Director resigns from sheriff's unit that fights juvenile crime

BY DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - David Smith, director of the juvenile crime-fighting unit of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, is resigning effective Jan. 14 because of personal reasons.

Smith was supervisor of the Department of Juvenile Crime Intervention and Enforcement for a year. Sheriff Don Eslinger said that Smith has been on leave and tendered the resignation on Wednesday, Jan. 7. "He has done a great job for us," Eslinger said this morning. "I hate to see him leave."

Chief Deputy Steve Harriett said that Smith, since starting with the Sheriff's Office, has been a major influence in putting together programs for juveniles such as the Juvenile Assessment Center, Operation Right Track, the Consequence Unit, etc. "He has assisted in making a solid foundation on which to enlarge and enhance our efforts (in helping juveniles)," Harriett said. "The Sheriff's Office has made tremendous strides with his leadership."

Smith has an extensive background in state law enforcement agencies and juvenile justice. Before coming to the Sheriff's Office, Smith was appointed to the position of Inspector general of the Department of Juvenile Justice by Secretary Calvin Ross in 1994. Before taking that office, Smith worked with Florida's Department of Corrections.

In a copy of his resignation letter, provided by the Sheriff's Office, Smith states, "I sincerely appreciate the level of confidence that you entrusted to me and am grateful for the opportunity to have made a difference in the quality of life for the citizens of Seminole County."

Airport officials hope to settle land dispute out of court

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Orlando Sanford Airport Authority is hoping to settle a lawsuit scheduled to go to trial in March, which has languished since 1994.

Based on the advice of airport attorney Steve Coover, board members this week voted to meet the demands of the property owners on a parcel the airport acquired four years ago as part of its new entrance road.

The two-acre parcel, known as the Troutman property, is part of a 10-acre tract partially consisting of wetlands, Coover said.

"The fire has been lit because of the trial date," Coover said. "Demands are being made by the property owners."

At issue is whether the airport paid a fair appraisal value based on the highest and best use of the site, Coover said. The initial appraisal valued the parcel at $10,000 an acre and the owners are asking for $20,000 to $30,000 an acre. There is also the question of compensation for the professionals involved, such as the attorneys and appraisers, he said.

"It would appear that our initial appraisal is flawed," he said, adding that there needs to be another appraisal.

Coover said through the legal advice of judges and attorneys it would be in the airport's best interest to settle the case to avoid costly litigation. The additional cost, he said, would be $65,000. Of that

Two American Bald Eagles near the nest at State Road 46.

Audubon members monitor eagle progress

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - A pair of American Bald Eagles have returned to their nest just west of State Road 415, at State Road 46.

Seminole Audubon Society chapter president Roger Grimshaw has been monitoring the nest situation since construction began on a community health facility adjacent to the nest on S.R. 415.

Grimshaw was concerned that the pair would be disturbed by the construction of the facility, which began late last year. The nesting season for eagles is between Oct. 1 and May 15. Individual pairs return to the same territory year after year. According to information gathered by Audubon's Eagle Watch, eagles are most vulnerable to disturbance in the first 12 weeks of the nesting period and this can lead to nest abandonment.

Bald Eagles often alternate between nests in a territory, but the report said that sites are used by the original pair or another pair as long as no habitat degradation occurs.

An eagle's territory is 750 to 1,500 feet in the primary zone around the nest and up to one

Zoo's Teen Team accepting applications

By MARY ROWELL
Herald Correspondent

January marks the third year of having a Teen Team at the Central Florida Zoological Park. The zoo will be taking applications between now and Jan. 30.

What is the Teen Team? The Teen Team, essentially, is junior docent volunteers. During a four week training program, teens learn about the themed discovery boxes in the zoo, so that they are knowledgeable enough to explain them to zoo visitors. They also learn about four different animals well enough to be able to educate zoo visitors about those animals.

The teens come in one Saturday a month to work at the zoo. They do one community involvement service project during the year. Last year, they participated in the St. John's River cleanup. They also do one fund-raiser for the zoo. The teens come up with the idea for the fund-raiser and vote on it. They are then responsible for coordinating and implementing the fund raiser. Last year, they did a car wash. To get their parents involved, they host a parents day every year. The parents get to come to the zoo for a buffet lunch and see what their teens have learned when the teens on a tour of the zoo.

Who can be on the Teen Team? Anyone age 13 to 15 can apply. Docent Volunteer Coordinator Terry Beigel wants this to be a real life lesson for the teens. The teens must fill out an application and be interviewed by Terry. The interview is conducted just like a formal business interview. Parents are then brought in and told about the pluses and minuses of the teens' interviewing skills. When they apply, they need three letters of reference, one from a parent, one from a teacher and one from another source. They should also write a paragraph that explains why they think they would be a good teaching volunteer. Those accepted must go through the four week training class and pass a test on what they have learned. They then work at the zoo from March through December.

Space is limited to 20 teens and there is a small fee. Teen Team members pay $20 to cover the costs of their training materials, zoo shirt and name badge.

If you would like a Teen Team application, pick one up at the zoo or call Terry Beigel at 323-4450, ext. 121 and she will mail you one. If Terry is not there, make sure you leave your name, address and phone number on her voice mail.

release, in 1980, at the age of 17, she spoke to the United Nations on Apartheid, thus realizing her oratorical gift. She is remembered by most as the five-year-old in a Pulitzer Prize photograph taken of her as she lay in her mother's lap during her father's funeral. As a child, she dreamed of becoming both a lawyer and a politician, but God had yet another road for her to travel. On March 27, 1988, she formally accepted "His call" by preaching a sermon at Ebenezer Baptist Church. She was ordained two years later in May of 1990. As cited by Ebony Magazine, "she is truly one of the 50 leaders of tomorrow."

The Rev. King holds a B.A. degree in psychology from Spelman College and on the morning of her ordination, she was not only awarded a master of Divinity degree, but also a doctorate of Law degree from Emory University. She has been honored with a doctor of Divinity degree from Wesley College.

Presently, she is the assistant pastor at Greater Rising Star Baptist Church in Atlanta, Georgia where she oversees the Youth and the Women's Ministry. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change. Although the Rev. King has received awards and recognition from various civic, religious, corporate and political organizations, she has not failed to realize that "to whom much is given, much is expected." As such, she devotes time mentoring pre-teenage and teenage girls.

Geoff Koach, president-elect for the Seminole County Prayer Breakfast and head of promotions for the event, commented, "We are very excited about this year's event. This will be the first female speaker that we've ever had. Last year Meadowlark Lemon was our guest speaker. We are so thrilled to be blessed with Rev. King this year. We feel that her appearance will assist in racial reconciliation for Sanford and Seminole County." He continued by saying, "In keeping with John:17 when Jeroring the humanitarian spirit of Dr. Thomas Frist, Jr., a founder of the Hospital Association of America that established the Sanford hospital.

The annual Frist awards honor individuals whose daily dedication and caregiving epitomize the highest standards of quality and personal commitment. Winners receive a check for $250 and the hospital gives another $250 to their designated charities.

Those attending Thursday's presentations were stumped when hospital CEO and president Doug Sills said that 87-year-old Frist had died Sunday at his home in Nashville, Tenn., and that Frist's wife, Cate, died Tuesday. "They were married 61 years, and now they are being buried together," Sills said.

Archer had met Dr. Frist, and recalled when he would come to the hospital to attend the award presentations. She said she was totally surprised to be the associate winner this year. "I love this hospital and working here," she said. "I feel very much at home."

"It's an overwhelming feeling to be given the Dr. Frist award," Archer said. She was joined Thursday by her husband, Lawrence, son, Travis and daughter, Nicole and two-year-old granddaughter, Angela. The Archers have been married 27 years.

Born in Carthage, N.Y., Archer came to Florida in 1979. She began her work at the Sanford hospital in April of 1980, working first in the emergency room. She's been in outpatient surgery, short stay surgery and the recovery room. She now serves as one of the charge nurses in out patient surgery.

"During hectic times Carol Archer has always kept things running smoothly and has been thanked by patients for her good care and kindness," Sills read from comments on the award ballots.

"She shows through her work an understanding that she truly cares for the patients and her co-workers."

Employee nominees are those who may be overshadowed because of their personal humility and modesty but whose day-to-day performance is dependable, consistent and people-oriented. Clearly, Archer's associates were pleased when her name was called.

The same genuine feeling and applause came when Back was given the volunteer award. She's been a familiar face at the hospital giving more than 13,000 volunteer hours. She was president of the Auxiliary from 1994-95.

"They used to call us pink ladies," she said. "But we have many men who volunteer their time as well. This has been going on three years or more. So we're not pink ladies anymore. We're Auxiliarians."

At 76, Back volunteers two or three days a week. She's often the first person others see when they enter the hospital.

"I've not thought about any rewards other than seeing people smile when we gave them tender loving care," Back said. "That was reward enough." Back, a widow without children, was joined by her sister, Mrs. Betty Joe Hallbig from Daytona.

Back is from Middleton, Ohio, and has lived in Florida since 1940. For 25 years she was a claims secretary for Guy & Taylor in Tampa and Orlando. Her husband, Randy Back, died from cancer in 1986. He was at the Sanford hospital for an extended stay.

"I feel very fortunate that I can help a little here," Back said. "I've found a little niche in life. I'm merely trying to give something that counts. My husband was so ill here and others did so much for him."

amount, $40,000 would be paid out to the Trautmans and the remainder would cover legal and appraisal fees.

"Litigation would cost more than $100,000," he said.

Coover said although most of the property lies in wetlands, the airport authority can't isolate the 2-acre portion from the tract. When the land was initially appraised principals questioned why the airport would pay top dollar for wetlands. In addition, he said, there is a legal question on the future use of the land and since most of the surrounding land appears to be designated for industrial use, that would put a different valuation on the Trautman property.

Concerned over whether the proposed deal could set a precedent, Coover said he has requested a confidential settlement.

"It also needs to be known that we're not paying too much for this parcel," he said.

Funding to cover the cost of the lawsuit could come from a Federal Aviation Administration grant, Coover said. He said airport director Steve Cooke had spoken with the FAA about reopening an existing grant previously designated for the entrance project. However, Coover said, the authority will have to pay the proposed settlement costs up front and hope to get the FAA grant money later.

Growing spiritually and numerically

SANFORD - Tony Black has been the minister for the Sanford Church of Christ, at 1500 S. Park Ave. In Sanford, for over nine and a half years now. His counseling background and extensive education has assisted the membership in growth both spiritually and numerically.

Tony Black

According to Black, the congregation has approximately 75 families or 165 members. The church has served the community with help for the hungry through its pantry program and opening its doors for weddings and funerals. This past summer the elders made a family weekend available to the city with a guest speaker from International Bible College in Florence, Alabama and various activities, including a hamburger/hot dog grilled lunch and a special singing group.

Numerous special classes are offered throughout the year to meet the needs of its members. A parenting class recently completed a video curriculum while marriage/family enrichment sessions are slated for upcoming times. Presently, the Wednesday evening Bible classes are serving men and ladies classes separately to assist the "older women in teaching the younger" and foster encouragement and open communication with the men and women sharing among themselves.

Black shared that three elders and nine deacons serve the church. "The deacons are in charge of areas such as education, youth, benevolence, building, worship, fellowship, treasury, missions and emergency response," he said. "We also have three care groups that meet for lunch on Sundays and encourage each other children. Throughout the year we take every opportunity we can to meet for fellowship whether it be a wedding shower, baby shower, Bible study in the home, reception or anyway we can celebrate and encourage each other in the Lord. Our ladies class is very active in the community making lap robes for shut-ins and those in the nursing homes. They make bears for the hospitals. They recently made care packages for children in Bosnia.

He continued by saying, "We (the membership) are very diverse in age but are a very cohesive group that are concerned about people but are also very family oriented. We have a Family Sunday on the fourth Sunday of each month. On that day we meet for worship, Bible classes, a meal and a brief devotion time. We do not meet that evening to allow families a time of renewal and shared time together."

Speaking of a mission statement for the church Black said, "We want to share the gospel and strengthen discipleship. It comes from the Great Commission where we are told to baptize and teach them to observe all things."

The church also supports many missions such as Christian Home and Bible School, where orphaned children are cared for and a Christian school teaches them and others throughout the Central Florida area. Members also support the Accept Pregnancy Center in Longwood where women are tested free for pregnancy and assistance is provided to meet needs. The through fellowship and trying to meet needs within the group."

Members are also working to remodel and restock the recently relocated church library. Leadership is prayerful that the volumes of books, knowledge and information will serve in strengthening the group.

The youth group is comprised of about 10 to 15 children who meet monthly to attend Christian Youth Fellowship throughout the Central Florida area. Monthly youth devotions in member's homes are still in the planning stages. The young people and their parents have attended numerous family outings to foster family closeness and togetherness.

Fellowships are a real plus, according to Black. "We meet yearly for our church picnic," he said. "That event is always well attended as well as the holiday party for the adults and a separate one for the Central Florida Bible Camp receives financial and other help from members. Several groups over the last 20 years have journeyed to Jamaica to preach the word of God.

He concluded by saying, "I think there is a great door of opportunity today. With the growth of the community we have vast reason to share the Lord. The focus seems to be in the home and through this we can develop the best in the community for Christ."

Services of the church are Sunday worship at 9:30 a.m. and Bible school at 10:30 a.m. Sunday evening worship, except for the fourth Sunday, Sunday Bible study resumes at 7 p.m. For more information call the church office at 322-7781.

Great music, great food, great fellowship, basketball, volleyball, canoeing and horse-shoes will be offered. The cost is $27, which includes meals and lodging.

For more information call Tom Cason at 330-2082 or Chris Cubberly at 322-9222.

Prayer meeting

SANFORD - Sanford Church of God will host a city wide Prayer Meeting sponsored by "Rise Up! Sanford" on Saturday, Jan. 24 from 7 to 8 p.m.

Concert scheduled

LAKE MARY - Markham Woods Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary will host and sponsor a concert of the Heritage Trio on Sunday, Jan. 11 at 3:30 p.m. This event will be held in the church sanctuary located at 5210 Markham Woods Road. The public is invited to attend.

For more information call the church office at 333-2030.

Nelons to perform

Singles dance

ORLANDO - Singles Christians United sponsors a "Singles Dance" on the second Saturday of each month from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Wesley Building Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church, downtown Orlando. Upcoming dances will be held on Jan. 10, Feb. 14 and March 14.

Admission at the door is $5. A deejay will provide the music. These monthly dances benefit local ministries.

For additional information, call the church office at 849-6080, the singles hotline at 648-0818 ext. 6000 or visit the church homepage at HYPERLINK. <http://www.magic-net.net/fumco/fumco.html>

Spirit seminar

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - A "Life in the Spirit" Seminar, hosted by the Servants of the Most High Catholic Charismatic Community at the Church of the Annunciation, 1020 Montgomery Road in Altamonte Springs (located between State Road 434 and State Road 436, west of Interstate-4) will be held on Tuesday nights for the first seven weeks of 1998. Each Tuesday evening session will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the first ecumenical "Life in the Spirit" Seminar in Central Florida, with several churches and ministries being represented, a unique opportunity for diverse groups to come together as the Body of Christ and "discover the wonderful Spirit-filled life."

This series will help participants to: establish, re-establish a personal relationship with Jesus Christ, yield to the action of the Holy Spirit in their lives and become a part of a group with whom they can share their Christian Life.

Participants range from active churchgoers, to nominal churchgoers, to people who have given up the practice of their faith, to unbelievers. For those who are already Christians, the "Life in the Spirit" Seminar offers help in finding a fuller release of the Holy Spirit; for those who are not, it serves as an introduction to Christianity, an opportunity to enter a relationship with Jesus Christ, and a time to learn to cooperate with the work of the Holy Spirit.

Admission is free. Call the pre-registrar at 678-2645 ext. 9400.

Games of the Week

Jan. 9: Seminole at Lake Mary, girls soccer, 7 p.m.

This shouldn't be a very close game. Lake Mary is a powerhouse in 6A and the Lady Noles haven't won a conference game in three years.

Still, there's plenty of reason to check this one out, mainly to see if Seminole's C.C. Gullian can outscore Lake Mary's Ally Benitez.

Both players are among the leading scorers in Central Florida and Tony Arena's Seminole team is looking as good as it has in years.

Lake Mary is as powerful as ever, just behind Lake Brantley in the county's pecking order and Jordan Kellgren doesn't give up goals very easily.

Jan. 9: Lake Mary at Seminole, boys basketball, 7:30 p.m.

Seminole is playing impressive basketball all throughout the early part of the season and has lost several heartbreakers. Cornelius Blue is leading the offense and Daryl Redding can be a scoring machine. Seminole is a sleeping giant in the county as Oviedo, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley have gotten most of the early attention but the Noles are capable of sneaking up on anyone come playoff time.

The Rams overcame a season filled with tough losses to win its basketball tournament last week and Paul Belk has been unstoppable. He is one of the leading scorers in Central Florida, but even more impressively, without all the attention, Ben Kersenbrock might be the team's most important player. He doesn't let many rebounds get away and may be able to dominate against a small Seminole squad.

Jan. 12: Lake Mary at Oviedo, girls basketball, 7:30 p.m.

Will anyone be able to beat the Lady Rams?

That's the question Oviedo coach Tom Bieri faces when his Lady Lions take on Lake Mary in the always intense Oviedo gym.

Oviedo has been playing well of late and has the leading scorer in Central Florida, Mary Lou Johnston. Don't get the impression that Oviedo is a one person team. Johnston gets the headlines and the points, but she plays for a deep team and Bieri uses a lot of his bench. Oviedo can count on a big night from Johnston but it is the unsung heroes such as Katie McCown and Kelly Brock that spell the key to Oviedo's chances.

What can you say about Lake Mary that hasn't been said before? Number One in the state says it all.

Don't look for many of the Lady Rams in the statistical categories. Teams have been playing slowdown all year against them but coach Carl Brown seems to always figure out a way to jump out to a big enough lead that everyone gets plenty of minutes.

This should be an interesting battle in that it matches the county's and, possibly the state's best point guards in Johnston and Lake Mary's Ashlee Ballance.

Jan. 14: Lake Brantley at Lake Mary, girls soccer, 7:30 p.m.

Lake Brantley jumped out as the early leader in one of the state's best county's for girls' soccer when it took second place, behind perennial dynamo Spanish River, in the Target Soccer Classic two weeks ago.

The Lady Pats are young but are used to playing in the spotlight. Ginger Sellick, Maggie Tullis and goaltender Sabrina Bonaparte are just a few of the stars trying to return to the state playoffs.

Lake Mary has another top scorer to stop with Sellick, last year's leading scorer in the county but Kellgren, days after facing C.C. Gullian, is tough and has faced Sellick in the past.

This should be a battle of Bonaparte and Kellgren with the winning team taking over the top spot in the county.

Jan. 14: Seminole at Oviedo, boys basketball, 7:30 p.m.

As tough as Lake Mary will prove earlier in the week, Oviedo should be even tougher.

The Lions proved it with a thrilling two-

Seminole's strong effort can't keep Lake Mary from winning 20th game

By JEFF BERLINICKE
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY Last night, somebody stood up to the big bully on the block and almost came away with the upset of the girls' basketball season.

Sure, Lake Mary ran away with a 71-51 win over visiting Seminole to extend its unbeaten record to 20-0, but last night was different.

Seminole came ready to play. There was no boring, slowdown offense. Lake Mary found itself on the floor as often as the Seminoles in a physical battle that ultimately cost Seminole two of its starters.

For Seminole, it was an inspired effort that is great preparation for the district tournament which starts at the end of the month. A Lady Nole's win over Pine Ridge next Wednesday will put Seminole into a tie for first in Class 5A-District 4 and the possibility of a top seed in the districts.

For Lake Mary, it was a wakeup call that the top-ranked team in Class 6A may have needed. All season long, the Lady Rams have faced slowdown offenses that have prevented them from playing to their highest potential.

Still, they haven't faced a serious challenge since early in the season when injuries and athletes playing fall sports hampered the team. After the game, Seminole coach Sylvester Wynn said he was proud of his team's effort.

"We did real well tonight," Wynn said. "We had a cold spell but Lake Mary knows it was in a dogfight."

The dogfight cost Wynn starters Rosetta Jackson and Di Di Hampton and he also had three players in foul trouble early - Shameika Stokes, Tamara Gilchrist and Felicia Henderson - but the Lady Noles (12-5) hung in and, until a late Lake Mary charge, was in the game despite missing too many free throws.

Lake Mary jumped out to an 18-12 first quarter lead despite a scoreless effort from Lauren Bradley who eventually led the Lady Rams with 17 points. An early run in the second quarter kept Seminole close, pulling to within four points, but Lake Mary was able to keep the lead the entire way as Seminole couldn't make its free throws drop.

Lake Mary had some problems of its own as point guard Ashlee Ballance played despite an illness, and coach Carl Brown wasn't pleased with the way his team handled the problem.

In fact, the normally subdued

Lauren Bradley goes up over Seminole's Tamara Gilchrist for two of her game-high 17 points as top-ranked Lake Mary improved to 20-0 on the season Thursday night.

Robbie Shapiro had one of his biggest games ever Wednesday night, scoring 15 points as Lake Mary beat Lyman.

Crooms is charitable to visitors

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD Charity begins at home, but not usually for the visitors in basketball.

Thursday night at Allen Gymnasium, the host Crooms Panthers and Lake Highland Preparatory School from Orlando hooked up in a very good, hard-fought boys' basketball game. But the Panthers helped out their guests, putting the Highlanders on the foul line where they responded by hitting the "freebies" and topping the home squad, 75-65, in overtime.

Crooms led through the first three quarters and held a nine-point advantage heading into the final eight minutes. But Lake Highland (6-8) responded by outscoring the Panthers 22-13 in the fourth period to force overtime, then outscored the hosts 11-1 in the extra period.

"We need to work on keeping our fouls down and making our free throws," said Crooms coach Steve Carmichael. "It was a tough game. The kids played hard and if we continue to play hard, maybe we'll win the next game."

"I want to especially mention freshman Reggie Williams. It was just his second game up since being promoted from the junior varsity and he did a great job in scoring 16 points."

In addition to Williams, Titus Waldo also scored 16 points, while Tim McCloud led the Panthers with 19 points.

Crooms (6-7) will host The Masters Academy from Winter Park in a varsity only contest at 4 p.m. on Monday at home Allen Gymnasium.

LATE WEDNESDAY

SANFORD Seminole High School rallied to outscore Lake Brantley 16-11 in the fourth quarter and pulled off a 47-45 upset of the Patriots at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Lake Mary's three inside players combined to score 54 points as the Rams won their sixth straight game, 72-57, over homesteading Lyman.

Winter Springs outscored Pierson-Taylor 29-13 in the second quarter and won its second game of the season with an 85-47 thrashing of the homesteading Wildcats.

Lyman boys' soccer team continues hot streak

By TONY DESORMIER
Herald correspondent

LONGWOOD Sometimes what looks like a great team effort is actually a sequence of superior individual efforts.

That was the case in the Lyman Greyhounds' 2-0 victory over the visiting Oviedo Lions in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer game Thursday night at the Carlton Henley Athletic Complex.

"I salute my kids," said Lyman coach Ray Sandidge, whose team improved to 11-2 and 3-0 in SAC play. "Every one of my defenders is playing hurt. And we shut down one of the top scoring teams in the area tonight.

"Going in, we knew we were going to have to stop (Justin) Cook and (Mike) Zigler. Brian Janovits and Chris Sonntag did a great job staying with them. And, as usual, Shane LaPlaca and Mark Lewis came up big in another big game."

LaPlaca, who shut out Lake Mary on Tuesday, turned away seven shots -- including a pair of back-to-back bullets by Zigler in the first half -- to blank the Lions (8-3-2, 1-2 SAC).

Lewis, who directs the Lyman defense from his sweeper position, scored the Greyhounds' first goal at 9:41 when he made a run on a chip pass from Darko Boccevaski and deposited a quick one-time shot in the net.

The Greyhounds had several opportunities to pad their lead in the first half as Lewis, Sava Markovic, and Jason Diebler all hit the crossbar with shots.

Oviedo also hammered on the ironwork a bit; Tim Swander volleyed a shot that got by everything except the left goalpost with 18 minutes left in the match.

Another extraordinary individual effort for the Greyhounds came moments after Swander's near-miss. Adrian Pedrosa went after the ball with a Lion defender and came away with it. From there, Pedrosa was in alone on the Oviedo keeper and scored at 73:24.

While disappointed with the result, Oviedo coach Joe Avalone was philosophical about the loss.

"Lyman is a great team and they're well-coached," said Avalone. "I've learned a lot from Ray in the years I've known him. I wouldn't say that I imitate him, but he has taught me a lot."

"It's going to be difficult for us to beat Lyman if we have to face them in the district tournament. Our younger players will have to step up and play a little beyond themselves."

For all the defensive efforts on both sides, the game featured a remarkable amount of offense. The teams combined for 30 shots on goal requiring nine saves (and four more stops by hardware) and 16 corner kicks.

"This was an outstanding high school soccer game," said Sandidge. "Tonight was an example of two skilled teams playing well. The score of this game could have easily been 5-4. But both defenses and keepers played well."

The junior varsity contest also was won by Lyman, 2-0.

In fact, the normally subdued Brown showed sparks of emotion at this team throughout the game and didn't seem happy, even with the 20-point win.

"I was just trying to do something to get a spark out of them," Brown said. "We just didn't have it tonight. Someone needs to take charge when someone like Aalece is ill."

He also wasn't pleased with his team's intensity in a big local game against its neighborhood rivals.

"There was no intensity at all. Seminole came ready to play," Brown said. "Hopefully this was the one where we didn't show up ready and it doesn't happen again. We didn't defend well and we made too many silly mistakes."

Lake Mary still had four scorers in double figures: Bradley (17), Mary Leah Sutton, playing with a broken nose (15), Stephanie Dale (10) and Lindsey Manz (12).

Seminole was led by Gilchrist (10), Jackson (15) and Stokes (11).

OVIEDO ROMPS

OVIEDO - Mary Lou Johnston scored 16 points in a 26-7 second quarter outburst as the Oviedo Lions overcame an early deficit to thump visiting Lyman, 61-36, in a girls' Class 6A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference contest Thursday night.

"Our defensive intensity was there tonight," said Oviedo head coach Tom Bieri. "We're playing as well as we can right now."

Lyman (15-5) took a 13-6 lead and was ahead 13-0 heading into the second period when the Lions erupted. After the 26-7 second quarter scoring advantage, Oviedo (17-4) did almost as well in the third quarter, outscoring the Greyhounds 10-2.

The victory exorcised a ghost that seemed to be haunting the Lions: Lyman had beaten Bieri's talented squad the last two times the team had played, including the district semifinals last spring.

Johnston finished with 22 points and seven assists, while Sharon Cotton added 13 points and Kelly Brock chipped in with 11 points. Katie McCown had a good night running the Oviedo offense with six assists.

Week

point win over Lake Howell last week when Brad Combes banked a shot in at the buzzer.

The question is, who will be the hero for the Lions? There are plenty of choices at the home of the Class 6A runners-up from last year but it could be Combes, Brian Register, Josh Cullen or any of a number of Lions. The team is deep and has no superstars and have proven that they can bang and play fitness ball at the same time.

Seminole isn't the tallest team in the county but may be the quickest and there aren't many coaches who can run a game like the Noles Bob Traina and Oviedo's Ed Kerahner.

Jan. 14: Pine Ridge at Seminole, girls basketball, 7:30 p.m.

This may be the biggest game of the year for Seminole as it looks to avenge an early season loss to Pine Ridge.

The Panthers lead the Class 6A-District 4 race by a game over the Tribe and Seminole needs to win if wants to be the top-seed for the upcoming district tournament.

Seminole is led by Shemelka Stokes and Tamara Gilchrist, while Pine Ridge is led by a pair of 6-foot-plus transfer students from Easton.

How to deal with holiday bills

What is worse than doing a lot of credit-based spending at Christmas time? The bills just keep coming in, sometimes for months after Christmas. Many consumers are unaware of how much was actually spent until well after the holidays when all of the credit card bills have arrived. Money is becoming very tight for an alarmingly high number of Americans.

The Wall Street Journal says that about 70 percent of all adult working Americans have no money left over after the monthly bills are paid. This is due in part to poor spending patterns, and because most of the people affected have little or no savings. Panic decisions, often involving thousands of dollars, are made by financially undisciplined people. Often these decisions are unwise and sadly they are made under what seem to be very desperate situations.

Dealing with creditors and getting out of debt are two situations many people are finding themselves in for the first time. Take action early, don't delay! Communications with creditors and others involved is essential for survival and long term financial recovery. Establishing a written plan of action and knowing exactly where you are financially are also crucial.

CONSUMER FOCUS

There are a number of positive steps, however, people can take in order to reduce the negative impact of adjusting to a lower income and frugal lifestyle. Developing new spending priorities and practices to make less do more is an acquired skill, so take steps to learn now how to keep more of the money you earn and do more with the money you keep.

As you work through the situation with your creditors yourself, you will learn better how to avoid making the same mistakes twice plus be able to help others later on. Letting others, like credit and debt counseling services, do the work for you can be less stressful, sometimes. But it also can be very expensive; plus, frauds and scams abound. Many so-called "legal clinics" are nothing more than fronts for lawyers who just sell people on filing for bankruptcy.

The three basic ground rules when dealing with creditors are: be honest, be humble, and be in touch. Take the first step by contacting all creditors, preferably ahead of time if you know an income reduction is pending.

Tell them what's happening (i.e. an interruption or significant reduction of income) and lay the groundwork for a temporary reduction of payments. Have your plan ready. Tell how much you can afford to pay and how often you can pay it. Then be ready to negotiate.

Getting out of debt is a step-by-step process. Avoid more borrowing just to pay someone else off. Sometimes a consolidation loan improves cash flow, but ultimately it is added debt and that may have a negative impact on credit files.

What your credit files might say about you in four years is your responsibility and taking positive action with all creditors early usually stops negative reports from being sent to credit reporting agencies. Here's How To Develop Improved Spending Techniques

1. Write down all of the poor spending practices that are to be changed.
2. Write down how you plan to bring about the changes in each area.
3. Construct a cash flow sheet showing income and outgo.
4. Set up and implement a spending-plan.
5. Discontinue all use of credit cards.
6. Begin collecting and making notes on your cash purchase receipts.
7. Review all insurance coverage for duplication, higher deductibles, etc.
8. Begin saving a dollar-a-day (or dollars) and all pocket change, everyday.
9. Look for alternatives and substitutes to spending.
10. Start utilizing cents-off coupons and mail-in rebates.
11. Wait for the sales. Comparison shopping can save more than 50 percent.
12. Take advantage of seconds, rebuilt, and used items where practical.
13. Start doing things for yourself that others were paid to do previously.
14. Have weekly meetings on improving spending with other family members.

Jailbird uncertain about abusive marriage

Dear Mary,

I sure am glad that the holidays are over. I don't care how hard I try, something always gets messed up during that time. This one was so bad I don't know if it's even worth trying to patch everything up with my wife or just get out and start over.

I had stopped to have a drink with some guys after work on New Year's Eve. My wife and I didn't have any plans so I figured I'd just have one drink and come on home. When I got home around 8:30 p.m., my wife was nuts because I hadn't called and told her I would be late. She started right in on me, and one thing led to another till I put my hand up against her chest and told her to settle down and stop yelling. Then she really went crazy. She was trying to choke me and her fingernails were digging into my neck. I pushed her away and called the police.

FAMILY COUNSELOR

When they came out, they talked to both of us and then I'll be damned if they didn't arrest me! I couldn't believe it, but they took me away and I welcomed in the New Year in jail. I'm not allowed back into the house until after my hearing, and frankly, I'm beginning to wonder if it's worth it to keep trying. I don't want my kids to have to go through anything like that again, never mind that I don't want to be in jail any more. Do you have any ideas on what I should do? Jailbird

Dear Jailbird,

That certainly was a memorable, if awful, start to 1998. I certainly agree that it needs to be a once in a lifetime experience.

If you two keep on doing what you've been doing, you'll keep on getting what you've got. Obviously, that's not what you want. You may eventually realize that no matter how hard you try, the marriage is over, but how can you know that yet? Resolve to get counseling during 1998, to help you clarify what's going on in the marriage. Ask your wife to go with you, but if she won't then you should go alone. Resolve that you will not intentionally push her "hot buttons" and if you do feel an argument getting out of control, you will walk away or leave the house until both of you cool off.

The effect on kids of witnessing their parents in physical combat is brutal. Resolve that your kids will never be put into that position again.

Don't make any hasty decisions about the future of your marriage. Do all the hard work necessary to make the best possible decision for everyone concerned.

Seniors need to make plans while young

DEAR ABBY: What is it with people who do not want to go to a nursing home when they get old? I often read about the anguish families go through when an older care no longer live independently. Younger family members have their own ordeals, but old folks seem to hang onto houses that keep up and mountains of accumulated "treasures" of questionable value. They see only two options: Stay put, or have the kids take them in.

My aunt, however, was another story. She wasn't wealthy, but had a little money and was smart with what she had. She was widowed at 50, worked until retirement, then set about to enjoy herself. One fine day in her 70s, she informed me that she had visited two retirement homes and knew where she intended to move when she needed looking after. She bought the dress for her funeral, picked out the casket, chose the hymns and helped the preacher write her eulogy. "Now," she proclaimed, "I'm just going to enjoy life until the end." What an inspiration!

Abby, most people are far too attached to material things for their own good. I suppose giving up my material things will also be difficult, but the hardest thing for me would be giving up my dogs. But then, why would I want to be sleeping out to walk a poach every morning and evening when I am old and feeble?

As for insisting on dying at home (as if that's some tender and sentimental thing to do), it's unfair to saddle loved ones with such difficult and depressing circumstances.

I recently read that about 80 percent of people would choose suicide over a nursing home! Are they nuts? Give me clean, pleasant surroundings for my final days.

While my attitude may strike some as insensitive and cold, actually I love life and intend to live it to the fullest, like my aunt who never made it to the nursing home. At age 83, she had a massive stroke while hearing a tour bus and died almost immediately.

Why is it that so many who say, "I don't want to be a burden," do everything to become one by imposing on relatives or forcing decisions on others when they are no longer able to live alone?

I know this is long, but I think it bears an important message.

LIVING IT UP 'TIL THE END

DEAR LIVING: Your aunt is the kind of role model we all aspire to be, active and vital to the end - and you are not far behind. However, please don't be so judgmental of those who are hesitant to give up their independence and familiar surroundings. Many people fear the unknown, and as they age, become less able to adjust to new situations. Few are eager to surrender control of their lives - and that is what a nursing home symbolizes to many.

ADVICE

Assisted-living facilities that offer varying levels of care for seniors while permitting them to continue pursuing their interests and activities are far more attractive alternatives. Residents can maintain their independence assured that should they become ill or need long-term care, they will have access to health-care services while remaining in a familiar environment.

Seniors should carefully investigate all the options before making decisions about their "December" years.

DEAR ABBY: Please inform me of the proper etiquette. A friend was married for three days, and then the marriage was annulled. What should she do with the wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN TUCSON

DEAR WONDERING: Since the marriage lasted only three days and was then annulled, the wedding gifts belong to the bride and groom. Whether they return any presents depends on their personal feelings about it. The bride, however, should return any jewelry or hairpieces she received from the groom's family.

DEAR ABBY: I'm in sixth grade. My 3 1/2 years as a home-schooled student have been great. We start at 9:30 a.m. and finish around noon. The decreased time is due to the lack of distraction. At public school, if I finished early, I would have to wait for the rest of the class. Now, whenever I finish, I can just move on.

I'm definitely not isolated. We take more field trips because of the flexible schedule. There are also home-school organizations where I've made friends. Home-schooling has been great for me, but it's not for everybody. I know of families that do isolate their children, and others that don't even "do" school.

I hope my opinion on home-schooling is what the majority of home-schoolers think.

SCOTT CLEMENT, MESQUITE, TEXAS

DEAR SCOTT: It definitely is!

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and entering my second year of college at the University of California-San Diego. I attended private schools through fifth grade, and was home-schooled through middle school. Those years stand out in my mind as the most productive, educational and enlightening of my scholastic career. Later, because I felt I was "missing out," I chose to attend a public high school. I was appalled at the attitude of my peers and the faculty. I was treated as an inferior because I had not received a public school education, and it was assumed that I was probably socially inept from being home-schooled.

It has been my experience that in public school settings, students are exposed to verbal abuse, drugs and violence. Home-schooled children can easily learn to relate to peers through extracurricular activities such as sports, music and clubs like Girl Scouts.

I wish I had been home-schooled throughout high school as well. I would have received a better education. I realize that home-schooling is not an option for everyone, but I firmly believe that I am a well-adjusted, better person today because of it.

PHARMACY TOPICS

By: Abi J. Falows, R.Ph.

Snow-throwing how-to: warm up first with jumping jacks, as if you were going to run. This is aerobic exercise. Take a break every 15 minutes if you're 65 or over. If you're not...

Exercise seems to offer some protection against breast cancer, a long-term Norwegian study found. Women who worked out vigorously at least 4 hours a week were 37 percent less likely to get the disease than their sedentary friends.

People with chronic asthma who use high doses of inhaled glucocorticoids run a 44 percent higher risk of glaucoma, the Journal of the American Medical Association reports. Doctors say: don't drop medication, but do test eyes regularly.

New anti-cancer cream has gotten FDA approval. Different gel is said to be more effective and less irritating to the skin than Accutane. The cream should be used once a day for at least three months in conjunction with sun protection.

Cigars are an unsafe fad

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Are there health consequences from smoking cigars? DEAR READER: Yes, there are — and some are serious.

Cigars are enjoying a comeback; the habit has become fashionable. However, as with any tobacco product, there are dangers, such as cancer of the mouth and lungs, heart problems and pulmonary disorders. Experts estimate that consuming four or more cigars a day is equivalent to smoking 10 cigarettes.

In a recent report (Journal of the American Medical Association, Dec. 3, 1997), physicians described a 61-year-old man who suffered a toxic reaction to cigar smoke, probably caused by high levels of carbon monoxide in his bloodstream. He lost consciousness for several minutes and required hospitalization. Such reports remind us that the practice of smoking cigars is associated with significant consequences.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have migraine headaches. A friend suggested that I try a homeopathic remedy for relief. Am I wasting my money?

DEAR READER: I'm afraid so. Homeopathic remedies contain extremely dilute concentrations of herbs and other natural ingredients. In a recent English study, several homeopathic remedies were found to be no more effective than sugar pills in treating migraine: 19 percent of the migraineurs experienced relief, compared to 16 percent of the placebo group — not a statistically significant difference.

You're probably better off using the prescription drugs Imtrex (to treat a migraine in progress) or propranolol (as a preventive).

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 17, 110 pounds and 6 feet tall. I am very thin. I want to build up my upper body and fill out so my ribs don't show. What can I safely eat?

DEAR READER: Food. Seriously, you probably need more calories in your diet. Because extra dietary fat and sugar are not necessarily healthful, even for an adolescent, I suggest that you increase your consumption of complex carbohydrates: pasta, bread, potatoes and rice.

In addition, some modest weight training would help you to develop your upper body and arms. It's beyond the scope of this column to detail the types of exercise that would benefit you. This information should be available through trainers at your school or in a local fitness center. Also, there are many books on the subject. In my experience, one of the most useful is "Arnold: The Education of a Body Builder," by Arnold Schwarzenegger and Douglas Kent Hall (Simon & Schuster, 1977). Hey, what can I say? When in doubt, go to the best.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've heard that coenzyme Q10 is useful in treating mitral valve prolapse. Is it?

DEAR READER: No, it isn't. This health food has been promoted as a cure-all for many afflictions, including heart disease and old age. To date, there are no reputable studies proving its effectiveness.

Mitral valve prolapse is a common disorder that is usually harmless. Marked by a floppiness of the components of one cardiac valve, MVP causes a murmur (extra sound in the heart), and may lead to a variety of pulse irregularities. It cannot be cured by any known drug, coenzyme Q10 included. Patients with a floppy valve should receive antibiotic prophylaxis, however, before dental cleaning and certain surgical procedures.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Safe as houses

By Phillip Alder

The British have some strange sayings, like "safe as houses." True, many houses are safe, but we've also seen a lot fall down, some because of faulty construction, others from the destructive force of earthquakes or hurricanes. Occasionally a bridge contract that looks safe will fail. This could be because of bad distribution of the opposing cards or to faulty declarer-play. Which of these two is applicable in today's deal?

South cruised into three no-trump, his opening bid showing 21-22 points. (As a curiosity, did you ever see a hand before with no card between a four and a jack?)

West led the spade queen. Judging that if West were longer than East in spades, East was more likely to be longer than West in diamonds, declarer took the first trick with his king, played a diamond to dummy's ace, and led a diamond back. East's heart discard registered about eight on the Richter scale. Struggle as he might from there, South couldn't win more than eight tricks. Was South unlucky or did he misplay?

South started with eight top tricks: two in each suit. The ninth trick would evidently come from diamonds. And there was a perfect safety-play available. South should have started with the diamond king from his hand. If neither the 10 nor the queen appears, declarer continues with a low diamond toward dummy, planning to finesse the nine if West plays the remaining low card. And if West discards on the second round, dummy's ace is played and a low diamond led back toward the jack. Either way, South gets three diamond tricks.

So, South misplayed.

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday

Saturday, Jan. 10, 1998

Exciting opportunities for material growth could be available to you in the year ahead. Their promise is limited, but if you believe in yourself, you can endure and conquer what you must.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to be part of the group today by making cooperation your buzzword. If you're cool and indifferent, you could make others feel as uncomfortable as you do. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A change of routine today could help to refurbish your outlook. Plan something social, not obligatory, that would energize instead of exhaust you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today, someone might attempt to make you feel selfish because you wish to spend time on your own interests. Actually, he or she is the culprit.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If someone attempts to give you well-meaning advice today, judge it by your own standards to determine its credence and then proceed as you see fit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today, when it comes to making money, you've got a touch others may admire. Be sure to earn your rewards; get-rich-quick gambles could misfire.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Select your companions thoughtfully today and you should have a picture-perfect script. Remember, it only takes one bad brush stroke to smear a work of art.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It should be smooth sailing in your dealings today if you quietly orchestrate your intentions from the background. Avoid outside influences.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not sell your ideas short today, even if a negative associate gives you many reasons why they won't work. If your experience tells you they will, implement them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you possess all the essential skills to maneuver around obstacles that block you from your objectives. You won't need help from others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It may prove necessary for you to alter your plans a bit to accommodate an unexpected development today. Do not panic; everything will work out just fine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A project on which you've spent much time and effort should not be abandoned today, even if it starts to look bad on paper. Check it again from another angle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In sticky situations today, use your diplomacy and charm to lessen the predicament. Responding forcefully could muddy the waters more.
