

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

WALTER KINGSFORD seems a little gruff in giving orders to Olympie Bradas in this domestic scene from the new comedy, "Say It In French," which comes Tuesday to the Ritz Theatre. Little does he know that the "maid" is really Ray Milland's, lord and the lady of the house!

Joan Crawford In 'The Shining Hour' At The Ritz Sunday

Walter Kingsford's splendid cast including Joan Crawford, Margaret Gullerud, Robert Young, Meilyn Douglas, and Ray Milland, "The Shining Hour" opens at the Ritz Theatre today and Sunday. The picture is a tale of a woman who is forced to live in a rooming house. The story is a domestic drama of the first time that I met Crawford. Dickens' 'Christmas Carol' To Be Shown As A Yule Feature Scrooge, Tiny Tim, the Cratchits and the rest of the beloved characters in the Charles Dickens' story come to life in "A Christmas Carol," filmization of the classic tale, which comes Thursday to the Ritz Theatre.

Directed by Edwin L. Marin, with Reginald Owen in the role of Ebenezer Scrooge, the miser, and Terry Kilburn as Tiny Tim, the crippled child who dies on the night of his last birthday, the picture follows the original story with slight variations. Old London of the Dickens period is faithfully reproduced, with its quaint Christmas customs, city singing of carols and other details of the story.

The cast includes Gene and Kathleen Lockhart as Bob Cratchit and his wife, present as Tiny Tim, Lynne Carver and Barry Mackay are the romantic leads as Scrooge's nephew and his sweetheart, and Leo G. Carroll, Lionel Braham, Ann Ralston, D'Arcy Corrigan and Ronald Sinclair are among the players.

The story tells of the regeneration of Ebenezer Scrooge, harsh miser, when "A Christmas Carol" comes to life and future by the ghost of his dead partner and three Christmas spirits.

"A CHRISTMAS CAROL," Charles Dickens' beloved story of the regeneration of an old miser through the heart of a tiny, crippled boy, has brought Yuletide cheer to millions of readers throughout the world. Now the story comes to the screen in the M-G-M film version, showing Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, with Reginald Owen cast as the miserly Scrooge, and Terry Kilburn as Tiny Tim.

GENE AUTRY, Tom London and Bob Osborne in a scene from the Republic Picture, "Prairie Moon" opening Saturday at the Ritz.

ALAN MARSHAL and Luise Rainer in "Dramatic School" opening Tuesday at the Ritz.

JACKIE COOPER and Robert Warwick in "Gangster's Boy" opening Thursday at the Ritz.

THE JONES FAMILY goes down to Aunt Ida's farm for some peace and quiet—and darned if there isn't more fun and excitement than there was back in Maryville! Above, left to right, are Eddie Collins, Spring Byington, Jed Prouty, Billy Mahan, June Carlson, Louise Fazenda, Ken Howell and George Ernest in 20th Century-Fox's "Down On The Farm," opening Saturday at the Princess Theatre.

JOAN CRAWFORD and Meilyn Douglas in "The Shining Hour" opening Sunday at the Ritz.

Leon B. Thrasher Is Named Member Of Limerock Body

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 17.—Leon B. Thrasher, of Lake City, division engineer of the State Road Department, will become engineer-director of the Florida Limerock Association on Jan. 1, 1935, George G. Ware, of Leesburg, president of the association, announced today.

Mr. Thrasher who is completing 20 years in the service of the State Road Department, was chosen for the important post of engineer-director of the Limerock Association because of his wide technical experience in the use of limerock as Florida's best natural road material base and because of his enviable reputation in professional engineering circles, Mr. Ware said. He will have headquarters in the Yachon Building, Ocala.

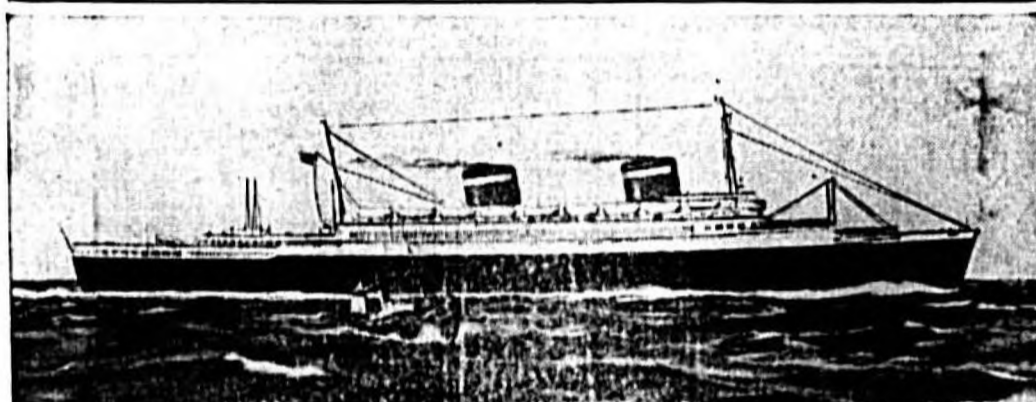

Under Mr. Thrasher's direction, the Florida Limerock Association will renew its educational program, dormant for several years, to acquaint Floridians with the superior virtues of Florida limerock as a road base material.

Celery Group Holds Parley With Pepper

(Continued From Page One) Efforts for a committee from the celery industry which will go to Washington to present its arguments in the matter of complete exemption on Jan. 9.

The committee going to Tallahassee yesterday was composed of O. J. Pope, Walter Mewing, C. R. Dawson and Roy F. Symes, of the Sanford district; W. R. Hamiler of Bradenton manager of the Manatee Growers Association, and B. W. Powell, of Palmer Farms in Sarasota.

U. S. Lines Names New Flagship "America"

THE LARGEST LINER ever to be built in the United States will be christened America when she is launched next July at Newport News. The great passenger vessel is under construction for the United States Lines, and will become the flagship of the fleet when she enters the New York-Channel ports-Hamburg service early in 1940 as running mate to the popular Manhattan and Washington, largest and finest American liners now in operation. The name was chosen from among the many patriotic and historic names suggested in thousands of letters, received by the United States Lines, from all parts of the country, as the one best expressing the significance of the ship—the most important and most costly unit thus far under way in the country's merchant marine program which contemplates the construction of fifty merchant vessels a year for the next ten years. Every Star in the Union is contributing in raw materials, equipment or labor to the building of the vessel, which will cost about $16,000,000. The America will be 723 feet long, 93 feet beam, and 75 feet deep from promenade deck. She will accommodate 1,219 passengers and carry a crew of 619. Her gross registered tonnage is expected to be about 26,000.

Longwood To Continue Tax Collections

As soon as some of the planned improvements, many of which are already underway, are completed, Mayor Bridge stated that a campaign advertising the attractions of Longwood as a site for a collection of retired postal or railway workers will be begun. Appeals, he said, will also be made to retired Army and Navy men.

In adjusting delinquent taxes, Mayor Bridge pointed out that for income property settlement is made on 25 percent of the past due assessment while on homestead settlement is made for 10 percent of the total and on vacant property 5 percent of the total is all that is required. A considerable amount of all taxes have been collected and property has been foreclosed, he said, adding that other property will be taken over if settlement is not made soon.

Security For All

While the New Deal must ever be given credit for inaugurating some system of social security, it can never be denied that the system which it adopted is wholly inadequate and rankly unjust. The New Deal in its platforms and political pronouncements has consistently advocated old age pensions, but in its performance it has provided them for less than one-third of the population.

In a Democratic country, to say that a man who is employed by a business man shall be provided for by the government against the poverty of old age, while the man who works for the farmer or professional man, shall take his chances with the poor house, is heresy. In an equality loving nation, to enact laws providing the employee in an establishment of eight or more workers against the barricade of unemployment, while the unemployed in an establishment of less than eight, may presumably starve to death, is an outrage.

It is this feature of the Social Security Act, as well as the creation of a huge 47 billion dollar reserve fund, when the Social Security Advisory Council, in its current report criticizes. This reserve fund, it points out, as such is here before, is in reality no reserve fund at all.
The money is being collected from a certain class of workers and employers throughout the country on the pretext of taking care of them in their old age, and is put in the central fund where it is promptly spent on battleships and WPA projects.

The Advisory Council which is composed of 25 outstanding representatives of employees, employers, and the public, recommends the extension of the social security program to cover every man, woman, and child in the country. It is difficult to see how there could be any just objection to this goal. In a country where the benefits of government are supposed to apply to all, and to all alike, there is no reason why social security should be provided for one and denied to another.

Under the Advisory Council's plan benefits would be provided for impoverished widows and dependent children or workers, as well as for the workers themselves. Provision would also be made against ill health, and disability due to accidents. The system would be expanded to include farm and domestic labor, self-employed business and professional men, mechanics and farmers.

And the interesting thing about this social security plan is that it can be put into effect with little, if any, increase in taxes. The money which is now being used to go into the so-called reserve fund would be devoted exclusively to benefits under the program. The result might be less WPA, but there would be all around social security, without additional expense.

What's Right With America

So much is being said these days about what's wrong with America that it is unusually refreshing to find someone enumerating a few of the things that are right with America. Carl L. Carmer, author and teacher, is quoted in the Winter Haven Chief, as listing ten important aspects of American life which make this country the best in the world in which to live. These are just a few of the things that are right with America:

- 1. America knows that in no one man rests the common sense and the good will and the patience to control the destinies of a nation—and so it listens to me and to the man who disagrees with me and to every one of its citizens.
2. America has such faith in the intelligence and integrity of its people that it is willing to abide peacefully by the decisions of a majority of them.
3. Though America is one of the world's mightiest nations, it does not believe that might makes right, and it speaks out against the persecution of the weak by the strong.
4. America is a beautiful land, and it is beautiful, rewarding the love it engenders.
5. America shares its opportunities and its purposes and its ideals equally among those whose ancestors were its first settlers and its most recently arrived citizens.
6. America encouraged the young to achievement and it protects the old from want.
7. America offers its citizens security in their own persons, and in their homes from invasion either by private or public agents.
8. American citizens still assert, and will protect with their lives, the ideal of freedom as it was embodied by their predecessors in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.
9. America wants to become a country in which no happencence of race or color or nationality or religion may prejudice any of its citizens against others.
10. America fosters a belief in the dignity of being a man, in the joy of work and of play, in the right of the individual to think what he pleases and to say what he thinks through the medium of print, radio, public address or in any other manner he may choose.

Parley To Affect U.S. Program For Defenses

LAKE WORTH, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Gen. Peyton C. March, former army chief of staff, said yesterday conclusions reached at the Pan-American conference would have an important bearing on the United States' national defense program in the next Congress.

Describing the Lima meeting now in progress as the most important since Roosevelt became president, General March asserted "it is foolish and short-sighted for the United States to neglect longer an adequate national defense program."

"In fact," the general said in an interview, "the army chief of staff and the heads of the navy department are working on such a program. There is little doubt that President Roosevelt will lay the plan before the next congress."

"Such a program naturally will call for a staggering appropriation but no matter what his desires are, the President is powerless to act unless congress gives him authority. It will rest with the next congress whether the United States is to have an adequate national defense program."

LETTERS TO SANTA

Mr. Santa Clause. Will you please bring me a creeping doll, a lunch box, a pair of socks. I am a good little girl. I am 7 years old. I go to Southside school, and I say my prayers every night and go to Sunday school. I'll be looking for you so please come.
Your friend,
Mattie Lee Humphrys.

Mr. Santa Clause. Will you please bring me a lunch box, a wrench, a pair of socks and a pair of shoes. Please and bring my little sister and me some candy, nuts, apples and oranges.
I go to Southside school, say my prayer every night and go to Sunday school. Please come to see us. We will be looking for you.
I am 9 years old. Thanking you,
your friend,
William H. Humphreys.

This letter is from Mary Jacqueline Rowland.
Dear Santa Clause:
I want a bicycle. I will help my mother and dust the furniture.
I will dry the dishes.
I will put the dishes up.
I hope you make all the other little children a Merry Christmas.
I am 7 years old. I am in the second grade.
Love of Jacqueline Rowland.

Dear Santa:
I wish you would send me a little kiddy cart, a pair of skates, a rubber doll for me to chew on and a try cycle. I am in the third grade and I have made good grades.
Hoping that you won't forget mother and daddy.
Yours truly,
George M. Temple.

GUILTY OF BIGAMY.
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Boyd Barke, the millman with two wives, pleaded guilty to bigamy charges yesterday before Superior Judge William F. James, who commented the defendant perhaps had loved "too well."

TO CONVENE
CHICAGO (AP)—The National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress will convene here Jan. 29 to 31 to discuss proposed changes in the organization's program for the 1939 season, President Raymond Du-ment announced yesterday.

the Monroe doctrine—he declared "this historic policy is not going to be changed no matter what party is in power"—delegates considered the speech would be particularly distasteful to Argentina who dislikes the doctrine.

When London said "agents of totalitarian powers are busy spreading propaganda all over Central and South America to effect those countries cannot count on the continuity of policy of the United States," he answered Argentina's question: "After Roosevelt, what?"

He went ahead and declared the Monroe doctrine was one policy which the United States had pursued for over a century regardless of election results.

He did not mention the good neighbor policy by name, however, although he gave praise to Secretary of State Cordell Hull whose "freedom and patience" he said had improved United States' relations in South America.

Argentina has been insisting the United States was a potential threat to small South American nations because there was no assurance the good neighbor policy would be continued after President Roosevelt leaves office.
