Students get wise about weapons on campus

By Jenna Hughes
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - An awards presentation ceremony, attended by Congressman Bill McCollum, will honor 25 members of the business and civic community for their support of the W.I.S.E. program at Lake Brantley High School.

Weapons in Schools Eliminated offers cash rewards for information that leads to the confiscation of illegal weapons on school campuses. The program began at Lake Brantley in the fall of 1997.

At the awards luncheon Monday, hosted by Brothers Pizza Place, McCollum will present a plaque in recognition of local business owners and civic organizations that have donated close to $4,000 to Lake Brantley's W.I.S.E. program. The plaque will be accepted by Brantley Principal Darvin Boothe and Dean of Students Kitty Caldwell, and will be placed on permanent display at the high school.

The money donated has been used for student cards printed with the 800 W.I.S.E. phone number, announcements mailed to parents, reminders in the school newspaper, and rewards for seized weapons.

The W.I.S.E. motto is "You need to tell, but no one needs to know". Paul Gaipman, the parent who founded the program, stresses the importance of convincing students that it is OK to break the infamous code of silence.

County vows support to poor, disabled

By Russ White

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Greg Drummond cares a great deal about the developmentally disabled - enough to dedicate much of his life to helping them.

That is why he came from his home in Longwood to the Board of County Commissioners meeting this week.

Patiently, he waited for the commissioners to get through other issues before addressing an updated affordable county/state partnership housing plan.

Commission Chairman Randy Morris acknowledged Drummond's presence, saying that he was a former county commissioner and well aware of the affordable housing issue.

"It is heartening to see you pass this type of resolution that helps those who are developmentally disabled," Drummond said. "All too often those Please See County, Page 2A

Winter Springs officials at work

By Tony Tinsie
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

WINTER SPRINGS - Winter Springs commissioners addressed a varied agenda this past week. Mayor Paul Partyka started things off by informing the audience of new Commission Meeting Procedures which basically moved all public input earlier on the schedule.

Some of the highlights were:
A request for the city to reduce the amount of money owed to the City by Mountainview Productions. The $8,333 was asked to be reduced to $3,000 for the company's use of Central Winds Park. Low attendance was responsible for the project not doing as well as the organizers had hoped.

Commissioner Michael Blake pointed out that last year's Fourth of July Celebration was a prelude to this year's "Springfest '98". "When these people (the vendors) came in for free last year it helped them open the door," said Blake. Commissioner David McLeod said that by using out- Please See Winter, Page 2A

Adagio follows his whirlwind career as choral director

SCC's Perinchief retires leaving 'incredible legacy'

By David Frazier
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Encore! Encore! And justifiably

so. A performance that has spanned more than 31 years comes to an end at Seminole Community College. Dr. Burt Perinchief retired with his last concert Sunday, April 24.

The 59-year old instructor ends his tenure as director of choral activities. His legacy at the college will succeed him with a scholarship for choral students in his name.

With a standing room only crowd, Perinchief bid adieu with friends, students, past and present, colleagues and family members looking on as he conducted his last concert. "I looked out there [in the audience] and all I saw was love," said Perinchief. Later in the evening, a banquet in his honor was given. Perinchief noted that Sunday as the most memorable moment of his career.

Perinchief was a graduate of Michigan State University receiving a doctorate in 1974. He has served seven years between 1988 through 1995 as chairman of the Fine Arts Department. "I had a really good rapport with the staff," said Perinchief.

He is currently executive director of music ministries at Markham Woods Presbyterian Church, and has maintained that position since the church was founded back in 1985. He has had the privilege of serving as the president of the Florida Chapter of Choral Directors Association, and he occupied that office for two years in the 1990s. Phi Theta Kappa honored him with its excellence in teaching award in November. Perinchief has also spoken at various clinics, adjudications and seminars throughout his career.

Dr. Earl Weldon, founder of Seminole Community College, said Perinchief a job at SCC during a troublesome period in Perinchief's life. "I'm very thankful to SCC," said Perinchief. He said that the college provided him with the "healing" he needed to get through his difficult situation.

He continues to maintain a camaraderie with his former students. Dr. E. Ann McGee, president of SCC, said that former pupils flew in from California and New York to attend the ceremonies on Sunday. "I've always looked on my role as having the opportunity to recreate the great music from history," said Perinchief.

"Dr. Perinchief leaves behind an incredible legacy," said McGee. "He is going to be sorely missed for his talent, dedication to students and being a good friend."

Sanford to banish junk vehicles

By Nick Pfaltz
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Vehicles left standing for long periods of time, inoperable or otherwise abandoned, may soon be disappearing from City of Sanford streets. The city is on its way toward revising and improving the public property section of an ordinance regarding removal of junk vehicles.

The new revisions follow in the footsteps of a number of Please See Junk, Page 2A.

Family, friends, and Seminole Community College faculty and staff gathered at a special graduation ceremony held Wednesday to honor approximately 350 adults who successfully completed the GED Education Program at SCC. Bertha B. Valentine Scholarships were awarded to outstanding graduates planning to continue their studies at SCC.

side vendors, there is some give and take.

"The company acted very fair and honorable," cited City Manager Ron McEmore. Later, Commissioner Edward Martinez said, "We are not in the business of business. We are in the business of politics and protecting the tax dollar of our citizens."

The item was then passed and the amount was reduced.

The Community Development Department asked the Commission to approve a proposed Intergovernmental Planning Coordination Agreement between the City of Winter Springs and the 7 cities in Seminole County. Besides the other cities and the county, the agreement would be signed by Mayor Partyka and the Seminole County School Board.

The agreement would require notification between all the above parties that have borders affected by voluntary annexation, density changes, rezoning, comprehensive plan changes, and other land oriented items affected by ALL the parties.

"They are establishing another layer of bureaucracy in the planning process," said

Commissioner and Vice Mayor Cindy Gennel. It was also stated that city planners had been meeting with the other parties for some time in only an advisory position. This item was approved.

The City was also asked to authorize the city manager to sign some contracts with Michael Design Associates and Breedlove, Dennis and Associates, for technical portions of the Florida Community Trust P2000 and Greenway and Trails Grant Applications.

In effect, this came out of the commission's April 13 meeting in which commissioners said they wanted two grants to purchase lands for greenspaces at the Town Center Project. The deadline for the trust grant application was April 27 and the office of Greenway and Trails application was April 30. This item was also passed.

The Community Development Department brought up the conceptual plans for a Discount Auto Parts Store to be located at the intersection of 434 and Sherry Avenue. The representative for the project was Kenneth H. Ellers.

There was a public hearing to revise an ordinance to re-designate the Jurisdictional Wetlands of the Battle Ridge Property from Lower Density Residential to Conservation, on the future land use map. This came about in response to a request by both Seminole County and the City of Oviedo. Some local residents spoke up. They were still opposed to this project. This item was passed.

Another item before the commission was from the Districting Commission, which was praised for its efforts. Referring to the re-districting of the city, commissioners were asked to approve the second reading of an ordinance that established district boundaries, referring to the latest population statistics.

An addition to the agenda was the balloting for the Tusawilla Beautification District which as McEmore states, "is a financial instrument that provides for the funding of beautification."

All the talk about the county and re-districting ultimately led the commission into speculating what part the county played in all this. "The county made it very clear, they will not comment on and district outside the county area," said City Manager McEmore. This item was approved.

who should be a priority - those victimized in the womb - are the most neglected."

The commission approved a $ 900,000, 3-year Affordable Housing Assistance Plan (AHAP) that helps the very low and low income households and first time homebuyers for primary assistance. The plan was sent immediately to The Florida Housing Finance Corporation for continued funding.

Developers are extending incentives to help the poor, the elderly and the disabled through federal, state and county funding.

Although the monies for the developmentally disabled are but a portion of the funding, they will help considerably, Drummond said. He advises those who will be on their own to first experience rent rather than purchase homes. There is a difficult transition for many of this population," he said.

Drummond, 67, has established a trust fund that provides care and housing for his 33-year-old son, Chris who was born with cerebral palsy and who is an activist for the developmentally disabled.

"What we want to do is help those like Chris who need help in transportation and in housing," Drummond said. "Few if any of them can drive a car and many have housing problems. The developmentally disabled population is aging, which is another problem. Where will many of them live when their parents or guardians are gone?"

"Seminole County owes a great deal to both Greg and Chris Drummond," said Commissioner Grant Maloy. "They have done a lot to make us realize what is the right thing to do."

"I'm not fond of most government programs," Maloy said. "But because of what this one means to the developmentally disabled population, I enthusiastically endorse it."

"The way I look at it, those who are very poor have the opportunity to work hard and rise above poverty. The developmentally disabled - through no fault of their own - aren't always able to do the same. If we can be of assistance, we should make them a priority."

Huey Davis, planner and information specialist for the county, said Seminole County would put $500,000 into the affordable housing assistance plan in 1998-1999 and $300,000 in each of the next two years.

complaints over the past months regarding what citizens have described as junk cars (and trucks) on property near their private residences, which appear unsightly or give a neighborhood a bad appearance.

The changes have already been approved once by a unanimous vote of the city commission on first reading. Second and final reading is expected at the first commission meeting in May.

Under the new ordinance, any wrecked or derelict vehicle, having no value other than nominal salvage value (if any), which has been left abandoned and unprotected from the elements, will be immediately deemed abandoned if left unattended. If the vehicle is left on a road, street, alley, highway or other public easement, it will be removed immediately.

If the vehicle is left on other public property (parks, public parking lots, etc.), it shall be deemed abandoned if left unattended for 10 days.

If it is on private property, it will be deemed abandoned if left unattended for 20 days, if it is considered junk, except in cases where permits have been granted such as at businesses which deal in such vehicles and a few other exceptions.

The sole exception in parking junked vehicles on private property is if they are completely enclosed in a garage. The ordinance strictly specifies, "in no event shall a carport be considered an appropriate storage place."

If the vehicle is not removed in the specified time by the owner or person in control of the vehicle, the violator will be considered guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction will be punished according to state laws regarding misdemeanors. Should the specified time run out for removal, each consecutive day following will be considered as an additional misdemeanor, and punishable as such.

tip that led to the confiscation of a .357 magnum. Gaipman remembers thinking "that kid (who gave the tip) is my hero."

Gaipman approached Boothe and offered to put up reward money for information leading to weapons being confiscated at Lake Brantley. After meeting with Wolfgang Halbig, director of Seminole County School Security, and clearing the proper channels, Lake Brantley became the first school with the W.I.S.E. program.

When tipsters call the 800 number with their information, they are assigned a number and told to check back the next day. If a weapon is recovered because of their tip, they receive a reward.

Thanks to the W.I.S.E. program a knife has been confiscated from a student on the Brantley campus. The student who called in the tip received his $100 reward. The student carrying the knife was removed from Lake Brantley and sent to an alternative school.

"We have received some false alarms," said Caldwell, school chairman for the program. All leads are checked out. "We don't take any situation lightly," assures Caldwell. "Our concern is for the safety of our students."

Caldwell considers Brantley to be a safe school, but also believes W.I.S.E. is a fantastic program that helps to provide even more safety. Even one incident would be a tragedy, Caldwell says the community has been wonderful with its support of the program.

Though only one weapon has been recovered, Gaipman believes the program is a success. "If students think Lake Brantley is not a school to bring a weapon to - great!"

This is not a snitch program explains Gaipman. This is not about cheating on a test. This is about life or death. In deadly incidences around the country the students involved told other students about their plans, but no one spoke up. "They need to learn that they need to call," said Gaipman. "Being silent is not being smart."

This is not a snitch or peer problem - it is a national problem, reminds Gaipman. Gaipman calls W.I.S.E. a home grown solution to the national problem of violence in our schools. He applauds the positive response the program has received. Every one has pitched in, school administrators, business owners, and civic leaders, to make the program a success at Lake Brantley.

"We can't hide from the problem, warns Gaipman. Awareness is the key and the W.I.S.E. program is one educational component. "Lake Brantley, without a doubt, has taken the lead to teach students before the tragedy."

It is Gaipman's hope that every student ID card in every community will have a local W.I.S.E. number.

Importance of transportation to the disabled

Ask any disabled person who does not, or cannot, drive what is on their top 10 list of difficulties in their lives and transportation is on the top of that list.

To help the situation there is Transportation Disadvantaged (TD), which is a shared ride system for the disabled to get to activities such as doctors visits, jobs, schools, etc.

Since it has been a while since Special People did anything on TD, we thought we would update you on the subject; particularly on the voluntary dollar. For every dollar given to transportation, 98 is returned to the state, as people work and pay taxes and remain independent.

There are approximately 67 counties in the States of Florida that have transportation coordination. The local community transportation coordinator (C.T.C.) is Lynx, the area's public transportation company and their Lynx A+Link Department.

Each client falls within the following trip categories:

1. Transportation disadvantaged (TD). Trips are limited and based on a first come, first served basis.
  2. American with Disability Act (ADA). Trips for eligible disabled clients determined by the ADA.
  3. Medicaid. Service is available for Medicaid approved clients traveling to or from services paid for by Medicaid, for medical purposes only.
- Since funding is limited, so is eligibility.

TONY TIZZIO

Tizzio is an advocate for the disabled.

You can be eligible in any of these categories: If you are disabled, 60 years or older; receiving Medicaid; are low income or are a disabled minor. Speaking of funding, part of the funding for this program is through the Transportation Disadvantaged Trust Fund.

When an individual registers or renews the tag on a car, truck or boat, they can choose to donate one dollar to the Transportation Disadvantaged Voluntary Dollar Trust Fund. It is one of the projects overseen by the State of Florida's "Commission for the Transportation Disadvantaged" which is a statewide agency that assures ALL Floridians that they have safe, reliable transportation.

Another entity in the transportation set-up is the L.C.B. (Local Coordinating Board) which is part of Metroplan, the regional authority on transportation coordination, planning and financing. The L.C.B. meets about 6 times a year. Among its main tasks, the L.C.B. evaluates the C.T.C. (Lynx) and reviews local funding.

The L.C.B. also evaluates and reviews the C.T.C. annually, monitors the services provided by the C.T.C., investigates and provides recommendations for the resolution of grievances. Membership of the L.C.B. consists of elected officials, and local representatives from the State of Florida agencies. Representatives from the senior and disabled communities are also on the board.

Today's disability definition is Down's Syndrome. Down's Syndrome is the most common and readily identifiable genetic condition associated with mental retardation. Facial, skeletal, and frequently cardiac abnormalities are among the more than 50 features seen in this syndrome. It is rare to find all symptoms or even most of them in one person with Down's Syndrome.

Down's Syndrome occurs in approximately 1 in 800 live births. With an estimated 7,000 or more children born with Down's Syndrome in the United States each year, the incidence is higher for children born to women and men over the age of 35.

Confusion over town meeting

There seems to be some confusion over the purpose of town meetings and who calls them. This was my conclusion after reading a guest column "Who initiated town meeting?" published in the Sunday, April 19, 1998 Seminole Herald.

Town meetings have been around as long as our democracy. Who calls a town meeting is irrelevant. Town meetings are public forums designed to allow all sides of an issue to be heard and are held strictly for information sharing and mandate absolutely nothing.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce recently sponsored a town meeting to facilitate better communication and gain a clearer understanding relating to the proposed waterfront hotel and conference center concept. We were delighted as many concerned citizens attended and participated in our town meeting. The public comments following this meeting have been overwhelmingly positive and your chamber of commerce will continue to take the lead in organizing similar information sharing events for public participation.

The guest columnists also insinuated Mayor Larry Dale was insensitive to the people's wishes concerning the hotel and conference center concept. The record indicates the mayor and city commission have done an excellent job seeking input from various community organizations and citizen groups concerning this project. To say otherwise is absurd.

Many thanks

Many thanks for Marva Hawkins' fine article on the Optimist Club of Sanford Optimist International Oratorical Contest. We were very impressed by the content as well as the delivery of the speeches and she certainly captured the essence of that in her writing.

I know the young people also appreciate the time and effort Ms. Hawkins and the Seminole Herald took to cover the contest. The 2 winners of the club contest went on to win the Zone contest and now have 1 more level left to conquer before reaching the District Oratorical and the winners' prize. I am so pleased to be able to bring opportunities like this to the young people of Sanford.

Yours in Optimism,

Violence free

I would like to take this time to thank you and your staff for your coverage of the Violence Free March which took place in Sanford on Saturday, March 28, 1998. This march attracted a large portion of the community and made them aware of the benefits of non-violence. However, we could never reach as much of the community as the media, and I am grateful to you for your assistance in sending out this positive message.

A child's rape

I feel compelled to write this on behalf of the 8-year old little girl that suffered 30 or more rapes over a six-week period in Brevard County.

As a mother, I am sickened by the actions of the school system involved, and especially outraged with the comment given to the news by the Brevard County Police Department. "Had this been reported earlier, we still could not have done anything because the child was not admitting the allegation."

This only proves to me beyond the shadow of a doubt that in some instances "ignorance is bliss".

First of all to expect an 8-year-old CHILD to admit to this UNLAWFUL act is a monstrosity in itself. The fear and degradation this child has endured is beyond my comprehension. The mother who first reported this child having problems to the school officials, no doubt acted upon her maternal instincts. Yet, the lack of instinct, or intuition, as it maybe, on behalf of the teacher(s) and guidance counselor permitted this abuse to continue as long as it did.

I will not accept that this child did not show signs of distress from the onset. This situation most definitely did warrant some type of investigation regardless of the outcome. Unfortunately, this was not the case.

The Brevard County Police Department most definitely could learn a lesson here, especially when dealing with the emotional factors that abused children tend to have beginning with denial. To expect an admission from this child is totally absurd. After experiencing such trauma, I am amazed that she is able to speak at all.

It is my hope that if this situation were to occur in the county I live in, officers would not only trust their own instincts and intuitions, but those of the others as well and would act accordingly in order to protect these children.

This situation most definitely warranted an investigation by police officials, not a shallow comment such as the one that was made. I am not familiar with the laws regarding such monstrous acts upon children, but I know if there ever was a case that warranted castration, I would be happy to do it myself!

Know the facts

In reference to Kay Jones' letter to the Editor, April 18 edition. First, I must ask, does a person by this name exist in Sanford? I've asked a lot of people and no one seems to know of her. It would have been wise of Ms. Jones to know the facts before intimating that Neil Snow is a carpet-bagger. I can tell you that this is the farthest from the truth that anyone can get. Neil went to school with two of my sisters in the 30's and graduated from Seminole High School in the late 1930's. Neil returned to Sanford to enjoy his retirement years, after having raised her family and working for National Geographic Magazine for many years. She has earned her right to disagree with those that try to tell her that only they know what is best for her.

It would be very wise for all Sanford citizens to take a hard look at what is going on in Sanford. If Constitutional Government means that ordinary citizens no longer have the right to disagree with elected officials, then it must be time to change our form of government. Mrs. Snow could have also used the term Judea, as in the Judea goat who leads the lambs to the slaughter-house. The lambs follow the goat blindly without question and not knowing their true destination.

Politicos' peccadillos exposed, or frivolous lawsuit filed?

I wish that we had known before that our county government was full of sexual men who, vexed by repeated attacks, put their will upon female employees. Whew! Do we have a problem or what?

I only wish that those who have been subjected to this den of horrors would have come forward years ago and let us know. How many other victims could there be? I wonder...do we have a Washington situation here?

Two, it seems, are being accused, with the possibility of more to come. Did I tell you we have had a major number 1 bestseller book right here in Seminole County? What else can we add? I don't know, but we will probably hear more this week about something. Send in your guess and let us see if you are right.

One thing does add to the story. It is all coming out just before an election. Like everywhere else in America, we are going to be subjected to all kinds of issues other than those issues we want to hear about. Now, let me make this clear. This certainly sounds like it is just coincidental. I am not implying anything other than we should let all of this run its course.

What bothers me as a taxpayer is if these allegations or any lodged against our county, are proven to be false, who is going to pay the court costs and other expenses? I don't think we, the taxpayers, should! This is one of the problems when the county and employees are sued, the taxpayers have to foot the bill.

Maybe we should take more of an interest in these suits and see if we have any recourse should the suit be frivolous and, in fact, the plaintiff guilty of misdeeds. That sounds fair to me, what about you?

Campaign brochures
In the meantime, everyone is preparing their brochures (making up stuff). All will include the following (maybe some won't after this column is read).

The brochures will all include leadership abilities (not afraid to take a hard stand on issues). The problem with this statement is there are no issues. Being a Sunday school teacher is sometimes included. You will be in good hands because this person is a hands on person, whatever that means. A visionary...wow, is this crazy or what? You could put the vision of most of these people in a thimble.

Think about this, Seminole County
ERNEST HUTTON II
Ernest Hutton II is a veteran of the military and a graduate of the University of Florida.

The proof of that statement is the fact that they can't come up with original brochures. I think there must be a "running-for-election brochure school" in which case these people are all getting ripped off because they are giving them the same things to say except in a different order.

If you were paying big bucks to a running-for-election school, wouldn't you want some new ideas? I heard of one candidate that was reading a brochure and began to weep. His friend asked him, "What, candidate, is wrong?" He said, "I could never win. This guy is terrific!" His friend then told him that he was reading his own brochure. Need I say more?

I hope they don't wave too many flags in my face this year. I am getting older and cannot always peek around them fast enough to prevent myself from running into a wall or something. On with the campaign slogans, "a biggie," "here it comes," "FAMILY VALUES!"

Most of us don't value our families enough, go to church together, love them, nurture them and feel that we are all doing a good to excellent job. I would like to see everyone cherish their families and instill decent standards and a loving nature towards.

Putting that aside, what exactly does family values mean? I am not putting this one down, I just would like a very detailed explanation as to what the person who uses this language means. Maybe I will agree.

Future leaders
Don't worry, we are loaded with future leaders. Contrary to many things that you have heard, there is a great deal more that is positive. Sure, test scores aren't good overall, but that does not mean that we do not have a lot of super stars in our schools. Believe me, we have work to do in order to bring up and maintain the standards needed to produce a really fine overall work force.

Academic Booster Club
What we have now is Super Stars and then, many more who are failing. Mr. David Roth, a parent at Lake Howell High, suggested that an Academic Boosters Club be formed. What a GREAT IDEA! Mr. Roth is a member of SAC at Lake Howell. I don't think this needs to be debated. I make a motion to the school board that this idea be considered and fast tracked through the school system. We have boosters for everything else. What is more important than an Academic Boosters Club? Do you think scholarships should only be awarded to those who meet certain standards of academic achievement?

Florida Legislature
They are wringing their hands. How can we spend more money? Let us send everybody who owns a home, a check, now, there is a great example of vision. Is there a spen-da-monic virus running amuck or something? Keep the money, you will need it! We don't want the 50 bucks. We want you to look at college tuition going up and myriad other things that will be of greater help. Forget the no tax day, nobody cares. We would rather see a stable government for years to come. Forget it, it doesn't hurt to have some extra money in the coffers. Please, please!!!

Orlando thinks their city could be dying downtown. They should be reading the Seminole Herald. In this very column we told them they were dying a couple of months ago, and even further back than that. We even told them how they could save the city, a couple of hotels won't do it. See how important vision is?

In Washington D.C...Oh no, another soap opera on television and ???

Sanford Housing Authority: Rumble brewing?

The City of Sanford vs. The Sanford Housing Authority...Let's Get Ready to Rumble.

My search for an answer to one question as to who is accountable and oversees the decisions made by the Sanford Housing Authority has led me to ask: Sanford commissioners, the board of commissioners for the Sanford Housing Authority, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), U.S. Attorney General's Office, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Department of Justice (DOJ). My search has been a trauma and complete turmoil.

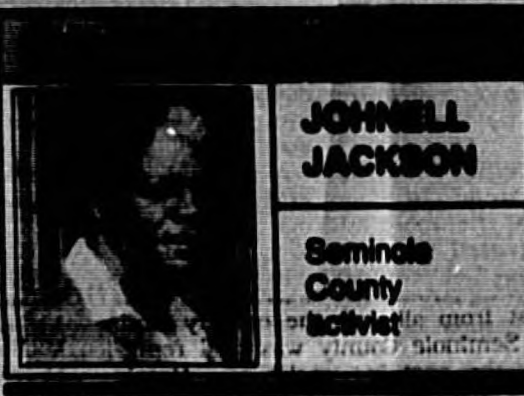

In a brief conversation with Sanford Mayor Larry Dale, present and past commissioners of the City of Sanford and the Clerk's Office, no clear answer could be given. A few commissioners stated that the city attorney's advice was that city commissioners appoint the board, but do not oversee its responsibilities.

In a recent conversation with HUD officials in Atlanta, Georgia and Jacksonville, it was stated that the commissioners for the Housing Authority were responsible for the welfare of the residents, by overseeing the compliance of HUD regulations being followed by the director. All non-compliances are to be reported to HUD and not just rubber stamped, and the city commissioners are responsible for all City of Sanford residents.

Well, that is confusing because based on public records this entity of government has become a theme park for political corruption and white collar crime and the only ones that are suffering are the Sanford Housing Authority residents.

In my meeting last month with FBI officials and the inspector general's office from HUD, I raised the issue of whether this housing authority board may be overstepping its boundaries of authority. I registered an official complaint for review by both agencies. A couple of the Sanford commissioners have expressed their concerns about this issue, but basically the issue is not one of their main interests.

The City of Sanford commissioners need to be more responsible and accountable to the Housing Authority residents rather than limiting themselves to business partners, Realtors and other political schemers. Commissioners need to advance their political powers to more than approving high rise apartments and condos, as well as the historic district of Sanford and be more concerned morally with their third class residents. After all, some money is provided by the government to the city for the housing authority burdens. Many state and federal programs create millions of dollars to provide better conditions in public housing. The residents don't appropriate or divert funds from these programs. Who does?

Your second class citizens out around the Hills of Lake Mary, Keywood, and other adjoining areas are losing morally and economically with the advent of more high rise apartments; how much more for the Sanford housing authority residents? The commissioners for the Housing Authority need to be more responsible of their duties toward the residents and understand that they are not a rubber stamp board, but a board that has to be accounted to by the director.

The housing authority board needs to see how this government and even director is taking advantage of the residents, even the City Attorney, who seems to know nothing except to appoint a board and to not get involved with those people.

People's rights have been violated and those violations proven. There have been successful lawsuits against this agency and there are others to be expected. Until someone is accountable for the Housing Authority citizens, they will continue. We all want to blame the Housing Authority residents for their position, problems, lack of self sufficiency, predicaments, lack of this or that, but truly we are all responsible for allowing such conditions to continue. We claim to be the experts, educators, directors, commissioners, religious leaders; just to find the residents constantly being scrutinized while so called professionals are getting richer and gaining more power and wealth.

Without looking at the financial records of the Housing Authority, the residents alone have shown and questioned things that the commissioner of the Housing Authority should be concerned with. These are as follows:

There is more than $6,000 owed to the City of Sanford in late fees from 3/87 to 2/88 by the administration in water and garbage services.

This administration owes $23,000 to the City of Sanford in lieu of taxes for 1988 still outstanding.

This administration has over eleven (11) parcels of property privately owned by her corporation registered with the State of Florida and has received over $100,000 in grant money which I find no record of on his financial interest disclosures.

This administration has a CPA firm in Gainesville named Cornwell & Associate doing the housing authority's day to day operation, as well as his own personal corporation, along with many other disputable contract issues with conflicts of interests. These are questions that should be addressed for the residents' concerns.

I have forwarded a complaint to the proper authorities to get answers to my questions. Someone has the answers and for the residents' benefit. It needs to be known. We can continue to lay blame and find fault that won't resolve the issue.

Finally, the residents need to be more involved in their community affairs. I know they have been disappointed, and somewhat discouraged but legal help is on the way.

Being white is not easy, being black is a task, but being a child of God is a mystery. What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and yet lose his soul?
God bless you all.

Lindsey Marcum takes poke at perfection

By Jeff Bartholme
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

Once in awhile, Wilson Elementary fifth-grader Lindsey Marcum wakes up and has to stab herself in the finger.

It's not a pleasant thought, but she's become used to it. While others cringed, she explained that she had to test her own blood because of her auto-immune deficiency, a problem she's had her whole life. She always has to watch what she eats because of a sugar deficiency and misses out on a lot of treats because of it.

"When I don't feel really good, I just stick my finger. I've gotten used to it," she said.

Now, when Wilson students get treats like cupcakes and candy, Lindsey has to settle for whatever snacks her teachers can get for her. She has to watch everything she eats and, although she loves candy, she knows better than to have any, otherwise she knows she'll get a stomach ache and start to feel dizzy.

"It's not easy for her to control, but she knows what she has to do," said Wilson principal Suzanne Crook.

But Lindsey has overcome her problems with a smile and hard work. As a result, she was named the Disney Dreamer and Deer from Wilson Elementary and awarded a medal at a ceremony at Walt Disney World two weeks ago. Olympic gold medal winner

Jackie Joyner-Kersey presented her with the award and, when hearing the Lindsey is an excellent cheerleader, admitted that, despite her status as a world class athlete, she could never do a split.

Lindsey was named as the Wilson recipient for a variety of reasons. For one, she has made only two B's since third grade.

"I think I'm different than some of the people who were nominated," Lindsey said. "I just try to extend more than just what I can do. I try to push myself."

She's pushed herself as a cheerleader and won a national cheerleading championship with the Lake Mary all-stars. She has won many trophies with the team and the team won nationals right here in Orlando.

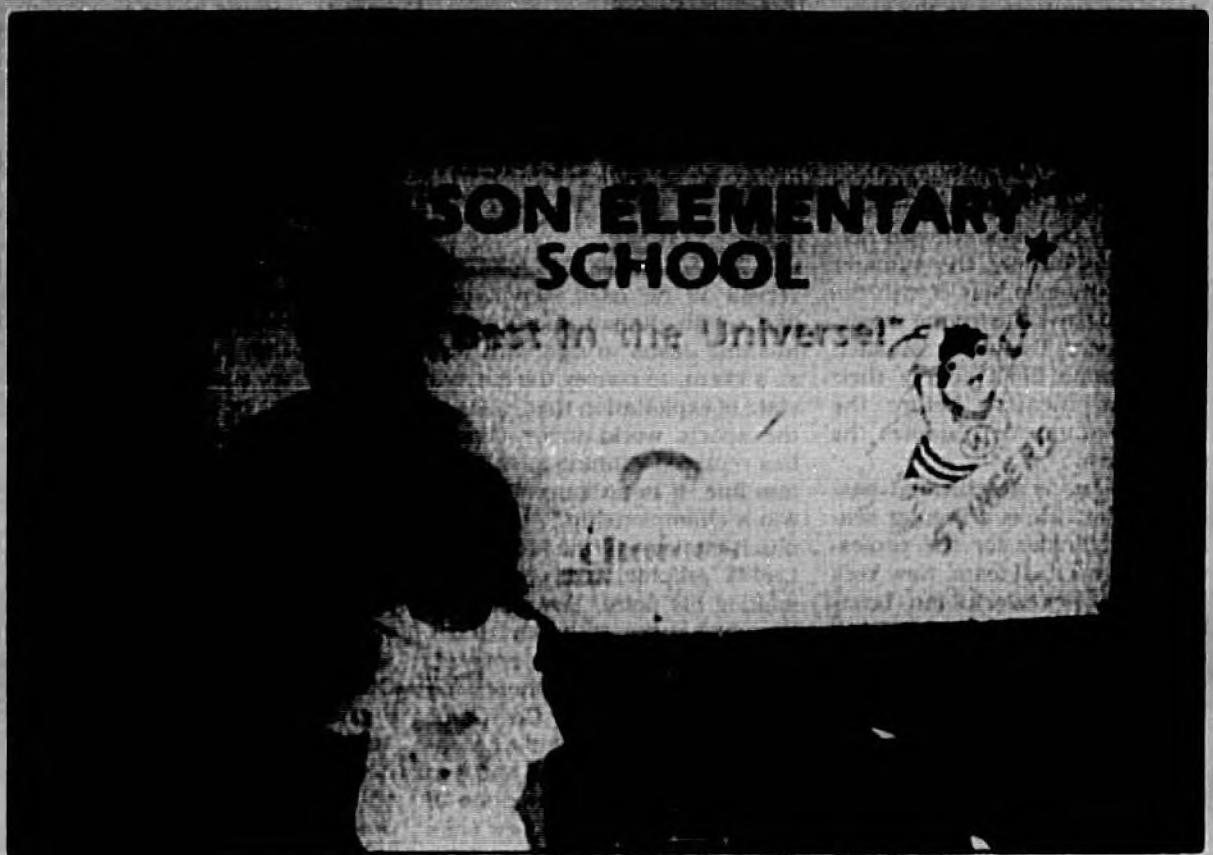

Lindsey wants to be a cheerleader in high school, after she finishes at Greenwood Lakes where she will start next year.

"I think we're athletes," Lindsey said. "We work harder than the football team."

Lindsey remembered finding out that she was chosen out of all Wilson students to receive the award.

"There was a call at my house and my mom came in and told me that I won," she said. "We went out to eat at a nice restaurant and everyone was real excited."

When she graduates from college, many years still down the road, Lindsey wants to be a veterinarian and, after she was honored at the Magic Kingdom with the other Dreamers and Deers, she took a trip to the new Animal Kingdom at Disney with her parents and enjoyed it a lot.

"I love being with animals and I want to work with medicine," she said.

At Wilson, she enjoys language arts the most and, out of school, she just likes to hang out with her friends.

She has a lot of them because of her unassuming personality.

"Lindsey is one of those youngsters who does everything well without seeking attention," Ms. Crook said. "She's a role model for others at Wilson and I'd love to have a school full of Lindsey Marcums."

Any school would.

After Hours

He Got Game leads the pack hoping for pre-season success

You can hear the sound of the generator sputtering as the summer movie machine starts to kick into gear. Yes, movie-manics, we are at the threshold of another multi-million dollar season when the studios bring their big guns to bear. Executives drool like rabid beasts as the pupils of their eyes are replaced with dollar signs. Officially, the summer season will begin May 8 with the release of the catastrophe movie, Deep Impact. This week, smaller, lower profile films scurry their way into theaters before the summer stampede tramples the cineplexes....

Spike Lee is a dedicated basketball fan. He is a regular season ticketholder for the professional basketball team, New York Knicks. A very colorful fan, Lee is not above trash talking with opposing team members. Noted exchanges have occurred between Lee and the likes of Indiana Pacers guard Reggie Miller and Chicago Bulls superstar Michael Jordan, among others.

It seemed only a matter of time before Lee put the game of round ball into one of his films. He Got Game (Three stars) is that film and it's a complex story about the tribulations of a high school superstar, the shams that want a bite of him, and the father that wants to reconcile with him. Milwaukee Bucks star Ray Allen makes his acting debut as Jesus (pronounced in the biblical sense) Shuttleworth, a young phenom from the Coney Island area of New York. The action takes place on the week that Jesus will announce his intent to play for a top-ranked college or go straight to the NBA.

His father is released from prison - he is there for the murder of his wife - on the condition that he makes Jesus sign with the state's top college, per request of the governor. If successful, his father, Jake (Denzel Washington), will have his sentence adjusted.

Lee cannot cease to be contro-

David Frazier

Screen Tests

versal as he uses stereotypes, like a glib, Italian sports agent hustling Jesus to sign with him as a client, to convey the current state of exploitation that exists in the sports world today. Money has replaced winning as the bottom line. It is no longer "can he win a championship?" but "how much money will the kid draw?" Lee is graphic and profane in making his point. However, it is the exchanges between Jesus and Jake I particularly enjoyed. Those scenes are where the deeper drama of He Got Game comes from. Watching the reconciliation between father and son and watching the redemption of Jake Shuttleworth makes Lee's new joint worth - to borrow from the name of Lee's production company - 40 acres and a mule...

Prolific writer-director David Mamet is fascinated by the con (or confidence game). His first directorial effort was the twisting House of Games. In his new film, The Spanish Prisoner (Three stars), Mamet sets his story in the world of business where Joe Ross (Campbell Scott), the inventor of an important formula known as "the process", gets stuck in a world of double-crosses and deception.

The plot is a polished piece of work - the entire production seems that way. It takes a while to get into the direction of the story, but, after seeing where it is going, you can sit back and enjoy the ride. Mamet doesn't create anything new here. He just takes trusted material and makes a solid piece of entertainment. And, of course, as with all Mamet productions, there is the splendidly crafted dialogue. Sure, it sounds scripted but it is so well written that small gripes hold no weight. "You can call me Joe," Scott's character says. "As long as I don't take that as inducement to further intimacy," says Susan, played by the wide-eye Rebecca Pidgeon.

I always feel, while watching a Mamet film, how well it would fit on a theater stage. He still seems shaky at making a film that feels natural. Things seem to be plotted and on cue. But, I will not contest that he is one of the better, and most underrated, writers in movies today...

Because of the current events in both Jonesboro and Edinboro, The Babe (Three stars) touches on a very sensitive subject, and it is hard to gauge whether some audiences will be willing to accept this material. Directed by Irish filmmaker Neil Jordan (Interview with a Vampire), the story, based on the novel by Patrick McCabe, who co-wrote the screenplay with Jordan, is about a 12-year old Irish lad that slowly goes mad and ends up committing a hideous act.

What may make this film harder to take is that it is a dark comedy; it gives the film a more un sentimental feel. And, we have seen films on mental illness before, however Jordan shows Francis Brady's slow mental decline through hallucinogenic fantasies. Often, Brady (Kamonn Owen) thinks that aliens or communists are out to get him, and we see that through his delusional eyes. He is the product of a broken home; his best friend deserts him. Slowly, the boy comes to a boil, and then hell hath no fury like the likes of Francis Brady. But, behind the humor is a sad story of a boy trying to hide from his harsh life.

Timing is the worst enemy of Jordan's new film. As with the earlier Primary Colors, The Butcher Boy, unfortunately, collides with today's headlines...

Victor Hugo's classic, Les

Denzel Washington talks to Ray Allen about life and basketball in the new Touchstone Pictures' drama, He Got Game.

Miserables (Two and a half stars) has been remade about a dozen times or more in one capacity or the other. The performing arts will never tire of this timeless story. Now, Pelle the Conqueror's Bille August directs the latest rendition, a film that is best when Oscar winner Geoffrey Rush (Shine) takes the screen.

Jean Valjean (Liam Neeson) breaks parole and flees from the authorities. He finds refuge with a kind pastor and his wife. He learns religion and Christian charity from his stay. But the menacing Javert (Rush) is set on bringing Valjean to justice. Revenge consumes Javert to obsessive proportions. It is in the scenes with Neeson (Schindler's List) and Rush dueling with their words that the film stays afloat. Otherwise, it is The Fugitive set in 19th Century France. Less significant are the scenes with Uma Thurman (Gattaca), who doesn't seem to mind playing roles that tarnish her beauty and make her poor and dirty, Claire Daines (John O'Hurrah's The Remains), who plays Cosette, the daughter of Tharman's indigent who asks Valjean to take care of the girl, and Hans Matheson (Might), who plays Cosette's love interest.

Rush plays his part with an even hand. He is emotionless most of the time but always calculating. Rush is able to portray hatred and revenge through a cold, stoic gaze. It is a great performance.

Hugo's novel has had many notable interpretations both on screen and stage. This project, aside from Geoffrey Rush, is not one of them.

Great-nephew of Opry's Grandpa Jones is a pickin' and a grinnin'

By David Frazier
HERALD STAFF WRITER

OVIDO - He is an anachronism. He wears hand-made clothes, old shoes and a hat with the bill flipped back. He sings country tunes that would have today's country music listening youngsters, brought up on Garth Brooks, starting with pained looks on their faces. What is this music? And what is that funny looking guitar that man is strumming?

Phillip Steinmetz Jr. chooses to play the old ballads of the south rather than conforming to the mechanical country sounds of today. The 28-year old Ovido resident strives to keep his mountain music alive by playing in front of any crowd that will listen. "This music I'm playing is dying out," Steinmetz said.

Sitting down to chat at the Ovido branch of the Seminole County Public Library, Steinmetz reminisced about his introduction to the banjo and how he came about learning the instrument and music by his famous great uncle.

Steinmetz started "pickin'" the banjo at age 11, yet, he didn't decide to do anything with his talent until he reached the age of about 23. Prior, he had played a few times at places like the Central Florida Festival and Fort Christmas but nothing serious until he was older.

He met Lynn Stellmach at a Civil War reenactment that Steinmetz participates in occasionally. Stellmach played the guitar and the two used to play by the campfire after the staged battles were ceased. "I turned his (Stellmach) ear to this old mountain music," said Steinmetz. The pair were asked if they had a tape, and, after several requests, they finally made one and would sell it at the reenactments. The two have formed a group called The Dixie Duo. Phillip's great uncle would be proud.

It was that uncle that inspired Steinmetz to start playing the banjo which eventually led to Steinmetz interest in performing the music. His uncle was Louis Marshall Jones better known as Grandpa Jones of Grand Ole Opry and Hee Haw fame. Steinmetz also credits his father, Phillip Sr., with pushing him towards playing the banjo. Steinmetz Sr. has helped his son in the purchase of a new banjo and a guitar. He also helps him find gigs and scheduling.

Jones would come down for visits during Thanksgiving, Christmas and the birthdays of Steinmetz's grandmother. Grandpa Jones sister, Jones gave Steinmetz a banjo to play and he even taught him how to "drop thumb lick", Jones' son, Mark, would take Steinmetz and teach him songs to go along with his banjo education.

Steinmetz prefers to follow in his famous uncle's footsteps with pretty much the same show that Grandpa used to do. Steinmetz plays about 20 songs a gig but breaks them up with jokes and humorous stories. The Dixie Duo, which is often one at times with Steinmetz taking on the choir as both banjo and guitar player like his uncle used to do, plays songs like "Mountain Dew", "Old Rattler" and "Are You from Dixie?" just to name a few. The songs originate date back to the 1800's and even further.

The duo got their first paying job performing all day at Silver Springs. Since then, they have performed at Walt Disney World, the Buffalo Junction, and the Old Timers Day in Fort Christmas just to name some locations. They even spent a week in Virginia playing. Recently, Steinmetz played at the rededication of the Seminole Town Museum in Sanford. The duo's show usually lasts about an hour.

Steinmetz was born in Winter Park and has lived in Ovido for much of his life. He attended Ovido High School and graduated there in 1988. When he is not pickin' his banjo, he frames pictures for Artistic Expressions in Ovido, and he installs tile. But his first love is his music. "I really enjoy it," he said.

A dream of Steinmetz was to play along side his great uncle. Jones passed away in February but his music lives on through his nephew. "The greatest compliment I ever got was from an older lady who said 'he long as you sound, Grandpa will never die'," said Steinmetz.

He hopes, one day, to bring this sound back to Nashville. Until then he will keep playing and showing people that this type of music still lives. "I'm going to keep playing this stuff so people will know it's still here," he said. The winner of the Banjo Competition at the Florida State Fiddling Championships said that he would like to make a living out of doing nothing but the music. "I'm going to stick with it no matter what," he said.

Central Florida is in need of its own sports hero

SANFORD - A little over two years ago, I came up with some wacky idea to move to Central Florida.

Once I got here, I noticed something strange, at least in the sports world.

Growing up in Baltimore, the city always had its hometown heroes and its imported heroes.

Cal Ripken. Al Kaline. Babe Ruth. Lefty Grove. Home Run Baker. They were Baltimoreans and we were proud of them, even if they played in other cities.

We also had the local legends from other places like Johnny Unitas, Brooks Robinson, Jim Palmer, Wes Unseld, Boomer Esiason, Leroy Elia.

Somewhat, the town worshipped these guys and they became part of Baltimore's lore and a fiber of the city. Even when Baltimore suffered through the urban decay of the 70s, we always had Brooks at third and Babe Ruth's birthplace right down the street.

Other cities have their heroes. Chicago has Ernie Banks, Walter Payton, Michael Jordan and Bobby Hull.

New York has the Mick, even the Babe, Broadway Joe, Willie Reed.

L.A. has Magic, Sandy Koufax, Marcus Allen.

Even Edmonton has its Wayne Gretzky, Frank the Tank, and Stan Smyl.

Shoot, even in Florida, Miami has Bob Grier, Larry Coonka, the No-Name (names and the debuting and debuting champions of major league baseball. Tampa has Lee Roy Selmon and Doug Williams. Even little old Jacksonville has Mark Brunell.

Which brings us back to a city without a fiber, at least in the sports world. Wait a minute, in any world that isn't owned by a mouse.

Central Florida needs a hero. It could have been Shaw, but he was never a hero; he was a guy who could drink, then left to go to Hollywood to make bad movies and bad rap albums.

Fenny doesn't seem to have any special love for Central Florida, he says he wants to re-sign with the Magic, but who can blame the doubts and fears of Orlando fans after Shaq? He's not the most prolific member of the community and seems indifferent as to where he'll play in the future.

Orlando is known for its golfers, but they seem to be here for tax reasons instead of a willingness to be a part of the community. When's the last time Tiger Woods appeared at a school or charity function. Maybe he wanted to end Nike wouldn't let him.

Sanford has its own stars. Tim Raines and Jeff Blake are always available for community functions and never turn down an interview request. But when someone out of town thinks of them, Orlando isn't the first thing that comes to mind.

Matt Kuchar of Lake Mary certainly made a splash with his U.S. Amateur win and was the darling of the gallery at the Masters. Give him a few years, though, before granting him "local hero" status.

Nate Newton of the Cowboys won two Super Bowls but an offensive lineman is never, ever a hero.

Tennis star Jim Courier was born in Sanford but grew up in his hometown as Tampa.

Darryl Dawkins was Orlando's basketball hero, but even he said he came from the planet "Loveiron."

Trevor Pryce from Lake Howell was a member of the Super Bowl champion Denver Broncos, but again, does he qualify?

Not yet, Orlando needs a hero. Someone who we can point out when we travel to other cities and say, "Did you know so-and-so is from Orlando?"

Maybe that's what is weird about this area. There's no identity. Nothing we can point to with pride and consider him or her as "ours." In Baltimore, the heroes are the Babe, Brooks, Cal and Johnny U.

In Orlando, it is a mouse, a duck and two goofy dogs.

Last Second Shot: Is Cleveland Cavalier Shawn Kemp, 28-years-old with seven kids by six different women, trying to replace George Washington as the father of our country?

Champs crowned Nielson, T. Raines lead Seminole

By Dean Smith
HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - It wasn't the prettiest game the Seminole baseball team has ever played, but it was still good enough to win a championship.

The Fighting Seminoles took a 10-1 lead in the third inning and then went into cruise control as the local squad earned home-field advantage for next Tuesday's regionals with a 12-5 victory over Spruce Creek in the Championship game of the Class 5A-District 5 Tournament on Rinker-Stenstrom Field at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Seminole scored four runs in the top of the first inning and five runs in the second inning and appeared headed for another run-rule victory over the Hawks, who they clobbered twice in the regular season.

But after Tim Raines' 400-foot-plus home run over the center field wall leading off the third inning, the Tribe would not score again until the seventh inning.

Despite some shaky fielding by his defense (three errors) sophomore lefthander Brian Nielson was outstanding for the first four innings, allowing three runs, one earned, on four hits, while striking out three.

Nielson (6-2) tired, however, in the fifth inning and gave up two runs on four hits, letting Lake Howell close to within 10-5.

Brent Templeton came on to hurl the final two innings, giving up no runs on two hits, to earn his second save of the season.

Moss caps Rams' comeback

By Tony DeBusscher
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LONOWOOD - Allen Tuttle had a feeling Friday night.

"I told my coaches before the game that Matt Moss was going to have the big hit tonight," said Tuttle, head coach of the Lake Mary Rams varsity baseball team. "He starts at first base for us when Josh O'Brien pitches. I felt it was his (Moss) turn."

Tuttle may want to see how accurate he is at picking lottery numbers -- Moss delivered a two-out, two-run single to cap a four-run rally in the bottom of the sixth that gave the Rams a 4-3 win over the Oviedo Lions in the 6A-District 3 tournament championship game.

According to Tuttle, the last time the Rams were district champions was in 1986. Lake Mary's last appearance in the state playoffs was in 1986, when the Rams won the District 3 tournament.

Lake Mary (20-10) will host the 6A-District 4 runner-up -- the Edgewater Eagles -- Tuesday night in the next round of the state playoffs. The starting time will not be announced until Monday as since Lake Mary also won the softball district title both teams will be at home on Tuesday and the two games can not be played at the same time.

Oviedo (16-12) will play at home of the District 4 champions -- the Winter Park Wildcats -- Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Winter Park (23-8) beat Edgewater (16-13) 11-4 Friday night.

Justin Holmes' excuse-me bases-loaded single in the top of the second inning gave Oviedo a 3-0 lead.

Richard Rodriguez led off the second inning for the Lions with a single. He advanced to third on a pair of wild pitches as Troy Boutwell, then

Lake Mary girls complete the expected

By Kellie Womer
HERALD STAFF WRITER

LAKE MARY - Is anyone surprised? Despite a good effort by Lake Howell High School Friday night at Lake Mary High School, the Lady Rams softball team overpowered their conference foe and took the Class 6A-District 3 championship with a 4-0 shutout.

"The team is really doing very well and they've gained a lot of confidence," said Lake Mary assistant coach Lynn Goodreau. "We have our key impact hitters and our pitching is very strong. The pitchers have been good all year but now they are really focused and Jill Wolcott, our catcher, is really doing great behind the plate."

All four of Lake Mary's runs came home on pair of doubles by Jackie Crispell. Pitcher Halle Sowards won her 14th game of the season without a defeat, allowing only three hits, walking no batters and striking out 11.

The game started slowly and by the end of the third inning, the score was still 0-0. Then, in the fourth inning, Crispell came to the plate with two runners on base and two outs. Her double brought in two runs.

She would duplicate the exact scenario in the bottom of the sixth inning, bringing in two more runs for the Lady Rams and securing their 4-0 win.

Crispell, a junior shortstop, has been in a slump lately and hopes her effort Friday night will carry her throughout the remainder of the post-season.

Crispell finished the night 2-for-3 with the two doubles and four RBI, while Nicole White was 2-for-3 with two runs scored and Meagan Dontrich was also 2-for-3 with one run scored. Maria Mendiburo had a triple for the Silver Hawks.

That post-season could be very successful for the Lady Rams if they remained focused and their pitchers.

Halle Sowards ran her record to 14-0 on the season, having a three-hitter and striking out 11 in the final of the 6A-3 Softball Tournament.

Deltona denies Lady 'Noles

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - For the Seminole High School girls' softball team, the dream isn't over yet.

It was only interrupted by a nightmare.

The top-seeded Fighting Seminoles, looking for their first district championship since 1976, came up flat Friday and lost to Deltona, 14-4, in the championship game of the 6A-District 5 Tournament.

The loss means Seminole will have to take a road trip if they want to extend their season. The 'Noles will travel to district 6 champion St. Cloud on Tuesday for a 7:30 p.m. matchup. The Bulldogs whitewashed Titusville 9-0 Friday.

Seminole coach Dave Rogers hasn't stopped believing. Even when his team was in danger of being 10-runned out of the game, Rogers continued to support his players and even managed to spark a rally that made the game go seven innings.

"I think we were tight tonight, but we still played some good ball," Rogers said. "I have no problem. Please see Times, Page 2B

Oviedo girls win, Lake Brantley boys fall in Lacrosse

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LONOWOOD - Winter Park should have been it coming.

The Oviedo girls lacrosse team has been of talent and the only undefeated record in the state, but their bread and butter is the same play, and it worked to perfection last night as the Lions reached the state championship with a 9-4 win over Winter Park at Lyman Friday.

For Oviedo, it moved the record to 16-0 on the season and most of those wins have come from the same play.

It's Lacrosse 101. Set up a throwman Carrie Wright or Lucy Young behind the net and have them show enough patience until a cutter gets loose in front of the net.

Make the perfect pass and watch someone bat it past the goalie for an Oviedo score.

It's a simple play, just not so simple to stop.

The Seminoles tried to put the pressure on Oviedo with a 10-0 lead in the first half, but they were unable to score.

Oviedo started early when Wright led Ingrid Chastinger for the Lions' first goal, and the game play worked a minute later when Melissa McDermott scored.

Christina Tufts scored from Young a minute later and the rest was history.

Set to be the third Winter Park-Oviedo girls' lacrosse game was scheduled for Saturday at Winter Park and the way, including several

Oviedo coach Lynn Calkin rode her team at the half. "I told them they had to dig deeper and grab what's in your heart," Calkin said. "I told them it was theirs to win and they had to play to win, not to lose."

She ended up with four goals and three assists as Oviedo pulled away. Young set up several of these second half goals from behind the net.

Now it's off to the Wide World of Sports Complex at Walt Disney World next Saturday for the state title. Oviedo, with the win, was crowned champion of Central Florida, and will play the South Florida winner next week.

PATRIOTS FALL SHORT

LONGWOOD - The Lake Brantley boys were not as successful in the second game of the Central Florida Lacrosse Championships doubleheader at the Carlton Henley Sports Complex as the Patriots lost to a Florida school for the first

Mariners swamp Cardinals in Senior Baseball action

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO - This time there was no doubt. For the second time this season the Mariners knocked the Cardinals out of sole possession of first place in the Orlando Senior Baseball Association Spring League at Edgewater High School.

Charlie Engh scattered nine hits and his mates backed him with 16 hits and a solid defense as the Mariners whipped the Cardinals 13-3.

The Mariners took advantage of three Cardinals errors in the third inning to break a 2-2 tie and then slowly but surely started to open up the advantage as Engh held the Cardinals scoreless after the fourth inning with the help of his defense throwing out three Cardinals runners at the plate.

In a game from April 18th, the Yankees withstood a strong Mariners challenge to win 6-7. No score was reported on the Yankees-Browns game from last Sunday.

The Cardinals are now 6-8 on the season, while the Yankees are 5-2, the Mariners 3-5 and the Braves 1-6.

This Sunday, the Cardinals and Yankees square off at 10 a.m. and the Braves and Mariners battle at 1 p.m.

Contributing for the Mariners were Ray Hadden (2-for-2, two runs, RBI), Bill Schindler (2-for-2 with a double, two runs, RBI), Tom Maynard and Steve Williams (both 2-for-2 with one run scored and one RBI), Walt Logan (2-for-2, three RBIs), Engh (2-for-2, run, RBI), Lloyd Wall (1-for-2, four runs), Rafael Maysonet (1-for-4, two runs) and Chris Spillotte (1-for-2, RBI).

Providing the offense for the Cardinals were Chris Gagliano (2-for-2 with a double, run, RBI), Mike Carpenter (1-for-2 with a double), Wayne Hillman (1-for-2, run, RBI), Bill Gandy (1-for-2, run), Don Smith (1-for-2), Robert Smith and Terry Finley (both 1-for-2) and Dave Vander (RBI).

Seminole Power Sports clinches Winter Springs softball title

From Staff Reports

WINTER SPRINGS - Footfill Championship decided.

What was expected to be a climactic finish to a hard-fought City of Winter Springs Men's Monday Night Polar Bear Slowpitch Softball League season vanished this past week at Central Winds Park.

After fighting tooth-and-nail all season with league-leading Seminole Power Sports, Orlando Ale House had the rug pulled out from under it as Kerrymans Pub pulled off the upset of the year, 10-6.

Seminole Power Sports then went out and took care of business, clinching the title with a resounding 19-8 victory over the Golden Gloves.

With one week left in the season, Seminole Power Sports now stands at 8-1 and leads Orlando Ale House (5-3), Kerrymans Pub (5-3) and the Golden Gloves (5-7).

Orlando Ale House capitalized on a pair of errors to score three runs in the third inning.

Kerrymans Pub kept it close with two runs in the fourth inning, but Orlando Ale House plated three more runs in the fifth inning to take a 6-3 lead.

That only sparked Kerrymans Pub, which came up with eight runs in the sixth inning to pull off the upset.

Leading the way for Kerrymans Pub were Ray Marchand (2-for-4, run), Doug Davis (2-for-3, run, three RBIs), Phil Budzovich (2-for-4, two runs, two RBIs), Dave Williams (2-for-4, two runs) and Jeff Smith (2-for-4, run).

Facing Orlando Ale House were Santi Gonzalez (3-for-4, run), Rod Ruth and Ted Johnson (both 2-for-4) and Dean Grafius (1-for-3 with a home run).

The game stayed close as SPS scored four in the second and one in the third, while the Golden Gloves plated three runs in the third inning to make the score 7-5 SPS.

Seminole Power Sports then decided to fan its muscles and put 12 runs on the board in the fourth inning to blow the game wide open.

The Golden Gloves tried to keep the game alive, scoring three runs in the fifth inning, but fell short as the game was called by the rain rule.

Powering Seminole Power Sports were Chris Berganter (4-for-4, three RBIs), Ron Frager (2-for-2, walk, four runs), Darrell King (2-for-2, three runs), David Hodges (2-for-4, two runs), Derek Catlin (2-for-4), Greg Reynolds (2-for-2, home run, four RBIs) and George Paulik (2-for-4, two runs).

The Golden Gloves offense was led by Brennan Spalding (2-for-2, home run, five RBIs), Jason Gilliam (2-for-2, two runs) and Chad Stabley (2-for-2, two runs).

With the victory Seminole (22-8) will host Class 5A-District 6 runner-up Satellite on Alumni Field at the Seminole High School Baseball Complex starting at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

Spruce Creek (14-15) will also be in action on Tuesday, traveling to play at 5A-6 champion Merritt Island.

Merritt Island clubbed Satellite 9-2 in the 5A-6 championship game on Friday.

The Fighting Seminoles got off to a fast start as Paulo Silva walked to open the contest and scored when Tim Raines lined to ball into the left centerfield gap.

After stealing third, Raines came home as Clyde Williams reached on a dropped third strike.

Williams then went to third on Don Taylor's double and scored on a single by Chas Lytle. Eric Larson, running for Taylor, scored the inning's final run on a wild pitch.

The Hawks got a run back in the bottom of the first inning as Eddie Lucas reached on an infield single when Nielson was late covering first and went to second on a throwing error, from where he scored on a two-out single by Steve Strickland.

Seminole then took complete control in the second inning. With one out, Tim Raines was hit by a pitch and stole second as Williams walked. After a double steal, Raines scored on a wild pitch and Williams came home as Taylor got all the way to third when his ground ball to third was thrown away for a three-base error. Lytle's infield single got Larson, again running for Taylor, home. Bill Johnson then reached on an error and Lytle and Johnson moved up on a wild pitch before both scored on a single by Ryan Abjejon.

After Tim Raines' homer in the third, Spruce Creek got a run in the bottom of the third on a double by Doug White and a single by Gary Bell.

The Hawks cut the deficit in half in the fifth inning on singles by Lucas, Bell, Tyler Brown and Kareem Morton, but they would get no closer as Templeton came on to shut the door.

The Tribe's final two runs came in the seventh inning as Taylor ripped his second double, pinch-runner Larson moved to third on a sacrifice by Templeton. Johnson then reached on an infield single, but was picked off trying to steal second. Abjejon walked before Andy Hall and Ned Raines had consecutive two-out RBI singles.

Tim Raines led the way for Seminoles, going 2-for-3 with a home run and a double, three runs scored, two RBIs, one walk, one hit by pitch and three stolen bases.

Also contributing to the winners' 14-hit attack were Lytle (2-for-3, run, two RBIs), Hall (2-for-3, RBI), Taylor (2-for-4 with two doubles), Abjejon (2-for-4, run, two RBIs), Johnson (2-for-5, run), Williams (1-for-4, two runs), Ned Raines (1-for-4, RBI), Larson (three runs), Silva (run) and Templeton (walk, sacrifice).

Bell was 3-for-4 for the Hawks, while Lucas and Strickland had two hits each.

with what happened. I'm just going to tell them we'll have to travel, but we'll be going to win the whole thing." Catcher Sherri Eiland, who kept the game going by stopping repeated pitches that were in the dirt, also kept her chin up.

"I'm still confident," Eiland said. "I still believe we can beat up on some people."

Friday, the 'Noles looked like anything but a team that had just completed its best season in years. The usually-poised Seminoles made several errors and more mental miscues that got them into deep trouble from the start.

Deltona started with two runs on no hits in the first inning, Seminoles starting pitcher Keith Hoffman was a bit wild in the first with a hit batter and three walks which led to the runs. Eiland made several steps to prevent further damage.

The Seminoles fought back with two of their own in the bottom of the first. Laketta Bryant singled and moved over on a single from Andrus Macchione. One batter later, Eiland banged a two-run double to deep center to score both runs to tie the game.

Three more walks in the second along with a sacrifice fly and a two-run double made it 5-2 and the Seminole bats were quieted by Deltona pitcher Sara McCutcheon who retired the next seven Seminoles.

Deltona scored four more in the third, taking advantage of sloppy defense to make it 9-2 and added another in the fifth on errors.

Deltona (15-9) nearly ended it in the sixth, scoring three runs, but down to their final out, Bryant scored two runs on an error by the Wolves to keep the game moving to the seventh.

That was the last threat, and the last time Seminoles (14-10) will play at home this season.

The even less likely loser

What do you think of cricket? It bears some resemblance to baseball, in that the bats follow it with similar devotion, knowing all the state. One major difference is that when you hit the ball, you are not required to run. And after five days of play, six hours a day, the match still might not be finished! Rudyard Kipling summed it up thus: "Casting a ball of three straight sticks and defending the same with a fourth." (Luckily, though, the fourth is noticeably wider than each of the other three.)

Here comes the obscure segue. This week we have been looking at avoiding losers in suit contracts. Every deal has featured a third-round loser, which, as you well know, is often overlooked by your partner. Today's deal, though, features a fourth-round loser.

You are in six spades. West starts with two top diamonds. How many losers do you have? What is your line of play?

A four-no-trump opening bid is re-or than an American cricket fan; it asks for specific ace. North's five-club reply denies an ace. With one ace, he bids the suit of the ace (six clubs with that ace). Five no-trump shows two aces, and six no-trump three aces.

You have lost one trick and have a possible fourth-round heart loser. Running the trump suit shouldn't work as you are marked with a club void. (Would you have bid a slam off two cashing aces?) Better is to cash one spade, then to start hearts. If they break 3-3, draw the last trump and claim. Now, though, you can ruff the

LAKE MARY SCOUTS HELP TORNADO VICTIM...46

Muddy Waters: Working to restore a troubled Lake Jesup

By Shari Brodie
HERALD FEATURE EDITOR

OVIEDO - Bob King stands at the end of the driveway, in the Black Hammock community where he lives, and points to a dull glow in the western sky, caused by the lights on the Lake Jesup bridge.

When they turned on the expressway lights in 1994, King said, "they turned off my sunsets."

To King, the expressway is a double-edged sword. While he doesn't think it should have been built where it is, cutting through environmentally-sensitive lands, he believes that without the bridge and the expressway the troubled lake it spans wouldn't be getting the help it needs.

The 16,000-acre lake and 90,000 acre floodplain located in the heart of Seminole County is part of the St. Johns River chain of lakes. The lake is fed primarily by several tributaries and sulfur springs. The St. Johns flowed freely into Lake Jesup until State Road 46 was built nearly 50 years ago. The reduced flow of water into the lake, coupled with an increase in wastewater effluent discharges, has taken a significant toll on the lake that before the 1960s was renowned for its recreational boating and its fishing.

Algae blooms have led to frequent fish kills and a layer of muck which now covers the lake, averaging 4 feet thick.

In 1983, the St. Johns River Water Management District joined forces with the Department of Environmental Protection to end the direct effluent discharges into the lake, but the ecosystem did not rebound after too many years of neglect.

In 1994, a group of homeowners' associations and other concerned citizens, including King, angry with the alignment of the expressway and the decisions of Seminole County Expressway Authority, enlisted the support of Rep. Marvin Couch to sponsor legislation to "enhance and restore the lake". The legislation created The Friends of Lake Jesup, and established the district as the lead agency of the 16-member board. Initial funding consisted of $375,000 each year

A view from mouth of the Soldier Creek tributary, which enters Lake Jesup from the east shore. Decades of abuse and neglect have turned one of Central Florida's greatest assets into one of the state's most degraded lakes. A restoration effort began in 1994, when the Friends of Lake Jesup was organized, but the group may be disbanded in July. A large portion of the land (see map) around the lake is county or state owned, offering some protection, but the city of Winter Springs wants development along the south shore.

In 1994 and 1995, from the state's Pollution Recovery Trust Fund.

The group was charged with developing strategies, in a lake management plan, to clean up the lake.

Regina Lowings, Technical Program Manager for the SJRWMD, gave an update, at the March 26 meeting, on the progress of restoration and basin management team. The group meets monthly, usually at Oviedo High School.

Hydrological and meteorological data have been collected, a bathymetric survey, lake current and dye study have been done and sediment analysis has been completed. Surface water testing has been on-going since January of 1995. Scientists at SJRWMD developed a hydrologic model and are currently working on a circulation model. Floodplain restoration has been made possible by the removal of berms in the North Lake Jesup Conservation area and on the Cameron property, but the group is still several steps away from completing a management plan, critical to moving forward.

A breakdown in the group's dynamics has been cited as the delay in making progress.

"Three and a half years they did not work on it," said King, who regularly attends the FLJ meetings. "It was not on the agenda."

The first significant motion set forth by the group involved a proposal to close Government Cut, at State Road 46, and restoring the 3 original channels which existed prior to the building of the bridge at S.R. 46. The motion was made at the Feb. 26 meeting.

"It was the first vote and motion that Friends had made in forever," said King. "That was a very significant vote."

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Florida Department of Transportation are studying rebuilding the almost 50-year-old bridge which has reached the end of its lifespan. The Friends would like to see the causeway removed and the bridge run from treeline to treeline, restoring the natural flow of the St. Johns River, in to and out of Lake Jesup.

"(The vote was made) over the objections of the chairman and the staff (of the water management district). They tried to stop it from happening. It was certainly over the objections of DOT who would just as soon replace the bridge in-kind and leave it exactly like it is," said King. "They frankly don't give a damn if the lake's eutrophied."

Heathrow celebrates Earth Day

Butterfly release a highlight of events held all week at the elementary school

By Mary Rowell
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

HEATHROW -What's a good way to get children involved in saving the Earth? Give them visible results of their actions.

At Heathrow Elementary School, the Earth Week organizers, Detsy Meyers and Liz Buckles, wanted a special way to involve all the children. They decided on butterflies. Heathrow has a beautiful butterfly garden, shaped like a butterfly. The one thing the garden has been lacking is butterflies. So, prior to Earth Day, each classroom was given a cocoon to take care of.

By Earth Day, April 22, the butterflies were emerging and ready to go out into the world. There was some concern about releasing the butterflies because the wind was very strong that day. But, as if on cue, the wind died down to almost nothing for the butterfly release. Some of the beautiful butterflies went immediately to the flowers in the garden. It was very gratifying for all concerned.

The butterfly release was just one part of the Earth Day celebration. KNN, the school's television station, recorded the festivities for all to see. The Heathrow Chorus sang Earth Day appropriate songs while Junior Girl Scout Troop 1592 planted a Drake's elm by the car ramp in front of the school. The tree was donated by Beckel Landscaping.

There were also activities planned for every day of Earth Week. It began Monday, April 20. On Monday, each student received a seed to plant and KNN broadcast a 4th grade play "Founding of Arbor Day". On Tuesday, all students were asked to bring in a newspaper to recycle as a symbol of what recycling can do, both economically and environmentally. If every family in the U.S. recycled their newspapers, approximately half a million trees would be saved weekly! (Heathrow Elementary recycles all newspaper at the school and the funds raised directly benefit the campus.)

Wednesday, of course, was Earth Day. On Thursday, all the students were asked to pack their lunch in a reusable lunch box instead of paper or plastic.

KNN showed the video from Earth Day to the students. On Friday, KNN reminded students about recycling and its benefits. Students in Kindergarten through 2nd grade received badges for recycling. 3rd through 5th grade received environmental brochures, courtesy of Publix.

This was the 25th Anniversary of Earth Day and Earth Week. 1998 has been declared "Year of the Ocean". In honor of this, Heathrow Elementary School will be adopting a whale. (They adopted a manatee in 1997.)

Can celebrating Earth Day make a difference in students' lives? It already has. A direct result of a previous Earth Day celebration was the formation of the Ecology Club. The club is participating in the Sanctuary Project. The Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary Program for Schools is a new hands-on environmental approach to environmental appreciation, awareness and action. The club's involvement in the project will turn Heathrow Elementary into a sanctuary for wildlife. Sponsors for the program include Adam Feltman and the Alqua Lakes Golf Course. As part of the project, a new, large on-campus site for a bird and butterfly habitat is now being developed.

Birth control shot Is Depo-Provera right for you?

Looking for a method of birth control that is convenient and reliable? The Depo-Provera contraceptive injection, used by more than 3.5 million women world wide, stands out as one of the most reliable, advantageous forms of birth control available to women in the United States today.

Depo-Provera is a synthetic hormone injection similar to progesterone, a hormone produced by the ovaries during the second half of the menstrual cycle. Progesterone is believed to lower sex drive, and is used to "chemically castrate" convicted sex offenders. The synthetic hormone prevents the egg cell from becoming fully formed and released, and it causes a change in the mucus lining of the cervix and uterus, making it less likely that a pregnancy will occur. Each injection provides contraception for three months, and has been shown to be approximately 99percent effective against pregnancy.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved the Depo-Provera "shot" during 1992 for use in the U. S. 1992, however, this form of birth control has been used by approximately 15 million women all over the world during the past thirty years.

According to UpJohn, the maker of Depo-Provera, the first injection should be given within the first five days of the menstrual period, or within five days after childbirth for women who are not breast feeding. It should be administered within six weeks following childbirth to women who are exclusively breast feeding.

As with any form of birth control, this method has some risks. Some of the common side effects include: irregular menstrual bleeding, amenorrhea (no menstrual bleeding), weight gain, headaches, mood swings, decreased sex drive, fatigue, and cramps. It does not prevent the transmission of sexually transmitted diseases. Studies show that there is an increased risk of osteoporosis, or "thinning of the bones" at a greater than normal rate during the first few years of Depo-Provera injections.

Dr. Cathy Pagan of Integrated Health Partners advises that "women who use this form of birth control should exercise, maintain a healthy diet, take vitamin and calcium supplements, and consume calcium rich foods".

"I have seen three patients who were using Depo-Provera, and they had no complaints of side effects. Irregular menstrual bleeding and amenorrhea are the most common side effects that are reported," said Dr. Pagan.

Women who suspect that they are pregnant, have vaginal bleeding without a known cause, have had breast cancer, liver disease, a stroke, or blood clots in their legs should not use this method of birth control. Any medications (prescribed or over-the-counter) used, a history of kidney disease, high blood pressure, asthma, epilepsy (convulsions or seizures), migraine headaches, depression, diabetes, an abnormal mammogram or a family history of either diabetes or breast cancer should be reported to the physician who is prescribing the mode of birth control.

According to Dr. Pagan, "Depo-Provera lasts longer in the woman's system, so she will experience the side effects for a longer period of time than if she uses a shorter acting form of birth control, like the pill".

It often takes between nine months to two years to become pregnant following the use of the Depo-Provera "shot", therefore injections should be discontinued at least six months before a planned pregnancy. Most women become pregnant a year after they discontinue the injections.

There are complications that can occur while using any form of contraception. Consider the facts and seek the advice of a physician before deciding what method of birth control is best for you.

Simple Solutions to Tough Weight Loss

A weekly column by
CAROL FREEMAN

Q: Everything in my house is low fat or fat free but I still don't lose weight.

A: Americans have embraced low-fat and fat-free foods in a big way. But "fat-free" doesn't mean "calorie-free". Many of the low fat foods are high in sugar, and that means high in calories. I find that some people take the low-fat label as a license to eat. substitution. That is when you replace a regular brownie with a fat-free one, eat the same portion - not a bigger piece.

Lesson #1: Read labels. I'm not advocating compulsive calorie counting, but, just check the labels to see for yourself the amount of calories and the serving size. I bet you'll be surprised.

Lesson #2: Use the One-to-One rule. Most people eat much larger portions of the fat-free foods. Instead, use one-to-one

Lesson #3: Smaller portion sizes. If you cut back on the fat-free portion sizes, say from 4 cookies to 2, or pass on the second scoop of fat-free ice cream, you can lose ten pounds in the next 10 or 12 months.

Patience (Lack of)

One thing that people lose the quickest when trying to get into shape is their patience! It seems to be the number one reason why you feel you will never get there. Without a little patience it would probably be impossible to accomplish anything. Patience is also defined as success. When putting a diet and exercise program together, add the word patience and success will follow.

Lake

The district board must now agree with the recommendation of the Friends, or deny it. The Army Corps of Engineers has fast-tracked some of its studies so it can make a decision, but is not yet willing to agree to fix the navigation channel, said King.

"We have lost so much already and now all we're struggling to do is restore circulation into the lake and to do so, the causeway has to come out and Channel C has to be restored," said King.

He said the Army Corps of Engineers needs justification in order to restore the historic flow of the river into Lake Jesup (Channel C).

The group has been working on a hydrologic model of the lake's circulation. "I looked at some of the projects we've worked on," said Lovings, "and we had to delay them and start back up again. We found out the hydrologic model had a few bugs in it, and we had to start back up again, but we've moved forward. I think that says a lot for this project."

One of the most devastating blows to the lake could be wielded by the collective hand of the Winter Springs City Council. The council has approved several land use changes on property within its city limits, adjacent to Lake Jesup, including Battle Ridge. The city's proposal to build its town center near the intersection of State Road 434 and Tuskawilla Road is another project that may negatively impact the lake.

"I think Winter Springs is really the biggest danger," said Sandra Bogan, of Florida Audubon, who cites the hardwood forests on the south shore of the lake as valuable in their capacity to act as natural stormwater retention.

Chris Murphy, a member of the advisory team and city of Winter Springs stormwater manager, countered with "Wherever there is developable land, its going to get built on sooner or later. You're not going to be able to stop development."

Bogan said, with the increased development on the south shore, "Essentially, not only are we not enhancing (the lake), we're continuing to degrade the natural processes of the lake."

"We're dealing with 50 years of pollution, and now we're going to break down the natural processes that help preclude that pollution."

One suggestion made at the March meeting, by advisory team member Steve Rich is to implement an economic analysis of public interest, showing the lake's economic value to Seminole County and Central Florida.

As a thriving body of water, before the 1980s, Lake Jesup drew thousands of recreational boaters and anglers each year. Team member Lawson Snider said sport fishery, consisting of crappie and bream, is possible on the lake if the water quality is improved. Airboat enthusiast Bill Daniels agreed and said, "Just restoring the lake is not going to do anything at this point and time. You have to restore and enhance it. We would eat fish out of the lake if they didn't have sees on them."

Time may be running out for the efforts of the Friends. The legislative mandate that created the Friends of Lake Jesup expires in July, and while the legislature has voted to give $1.5 million to fund future projects, it will probably fall to the water management district to administer the money and see that the projects proceed.

King said the group will continue to meet, if only on an unofficial basis. "When they (the Friends of Lake Jesup) go away, who's going to keep an eye on things. Honestly, I think we'll (the citizen's group) make progress."

Vintage fashion scene earns $$ for education

Attire for milady dating back to the 1800s made a fashion comeback and definitely a fashion statement at the Sanford Woman's Club's Vintage Fashion Show and Luncheon April 22 at the clubhouse. Proceeds from the fashions for education event will be directed to the club's scholarship program and other educational projects of the club.

Patrons began arriving before 11 a.m. and were served luncheon before the fashion parade got under way. Sanford Attorney Mack Cleveland and Fred Gaines assisted the models from the stage into the auditorium where the audience got a closer better look at the historic heirlooms.

Dorothy Anthony, chairman of the club's education department, welcomed the crowd and turned the stage over to Sanford's dancing darlings, the Fye sisters, Miriam Doktor and Valerie Weld, who emceed the colorful event.

Special guests of the club were Helen Davis and Margaret Stricklen, both former District VII Directors of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. These models, along with the club's own Jean Metts, a former club president, wore outfits they wore to a celebration in Leesburg when the FPWC celebrated its centennial.

Helen wore a navy 2-piece crepe suit from the 1880s with a bustle highlighting the coat.

Margaret chose an ensemble that reflected a woman of means aboard the renowned luxury liner, Titanic. She wore matching accessories with the brown dress which featured a bow accenting the dropped waistline. Her hat was a matching pillbox adorned with a veil pouf.

Jean Metts played delightful background music during the show, but paused to show the audience her striking green tulle floor-length dress enhanced with a peplum. Jean wore crystal jewelry and a matching wide-brimmed tulle hat.

Ruth Gaines, club president, wore a burnt amber velvet skirt and coordinated print jacket with a mesh collar, belonging to Fran Heigt.

A 1900 fashion with a high neck and straight skirt was worn by Fran Morton who carried a matching parasol and sported high top button shoes.

Martha Vanoy crossed the ensemble she wore - a mocha jersey three-piece long skirt, jacket and ivory blouse, fashioned along the Victorian silhouette. She also designed and created her hat, a wide-brimmed natural straw, embellished with lace, ribbons and flowers.

Mary Dale Jones was striking in a white pattern blouse with a matching orange and white diagonally striped skirt.

Girl Scouts share with tornado victim

It was right around the end of Girl Scout cookie sales that the devastating tornadoes hit Central Florida. Brownies from Lake Mary Troop 441 had a lot of questions for their leader about the tornadoes. The biggest question these first graders had was "What can we do to help?"

There were no children at Lake Mary Elementary affected by the tornado. But one member of the troop goes to Pinecrest Elementary School. At Pinecrest, there was a little girl in kindergarten named Star Santiago who lost everything. Troop 441 decided that the perfect thing to do would be to use some of their cookie money to help Star replace some of the things she lost.

The troop found out Star's size and her likes and dislikes and sent leader Patty Kemp shopping. The girls then invited Star to one of their meetings to present her with the gifts. From the girls, Star received two pair of shoes, socks, several shorts outfits, a beach towel, a bathing suit, coloring books, crayons, chalk, indoor toys, and water toys. The girls also gave Star an elephant key chain so that she would never forget Troop 441.

WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES $4 TO CHARITIES

The Lake Mary Woman's Club works hard all year to raise money for their scholarships. They also donate to other causes above and beyond their scholarship commitments. At the April meeting, President Rosemary Traeger announced the names of the organizations Woman's Club would be donating to. They are: Safehouse of Seminole County, $500; Special Olympics, $100; Mother Weaver's Rescue Shelter, $100; Good Samaritan, $100; Missing Children, $100 and Hacienda Girls Ranch, $100. Their scholarship recipient will be announced at the May meeting.

Have you ever been looking through some old pictures that belonged to your mother or grandmother and wondered "Who is this person?" Unidentified photos are heritage lost.

Star Santiago, center, tornado victim, is surrounded by members of Troop 441. Front row: Stephanie Suarez, Ariel Brent, and Nicole Dow; Second row: Lauren Noriega, Emily Lee, Kendra Albritton, and

This was the message that Woman's Club member Deb Meyer brought to the April meeting. Deb is a Creative Memories Consultant. Start writing ID's on all of your pictures, persuade your relatives, especially the older ones, to do the same, so that future generations know who's who.

A woman went shopping and found a family album stuffed with heirloom photos. It was selling for a quarter. Why? Because even though the photos were family, the owner said they had no meaning to her. They had never been labeled, so she didn't know how they were related to her at all.

In "Home With A Heart", Dr. James Dobson quotes an African folk song, "When an old person dies, it is as if a library has burned down." Take the time to make yesterday come alive for your children. Besides identifying pictures, write down facts about yourself and relatives. And don't forget to include dates. Dates are very important.

Deb brought Kristen Colangelo with her to talk to the club. Kristen is a Creative Memories consultant. Kristen said that most albums on the market today actually accelerate the aging of photos because they contain PVC which emits chlorine gas that damages photos. And the glue used in some "magnetic" albums is caustic. Creative Memories supplies do not contain PVC or caustic glue. Their supplies are acid free and lignin free with reinforced edges. (Lignin is tree pulp which accelerates aging.) They also have special acid free pens to write on your pictures and in your albums.

A Creative Memories consultant can help organize and document family history. Kristen offers in home classes to help people get started on their family albums. She also offers monthly workshops.
