Backs Contra Aid, Opposes Abortion

Reagan's Not Slowing Down During Last Year In Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan chose to beat the drums again today in a pair of his most partisan political battles: aid to the Nicaraguan rebels and an end to legalized abortion.

The president has been speaking out and working with advisers all week on the issue of a new request for Contra aid, and he is expected to decide on a final figure for primarily non-lethal assistance this weekend at Camp David, Md.

While discussing the issue again today, however, he arranged to take time out for another favorite cause — delivering an annual pep talk to anti-abortion advocates marching on Capitol Hill and the Supreme Court on the anniversary of the court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision legalizing most abortions.

Several more meetings with advocates of aid to the Nicaraguan guerrillas are expected to preoccupy Reagan next week following his nationally televised State of the Union address Monday.

Despite peace overtures by Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega, the White House confirmed formally Thursday that Reagan will seek more aid for the U.S.-backed rebels fighting the Marxist Sandinista government.

Presidential spokesman Martin Fitzwater said his boss wants most of the fresh aid to pay for humanitarian supplies. He offered a ballpark figure of $50 million but later amended it, saying, "It could go either way — up or down."

"There are higher and lower figures. I don't expect a final decision for several days," Fitzwater said. "Several factors go into the equation."

Nevertheless, the smaller-than-expected estimate indicates the administration apparently has scaled down its ambitions for the Contras in the last year of Reagan's presidency.

Now, Fitzwater said, "We want to give as much humanitarian aid as possible and as little lethal." Humanitarian aid generally consists of food, medicine, clothing and some equipment; lethal aid is weapons.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., said Reagan is cutting back his aid request to encourage the peace process but also to maintain the Contras.

"It is enough and in a proper form to keep the Contra movement alive for maybe weeks and months of negotiations," Lugar said Thursday. "Without the pressure of the Contras as a potential political or military force, negotiations would not occur. This supports the peace process."

but is obviously not accelerating the process of war."

Congress returns next week from recess and will vote on the aid Feb. 3 and 4 under rules that would make reconsideration possible if it is turned down.

Fitzwater said that also under the rules, "We could go ahead with one large request or two requests."

On another matter, the White House announced the president will visit NATO headquarters in Belgium in early March to confer with allied leaders on arms control and prospects for his spring summit in Moscow.

Fitzwater said Reagan, in his trip to Brussels, will "discuss the state of the alliance generally" and arms control specifically.

Lake Mary Officials Say No To Expenses

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary City Commissioners will not get a raise this year and decided Thursday night they won't get an expense account either. An ordinance allowing such an account was defeated by commissioners in a 3-1 vote.

The question of an expense account for commissioners arose because a conflict with the city charter and the new city election date won't allow the body to get a raise until 1989.

The commission was supposed to receive a raise this year, but the changing of the city's election date from September to November makes that impossible. The date was changed to keep in line with the state election.

The city charter stipulates the commission may only give itself a raise by passing an ordinance. Under that provision, the raises for the commission have taken effect the October following the September election.

However, when the city changed its election date to November the effective date of the raise already approved by the last commission was forgotten. The raise won't take effect until October of 1989, which is the first October following the next city election in November of 1988.

When the problem with the effective date of the raise was discovered, the suggestion was made the commission vote themselves an expense account in lieu of the raise. The expense account is allowed under the city charter.

Under the ordinance Mayor Dick Fess was to receive an account of $1,860 a year and the five commissioners would receive accounts of $1,320 a year. This would have brought the Mayor's salary to $6,000 a year and the commissioner's salary to $4,800.

The first reading of the ordinance for the expense accounts was passed by the commission Jan. 7, but a second reading was needed before it became official.

Commissioner Thomas Mahoney made a motion the effective date of the ordinance be changed from October to December, so it would take effect after a new commission is seated.

Parents Question School Rezoning

300 Turn Out For Public Meeting

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately 300 parents of elementary school students came together Thursday night to be divided over the issue of rezoning.

The Seminole County Rezoning Task Force has the unpleasant task of redrawing elementary school zones to alleviate overcrowded schools and offered a public meeting for parents and school administrators to offer input into how lines should be redefined.

Half a dozen new plans were presented, bringing the total number of proposals to 13 that the task force will consider.

Parents booed, cheered, stood to their feet and applauded, and huddled like football teams to hash out proposals and statements of support.

"One mother declared, 'They're going to send my kids to Goldsboro over my dead body!'"

Most parents of the subdivisions or developments represented seemed to support rezoning in such a way as to keep their children at their current elementary schools.

"I think they're justifying in their minds why it is better for them to stay at a certain school and move the subdivision next to them to a different school," said Ken Boyvo, director of elementary education and task force member.

Boyvo said parents often think the solution is simply to have more elementary schools to handle crowding in schools. "We don't have the money to do it, and the state will not permit us to do it until we reach certain stipulations," he said. "We haven't gotten there yet."

Boyvo said three schools have a student population of more than 1,100, while, for example, Wilson Elementary in Sanford has capacity for 350 more. "The redistributing is so that everybody is not at capacity and can handle the growth that's coming," he said.

Administrators expect the current figure of 19,760 elementary school students to grow at a rate 1,500 students per year for the next five years. Current classrooms in the county's 25 elementary schools are designed to accommodate 15,582 pupils.

A $105 million bond issue passed in 1985 was to renovate and expand existing facilities due to crowded conditions.

"Because of overcrowding, classes were held in conference rooms, closets, cafeterias, and on the stage in some of our schools," said Robert Hughes, superintendent of Seminole County schools.

Even with the facilities expansion financed by the bond issue, Boyvo said the system will still face crowding problems due to current growth rates.

By the third or fourth week in February, the task force intends to decide on a plan and a possibly an alternate. The plan(s) will be submitted to Hughes, who will present his recommendation to the school board in March, in time for rezoning implementation for the 1988-89 school year.

The seven-member task force is made up of parents and administrators selected by "clusters," three subdivisions of the school district. The process of creating rezoning proposals began in October.

Longwood Will Ban Comp Time For Top Officials

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commission has given tentative approval to an ordinance that will do away with compensatory time for managerial personnel as of Feb. 1, but eliminated those portions of the ordinance related to a proposed annual five-day managerial leave to make up for extra hours worked.

A public hearing and final action on the personnel policy change are scheduled for the Feb. 1 city commission meeting. At present the administrative employees, who don't receive overtime pay for the extra hours they put in, are allowed to accumulate comp time from year to year.

Under the proposed policy, accumulated comp time will not be lost due to promotion to a managerial position. Managerial employees will have to deduct each fiscal year up to 96 hours from their comp hours accumulated prior to Feb. 1 whether or not it is actually taken until it is used up.

Commissioners are concerned over the city's mounting liability for money and/or time owed employees for accumulated comp time. They are of the opinion that those in managerial positions are paid higher salaries and they were aware when they took the job that they would have to put in extra hours if necessary.

When former finance director

Barry Weeks resigned under fire in September the pay settlement called for the city to pay him $8,737 for 180 hours vacation time and 379 hours comp time at the rate of $15.63 an hour.

Payment of comp time owed to Police Chief Greg Manning and then City Administrator Ron

Authority Questions Sink Payment

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Housing Authority members questioned whether money spent on ten sinks went down the drain but eventually decided no action should be taken on the matter at their Thursday meeting.

The ten sinks had to be installed unexpectedly during modernization work at Higgins Terrace and Cowan Moughton Terrace apartments but some members wondered if the proper procedures were followed in installing them.

The Authority entered into a $1,460,000 contract with J.D. Protta Co., for that firm to do modernization on the two apartment complexes, beginning in the summer of 1986. A total of 70 units were modernized.

Work was completed in October 1987 and the contractor is now requesting payment. Ten sinks had to be replaced, adding $2,700 to the project costs.

Architect Tommy Tomblin told commissioners that the sinks were rusted out, and that he tore some of them apart with his own hands.

Apparently, since the contractor was in the midst of construction, he hurriedly re-

Duchess Target Of Attempted Assault

NEW YORK (UPI) — A protester brandishing an Irish Republican Army flag and yelling "murderer, murderer" lunged at the visiting duchess of York outside a posh Manhattan hotel, but a federal agent grabbed the assailant before he reached the wife of Britain's Prince Andrew, police said today.

The former Sarah Ferguson, who married Prince Andrew in July 1986, had attended a gala Broadway benefit performance of "The Phantom of the Opera" at the Majestic Theatre before the incident, officials said.

The attempted assault on the duchess, who is known as "Fergie," occurred about 11 p.m. Thursday outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Park Avenue, said police spokesman Sgt. Raymond O'Donnell. The duchess was unharmed.

"There was some guy out there with a flag on a pole," O'Donnell said. "He attempted to strike her and the security people grabbed him."

The attacker yelled "murderer, murderer, British murderer" as he lunged at the duchess.

A federal agent grabbed Michael Shanley, 22, of New York, before he could reach the duchess, O'Donnell said.

Shanley was carrying a flag of the militant IRA, which is fighting to unite Northern Ireland, which is British-ruled and predominantly Protestant, with the Irish Republic, which is predominantly Catholic.

Shanley was taken into federal custody and charged with attempted assault on the duchess and assault on the agent, O'Donnell said.

O'Donnell said he did not know how close Shanley got to the duchess before being re-

IN BRIEF

Man Arrested For Fighting, Both Neighbor, Deputies

A man who allegedly fought with one of his neighbors, which brought Seminole County sheriff's deputies to the scene at 107 Lake Shore Drive, Altamonte Springs, at about 6:50 p.m. Tuesday, also is reported to have fought with the deputies.

The deputies reported the man threatened to kill them as they struggled with him on the ground.

Frank James Wambold, 23, of 101 Lake Shore Drive, has been charged with battery on a policeman and resisting arrest with violence. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Feb. 8.

Officer Spots Gun

A Sanford policeman, who reported spotting the butt of a handgun under the seat of a car occupied by a Sanford man on W. 25th Street at about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, reported that a loaded handgun was found in the car when it was searched by police.

Carl Edwin Griffin, 67, of 2509 Yale Ave., has been charged with carrying a concealed firearm. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Feb. 8.

Light Missing, Pot Isn't

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who saw a car with no license tag light flee as the deputy approached the car on North Street, rural Altamonte Springs, reported that one man had been standing outside the car, before both that man and the driver fled.

The deputy followed the car and when it stopped on Teakwood Drive, the deputy approached and asked to be allowed to search the car. He reported that he had already spotted a bag of marijuana in the vehicle. Additional marijuana was reportedly found in the suspect's possession.

William Edward Llewellyn, 33, no address listed, has been charged with possession of marijuana and released without posting bond.

Third Unnumbered Check Use

Sanford police reported the arrest of a third man who allegedly cashed checks stolen before they were numbered at the check factory, Continuous Forms and Checks, 2260 Old Lake Mary Road, Sanford.

At least three checks were cashed at Ideta Food Store, W. 13th St., Sanford, on Nov. 20. During the transactions photos were made of the checks and the check cashers, police reported.

The checks were returned to the store by the bank and were marked "unable to find." That led to an investigation and the arrests.

Horace Leon Stokes, 30, of 2036 McCarthy St., Sanford, the last of the three suspects to be charged, was arrested at the Sanford police station at about 5 p.m. Tuesday. He has been charged with uttering a forgery and petty theft and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Marton John Black, of 1623 Bear Lake Road, Apopka, reported to sheriff's deputies that about $300 in stereo gear was stolen from his home Tuesday.

Fishing gear, including seven rods and eight reels with a combined value of about $1,150 and a $450 depth finder were stolen Monday or Tuesday from the boat of Jeffrey E. Keating, 28 San Jose Circle, Winter Park. Sheriff's deputies reported the theft occurred at Keating's home.

Yolander P. Llerena, of 651 Wren Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies $7,000 worth of clothing was stolen from the trunk of her car at an unknown location between Dec. 25 and Jan. 2. The loss was reported Tuesday.

Michael R. Oedloet of 4492 1/2 Bedford Road, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies his 1987 Mazda valued at $10,000 was stolen Tuesday.

Mary S. Stearman of 120 Country Side Drive, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies her 1985 Toyota was stolen Monday or Tuesday.

The 1972 Ford pickup truck of Del R. Brownfield, 51, of 3201 U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, was stolen Monday. A sheriff's report said the truck is valued at $100.

A welder, two drills and other tools with a combined value of about $800 were stolen between Jan. 15 and Monday from the home of Loren I. Roth, 33, of 1957 High St., Longwood, a sheriff's report said.

Dave Boyd of Bridgeville, Del., reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies a $325 tire and 200 gallons of fuel valued at $200 were stolen from his truck at Days Inn, 4650 W. State Road 46, west of Sanford, Sunday or Monday.

A sheriff's report said $270 was stolen between Jan. 15 and Monday from Parisian Cleaners, Butler Plaza, State Road 436, Casselberry.

Aluminum Parts Payment Prompt Suit

The following civil suits have been filed with the Seminole County Circuit Court in Sanford. The plaintiffs in these suits are seeking in excess of $5,000 from the defendants. The suits include:

—Penn Aluminum International, Inc. vs. Mammoth Industries, Inc.

In this suit Penn Aluminum claims Mammoth Industries owes it $8,890.32 for extruded aluminum parts and products that were ordered by the defendant in 1986. The plaintiff claims the defendant owes interest on that sum at a rate of 12 percent.

—Patricia Bernardini vs. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company and Arnold R. Allen.

Bernardini is suing the defendants for $250,000 in connection with a 1987 auto accident involving her car and a trailer Allen had been towing.

The suit claims Allen was negligent in causing the accident, in which the trailer he was towing on Dec. 8, came loose from the vehicle he was driving on Markham Woods Road near State Road 434.

The trailer crossed the center line of the road and struck Bernardini's car as she was driving in the south bound lane of Markham Woods Road.

Bernardini is suing for damages for suffering and loss she claims were a result of the accident.

—American Ambassador Casualty vs. Cassandra Y. Manning.

AAC is suing Manning for damages in connection with an auto accident that took place on May 25, 1986, in Sanford. The company claims Manning was negligent in operating her vehicle and caused it to collide with a car driven by Brian C. Moore. The car was covered by the company.

AAC is seeking $5,666.73. —Almor Corporation vs. Market Distributors, Inc.

Almor Corporation is suing the defendant for the sum of $4,734.82, which it claims the company owes them. The plaintiffs further argue that amount is due with interest since Dec. 29, 1985.

First Appearance Hearings Conducted

The following persons made their first appearance before a Seminole County judge after being arrested. They include:

—Willie Albert Thames, 27, of 123 Bethune Circle, Sanford, was arrested on Jan. 15, and charged with carrying a concealed weapon and disorderly intoxication. Thames is scheduled for arraignment on Jan. 29 at 9 a.m. Thames' bond was set at $500.

—Thomas Luke Bianco, 19, of 265 Spring Lake Hills Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Jan. 15, and charged with burglary and grand theft. Bianco is set for arraignment on Feb. 1 at 9 a.m. Bianco's bond was set at $1,000.

—Jay Richard Hauck, 22, of 105 E. Coleman Circle, Sanford, was arrested on Jan. 16, and charged with possession of less than 20 gms. of Cannabis and possession of drug paraphernalia. Hauck is set for arraignment on Jan. 29 at 9 a.m. Hauck's bond was set at $500.

—Anthony Burke, 50, of 1700 W. 12th Street, Sanford, was arrested on Jan. 16, and charged with aggravated battery. Burke is set for arraignment on Feb. 1 at 9 a.m. Burke's bond was set at $5,000.

—Frank Lorenzo Sheppard, 32, of Teakwood Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Jan. 16, and charged with resisting arrest with violence retail theft. Sheppard is scheduled for arraignment Feb. 1 at 9 a.m. Sheppard's bond was set at $1,000.

—Larry Allen Nye, 43, of Orlando, was arrested on Jan. 17, and charged with battery on a law enforcement officer. Nye is set for arraignment on Feb. 1 at 9 a.m. Nye was given a pre-trial release from the Seminole County jail.

Youth Charged In Jail Escape Attempt

A 16-year-old Sanford youth, jailed since Dec. 30 on a grand theft auto charge, allegedly faked a suicide attempt at about 2:45 a.m. Thursday and then ran past a guard who checked on him. The youth was reportedly trying to escape from the Seminole County jail.

The youth unwrapped a blanket he had apparently used in the fake suicide attempt and pushed past the guard and ran out of his cell and upstairs in the cell block.

Another guard stopped him before he could exit through the main cell door, which a Seminole County sheriff's report said was "ajar."

The boy was restrained and put into a cell. The guard he pushed past, Billy Sweet whose hand was injured in the incident, was treated by a jail nurse.

Later, at about 3:55 a.m., the same boy allegedly attacked and shoved two other guards who were trying to put him into an isolated cell. One of those guards, John Morgan, left hand was smashed into a cell door. No bones were broken. Another guard, Dennis Soares, was allegedly hit in the face by the suspect. His face was cut, the report said.

Charges of attempted escape and battery on a corrections officer were filed against the youth and he was being held without bond.

Get The 'Official' Weather Word

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

You read here yesterday that Seminole County was likened into a "front" with a low pressure area hovering overhead. Little did we know. Dropping temperatures and rain were rightly predicted but, again, little did we know. That isn't to suggest, of course, that there are things about the weather unknown to intrepid weather forecasters, but...

Yes, it rained yesterday - nearly 1 1/2 inches around Sanford and about an inch in the southern portions of the county. Wind? Wow. It was gusting to 30 in the morning and when that afternoon storm hit, it went even higher. The overnight temperatures dropped into the mid 40s in some parts of Seminole and low 50s in others. And that's the way it was.

Today will not be more of the same. It will get progressively cloudier but temperatures will kinda duplicate the past 24 hours - highs in the 70s and lows in the 40s. Maybe a bit of rain but not much. What do you want, anyway?

That storm that brushed against us, hit harder in segments of Volusia and Lake counties. However, there were no tornadoes, contrary to some reports you saw.

One would have been funny had it not dealt with a serious subject. One local television station was conflicting its own reports. The weatherman stressed that there were storms in the area but no tornadoes; the news reporters proceeded to show film of damage and refer to tornadoes striking. Read ye now words of wisdom from an "official" meteorologist: "It is impossible to have a tornado during a rainstorm. Tornado winds form a suction so it would, in effect, also suck up the rain. What happens is that the winds within the low pressure area literally strike the Earth and bounce back on an angle - Newton's theory of motion - and in the bouncing back blow underneath a roof or overhang. The resultant lifting is often seen as a tornado rather than the effect of strong winds."

The ruling of these "official meteorologists" of the National Weather Service of the U.S. of A. is that the isolated pockets of damage was caused by straight line wind. So now you know, "officially."

The damage in Leesburg and Daytona areas was real, however caused, and should serve as a warning to all. Stock up for the coming storm season now while you can do it at your leisure.

The macho-types have lost another skirmish, this one in the category of weather characters.

For the first time ever at the Winona, Minnesota Winter Carnival, "Jack Frost" is a woman.

Joan Przybylski, 63, was crowned as the festival's "Jack Frost" Wednesday night and will lead the two-day gala, presiding today and Saturday over carnival events that include a fishing contest, snowmobile drag races, medallion hunt and sports and recreation show.

Local Report

The high temperature reading in Sanford Thursday was 73 degrees and the overnight low was 45 as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. There was 1.31 inches of recorded rainfall.

Area Readings

The temperature at 8 a.m. 50, overnight low 50, Thursday's high 77; barometric pressure, 30.11; relative humidity, 68 percent; winds NW at 13 mph; rain, .81 inches. Today's sunset: 5:56 p.m.; Saturday sunrise: 7:17 a.m.

Area Forecast

Today...becoming mostly sunny and quite cool. High near 60 to the mid 60s. Wind northwest 10 to 15 mph. Tonight...fair and cold. Low in the mid 30s to around 40. Light wind. Saturday mostly sunny and cool. High 60 to 65. Light wind.

Extended Forecast

The extended weather outlook, Sunday through Tuesday, for Florida except northwest - Sunday fair and colder north. Partly cloudy and mild south with a chance of showers. # FLORIDA IN BRIEF

High Court Rules State Liable For Citrus Farmer's Canker Costs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court says citrus farmers and nurserymen are entitled to full payment for healthy trees destroyed during the fight against citrus canker, and that could cost the state millions.

Destruction of the trees amounted to "a taking" of private property to achieve a public purpose and, therefore, the owners are entitled to "full and just compensation," the court said Thursday.

The state and U.S. agriculture departments have paid for some destroyed citrus stock, but rarely made full restitution for losses. Officials required statements releasing them from further liability in return for the payments.

Thursday's ruling came in a lawsuit against Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner by two Hardee County citrus businesses, Mid-Florida Growers, Inc., and Himrod & Himrod Citrus Nurseries, which went to court seeking full reimbursement.

Death Row Inmate Wins Hearing

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court unanimously rejected the second death sentence for the convicted killer of a Tampa policeman, earning the man a third sentencing hearing.

The court ruled Thursday that a circuit judge failed to consider all possible mitigating circumstances before sentencing Mark Mikenas to death. The court overturned an earlier death sentence in 1978.

Mikenas shot Officer Anthony Williams after the off-duty policeman stumbled upon a robbery in a Tampa convenience store in 1975, according to court records. Mikenas was arrested by Ann Williams, the victim's wife, who was also a police officer.

His original trial jury voted 7-5 to send Mikenas to the electric chair and his original judge accepted the recommendation. But the court rejected that sentence, saying the judge relied on aggravating evidence not specifically permitted in state law.

Teens Face 'Cruise Control'

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — The City Commission wants to put a "cruise control" on teenage motorists who drive up and down State Road A1A along the beach with tires squealing and radios blaring.

Jack Phillips of the Beach Advisory Board is leading the drive for a law restraining the thousands of teenagers who flock to Fort Lauderdale on weekend nights to cruise, an American teen tradition.

Phillips described the phenomenon as "three and four people packed into a car, driving with blaring loudspeakers, burning rubber, going down side streets.

Commissioners directed their lawyer to write an ordinance making cruising — repeatedly driving up and down a city street — a traffic violation, similar to running a red light.

A formal vote will be taken after the law proposed Wednesday is drafted.

Bell: All Or Nothing On 'Medmal'

By Michael McClelland

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House Appropriations Committee chairman Sam Bell says he wants the Legislature to accept "all or nothing" of his medical malpractice plan when lawmakers meet in special session next month.

That is in direct conflict with the recommendations of an executive-legislative joint panel. The panel has proposed that legislators act only on non-controversial portions of Bell's proposal and leave the stickier issues for the regular session beginning in April.

"It's all or nothing as far as I'm concerned," Bell, D-Ormond Beach, said Thursday. "I'm not going to be part of a piecemeal approach to this."

Bell's bill has become the centerpiece of the Legislature's attempt to ease the medical malpractice crunch. On Thursday, a key House panel debated proposed amendments to the bill for more than four hours, with Bell often fighting against two other key lawmakers for his do-it-all approach.

The House insurance committee acted on more than 40 proposed amendments to Bell's bill. But the committee adjourned with nearly 50 more amendments unaddressed, and showing clear signs of future floor fights over several major provisions.

Committee chairman Carl Ogden, D-Jacksonville, reiterated his proposal that legislators take up only non-controversial actions at the special session and leave more controversial measures for the regular session.

Ogden was also co-chairman of the joint panel, named "the dirty dozen" by Ogden. He said he would recommend to House Speaker Jon Mills that legislators act only on a plan to subsidize doctors who pay more than 15 percent of their income on malpractice insurance and a proposal to strengthen the Department of Professional Regulation's regulation of doctors guilty of repeated malpractice.

Ogden also thinks legislators will pass a constitutional amendment giving themselves the right to set caps on damage awards. Such a limit would have to be approved by the voters in November.

Lawmakers set a cap of $450,000 on non-economic awards in 1985, only to have that limit struck down by the Supreme Court.

Bell wants all that, and more. He also wants a no-fault program that would provide life-long state aid to children born with severe brain damage. Most controversial of all, Bell is pushing hard for an arbitration system that would encourage patients, doctors and lawyers to settle their differences out of court, thus lowering court costs and, eventually, malpractice premiums.

The arbitration proposal drew lengthy debate during the hearing, when Rep. Art Simon, D-Miami, made several attempts to scuttle Bell's proposal. Simon at one point got the committee to replace Bell's plan with an alternative arbitration scheme proposed by the Florida Bar Trial Lawyers section. But Bell rallied, convincing several committee members to reconsider their vote and defeat Simon's proposal.

But despite Bell's best efforts, the panel adopted Simon's proposal to raise the award caps placed on people who choose to accept arbitration from $100,000 to $250,000. Bell said that increase did substantial damage to the bill, but noted there will be numerous chances to revise the caps, including when the bill goes to the Appropriations Committee he chairs.

The uncompleted bill and the unaddressed amendments will go next week to the Judiciary Committee, and then probably return to the insurance panel. Ogden said he hoped to deal with most of the amendments and objections before the special session opens.

There is still some question whether the session will actually be held. Mills and Senate President John Vogt have said they will cancel the session if they feel no consensus has been reached and a session would be a costly waste of time.

4 Sentenced For DUI

The following persons have pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

The first-time offenders have had their driver license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a fine and court costs usually totalling $367.50 and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentences differs, the actual sentence is reported:

—David Howard Smallwood, 24, of 715 Benedict Way, Casselberry, was arrested on July 16, after he was found slumped over the wheel of his truck at a green light at State Road 426 and Deen Road.

—Carl Douglas Duncan, 19, of 105 Bayberry Road, Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Aug. 29, after he was seen weaving and crossing the center line of the road at State Road 436 and Interstate 4.

—Matthew Scott Hughes, 19, 551 Little River Loop, Apt. 217, Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Sept. 25, by Altamonte Springs Police after he was observed making abrupt lane changes.

—Steven David Williams, 25, 174 Olive Tree Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested by Lake Mary Police on Nov. 26, after he was seen in the middle of Rinehart Road. Williams was fined $500 and given 10 days in the Seminole County jail as part of his sentence.

Budget Panel's Sleaze Evident

The $600 billion omnibus spending bill that Congress passed in December is emerging as a true monster with every passing day. Initial perusals of the 1,000-page catch-all appropriation cooked up by a House-Senate conference panel are turning up world-class scandals that should outrage the public.

The first example of sleaze in Congress was the $8 million to build private schools in France for North African Jews. Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, slipped this goody into the conference committee version even though it has not been debated by either house. As the pious chairman of the Senate Iran-Contra hearings, Inouye preached for openness in government. But when it came to pushing a pet project, the senator exploited his position as a conferee to secretly circumvent the budget process by avoiding full floor consideration.

Meanwhile, another conferee, Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, used the budget negotiations to get even with the Pentagon's Defense Intelligence Agency for not allowing his girlfriend to accompany him on an overseas junket two years ago.

Upset that Annelise Iischenko, a former Miss USA-World, was bumped from his plane in Pakistan, Rep. Wilson succeeded after months of effort in knifing the DIA—taking away two of its planes used to transport diplomats and military attaches to remote posts. He also removed the DIA's protection from planned Defense Department cuts that Congress previously voted for the agency. So much for national security and fiscal integrity when a congressman's girlfriend is denied a junket at taxpayer's expense.

Even more significant and damaging than the Inouye and Wilson affairs is the underhanded work of Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., who, at the behest of Sen. Ted Kennedy, slipped in a provision to force Rupert Murdoch to divest two newspapers, the New York Post and Boston Herald. The latter publication has been a longtime critic of the Massachusetts senator.

Murdoch, who also owns television stations in New York and Boston, has been trying to obtain a temporary waiver from a Federal Communications Commission rule that bars cross-ownership of daily newspapers and broadcast outlets in the same market. Kennedy's desire, carried out by Hollings, was to forbid the FCC from granting the cross-ownership exemption. This action, like Inouye's largess, was not contained in any bill before the conference committee and was inserted without consultation with New York's two senators, who have an interest in what happens to the New York Post. There are sound reasons for permitting Murdoch to keep both newspapers, at least until he can find buyers. Selling the Herald, which only recently became profitable after years of red ink, may be difficult; finding a new buyer for the Post, which continues to lose millions, is virtually impossible. Divestiture would almost certainly force the closing of the Post, and result in a loss of thousands of jobs and a reduction of media diversity in the nation's largest city.

The newly profitable Herald might survive, on the other hand. But speculation is rife that new owners would be pro-Kennedy. The question is who would benefit by buying the paper at a forced sale.

The corruption of the conference committee process and these particular abuses are compelling reasons for remedial action by the congressional ethics panels. Congress was so busy in 1987 trying to find skeletons in the Reagan administration closet that its own lawmaking was bedeviled by gross failure and inexcusable excesses. It is Congress itself that cries out for reformation.

Don't Bash Iowa Or N. Hampshire Voters

COLFAX, Iowa (NEA) — The big news these days here on the banks of the South Skunk River is the mid-January fire that severely damaged Lenny's Barber Shop in this struggling central Iowa farming community.

The blaze apparently started on what's known locally as a davenport, a piece of furniture referred to elsewhere as a couch or sofa. It's a popular topic of conversation because it follows by only a few weeks a fire that broke out in a locker plant in the nearby community of Mingo.

When asked about the presidential campaign in general, or Iowa's Feb. 8 precinct caucuses in particular, however, folks here in Jasper County usually offer either taciturn responses or quizzical looks.

"I live in the country, I haven't heard much talk about it," says farmer Bob Luther. "Most folks won't get into it until the field is narrowed down," adds "Iver Smith, Shopkeeper Harold Taylor. "He's not especially impressed with the quality of the candidates, then bemoans the fact that "they're starting too early."

That brief portrait of life here in Colfax is offered in support of the contention that Iowa residents generally are thoroughly sensible people when dealing with presidential politics, even when their state begins the delegate selection process.

That's important to understand because in recent years the two states that vote first in presidential campaigns — Iowa and New Hampshire — routinely have been depicted as havens for political zealots, ideological fanatics and assorted other misfits thoroughly unrepresentative of the population elsewhere in the country.

When New Hampshire had the honor all to itself, its voters were portrayed as too conservative, too cranky and too irascible. Now that Iowa votes even earlier, its residents are characterized as too liberal, too fixated upon agriculture and too peace-oriented.

Are Iowa and New Hampshire typical of the nation? Of course not. Both are relatively low population states with a high share of rural residents but very few members of minority groups. But what two other states would be thoroughly representative of the entire country? Idaho and New Jersey? Arizona and Rhode Island? Louisiana and North Dakota? The Iowa-New Hampshire combination is surely no worse — and perhaps a little better — than any other.

Because farm products are among this country's leading exports, Iowa's abiding interest in agriculture is directly linked to the larger, crucial issue of international trade. Similarly, New Hampshire's concern about the future of the state's high-technology industries is a manifestation of the nation's sometimes difficult transition to a post-industrial economy.

The entire delegate selection process following the voting in Iowa in New Hampshire is a "wholesale" affair dominated by impersonal forms of politician-to-voter contact, notably television commercials. Only the first two states, with their manageable populations, allow the luxury of face-to-face "retail" politics.

Ron Jr. Uses His Name

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's son, Ron, probably can count on one hand the number of days or nights he has spent in the White House.

He can only know life in the White House, on the fringes, such as having Secret Service protection wherever he goes.

But he has never hesitated to use his White House credentials to promote his career in a variety of fields, mostly in entertainment.

He shuns the White House and its place in a historical sense and he has rarely, if ever, been on hand in times of personal crisis in the lives of his parents.

Nevertheless, The Washington Post said he is starting in a new cable television comedy special, "Cinemax Comedy Experiment: Ron Reagan is the President's Son."

The newspaper said it will spoof the trials and tribulations of being a chief executive's son.

Young Reagan has done a commercial for American Express with emphasis on his ties to the White House. He also has been a reporter on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" and he has danced in his skivvies in an Oval Office scene in "Saturday Night Live."

There used to be more constraints on members of the first family as to use of the White House backdrop for commercial activities. And few presidential children have been involved in such high profile appearances, including advertising, to capitalize on their father's position.

At the same time, the children of first families have not been totally suppressed in their identities. Margaret Truman, in her White House years, pursued a singing career. Lynda Bird Johnson Robb wrote interviews and profiles for the Ladies Home Journal.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower wrote articles for The Saturday Evening Post. Susan Ford worked for the Associated Press as a photographer.

Billy Carter paid dearly as a celebrity because of his ties to his brother, President Jimmy Carter.

WASHINGTON — The Soviet sentry who killed a U.S. Army officer in East Germany three years ago may have been covering his own tracks because he was away from his post.

The Army's own investigation into the killing reveals that U.S. Army Major Arthur D. Nicholson had been in an area guarded by the sentry for 25 minutes before he was spotted. Sources close to the investigation say the Soviet soldier may have panicked and shot Nicholson to death rather than face punishment if Nicholson got away.

We have reported recently on new information about this tragic event that caused a diplomatic furor in 1985. We have seen the Army's investigation, declassified at our request. Sources now tell us that the Soviet soldier was probably a frightened young sentry who was too quick on the trigger. And we have learned that the U.S. government tried and failed to have the sentry charged with murder.

Nicholson, 37, was part of a 14-member liaison team of legal spies in East Germany. Under a

Advice To Candidates

Perhaps a man who has sought the presidency of the United States and lost should avoid offering advice to other contenders. From time to time, however, I feel strongly tempted to make a suggestion based on personal experience.

Lately I have observed several of the candidates making a mistake that I made as the Democratic nominee in 1972 — yielding to special interest pressures that are not in the national interest.

The clearest example of this is the yielding of candidates to a small but energetic band of Jewish voters who want the American embassy in Israel moved from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. I made such a commitment in 1972, other candidates are going down the same mistaken road in 1988.

It would be disastrous for American interests in the Middle East to take such a course. Fortunately, no American president ever has. Jerusalem is a disputed city. It does not legally belong to Israel. Indeed, the city is as meaningful to the Muslims of the Arab world, and to Christians, as it is to the Jews.

It is part of the "occupied territories" taken over by the Israelis in the 1967 war, but its legal status has never been resolved. That is why the United States has refused to locate its embassy in Jerusalem. If we were to do so, our standing and influence in the Arab world would collapse.

Israelis and those who support Israel, as I do, must realize that the most enduring contribution the United States can make to Israel's security is for us to carry out the role of an honest broker in the Middle East peace process. It helps neither Israel nor ourselves when presidential candidates give in to such politically disastrous demands. The proper answer for a presidential contender to this request is "No."

Another mistake I see some of the contenders making, which I am confident they will one day regret, is their unreasonably harsh judgments about each other.

At one point in an NBC presidential candidates' debate, Rep. Richard Gephardt referred to Sen. Paul Simon's economic views as "Reaganomics with a bow tie." This may be a clever one-liner, but it is untrue and unfair.

A third mistake that I see some of the candidates making is getting too uptight — possibly from fatigue and excessively heavy schedules. Recently Vice President George Bush turned on James Gannon, editor of The Des Moines Register, who was moderating a candidate's debate in Iowa, and blasted him for his editorial opinions on Bush's role in the Iran-Contra scandals.

Every presidential candidate has been the subject of at least a few "unfair" editorials. But a candidate who explodes and loses his "cool" in public weakens his public standing and his capacity to lead.

A fourth and final warning I would give to candidates is to avoid pledging instant unilateral action by the president to resolve the nation's problems. Nearly all of the major problems will remain unsolved unless the next president can develop an effective working relationship with Congress.

Suicide Rates Studied

By United Press International

The most comprehensive survey done to date reveals that for people of any age, race or sex, those who are married have lower rates of suicide. Young widowed males have the highest suicide rates.

An article in the American Journal of Public Health by three researchers from the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta concluded, "For each marital status group, by age and sex, married persons have the lowest suicide rates and young widowed males have exceptionally high rates."

Reviewing statistics for 1979 to 1981, when more than 80,000 people killed themselves, the group found the highest rate of suicide — 18 of every 10,000 — in widowed men between the ages of 25 and 34.

When the data are adjusted for age, they revealed that widowed and divorced people had a threefold greater overall risk of suicide than did married people.

Whether married, never married, divorced or widowed, white males have the highest suicide rates, followed by black males, white females and black females.

Hodgkin's patients apparently have sixfold increased risk for developing a second cancer, according to a 15-year study of 1,507 Hodgkin's patients conducted by the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md.

The high risk of solid tumors long after there is any evidence of Hodgkin's disease underscores the importance of continued monitoring of the patients, with careful evaluation of medical symptoms, the researchers said in reporting their findings in The New England Journal of Medicine.

"Because of the susceptibility to lung cancer of patients with Hodgkin's disease, special efforts should be made to discourage their smoking," they said.

Soviet Sentry May Have Panicked

1947 agreement, the United States, Britain and France are allowed to engage in legal espionage by observing Soviet military movements in East Germany. The Soviets have a similar team in West Germany. Neither side is allowed to enter restricted territory.

On March 24, 1985, Nicholson and his driver, Sgt. Jessie Schatz, were photographing a Soviet training area in the East German town of Ludwigslust. Maps provided to the Army by the Soviets showed the area as unrestricted.

The two men had been there 25 minutes, long enough for Nicholson to peer through the window of a tank shed. He was returning to his car where Schatz waited, when, according to the Army report, a Soviet guard "suddenly appeared from a proximate woodland and began firing on Nicholson and Schatz." One shot struck Nicholson in the stomach. Schatz was not hit.

Other highly classified documents revealed that the Soviet sentry was away from his post for the 25 minutes that the two Americans were there and he was startled to see them when he came out of the nearby woods, at least 80 yards away. He must have quickly calculated that he would be in trouble if he didn't stop them. Knowing that he couldn't run to the car and intercept them in time, he fired his rifle. Army intelligence analysts theorized.

The young soldier then held Schatz at gunpoint while Nicholson bled to death. Schatz was not allowed to leave for eight hours and the Soviets did not turn over Nicholson's body to the U.S. officials until the next day. No one can say for certain how long it took Nicholson to die and whether he could have been saved with prompt medical help. His clothes told the story that he bled heavily.

And what of the soldier who killed him?

"He could not be apprehended or interviewed as Soviet officials declined to cooperate with U.S. officials in the investigation," the Army report says.

We have learned that the U.S. Army commander in Europe, Gen. Glenn K. Otis, personally requested the name of the sentry from Gen. Mikhail M. Zaitsev, the Soviet commander in East Germany. Zaitsev refused to disclose the information at a meeting of the two generals in Potsdam, East Germany, three weeks after the shooting.

During the meeting, Zaitsev reportedly agreed that the Soviets would not, in the future, permit the "use of force or weapons" by their soldiers against the liaison team members from the United States, France and Britain. Other Soviet officials later took issue with Zaitsev's promise and he was abruptly relieved of his duties and sent back to Moscow.

Army staffers, including Lev Yudovich, who was once a Soviet attorney, concluded that the sentry should be charged with murder. Yudovich said the Soviet criminal code would apply to Soviet soldiers in Germany and that "the appropriate offense would also be murder, which, in this case, was causing a wrongful death, with disregard for human life."

But Americans will never know if the sentry was punished or rewarded. "Action which has been or will be taken against the Soviet soldier, if any, is not known and will probably not be reported by Soviet officials," the Army investigators concluded.

Hart Faces New, Old Questions: Illegal Gifts, Funding, Rice

BOSTON (UPI) — Gary Hart ended with a quick retort an old question about his involvement with model Donna Rice, but the Democratic presidential candidate still faced other inquiries about funding for his debt-ridden 1984 campaign.

Hart's presidential campaign from four years ago has not accounted for almost $80,000 in apparently excessive and illegal campaign contributions. The Washington Post reported today.

Citing Federal Election Commission computer records and documents, the Post said Hart's campaign also received $30,000 from two California fund-raisers the morning after Hart's second-place finish in the 1984 Iowa caucuses. The contribution was in sale and leaseback transactions that are generally prohibited by federal election law.

Federal law prohibits individuals from contributing more than $1,000 to a candidate in each election. Campaigns normally return contributions that exceed the legal limit.

Speaking Thursday to students at Boston University, Hart received enthusiastic applause when he responded to a question about his earlier relationship with Rice.

Capitol Hill Scene For Activists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anticipating a crowd of 50,000, leaders of the flagging anti-abortion movement hope a good turnout at today's annual March for Life will rejuvenate the effort to overturn the 1973 Supreme Court decision legalizing most abortions.

But the movement, with its most ardent political champion, President Reagan, in the last year of his presidency, faces waning political interest and growing public weariness with the bitterly divisive issue.

Today, to mark the 15th anniversary of the landmark Roe v. Wade ruling that said the constitutional right to privacy protected a woman's right to abortion, opponents of the decision will open the day by delivering roses — the symbol the movement has adopted for the aborted fetus — to members of Congress.

Abandoned Girl Loses Feet

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Can I cry, or should I be brave?" 9-year-old Darlwin Carlisle asked before surgeons amputated her feet that were frostbitten when she was abandoned and padlocked inside an unheated, refuse-strewn house.

Nicknamed "Pumpkin" by her doctors, Darlwin acted "amazingly mature" before her legs were amputated at mid-call during a three-hour operation Thursday at Wyler's Children's Hospital, pediatric orthopedist Victoria Dvorch said.

Stripper's Mother Sentenced: 364 Days

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Theresa Jackson was sentenced to 364 days in the Broward County jail Thursday for driving her underage daughter to suicide by forcing the teenager to work as a nude dancer.

She was convicted Oct. 30 of three counts: child abuse, procuring sexual performances by a child, and forging a birth certificate so her 17-year-old daughter, Tina Mancini, could dance nude.

Jackson, 41, was the first parent convicted in an off-spring's suicide in U.S. legal history. The landmark conviction of mental child abuse in a criminal trial also marked the first use of a "psychological autopsy" in such a case.

Jackson could have been sentenced by Broward County Circuit Judge Arthur Franza to a maximum penalty of 25 years in prison. But instead he sentenced her to the jail term, plus two years of house arrest and three years' probation to run consecutively, for a total of six years under the jurisdiction of the criminal justice system.

"Mrs. Jackson, I don't think your conduct as to count one and count three were acceptable as a mother. I don't think taking your daughter to a nude bar — you did procure sexual performances — is acceptable as a mother," Franza said.

Mancini put her mother's .357-magnum in her mouth and pulled the trigger March 23, 1986 after working as a stripper for several months at the Cat's Meow and for 10 days at Thee Doll House Three.

Prosecutors in the four-week trial said Tina made up to $1,000 a week working as a nude dancer, and Jackson forced the girl to work as a stripper to pay most of the family's living expenses.

Jackson said Tina paid her $100 a week for room and board plus $100 weekly to be the teen's chauffeur-chaperone, and for gas money. She also admitted to forging her daughter's birth certificate.

Environmental Group To Seek Everglades Action

KEY LARGO (UPI) — A growing imbalance between growth and the environment has cut the Everglades bird population, threatening some species with extinction, the president of the National Audubon Society said Thursday.

Peter A.A. Berle, president of the environmental group, said research by Audubon scientists found alarming declines in bird counts in the Everglades, a warning signal of trouble.

"The Everglades are in pain — indicated by the wading bird decline — and this ecosystem is trying to tell us something," Berle said in remarks for the annual Everglades Coalition Conference.

Berle said the population of wading birds has dropped 90 percent in the past 50 years, and "what's left in 1988 is disappearing at an alarming rate."

"Future generations will curse us," Berle said. "They will curse our ignorance and our arrogance, if we leave them with only faded photographs of the magnificent plumed birds that graced the Everglades."

The society said Florida officials and residents "must strike a far better balance between explosive growth and environmental protection," he said.

Big Cypress Preserve. President Reagan has threatened to veto the addition.

The state also must reduce the nutrients permitted in runoff from farms, build special equipment to slow the Kissimmee River and create back-flooding and encourage communities to reduce water consumption.

Florida officials should also support a U.S. Park Service plan to cut by half the hunting season for deer and other wildlife in Big Cypress, Berle said.

The Audubon Society, which is lighting construction of a 1,249-foot television antenna that could interfere with migration patterns of the wood stork, outlined a five-step plan to reverse the environmental declines.

Berle urged expansion of Big Cypress Preserve and Everglades National Park, and called on the state to step up activities involving water quality and protection for the endangered Florida panther.

In his prepared remarks, Berle said field studies last year found 615 nests of the roseate spoonbill, a pink bird with large bill, but fewer than 15 nests produced successful offspring.

Audubon biologists found poor birth rates and high death rates for the great white heron, which lives in the Everglades and the Keys, and a sharp drop in the wood stork population from 2,800 nesting pairs in 1983 to 250 in 1986.

"If we manage to turn the situation around for the beautiful wading birds, we will have gone a long way toward protecting the Everglades as an ecosystem," Berle said.

The society's five-point plan urges expansion of Everglades National Park by 700,000 acres and calls on the state to support a 136,000-acre addition to the

Drug Preparation Reverses Effects Of Aging On Skin

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — In the first scientifically controlled study of its kind, researchers reported Thursday a drug used to treat acne can also restore youthfulness to skin by smoothing fine wrinkles, softening roughness, fading age spots and turning sallow complexions rosy.

The topical vitamin A-based cream also may inhibit or reverse skin cancer in very early stages, researchers reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"We're really very excited about it, because this is the first time we've demonstrated we can improve sun-damaged as well as aging skin," said Dr. John Voorhees, chairman of the dermatology department at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

"But more exciting is the results get better and better," Voorhees said. "Our study only covered the first four months of treatment. I'm seeing these patients after 12 and 14 months, and they look two or three times better."

But Voorhees and other dermatologists familiar with the tretinoin cream noted it has little effect on some major skin changes that come with age and thus will not erase deep wrinkles or relieve the sagging or thinning of older skin.

Nevertheless, the report "suggests that a new age has dawned" in cosmetics, said Dr. Barbara Gilchrist, of the Boston University School of Medicine and the USDA Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts University.

"This is the absolutely the first time anything has been shown to reverse the effects of photoaging on the skin," she said. "The cosmetics industry has been claiming for years their products do this, but of course none of them do."

Gilchrist, a dermatologist specializing in cellular skin aging, said many in the profession have become "enthusiastic converts" to the cream, even though the changes it causes are "subtle."

"Anyone expecting this to wipe off 20 years is going to be disappointed, but it does work," she said. "The question still to be answered is whether it causes a permanent change, or whether the patients will quickly revert if they stop using the medication."

Tretinoin, or all-trans-retinoic acid, is one of several vitamin A-like compounds called retinoids. Tretinoin is the most commonly prescribed drug for treating acne.

While much has been written about tretinoin and wrinkles in recent months, Voorhees and his colleagues are the first to publish a scientifically controlled study of the cream.

The study was supported in part by Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp., of Raritan, N.J., which markets tretinoin under the name Retin-A.

Thirty experimental subjects, Caucasians, ages 35 to 70, applied the 0.1 percent tretinoin cream nightly for 16 weeks. All applied it to one forearm and a drug-free cream to the other; half also applied the tretinoin to their faces, while the other half used the dummy ointment. Neither the subjects or the experimenters knew which cream was medicated.

Most of the patients using the drug developed a skin inflammation that lasted from a few weeks to three months, but as this problem subsided, "improvement in fine wrinkling, (freckles and age spots), roughness and pebbling became evident and improved further as the study progressed," the researchers noted.

All 30 patients showed at least some improvement on their forearms, and 14 of 15 patients who applied the creams to their face also showed improvement. In many cases, the patient's skin took on a "pink, rosy glow" that did not appear to be associated with the original irritation, the researchers said.

No improvement was seen in any patient using the dummy ointment.

Skin biopsies indicated the tretinoin may work by thickening the skin's outer layer, as well as increasing the formation of collagen, or connective tissue, underneath.

The biopsies also indicated the drug caused total or partial remission of skin irregularities likely to develop into cancers, "which might have exciting implications for the treatment of skin cancers in the future," Voorhees said.

The only lasting side effect of the drug was to make the skin sensitive to prolonged sun exposure, but the researchers said using a strong sun screen would prevent the problem.

Tretinoin is currently only approved by the Food and Drug Administration as a prescription drug for acne, but any physician can prescribe it at her or his discretion.

Dr. George Thorne, Ortho's associate medical director, said the company would seek FDA approval to sell the drug as an anti-aging medication after extensive clinical trials that he said would "take some time" to complete. He said it had not been decided whether the company would seek approval for over-the-counter sales of tretinoin.

IN BRIEF

Iranian Boats Attack Tanker; Iraqi Planes Go, Do Likewise

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian speedboats attacked a Panamanian-flagged tanker in Omani waters today and accidentally fired at a Norwegian liquefied gas carrier en route to Iran. Iraq said its warplanes attacked a tanker in Iranian service.

An Omani gunboat raced to the scene of the attack on the 15,849-ton Topaz in the Strait of Hormuz but no casualties or serious damage was inflicted, shipping officials said.

The Iranian launches had charged into the sultanate's territorial waters and peppered the Topaz with machine-gun fire and rocket-propelled grenades. The exact time of the attack was not immediately known.

The official Iraqi News Agency quoted a military spokesman in Baghdad as saying Iraqi warplanes scored direct and accurate hits on a large naval target, Iraqi military terminology for an oil tanker, off the Iranian coast at 5 a.m.

The attacks came after a day of 80 Iraqi strikes on Iranian troop concentrations along the border between the two nations. Tehran claimed its forces killed or wounded 4,800 Iraqis in the weeklong land battle.

Dozens Said Beaten By Israelis

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The military says it is investigating reports that dozens of Arabs have been beaten severely by Israeli soldiers under a new policy aimed at crushing riots without gunfire and instilling fear of the army.

The number of disturbances in the occupied areas dwindled to scattered incidents of rock-throwing and tire-burning Thursday, and authorities lifted curfews at two more Palestinian refugee camps in the coastal Gaza Strip to allow residents to shop and go to work.

Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin, touring the Gaza town of Rafah and the Deir el-Balah refugee camp, described the level of Palestinian violence as "down almost to nil." He said curfews may be lifted shortly on all Gaza camps.

But in the small village of Qabatiya near Jenin, in the occupied West Bank 50 miles north of Jerusalem, five people with broken limbs were brought to a hospital and said soldiers beat them for no reason.

U.S. Team On MIAs In Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — A U.S. military team carried information about American MIAs to Hanoi today amid new U.S.-Vietnamese differences over efforts to account for the 1,774 servicemen missing since the Vietnam War.

Ross Petzing, a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy, said the six-man team led by Lt. Col. Joe Harvey, commander of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center, left Bangkok for Hanoi at 9:30 a.m. today aboard an embassy plane.

"The American side will provide the Vietnamese with information concerning specific cases of Americans unaccounted for from the Indochina War," Petzing said.

"We will also give the Vietnamese details on the progress we have made in identifying remains they have previously returned to us," he said.

The meeting on technical issues, the first since October, was seen as a test of an agreement worked out last August by U.S. presidential envoy Gen. John Vessey. It was agreed that such meetings were to take place six times per year.

Aquino Concedes Land Reform

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino, heading off potential trouble from protesters outside her palace, said today her wealthy family will yield its massive sugar plantation for distribution to 7,000 peasants under the country's land reform program.

Aquino made the announcement as an estimated 10,000 people marched on the Malacanang Palace to mark the deaths of 12 peasants shot by troops during an unruly land reform protest at the same spot one year ago.

Rally organizers dismissed Aquino's promise to break up the 14,650-acre Hacienda Luisita, 70 miles north of Manila, saying the peasants would receive only shares in a corporation controlled by her family.

Longwood Vote Delayed

Plans For Actor's Theater Put On Hold

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Plans for the opening of the James Best Theatre & Film Acting Workshop in Longwood, scheduled for this month, are on hold pending outcome of a Feb. 1 Longwood City Commission meeting.

The public hearing was postponed on Best's conditional use request to that date after the commission reversed its vote rejecting the conditional request Monday night on the advice of City Attorney Michael Kramer.

R.J. Ogren, managing director of the proposed theater, said, "We are waiting to find out what the owner of the Barclay Square shopping center is able to work out problems with city and the health department. We're on hold at the moment and aren't negotiating with anyone else. We still hope to open in 4-8 weeks."

Russell Miller, director of Environmental Health for the county health department, said work is scheduled to get under way today on rectifying septic tank problems at the shopping center. He said that on Tuesday the owner was given 24 hours pump out a septic tank that City Commissioner Hank Hardy complained Monday night has sewage bubbling and flowing out of it.

Acting City Administrator Don Terry told Hardy Monday night that he would ask the health department if something could be done.

Miller said the current failure of the drainfield for the septic tank serving the buildings on the north and east sides of the center mainly due to the fact it has been driven on by cars using the area for parking.

Lack of adequate septic tanks and parking have been cited by City Planner Chris Nagle as reasons not to approve the conditional use.

In a Jan. 11 letter to Rod Beverstein of Lakeland, director of property management for The Executive National Companies, Miller stated the current septic tank serving two buildings in the center is capable of handling the present flow and with the addition of 1,500 square feet protected drainfield to the rear of the north building, the system theoretically would be capable of handling the capacity of the center including the theater.

However, Miller, expressed serious reservations that the system would not function because of extremely limited, open, unpaved areas; the fact that the shopping center was designed area wise to be on sanitary sewer, not septic tank; and the estimated flow from the theater was calculated for Friday and Saturday night maximum usage and did not consider the 125 children who might be on the premises three afternoons a week.

Beverstein told the Herald that the septic tank situation is not Best's problem, but since Best made the conditional use request, it is his responsibility to resolve the parking issue with the city. "I think we're 90 percent there," Beverstein said. "Making everybody happy is all we really have to do."

Beverstein said he is working to upgrade the parking in the rear of the shopping center and has obtained gravel. He said he wants to expand the drain field from the septic tank to the area.

The shopping center had been promised sewer service but when it was 90 percent complete learned that sewer capacity was not available.

In summary, he said the system would meet minimum code requirements, but in his opinion may not function properly based on expected flow verses land area.

Best, 61, who recently moved to the city, has been in 83 movies and 600 television shows during his career as well as operating an acting school in Los Angeles for 27 years. He plans to operate an improvisational comedy competition on Friday and Saturday nights using judges from the audience. He also plans to offer acting classes and provide children's theater for area school children.

Four Sanford Burglaries Reported

Three rings valued at $4,050 were stolen from the residence of an elderly Sanford woman Tuesday afternoon, according to a Sanford City Police report.

Myrtis Hantselke, 104 W. 10th St., told police that she had been out of the house between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. that day, and when she returned she discovered the rings were missing.

A 1988, black Chevy Blazer belonging to Harry Edward Robson, 68, 613 E. 14th St., was broken into between Sunday 7 p.m. and Monday 11 a.m., Robson told police. The truck had been parked in his driveway. Two shotguns valued at $560 are missing from the truck.

Police said the unidentified burglar apparently broke in through the rear tailgate window, then ransacked the inside of the vehicle, stole the guns, then exited through the passenger door.

St. John and Sons Electric Co., 520 Laurel Ave., was broken into between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Sunday. Office manager Hunka St. John Rogers told police that property valued at $400 is missing from the office.

Police said the perpetrator kicked in a back door into the building.

Chamber Committee Says Industrial Survey Needed

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

Before new industries can be brought Sanford, a study is needed to determine industries already located in the city and what service needs those industries have, members of the Industrial Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce said Thursday.

Industrial parks in the area should be recommended as possible locations for any new industries coming into the area also, members said.

A study done by the Industrial Development Commission in Lake County proved quite helpful to that region, according to Commission member Ron Thibodeaux.

He said that 38 percent of the businesses queried in Lake County had plans to expand and 58 percent needed more manpower. Such questionnaires also help to determine what services are needed in the area. The Lake County survey prompted a sawmill company to re-locate because an abundance of cabinet makers live and work in that county.

Committee member Jim Young commented that if a survey were done in the Sanford Industrial community perhaps a "common void" could be found here also, which chamber members could encourage an industry to fill.

Thibodeaux also pointed out that industrial training could also be obtained through community colleges, rather than by the businesses themselves, as was the case in Lake County.

Thibodeaux told the group that the labor force is always plentiful in Central Florida, even with a five percent unemployment rate. Even when the rate is that low, good manufacturing people are always available he said.

Senator Helms Leading Spokesman

INF Treaty Opponents Gear Up For Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arch-conservatives on and off Capitol Hill are heating up their effort to defeat or damage the new arms accord with the Soviet Union.

While Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., was warning Wednesday that the Intermediate Nuclear Forces Treaty must be amended because of serious defects that threaten U.S. security, fellow conservatives outside Congress said they are fighting the pact with various strategies.

These range from traditional lobbying of senators to hundreds of thousands of mass mailings to tough advertisements and distribution of taped messages to politically active Republicans.

As part of what the GOP's right wing calls a strategy to develop "killer amendments" that will be politically risky for senators to oppose, Helms said he finds it "astonishing" no nuclear warheads must be destroyed under the treaty that provides for elimination of all medium- and short-range missiles.

"It is the nuclear warheads that kill you, not the missiles," noted Helms, the ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"Unless this problem is corrected," he added, "the Soviets can merely rebolt their enormous inventory of warheads onto the thousands of other missiles in their inventory, many of which can hit the United States."

The Foreign Relations panel is scheduled to begin ratification hearings on the treaty Monday. Amendments could mean the reopening of negotiations with the Soviet Union, an action likely to sink the treaty signed Dec. 8 by President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Amendments are seen as a threat because they need only 51 votes for passage; the treaty needs a two-thirds vote of 67 for its expected ratification.

"The classic way to defeat the INF treaty is to have 'motherhood' amendments that you can't vote against," explained John Fisher, chairman of the American Security Council, a conservative organization active in past fights against the SALT II treaty.

One suggested approach from Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., would delay the treaty's implementation until the president is able to certify that the Soviet advantage over the United States in conventional military forces in Europe is no greater than a 3-2 ratio.

The missiles eliminated under the treaty, with ranges of 300 to 3,400 miles, are mostly deployed in Europe and some fear their withdrawal is a risk.

Other amendments might deal with compliance and verification or attempt to tie the pact to the removal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan.

Outside Congress, the Conservative Caucus is taking an especially tough tone with an ad to appear Monday in conservative publications. It likens Reagan's signing of the treaty to British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's "appeasement" in signing an accord with Nazi Germany's Adolf Hitler in 1938.

Psychologist Helps Manhunt For Killer

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — A posse hunting a condemned triple killer who overpowered two deputies and escaped into the woods vowing not to be taken alive enlisted a psychologist in an attempt to trap the fugitive who "has killed all the people he loved."

Fred Kornahrens was being returned Tuesday to the Charleston County Jail when he overpowered two deputies, took their .357 Magnums, held them at gunpoint and commandeered their car. He had been taken last Friday from death row at the Central Correctional Institute in Columbia to Charleston for a routine hearing.

Police stopped their pursuit of the commandeered patrol car when Kornahrens threatened to kill the lawmen. He released the deputies unharmed, abandoned the cruiser and then vanished into a 5-square-mile wooded area of suburban Charleston. The convict, the deputies said, vowed not to be captured alive.

Kornahrens was convicted and sentenced to death Feb. 10, 1986, for killing his former wife, Patricia Josephine Avant, 30; her stepson, Jason Avant, 10; and her father, Harry Lee Wilkerson, 69.

"The man has killed all the people he loved," Charleston County Police Capt. Marvin Kirby said Wednesday. "This man doesn't have a lot to live for."

"You have to take his state of mind into account when you're dealing with this person. I just don't think he'll let us take him. He'll force the action."

Officers with tracking dogs, helicopters and a search plane combed the wooded area Wednesday where Kornahrens is believed to have fled and conducted a door-to-door search in a residential area. They also used boats to check creeks and swamps in the area. Kirby said the 125-member posse had been joined by a psychologist.

"We're just trying to get inside his head and see what he is thinking, who he might turn to for assistance and who he might be after," Kirby said.

Kornahrens was spotted several times Tuesday night, but there were no signs of him Wednesday.

"He's an accomplished woodsman, so he's in his element," said Charleston County Police Capt. James Atchison. "There are some swamps and creeks and hunting cabins in the area."

Atchison said Kornahrens hid in a wooded area 20 miles south of Charleston in 1985 after killing his ex-wife, her stepson and her father.

"He went into the woods and found himself a nice place and just lay down," Atchison said of the 1985 manhunt. "He was just going to try to outwit us."

Atchison said Kornahrens may be using a similar strategy this time. Police said several of the convict's relatives who live in the Charleston area asked for protection after learning of his escape.

Census: More Children In Single-Parent Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly a quarter of all children under 18 live in single-parent families, more than twice the number in 1960, with the number living with only their fathers doubling, a report by the Census Bureau finds.

The report, "Marital and Living Arrangements: March 1986," released Wednesday said that in 1986, 14.8 million children lived with only one parent — 2.5 times the number in 1960.

"Even though the total number of children under 18 years old in the United States declined from 64 million in 1960 to 63 million in 1986, the number of children affected by divorce, separation and out-of-wedlock births continued to rise," the report said.

It said 24 percent of all children lived in a one-parent situation in 1986, compared with 9 percent in 1960. Of those, 89 percent lived with their mothers and 11 percent lived with their fathers, the report added, with the number living with their fathers doubling since 1960, from 724,000 to 1,579,000 in 1986.

In recent years, the report said, the number of Hispanics under age 18 living with both parents had dropped sharply, from 75 percent in 1980 to 66 percent of the 6.4 million children in 1986.

In addition, the proportion of white children in two-parent families fell from 83 percent in 1980 to 80 percent in 1986 while that for black children remained at about 41 percent.

The report also noted that since the 1950s the median age of first marriage has moved up about three years for both men and women, with the median age at first marriage for men at 25.7 years in 1986, about what it was in 1900.

Walker's 2nd Half Effort Lifts Tribe Over Creek

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Craig Walker led a well balanced Seminole attack as the Tribe fended off a late surge from Spruce Creek to take a hard-fought 57-56 victory before 351 fans Thursday night in boys prep basketball action at Seminole High School.

The Tribe, now 10-5 overall, will return to action next Tuesday against Lake Brantley. The Hawks fell to 7-8 overall this season.

Walker scored 13 points, 11 in the second half, and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Seminole. Walter Hopson scored a team-high 14 points and ripped down nine boards. Andre Whitney scored 13 and handed out seven assists while coming up with five steals. Freddie Gadson added eight points and seven rebounds.

"We played well as a team and moved the ball well in the second half," Seminole coach Greg Robinson said. "I was glad to see Craig (Walker) wake up in the second half."

Spruce Creek came out strong and outran the Tribe in the opening quarter to take a 19-14 edge. The Hawks then attempted to slow down the tempo but the plan backfired as Seminole began to comeback steadily.

Creek went up by five, 20-15, off a Lorenzo Poole free throw. Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy then cut the lead to three with a driving jumper. After another free throw by the Hawks Seminole's Gadson drilled a long jumper to cut the lead to two, 21-19, with 5:42 to play in the second quarter.

The teams traded baskets before Seminole ran off six straight points to pull within a single point. Walker started the spurt off with a pair of free throws at the 2:41 mark. Sammie Edwards then put down a layup with 2:02 left in the half. Whitney then took charge drilling a jumper just inside the three-point stripe to cut the Creek lead to 29-28 with 54 seconds remaining.

Poole then scored inside to give the Hawks a three point lead with 36 left to play in the opening half. Seminole then worked the clock down and Whitney zipped a three pointer to even the score, 31-31, at the intermission.

Hopson led the Seminole's with 11 first half points keeping the Creek defense honest as it was collapsing around Walker. Hopson forced Creek to play honest defense in the second half which helped free Walker.

"We knew we could come back and play better in the second half," Walker said. "We just had to work a little harder and get tough defensively."

Walker started his second half surge by blocking a Poole shot. Walker threw the block to mid-court where Whitney gained control. Walker ran the floor well and ended the break with a two-hand slam over Southall.

"We had better passing and moved the ball well in the second half," Walker said. "We had the desire to win and we'll need to play better than we did tonight and work on our defense next game."

Seminole kept rolling and held a 55-48 lead with 1:50 to play. Creek then began to come back and made the game interesting in the final seconds.

Bell sank a three pointer with 1:05 to play to cut the deficit to 55-51. The Tribe went 0-5 from the charity stripe during the last 1:30 of the game.

Seminole's inability to hit from the line opened the door for the Hawks as Southall cut the lead to 55-54 with 29 seconds to play on another three-point field goal.

A missed Seminole free throw turned out to be the turning point of the game as Craig Walker grabbed a rebound of a missed attempt by Gadson and took it strong to the hoop for the score.

"The ball just bounced long and I was able to get the ball and score," Walker said. "I was inside so I took it right back up."

The bucket proved to be the game winner as Bell connected on a pair of free throws late to narrow the difference.

SEMINOLE JV ROMPS

Robert Moore and Jesse Nightingale led Seminole's junior varsity over Spruce Creek, 77-54, at Seminole High School Thursday night.

Seminole is now 10-0 and will return to action next Tuesday against Lake Brantley.

Moore led the way with 20 points and seven rebounds. Nightingale poured in 18 points while handing out 10 assists. Andreas Redding added 13 points. Brandon Cash netted nine points and pulled down a game-high 12 rebounds. Bernard Eady added four points and eight assists.

Lady Rams Trounce Lady Pats

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Mary's Lady Rams, with nothing to lose and everything to gain, figured Thursday night was as good a time as any to turn their season around. And, in doing so, they cooled off what had been one of the hottest teams in the Seminole Athletic Conference with a 46-20 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots before 181 fans at Lake Brantley High.

Lake Mary, which had its problems in losing its last five, improved to 5-11 overall and 2-5 in the SAC. Lake Brantley, which had looked good in winning its last three, dropped to 4-8 overall and 4-3 in the conference. The Lady Patriots return to action Saturday at 4 p.m. at home against Lake Highland.

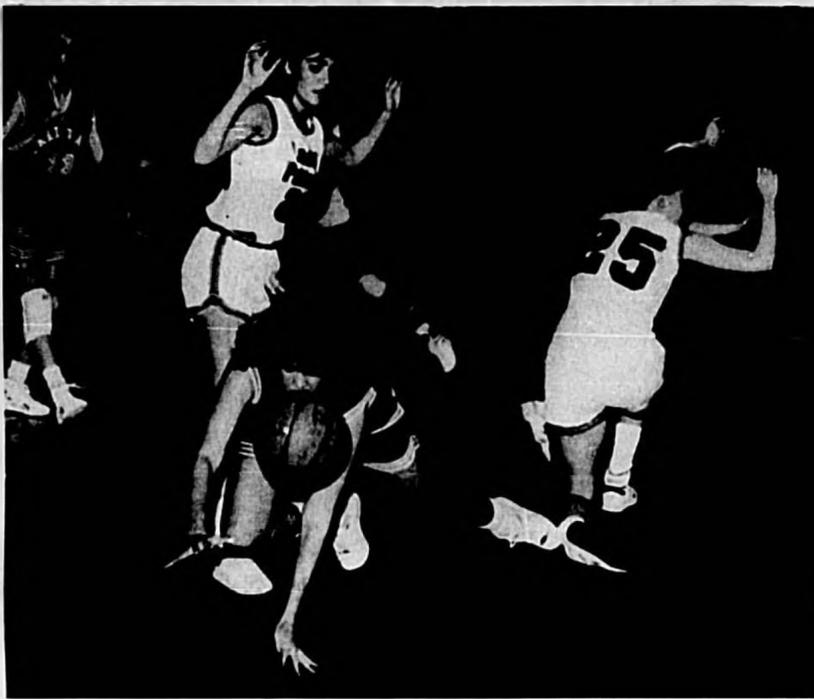

"We did things much better than we have been but we can still play a lot better," Lake Mary coach Mac Blythe said. "But I was pleased with the way we played defense and cut down on our turnovers. We were averaging about 40 turnovers a game and only had 17 tonight."

Teri Whyte turned in her best performance of the season for the Lady Rams as she poured in a game-high 22 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and blocked five shots. Whyte has now scored 20 or more points in her last two outings.

"We decided we needed a turning point and this was a good time for it," the 6-5 senior center said. "If we can keep it going, we could be in contention once district time comes."

Junior forward Tara Jackson also had a big night for Lake Mary as she scored 11 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Junior guard Anita Mitchell contributed five points and five assists.

"Teri (Whyte) was a force for us tonight and Tara (Jackson) also did a good job on the boards," Blythe said. "And I thought Anita (Mitchell) and Marnie (Frey) did a good job handling Lake Brantley's press."

Lake Mary didn't exactly burn the house down right away as it led by four, 10-6, after one quarter, and maintained that lead, 18-14, at halftime. It was in the third quarter, though, where the Lady Rams took complete control while Lake Brantley threw up enough bricks to build a new gym.

The Lady Patriots scored early in the quarter, and then did not score again until two minutes left in the game. Meanwhile, Whyte dominated the inside as she scored nine points in the third period to lead the Lady Rams to a commanding 34-16 lead.

"I kept my mind in the game more tonight and refused to get down on myself," Whyte said. "I need to start getting more aggressive, especially if I'm going to play college ball (at North Carolina State)."

Lake Brantley went almost 12 minutes without scoring until Michelle Weston ended the drought with an offensive rebound and layup late in the fourth quarter. Tracy Brandenburg's two free throws gave Brantley a total of six points in the second half.

"This is the first time I've ever stayed with the 2-3 zone for an entire halfgame," Blythe said. "The girls were doing a good job with it and Lake Brantley wasn't really attacking so we stuck with it."

MARY JV VICTORIOUS

Wileatha Hartfield pumped in 23 points and Lori Winnall keyed a tenacious defense with 12 steals as Lake Mary's junior varsity thumped Lake Brantley, 43-23, Thursday night. Lake Mary improved to 11-2 while Brantley dropped to 6-2. The two figure to meet again for the 4A-9 District JV title.

Behind Hartfield and Winnall, Lisa Johnson added 10 points for the JV Lady Rams.

Brantley Rolls To SAC Crown

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Under the swirling rains at Tom Storey Field Thursday night, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots created an 80-minute soccer masterpiece.

Brantley dominated from start to finish and everyone who coach Wolfgang Halbig put on the field contributed to the 5-0 thrashing of Lake Mary's Lady Rams in the game that clinched the Seminole Athletic Conference championship for the Lady Patriots.

"The girls put together their most complete effort of the season," Halbig said. "They played a flawless game on offense and defense."

The Lady Patriots reinforced their No. 1 position in the state ranking with the impressive victory that boosted their overall record to 18-0-2 and their SAC mark to 11-0 with only one conference game remaining. Lake Mary now stands at 18-4 overall and is second in the SAC at 8-2.

Brantley struck for three goals in the opening half Thursday and fleet-footed junior Jennifer McMaster was in on all three. McMaster picked up the assist on a goal by sophomore Beth Schaefer and she put it in the cage for a 3-0 Brantley lead at halftime.

"We had some excellent offensive runs from McMaster, Schaefer and DelRusso," Halbig said. "And Colleen Lievertz had a super game playing both defense and midfield and helping set up the offense."

Brantley ran the lead to 4-0 with 17:15 remaining when

Soccer

Stacy Fox made a nice run down the left side and centered a ball that deflected out to Karen "K.K." Kopp and Kopp drilled a shot from 35 yards out over goalkeeper Tammy Scott's head.

DelRusso's second goal concluded the scoring with 10:03 remaining and it came on McMaster's third assist of the night.

Lake Mary's only real scoring threat came with 1:30 remaining when Michelle Mattingly made a pass to Donna Rohr who attempted to head it in but Brantley goalkeeper Kim Kurz reached up and tapped it away for the save. It was Lake Mary's only shot on goal in the second half.

For the game, Lake Brantley fired 23 shots on goal compared to Lake Mary's four. The Lady Patriots got outstanding defensive performances from seniors Reente Deaver, Debbie Bray, Kopp and Karen Brown and freshmen Joyce Tullis and Eva Snyder. Kurz also came through with her 14th shutout of the season.

"Deaver has been hurt but she looked like her old self tonight," Halbig said. "And Bray, our stopper, had a tremendous game. She contributes a lot for us both offensively and defensively."

Kopp, a midfielder with as good ballhandling skills as anyone around, concentrated her efforts mostly on defense Thursday night as she marked Lake Mary's Rohr, the leading scorer in Seminole County with 42 goals.

"She did an outstanding job on Rohr," Halbig said of Kopp. "This is the second time in a row she has shut out the leading scorer in the county."

Tyson Takes On Holmes Current Champ 7-1 Favorite To Retain Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Mike Tyson has been fighting one fight in his mind for much of the past decade, wondering how he would do if he ever got the chance to wage the battle for real. Tonight he will find out, when he defends his heavyweight title against Larry Holmes.

At the same time, Holmes will answer the question he and many others have asked the past year: does he have enough boxing skill left to handle the 21-year-old champion?

Holmes, 38, will end a 21-month retirement against Tyson in a 12-round bout at Convention Hall. Tyson is a 7-1 favorite to retain his title and prevent Holmes from becoming the oldest heavyweight champion in history.

"He had his era, now it's my time," said Tyson, who became the youngest heavyweight champion when he won the title with a two-round knockout of Trevor Berbick Nov. 22, 1985.

"I don't think Holmes could have beaten me at his best. He was a good champion, he used to win all the time. But I used to watch him fight all the time and I saw a lot of mistakes. I'll keep them to myself."

Tyson has thought about fighting Holmes since he was a teenaged amateur. Holmes held the title from 1978-85.

"Tyson's been wanting to beat me even before I knew about Mike Tyson," Holmes said Wednesday night. "You know how sometimes a guy can want something so bad, he can lose it?"

"People are getting tired of Mike Tyson."

The bout at the 14,800-seat Convention Hall is close to a sellout and will be televised by HBO. The opening bell is scheduled for 10:25 p.m. EST. Tyson, fighting his sixth title bout, is 32-0 with 28 knockouts. Holmes, in his 24th title bout, is 48-2 with 34 knockouts.

Both fighters appeared fit at the weigh-in Thursday. Holmes was 225 3/4 and Tyson 215 3/4. Holmes weighed 2 3/4 pounds more than his previous fight against Michael Spinks and 2 1/4 over his previous high. But Holmes weighed 255 pounds six months ago. Tyson was 215 for his seventh-round knockout over Tyrell Biggs in October.

At 6-foot-3 Holmes is four inches taller than the champion and has a 10-inch reach advantage. In his prime, Holmes had the best jab among heavyweights, good movement and could take a punch.

Tyson, at his best, mixes punches to the head and body — ripping off combinations with remarkable hand speed.

SHS Routs Lakeland

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole's wrestling squad continued its roll as it crushed Lakeland, 61-18, in prep action at Lakeland High School Thursday night.

Seminole, 8-2, will now prepare for conference action next Friday at Lake Mary High School. Lakeland fell to 4-6 overall.

"We had a good attitude and ended up walking over them (Lakeland)," Seminole coach Glenn Malolmi said. "I thought it would be a tight match but we did a real nice job on the mat tonight."

Lakeland's Daniel Zebrowski opened with a pin over Carl Gipe in the 103 pound weight class to take a 6-0 team lead. John Bass put the Tribe on the board with a decision over Ralph Waller in the 112 division, 21-12, to cut the lead to 6-3.

Tom Brendle gave the Tribe a lead it would not relinquish pinning Matt Campbell in the 104 mark in the 119 pound matchup. Don Sellers pushed the Seminole lead to 12-6 with a

Howell Upends Oviedo

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell used a strong first half and held off a rally by Oviedo in the second half to take a 54-42 victory in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Oviedo High School.

Lake Howell, 16-3 and 6-1 in the conference, will return to action Tuesday at Lake Mary. Oviedo dropped to 11-7 overall and 2-5 in the conference.

Tammy Lewis scored a game-high 21 points adding nine steals and three steals. Kelly Grider added 14 points and a game-high 15 rebounds. Sarina Winston netted six points while grabbing nine boards.

"It was a funny game," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said. "We had a real good first half and they played well in the second."

Lake Howell jumped out to a commanding 35-13 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened thought the Lady Lions had a strong second half showing.

Bobbie Kelley led Oviedo with 13 points. Suzanne Hughes chipped in nine as Adrienne Wood netted eight.

"We had a pretty strong press most of the game," Codrey said. "We had to slow things down in the second half though as our offense was having some problems."

Oviedo outscored Lake Howell 14-4 to cut the lead to 39-27 entering the final period. The Lady Lions pulled to within nine, 43-34, but the Lady Silver Hawks used some clutch free throw shooting to keep the game in their favor.

"We played good defense tonight and got out to an early lead," Codrey said. "Oviedo came back strong but we were able to control the tempo."

Oviedo coach John Thomas, was happy to see the Lady Lions get themselves back in the game but disappointed with their opening half performance.

"It took us a half to get going," Thomas said. "By that time Lake Howell had a big enough lead that we couldn't come back all the way."

OVIEDO JV TRIUMPHS

In junior varsity action Thursday, Oviedo built a 16-4 halftime lead and went on to claim a 30-22 victory over Lake Howell.

Melissa Zile's 12 points paved the way as Oviedo upped its record to 11-4. Heidi Steiner contributed six points for the JV Lady Lions and Wendy Ware and Shannon Wilcoxson scored four points each. Becky Miller led Lake Howell, 7-7, with nine points.

Cecil Scarbrough, after dropping two weight classes, then pinned Rick Gries in the 145 pound weight class as the Tribe jumped out to a 30-6 lead over Lakeland.

Seminole's James Bass then won by forfeit. Lakeland's James Soto then pinned Troy Rollins at the 3:51 mark in the 160 pound affair to cut the lead to 36-12.

Shane Jerrells put Seminole right back in control with a pin over John Hosegood in the 171 division. Jerrells took his opponent to the mat at the 1:32 mark. Julius Bennett added another quick pin in the 189 pound matchup taking care of Chris Payne in just 1:36.

Kyle Schumaker then won by forfeit in the 222 pound weight class to give Lakeland its last points. Mitch Wiggs then pinned Frank Crawley in the heavyweight division to complete the match.

"This team has accomplished more than any other team I've coached," Maiolini said. "I'm glad to see we handled the adversity early and turned this into a very productive season."

Lake Mary's Enrique Carbia (bottom) tries to break the stranglehold put on by Sarasota's Tom Lingle. Carbia and the Lake Mary wrestlers return to action tonight at Lyman.

Lyman Wrestlers Host Rams

Lake Mary's Rams, the dominant wrestling team in Seminole County this decade, will face a team on the rebound tonight as it goes to Lyman High to battle the Greyhounds. Junior varsity action begins at 7 followed by varsity at 8.

The Rams, 7-1 and ranked eighth in the state, have some of the state's premier wrestlers, particularly in the lower weight divisions, led by Scott Flores, Wayne Clayton and Enrique Carbia. Tracy Turner is another state-caliber performer for the Rams.

Lake Mary's only loss this season was to the state's top-ranked team, Sarasota High.

Lyman, 7-3, is rebuilding a program that used to be among the area's best but declined the past few years. The 'Hounds are led in the lower weight classes by Dan Campos, Chuck Morrow and Gregg Hunziker in the middle weights and Mike Whitaker in the upper weights.

HOW ABOUT SOME HOOPS

In Seminole Athletic Conference boys basketball action tonight, Lake Mary hosts county rival Lake Brantley. Lyman goes to always tough DeLand and Lake Howell entertains Oviedo's Lions.

Yurick, Kenefick Lead Rams Over Brantley

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Editor

John Yurick and Chris Kenefick, two players who had not seen a great deal of action for Lake Mary's Rams so far this season, turned in key performances Thursday night in a 4-0 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots at Lake Mary High.

Lake Mary, ranked third in the state in Class 4A, ran its record to 14-3-3 overall and 7-0-1 in the SAC. The Rams lead Lyman by one game in the conference standings. Lake Brantley dropped to 4-8-2 overall and 2-5-1 in the league.

Yurick, a senior midfielder, had been used primarily as a spot player off the bench but got a chance to start in place of an injured player Thursday and made the most of it by scoring two big goals that put the game out of reach in the second half.

"John (Yurick) hasn't played a whole lot but he came in tonight for (Eric) Ravndal and played an outstanding game," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "He had two timely goals at a time where we were threatening but having trouble scoring."

Kenefick, a junior midfielder, had been out until three games ago with an injury and he showed Thursday that, when healthy, he will be a big contributor to the Rams' attack.

"Chris (Kenefick) had a tremendous game," McCorkle said. "This should be a turning point for him. It's the first game he started and he played 72 minutes straight and made a lot of good things happen up front."

Kenefick came through with the assist on Jon Brooks' goal that gave Lake Mary a 1-0 lead 18 minutes into the game. Lake Mary held that lead at the half.

The Rams upped the lead to 2-0 three minutes into the second half when Yurick scored on a diving header off an assist from Frank Ramseur.

"He (Yurick) made an extra special effort to score that first goal," McCorkle said. "He came out of nowhere and just dove and knocked it in."

Yurick gave Lake Mary a comfortable 3-0 lead 10 minutes into the second half when he scored off an assist from Rod Bernard Mitchell. Brantley, 8-7 and 2-2, has some good outside shooters in Darren Leva, David Bacchus and Joe Nollf and is led inside by Bo Pamplin.

Lyman, 4-8 and 2-3, looks for its second consecutive SAC triumph. Craig Radzak and Darryl Starkes have been the most consistent Greyhounds the past few games. DeLand, 9-6 and 3-1, hopes to keep its conference hopes alive and is always tough at home.

Lake Howell, 4-10 and 0-4, will look to put its first SAC win on the board tonight but will have to beat a red-hot Oviedo team to do it. Oviedo, 10-4 and 2-2, has scored 161 points in its last two games.

In the only girls action tonight, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds play at DeLand. Lyman is 4-11 overall and 0-6 in the SAC while DeLand is 10-3 overall and 4-2 in the league.

Lake Mary fired 20 shots on goal Thursday compared to Brantley's eight. Senior goalkeeper Pete McNally recorded his eighth shutout with five saves. Brantley keeper Chris Price made eight saves.

In junior varsity action Thursday, Chris Doran's penalty kick with 19 seconds remaining enabled Lake Mary to tie Lake Brantley, 1-1.

Lady Tribe, Rams Go To Buchholz Tourney

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Editor

After taking their lumps the past few days in Seminole Athletic Conference play, Seminole and Lake Mary will look to contend for the title this weekend at the 10-team Burger King-Gainesville Buchholz Tournament.

Seminole, which lost to Lake Mary, 5-0, on Wednesday, opens play Friday at 3:30 p.m. against Gainesville Eastside at Citizens Park (all other games will be at Citizens Field). If it wins its opener, Seminole will advance to tonight's 9:30 game against 10th-ranked Orange Park.

Lake Mary, which dropped a 5-0 decision to Lake Brantley on Thursday, goes up against Gainesville High today at 5.

In other first-round action, DeLand faces Gainesville P.K. Yonge at 3:30; Jacksonville Wolfson battles Tallahassee Leon at 6:30 and the DeLand-P.K. Yonge winner goes against host Buchholz at 8.

Elimination rounds will be held Saturday morning and afternoon and the finals will be Saturday night at 8.

Seminole, while not at the strength of the state powerhouses in the conference, has always fared well outside of the SAC and hopes to go far in the Buchholz Tournament.

and senior goalkeeper Kim Walsh. Melissa Shuckman, Jennifer Benge, Jennifer Lindamood and Shannon Sundvall are among the offensive leaders.

"The defense has been super all season," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "And now the offense is starting to come on some. We're hoping to do well at the tournament and build toward the district."

Seminole plays a Gainesville Eastside team that comes in with a 2-6-1 record. Senior Lori Coult leads the team in scoring while senior Niya Shaw is in her first year at goalkeeper.

Should Seminole defeat Gainesville, it will go up against a powerful Orange Park squad that has a 10-2 record, including a 1-0 loss to No. 1 Lake Brantley.

Lake Mary, 18-4, hopes to rebound from Thursday's tough loss to Lake Brantley in which the Lady Rams saw their SAC title hopes slip away. Lake Mary takes on a Gainesville team that comes in with an 8-4-1 record.

The Lady Rams have two of the state's top goal producers in Donna Rohr (42) and Michelle Mattingly (34) and some top-notch defenders in Amy Alexander, Michelle Padilla and keeper Tammy Scott.

Lake Mary, ranked sixth in the state, and Orange Park figure to be the tournament favorites.

Brantley To Host JV Tourney

The first know girls junior varsity soccer tournament in the state will be held Friday and Saturday, Jan. 29-30, at Lake Brantley High School.

Friday's action will kickoff at 6 p.m. with Lyman taking on DeLand. At 7:30, Lake Howell faces Orange Park followed by Gainesville vs. Lake Brantley at 9.

On Saturday, DeLand and Lake Howell will play at 9 a.m. followed by Lyman vs. Gainesville at 10:30 and Brantley vs. Orange Park at 12 noon. Semifinals are Saturday at 4 p.m. and finals are at 6.

Lake Brantley, 13-0 this season, will be the favorite in the inaugural JV tourney. The Lady Patriots have not lost a JV game in two years.

2-0 five minutes later on Mark Dubin's goal off House's assist.

Harden's unassisted goal with 15 minutes remaining upped the lead to 5-0 and Leiben closed out the scoring with 10 minutes left to play with House picking up the assist.

HOWELL-OVIEDO PPD.

Thursday night's scheduled game between Oviedo and Lake Howell at Lake Howell High was postponed due to a power failure. Lake Howell coach Bill Stevens said a construction crew mistakenly cut a cable that provided the power for the Lake Howell stadium. The game will be rescheduled but a date has not yet been set.

"Defensively, we've been playing really well since the Pizza Hut Tournament," Lyman coach Ray Sandridge said. "But we need to get some consistency on offense."

The Lyman defense of Shailer Bowers, George Kouritis, Anthony Godhino, Eric Leiben, Chad Weinkauf and goalkeeper Kelly Walden held DeLand to just four shots on goal as Walden recorded his sixth shutout with two saves. Lyman has given up just two goals in its last six games.

Harden gave Lyman a 1-0 lead eight minutes into the game when he scored off Chris Graham's assist. Lyman made it

SEMINOLE HOSTS EUSTIS
Seminole High looks to improve its overall record tonight as it hosts Eustis' Panthers. Kickoff is 7 p.m.
The Seminoles stand at 4-9 overall with seven of those losses coming in the rugged Seminole Athletic Conference. The Tribe is 4-2 against non-conference foes including an earlier victory over Eustis, which is in the same district as Seminole, 3A-7.

Reddicks Boosts 'Noles Over Creek

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Sheri Reddicks led four Seminole players who reached double digits with a game-high performance in points with 26 rebounds with 20 as Seminole crushed Spruce Creek, 82-59, before 151 fans at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Thursday night.

Seminole improved to 9-5 and will return to action Tuesday against Lake Brantley. Spruce Creek fell to 2-11.

"It was the best all-around game we've had all year," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "Everyone contributed, the big girls dominated the boards and the guards controlled the tempo."

Adrian Hillsman added 18 points to go along with her seven assists and five steals. Chineta Gilchrist netted 10 points and pulled down 11 boards. Lakocia Kennon added 10 points and four rebounds.

Seminole raced out to a 42-24 lead completely dominating the backboards and the play inside. Liz Long scored six points added 12 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Trees Provide A Legacy For Future Generations

By Phil Braunschweig
Master Gardener

How many readers have been up to see Big Tree located about two miles north of Route 434 just off 17-92? I lived here almost four years before I decided to spend a few minutes to see this amazing sight. It is at least comparable to seeing a giant Redwood in California.

Most people must agree with me about the value of trees in one's yard because most people plant trees if they are not already on the premises. I could never figure out why a few choose to live on a barren piece of land, and never take the time to put in at least one tree. Sad as it is, there are a lot of "wrong" trees planted in the wrong place. I drive around the area and see trees which eventually grow to 60 or 70 feet in height with large crowns planted 10 feet from a building structure or maybe 10 feet apart. Some trees are planted over water or sewer lines, trees which require a rich soil are planted in almost pure sand, trees needing ample moisture are planted high and dry while trees intolerant of excess moisture are put in low lying poorly drained places. It is not too difficult to misplace a tree or to put in the "wrong" tree for the circumstances.

In Central Florida there are perhaps 40 to 50 kinds of trees, excluding palms, which are adaptable to the climate and suitable for ornamental, shade or specimen purposes in a home yard environment. These range in mature height from about 20 feet to 85 feet while the spread of the crown will vary from the compact shape of an upright Juniper to that of a huge Live Oak or Camphor. Trees can be classified by potential height; growth rate (slow, medium, and fast); deciduous or evergreen; and by form (pyramidal like the American Holly, oval such as a Laurel Oak, columnar like the Juniper, and round in the case of the Camphor tree.) One can readily see from this that there is a lot more involved in the selection of a tree than rushing off to the nursery or in getting a tree like your neighbor has. I would suggest that if a person does not want to be self-educated, it would be best to make a sketch of your lot showing house location, location of existing trees on your lot and neighbors' trees near the lot line, and also the direction in which the house faces. You might include location of water and sewer lines, the distance from your home to the ones next door, and finally a photo of your home. A reputable nursery will be able to work with this information and provide you with some options.

On the other hand drop by the Cooperative Extension office where we can provide you with several real good bulletins on this subject—OH-25, OH-28, EES-3, and several more on specific varieties.

When you're ready to go, get the biggest tree that you can afford if the tree is to function as a shade provider because you will realize the benefits several years sooner. Also a properly placed tree of even moderate size will add hundreds of dollars to the value of your home should you have to relocate. I think that the purchase and planting of a tree is a future-oriented event that really is kind of a legacy that one can leave behind for future generations. Consider what the landscape would look like if everyone had planted a couple of trees or if the developers would have left a couple.

A final thought! If you have young children, let them participate in the tree buying and planting event.

Make it a special day. There is something about planting a tree and watching it grow which will stay with a youngster forever. One of my favorite places to visit is a small forest of pines and woods in upstate New York on the fringe of a large city now surrounded by homes and malls, and a thruway. There is abundant wildlife there—even deer—and I can remember over 50 years ago helping an old woodsman friend of mine, a man who had Indian blood in his veins, plant these trees one by one. He told me he was planting the trees for the future when he would not be on hand.

(Editor's Note: Celeste White's weekly Gardening will resume next Friday.)

Dear Abby

Mom Up In Arms That Affair May Lead To Murder

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two married daughters, "Linda" and "Carol." Linda just told me that Carol confided that she has been having an affair with another man while her husband is at work. Carol's husband is very jealous, and if he ever caught Carol with another guy, he would kill her—and the guy for sure.

Linda said she tried to talk some sense into Carol, but she wouldn't listen. I want to let Carol know that I know she is having an affair so I can get her to realize before she wrecks her marriage that she is playing with dynamite. But she'll ask me how I found out, and I can't tell her that Linda told me because she made Linda promise not to say anything. I also promised Linda I wouldn't tell Carol that she (Linda) told me.

What should I do?

DEAR STUMPED: Since Linda is the person in whom Carol confided, she would be the one to urge Carol to seek counseling before this affair gets her into serious trouble. Obviously something is seriously wrong with Carol's marriage. And if it's not too late, Mother, you might lend your daughter some support by trying to build a closer relationship with her.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 23 and have been dating the same man for eight years. We have decided to get married soon. The problem: My fiancée has a group of buddies—most of them he has grown up with and they are very close. When one of these buddies gets married, they have a traditional bachelor party, including strippers.

I don't approve of this at all and asked my fiancée how he felt about it, and he said he didn't care for that sort of thing either. When he told the organizer of this party that he didn't want strippers at the stag, he was told it wasn't up to him, it was up to the guys giving the party, and they wanted strippers.

One of the wives said it was no big deal, but I disagree. What's the solution?

DEAR PRUDE: Your fiancée should inform his buddies that if they insist on having strippers, knowing how strongly he feels about it, they should not be surprised if he skips out when the strippers shimmy in.

DEAR ABBY: Please deliver this message to all your readers who own pets: If you love your pet, take the time to fit it with a comfortable collar and identification tag with the animal's name and telephone number. Even though you say your pet never leaves your yard, there is always that one time when it does get out, goes a little too far and gets lost. This is equally true for cats.

You could avoid the pain and anguish of running a "lost pet" ad, calling the pound, or putting up signs on telephone poles describing your lost pet.

Abby, our cat has a collar with his name, our name, address and phone number on his metal tag. If he ever gets lost, we're hoping that whoever finds him will care enough to call us.

It is as hard on animal lovers who find lost pets with no identification as it is on those who lost them.

J.K., LONG BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR J.K.: Every animal lover who has ever lost (or found) a pet will realize the importance of your message. And I hope that those who haven't as yet found the time to get a collar and identification tag for Tully or Fluffy will be moved to do so.

Heritage Jubilee Honors 2 With Distinguished Service Awards

Heritage Jubilee was a concerted effort by the Afro-American Society to commemorate the birth and achievements of Dr. Martin Luther King long before it became the trend to do so.

The students and faculty at Seminole Community College combined in the early 80s to plan a program as an annual reunion and as a community activity which would pay tribute to Dr. King's ideals and through which the community could offer recognition to anonymous as well as outstanding people.

Out of this interest grew the prestigious Distinguished Service Awards and the spotlighting of gifted artists. Heritage Jubilee has become a varied and spirited celebration of leadership in America with special emphasis on the contributions of all black leaders who are too often forgotten.

One of the Distinguished Service Awards for 1988 has been awarded to Mrs. Marie Jones Francis, who for 32 years, practiced the art of midwifery, being inspired by her mother, the late Mrs. Corrie Jones who was a practical nurse and midwife.

Mrs. Francis has delivered over 40,000 babies in this community. Although born in Georgia, she attended Hopper Academy and Crooms Academy in Sanford and did further studies at Florida A&M College in the care of premature and immature babies and at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., in the studies of Improvement in Midwifery.

Mrs. Francis is an active member of St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church where she is an honorary member of St. Paul Gospel Chorus. She is also a member of the Royal Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star. Because of her many outstanding contributions to the community of Sanford, she has received many awards including Outstanding Service to the American Cancer Society, Exceptional Service to Mankind, Heart of Florida District Sertoma International, Dignified Achievement in Public Service, Pilot Club of Sanford, Meritorious Service Gospel Chorus, St. Paul Baptist Church, certificate from Seminole County Health Department and Rehabilitation Services, Seminole Youth Employment Program Honoree and charter member of Mental Health Center Board of Seminole County.

Mrs. Francis is the mother of three daughters, Daphne, Cassandra and Barbara (deceased) and has a granddaughter, Amber Marie.

The second Distinguished Service Award recipient is Rufus C. Brooks, a native Sanfordite, who is an active member of Washington Shores Presbyterian Church, where he is an elder, Sunday school teacher and Director of Christian Education. He is also past moderator of the St. John's Presbytery, is on the Administrative Committee Synod of the State of Florida, president of the Men of the Church, and a member of the General National Assembly Nominating Committee.

Mr. Brooks is a graduate of Crooms Academy, Bethune-Cookman College, Florida A&M University, Northwestern Institute, Rollins College, University of Minnesota, North Carolina Central and Nova Universities.

The numerous experiences of Mr. Brooks began when he was in the United States Army. His teaching experience began at Carver High, Monroe, Ga., where he was an elementary teacher and taught science and band. He was also a girls' basketball coach and assistant principal.

During his career, he has taught at Phyllis Wheatly High School, Apopka, Eccleston Elementary School where he was sixth grade teacher and principal and was principal of Wheatley Elementary, Apopka. He is presently principal of Hungerford Elementary, Eatonville, and Adjunct Professor, Administration and Supervision at Rollins College and Nova University.

For the years of outstanding community service, Mr. Brooks has received many awards and has served on many community service boards such as Junior Achievement, downtown YMCA, Central Florida YMCA, Human Services Council NAACP, Youth Services, Inc., Tom Skinner Club, Orange County Political, March of Dimes, Orlando Rotary Club, president of Lake Mann Estates Civic Association, treasurer of Orange County Democratic Executive Committee, 1974-1985, second vice president of Orange County Branch, NAACP and now serves as first vice president NAACP.

Mr. Brooks has received awards as Man of the Year, Volunteer of the Year, Outstanding Service to the Community of Eatonville, Educator of the Year, president of the Greater Orlando Chapter Phi Delta Kappa 1975-76, Valencia Community College Service Award, and Walt Disney World Community Service Award Committee. He has also received many other community service awards in education and for being dedicated to his community. He is married to the former Edith Jackson of Sanford and they have three children, Byron, Bridget and Brandon.

The musical highlight of the Heritage Jubilee was the presentation of Claude Liggon, former Sanfordite and graduate of Crooms High School. He is the jazz organist of the Baltimore and Washington, D.C. areas and is metropolitan church organist for the Star of Bethlehem A.M.E. Church, Baltimore.

Liggon is the son of Mrs. Zilla M. Liggon and the grandson of noted musician Mrs. Gertrude M. Woodall. Other active musicians of the family are brother John H. Liggon, Tallahassee, and Mary Liggon Dubose, Sanford.

Men's Day observance at New Bethel A.M.E. Church, Main Street, Midway, is scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 24 at 11:00 a.m. The Rev. R. W. Wormack, presiding elder of the Ft. Myers District will be the speaker.

St. Matthew missionary Baptist Church, Midway, will have Family and Friends Day on Jan. 24 at 11:00 a.m.

Volunteer Center Branch Opens In Seminole County

The Volunteer Center leaps forward by opening its new Seminole County branch. The purpose of this expansion is to better serve the Seminole County community through the effective utilization of volunteers and the promotion of volunteerism.

U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum has agreed to be the keynote speaker at the kick-off event. Seminole County Commission Fred Streetman and SCC President Dr. Earl S. Weldon will also give a few remarks. A ribbon-cutting ceremony will than take place.

The Volunteer Center of Central Florida has been serving the needs of the community since 1969. The center is a clearinghouse for the recruitment and referral of volunteers. It provides services to individuals and organizations of Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties, by facilitating volunteers as well as individual contributions.

The center specializes in a variety of programs and seminars and also distributes a variety of promotional publications. The center also sponsors Christmas in July, an annual Christmas-type celebration for non-profit organizations.

Community Garden Project Set

For those who would like to have a vegetable garden but don't have a place to plant, the Seminole County Extension Service, in conjunction with the Sanford State Farmers Market, is initiating a Community Garden Project on the Sanford State Farmers Market site.

Interested individuals or groups are asked to pick up applications at the Agriculture Center, 250 W. Country Home Road off 17-92 near Flea World. For more information, please contact Celeste White, urban horticulturist, at 323-2500, Ext. 175.

Applications Offered For AAUW Scholarship

The American Association of University Women announces the organization will award a $500 scholarship to a resident of Seminole County. Need and a 3.0 grade point average are the primary criteria for application, according to Bunnie Bomar, AAUW education chairman.

Scholarship applications may be obtained by sending a self-addressed envelope to P.O. Box 1648, Altamonte Springs 32714.

Bomar says this is the sixth consecutive year a scholarship has been awarded to a Seminole County resident. Last year's winner is Alaysa Haasze, a freshman at the University of Florida.

Bomar said AAUW is an organization which promotes education and leadership among professional people.

Be Safe: Avoid Alcohol When Taking Medicine

DEAR DR. GOTT: I took tetracycline for an infection. The drug book I read stated that consuming alcohol and taking tetracycline could cause liver damage, but the pharmacist and doctor both said not to worry. Who is right?

who are eager to please, less act in their ways, and remembered names — after all, I was in that category. Now I am less enthusiastic about the altruism and humility of young doctors, but, then, I'm getting older and — I hope — more humane.

DEAR READER: Many drugs react badly with alcohol. In my opinion, taking medicine with alcohol-containing beverages is unwise. The liver detoxifies both alcohol and tetracycline, so, when taken together, the combination could — in theory — cause liver damage in susceptible individuals.

Experience, judgment, kindness, competence — and the ability to remember a name — are more important qualities in a good doctor. Shop around until you find a physician who is more

Nevertheless, this reaction would be very unusual and highly unlikely. Therefore, I believe that the advice you received is appropriate. The chances of your having trouble are small. But in the future, you can simplify the issue by avoiding alcohol when you take medicine. This is the safest approach.

DEAR READER: Then find another family doctor. I tell my readers to see their family doctors because these physicians are appropriate for primary, basic medical care. You may not be well-served by running off to specialists for this or that, when a good general doctor could solve the problem or, if necessary, refer you for another opinion.

When patients do not receive the help, advice and explanations they require from family physicians, the fault lies with the individual doctors, not with the group as a whole. Most family M.D.s do a good job. Of course, some primary-care physicians are arrogant and uncommunicative, as is true in any profession or specialty.

If, after seven years, your doctor can't remember your name, find one who can. When I was young and just starting my practice, I used to encourage patients to see young doctors

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It seems as if North was bidding quite a lot when he barged into four spades over West's takeout double. If he had redoubled and then jump-raised spades to the three-level, that would have been adequate and it would have given South a little leeway just on the off chance that the third-seat opening bid was light. Here it wouldn't have mattered, since South had enough to go to game.

played king of spades (if West played an honor, South would finesse against the remaining honor in the East hand) and a spade back to his ace. That left East with the master trump, and declarer in some jeopardy. If South played a third spade, East would win and play a diamond.

Declarer therefore wisely decided to play clubs before giving up a trump trick. Declarer cashed the ace of clubs and played a low club toward dummy, putting up the king when West followed with the nine. A third round of clubs put West on lead away from his K-J-10 of diamonds into declarer's A-Q, giving South his 10 tricks.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
JANUARY 23, 1988

You will have big opportunities to make great strides in the year ahead, aided by friends and associates. However, avoid dealings with people who disappointed you in the past.

attention to business instead.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In challenging developments today, feelings of inadequacy will be flimsy of your imagination. Your real abilities will quickly surface as soon as you make your first move.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your objectives can be achieved today, provided you don't broadcast your intentions in advance to people who could impose their negative views on you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Stay out of the affairs of friends today, and try to keep them out of yours. Needless complications could result if these lines of demarcation are crossed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your image could suffer today if you are selfish about something that should be shared with others. They'll see right through your little game.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Friends will be watching you closely today, so be sure to treat everyone equally. Cozying up to a pal just because he/she can do something for you is a mistake.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Take nothing for granted today in a matter where the stakes are meaningful. Carelessness or miscalculations could have serious ramifications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your suggestions and ideas have merit today and they should be beneficial for your family. Don't let a member of your clan convince you otherwise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There will be opportunities for personal gain today, but you must be able to recognize them for what they are. Take time to analyze developments as they occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be sure to look beyond the packaging today if you are shopping for presents for others. What appears to be a good bargain might merely be the box.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Evaluate life's situations realistically today. If you don't look beneath the surface before you make a decision you could pull the wool over your own eyes.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 0.17 Thursday, was up 10.61 to 1889.92 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 533-172 among the 909 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 8,869,000 shares.

The market won a modest victory Thursday when prices closed slightly higher after fighting to overcome an early selloff. Trading was moderate. The 57-point drop on Wednesday "scared a few people away," said Rodd Anderson, vice president in equity trading at Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc.

Anderson said the market was disturbed by the Commerce Department report showing housing starts off 18.2 percent in December and the Japanese trade report on Tuesday showing that nation's trade surplus widened last month.

"Some people are starting to worry about a recession, and (investors) have become a tad defensive," Anderson said.

Waller, who resigned Jan. 4, was approved in a 3-2 vote on Dec. 21. Issuing of the checks was later stopped by City Attorney Michael Kramer and City Clerk Don Terry, who said the transferring money from the contingency fund to pay for the comp time was illegal without a public hearing.

Waller said his 382 1/2 hours comp time dates from April 1986 to May 1987 at $19.97 an hour for a total of $7641.72 and Manning had 509 comp hours accumulated since July 1975 for a total of $9,910. Commissioners Dave Gunter and Lynette Dennis voted against the payment because the claim was undocumented and there was not money in the budget.

Those exempt from earning comp time will include the city administrator, city attorney, city clerk, deputy city clerk, finance director, personnel director, purchasing director, building official, city planner, city engineer and assistant city engineer, parks and recreation director, fire and police chiefs and their

Dollar And Gold Both Rise On World Markets

United Press International

The dollar was higher today on major world money markets. Gold was mostly higher.

Earlier in the Far East, the dollar strengthened marginally against the Japanese yen, ending its three-day decline, closing out the week at 127.70 yen, up 0.90 from Thursday's close of 126.80 yen.

Currency dealers in Japan said the dollar's strengthening was in line with Thursday's rise on major monetary markets overseas.

"Market players purchased the dollar on the belief that the dollar would remain firm for the time being," one dealer at a foreign exchange bank said.

Silver also edged higher, opening 5 cents stronger in Zurich at $6.70 an ounce, and gaining 1 cent in London to $6.71.

In early trading on New York's Comex, a 100-troy-ounce gold futures contract for January delivery opened at $478.30, off $2.20 from Thursday's close. A 5,000-troy-ounce silver futures contract opened at $6.677, off 2.5 cents an ounce.

Economist: Recession Underway

TAMPA (UPI) — Economist Pierre Rinfret believes the nation has entered a recession that will last into early 1989 and affect Florida, despite its high rate of growth.

Rinfret, of Rinfret Associates Inc. in New York, shared his economic prognosis Thursday at a breakfast hosted by Cushman & Wakefield Inc., a national real estate brokerage.

He based his bearish outlook in part on the dramatic decline in U.S. housing starts during December, coupled with a decline in consumer confidence.

Rinfret predicted unemployment will increase from its present rate of 5.8 percent to 8 percent or 9 percent before the recession eases in 1989.

Rinfret disagrees with other economists and stock market analysts who have said the 508-point plunge in the Dow Jones Industrial average on Oct. 19 doesn't necessarily signal an economic recession.

"The market meltdown of Oct. 19 was one of the most devastating things to hit this country," he said. "You cannot ignore that stock market. The stock market is the best indicator of the economy that exists."

Citrus Shipments

WINTER HAVEN (UPI) — Today's citrus shipments reported by the Division of Fruit and Vegetable Inspection. Shipping total in 4-5th bushel cartons and canneries totals in 1-3-5ths bushel boxes.

Rail — 8,184 grapefruit, 8,117 early-mid oranges, 1,674 navel, 2,336 tangelos, 1,085 Mineolas, 378 honey tangerines.

Export — 101,208 grapefruit, Truck — 99,216 grapefruit, 40,426 early-mid, 13,219 navel, 29,234 tangelos, 2,500 Orlando tangelos, 17,967 Mineolas, 15,697 honey tangerines, 2,247 Dancy tangerines.

Cannery — 119,692 grapefruit, 956,955 early-mid, 4,531 navel, 4,705 tangelos, 48,159 tangelos, 7,323 honey tangerines, 5,063 tangerines.

viding a penalty of $100 or double the permit fee, whichever is greater, for failure to obtain a building permit before starting construction.

- gave tentative approval to an ordinance authorizing the city attorney to investigate allegations of misconduct or wrongdoing by any individual or entity associated with the city at the request of the city commission, issue subpoenas and make reports. A public hearing and final vote are scheduled for Feb. 1.

- tentatively approved an ordinance providing for review by the city commission of a decision by the Board of Adjustment Board upon written request.

- authorized the mayor to sign the application for a $7,953 block grant to help low income families to the state Department of Community Affairs in participation with Seminole County and other cities in the county. Longwood is proposing use of its share to assist youths from low-income families in attending the city's Summer Fun Program. Their eligibility would be determined by county school personnel.

top officers, codes enforcement officer, wastewater supervisor, water superintendent and street superintendent.

The commission tentatively approved an ordinance imposing interim duties of the city administrator on the city clerk. The commission passed an emergency ordinance good for 61 days making City Clerk Don Terry acting city administrator following the Jan. 4 resignation of former City Administrator Ron Waller and this ordinance will extend the period to 120 days or until a new city administrator is hired. The public hearing and final action are set for Feb. 1.

Terry, who is required to attend all regular and special meetings and workshops, does not believe the city's administrative personnel are entitled to comp time and recorded accumulated hours.

In other business Monday night, the commission:

- unanimously adopted by resolution rules and procedures under which the commission will operate, including Roberts Rules of Order, and the city attorney was appointed parliamentary.
- adopted an ordinance pro-

placed the sinks rather than going through the normal chain of command, which might have proved time consuming.

Normally, changes in the contract would have to come before the Authority's commissioners for approval but Tomblin told the group Thursday that for the contractor it probably was easier, in the midst of construction, to go ahead and replace the sinks without consulting them, rather than wait until a meeting a few weeks later.

Since Thursday's meeting was a workshop, rather than a regular meeting, commissioners could not vote on how to deal with the situation. However, Housing Authority Director Elliott Smith noted that HUD had already approved the change order, allowing for the new sinks. Commissioners Bob Ball and Terry Buratti particularly questioned that HUD could approve the change order without the approval of the commissioners.

Ball also noted that, in a letter to the Authority, attorney Ned Julian had recommended that a licensed inspector check the work done by Protta, because Julian questioned the contractor's workmanship.

The issue was finally dropped after Chairman Alexander C. Winn's question "What is your consensus?" was met by silence.

Commissioner Bob Ball also brought up the question of a $18,500 dollar computer which was purchased nearly two years ago by the Authority, but is not in use at this time. Smith said the system would be partially operational within about a week and a half.

Smith noted the Authority had purchased the system about a year and a half or two years ago, from U.S. Systems out of Arlington, Va. and that several factors contribute to it not being used up to this point. He said several programs had to be reworked. After the meeting, he explained that computer systems have to be customized from agency to agency. He also told commissioners that work on the computer was interrupted by construction on the facilities at one point.

He did say that, within about a week and a half, three computer programs should be operational, and that the system could then be used for payroll purposes such as cutting checks.

Bovio said each task force member is a parent of an elementary-age child. But the task force's decision will not impact the members directly, he said. "Either their children will not be affected because they're in fifth grade or their actual school will not be involved."

Seven criteria are being used as guidelines for the task force in making its final recommendation.

- Future impact on middle and high school zones from the reshifting of elementary school children.

- The least number of divisions of subdivisions and neighborhoods.

- Safety of students in their walking or riding to new school sites.

- Distance and access to schools and busing costs.

- Ability for new zones to accommodate for growth in the next three to five years.

- Minority ratios at no more than 50 percent of black students.

- The number of students that would be affected.

Bovio was pleased with the public meeting. "I thought it went very well. People presented their plans in an orderly fashion. I think there were two times when people got a little noisy. They wanted to support something."

"A week ago, we laid out the ground rules so we wouldn't have people shouting. I've been to meetings where people have; this was a gem compared to those."

Other rezoning plans can still be submitted in writing to the task force, Bovio said.

Governor Pleads Innocent

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Embattled Gov. Evan Mecham pleaded innocent today to six counts of allegedly concealing and lying about a $350,000 campaign contribution and defiantly predicted he would be cleared.

Mecham's brother, Willard, named on three counts, also pleaded innocent, as the two men made a brief appearance before Maricopa County Superior Court Commissioner Patrick O'Neil.

O'Neil ordered the Mechams to stand trial on March 9.

"How do you plead?" O'Neil asked the governor.

"Not guilty," Mecham replied.

The Mechams were charged with perjury, fraud and filing false campaign contribution and expense reports.

The Mechams were indicted for allegedly hiding a loan from Tempe developer Barry Wolfson when the governor's campaign and personal financial disclosure statements were filed with the state. Amended forms later were filed, showing the loan.

As Mecham left the courthouse, he was asked if he was still confident.

"Hell yes, I'm confident," Mecham said. "I'm not guilty. Doesn't that give you some understanding that I'm confident?"

The governor has said his brother, who was his campaign treasurer in 1986, made an "honest mistake" in not detailing the loan on the original reports.

If convicted, Mecham, the state's first Republican governor in 12 years, would be removed from office and face up to nearly 22 years in jail.

As Mecham arrived at the courthouse for the arraignment, he was asked by reporters if he was apprehensive.

"No," Mecham said. "When you have a clear conscience and are innocent, why should you be apprehensive?"

During public appearances in Tucson Thursday, the governor said there is no comparison between his dilemma and the Watergate scandal that forced President Nixon out of office.

"He got caught lying and I didn't. I haven't lied," Mecham said.

Mecham defended his record and said he thinks his problems will be "temporary."

Mecham later told a business group that he wanted to continue to press for his legislative programs and did not want to quit.

"If I left office now, I think it would be a blight on Arizona forever that a few would upset constitutional government to achieve their own ends," Mecham said.

A House select committee appointed to determine if Mecham should be impeached was to resume its hearings this afternoon after taking Thursday off.

During the initial session Wednesday, Col. Ralph T.

Minstead, director of the state Department of Public Safety, testified Mecham ordered him not to cooperate with the attorney general's investigation of an alleged threat made by one Mecham aide against another.

Minstead said he disobeyed Mecham because he refused to violate his oath of office.

Mecham said in Tucson that he expects to testify before the committee sometime next week. He said he did not hear Minstead's testimony, but added, "What he says doesn't have any effect on me because I'm going to use the facts."

The select committee had yet to hear testimony about the disputed $350,000 loan and a charge that Mecham illegally borrowed $80,000 from a state fund and lent it to his automobile dealership.

If a majority of the 60-member House votes to impeach, the Senate would conduct a trial.

Convicted Molester Will Return To Court

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

A former Longwood man found guilty of 13 counts of sexual assault by a Seminole County jury last week will go to court again Monday to face charges that he illegally recorded phone conversations in his home.

Earl Casperson Meggison Sr., 44, is charged with 46 counts of intercepting communications. Meggison allegedly had a recording device hooked up to one of the two telephone lines in his home.

Meggison was found guilty of seven counts of engaging in sexual activity with a child and five counts of lewd and lascivious assault upon a child on Jan. 15, by a six-member jury.

Meggison, a former $45,000-a-year manager for AT&T in Orlando, pleaded guilty last year to the charges that he assaulted a minor child when she was both 11 and 12. When he found out he would lose his job because of the guilty plea, Meggison asked Circuit Court Judge S. Joseph Davis for permission to change his plea to not guilty.

Now he faces a maximum of 286 years in prison for the sexual assault crimes. Assistant State Attorney Bob Fisher said he is still going to prosecute Meggison on the communication charges. "Because he committed them."

Meggison allegedly tape recorded conversations made and received by his ex-wife without her knowledge.

Meggison could face an additional five years per charge.

next year. The motion failed by a 3-1 margin, with Mahoney the dissenting vote.

The commission then voted on an ordinance with the original effective date of October. The ordinance was disapproved by a 3-1 vote, with the lone dissenting vote coming from Commissioner George Duryea.

Both Commissioner Randall Morris and John Percy said they were concerned that Lake Mary citizens would view the expense accounts as the commission's way of circumventing the city charter. Mahoney agreed.

Morris said he had a disagreement with critics of the expense account plan who felt the commission was attempting to circumvent the charter. "The commission is doing what it's entitled to do."

Morris said although he agreed with the ordinance he still had to vote not because of what city residents thought of it. "Regardless of what is reality, we still have to deal with the fickle perception of the public," he said.

"As a taxpayer I really don't have a problem with the commission getting extra pay," Percy said. He added that he too was voting against the ordinance because of the public's perception of it as circumventing the charter.

"I don't feel like I'm circumventing the charter. I don't feel like I'm doing anything wrong here," Duryea said of his vote to approve the accounts. "I asked the city attorney about this and he said, 'Sure you can do what you're doing.'" Duryea said.

Duryea cast the lone dissenting vote for the expense accounts.

Fess called for a charter revision to correct this "Who's on first" situation with the pay raise problem. "I think a lot of people would be very agreeable to that," he said.

Herald Photo

With a face only a mother could love gentle manatees have shown that although not near as fair as mythical mermaids sea-crazed sailors are said to have mistaken them for, they still win hearts.

"They weren't nearly as beautiful as painted," said America's finder Christopher Columbus.

But, today, the manatees that graze on seagrasses through Florida's waterways, are revered not for their blobby faces and more than Rubenesque forms. These sea-creatures, that are known as seacows and are distant cousins to the elephant, are appreciated for their rarity and lumbering gentleness, which often brings them too close to man — too close to harm.

If only a "mother" could love a manatee's face, there is a lot of love out there for the 1,200 U.S. survivors of the breed. Proof is in the fact that an "Adopt a Manatee" program sponsored by the Save the Manatee Club has attracted 14,500 "mothers and fathers," for manatees since the program was established in Florida in 1984 with 300 supporters.

The manatees are adopted to multiple "parents" who pay an annual adoption fee of $15, which includes membership in the Save the Manatee Club. Classes of school children get a special adoption rate of $10 for a class.

The adoptive parents receive an underwater photo and history of their charge along with an adoption certificate as well as general manatee information.

On visits to Blue Spring State Park the adoptors may have their charges pointed out to them by Ranger Wayne C. Hartley, who is on a first name basis with the 51 manatees that can usually be spotted in cooler weather lumbering sleepily around in the spring waters.

Hartley, stationed at Florida's Blue Spring State Park in Orange City since 1979, helps track the manatees for the adoptive parents as well as for research projects. The funds earned from the adoption program are channeled into manatee research programs, education efforts, and to buy signs that mark areas of Florida waterways where the manatees venture in their travels to as far south as Miami.

Hartley reports on the manatees, who in cooler weather move from colder channels into the warm spring waters. He said he helps "parents" follow the manatees' loves, births and deaths in annual reports as well as in a newsletter issued to club members five times each year.

The saddest news Hartley reports is the death of a manatee. Too often, Hartley and others who frequent Florida's waterways find injured, dying and dead manatees.

Most have been maimed by the blades of motorboats, which slash the creatures as they rest on the bottom of the waterway.

The manatee, which can weight up to 3,500 pounds and which can reach a length of 13 feet, eats as much as 15 percent of its body weight in a day. When resting between meals, they rest on the bottom where they can hold their breath for up to 25 minutes before floating up for air.

Hartley has a special rapport with the manatees he canoes out to count three times a week. He said it hurts to find that one has been injured.

"It's sort of like when Frederick got hit (by boat motor blades). He had terrible scars... He died. When I saw him I said, 'Oh, no. Who is this? Poor Sir Frederick.' Then I thought, 'Well, who would you want it to be?' I wouldn't want it to be any of them," Hartley said.

He said that "Howie" and "Boomer" are real crowd pleasers and they have more adoptive parents than any other manatees because they are a bit more sociable.

"They will go into the swimming area. Most people who see them want to adopt them," Hartley said of Boomer and Howie.

In writing for the Save the Manatee Club News in November, Hartley recalled when he first began as a volunteer keeping tabs on manatees Pheobe, Emma, Tithonus, Brutus, Merlin and Gandalf.

"These are all in the adoption program except Gandalf. He would be, but he died on Nov. 26, 1982 in Lake Dexter, his intestines ruptured by a blockage of fishing line. I like to believe he didn't eat it at the Blue Spring fishing pier," he wrote.

For information on manatee adoption call or write Save the Manatee Club, 305-647-2615; 1101 Audubon Way, Maitland, Florida 32751.

Blue Spring State Park is open from 8 a.m. to sundown daily. Hartley said cooler days are the best for manatee sighting, because they seek out the warmth of that perennial 72 degree water, when rivers drop to about 50 degrees. As the day progresses and the water warms, some of the manatees move out of the spring area into other bodies of water, he said.

There were only two babies born to his flock this year. Hartley said usually there are about four babies born each year. "But two's not bad. The best year we had there were seven."

A "Manatee Festival" is scheduled Jan. 31, at Valentine Park, French Avenue, Orange City, where there will be arts, crafts, games and food, with focus on the manatees and their needs.

ALL MY CHILDREN

Nick rushed Erica to the hospital when he found her unconscious in her apartment. Travis arrived at the hospital in time to learn that Erica is suffering from eclampsia, which could kill both Erica and her unborn baby. Matt was devastated when Nina told him that she's going to end their marriage because she's chosen to stay with Cliff. After patching things up with Julie again, Charlie warned Nico to stay away from her. Tom urged Shave to read pamphlets on AIDS in order to prove to her that Stuart isn't going to contract the disease just because he is Cindy's friend. Cliff let Pilar move into his house and agreed to help her raise funds for her people, who are still fighting for freedom in their South American country. Nick admitted to Mona that in a way, he still loves Erica. Erica had nightmares about her childhood and how she was rejected by her father. Eric, Julie avoided talking to Mark.

ANOTHER WORLD

Jason shackled Mary with his body when one of Reginald's thugs lobbed a bomb into the Frame farmhouse, causing the place to collapse on top of them. Donna did her best to get on Michael's good side after he returned from his business trip to Japan. Michael's secretary, Gillian, who has a thing for her boss, did her best to keep Donna and Michael apart. Dawn can't understand why she's contracted the AIDS virus. Sam set out to find Amanda, who went to New York City with the intention of having an abortion. The memories of Kathleen's death flooded back when Cass perused a copy of Kathleen's memoirs, which are being published by Mac. Reginald took an inordinate interest in an old watch that Jason gave to Nicole. After spotting Sam talking to his former girlfriend, Joyce, Amanda jumped to the conclusion that Sam had reconciled with Joyce.

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Bob rescued a young woman, Laura Simmons, who was being attacked in the park by a would-be rapist. Real was upset to overhear Susan trying to convince Betty that he's dangerous because he once raped Eva. An unwitting Pamela befriended Beau Farrell, who is the man who attacked Laura. Kim wondered if Andy decided to go to medical school because he wants to or because he wants to please John. Laura told Kim and Bob that she went through a bitter custody suit over her children when she divorced her ex-husband, Victor. Hal comforted Paul, who is distraught that Barbara won't let him visit her in prison and won't even read his letters. Meg accompanied Toriko on a business trip to Rome. Beau made a threatening phone call to Laura after he learned that she told Margo and Hal about her attack. Sabrina secretly arranged to have Seth's novel published. Colin agreed to paint Shannon's portrait.

THE BOLD

AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Stephanie learned that Eric had dated Liz Henderson before he married Stephanie. Stephanie doesn't know that Beth Logan is Liz Henderson. Because of his budding romance with Stephanie, Clarke reacted with cool reserve whenever Kristen kissed him. After Brooke told Eric that Beth may have breast cancer, Eric went to her and insisted that he wants to help her. Thorne advised Ridge to give up his lingering feelings for Caroline. Stephanie admitted to Ridge that she was pregnant with him when she married Eric.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Diana was at Phillip's hospital bedside when he died from his bullet wound. Bill admitted to Janice that he can't guarantee he would stay with her if Laura were to someday regain her mental faculties. Patch and Frankie were relieved to learn that Max will regain full use of his injured eye. Kimberly, who learned that Eve is a hooker, was injured trying to rescue her from John. Shane was devastated when he learned that Kimberly had lost their baby. Victor found that Serena gave Roman the computer disk and the formula to unlock the info on it. After receiving the candid photos of Kayla and Patch kissing, Jack (Dilly) forced Kayla to submit to his lovemaking. Harper and Angelica were thrilled when Jack (Dilly) won the election. Shane found a battered Eve, who kept mum that she was beaten by a john. Serena started scheming against Diana, who inherited Phillip's estate.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Robin was left in a traumatized state after she saw Grant knock Filomena unconscious and kidnap Anna. Anna was stunned when Grant told her that Filomena had died from a severe concussion. Duke delivered Carruthers to Jerome, but when Carruthers tried to escape, Duke's gun accidentally fired and Carruthers was killed. After Duke agreed to join Jerome's crime organization, Jerome said he'd help find Anna and would make sure that the police knew Carruthers' death was an accident. Grant's guard dog, Satan, thwarted Anna's attempts to escape from her makeshift cell. Simon's parents, Simon and Pauline, reluctantly gave their blessings to Tom and Simon's impending marriage. Scotty tried to make brownie points with Cheryl. Robert took over his old job as police commissioner. Lucy was named director of the Tanya Jones Daycare Center at the hospital.

GUIDING LIGHT

Marye freaked out when Fletcher took her to a basketball game without telling her. George began a new job at Spaulding Enterprises. George gave Nuk copies of the schedule sheets for the Spaulding-owned cars that the two are using to transport drugs into Springfield. Alan fumed when he saw Reva out on the town with George. Alan Michael warned Alan that George is bad news. A mentally unhinged Noxie nearly walked through an open window while sleepwalking. Mandy took it upon herself to find the person who framed Rusty on drug selling charges. Marv was devastated when Fletcher told her that he's going away for a while. To hopefully encourage the Lewises to merge with Spaulding Enterprises, Alex told Josh that Alan had tampered with Marah's paternity blood tests. Sonni pressured Josh to consent to the Lewis Oil Spaulding Enterprises merger.

LOVING

Dan confronted "Clay," who was forced to admit that he's an impostor whose real name is Alex. Ann pressured Jack to tell Stacey about his affair with Lily before someone else does. Carrie, who is working with Dan, insisted that she can't speed up the process to unlock Jim's lost memory. Dan and Carrie were nervous when their boss, Brad Collins, arrived in town. Alex convinced Brent, who knew Clay pretty well, that he's the real Clay Alden. Rick was stunned by Lily's confession that she had been sexually molested by her father.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE

While filming a TV news story, Melinda met Lita, who said she's running from her abusive husband. An unwitting Melinda let Lita and Milagro crash at her pad, while Tina and Max were out searching for Milagro. Lee fretted that her past as a prostitute would somehow harm Matt Lynn. Robi phoned Tina and demanded a big ransom for Milagro even though Lita split with the baby. Robi was stunned when Max caught up with him and shoved a loaded gun in his back. Max and Cori, who returned to search for Milagro, rescued Viki after Robi bound and gagged her. Unaware that Donald is in cahoots with Kellogg, Herb told Donald that Melinda wants to have herself committed to Mountainview Hospital so that she can find proof that she saw someone (Alex) murdered in Dr. Kellogg's office. On Donald's orders, Herb's new secretary, Jennifer, set out to discredit Herb by letting everyone think they're having an affair.

Presidential Videos?

By Guy MacMillin

Bruce Babbitt gave an unusual present to 500 New Hampshire voters late last year. He sent them each a campaign videotape.

It's part of the new style in home video presidential politicking. Even people who might not watch a televised debate or pore over campaign literature will pop a free tape in the VCR if one shows up in the mail.

Those who watch the Bruce Babbitt tape first hear an announcer say: "This year there is a different kind of candidate running for president. He comes from a frontier family that lives by simple truths: You work hard, you do right and you stand up for the things you believe in."

But, once the blather is over, the tape gets into substance, mostly through clips of Babbitt's debate appearances.

Babbitt is no great shakes at television, but he does speak unambiguously. He says we must raise taxes to reduce the federal budget deficit. He talks about the danger of over-reliance on nuclear weapons. He accuses Ronald Reagan of assuming that every regional conflict "is a conspiracy against the United States of America." His chronology of Reagan Mideast policy ends with the old Abbott and Costello question, "Who's on first?"

The Babbitt tape ends where it began, awash in what sounds like synthesizer music, with the candidate appealing, rather vaguely, for us to "make the connection" between honest candidates and honest people. But, in between, there's a lot to chew on.

Pat Robertson is another candidate who has made a campaign video. His consists of a speech he made in September 1986 when he announced he was considering a run for the presidency.

The beginning of the tape is crammed with so many patriotic symbols I didn't know whether to stand up, salute, kneel down or cheer. A trumpet player launches into a set of ruffles and flourishes that would have delighted Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The band plays "The Star Spangled Banner." The flag billows. The Statue of Liberty pops up for a few seconds. The band switches to "America the Beautiful." Robertson enters the hall. By that time, most of the people there seem ready to make him president by acclamation.

Robertson tells them, "We have permitted during the past 25 years an assault on our faith and our values." He says we need to replace the study of Freud, Marx and Darwin with school prayer. In fact, he repeatedly expresses a desire to have his religious convictions taught in schools, bringing "God back to the classrooms of America."

Speaking of schools, some of Robertson's educational proposals are unusually detailed for a presidential candidate. At one point, he says we must return to "a broad-based phonics approach to reading," whatever that is. The audience apparently knows because the line gets a big cheer.

Unlike other presidential candidates, Robertson is very concerned about our sex lives, although he doesn't explain why that's a president's business. He complains about "casual sex, infidelity and easy divorce" and about "self-gratification and hedonism." This, of course, was a year before his own wedding date became the subject of media analysis.

It's a good speech, delivered forcefully by the most telegenic candidate in the race. In fact, if Robertson is not elected president in November, maybe he should give some thought to a career as a TV evangelist.

Whatever Happened To Miss Wynn?

Dear Dick: Both Robert Francis and May Wynn were introduced to moviegoers in the 1954 film "The Calm Before the Storm." Mr. Francis died the following year in a plane accident, but whatever became of Miss Wynn? — B.C., Kearney, Neb.

Dear B.C.: May Wynn — whose real name was Donna Lee Hickey, and she used that name sometimes professionally — kept on acting for a while. She was in the series "Noah's Ark," with Paul Burke, from 1956 to 1958, and in the movie "Hong Kong Affair" in 1959. She was married, at one time, to Jack Kelly. But I haven't any recent record of her whereabouts.

Dear Dick: Please settle an argument between me and my girlfriend. Who were the three women who played the sisters on "Petticoat Junction"? Did Meredith Baxter Hirney ever play one of them? — B.H., Houston.

Dear B.H.: Actually, although there were three sisters, over the course of that show's lifetime six girls played in the roles. Meredith Baxter Hirney was not among that elite group. Originally there were Jeanine Riley, Pat Woodell and Linda Kaye Henning. Ginnifer Hutton and then Meredith MacRae replaced Miss Riley. Lori Saunders replaced Miss Woodell. Miss Henning hung in there.

Dear Dick: I would like to know where I have seen the actor on "I Married Dora" before. It's driving me nuts! — C.B., Murkagon Heights, Mich.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dear C.B.: Get a grip on yourself. Daniel Hugh Kelly, the actor in question, used to be Brian Keith's associate on "Harcastle and McCormick."

Dear Dick: Please settle an argument between a friend and me. Who are Alice Cooper's parents? And what is his real name? — M.R., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dear M.R.: Alice, bless its heart, was born Vincent Furnier, the son of Ether and Ella Mae Furnier.

Dear Dick: My husband and I were watching "Peggy Sue Got Married," with Kathleen Turner. Could you tell us if Lisa Marie Presley played the part of Peggy's daughter, Beth? — C.S.K., Gallon, Ohio.

Dear C.S.K.: No. Helen Hunt played Beth.

Dear Dick: I would like to know if Susan

Bullivan, who plays Maggie on "Falcon Crest," is related to Sarah Miles and, if so, how? — Unsigned, Charleston, Ark.

Dear Unsigned: No, they are not related.

Dear Dick: Please let me know if Jane Wallace of "West 57th Street" is any relation to Mike Wallace or NBC's Chris Wallace. — R.M.F., Portage, Mich.

Dear R.M.F.: No, but Chris is Mike's son.

Dear Dick: Over a year ago, I ran across a Selleck family picture in a magazine, and Tom's sister, Martha, looks just like Connie Sellecca. Are they the same person? They look alike and the similarity of their names makes me think they are. — S.L.J., Salmon, Idaho.

Dear S.L.J.: Certainly, there is a similarity of names and appearances. But they are not the same people.

Dear Dick: A couple of months ago, I watched the TV movie "Escape From Sobibor." It was a true story and very good. But I couldn't see it all. Do you think by any chance it will be shown again? — C.H., Houston.

Dear C.H.: By every chance. It was a marvelous production and virtually every TV movie is shown twice, according to contracts and agreements. They are too costly to be shown only once. So watch your newspaper carefully — it will re-run some day.

In 'Mary Phagan'

Lemmon Does His Part On TV

By Frank Banella

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — In a career filled with memorable performances, Jack Lemmon turns in one of his best in "The Murder of Mary Phagan," an NBC-TV miniseries to be shown on Sunday, Jan. 24, and Tuesday, Jan. 26 on WESH-TV, Channel 2.

And his part isn't even the lead role.

Lemmon, 62, plays Gov. John M. Slaton, the courageous Georgia politician who commuted the death sentence of Leo Frank in 1913.

Frank, a Jewish factory manager from Brooklyn who had settled in Atlanta, was unjustly tried and convicted of the rape and murder of Mary Phagan. She was a 13-year-old girl who had worked in Frank's pencil factory.

"It's not a star performance," says Lemmon about his portrayal of Slaton in "Mary Phagan," one of the earliest contenders for best miniseries of '88. Callins Lemon. "It's one of my most restrained performances." He's a star who became infamous for his nervous mannerisms and over-the-top acting.

Although Lemmon co-starred last year in a pay-cable production of "Long Day's Journey into Night," the two-time Oscar-winner rarely appears on television. But when "Mary Phagan" producer and co-writer George Stevens Jr. sent Lemmon the script, he was hooked.

It wasn't just that the miniseries was a compelling story of justice gone seriously amok. Slaton's courage and honesty particularly fascinated Lemmon. The actor finds little evidence of those two qualities among the current crop of political and business leaders.

He says, "One of the things that has definitely occurred during my lifetime is the almost total erosion of morals and ethics until we've reached the point where committing a crime is actually not a crime at all. The crime is getting caught. Then, how much (money) you can make out of it."

Gov. Slaton was, the actor noted, so far away from "the Ivan Boesky's and Oliver North's of our time" that Lemmon took the supporting role.

"The Murder of Mary Phagan" evokes the fear and mistrust of the South in the throes of industrialization. During the Frank trial proceedings, a mob stood outside chanting, "Hang the Jew!" Local newspapers, in a frenzy of yellow journalism, whipped up their readers' hatred of Jews and rich, carpetbagging Northerners — as personified by the Cornell-educated Frank.

Before ordering Frank's execution, the governor was required by law to review the evidence. What he read shocked him into an act that was tantamount to political suicide. At the time, Slaton was at the crest of his political career. He appeared to be unbeatable in the upcoming Senate race. "He might even have been elected president," Lemmon suggests.

John M. Slaton could not send an innocent man to the gallows.

However, a lynch mob consisting of the murdered girl's relatives and friends felt justice hadn't been done. After the governor commuted the death sentence, the mob invaded the prison farm where Frank was being held and hanged him from the nearest tree.

The incident led to the founding of the Wnat Brith Anti-Defamation League. It also destroyed Slaton's career. He ended up serving with the Red Cross in Romania.

Lemmon's career, on the other hand, has been a triumph.

After graduating Harvard, this son of a wealthy donut-maker from Boston's Back Bay made his debut on Broadway in a restaging of the Marx Brothers' "Room Service." The play flopped. But Lemmon caught the attention of a Columbia talent scout, and the studio signed the actor to a seven-year film contract.

His first film, "It Should Happen to You" with Judy Holliday, delighted the critics and the public in 1954. Within a year, Lemmon won an Oscar as Best Supporting Actor for his Ensign Pulver in "Mister Roberts."

The rest of the 1950s saw Lemmon, a serious-minded actor, typecast in wonderful farces such as "Bell, Book and Candle" (1958) and the classic "Some Like It Hot" (1959). By the early '60s, he finally got a real chance at a serious role, playing the alcoholic public-relations executive in "The Days of Wine and Roses" (1962).

The rest of Lemmon's career has tended to favor the dramatic ("Save the Tiger," 1973; "Missing," 1982) with occasional retreats back to farce ("Under the Yum Yum Tree," 1983; "Good Neighbor Sam," 1964; "The Odd Couple," 1968). "Save the Tiger" won Lemmon his second Oscar in 1973.

Unlike most actors, Lemmon willingly names the films he wasn't pleased with.

RYAN'S HOPE

John was relieved to find Owen, who was wandering around the area by himself. Mark learned that Ryan is sharing a pad with Chaz. Chaz dated Sherry and then pumped her for information about Rich and Ben proposed marriage to Lizzie. Zena fantasized about being a singing star after Jack signed Brewster Blake's singing contract on her behalf. Ryan introduced Maeve to her charming Irish Studies instructor, Professor Moleahy. Dee and Roger planned to contact Dr. Glover, who can prove that Dakota set up Pat on malpractice charges.

SANTA BARBARA

Scott refused to talk to Gina after he overheard her and Keith admit that Gina's eyesight had returned. Eden and Andrea, who were school chums, talked over old times. Mason convinced his clients, the Eptons, to drop their lawsuit against surrogate mother, Rita, who desperately wants to keep the baby. Tort was devastated when Mason told her that he's going to divorce her because he's in love with Julia. Andrea was touched when Cain said he's fallen in love with her. Kelly left town to think out her problems. Pamela insisted to Ben that she doesn't know anything about the disappearance of his brother Hal. Later, Pamela asked C.C. if he thinks Hal's body is still in the spot where they left it many years ago. Eden and Cruz returned to Santa Barbara after receiving a tip that Harry had been at the Capwell Hotel, but they didn't find him. Mason assured Tort that he won't tell anyone that Cruz is Chip's real father.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Leanna, who was hospitalized in Hawaii for appendicitis, was miffed to learn that Ashley wasn't killed by the poisoned flowers she has been sending her. After returning to Genoa City, Ashley and Steven were surprised when Ashley's health suddenly improved. Cricket was stunned to learn that Jessica didn't leave town, and in fact has rented an apartment in Cricket's building. Skip told Carol that he's going to turn her into a super model. Jill lured when Chuck insisted he's sterile and therefore couldn't have gotten Nina pregnant. A pregnant Nina, who talked Esther into making the singles bar scene with her, slipped and fell on some ice as they were about to return to Kay's mansion. Danny told Cricket that Rex is his father, but insisted he doesn't want to talk to Rex. Marc failed to get Nikki to sell him her Mergeron America stock. Victor saw Marc kiss Nikki.
