LAKE MONROE — A rush-hour accident this morning on U.S. Highway 17-92 at the St. Johns River bridge congested traffic for a short time and detoured many motorists.

No details of the accident, which was reported at 7:42 a.m., were available from the Florida Highway Patrol this morning. Susan Prather, spokeswoman for Central Florida Regional Hospital, confirmed one man had been transported to the emergency room for treatment, but was expected to be released later today.

Commuters were detoured to Dirkson Drive until about 8 a.m., according to a witness.

Lake Mary tax increase is on ballot

LAKE MARY - Lake Mary homeowners will decide if they want to add up to one mill to property taxes for paving and drainage.

The City Commission will place another referendum on the city's Nov. 3 General Election ballot. It will ask for approval to place up to one additional mill on city taxes to pay for paving and drainage.

The increase would be for a period not to exceed 15 years. The City Commission met in a special called seasion last night, required in order to approve the referendum in time to have it placed on the ballot.

The matter was approved by a unanimous vote, with Commissioner A.R. "Doc" Jore absent, but submitting a memorandum favoring the proposal.

The additional tax was suggested last week by Mayor Randy Morris, as a method the future City Commissions could use to pay their share of a planned paving and drainage project. City Manager John Litton told the Commission.

SANFORD - Within two weeks, a Seminole County contractor is expected to begin the latest project in a six-year effort to redevelop Lockhart's subdivision south of

A secretary at Briar Construction Corp., Lake Monroe, said Wednes-day work is scheduled to begin Oct. 12 to install drainage along Tangerine Avenue and pave the 680-foot road in Lockhart. The job is expected to take about four months to complete.

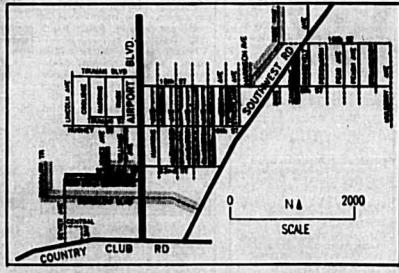

The project is the latest in what has become nearly a million-dollar effort to pave Lockhart's dirt roads to spur community improvements. The county has also had several derelict structures removed in an effort to deter drug sales and prostitution.

"We continue to make improvements to try to create an atmosphere of redevelopment in the area." said Buddy Balagia, county community development officer. 'We've begun to see yards being spruced up and that sort of thing."

Community leaders staged a neighborhood cleanup and block party two weeks ago in an effort to redevelop a sense of community. More than 100 children and adults participated. Residents hope to create a positive image for the commu-nity which recently gained notoriety for the shooting death of a Deltona man believed to be there to buy drugs.

A 15-year-old "street kid" from the area has been charged with first-degree murder and will be tried as an adult in the shooting.

Freighter sinks, 13 reccued

FORT MYERS — Coast Guard helicopters rescued 13 crew members of a sinking Honduran freighter in the Gulf of Mexico this morning and were searching for two more.

The Rontan Express, a Honduran coastal freighter, sent out a distress call at 4:45 a.m. from about 80 miles west of Fort Myers, said Coast Guard spokeswoman Stmone Adair.

Four Coast Guard aircraft raced to the scene, including two helicopters which landed in the water to pick up 13 crewmen and were flying them to a Fort Myers airfield.

"The ship sank immediately. We're still searching for the two remaining survivors," Ms. Adair said. "We're debriefing the captain right now on the helicopter."

The Coast Guard was sending more aircraft into the area to aid in the search.

The Coast Guard has conflicting accounts of the ship's size, with one account saying 56-feet and another 150 to 180 feet, she said.

Blue Angels return from Russia

PENSACOLA — Blue Angels pilots streshed over Russia in a MiG-29 Pulcrum and SU-27 Planker while their one-time Soviet counterparts did the same in a pair of Navy P/A-18 Hornets, something unthinkable a few years ago.

The exchange of rides in the back seats of Russian and U.S. fighters was a highlight of the Navy flight demonstration squadron's monthlong European tour that ended last Priday, anys Blue Angels leader Capt. Greg Wooldridge.

A couple years ago, his predecessor was reprisemeded for the unauthorized trading of rides with a test pilot of the them-Seviet air force at an air show in Kalamasoo, Mich. This time everything was approved, he said Tuesday.

"They've got tremendous thrust, a lot of power," Wooldridge said of the Russian jets. "In that regard I was very, very impressed. ... I think our technology is perhaps a little better than theirs, but they build airplanes with hig engines."

Buzz bomb discovery sparks interest

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE — Air Force officials say clues to the development of technology that helped take America to the moon and beyond may be buried in the sands of Florida Panhandle beaches.

They are contemplating a search for more American copies of Germany's World War II "buss bomb" like the one that military crews uncovered this summer on an Air Force-owned section of Santa Rosa Island.

The JB-2s, as the missiles were known, had been test-launched over the Gulf of Mexico from beaches near Egin throughout 1944 and 1945. Several launches were aborted and the buzz bombs crashed onto the beaches to be buried and forgotten — until now.

"This is quite significant in the role it played in the early rocket program in this country," archaeologist Newell Wright told the Penacola News Journal for a story Wednesday. "This was probably the most important development in our early missile program."

Polk adopts anti-nu dity ordinance

BARTOW — Polk County has adopted an anti-public nudity ordinance covering everything from hot dog vendors in thong bathing suits to nude and topless dancers in clubs.

By a 3-2 vote Tuesday night, county commissioners passed the ordinance which prohibits the display of more than three-fourths of a woman's breast and two-thirds of a man or

woman's buttocks

It was initiated by residents, complaints to commissions about roadside hot dog and flower vendors wearing surfaces that expose most of the buttocks.

'The ordinance also covers adult entertainment establishments, including nude or topless dance clubs and lingerie modeling businesses. It outlaws nude and topless dancing and limits exposure by lingerie models.

The law becomes effective in unincorporated parts of the county Nov. 1 and carries a maximum penalty of 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Court-access committee formed

TALLAHASSEE - A 17-member committee was formed by Supreme Court Chief Justice Rosemary Barkett to improve access to the court system for the disabled, the elderly and

"Enabling every citizen the ability to obtain equal access to the courts is one of the core values of our society." Barkett said Wednesday.

The committee's mission is to remove architectural barriers and make certain some groups don't receive lesser services or benefits. The panel will help Florida courts comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act passed by Congress in 1990.

Expenses for the committee are being paid by the Florida Bar Foundation. Its work could take up to 18 months.

Local private school enrollment reflects upward statewide trend

"We looked at a lot of things me of them very intangible." John White, whose children attend All Souls Catholic School. said. "We see private school as an alternative to overcrowded classes. We think the education is superior and we find more of a community feel at the smaller private school."

According to school records at All Souls the enrollment at the school is up over last year.

What's happening at the Sanford school reflects a statewide trend: More Florida parents are sending their children to private school despite the linguisiant reschool despite the lingering re-cession, citing concern over increasingly crowded public

State targets unlicensed travel agents

TALLAHASSEE - Florida has started filing complaints to curb the number of companies that might peddle vacations to buyers nationwide but go out of business before delivering the first tropical sunset.

The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services filed 12 administrative complaints this week against unlicensed Florida travel agencies.

Department officials said 50 more unlicensed agencies could face lawsuits unless they heed warnings to register and post required bonds of up to $25,000.

This law provides some financial protection to (travelers) who otherwise might be left without recourse when a seller of travel goes out of business." Agriculture & Consumer Services Commissioner Bob Crawford said.

Murphy's flaw

Apparently the American people will never see the end of that long-running soap opera, "Family Values," in which Dan Quayle and Murphy Brown seem to insist on having the last word.

'This contrived spat has acquired such a life of its own that one almost forgets that Murphy Brown is a TV sitcom character, not a real person. That didn't stop Quayle from criticizing the character's "lifestyle choice" — having a baby out of wedlock — nor the producers of the show from devoting a double-length episode to attacking he vice president's attack on Murphy's "family values." (This idiotic plot is so contorted that it's hard to know where to put the quotation marks.)

However justified in real-world terms, the show's defense of a choice that millions of real women make didn't need to be turned into an hourlong tract masquerading as comedy in which Candice Bergen (Murphy Brown) presents, on camera, a group of real-life single parents and their kids to rub in the point. Nor did Quayle need to make a cutesy commercial for "Murphy Brown" reruns on a Los Angeles TV station, or watch THE episode with a group of single parents. But of course that all happened, because in America politics is show business is politics.

What Quayle said about "Murphy Brown" was dumb political opportunism. What the show's producers did in response was clumsy and commercial.

What Quayle ought to do is defend the Bush administration's record, if he can; what Murphy Brown & Co. ought to do is just be funny, if they can.

What everybody else, including us, ought to do a shut up: Consider it done.

Beware values smokescreen

Our problems are double values as much as they are family values!

The political rhetoric on family values is a smoke-acreen to overshadow the double values in this country by the politically elite much more than the culturally elite.

I've tried as a parent to stress some of the following values: the value of an education took many years of urging and even dissension at times, and when my son graduated from college in 1992 and was unable to find employment, he looked at me and said "What's this you told me about an education. Dad?": I attempted to stress financial responsibility in a country that refuses to even discuss it let alone practice it, and my children look at me and ask, "What are you talking about Dad, we can always charge it": I've tried to teach that one must be responsible for his decisions and actions, when our leaders refuse to even admit to their actions let alone be responsible for them and my kids look at me like I'm nuts while pointing out the success of our presidents, congressmen and political parasites who live like royalty while the rest of us try to live with reality.

Yes, there is a problem with family values in this country and much of it is the result of the double values of our leaders. It's just a shame that we don't have very many people who are willing to return to the basic values our country was founded on. What's so had about embracing integrity, responsibility, and a true concern for all?

Clean up the mess

This letter is being written because of a sense of aurvival.

This concerns our environment.

The state and federal government are concerned about old gas station tanks and their impact on our ground water. They are so concerned to the point of having these old tanks and polluted soil dug up. The people of Florida are paying for this in the long run.

So what happens?
One block from where I live on Airport Boulevard and Woodland Drive, two months ago at 050 Tire, the old tanks were removed, the contaminated dirt was piled up and left.

Each time it rains this bad soil leaks into our ground water, so what was the sense of digging all this up.

So when is someone going to wake up and have this mess cleaned up?

Moscow's descent into lawlessness

If the United States is not exactly in the best of health at the moment, economically and socially, we may at least take some comfort from the reflection that the rest of the world isn't all that robust either.

By uncoupling the pound from the deutsch mark, Prime Minister Major in effect devalued the pound, with profound implications for his own political viability. On the phone from London yesterday a British friend, who may fairly be described as in the Thatcher camp, told me cheerfully that it's quite possible that Lady Thatcher will be back in Downing Street within a year. (Now that would be worth cheering over!)

Meanwhile in Tokyo the Liberal Democratic government lurches from one scandal to another. It will probably survive the latest, involving its Boss of Bosses. Shin Kanemaru, and $4 million that he recently found sticking to his fingers, but no one can describe the Japanese political situation as particularly encouraging just now.

Elsewhere around the world the news ian't much better. In France President Mitterrand's unpopularity is soaring. South Africa trembles on the verge of large-scale violence, perhaps even civil war. The president of Brazil is facing impeachment. Canada struggles desperately to avoid the accession of Quebec.

So If I direct your attention to Moscow, it's not in order to suggest that Borie Yeltain has a monopoly on political problems. But if what I hear is accurate and representative. Yelisin may win the prize for the worst and most intractable problems facing any major power.

The reason ien't far to seek. The Russian Republic is just the largest fragment of the disintegrated Soviet Union. It has shaken off the leaden grip of that durable despotism, but is having understandable problems turning itself into a genuine democracy, let alone a going free-market economy. In such a situation, power tends to devolve onto any group of people that follows a single set of orders and is willing to fight hard for its piece of turf.

over to Moscow half a dosen times, and recently opened an office there.

He says that the attention in Moscow to Darwinian, or perhaps even Hegelian: a "war of all against all." By way of illustration, he told me that not long ago he took two American businessmen to dinner in Moscow. Boys being boys, they brought along three Russian Indian and also a Russian guide-interpreter. It was the latter who suggested the restaurant. He said it was both good and safe, being owned and hence protected by "the Mafia" — meaning, of course, not the Sicilian variety but an indigenous gang.

Unfortunately, about halfway through the meal a group of burly types barged in, made straight for their table, and said something in Russian to the interpreter. Paling, he told the Americans that the thugs said they intended to beat up all four men and rape the women.

My friend had the presence of mind to recruit and pay some counter-muscle right on the spot, and their party was ultimately allowed to leave unmolested. But once they were safely away he protested to his guide-interpreter.

We had better prepare for things to get much worse in Russia before they start getting better.

Pols: The untrue seems real

Why are politicians like professional wreatlers? I will tell you.

Remember last spring, when Ross Perot was making the rounds of talk shows and declaring it was time to "take out the trash and clean out the barn" and vowing to run for president if we insisted? Next thing you know, the bantam billionaire's boosters were saying Ol' Ross sounded just like Harry Truman.

Then came Labor Day and George Bush kicked off his official campaign with the assertion that he was the true heir to the Truman legacy. "I admit it, Harry and I don't have everything in common," Bush said. "but still there are some similarities." Truman was tough, and so is he. Truman served in the military, and so did he. Truman pulled off a miracle by beating Dewey in '48, and he would trush Clinton in '92.

Bill Clinton answered from Truman's home town, independence, Mo.: "We are running on vision and hope, and we are going to do what Harry Truman did for the next 57 days: Go across the country, give them hell and make America what it ought to be again."

Then just a few days ago, former New York City Mayor Ed Koch was heard to say he imagined himself as Harry Truman. Baltimore Sun columnist Theo Lippman. Jr. did some calculations and determined that if the HST reincarnations continue at this rate, there will be 1,048,578 Harry S. Trumans wandering the Earth by the next Fourth of July.

All these pole have one thing in common: They are pitching an idea at you that they know is preposterous, but they are counting on your innate human capacity for suspending your sense of skepticiam. They know that you know they are fakes, but they are hoping you'll get wrapped up in it anyway and accept as plausible something you are pretty certain is not true.

Just like professional wrestling.

You want more? George Bush the New England blueblood, owner of a spectacular mansion on the coast of Maine, tells us he is devoted to the working man. Bill Clinton says he's going to spend 200 hundred and whatever billion and still balance the budget. Ross Perot has re-entered the presidential race — but it wasn't his decision, it was at the insistence of his disciples. Gus Hall — remember Gus Hall, the head of the U.S. Communist Party — Gua Hali axid the fall of communism is "temporary" and will "turn around ... just give it more time." Set axide your good sense. Get into it. Believe for a moment. Just like professional wrestling.

When you think about it, every con, every hustle, even straight sales pitches are based on the same premise. Consider:

The world of commerce. In New York City an art gallery called True Fakes Ltd., sells original paintings in the style of modern masters. Some works even carry fake signatures of the artists that have been copied. In Japan, a pharmaceutical company is marketing a compact disc of Mozart music that will purportedly retard hair loss in those who take the time to listen. Also in Japan, a company called Japan Efficiency Headquarters actually rents families — actors who visit elderly parents of busy working people and pretend to be their progeny.

Just like professional wrestling.

The world of history. A forensic scientist claims that Sen. Huey Long was not killed by a n assailant, but by his own bodyguards. Assessination buffs believe that Lincoln's murderer, John Wilkes Booth, was not shot in a Virginia barn but died in Oklahoma in 1903. A British historian thinks the American continent was visited by British cod fish ermen a decade before Columbus sailed the ocean blue, but that the earlier discovery was never reported because the merchants did not want to pay customs on their catch.

Set aside your good sense. Get into it. Believe for a moment.

Just like professional wrestling.
And back in the world of politics. Dan Quayle says he joined the Indiana National Guard not to avoid Vietnam but as a patriotic duty.
Just like professional wrestling.

Limit the terms of Cabinet members

If our next president truly wants to seize control of the government that he'll be presiding over, here is a radical idea that may be his best — and perhaps only — hope:

A Musical Chairs Cabinet.

This is an idea born out of a pathetic but time-tested truth: Cabinet officials enter their offices bubbling with bromides about culting fat, but no sooner do they sink into their chairs than they become instant captives.

enveloped and imprisoned by the mentality of the building in which they sit. Power, prestige and greatness in history are suddenly confused with bigness of buildings and of the numbers of people working inside them. SoCabinet secretaries plunge into turf building. never people-trimming. They battle for bigger budgets with the director of the Office of Management and Budget, who is, after all, but a teammate serving the same coach.

E-The only way to change the old thinking is with new rules.

The only way to change the old thinking is with new rules. The new president should announce the creation of a Musical Chairs Cabinet. He should appoint department heads for periods of just two years — term limits just short enough to assure they won't succumb to the lure of grasping power by gaining turf. He should give each Cabinet accretary a prime mission of cutting people and paper, without cutting government service to the public.

"The vast growth has been in the people who are monitoring and auditing the people who are doing the work of running the government," says Bert Rockman of the Brookings Institution think tank.

In two years, our chief executive will strike up the band anew. Cabinet officials who've streamlined their departments will be allowed to march around to a new department, and another round of streamlining. Those who've failed to cut will fail to make the president's cut. They'll get a plaque and a goodbye.

All this cutting need not produce massive hemorrhaging. But it will produce massive savings.

According to figures gleaned from the Bureau of Labor Statistics by Robert Shapiro, vice president of the Progressive Policy Institute (a moderate Democratic think tank), our federal government loses some 600,000 workers every year due to retirements, resignations and terminations. And every year, our federal government hires another 600,000 to replace them — plus a few more. This is a turnover of roughly 20 percent of the federal work force annually, says Shapiro, who is also a leading economic adviser to Bill Clinton.

If our new Musical Chairs Cabinet does not replace 100,000 of those who leave, we'll save about $4 billion a year. Do it four years in a row and we'll save about $16 billion. Clinton has proposed cutting by attrition only 100,000 jobs over four years.

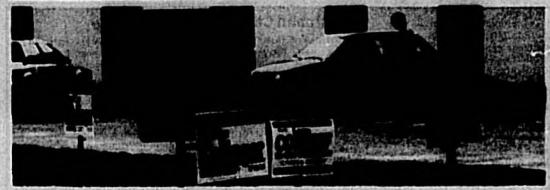

Most of us have become convinced that our federal government just ian't giving us our money's worth of good governance. After all, we're paying more than $100 billion in salary and benefits to our federal civilian employees annually.

Shrinking for strength: The number of civilians employed by the U.S. government is 2.76 percent of the nation's entire workforce; that's twice the ratio in Japan and Germany, one-and-a-half times the ratio in the United Kingdom, says Shapiro.

Federal personnel numbers even climbed alightly during the Reagan-Bush years, even while cutting government was great fodder for speeches. We edged up from 2.097 million civilian employees in 1981 to 2.155 million in 1991 (stats exclude now privatized postal employees).

The actual resolution pass last night would ask the citize to vote on Nov. 3, to decide if they will allow the City Com-mission to add up to one addimission to add up to one additional mill to their taxes, in order to purchase bonds with which to undertake the project.

Litton explained, "If we did all of the improvements in the entire city, the total project would cont over $12 million." He added, "The original source how. added, "The original sones how-ever, that have already been established on a priority list, would cost approximately $5.1

During discussion of the resolution, Mayor Randy Morris suggested that, if the measure was approved by the voters, the City would probably not purchase the bonds until close to purchase the bonds until close to November of 1983, when money would start coming in from the additional taxation.

Stacy Donnelly, of Public Financial Management addressed the Commission on the obtain-ing of the bonds. "If you purchase $4,080,000 in bonds for a 15 year period," she said, ould bring in an actual construction amount of $3,456,000, when you deduct the amount the bonding would

She added, "If you selected a 20 year band rather than 15 years, it would be $4.7 million. from which you would obtain $4,095,000 for construction."

Commissioner George Duryes saked what would happen if saked what would happen if more money was required than obtained through the bond. Donnelly responded, "If for some reason the one mill does not pay for the project, the City may have to produce money from some other source such as out of the general fund, or obtaining an additional bond."

The original proposal was to obtain a bond "not to exceed $7,500,000." Commissioner David Mealer suggested the amount may not be realistic. "I believe a $6 million figure would be better, and perhaps more acceptible to the citisens."

The change was approved by a unanimous vote.

As approved, the question to appear on the Nov. 3 hallot asks citizens if they will or will not approve the City to to obtain an amount not to exceed $5 million ad valorem tax bonds, maturing within 15 years from the date of insuance, and p:ayable from ad valorem taxes levied on all taxable property in the City, not-to exceed 1 mill.

If the measure is approved by the voters, property taxes for the owner of a home valued at $100,000, with a $25,000 homestead exemption would have property taxes increased from $282.36 to $357.36 next year. The owner of a home valued at $120,000 would have taxes increased by $95 for this coming year.

The increase, which could be lowered from the one mill limit by future City Commissions. would continue in effect for 15 years, or until the paving and drainage project is completely paid off.

Through his memorandum Commissioner Jore also re-commended that if the Commission approved the resolution. a letter be sent to all residents informing them of the matter.

. first to penalize welfare moms

A DARLENE SUPERVILLE

TRENTON, N.J. — New Jersey today becomes the first state to deny an increase in benefits to mothers who have babies while on welfare, part of a reform package intended to make poor families more self-sufficient.

Opponents of the provision say children will suffer, and they have threatened a court

Under the law, a welfare recipient who has a child 10 months or more after enrolling in the federal-state Aid to Families with Dependent Children program no longer will

"I don't think that's right, Some people need that help." Barbara Jakassa, a 21-year-sid welter recipient is Treaton, and an abe wated to see a caseworker.
"Staty-four dollars can buy Passpers. Staty-four dollars can by T-shirts for my child. For somebody that don't have a job, 864 is a lot better than none."

Johnson, who has a 4-year-old daughter, is two months pregnant but will not be affected because the state is allowing a 10-month grace period before it begins withholding benefits.

The fivese is part of a law that federal and state officials my will help break the cycle of poverty.

The law allows a welfare recipient who has a child to work and earn an amount equivalent to half her monthly grant without losing benefits. It also allows mothers to marry without losing benefits for their children.

The typical AFDC family in New Jersey, a mother and two children, receives $424 per month.

Other provisions of the Family Development Program, as the package is called, begin today in only three counties — Camden, Essex and Hudson — where more than half of New Jersey's 130,000 welfare families live. The provisions will be phased families live. The provisions in statewide over three years.

¿Focus on premature black births

Dy DAMIEL Q. MANEY AP Science Writer

BOSTON — An effort to learn why black babies are much more likely than whites to be born undersize and premature came up with no simple explanation.

Harvard researchers found that four common pregnancy problems accounted for 90 per-cent of the extra risk of very low birth weight among the babies of black women. But exactly why the black women have more difficult pregnancies than whites is unclear. The researchers said they believe the racial disparities "are rooted in profound social inequities."

"This study raises more questions than answers," com-mented Dr. Howard Spivak, chief of pediatrics at New England Medical Center in

The researchers had hoped that one or two factors would stand out so health experts would know where to focus their efforts.

instead, the study, published today in the New England Journal of Medicine, under-scored the difficulty of lowering the higher infant death rate among blacks.

Even though the death rates for all babies are going down, blacks continue to die at twice the rate of whites during the first year of life. This is due largely to the number of black babies who are born prematurely, especially those who are under 1,500 grams, or just over three pounds.

The study, conducted by Dr. Allison Kempe and others from Harvard Medical School, was based on a review of 1.299 infants born over a six-year period in Boston, St. Louis and rural Mississippi. Blacks in these areas were two to three times more likely than whites to be born under 1,500 grams. Infection or rupture of the amniotic membranes accounted for 38 percent of the extra low weight births among blacks. Premature labor for no apparent reason accounted for 21 percent.

high blood pressure 12 percent and hemorrhaging 10 percent.
Black women were three times as likely as whites to experience these difficulties during pre-

The Harvard researchers said their work highlights the need for good health among black women even before pregnancy.

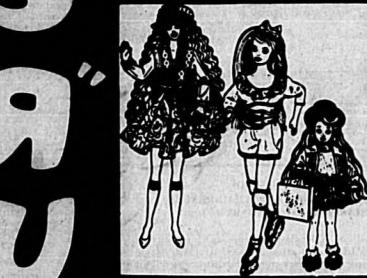

"The issue may be less pre-natal care than it is women's health, period," said Dr. Paul Wise, one of the researchers. "We hope our findings will provide a touchstone to a broader commitment to comprehensive, preventive health services for black women in this country."

In an editorial, Drs. Ezra C. Davidson Jr. and Tehchiro Fukushima of King-Drew Medi cal Center in Los Angeles said that causes of the racial disparities are likely to be com-plicated.

For instance, they said, studies have shown that small, premature babies are rare among Mexican-American women who are just as poor as black women. Recent Southeast Asian immigrants also tend to have healthier babies.

Taylor Jorgensen collected 13 hills and 11 blocks. Edrick Cosme had six hills while Kevin Reilly contributed five kills and played a good all around game.

While he didn't compile the statistics of his teammates, Whalen anid that Jean Pierre played a crucial role in the Rame' third game

"Jean Pierre really sparked us in the third game," Whales said. "He only had three kills on the match. but he got to a lot of hard balls on defense and dug out some extremely hard hits. He gave us the spark with his overall court play.

Everybody on the team stepped up and contributed, even though we started a freshman and two sophomores. Our passing was better. We had a let down in the second game and that's the one we lost."

The Lake Mary junior varsity squad (9-5) remained undefeated in conference play with a 15-3, 10-15, 15-5 victory over Lake Brantley. Now 3-6, the Rams will play again

Rams run win streak to eight

DeLAND - Lake Mary High School's varsity girls volleyball team ran its winning streak to eight matches Wednesday night with a 15-1, 15-6 sweep of the DeLand Buildogs in a 4A-District 9 contest played at Deland High School.

The Rama, 11-3, return to Seminole Athletic Conference competition tonight, traveling to Altamonte Springs to play the Lake Brantley Patriota ljunior varsity at 6 p.m., varsity at 7 p.m.).

In other SAC matches tonight. Seminole's Fighting Seminoles travel to Winter Park to take on the Lake Howeli Silver Hawks while the Lyman Greyhounds play host to the Oviedo Lions.

"It was very similar to last night's match (with Seminole, which the Rams won 15-4, 15-11)," said Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry. "It was kind of a slow match. There were a lot of errors made and we never had much of an opportunity to get into any flow, offensively.

"I'd really like to see us stay with our game plan, which is to set it up and attack everytime. But some times, we were surprised when the ball came back over the net. And when we did attack, Deland blocked a few and we weren't ready to cover them.

Still, the blowout gave Henry a chance to get her entire roster into the match and give some of her younger players some important Boor time.

"We never really got going in the match." Henry said. "The wasn't a high level of intensity and that might of hurt us. But everybody got into the game and we had a chance to look at people in some different positions. That experience will help us in the future.

The Lake Mary junior varsity bounced back from a three-set los to Seminole on Tuesday night to score a three-game victory over DeLand on Wednesday night, beating the Bulldogs 15-12, 10-15, 15-4.

San Francisco bidders, baseball officials have 'very positive meeting

SAN FRANCISCO - Baseball SAN FRANCISCO — Baseball officials met Wednesday with investors trying to keep the San Francisco Giants from moving to Florida, and said they expect a formal offer in about a week.

NL president Bill White called the two-hour session a "very, very positive meeting," but gave no timetable for baseball's decision-making process.

George Bhinn, who heads the liny area group and who also they aren group and who also owns the NBA's Charlotte Hornets, did not attend, but others in the group denied russors that he was withdrawing. The Bay area delegation Wednesday was headed by real Wednesday was headed by real entate developer Waiter Shoremetrin, a limited partner in Shinn's group, and included the city's top lawyer and the mayor's chief of staff.

"It was an excellent meeting." White said. "I think it was very informative for the National League and for baseball. I think that Walter Shorenetein and the San Francisco group understand what baseball wants. I've got to stress, it was a very, very, very positive meeting, and we expect within a week or so that we'll hear from the San Francisco group and we'll have an offer from them."

The Bay area group received the Qiants financial records Wednesday after the National League directed the team to provide them. Milwaukee Brewers owner Bud Selig. chairman of the executive council that runs the major leagues, said owners had not fully discussed the idea of a "transfer tax" if the team is sold by Bob Lurie to a Florida group. Backers of the proposed $115 million sale to the St. Petersburg group headed by Vincent J. Naimoli said Shinn's participation in a counteroffer was uncertain. That immediately was denied by Shorenstein and Shinn aide Spencer Stolpen.

Kuhlmann expressed disap-pointment that the San Franciaco group had not yet finalized

"I would have hoped that we would have had something very definitive." he said upon his arrival at San Francisco In-ternational Airport. "I will tell them that we will need a definitive offer of some sort within a week or two."

The investors said they had been unable to make a formal offer until they received the team's financial records. Giants spokeswoman Robin Carr-Locke confirmed the record were delivered Wednesday.

The transfer tax could make the matter more complicated. Some owners say that since a Florida sale might be worth more than a San Francisco offer. the difference should be split among all teams instead of going to Lurie if a move is approved.

"Some owners have discussed it, but it has not been discussed among the executive council." Selig said. "I haven't thought a lot about it myself. I don't really want to get into it. It's merely been discussed."

Try to subdue your risk-taking inclinations today, especially in financial areas, where you hope to score unrealistic gains. Bucking the odds isn't apt to work too well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is a possibility you might make an unwise decision today that is very similar to one you recently made. Profit from your mistakes; don't compound them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A philosophy that fits someone else to a T might not be tailored to you. Don't attempt to imitate something today that doesn't sult you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be as thoughtful and gracious in your social activities today as you usually are. Bad manners or poor taste won't be readily forgiven or forgotten.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Something you do today might inconvenience another, even though this individual may not be involved in your decisionmaking. Try to consider others. (C) 1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Eastern Star marks 95th year

Betty and Calvin Clements. Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of Seminole Chapter #2. Order of Eastern Star Sanford, joined members and friends to celebrate the Böth birthday of the chapter. The chapter was issued a charter on July 12, 1897 and was organized July 20, 1897.

A covered dish dinner was held Sept. 12 at the Fidrida Power Corporation clubbs on Enterprise Road. The clubhouse was decorated with items made each Thursday by some of the members such as dolls dressed in 1800s clothing. rocking chairs made from clothes pins, an old-fashioned school desk and other handmade

A contest was held for the most original outfit from this period. Many members and guests participated with clever costumes. Sharon Smith was chosen by the judges for her "flapper" outfit for the first place female winner. Leroy Thrift who farmer was chosen for first piace, male division. The judges had a difficult time making these de-cisions. The prises were a Civil War sewing doll and an "Apple" for the teacher filled with cook-

An interesting history of the chapter was given by Vassie Laley Faucher. The chapter was originally known as 45 and also Lakey Faucher. The chapter was originally known as #5 and also the first Grand Chapter of Flor-ida was held in Sanford on June 7, 1904.

It is hoped everyone will join in the 100-year birthday celebra-tion five years hence.

The proof is in the pudding when cooking with alcohol

Southern Comfort Cake that contained Vi cup of Southern Comfort 180 percent proof alcohol) in the mix and 4 cup in the glaze. My husband would not let our 8-year-old have any. I was told by the person who gave me the recipe that when you cook alcohol, the alcohol evaporates, leaving the flavor. This has caused much confusion in my family. Would you please tell me if this is the truth or a myth about cooking with alcohol.
COOKING WITH ALCOHOL

DEAR COOKING: 1 can understand your confusion. For many years, it was assumed that alcohol "burned off" when heat was applied. However, a University of idaho study done for the federal government's Human Nutrition Information Service concluded that a percentage of alcohol does remain in cooking. depending on the type of wine or spirits used and the amount of heat applied. As a precaution, your husband was wise to forbid your child to eat the cake and glaze laced with whiskey.

Of course, recovering alcoholics, people with certain allergies or people on certain medications should avoid any product "flavored" with alcohol - and that includes over-the-counter cough syrup or sherry flavoring. which might trigger a desire for alcohol. Read labels carefully because many more products contain alcohol than people are

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Inhibited and Embarrassed" not to feel either way because of her mastectomy scars. Rather than being apprehensive, all she need do is to tell the truth to any man in whom she is seriously interested. Hours, days or even weeks before any intimacy, she should tell him about the surgery she survived, and if he's the right kind of man, it won't make any

This happened to my life. My sweetheart, a truly wonderful woman, had two major operations. The first one left a jagged scar across her belly.

The first night we were intimate. I kinned her scar tenderly and lovingly. She never un-dressed in the dark again!

DEAR ASSET! Congratulations to "Unplanned Parent in lows" who wrote to you recently about Planned Parenthod and the valuable services it provides.

I. too, am a success story because of the contraceptive counseling I received from the people at Planned Parenthood in college just before my wedding. They gave me the information I needed to plan a family something my parents could not bring themselves to talk about. and something I could not afford to pay for from a private doctor at the time.

My husband and I now have three children by choice, and I owe much to the caring staff at that Planned Parenthood clinic. in the past. I volunteered some time at our local Planned Parenthood clinic, hoping to give something in return.

Working behind the scenes, I can also attest that the staff genuinely cares about women's health, and that they do provide option counseling when a woman comes to them with a crisis pregnancy.

I'm glad that they would have been faced with a crisis pre-gnancy. They serve a vital role in our socie

DEAR ABOY: I think it was about this time last year you ran a nuggested letter for those who wished to discontinue giving Christmas gifts to friends whom you felt sure would appreciate being removed from their giftgiving list.

I failed to cut it out, and now find that I need to let some friends know that we probably both would appreciate not having to go through the gift-giving procedure simply because we've been doing it for years. Thank you again.

ANONYMOUS, BUT ONE OF MANY DEAR ANONYMOUS: Be

lutely up-front with your friends. Around Thanksgiving, write them a short note saying that you are counting your blessings - among them are friends with whom you an be completely honest. Then suggest: "From now on, let us exchange only Christmas cards - no gifts." assure you they will not be offended.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middleaged woman with a tendency to gain weight. I know women who eat twice as much as I do and never gain an ounce. I have high cholesterol and high blood presoure, so I have to be careful.

Retired educators assemble

Members of the Seminole County Retired Teachers Association recently at-tended the Florida State Retired Educators Association Annual Delegate Assembly in Tampa. Attending the three-day Alexander, Doris Duxbury. Eliza Pringle and Al Duxbury.

The assembly meets once a year in September at one of the 10 districts. Each district sends members based on its membership. There were 270 registered retirees in attendance.

Dr. Merle H. Morgan, president, presided over the general meeting as reports were given by various committees.
The workshops consisted of leadership training sessions for unit officers, as well as special interest sessions for the unit committees. An update of the Department of Elderly Affairs (legislative progress) was given by the department secretary, June Nocl.

This year the committee on volunteerism returned 6 million dollars for services rendered to others within the state. The banquet's guest speaker was Howard Troxler of the St. Petersburg Times who spoke on "Polities and Other Foolishness."

Seminole County Retired Educators unit are membern of District B. District Director James L. Gibson of Umatilla, Fla. presented certificates to the unit: Unit Membership Award for increasing unit membership by four percent; the Certifi-cate of Merit for meeting the established criteria for effective unit activity during the 1991-92 year; Membership Award for having 100 percent of members enrolled in the FREA for the 1991-92 year, and a Certificate of Recognition for Support and Promotion of the FREA Foundation.

Garth Brooks is named 'Entertainer of the Year'

By JOE BOWARDS Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - Oarth Brooks, whose introspective songs and rousing concerts have lifted country music to new heights, was voted top entertainer by his peers for the second year in Brooks' 9 million-selling "Ropin' the Wind." which has been No. 1 on both the pop and country charts, won best album to give him two major honors at Wednesday's Country Music Association Awards.

Brooks shared the spotlight with velvet tenor Vince Gill, who won two awards, including top male vocalist. Mary-Chapin Carpenter was chosen top female singer.

Billy Ray Cyrus won single of the year for the rollicking crossover sensation "Achy Breaky Heart."

"Awards aren't what it's all about." Brooks, who sold boots before his music career took off three years ago, said backstage at the Grand Ole

"If you go into a town, and there ain't tickets left for your show or records in any stores around there, then you're doing your job.

Gill. co-host of the nationally televised show with Reba McEntire, collected trophies for best male vocalist and for writing his hit "Look at Us"

It was the second straight year he was voted country's top male singer by his fellow mustcians, vocalists and songwriters.

Carpenter, who won a Grammy Award earlier this year, said she hopes her country award ends questions about whether she's really country.

'I spend most of my year doing interviews explaining why I'm a country artist, defending myself more than anything else," she said. "This makes me feel like maybe I don't have to."

George Jones, whose hits include "He Stopped Loving Her Today," was named to the Country Music Hall of Fame in recognition of his 40-year

"The only thing I can say is that country music has been awful good to me throughout a whole bunch of years," Jones said.

The new honky-tonk duet Brooks & Dunn won duo of the year, breaking a four-year hold on the award by the mother-daughter act the Judds. who are no longer performing together.

Fiddler Mark O'Connor was named best musician, and Diamond Rio was chosen best Alan Jackson's "Midnight in Montgomery" was voted the No. I music video. Travia Tritt and Marty Stuart won vocal event of the year for their freewheeling "No Hata" concert tour, and Suzy Bogguss was given the Horizon Award for most promise. Frances Preston, a music publishing executive.

with Max D. Barnes. also was named to the Hall of Fame. Scientists map 2 chromosomes

By MALCOLM RITTER AP Science Writer

NEW YORK - Scientists have made the most complete maps yet of individual human chromosomes, another advance in an ambitious effort to figure out the body's genetic blueprint and someday find the causes of many diseases.

The researchers inapped out the most significant portion of the Y chromosome, which makes fetuses develop as males, and of chromosome 21, which is linked to such diseases as Down syndome and some cases of Alsheimer's

Such maps help scientists isolate new genes for analysis, and experts said the significance of the new work goes beyond the two chromosomes studied.

The work shows that "useful detailed maps can be generated

HEATHROW - It's

Paintings decorate tent walls and easels. Jewel-ry-laden tables beckon. Art sculpted from warm woods and smooth stones takes form. The sixth annual Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts is here.

The works of about 300 ertists are to be unveiled on nature's stage October 3 and 4 at the L&L Acres Ranch, 50 acres of gently rolling hills adjoining a picturesque lake near the Lake Mary exit of I-4. Works from about 1,000 students will also be displayed.

"It's a county event that counts for a lot," festival chairman Joanne Lucas said.

All proceeds support a scholarship fund for Seminole county high school and community college students.

Competing artists from around the country will vie for $15,000 in prizes.

"We're excited about some of the new things this year," vice chairman DeLores Lash said.

Lash, also chairman of the Children's Tents and the Children's Tents and Entertainment, said all participating Seminole County students will re-ceive a certificate for their endeavors. Four secondary students will receive cash awards, first place $200 and three awards of $100. Fine Arts coordinator for the school system, John Blair, will organize the student exhibit again this

NOW YOU CAN FIND LIBERTY IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD. (WELL, ALMOST)

Liberty Mutual Insurance is now open in Lake Mary.

That's right, because at Liberty, we care about people like you. And we're moving even closer so that you loo, can get the same personal attention and prompt claims handling that more and more Americans have been enjoying for years.

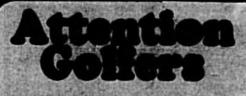

Call your Liberty Mutual representative, Phillip L. Keller, and ask about the wide range of money-saving programs designed to suit your auto, home, life and business insurance needs.

We think you'll believe in Liberty as much as we believe in you.

Watercolorist acclaimed

By Dis. Problems Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Edgar Barnett says he's been painting for 20 years, but not all that time was spent creating work in his favorite medium. In fact, Barnett began painting in oils, pastels and acrylics, and didn't know what his favorite medium was until friends and family encouraged him to try watercolors.

watercolors.
"I had an aunt who was a watercolorist, and she encouraged me to get into watercolor painting," he said.

Barnett did so, and liked the effect watercolor gives, which he said can't be gained with other mediums.

His watercolor art has won him acclaim over the past few years, and allowed him to take a best-in-show in the watercolor category in at least two competitions, and gained him several See Barnett, Page 19

Fine performances by both women have ensured success for the vehicles in which they play starring roles.

Lucas, former director of Corporate Cash Management, manager of Finance and Controller for Alton Computer Systems in California, is a Heathrow resident along with husband, Larry. She takes great pride in what a small group of people can accomplish, whether they are company employees or members of the board for the festival.

"The festival has many positive attributes, including the dedicated board of directors and the two vice chairmen, Delores Lash and Terry Pyle. All have worked diligently to insure the success of the festival. The enthusiasm and energy they have Lucas is especially excited about the expanded involvement of communities other than Lake Mary and Heathrow.

"This year's festival is expected to outshine all past shows with the tremenous support received from a broad spectrum of business and individuals. We ar proud that all the five chambers of Seminole County are supporting us this year. They are manning the gates and have advertised for us in all the chamber media."

Lucas is a firm believer in the power of education. She holds a bachelor of Gee Lucas, Page 17

Heated Correspondent

Bettye Reages of Lake Mary is an old hand at art shows, but her husband, Don, just took up the gauntiet a brief three years ago, one said. Nevertheless, he's won best in show and has received an award in eight of the last nime competitions he entered.

"I've never seen anybody do as well as he's done in such a short time span," she said.

The couple will participate in about 20 shows this year, they estimate, beginning with the art show at Heathrow in October. About 70 percent of those shows require them to travel out of town, which is. Bettye said, "the part she really enjoys — staying in motels and eating out ion't inexpensive, however, so it's a good thing the couple's artworks are in pretty good desmand. Bettye recetly sold one of her paintings to the Mattland Gallery for their show, and Don said he estimates 90 percent of Sambrd residents have at least one of her paintings standing in their homes.

Although they share a booth and set up together for shows, they work in completely different mediums. Bettye's been painting in the pastel medium for about 15 years, she said. Pastel is a medium, such as oil or acrylics, which comes in stick form and resembles chalk, but Bettye said

It's nothing like chalk to work with. A painting, she said, can take her as long as a week to complete and she does only original artwork.

My paintings are one of a kind," she said. "I don't do prints, and there'll never be another one like it."

Her subjects are usually historical settings of the local area, she said, but she gives them a different perspective by working in modern colors.

Don works in wood, spending weekends searching out unique pieces weekends searching out unique pieces of Plorida woods which he then turns on a wood-turning lathe of his own

"They're either functional or non-functional," he said, such as a bowl or simply a piece you'd put in your living room and admire it.

"Going out with a chainsaw and trailer to hunt wood is very time-consuming, and I don't take any pieces of plain wood," Don said. "I look for very unique pieces — pieces with a lot of character."

The couple admits that making a sale is exhibitating, as it confirms their talent, but the love of art motivates them for more heavily than any profit they might realise. That, and the joy of pursuing an interest as a couple.

"So for, we're able to pay for our habit and we're having a ball," Bettye said, and Don added that they have a mutual interest in one another's work and encourage and support one another's efforts.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Altamonte Springs artist, Jo Ann M. Garcia, is participating in her first-ever art festival with the Lake Mary/Heathrow Festival of the Arts on October 3 and 4. She will be exhibiting monotypes, a process where she paints on plastic and plastic templates which is then passed through an etching press and transferred onto paper.

"I think that I've had a history of placing my artwork in galleries and some of the better hotels, including Walt Disney Resorts, and that may be why I was included for the first time."

she said.

Garcia will show about seven large. framed pieces and will also have a stock of unframed work available at the L&L Acres Ranch over the two day event. Her prices range anywhere from $50 to as much as $800, she said, but an $800 piece would not only be about 24 by 36 inches, but would be done with pearlescent pigments on 100 percent rag paper. Once completed, Garcia goes back to them and does cutwork and goldleafing on them.

Garcia has been a full-time artist and maintains her own studio and printmaking shop, working with de-signers on commissioner pieces. She designs and executes her own original etchings and constantly develops new techniques and paints for her monotypes.

Garcia's works have been used to decorate fine hotels such as Disney World Resorts, the Chicago Hyatt. LAX Hilton, The Spa Hotel and the Riviera Country Club.

She sold her first etching in 1978, and never looked back.

Pyle: Festival is grandparents are welbetter than ever

HEATHROW — Terry Pyle, vice chairman of the Lake Mary Heathrow Festival of the Arts, said this year has been a tough year to try and raise funds but the festival will not only go on - Pyle predicts it will be better than ever.

This year's theme is "A Country Event That Counts For A Lot" and Pyle is making the slogan stick with some new and improved additions, not the least of which is a new food vendor which he said will do more than offer a more varied fare, such as yogurt. tropical punch drinks and Caesar's saind. The best thing about that change, he said, is that this year's fare will be more affordable for attendees.

Those who come out to the Festival on October 3 and 4. which will be held at L&L Acres Ranch, will find 50 acres of varied artworks on view and for sale. and will be pleasantly surprised to find free parking. □See Pyle, Page 26

The partnership be-tween kids and teachers is important, Lash feels.

"As the chairman of the children's art activities I wanted to promote something educational and fun for the kids this to a donation made by year to help motivate them to come out and meet the art teachers and participate in hands on art," she said.

Lash said she never questioned her participation nor the amount of work she might have to do to make the festival a success. She believes in what the festival stands for and is thrilled to be a part of it.

"Art lovers and browsers alike are in for a treat. What awaits people is a healthy, clean and educational environment for our young people as well as all festival attendees from Central Florida."

A great festival.

SANFORD — In a small, tidy workshop that once served as a one-car garage, David Renfro pulls wizards, dragons, marine mammals and musical amphibians from ceramic clay.

He is preparing to show his works at the Lake Mary-Heathrow Féstival of the Arts.

Renfro, 40, until two weeks ago was a full-time construction worker for the City of Sanford, who created works of art in his spare time.

Now, he is a full-time artist.

The transition was easier than he had expected it to be.

Following a heart attack last year, he decided that he did not want to put up with the stress at work any more and he and his wife Debra agreed that he should retire and devote himself completely to his art work.

"Sometimes your health is more important than a paycheck," he said.

Renfro said he has been interested in art since he was a child. He never considered it as a career, however.

"I took a couple of art history kinds of classes at Seminole High and at Seminole Junior College (now Seminole Community College)," he said.

nity College)," he said.
Soon after leaving SJC
he married and started a family.

"I had to go out and get work." he said. "There was no room to try and do this full time. I had to get a paycheck."

In the early 1980s he left the construction business for about five years to work as an animal handler at the Central Florida Zoo.

In addition to caring for the elephant, he was also in charge of the otter show.

Still his art remained a hobby and when he married eight years ago he returned to construction work.

Everyone knows that S.O.D.A. "Pops" are a treat.

Named for their studio which is the School of Dance Arts, these Performers on Parade will be presenting an hour special called "There's No Business," at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

During the special, Miriam & Valerie's S.O.D.A. "Popa" will combine the skills of their 60 member group to bring to the big stage an entertaining mixture of ballet, tap, jazz, and musical theater.

The talented troupe is renown both regionally and nationally for successfully bringing home firt place and gold awards to their Sanford, Lake Mary and Orange City studios.

The opening number is the same rousing routine which will soon open the shows of the Florida Dance Masters preprofessional dance group "Main Attraction." Having been commissioned to chorsograph for the group of Florida dancers. Itiriam & Valerie naturally "set" the number on their own S.O.D.A. "Pops."

The award winning dence group will perform.

The closing song and dance, 'Kida.'' performed by dancing Moms and children, received special recognition as "the most entertaining" at the National American Dance Spectrum this summer.

These S.O.D.A. "Pops" are low in calories, high in energy and served up especially for you! Be on hand at 3 p.m. on Sunday to give them a hand and to find out why "There's No Business Like Show Business!"

Renfro said he was pleased to be selected as one of the exhibitors at the Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts.

"It's a big show and I'm glad to be a part of it so soon after after starting to do this full time." Renfro said.

He said that he always worked with concrete while doing construction. He said he has thought about that as a medium of expression.

"I can't figure out how I can do that," he said. "But I'll do something with it in the future."

Although there is a minimum $1 entry fee to the festival. children under five years of age are admitted free. Pyle has been involved with the Festival for four years in various capacities, and said the Festival is primarily pulled together by 17 chairpersons who head up committees oversee-ing everything from se-curity to entertainment, of which there will be a day-full. Professional and amateur singers, dancers. chorale groups, etc., will entertain through the two day event, which will run from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. both days.

In order to attract exhibitors. Pyle said each year the Festival issues about 8,000 invitations to artists from across the U.S., and gets about a 10 percent acceptance. From that number. participants are whittled down to between 250 and 300 artists who exhibit everything from glasswork to painting.

There is a secondary art show with art which comes from local school students, and both shows are judged, with monetary and certificate recognitions awarded.
"We distribute all the funds we take in by way of scholarships to Seminole County students, and we expect that will be about $15,000 this year," Pyle said.

Exhibitors who win either a best in category or overall best in show also receive a cash award.

The Festival was recognized in 1987 as the largest single event ever held in Seminole County's history, and Pyle said it's gotten larger every year.

And he said he can't forget the seifless volunteers who make it happen. Without them. organizers agree, the festival wouldn't.

"It takes about 400 volunteers to put this event on, and including those volunteers, we'll have a crowd at the Festival over the two-day event," he said.

Distinguished Florida professor judges work

Herald Correspondent

University of South Florida Professor of Art George Pappas is one of two distinguished judges who will select artists to share in the $15,000 in prize money to be awarded this year at the Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts.

Pappas has exhibited in numerous one-man shows, including those at Penn State University. Purdue University the Decordova Museum in Lincoln, Mass., and Orlando's Loch Haven Art Center and Ruth Eckerd Hall Gallery in Clearwater.

Pappas has been involved in almost 70 maor exhibitions across the country, for which he has won numerous awards and recognition.

His work is held in prestigious public collections such as the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. and McDonald Corporation in Chicago.
