Altamonte's Firemen Wary Of 436 Traffic

The traffic situation in Altamonte Springs has become so hazardous on SR 436 and Longwood Avenue the municipal fire trucks are experiencing difficulty in answering alarms and are being delayed by as much as four minutes. The trucks are unable to reach the intersection and Chief Gary Kaiser admonished City Council at a meeting yesterday for the trucks to enter the oncoming lanes in tantamount to "suicide."

For Altamonte Anti-Pollution $304,000 Grant OK'd

By MARION BETHA
The city of Altamonte Springs has been recommended to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration for a grant of $304,000 in connection for sewer facilities for the municipality. The project was stated by the State of Florida Department of Air and Water Pollution Control as having conformed with the water pollution control plan of the state and is listed as No. 31 on the department's priority recommendations for the fiscal year 1970.

Phase I and Phase II documents have been submitted to the federal agency, and cover collection and pumping facilities for two separate geographic areas. The treatment plant plans cover initial construction of an aeration lagoon system called Phase I. The Phase I lagoon facilities are now under construction.

Construction of the permanent treatment facility and all of Phase II is expected to begin in 45 days. The Phase I plant will be incorporated into the overall Phase II plant as part of the polluting pond system. The federal agency was asked to consider Phase I reimbursement and Phase II conventional PL-600 grant. The state agency recommended that the municipality be considered for a 10 per cent bonus for conforming to wide area planning.

Notification of the project approval is the culmination of a dream of six years by Altamonte Springs Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford. When the letter of approval was read to a meeting of city council yesterday, consulting Engineer Harold Radcliff stated the record should reflect "let's do it."

Swafford quipped "yes, but the proper ones are not here."

Swafford commended that the municipality does not intend to raise taxes but will "make the system pay for itself." He was understandably elated and remarked that the dream "was about to come true in spite of a lot of people who thought it wouldn't work." In answer to Radcliff's statement of "we told you so" Swafford replied tongue in cheek, "Let's let the press tell them."

A bond ordinance for sewer construction was placed on first reading at the meeting, and Swafford asked Gundy if he were fatigued to which Gundy exclaimed, "Gosh no, I've been waiting for this moment for six years, too."

NEW PROTECTION PLAN
HELPING HAND poster proposed for use in a county program to protect school children is shown to Mrs. Howard Jett and daughter Kristi, a pupil at Casseberry Elementary School, by Chief Deputy Duane Harrell of the Sheriff's Department.

'Helping Hand Homes' Aimed To Aid Children

By JANE CASSELLBERY
Chief Sheriff's Deputy Duane Harrell, who has been put in charge by Sheriff John Polk of a crash program to protect school children, hopes to have 500 volunteers for the protection of school children, in the county designated as "Helping Hands Homes," he told the Casseberry Elementary School Council of Teachers and Parents last night.

The recent rash of rapes and sexual molestations perpetrated against Seminole County children has led to the urgency of establishing some such program. Harrell stated that there are 810 cases of attempted child molesting reported each month in this county with authorities estimating many more cases go unreported.

"We have this problem now and it is not going to get any better with the influx of new people anticipated with the opening of Disney World," he warned. Orange and Osceola Counties are presently experiencing an increase in this type of crime he added.

The "Helping Hands" program, which was used in California, will be adopted to suit needs here. Harrell told the group of concerned parents and teachers. He hopes to get the program underway within the next two weeks, if possible and

Police Chief Job In Air

By TOM ALEXANDER
Donald Stanley, Mayor Curtis Blow's nominee to replace Casseberry Police Chief Donald Brumley, told The Herald this morning via phone from Safety Harbor, where he is presently police chief, that he was totally "unaware of the police chief situation in Casseberry."

Stanley said that he did not know any of the circumstances surrounding the mayor's intended replacement of Brumley and that he now is going to investigate before he would accept the controversial job.

Stanley told The Herald, in an exclusive interview, that he had been told by former Casseberry Police Chief James McCall, who is presently in a law enforcement capacity in West Florida, that there was an opening for police chief in Casseberry and that he simply requested an application and submitted it to Blow for the job.

McCall was fired on Jan. 12, 1969, by Blow. A Herald story published on Jan. 14, the following day, gave the following reasons for McCall's non-reappointment by Blow. Quoting from the story, "Blow made it clear to citizens attending the council meeting that he would not publicly divulge his reasons for not reappointing McCall. He did tell residents, however, that he would discuss the matter with them individually if they would have the former chief with them in his office for the discussion."

According to The Herald story, "Last year, Mayor Blow had a continuing fight all year over Chief McCall. The council insisted McCall should be replaced while the mayor insisted on his authority to name the head of the police department."

"During the period, Blow told The Herald on numerous occasions he was battling for the principle that the mayor under the charter has authority over the police department. He made it clear several times that he was not fighting for an individual but for a principle."

Blow has not yet divulged any charges against Brumley. The circumstances pertaining to Brumley's not being reappointed appear to be similar to the McCall situation, according to the mayor's statements, only this time the council and apparently the citizens are pleased with Brumley's performance and want him retained as chief.

County Aide Is Viewed

Employment of an administrative aide was envisioned by Seminole County commissioners as enabling the board to do a considerably better job in the area as a result of the aide possibly effecting most of the "leg work."

Commissioners discussed contacting Gody and Brown job classification service in the matter. Commissioner Robert Parker suggested a county manager and that Harlan Hanson, Gordon Wagner and George Harfman be consulted.

Commissioner Greg Drummond stated that he couldn't see how the county planned to salary a manager if it couldn't pay a planner.

Chairman John Alexander contended that Wagner, Hanson and Harfman were not involved in administrative planning but in relation to land use planning, and that consultation with them would be "out of their league."

Alexander mentioned the administrative aide position as being a lucrative one with a salary of $12,000-15,000 per annum. Alexander further recommended that the board consider the position within the next two weeks.

Blow has not yet divulged

L. F. O'Brien Accepts Chair

Top Demo Pro Heads Party

By WALTER R. MEARS
 AT Political Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, the premier professional of the Democratic party, is headed for a return performance as the chairman of the choice of a consensus, not a spoiler.

The credentials as a political prospector are the virtually indispensable man to a party in desperate need of management — a man who has not only a mandate, but who has not available. And he has clearly won in Hubert H. Humphrey's original invitation to assume the chairmanship of the left-leaning 14 months ago.

Until a cross-section of party leaders voted unanimously to ask him back did O'Brien reverse his earlier refusal and agree to return to party headship.

The Democratic National Committee is expected Thursday to overwhelmingly ratify the O'Brien draft fashioned by its executive committee after weary hours of stalemate over other and lesser-known candidates.

O'Brien, 62, accepted no salary during his earlier term as chairman and, presumably, will serve on the same basis now, drawing his income from his New York public relations firm.

"The Democrats finally settled on O'Brien because they had no one else available with the experience and the contacts he has fashioned during more than 30 years in politics.

"The best elections man in the business," the late President John F. Kennedy called O'Brien, who served as director of his Senate and White House

GIs Growing In Laos?

EDITORS NOTE: Robert Kayler, a paratrooper veteran, has covered both the Vietnam War and the "secret war" in Laos. In the following dispatch he examines in detail the role of the U.S. adviser in Laos.

UPI-New York

By ROBERT KAYLER
 VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — It was early morning. A sandy-haired young man in faded blue jeans and a sports shirt sat on a bench in the Air America terminal, waiting for his flight.

He looked almost like the guy next door back in the United States. The only giveaway were his short haircut and his green and black jungle boots, normally not visible in a country that is technically neutral and where U.S. military involvement is not openly admitted.

Of a total of about 830 persons that the U.S. mission acknowledges as employed by the U.S. government in Laos, about 80 or so are military personnel, working for the U.S. Army and Air Force attaché just west of the city. What his plan was ready to leave he said, George, picked up a military B4 suitcase, and left.

That encounter took place some months back, before the current Communist offensive in Laos. Lao military sources say that nothing has changed in the intervening months and that there are other Americans like the one at the terminal.

They are part of a complicated infrastructure that has been built to prop up a Laotian defense establishment that Lao and American officials agree would long ago have collapsed without their help.

Part of the infrastructure is visible on the surface in the capital of Vientiane. Part of it, like the American in blue jeans and jungle boots, normally is not visible in a country that is technically neutral and where U.S. military involvement is not openly admitted.

In Laos, the hub of the system is at Long Cheng, where Yang Pao's army of Lao and American advisers, training and support teams, going far beyond their mission in Laos. It cuts across the border between Thailand and Laos. Some of its members have civilian status and some are military on tours of temporary duty in Laos.

New Approach To Education Urged By President

By FRANK CORMIER
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring that "American education is in urgent need of reform," President Nixon asked Congress to set up a new agency to conduct research and experimentation in that field.

In a special message, Nixon said the country needs a searching reexamination of our entire approach to learning.

He said: "We must stop pretending that we understand the mystery of the learning process or that we are significantly applying science and technology to the techniques of teaching when we spend less than one-half of 1 per cent of our educational budget on research, compared with 1 per cent of our health budget and 10 per cent of defense."

To spearhead an expanded research effort, Nixon called for creation of a National Institute of Education within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The NIE eventually would take over existing research programs from the Office of Education.

Noting that his budget for the 1971 fiscal year that starts July 1 calls for $112 million for educational research—an increase of $9 million—Nixon said he expects to carry out the work of the institute, he proposes would be in addition to that.

The message puts no dollar figure on the overall cost of operating the institute.

In other areas, Nixon said he was establishing by executive order a President's Commission on School Finance with a two-year lifetime, to develop recommendations on the fiscal and organizational needs of both public and private schools in the United States.

"Because we have neglected to plan for the future, we have a serious financial uncertainty in the financial structure of education."

Nixon's Quick Effective Action Applauded

Editorial Comment

Herewith we doff our hat, bow towards the White House and express our appreciation for the quick, effective and very human steps taken by President Nixon in the matter of the visit here by President Georges Pompidou of France.

The President of the United States showed last week in his first overseas trip to Europe his deep concern about our relationship with our historic ally, France.

The very important and very well-informed and the very intelligent President Pompidou had allowed this important rapprochement to be foundering.

The decision of the French president to sell the French Mirage airplanes to the Arab state of Libya sparked loud and violent demonstrations by those who saw this sale as a threat to the State of Israel.

Indeed, what had started out as a story plus event in the diplomatic life of France, here in the United States it was expected that the days spent in the United States by such a highly sophisticated French gentleman as Georges Pompidou and his lovely, charming and style-setting lady might include the sort of elbow-rubbing which would need good manners to accompany without grave, almost insulting results.

Timing of the Pompidou visit was obviously ill-advantaged. For the continual crisis in the Middle East with Arab and Israeli tempers at the flash point, provided a background of deep resentment by the large Jewish population of what they saw as a total alignment of France with the Arab side.

That he has done so is most apparent. Take, as an example, the felicitous choice of words which was made when the American Chief of State told of welcoming the French Chief of State as an "official friend" and his happiness to now see that President Pompidou would leave the United States as his (Nixon's) "personal friend."

It was to be expected that the days spent in the United States by such a highly sophisticated French gentleman as Georges Pompidou and his lovely, charming and style-setting lady might include the sort of elbow-rubbing which would need good manners to accompany without grave, almost insulting results.

Press License?

It was only a suggestion that Dr. W. Walter Meminger made last week, but it is likely to remain only a suggestion. Still, it does raise doubts over the competency of the press, aside from the doubtful constitutionality of such a move.

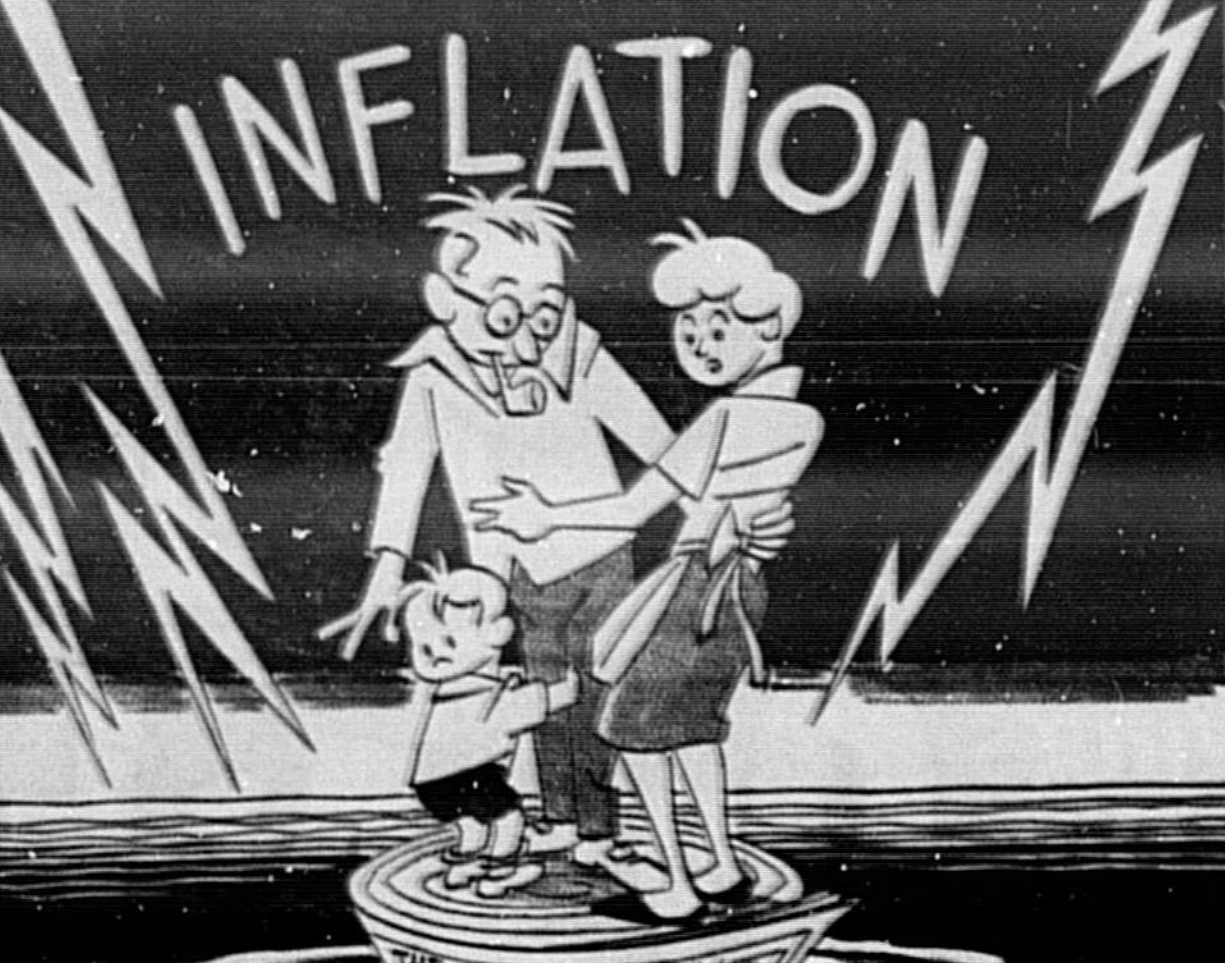

Dr. Meminger, a member of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence as well as a noted psychiatrist, was probably brought to his suggestion by the quality of news items which he believes is unable to put events in their proper perspective, that the public is often misled by news.

This seems to be his most well-taken point, but it does also seem to indirectly insult the intelligence of the public which, on the whole, has much more judgment than to believe that one image mirrors an entire picture.

As far as weeding out "individuals who are totally inept" by licensing, a license has never been a guarantee of perfection. Moreover, in a vast majority of cases, competency in its own regard in the news profession. An incompetent newsman would only be given responsibility by a firm which would have to live with the results.

The press is certainly no spotless business, and it does tend to cry aloud when struck by a critic. It is its own fault, and its own responsibility. But licensing is one of the more ridiculous suggestions of our rather insane times. Who's going to keep an eye on city hall or the federal government? It is in the hands of the press, promised by having such bodies in control of the licenses — Savannah (Ga.) Morning News

Editor, Herald: I thought you were out of line in your comments in your column last night concerning Governor Kirk. News media and representatives have a right to defend themselves if they feel it is necessary. Extra Inning Thriller

The Seminole Junior College baseball team yesterday, but they only got credit with one win. It was a marathon event that saw the Raiders and the Tribe battle it out in the top of the 14th inning. Bill Dancy, collected a one-out triple and raced home on a ground out by Steve White, and the Junior College Panthers down 3-2 in the bottom of the inning to gain the win.

Strikes And Spares

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Here's the line-up for this weekend, folks... It's the Annual Sanford Men's Bowling Association Tournament with more than 20 teams competing this Saturday, and the Doubles/Singles competition slated the following day, on Sunday.

According to co-tournament managers Pete Duggan and Tom MacLary, the team squads times are 3, 4 and 8 p.m. while the Doubles/Singles on Sunday are at 1 and 3 p.m.

Here again, the invitation is extended to everyone to come out and cheer for your favorite (if you have one) or simply be our guest to watch the proceedings and maybe pick up a pointer or two to improve your own game.

Speaking of tournaments, another one which is very popular will be coming at you very shortly... The Adolph Youngster combination. We'll cool it for a week or so after the men have tucked away all their prizes and trophies and then get all the facts to you. It's one which gives the adults a great bang... but to actually be fortunate enough for the first or second place team is something else, I'll give you.

Oh, and how could I possibly overlook the gals from Seminole High School resuming their in-school bowling classes again. Our thanks to June Winn, who was most cooperative and offered a great deal of assistance last year... the exact days of bowling will be announced during their physical education classes this week, with a primer for those who've never bowled before, too.

Darkis - Tearing 'em Up
There's no doubt who's the hottest woman bowler in Sanford right now... this year's Singles Champion Darkis Owens.

Netters Open
The Sanford Naval Academy Bluejackets open up their 1970 tennis season at Howey Academy this Friday in a Lake and Hills Conference match.

Watch Reggie Go
One of the most improved male bowlers in Sanford must be Reggie Sigmon, the popular young guy who takes quite a kidding about his "sizzling ball"...

LL Meets Seminole
The Seminole Little League will hold their weekly meeting tonight at the Lake Mary Fire House at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in the Seminole Little League program is invited to attend, but this meeting is especially for the Little League leaders living in Lake Mary and Sunland.

SJC, Seminoles Set For Action

The Seminole County basketball teams will attempt to become state and regional champs this weekend, and the Sanford Herald sports department will be on hand to cover all the action as the Seminole Junior College Raiders go to Lake City to defend their state championship, while the Fighting Seminole High Seminoles trek to Stuart for the regional tourney.

Seminole Junior College is no stranger to state tourney play, with this year marking their third straight trip to the state finals. The Raiders, ranked as the number three team in Florida behind Brevard and Lake City are the defending champions.

According to co-tournament managers Pete Duggan and Tom MacLary, the team squads times are 3, 4 and 8 p.m. while the Doubles/Singles on Sunday are at 1 and 3 p.m.

Cage Title Fever

SJC, Seminoles Set For Action

The starting lineup for this important Region II tournament battle will see Larry Kasrie, the greatest scorer in the history of the school, at the center slot. At the two forward positions will be Tommy Whigham and Bill Corso, with Brad Egan and Dana Yelnek in back up.

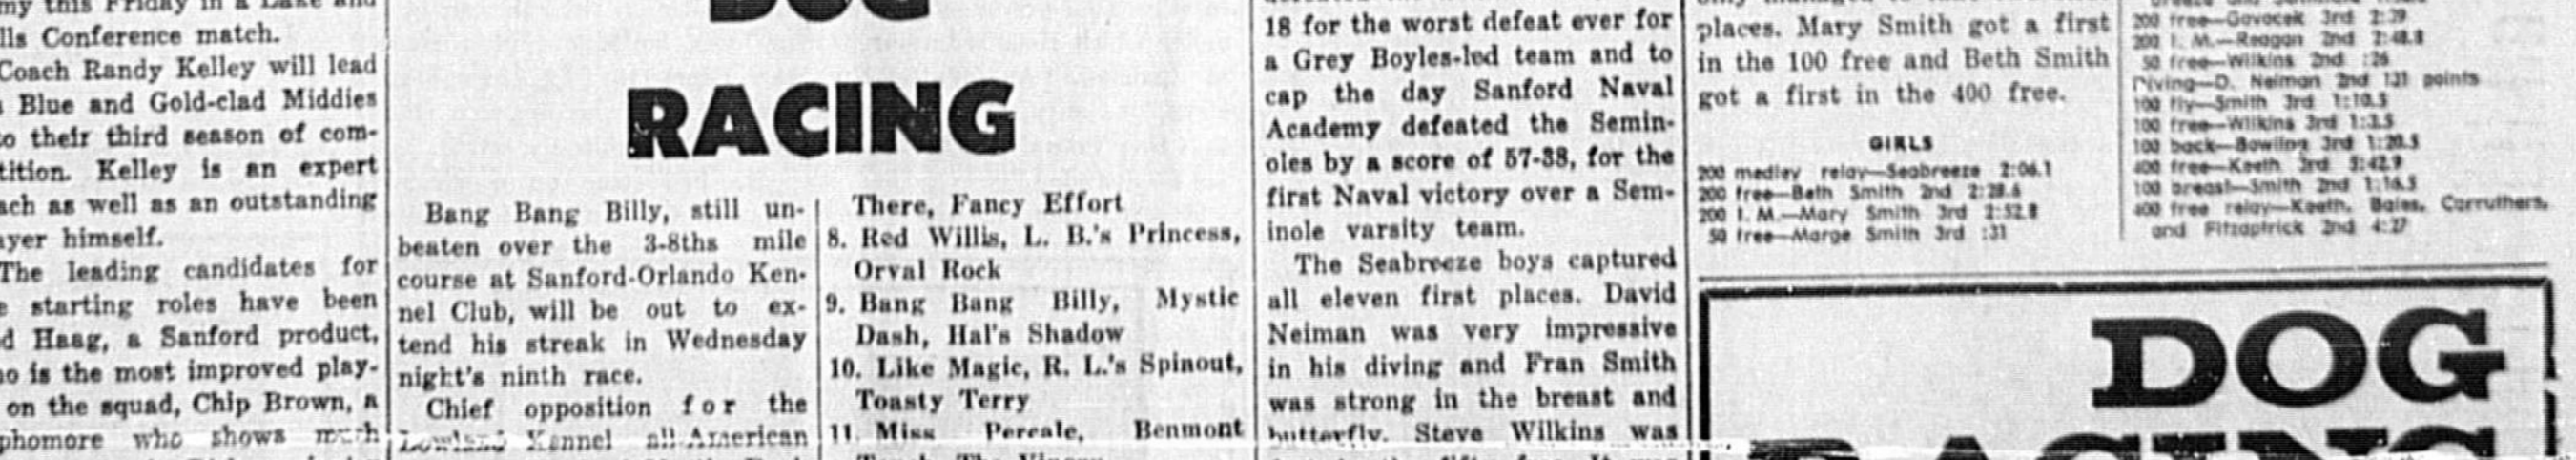

Starting at all important guard positions will be Bill Parker and Tommy Barke. Parker is a big defensive player, but also comes through in the important points on offense. Barke has been off on his shooting lately. But when he is hot, he dumps the big points in from the outside, posing a problem for any defense.

If the Seminoles survive their opening round matchup with the Palatka South five, they will likely meet the host, Martin County High, favored to win over the stubborn Leeburg Yellowjackets.

The Seminoles are now 19-7, and need only one more win to post the highest number of wins ever by a Seminole High team. This is also the highest number of wins ever achieved by a Joe Millard team.

It's now or never for the Seminoles as this is a single elimination tournament. Should the Tribe take the tournament, they will receive a berth in the state tournament in Jacksonville.

The following will coordinate to assure an exciting evening for all:

Following the presentation, the host and hostess served a simply sumptuous buffet dinner, featuring ham and turkey with dishes after dinner of cosmopolitan culinary combinations, including homemade lemon pies (delish!) made by our dear Charlie.

Family and friends from Sanford, Lake Mary, Deland, Daytona Beach, Eustis and Orlando enjoyed the buffet-dinner.

I actually felt guilty attending the dinner without a S.O.P. part of my wardrobe, my camera, that is, Charlie.

Incidentally, Dottie and Charlie celebrated their first wedding anniversary in February and have really feathered their love nest luxuriously since my last visit.

Now, Swing into Spring, with the American Home Department of Sanford Women's Club, at a Fashion Show, Tuesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m., at the club house.

On St. Patrick's Day, March 17, Sanford Garden Club is sponsoring a dinner at the club building with all circles participating in the planning and preparation.

Overall chairman is the president, JESSIE BRISSON.

Tickets for this one are so low that you can't afford to eat at home and small fry are welcome, with serving hours from 5-8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or through Garden Club members.

The menu will include ham, chicken, carrots and peas, macaroni and cheese, bean salad, apple crisp, rolls, tea, coffee and punch.

So from the looks of March, food, fun 'n' festivity will "wind" in, from all directions.

MIMOSA CIRCLE

The first of spring is in a basket at the corner store is a sure sign that spring has arrived. This is how most beginning gardeners make their first acquaintance with nature.

Plants always have been a great favorite. Their wide range of color, markings, forms and easy culture have been universally popular.

Daisies succeed best in fairly rich, well drained soil in a sunny position and produce their finest flowers in cool early days of spring.

The experienced gardener has discovered that the hardiest and most colorful plants are the ones he grows in shade.

Seed may be sown outdoors when soil has become warm. For early bloom start indoors in hot beds four to six weeks before your usual outdoor planting time. The seedlings will be up in about ten days. Growth is rapid and plants will soon be ready for transplanting.

With spring's arrival the plants put forth bright green leaves and are soon in bloom. These are sturdy well-rooted plants that need no coddling.

If the flowers are picked each week they will continue blooming through the summer and into early fall. Occasionally plants will live over the winter to bloom another year.

The only real hard part about growing plants is to remember to give them water. To remember your date for your favorite color or a mixture of colors for a bouquet of flowering stars.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have some friends who are about our age (middle-aged), who are very charming people. They entertain at home a lot, and we have always enjoyed their company.

They have suddenly started something new. They invite people over, and the evening's "entertainment" is to play some sort of game. These games are "brain games" and so on. It's sort of a "how smart are you" thing.

I am frank to admit that I don't care for this kind of evening because I am not as well informed as some of the others, and I don't like to be put on the spot that way. I have a few others who don't care for "brain games" either.

If I wanted to show how smart (or dumb) I was, I would go on a quiz show. What is your opinion of such games?

BOOBY PRIZE
DEAR BOOBY: They're wonderful for people who know all the answers and like the mental combat. But I think a host who would force an evening of "skull practice" on guests without being absolutely sure they were all eager to play, is inconsiderate. Next time, you (and the others who don't care for brain games) are asked to play, either speak the truth, or take the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: Some people can't resist the temptation to talk "shop" in this community lives a registered nurse who is such a person.

I recently attended a dinner party where this nurse was a guest. Regardless of what the conversation started out to be, this woman always managed to turn it to her profession. Then she'd tell some "amazing" little side stories about patients who were known to everyone in the company. Most of the time she'd talk about her wedding and she thought she was "entertaining." I thought she was disgusting.

To understand this nurse is very well trained and efficient in her field, but Abby, doesn't every nursing course include a lecture on "social graces" and common sense? IREKED

DEAR ABBY: Every nursing course includes a lecture on "social graces" and common sense? IREKED

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what you think of a 35-year-old married woman getting braces put on her teeth? My husband says it's up to me, but he doesn't think I need them. My parents think I see it clearly. Thank you for writing. (P.S. Many others felt the same as you. People are wonderful.)

DEAR ABBY: I'm a problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

DEAR MRS. M. J. C.: Now that you've had a problem, I see it clearly. Thank you for writing. (P.S. Many others felt the same as you. People are wonderful.)

Jacoby On Bridge

In today's hand South wasted no time ruffing a heart at trick two. Then he cashed a couple of trumps and stopped for a moment when West discarded on the second trump lead.

He had won the second trump in dummy and his partner was a low club toward his queen. East was careful to play the east and West even more careful to hold back his ace. West was on the lead club lead and gave his partner a club ruff. This left the defense with three tricks in and South still had to lose a diamond.

"Why couldn't you have just discarded a diamond at trick two?" roared North. "You had to lose it some time or other."

"Never thought of it," replied South. "The hand looked so easy. However, now that you mention it, I wouldn't have thought I'd had done that."

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M. 545: Olga P., aged 29, has been married five years. "Oh, Dr. Crane," she begged, "I need help with my marriage."

For my husband keeps accusing me of having an affair with his brother-in-law.

"And he expands his charges to include several other men of our acquaintance."

"But, Dr. Crane, I have NEVER been guilty of unfaithfulness!"

"And I have finally suggested that we go to a psychiatrist where I will take truth serum injections or submit to his detector test, just to make him quit his chronic accusations."

"But he will not do it."

"Yet he keeps on and on with his will charges about my sexual unfaithfulness till I am in tears and have even thought about suicide."

"Why will a husband persist in such false claims against his wife?"

You readers have read numerous cases where husbands have actually swapped wives for the night.

And I have explained the underlying sexual infidelity of such marriages, which react to the poverty factor and a new mate to help them function in the erotic realm."

Well, there are many husbands, like Olga's who indulge in imaginary wife swapping as a means of perking up their waning vigor."

This is what we call the "Fantasy Wife Swapping" strategy of men who are wanting in the erotic vigor."

Olga's husband has been envious of his brother-in-law, who has 7 children, while Olga and her mate have had none.

And Olga has expressed a desire for babies, so her husband has unconsciously evolved the idea that she might be thinking favorably of that brother-in-law.

Another factor also contributes to these false charges of sexual misconduct. For Olga has been less ardent than her mate had assumed his should be.

For he, too, has absorbed the erroneous notion that all women are wildly passionate.

This misconception has been fostered on Olga by his prostitutes all throughout his life.

For such paid paramours realize that a man is usually very sensitive in the realm of his sex ego.

So to win return patronage and also get a big tip, the prostitute puts on an act and makes their customer feel that he is thrilling them into a wild state of sexual orgy.

But it is not a clever act; and therefore retain an entirely false notion about a wife's erotic fervor.

Olga has married but causal in-law.

Olga has shown that causal in-law has often wounded her husband as she might not be disappointed in her excessive eroticism in clandestine affairs.

So he accuses her, for it is sweet music to his ears to hear Olga's tearful and sincere professions of her innocence.

He really knows she is a virtuous wife which is why he reacts to take her to a doctor for a "truth serum" session.

Wives like Olga should send for my medical booklet "How to Prevent a Phantom Marriage" enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20¢.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope and 20¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Polly's Printers

DEAR POLLY—We recently were put in the ground when we moved in the fall. They wintered over with a good mulch and in the spring we had a lovely garden at a minimum cost—FLOWER LOVE!

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J. G. should ask the bakery to put her bread in a bag. Put the bag with soil at a nursery and filled with down half-gallon milk containers, waxed paper cups, old containers from the nursery and margarine trays, and started a garden with seeds. This was certainly less expensive than buying flats of plants. I got some starts from friends and neighbors and even started some trees and bushes in cut-off bleach bottles. I planted only perennials so that they would come into their best growth the next year. My plants grew in their containers all summer and Polly in care of this newspaper.

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1970 GENERAL TRENDS

There is a considerable amount of confusion present today and tension in communications. Be sure you say or write exactly what you mean. Otherwise, you can give an entirely different impression than you have intended. Take some time out to think over that situation which has been puzzling you. But don't make a mistake!

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Although you intend to be with good pals, you find some new contacts change your plans and you get a little confused. Later, plan how you want your year to trend. Strengthen your will power.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)—If you do not adhere to every law and regulation that applies to you, you soon get into conflict with a higher-up who is important to your welfare. Buy some appliances that will make your routine work more efficient and easier. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Find some way to add to your knowledge even though a friend wants to keep you busy doing other things. Listen to the suggestions of wise individuals. These can lead to advancement in the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—There is conflict between some new venture and regular work. But try to get your time scheduled so you can handle both nicely. Don't listen to ideas of some new person you meet. They are not for you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Working harmoniously with associates is important now although you may not have some talent. See if you can't get support from one who is an expert in your line of endeavor. Be clever.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Keep busy at the work you are doing and don't permit that associate to delve into your family affairs for some specific reason. Have talks with co-workers and get work arrangements handled satisfactorily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Have a good time and forget those money worries for awhile; then you can be objectively and get them handled satisfactorily. Ask for advice from a clever business man. Relax this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Tend to the needs of your family this morning instead of delving into that new venture that needs more study. Find some item that can make your home more comfortable. Be kind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Find the right opportunities now that can make your life more interesting and affluent. Get out of that listless mood. Co-workers have good suggestions—heed and follow them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—You have fine organizational ability and should do your utmost to impress the right people. Steer clear of time-wasting such men, who concentrate on how to add to present income. Be wise, ethical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Personal aims should take precedence today to other goals, so get busy on those and be happier. You need to have more social life. This is the time to start. Get some relief from worries.

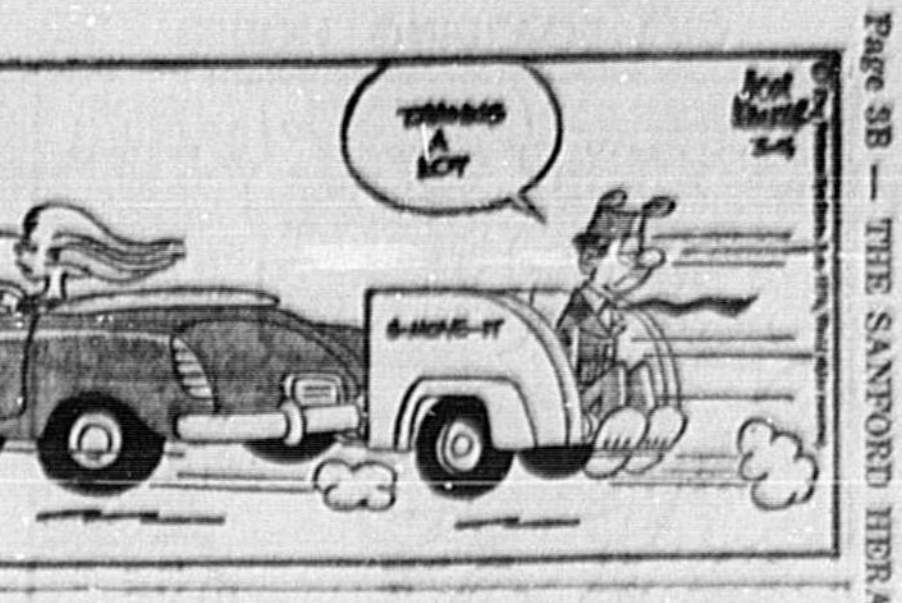

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Show allies that you appreciate them and do whatever will build up their ego, make them feel better. Show that they can trust you. Don't forget to save now for any taxes you may have to pay.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who needs modern outlets. Your progeny has wonderful new ideas to give to the world. Fine success can come through alliance with the government, or in some humanitarian work. Much brilliance here and a most forward-looking outlook on life. Give the child religious training early for best results.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Stortribs, Artichokes For Four

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Two couples can dine sumptuously on beef stortribs and artichokes. This dish takes a little doing but it can be prepared the day before serving.

One tip: soak the stortribs in cold water to cover the roasting pan and the baking-and-serving dish before they go in the oven; you can use foil to cover during refrigeration, use foil or transparent plastic wrap.

BEEF STORTRIBS WITH ARTICHOKE

4 pounds beef stortribs, cut into serving size pieces
 1/4 cup prepared mustard
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1/4 cup lemon juice
 1/2 cup salad oil
 1 clove garlic, crushed
 1/4 pound mushrooms sliced and cooked in 1/4 tablespoons butter
 Prepared Artichokes, see recipe below

1/4 tablespoons flour
 Place stortribs in a large shallow container. Stir together mustard, salt, sugar, chili powder, lemon juice, oil and garlic; spoon over ribs, marinate in refrigerator for several hours.

Arrange ribs on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Reserve marinade. Roast ribs, uncovered, in a preheated 425-degree oven until browned—about 30 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Discard fat in roasting pan and place ribs in pan without rack; spoon reserved marinade over ribs. Bake, covered, until tender one and a half to two hours.

Arrange stortribs in the center of a large shallow baking-and-serving dish and top with mushrooms. Arrange Prepared Artichokes, cavity side up, around meat. Cover and refrigerate.

Pour drippings in roasting pan into a small bowl; cover and chill so fat will come to top and harden.

Before serving, let meat, mushrooms and artichokes stand at room temperature. Discard all except about one tablespoon of hardened fat from drippings. Turn drippings and reserved fat into a two-cup measure; add enough boiling water to make 1 1/2 cups; pour into a saucepan.

Mix the flour with 1/4 cup cold water until smooth; add to drippings in saucepan; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened and boiling; pour over meat, mushrooms and artichokes; cover tightly. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until hot—30 to 40 minutes.

Make four servings.

PREPARED ARTICHOKE

With a sharp heavy knife cut off, straight across, 1 inch from top of four medium artichokes. Cut off stems. With kitchen scissors clip off thorny tips of leaves. Cut artichokes into quarters. Cook, covered, in boiling salted water to cover until tender—15 to 20 minutes; drain. With a teaspoon remove choke (thistle portion) and discard. Use as directed in Beef Stortribs with Artichokes recipe.

Peanut Soup From Old Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Bless Sara Tyson Rorer, the famous cooking-school teacher at the turn of the century. In one of her cookbooks, Mrs. Rorer included a recipe for a peanut-butter soup that works out as well today as when she concocted it.

It's not often a recipe as old as this one is easy to follow. But this one is, and it results in a creamy bouque-like soup of excellent flavor.

MRS. RORER'S CREAM OF PEANUT SOUP

1 quart (4 cups) milk
 1 cup creamy style peanut butter
 1 teaspoon finely grated onion
 1/4 teaspoon celery seed
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 bay leaf
 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 2 tablespoons water
 1/4 cup crostons

Into a three-quart saucepan pour the milk, peanut butter, onion, celery seed, salt, pepper and bay leaf. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is hot and peanut butter dispersed—about 10 minutes. Mix cornstarch and water until smooth. Stir into hot mixture; bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and boil one minute. Remove bay leaf.

For best consistency, serve with wire whisk or strain. Serve at once with crostons.

NOTE: If soup is thicker than you like, add milk and if necessary adjust the seasonings.

FLEMISH CARBONADES WITH WALNUTS

2 1/2 pounds beef (chuck, boned neck or thin flank)
 1/4 pound smoked ham hock
 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 pound onions sliced thin
 2 tablespoons flour
 12-oz. bottle or can beer
 1 can beef broth
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 teaspoons sugar
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 1 pinch each of marjoram, thyme and rosemary
 1 clove garlic minced
 2 carrots sliced into small chunks
 1/4 cup shelled walnuts
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 2 tablespoons Scotch whisky

Cut beef into strips about 3 inches long and 1 inch thick. Cut ham into half inch cubes. Brown beef and ham hock in oil in large skillet. When browned, lift meat from fat, sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt and set aside.

Brown onions in same oil. Lift from oil and place in separate dish. Set aside remaining oil, except about 2 tablespoons. Stir flour into oil in pan and make light brown roux. Gradually add beer and stir till mixture boils. Add broth, rest of salt, pepper, sugar, herbs and garlic.

Arrange alternate layers of meat, onions and carrots in a heavy casserole and add sauce. If needed, add more beer until meat is well covered. Cover casserole and cook in slow oven (300 degrees) for 2 1/2 hours, inspecting from time to time and adding more beer as needed.

Simmer walnuts in leftover oil, shaking pan occasionally till crisp. Pour over meat mixture. Just before serving add vinegar and Scotch. Good with ice-cold beer. (Serves six to eight persons.)

FAMILY DINNER

The robust sauce tastes melon-low over ice cream.

Meat loaf
 Baked Potatoes
 Creamed Spinach
 Sliced Vanilla Ice Cream with Taffy Sauce

1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
 1/4 cup light or dark molasses
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1-2nd cup water
 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
 1 tablespoon butter
 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk

Into a medium-size saucepan turn the sugar, molasses, salt, water and vinegar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves. Cook over moderate heat, without stirring, to 232 degrees on a candy thermometer or to softball stage—18 to 15 minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla; cool. Stir in evaporated milk. Serve warm or cold; sauce will still be a good consistency after refrigeration. Makes about one and a half cups.

True Tips To Beat Budget

By NIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As food prices rise, young marrieds find it increasingly difficult to make ends meet. There is no substitute for experience in learning how to plan meals to cut food bills, but the new homemaker may want to heed these tried and true tips for beating the budget:

1. Buy a good, old-fashioned (well-rounded with basic recipes) cookbook. It will be worth the investment.
2. If you have a freezer or freezer compartment in your refrigerator buy meat in quantity and freeze them. (do not take up a small amount of freezer space with items that cost only a few cents.)
3. Cut down on foods that aren't necessities—snacks, olives, cherries expensive prepared frozen foods. Some prepared dinners, however, are worth the price—particularly if two people work. You must decide. Fresh or canned foods may be less expensive than frozen foods, weight by weight.
4. Buy large quantities of sugar, flour, meat. You can repack these in plastic bags and store them. Bread, also, butter may be kept in the freezer. In some areas, you may save 25 cents on a gallon of milk by buying in bulk instead of by the quart.

There are many ways to cut the meat bill. Buy meat on sale for two or four weeks at a time. In the beginning this system may dent the food budget, but you will get ahead eventually.

If pork is on sale, buy a loin (or more) and have it cut into chops. Package the number of chops needed for each meal separately and put the extra packages in the freezer.

A leg of lamb cut in half, should make two Sunday meals. Or you might have one end cut into chops.

Buy stew meat in quantity. Your cookbook will provide any number of yummy dishes in which it can be used. Try it with tomatoes and peppers, with sour cream. In curry sauce, with vegetables. Divide it for future meals put it into plastic bags and store.

Enjoy the challenge of making less expensive cuts of meat taste good. Chuck steak may be marinated and pan-fried or broiled. A thick cut may be pot roasted. (Slow cooking is best for chuck.)

Chicken is one of the least costly main dishes, points out Muriel Benik, nutrition specialist at the University of Illinois.

She offers these pointers for selecting a chicken.

A whole chicken always costs less than cut-up sections, but many people prefer breasts and legs. The following price comparison will help you decide whether to buy chicken parts or the whole chicken.

If the whole chicken sells for 27 cents a pound, then chicken breasts are a good buy at 35 cents a pound, drumsticks at 33 cents a pound, wings at 21 cents a pound. If the whole chicken costs 45 cents a pound, the breasts are a good buy at 60 cents or less a pound, drumsticks 56 cents, wings at 36 cents a pound.

If the price per pound of the whole chicken is 35 cents, you can get equal value by paying 27 cents a pound for breasts, 46 cents a pound for drumsticks and 44 cents a pound for wings.

If you find it makes dollars and cents sense to buy the whole bird, use the less meaty parts for broth, in a casserole, in chicken pie or chicken curry.

One last bit of advice: If you've never before cut up your own chicken, ask your butcher if you can watch him do this chore. Otherwise, you can make a real mess.

Halibut Steak a la Greek

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Here's an interesting fish dish from Greek cuisine. Halibut steaks are baked in a savory tomato sauce with lots of vegetables. It's easy to prepare, and good to eat.

- GREEK-STYLE BAKED HALIBUT
- 3 pounds fresh or frozen halibut steak
- Salt and pepper
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 medium onions, sliced (about 1 1/2 cups)
- 1 1/2 cups diced celery
- 3 medium carrots, pared and sliced (about 1 cup)
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1 clove garlic, peeled and minced
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 cup dry or semi-sweet white wine

If halibut is frozen, thaw in refrigerator.

Sprinkle halibut with salt, pepper and lemon juice.

In a 15-inch skillet over low heat, heat the oil. Add onion, celery, carrots, parsley and garlic. Cook gently, stirring often, until onion is softened, 5 to 10 minutes. Add tomato sauce, wine, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Taste and adjust seasonings—you may want to add a suspicion of sugar.

Place about half the vegetable sauce in a shallow baking dish that will hold the halibut in a single layer. (We used a three-quart oblong glass baking dish—13 1/2 by 9 1/2 by 4 inches.) Arrange the halibut over the sauce. Spoon the remaining sauce over the fish.

Bake, uncovered, in a preheated 350-degree oven until fish is opaque when flaked with a fork—20 to 30 minutes.

Makes four healthy servings of fish with lots of sauce.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Not all the trials and tribulations at a drive-in movie take place on the screen. Sometimes, misfortune also befalls a member of the audience. If a patron does suffer an accidental injury, may he hold the management legally liable?

To begin with, the management has a basic duty to maintain the premises in safe and orderly condition. Take this case:

A drive-in had a special "KIDDY ZONE" where children could amuse themselves while their elders were watching the movie. On a roadway running alongside this zone debris of all kinds was allowed to accumulate. One evening, the tire of a passing car burst a bottle cap into the play area, striking a child in the eye.

In a court test, the theater was held liable for the child's injury. The judge pointed out that similar incidents in the past had given the management plenty of warning that the littered roadway was a source of danger.

Furthermore, the management is supposed to enforce prudent rules of safety. In another case, a theater made no effort to keep its patrons from sitting outside their cars on warm evenings. Yet it provided no lighting for the aisles—and no attendants to guide the incoming vehicles.

When a car struck a patron, sitting near an aisle, the theater was held responsible. The court said the way the place was run, it was "a stage setting for tragedy."

Still, some mishaps are not fairly blameable on the management. Thus:

A patron heading for the snack bar tried to walk through the narrow space between the parked car and a listening post. Bumping into the connecting cord, he knocked the speaker box against a woman seated inside the car, inflicting an injury on her head.

The hapless woman never could locate the walker. She decided to sue the theater instead, arguing that its arrangement of listening posts and connecting cords was a "dangerous condition."

However, the court held that the theater was no more at fault than she was. The judge said the management could reasonably assume that the average patron, knowing how a drive-in theater is set up, would have better sense than to walk into a cord.

Navy Wastes Billions On Torpedo, CBS Tells

NEW YORK (AP) — A new torpedo which the Navy had hoped to develop for $680 million is now two years behind schedule and the estimated total cost of the program is now $4 billion, CBS reports. (See Stafford Derby's lead editorial on this subject on page 4A today.)

The torpedo program was described by an unnamed Senate source as "one of the worst cases of weapons system development that could be found," the network reported Tuesday night.

Correspondent Mike Wallace, who narrated the story on the CBS News "60 Minutes" program, said the Mark-48 torpedo program seeks to develop a torpedo of increased range and speed to combat improved enemy submarines.

Ernest Fitzgerald, a former Pentagon efficiency expert who revealed cost overruns on the CSA airplane, described the torpedo program as "a classic case of cost escalation problems."

Dr. Robert Froese, a Navy spokesman, told Wallace, "We found ourselves in the situation with developmental torpedoes that were supposed to be making a certain test schedule began to fail in ways that indicated that a good deal of redesign and change was needed."

Urban Renewal To Be Considered

Urban Renewal for Sanford will receive attention at a night's scheduled 8 p.m. Zoning and Planning Commission meeting at city hall.

At least two agenda items pertaining to the reclamation project will be considered by the city agency charged with advisory duties to the City Commission in areas of zoning and planning.

The appointment of the firm will be studied to prepare a U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) application to receive a survey and planning grant for an urban renewal project.

A second item to be discussed is the selection of an area within the city to be designated as the Urban Renewal project area.

This information will be forwarded along with request for survey and project grant to the HUD office in Washington, D.C. by the beginning of the month.

If you would like, you must first give your address to the beginning of the month.

Signal Requests Deluge County

By MARION BETHEA

The old game of "one-two-three-red light" may well be the hallmark of Seminole County Commissioners who are deluged every week with requests and petitions for traffic signals.

At a meeting this week, residents in the area of Barney's Academy, Inc., petitioned for a signal at SR 436 and Howell Branch Road. Board Chairman John Alexander advised that the request to the Department of Transportation (DOT) had been initiated by the commission and was under study.

A letter also was received from the city of Longwood, requesting the DOT conduct a traffic study at SR 427 and SR 434, and that conditions at this intersection were of such a hazardous nature that a signal was warranted.

County Engineer William Bush was asked to conduct a cursory study of the area and report to the commission, although Commissioner Greg Drummond reflected that he could not see the expense of an extended study. Bush stated that the area met vehicular warrants at certain peak hours but that otherwise traffic was minimal.

A county resident complained to the commission regarding the Maitland Boulevard extension at SR 411 and SR 436, saying he was opposed to the extension which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

Drummond queried County Zoning Director Robert Brown concerning another complaint in which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

Three County Homes Looted By Burglars

Burglars were active again last night in Seminole County and at least three homes were entered and three television sets, a stereo and some clothing taken.

Mrs. Diane Metcalf, 10205 Acapulco Way, in Oakland Hills, near Forest City, reported to authorities that her home was entered and a color television set and a stereo was stolen.

Thieves entered through a rear door some time between 8-10 p.m., Mrs. Metcalf said.

A television set was removed from the home of Mrs. Stan Washburn at 713 Briarcliffe Avenue near Sanford.

A broken window was noted in the John A. Gielow home at 123 Variety Tree Circle in Spring Valley. Deputies report the lock was removed from the patio door but, thus far, nothing has been missed.

Police Chief Returns Gunfire

A midnight shooting between a Sanford policeman and a motorist has resulted in the wounding of a Sanford man.

Leo Peterson, 48, of 306 West 18th Street, is reported in "poor" condition today by Seminole Memorial Hospital spokesman after receiving a bullet hole in the left thigh from the pistol of Sgt. Charles Tate after a shoot-out on Mulberry Street early this morning.

Police Chief Ben Butler reported Peterson was wounded by Tate after the man, in a drunken stupor, refused to be arrested when approached by Sergeant Tate and attempted instead to shoot the officer with a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver.

Butler stated Peterson was hit in an exchange of seven shots, six by Tate and five by Peterson, after Peterson stopped his car near the William Clark Courts between Tenth and Eleventh Streets.

Butler related, "After Peterson stopped his car, Tate confronted him to make the arrest after first observing the man's car weaving along on Southwest Road."

"Peterson was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor but refused to get in the car with Tate, Butler advised. 'A woman who lives in the neighborhood and who knew Peterson came to the car and said she would try to talk the man into going peacefully with the officer,' the chief said.

"While the woman talked with Peterson, Tate went to his car and radioed for help in case the man continued to resist," Butler related.

"When Sergeant Tate turned again Peterson had gotten out of his car and fired two shots point blank at the policeman, missing both times. Tate immediately backed behind the patrol car as the man advanced firing a third time," Butler continued.

This brought a return shot from Tate, who had drawn his Magnum service revolver after the first shots from Peterson. The policeman's bullet struck Peterson in the thigh, causing the man to fall to a sitting position in the road, Butler added.

"While in this position, Peterson fired his two remaining shots from the five-shot pistol at Tate, with both slugs striking the patrol car," Butler commented. "At this point the policeman fired back five times in the darkness with all five shots missing."

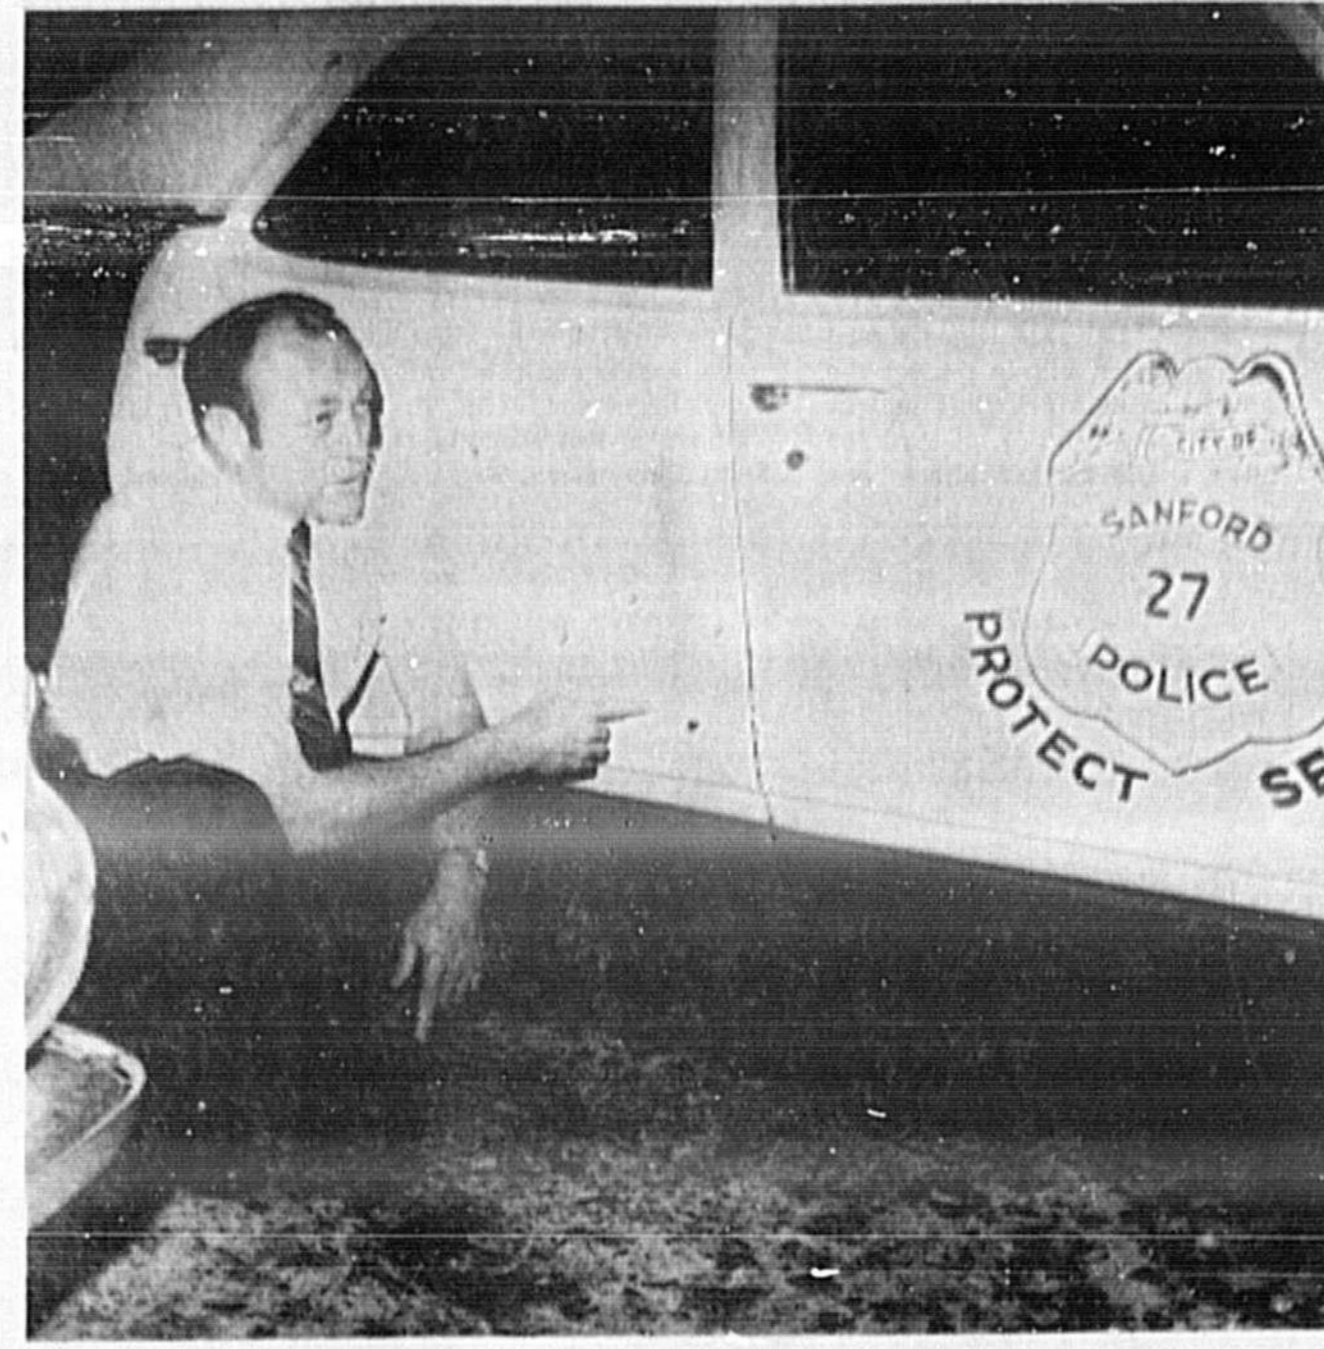

"Peterson was limp when Tate walked over to take away the man's gun, the chief continued."

Butler said a radio call from Tate brought an ambulance to the scene and Peterson was removed to the hospital where he received a three-hour operation before being placed in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Peterson had been arrested two weeks previous on two counts of destroying private property, Butler said. Authorities had charged him with slashing tires on a car belonging to a Goldobere area resident.

Chief Butler said assault with intent to murder charges are pending against Peterson and may be filed after a hearing today with Thomas Speer, assistant state attorney.

Signal Requests Deluge County

By MARION BETHEA

The old game of "one-two-three-red light" may well be the hallmark of Seminole County Commissioners who are deluged every week with requests and petitions for traffic signals.

At a meeting this week, residents in the area of Barney's Academy, Inc., petitioned for a signal at SR 436 and Howell Branch Road. Board Chairman John Alexander advised that the request to the Department of Transportation (DOT) had been initiated by the commission and was under study.

A letter also was received from the city of Longwood, requesting the DOT conduct a traffic study at SR 427 and SR 434, and that conditions at this intersection were of such a hazardous nature that a signal was warranted.

County Engineer William Bush was asked to conduct a cursory study of the area and report to the commission, although Commissioner Greg Drummond reflected that he could not see the expense of an extended study. Bush stated that the area met vehicular warrants at certain peak hours but that otherwise traffic was minimal.

A county resident complained to the commission regarding the Maitland Boulevard extension at SR 411 and SR 436, saying he was opposed to the extension which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

Drummond queried County Zoning Director Robert Brown concerning another complaint in which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

The appointment of the firm will be studied to prepare a U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) application to receive a survey and planning grant for an urban renewal project.

A second item to be discussed is the selection of an area within the city to be designated as the Urban Renewal project area.

This information will be forwarded along with request for survey and project grant to the HUD office in Washington, D.C. by the beginning of the month.

If you would like, you must first give your address to the beginning of the month.

Three County Homes Looted By Burglars

Burglars were active again last night in Seminole County and at least three homes were entered and three television sets, a stereo and some clothing taken.

Thieves entered through a rear door some time between 8-10 p.m., Mrs. Metcalf said.

A television set was removed from the home of Mrs. Stan Washburn at 713 Briarcliffe Avenue near Sanford.

A broken window was noted in the John A. Gielow home at 123 Variety Tree Circle in Spring Valley. Deputies report the lock was removed from the patio door but, thus far, nothing has been missed.
