 to control widespread unrest in his 11-year-old regime.

Israel Rejects War Reparations

NAQOURA, Lebanon (UPI) - Israel immediately rejected a Lebanese demand for $10 billion in war reparations and a rapid withdrawal of 10,000 Israeli occupation troops from southern Lebanon.

The rejection came in the second round of military-level negotiations between Israel and Lebanon Thursday under heavy security in the coastal town of Naquora, 5 miles north of the Israeli border.

Lebanon opened the second U.N.-sponsored session with an attack against the "inhuman" Israeli occupation of Lebanon since June 1982, when Israel invaded the country in a bid to crush Palestine Liberation Organization bases.

Brig. Gen. Mohammed Al Hajj rejected Israel's position that the Israeli-backed militia, the South Lebanese Army, should help guard the border, saying such "illegal armed organizations are not allowed." Al Hajj said the job of security was one for the Lebanese army.

Israel, maintaining the Lebanese army is incapable of guaranteeing security, says the SLA and the U.N. peace-keepers must be given the responsibility.

Mothers Protest Visa Denial

SAN SALVADOR. El Salvador (UPI) - About 100 mothers who lost children in political violence railied outside the U.S. Embassy to protest a decision to deny visas to four women named as recipients of the Robert F. Kennedy human rights prize.

About 100 women, members of the Oscar Arnulfo Romero Mothers Committee of the Politically Imprisoned. Disappeared and Assassinated, marched to the U.S. Embassy Thursday and delivered a letter to U.S. Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering denying the group is anarchist and requesting his aid in obtaining the visas.

The embassy's consular section last Friday denied visas to four members of the committee on the grounds their presence in the United States might be dangerous, a committee spokeswoman said.

However in Washington, Richard Weeks, a State Department spokesman for consular affairs, said the women "were never denied visas and the applications are still under consideration. They were mistakenly notified that they had been dented."

MOSCOW (UPI) - President Konstantin Chernenko said the Soviet Union's defense budget will be increased in 1985 to guard "the peaceful work of the Soviet people" and counter attempts by the West to gain military superiority.

"We cannot fall to see the growing aggressiveness of imperialism, its attempts to gain military superiority over the socialist community." Chemenko said Thursday during a meeting of the ruling Politburo.

At the meeting. Chernenko gave his approval for a 1985 draft budget that will be submitted to the Supreme Soviet. or parliament, for rubber-stamp approval Nov. 27.

About 18.5 million people pitted themselves against their cigarettes in the 8th Annual Great American Smokeout, but it won't be until next week that the American Cancer Society knows how many were successful.

A society spokeswoman in New York said about a third of the nation's 55 million smokers took a stab at abstaining during the 24-hour event Thursday. Historically, about 10 percent will have succeeded.

In Tulsa a hypnotist standing on the street offered to put people under a spell, and an airline offered a weekend for two in New Orleans to the quitters whose names were pulled out of a coffin.

Murph The Surf May Be Released To Orlando

ZEPHYRHILLS, Fia. (UPI) -The transfer of celebrated jewel thief and murderer Jack "Murph the Surf' Murphy from prison into a work-release program is pending before Florida prison officials.

Department of Corrections spokesman Vernon Bradford Thursday said a decision may be reached next week on a recommendation from Ray Henderson. superintendent of the Zephyrhilis Correctional Institution, that Murphy be transferred into the program at Christian Prison Ministries in Orlando.

"Prison superintendents" recommendations are weighed heavily," Bradford said.

Murphy. 47. has spent more than a third of his life in prison and has been at the minimum security facility at Zephyrhills since March 1983. He is scheduled for parole Nov. 14, 1986.

His prison sentences include life for a grisly murder in Broward County in 1967 and life for attempted robbery of a Miami Beach socialite in 1968.

Murphy also served 21 months in a New York prison for the theft of the priceless golf-ball sized, 563.35-carat Star of India sapphire, the DeLong ruby and 22 other precious gems, including the $100,000 Midnight Star sapphire from the American Museum of Natural History in New York City Oct. 29, 1964.

"You're talking about a changed person when you talk about Jack Murphy today,' Henderson said when he signed the transfer recommendation Wednesday. "I completely believe that.

Murphy's notoriety began in January 1964, when he was accused - but never convicted - of pistol-whipping and stealing $35,000 in jewelry from actress Eva Gabor in Miami. She refused to return to Florida for a trial and the charges were dropped.

Lori Constantino of Christian Prison Ministries said it hasn't been determined what work Murphy will be assigned.

"Although her immunological studies had not changed significantly, her heart became unstable and falled to respond to intensive measures. including closed cardiac massage," a statement from the hospital said.

The baby, who attracted worldwide attention by becoming the longest-living recipient of an animal's heart, was born with a congenital defect that left her with virtually half a heart.

The baby's 23-year-old mother, who was separated from her carpenter husband just before the birth, took her infant home after doctors at a Barstow, Calif., hospital told her the heart defect would kill the child within a month.

A few days later, the mother - whose identity was a closely guarded secret — was introduced to Dr. Leonard Balley, who had worked for several years on cross-species transplants involving sheep and goats. Friends of the woman told reporters she decided to let Bailey perform the experimental operation because it was the only thing that would save her baby's life.

From the beginning, doctors said they expected the baby's immune system to try to destroy the foreign heart.

Balley told the American Medical News in a copyright interview published Thursday he believed Baby Fae could live 20 years without further surgery.

"This is not simply experimentation for experimentation," he said. "We believe we are helping the newborn."

Seminoles Demolish Spruce Creek, 33-13

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH - From the quiet of its locker room Thursday night, it was hard to tell that Seminole High had just rolled to a 33-13 victory over Spruce Creek's Hawks.

But this was no ordinary night. For Seminole's seniors, it was the last time they would suit up for the Tribe. And It was also an emotional farewell for coach Jerry Posey.

Posey, who announced he was stepping down Thursday. finished his last season as chief of the Tribe with a 5-5 record overall and 4-4 in the Five Star Conference, Spruce Creek ended another disappointing campaign with a 1-9 record overall and 1-7 In the conference.

They gave me a real good going away present." Posey said after the victory. "It's a good one to end on. I'm real pleased for the kids, they're a good bunch. Much better than the 5-5 record indicates. My only regret is we let a couple of games get away that we shouldn't have.

Seminole rolled up its biggest offensive output of the season with 354 yards total offense, 275 coming in the first half when the Noles built a 26-6 lead. The Seminole defense was devastating as usual, allowing the Hawks Just 87 yards total offense.

"The kids accomplished everything they wanted to to-Sominolina de longius coordinator Dave Mosure said. "It was a total team effort and it was nice for the defense not to be on the field all night long."

Things got a little scary for the Seminoles at the start as Spruce Creek's James Broxton field the opening kickoff at this own 15, found a gaping hole in Seminole's coverage, and darted untouched for 85 yards and a touchdown. The conversion kick failed by the Hawks had a 6-0 lead with just 12 seconds gone in

The two teams came down to earth for a moment as they traded possessions, much of the remainder of the quarter. Seminole mounted its second scoring attempt of the night after the defense pinned Spruce Creek deep inside its own territory and a 30-yard punt gave the 'Noles the ball at the Hawks' 49-yard

Sentor fullback Daryl Edgemon was the workhorse of Seminole's second scoring drive. After a Whelchel pass to Cliff Campbell picked up a first down at the 37, Edgemon carried two times to the 28. On third down, the bruising fullback boiled through the line and rumbled 28 yards to the two-yard line.

Spruce Creek was then caught offsides, giving Seminole a first down at the one and Edgemon bulled over for the final yard and a 13-6 lead with 1:55 left in the opening quarter. The conversion kick was no good.

Seminole got the ball back just before the quarter ended, and kent its drive going in the early moments of the second quarter. Seminole drove down to the three-yard line with key plays being a 20-yard run by Campbell and a 15-yard pickup by Edgemon. But, on third down at the three, Whelchel's pass was picked off by Wesley Williams.

Things started to get a little out of hand on Spruce Creck's next possession. On third down. Seminole was called for a personal foul penalty but a Spruce Creek player was called for unsportsmanlike conduct so the penalties offset.

On fourth down, Mike Durham booted a 40-yard punt to the Seminole 32. Jones received the punt, danced by a couple of defenders and broke into the

Oviedo Invades 1st Homecoming Tonight

Herald Sports Editor Lake Mary's Rums and Oviedo's Lions go into tonight's final regular-season football game with different motives. Kickoff is 8 p.m. The schools are 1-1 after two years of competition. Oviedo won two years ago and Lake Mary won last year.

Lake Mary, champion of the Five Star Conference, would like to conclude what has already been a superb year with its ninth win in 10 games. The Rams, however, can't help but look to next week's state playoff clash with powerful Winter Park, although the school's first homecoming should help keep things in perspective.

Ovledo, too, has an eye for next week, said coach Jack Blanton. The Lions, 5-4, were invited to play in the Whopper Bowl at DeLand and the Citrus Bowl at Inverness but Blanton said that decision would be made after tonight — and only if the Lions beat Lake Mary.

"We have to beat Lake Mary if we want to go to a bowl," said Blanton. "We're not going to take a 5-5 team to a bowl game." Blanton said he didn't know if the invitations would still be available. but he told the two bowls he would let them know

As for tonight, both teams have great defenses and good running backs.

Oviedo has shut out three opponents and have allowed just one touchdown per game in the last four outings. Linebacker Mark Howell, tackles Tony Coffie and Larry Grayson, defensive backs Kevin Clifford and Bernell Simmons and defensive end James Walker have been the core. Howell is second in the county with 131 tackles for an average of 14.5 per game. Clifford is averaging nine and Coffle is next with 8.3. Walker has six sacks and Simmons has three interceptions, as does Howell. Oviedo will be hurting at noseguard, however, as Kevin Rapert is sidelined with an injury and will not play.

For the scason, Oviedo has allowed just 79 points in nine games. The only double-digit blemishes are Jones (36-0) and St. Cloud (14-0).

"it's a heck of a thing to do to expose the young kids to Winter Park." Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia said about the state's seventh-ranked Wildcats. But we just have all kinds of problems. Winter Park is awesome. They just blow you off the offensive line. They have guys on the offensive line that go 275- and 285-pounds and our defensive line averages 180."

Lake Howell goes in with a 4-5 record overall while Winter Park stands at 8-1 having won eight straight after losing its season opener.

Since senior slot back Jeron Evans (county-leading 40 receptions) is out with a broken wrist. Lake Howell will have to depend heavily on its running

The main man in the Hawks' running game is senior speedster Efrem Brooks who has 398 yards on 83 carries, which ranks fourth in Seminole County. Senior Steve In-nanen has 220 yards on 50 carries. Senior quarterback Allan Jack will also put some time in at fullback tonight. Jack leads the county in passing with 65 completions in 148

It's now or never for the Lyman Greyhounds. Coach Bill Scott's squad has just one chance left - tonight at DeLand at 8 o'clock - to avoid an 0-10 season. Lyman has lost nihe straight games and hasn't been outscored. 78-9, the past two weeks.

DeLand, which started the season slowly, has won seven of its last eight games. The Buildogs, 6-3 overall and 5.2 in the conference, took care of a solid Lake Brantley club last week.

Defensively, the 'Dogs have really come on strongly Since Apopka buried them. 63-15, DeLand has allowed just 15 points in three games. Lyman has two pretty sturdy linebackers itself in seniors Mike Henley and Avery Merweather. Henley, last week's Burger King Defensive Player of the Week, is fourth in the county with 121 tackles for an average of 13.4 per game. Merweather is right behind with 104 for an 11.5 average. Mike Crespo and Greg Smith. two senior tackles, give Lyman four strong performers.

Lake Brantley's Patriots will look to end the regular season with a 7-3 record going into the Rotary Bowl as they go up against Boone's Braves tonight at Boone High in Orlando.

The Patriots, 6-3, will face Oriendo Oak Ridge in the Rotary Bowl at Lyman High on Thursday, Nov. 21.

Boone, stuck in the tough Metro Conference, stands at 2-7 going into tonight's contest. The Braves' only victories are over winless teams, 0-9 Lyman and 0-9 Edgewater.

"They (Boone) have a pretty good little team," Lake Brantley coach Dave Tullis said. "They're a lot better than their record indicates,"

Lake Brantley is coming off a disappointing 17-6 loss to DeLand in which the Patriots were held to their lowest offensive output of the season.

it is best to keep quiet about such things. And for those who take their basketball dynastics seriously, the subject may border on poor taste.

It has been more than a decade since the same school won consecutive NCAA championships. UCLA took the title in 1972 and 1973. The players were Bill Walton, Keith Wilkes. Larry Farmer and Greg Lee. The coach was John Wooden and the empire was near the end.

The revolution was upon college basketball, tossing the old guard off the palace walls: scholarships were reduced, preventing schools from stockpiling players; blacks made their way in greater numbers into athletic programs of southern universities: television and the college game discovered their mutual love, and gleaming new arenas grew out of the prairies and describ.

Talent found its way into places where basketball was previously a second-class sport. Winning became tougher, let alone winning an NCAA crown and then doing it all over again the next year.

'It's very difficult to repeat in anything." Syracuse coach Jim Bocheim says. "Especially the national championship."

Says Washington coach Mary Harshman: "There is a parity now countrywide."

So for Georgetown to come back and win the title once more will be no small undertaking. The proceedings for the 282 Division I schools begin Nov. 18 with the traditional opener in Springfield, Mass., between Oklahoma and Illinois and culminate next spring with the Final Four in Lexington, Ky.

And, be it sensible or not, there is good reason to think this could again be the year for Georgetown.

The Hoyas Weht 34-3 last season in becoming the first eastern school in 30 years to claim the title. They forced opponents to shoot less than 40 percent, an NCAA record. Seminole cross country coach Ted Tombros, middle, has been the strong link in a building chain which has pushed Sanford teams to berths in the state meet.

Tombros Unveils Dual State Qualifiers

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High has already arrived in Central Florida and Saturday, it will unveil its successful 1984 cross country program to the state.

Seminole qualified both its boys and girls teams for the 4A State Meet at DeLand Airport. The meet schedule has the 1% girls running at 8 a.m. followed by 1A boys at 8:45, 4A girls at 9:30 and 4A boys at 10:15. Admission Seminole's girls team, ranked as high as fifth in the state earlier in the year, is looking for a top 10 finish while Billy Penick goes after the individual title in the boys race.

'We've accomplished all of our goals for the season, but I think we still have one good race left in us." Seminole coach Ted Tombros said. "We're Just going to go out there Saturday and let the chips fall where they may."

Penick, the individual champion in the district and region meets, will battle with the state's elite Saturday including the favorite, Mike Clerc of Jacksonville Terry Parker. Other individuals who should be in the running include Matt Farnen of Largo, Joe Carnegie of Fort Lauderdale Dillard. Roger Letchworth of Clearwater Countryside and Phil Wharton of Winter Park.

"Clerc runs the same type race that Billy (Penick) does," Tombros said. "He goes right out after it. But you really can't key on any individual in the state meet. You have to go in with an open mind because everybody who's anybody will be there."

Penick ran impressively in both the district and region as he beat Wharton for individual honors both times. The district meet was on the fast Trinity Prep course and the region was on a much tougher Lake Mary course so the Seminole Junior has proved he can run well regardless of the conditions. DeLand is not the fastest course around but it's the state meet and most everybody will be going all out.

For Seminole's boys team to finish the top 10 might be a long shot. Largo and Tampa Leto are the two favorites and, behind them, there are a number of teams that are ahead of the Tribe. They include Countryside, Pensacola Washington, Orange Park, Winter

Park, Coconut Creek and Lake Mary. Seminole will look for consistentcy

The state meet experience will be important to the Seminole program since it returns all of its top seven.

"I'm looking for another consistent race from the guys." Tombros said. "We went into the regionals as a long shot and I'm really the only one who believed we could make the state meet. For us to be one of the top 16 teams in the state is a great accomplishment."

Although they were not mentioned Inlah for the girls is not out of question. Lake Howell. Tampa Leto. Gainesville Buchholz, J.P. Taravella and Orange Park form a pretty solid top five, but the second five can be cracked by the Lady Seminoles.

Seminole was just five places, 82-87, behind seventh-ranked Winter Park at the regional meet.

"Our fourth and fifth runners were not quite as competitive as they could have been." Tombros said of the region meet. "But we still cut the distance between us and Winter Park."

Tombros is hoping his top two, freshmen Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster can finish somewhere within the top 10 or 15 Saturday. He is also counting on solid performances from junior Debbie Coleman, sophomore Jennifer Roberts and senior Katrina Walker. Also running for the Lady Seminoles Saturday will be seniors Glenda Bass and Lisa

"I'm really happy for the seniors." Tombros said. "They really believed in the program and sacrificed a lot to make it a success."

The picture above shows another important of the Seminole High program, team unity. "The season and the program's success has brought the kids a lot closer together." Tombros

With perhaps the best one-two punch in the state, Trinity Prep's Lady Saints go after the 1A State Championship Saturday at 8 a.m.

Junior Adrienne Politowicz and sophomore Katie Sams finished onetwo in the region meet this past Saturday and are looking to do the same again. Trinity Prep finished third in the state last season but Politowicz missed the meet with an injury. Sams finished second in last year's individual race.

While Politowicz and Sams surge toward the front, the remainder of Trinity's top five will try to keep up the tempo. Becky Baskin is the Lady sand maner disent by Stary Johnson and Beth Sheffey.

Seminole came back with a nifty two-minute offense for its final score of the first half. The Tribe took over at its own 49 with 2:05 left in the half, but a holding penalty on first down put it back at the 35.

After an incomplete pass on first down, Whelchel looked for Posey on a sideline pattern. Posey tipped the ball in the air and it landed right in the hands of Mike Cushing who carried it down to the Spruce Creek 35.

On first down at the 35, Whelchel hit Posey for 14 yards to the 22 and the 'Noles had nother first down with 49 conds left in the half. After an incomplete pass on first down, whelchel hooked up with ampbell for an 18-yard pickup the four and Seminole took time out with 25 seconds remaining.

Seminole's defense did the rest. Spruce Creek just couldn't ove on the Tribe Thursday aight. The Hawks' final score of e game came after Seminole ambled at its own eight.

Quarterback Jerry Parker hit Broxton from 11 yards out for the TD and Ross Blissett's kick made it, 33-13.

"We just got out there and played ball," Posey said. "We should have done that all the time instead of just every other game."

Posey was proud of the way the seniors played in their final

Posey

Epps said he and Posey will go over the applications, interview and then he will make the decision with input from Posey. "I expect to have a coach within a month," Epps said.

During his 10 years, Posey compiled a 53-48 record. Included were three Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 championships in 1976, 1979 and 1981.

The 1976 team, which featured halfback Tim Raines. ran off 10 straight victories before it was discovered a third-string player had played while he was ineligible because of grades. The Tribe had to forfeit two games and was denied a trip to the state playoffs.

The 1979 team finished 5-5 but was tough in the big games. compiling a 5-2 conference re-cord in 1981, Posey and his staff surprised the conference by going 8-2 and winning it all. That team featured all-staters Issac Williams and Lenny Sut-

"All of the championship years stand out," Posey said. But anytime that kids raise themselves above their ability. coaching is a joy. That first year (1975, 9-2) was a great group of kida."

Posey said the greatest player he ever coached was Tim Raines, the Montreal Expos' flashy outfielder, who ran for over 1,000 yards in nine games in 1976. Posey also said Mike Good, who later played guard at Florida State, and Mark Whigham, who played safety for the University of Central Florida. were two other good ones along with Issac Williams, currently at Florida State.

Haines City and attended high school there where he was a good football player and an outstanding track man (high jumper and hurdler).

He went to South Georgia Junior College in Douglas where he played "about a week of football" for Bobby Bowden and Vince Gibson. He turned his full effort to track and won the state junior college high jump during his freshman year.

After two years, he transerred to Florida where he graduated. His first teaching job was at Apopka in 1974 as a driver education teacher. After one year, he took a job at Clermont and stayed for the next five years as an assistant football coach and track coach and driving teacher.

In 1969, he moved to Sanford and took an assistant football coaching position at Seminole High School. He stayed there until 1973 when Lake Brantley opened. He went to Lake Brantley as an assistant football coach and head track coach. Later, he became athletic director.

In 1975, he accepted the head football job at Seminole, replacing Claude Woodruff. Posey said he loves Sanford and doesn't want to leave. "I can't think of any place I'd rather be," he said. "I'm entrenched in Sanford. "I freat team. I don't know if they're as good as ones, but I'm sure they're in their class."

Although Lake Mary's defense hasn't received the acclaim its been due, Blanton said it impresses him. "Any defense that can hold popka to zero points has got to be great," said lanton. "That middle linebacker (Billy Caughell) the best one we're going to face. He gets after Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson, meanwhile, has en surprised by how his defense has come ground. "In the beginning of the year, we had some guys we were trying to hide out there," he said of coach Hob Becker's 11. "Now, those guys ere the standouts. Those kids have really come

Caughell leads the Rams with 91 tackles for an average of 11.4 per outing. Senior noseguard Darrin Washington, the Burger King Defensive Player of the Week for his effort in last week's win over Seminole, is next with 70 stops and an 8.8

'One of those surprises has been linebacker Brett Molle. The hard-hitting junior is third on the team in tackles with 72 stops for eight a game.

Against Seminole, he interecepted a pass.

Another is defensive end Mike Graham, who teams with senior Todd Nedrow to give Lake. Mary a superb pass rush. Graham stepped in when tenacious Walt White went down with a knee injury. "Graham has only played half the season and he's second in the county in sacks (eight)." said Nelson "Where'd he come from?"

In the secondary, senior Scott Sperazza has matured into a solid defender, said Nelson. Sperazza has a county-leading three interceptions

along with numerous breakups

Offensively, both teams are capable of the big play. Oviedo has a 1,000-yard rusher in Charles "Pop" Bowers and another speedy threat in junior Andrew Smith. Bowers has 1,054 yards in nine games and has scored six TDs. Smith, who broke a 37-yarder for a score last week against Kissimmee, has 367 yards and two scores.

Lake Mary counters with its "Bison Backfield" of Charlie Lucarelli. Scott Underwood and Bill Caugheil. Lucarelli, the main beef with 693 yards, is bothered by a hip pointer and may not play. Ray Hartsfield will take his place while Patt Murray, the fastest Ram, will also provide outside

'We just don't have anyone to get outside without Lucarelli and Hartsfield," said Nelson. What I might do is soften them up with my Bisons and then bring in John Curry. Curry, who gained over 1.300 yards for coach Jim Hughes unbeaten freshman, has been impressive in practice, according to Nelson. "He is going to be one heliuva running back." said Nelson. "That kid (Curry) Just loves to run.

The quarterback pairing matches Lake Mary junior Mike Schmit against Oviedo sophomore John Morrow. Schmit has thrown for 585 yards and five TDs. Morrow, who was rushed into service when Kevin Thompson was lost for the season with a knee injury, has thrown just 51 times for 77 yards. Donald Grayson is the Rama 'money receiver" with 18 catches for 420 yards.

Nelson said despite the Winter Park game looming on the horizon, his team's full attention will be on Oviedo. "You don't want to win the conference and then have somebody upset you before the playoffs," said Nelson. "We looked still on offense last week. We better loosen up this are always looking for ways to expand their collections without spending a lot of money. One way is to propogate your own. This means producing new plants from existing ones. You do have a choice, too. You can increase your collection through seeds, cuttings, divisions and by

Seeds are probably the least used method, because it takes so long to grow the plants. When you grow plants from seed, you up with something resembling the parent plant. Individual and growth habit. Many house plants don't flower indoors, either. And, without flowers, these plants won't produce viable

The most common method, and usually the most satisfactory, is by using cuttings. A cutting is a portion of a plant which is removed and rooted in its own growing medium. Leaf and stem cuttings are most commonly used. Leaf cuttings can be used to propogate African violets, begonias, gloxinias, sansevieries and most suc-culents. To go a little further, there are two kinds of leaf cuttings. One, new plants grow from the leaf tissue itself. In the other, the roots and new shoots grow from the base of the leaf

To propagate sansevierias, cut leaf sections about three or four inches long. Then place each plece abe t an inch deep in the growing medium. Be sure you keep the leaf sections right side up! Roots and shoots should appear from these leaf sections, and new shoots will emerge from the soil. When each is three or four inches long, you can cut off the parent leaf section.

begonias can be propagated by laying a leaf, right-side-up, on a growing medium. Before placing the leaf on the soil surface, make small cuts across the larger veins on the underside. Use hair pins to hold the leaf in place on the soil. Small plants will begin to develop from these veins in about two weeks. Transplant the new shoots into their own pots when they reach about two or three inches.

For African violets and gloxinias, use the entire leaf blade and about an inch or two of the leaf stem. The stem should be placed in the rooting medium deep enough for the leaf to stand upright. Keep the soil away from the leaf itself. New growth will develop at the base of the leaf.

Just about all house plants root well from stem cuttings. Take your cuttings for to six sterile rooting medium. You can cover the propagating container with a plastic bag, which allows the plant to breathe, but prevents loss of too much moisture. With this method, the cuttings will not need more water until healthy as the parent. they're rooted.

Alfred Bessesen Urban Horticultrist 323-2500 Ext. 181

Creating new plants through division is one of the easiest methods to propagate house plants. You simply pull apart and divide a large plant into two can't be sure that you will end or more separate plants. This method is commonly used with sansevierias, African violets, and seedlings from the same parent other plants that produce several plant may differ in shape, color shoots off the central growing point. Division can be done by hand, or by cutting with a knife. Handl the plants carefully to leave as many roots intact as possible. After dividing, place each new section in its own pot, and give it the same care as the parent.

Layering is a much more complicated method of propagation. This encourages plant stems to root while they're still attached to the parent plant. Air. tip, mound and trench are all layering techniques. The parent plant continues to provide newly developing nutrients and moisture until their roots begin to develop.

For air layering, select a young, healthy, vigorously growing branch, whose leaves are exposed to the light. Branches from pencil-size to about three-quarter-inch in diameter are best. You'll need a sharp knife, a handful of sphagnum moss, a six-by-eight-inch sheet of plastic film and a couple of rubber bands or plastic ties

Your first step is to remove leaves and twigs about four inches above and below where you'll make your cut. Slant your cut upwards about one-fourth to one-half of the way through the Fibrous-rooted and Rex branch. Now, insert a match stick, or toothpick in the cut to separate the stem and prevent new bark from forming and healing the wound.

> Then, encase the cut area with moss about the size of a baseball. Cover the moss with the plastic film and close the ends with the rubber bands or plastic ties to seal out the air.

It may take from two weeks to several months for roots to form. You can watch the progress through the clear plastic film. When at least six roots have formed, cut off the layered portion from the parent plant, just below the root ball, and pot it up.

Tip layering works well for drooping and vining plants. Choose a low branch, which you can easily bend to the soil surface. Scrape the bark from a small area about six to 12 inches inches long from vigorous, back from the tip. Bring the healthy plants. Place the cut- branch down to the ground and tings about an inch deep in cover the layered tip from its parent and plant it.

> Now you can enjoy your new plants with pride, and with little money spent. Remember, the offspring plants will only be as Happy gardening!

DEAR ABBY: 1 am praying you will answer my letter in the paper because I don't even know where I'll be living by the time you get this.

I was supposed to be married last Friday. My family went to a lot of trouble to arrange the wedding and many guests had bought gifts to bring. I thought I was marrying a sweet. thoughtful man who leved me.

I found out last week that 'Jerry's" friends were planning a "bachelor party" for the night before our wedding. I also found out that a cheap hooker would be there to provide sex and entertainment and that plenty of liquor had been bought so everyone could get drunk.

I didn't want to marry a man who thought illicit sex with a hooker was a "treat," and I told Jerry so. He said there was no way he'd call the party off, that he deserved one last fling, and that he was glad he found out I planned to run his life before it was too late to get out.

Now, none of my family is speaking to me. My mother says will have to change my ways if I ever expect to find a husband. Everyone else says I threw away a great guy. I am sick and wish I had never been born. Was I a wrapping of moist sphagnum wrong not to want a husband who got drunk and had sex with a slut the night before my wedding? Everyone is making me feeli like I am crazy or something. Please answer me. -

t's a heartwarming scene — the family dog basking himself in the glow of a crackling winter fire as his masters sit comfortably nearby. But the coming cold weather, which we've already gotten a taste of, could make life miserable for them all. Old Man Winter can play havoc with your pet's health, looks and general well-being. It doesn't take much to avoid the cold weather blues, according to some local veterinarians who ask:

Who Says It Has To Be A Dog's Life?

A Dog In Winter

Pets Can Use Special Attention In Cold Weather

By Donna Lates Herald Staff Writer

Here it is, winter closing in, and Old Scratchy is asleep by the fireplace — skin flaking, hair falling out, and he smells maybe worse for Scratchy's owners who might have ensured his comfort and good health — and their own peace of mind — had they known how to deal with pets in cold weather.

Cats are not much of a problem since about all you have to do is keep them in the. house. But dogs are different, whether they be hunting dogs housed outdoors or family pets kept inside.

Long stays in a heated house frequently dry out a dog's skin which flakes like dandruff.

Many dog owners healtate to bathe their pet in cold weather and the longer the winter lasts the stronger the dog smells.

But it doesn't have to be that way, say Sanford veterinarians Drs. Theodore Belhorn and Michael T. Walsh of Orlando.

Belhorn says that just like people, a dog needs a bath once in a while. The best thing to use is a good, mild soap, and if a dog's skin is dry and flaking. It's a dog's life for sure and a little bath oil can be put in the final rinse water. The bath oil can be purchased at a pet supply store or a veterinarian's office.

> After the soaping and oiling. Bass recommends rinsing the dog in plain, cold up water to scal up his pores.

Walsh says even the outdoors heat.
dog could stand a bath in cold.. No matter where animals are weather and should be dried thoroughly afterwards and allowed to stay indoors before sending it back outside, hope-fully into a dog house where the door is facing the sun.

"On some of the really, cold nights, outdoor dogs ought to be brought at least into the garage at night." Belhorn said.

Nah, says Bass. "Our weather down here doesn't get cold enough to bother outdoor

But If you're from up North. or you have friends or relatives with pets there. Dr. Lenal Ogden, a specialist on "companion animals" with the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Maryland, has

If Old Scratchy is kept outdoors, he should have a doghouse that is small enough to capture body heat and should not face the prevailing wind. In the worst weather, she advises placing a lighted 250-watt bulb in the doghouse to provide housed, a major concern of pet owners in really cold climates is hypothermia — a dramatic drop in the animal's body temperature. This can be caused by prolonged exposure combined with fatigue, or it can be caused by some other ailment that prevents the animal from naturally maintaining its normal temperature.

Violent shivering and loss of natural functions may signal hypothermia, and it's your signal to warm your pet up

"If it's a cat, you can just snuggle it under your sweater."
Ms. Ogden says. "But if it's a large dog, rush him inside and put him in some warm water or put some warm blankets around him. Keep checking his temperature — It could drop down into the 70s — until it gets back up to 100 degrees (normal is about 102).

Really cold weather, says Ms Ogden, can lower an animal's resistance and bring on such ailments as pneumonia and that dogs should shed in the spring in anticipation of hot weather, then grow thick coats in the fall to prepare for cold weather. Not necessarily so says Ms. Ogden.

"Most dogs tend to grow hair in cycles," she said. "It's more related to the amount of light they get than anything else. With a lot of animals that are kept inside, they seem to shed the year around. They get all this artificial light."

Flaky skin and mangy winter coats caused by dry, heated air and exacerbated by natural shedding can be assuaged by feeding the dog a small amount of bacon grease, corn oil or other fat with its meals, she

You might think this would tend to make Old Scratchy fat. but Bass says dogs have an innate instinct as to how much they should eat.

The more they eat the more energy they have to generate The more they eat, the better the extra layer of fat is to give them energy," he says.

"A lot of dogs instinctively cut back by 25 percent the amount they eat in the summer time. And instinctively in the winter, their appetite picks up again. Their metabolism increases a little. Most healthy dogs will not overeat." he said.

"If a person finds his pet is little less food out for him."

There is a common belief overeating he need only put a Belhorn said, and make sure he gets some exercise.

"The biggest problem with weight loss in dogs is the owner." Walsh said.

Owners will feed dogs scraps during the day and often will feed them a large portion of dog food at night. It would be better, Walsh said, to split the food into two meals, one in the morning and another at night.

With cats there is a different problem. While they can be bathed, cats usually are slower to dry, Bass said. "Usually they lick themselves so much, they don't need bathing."

At least one pet problem is minimized, if not totally eliminated, in winter — fleas. Ms. Ogden explains that fleas require certain levels of temperature and humidity to thrive and that cold weather breaks down the cycle of reproduction, even in the house.

Old Scratchy is no doubt thankful for that. His dry winter hide is lichy enough without having to scratch fleas.

Soaps Should Discourage Drinking

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) - TV soap operas are a perfect medium to discourage alcohol abuse should develop more likable characters to reinforce good drinking habits, researchers have concluded. Dr. Lawrence Wallack and his colleagues at the University and the entertainment industry

California, Berkeley, spent years watching "All My 412 years watching "All My Children" to study the manner in which alcohol consumption is presented to millions of daytime TV viewers.

Wallack summarized the conclusions Tuesday before the annual American Public Health Association meeting.

"All My Children" is one of network television's most pop-ular and "wettest," daytime воарь.

The researchers outlined the amount of drinking seen on the serial — 3.9 incidents per half-hour show — and noted it was portrayed in a realistic and accurate fashion.

Usually a character imbibed to relieve stress, researchers Wallack, Warren Breed and Wallack, Warren Breed and James DeFoe concluded in most cases, characters who took more than a casual, social drink met with negative reaction from their peers.

Which Earn More, Prime-Time Or Game Shows?

- My son and I are having a dispute about TV producers Aaron Spelling and Mark Goodson. He says Spelling would make more money on his prime-time shows and I say Goodson would make more money on his game shows. Could you please try to settle our dispute. — B.J.S., Merrill, Mich.

An interesting question. Apparently, only the IRS knows the answer for sure. I asked quite a few people. and they basically split 50-50 over the answer. A typical pro-Spelling response: "All I can tell you is that Aaron produced enough last year to take home between $27 and $34 million." Yet, from someone who feels Goodson makes more: "Game shows are so possible to the control of the control inexpensive to make and you can syndicate them forever that Goodson makes more. Spelling's shows may bring in more money, but they cost much more to make and they last a much shorter time." So, I'm afraid I can't give you a definite answer.

DEAR DICK — I wonder if you can help me find the title and author of a book that was the basis of a TV movie several years back. It starred Lindsay Wagner and involved an old house she and her husband moved to, and an upstairs room and an old dress. Whenever she put on the dress, she went back into the past. — K.S.S., Barry, III.

That was "The Two Worlds Of Jennie Logan."

which aired in 1981. It was taken from the novel "Second Sight" by David Williams.

DEAR DICK - My physics teacher says Lt. Basvik of "Star Trek" is Spock's daughter. I don't think she is. Could you tell me which one of us is correct? - L.F., Palm City, Fla.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Tell your teacher to stick to physics. No. Lt. Saavik Kirstle Alley played the part - was unrelated to

DEAR DICK - Could you tell me if it would be possible to obtain a transcript of a particular "In Search Of..." episode without knowing the title or when it was made? - K.E., Houston, Texas.

Even if you knew the title and the date it was made. it wouldn't help. They tell me they have no service for ending out transcripts.

DEAR DICK - How old is Chuck Norris and does he have any movies coming up? - B.M., Vonore, Tenn.

The next Norris chop 'em and sock 'em film, 'Missing in Action.' should be hitting your theater about now. It's about an ex-Vietnam vet who goes back to the jungles of Vietnam to search for some of his missing-in-action buddles. Norris is 44. and started studying karate (his entry into movies) when

DEAR DICK - I wonder if you have any record of Phyllis — not June — Haver. She was a beautiful blonde in the movies of the late 1920s or 1930s. Also, a recent news item mentioned the son of Tyrone Power. I thought he only had his two daughters, by Linda Christian. What's correct? - M.N., Grayling, Mich.

Phyllis Haver died in 1960. Power did have two daughters — Taryn and Romina — by Linda Christian. But he had a son born after he died. He married Deborah Montgomery Minardos in May 1958. and died suddenly the following November. Tyrone Power, Jr. (he's now shooting the movie "Cocoon" opposite Raquel Welch's daughter, Tahnee) was born In January 1959.

DEAR DICK — Recently, our local PBS channel ran a British series called "To the Manor Born." Is it still running in Britain and are there more episodes than what the PBS channel showed, which was about 20? - E.A.R., Santa Maria,

It is no longer in production and is no longer running in Britain. There were only 20 episodes made. The last was the one in which the characters Audrey and Richard got married.

DEAR DICK — I'm in a quantary. I have watched "Santa Barbara" since it started. The credits are so fast - or not at all on some days that I have trouble seeing them. I believe the actor who plays Mason Capwell is Lane Davies. I would like to know what other soap opera he was on. — M.H., Nanasoto, Texas.

Lane Davies is the correct name. He used to play Dr. Evans on "Days Of Our Lives."

For Love Or Money

NEW YORK (UPI) -The ultimate game show would give con-testants a choice between life and death. but CBS conies close with a spoof in which the choice lies between love and money.

"For Love or Money" also is the title of the show to air Tuesday. 9-11 p.m.

The cast is worth its weight in gold — or anyway gelt. There's Mary Kay

Place — country singer Loretta on "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" — who plays KK, the ambitious producer of a dying television game show. Jamie Farr, who several seasons back traded in the Klinger Collection for civvies on "Af-terMASH," is the game

KK is looking for a gimmick to revive her show. She comes up with a cynical device introduce a man and woman who are AFR javailable for a relationship) on the show's first level, called Expectant Strangers. Commitment, offer them the choice be tween love and $1 million.

The first couple consists of Suzanne Pleshette, a scientist who needs money to finance research proving that animals are capable of altruistic love, and Gil Gerard. who seems too good to be true as a golly, gee-whis all-American boy. And, of course, he 'en't exactly as represented.

Ray Walston plays a loan shark with a sentimental streak that would never get in the way of his hurting anybody. Lawrence Pressman as Pleshette's boyfriend and Ray Buktenica, who you may remember from 10:00 "House Calls," are unfortunately wasted in minor roles.

As is to be expected. the two greedy contes-tants fall in love and then must choose on the final show whether to take each other or money.

The satire lapses into farce - or even just plain nonsense - but it is all in good fun and the talent is impressive.
