KELLER CANNOT PRESENT EVIDENCE ON DAUGHERTY IN IMPEACHMENT CASES

UNTIL COMMITTEE OBTAINS FROM HOUSE POWER TO SUMMON WITNESSES

HOURS WRANGLE

Over Procedure Finally Cut Off On Motion Executive Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The house judiciary committee decided today to ask for authority to summon witnesses, and obtain papers as requested by Representative Keller in prosecuting his impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Representative Keller told the house judiciary committee today that he would not be ready to present evidence in support of his demand for impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty until the committee obtained from the house power to summon and swear witnesses. An hour's wrangle over the course of procedure was finally cut off on motion of Representative Graham. The committee then went into executive session to decide as to whether or not it would ask such authority.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Formal reply of Attorney General Daugherty to the charges filed against him with the house judiciary committee by Representative Keller, Republican of Minnesota, was made public Saturday at the department of justice. It was presented to the committee when it met today to consider the Keller resolution demanding Mr. Daugherty's impeachment.

Answering in turn each of the fourteen specifications, submitted by the Minnesota members, Mr. Daugherty expressed his conviction that this extraordinary proceeding is inspired more by a desire to protect those charged with violating the law than to aid the department of justice in prosecution of grafters, profiteers and those who have defrauded the government during the emergencies of war.

The department of justice stands ready, Mr. Daugherty said, to meet the demand of Mr. Keller for documents bearing upon specified cases whenever it is apparent that neither the government's interest nor that of individuals who have imposed confidences in the government would be violated.

"In his behalf," a statement summarizing Mr. Daugherty's reply continued, "the attorney general said that a mere casual perusal of this demand not only indicates the motive but reflects the character of this entire proceeding; that it shows back of this so-called bill of impeachment stands arrayed certain radical leaders seeking to serve notices upon every future attorney general that if he dares enforce the laws of the United States under the pain and penalty of being held before the senate of the United States, sitting as a high court of impeachment under the constitution, that it shows that back of this so-called bill of impeachment, directing, maintaining and encouraging its prosecution, stand arrayed the profiteers, the grafters, the so-called war defrauders and all of those who seized upon the opportunity arising from the emergencies of war to take advantage of their government, that they, by unconscionable and unscrupulous means may know what those charged with bringing them to the bar of justice have secured as the result of the most painstaking, faithful and earnest efforts which it has been possible for the attorney general of the United States, and those associated with him to give to the solution of these most confusing and complex problems."

To comply with the demand that evidence in the hands of the government be made public, the attorney general declared, would be "highly injurious to the interest of the people" in the case of "certain important matters now in preparation for presentation to the proper tribunal."

In view of the "evident attempt to discredit in advance the activities of the department," the statement said, "the attorney general cannot escape the conclusion that the sole object and purpose of this proceedings is not to remove him from office but in nature a cowardly of an attempt * * * to compel the disclosure in advance of the evidence upon which the government relies in the investigation, and prosecution of cases of the greatest importance to the government."

His acceptance, according to several of the best informed correspondents in Dublin have been given.

DEMOCRATIC FILIBUSTER ENDS IN A SUCCESSFUL STALL AGAINST LYNCHING BILL

Republican Majority Acted After Democrats Had Stood Them Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Success crowned the filibuster of Senate Democrats against the Dyer anti-lynching bill late Saturday when Republican senators in party caucus voted to abandon the measure completely.

The Republican majority acted after the Democrats, by what is generally conceded to have been one of the most efficiently conducted filibusters in the history of the senate, had prevented the transaction of any business for the fourth consecutive legislative day. The obstructionist tactics of the Democrats, moreover, were threatened more than a thousand presidential nominations which if unannounced by noon today when the special session ends, must be again submitted.

The Republican caucus was preceded by a conference attended by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader; Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican whip, and Senator Shortridge, of California, in charge of the Dyer bill. Senator Shortridge, who had been unmovable throughout the filibuster, was understood to have agreed at this conference to allow the fate of the bill to be decided by a majority caucus.

The question of abandoning the measure, which was passed by the house last session, was debated in the caucus for two hours with, it is understood, a small majority holding out for a continuation of the fight. The final decision, however, was to direct Senator Lodge to inform Democratic leaders that the bill would be pushed no further either at the special session or at the regular session convening today. This means the death of the legislation, which the Democrats have attacked as a "force" bill and as unconstitutional.

The decision, Republican leaders said after the caucus, will permit confirmation of a large number of the pending nominations at a session of the senate convening at 10 o'clock this morning two hours in advance of the meeting of congress in regular session. Among these nominations is that of Pierce Butler, of Minnesota, to be an associate justice of the supreme court.

Majority and minority leaders alike were agreed last night that the filibuster thus brought to an end by the Republican caucus decision will take a place as one of the most notable in senate history. It has differed from previous filibusters in that it involved no long speeches, Democrats having utilized the usual routine action of approving the Journal. Under Senate rules no business can be transacted until the Journal or minutes approved, and the Democrats took advantage of this rule, refusing approval, presenting amendments, demanding quorum calls and requesting the ayes and nays on every question brought up.

The parliamentary effect of these maneuvers may be gauged by the fact that the senate, when it quit work Saturday had before it an unfinished business the journals of Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Leaders on both sides were agreed last night that the filibuster had had the additional effect of directing attention to Senate rules under which a minority by well directed moves, may block any legislation, and which Senator Cummings, of Iowa, the president pro tempore, Saturday described as "belonging to another civilization."

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL IN ORLANDO: WATKINS BLOCK SOLD

The McCrory Stores Corporation, through its president, J. G. McCrory, purchased the Watkins block, a business building in South Orange avenue between Pine and Church streets yesterday, for $300,000. It was the largest transfer of business property ever made in Central Florida.

Yesterday, Mr. Crowell represented the McCrory interests and Mr. Atha was retained by George T. Barr and his brother, Louis L. Barr of Greenville, South Carolina. Legal details in connection with the transfer were in charge of Massey and Warlow, local attorneys.

A few months ago Mr. McCrory bought the Evans-Rex building and the Atha building, adjoining structures in South Orange avenue, at the record-smashing figure of $2,500 a front foot. His investment in Orlando business property is brought to exactly $431,000 by yesterday's purchase. —Orlando Sentinel.

Southern Bell Telephone Company Working on Cable

On Building in the Alleys That Will Do Away With Poles

We thought a bunch of wood peckers had flocked to the Herald office today when an awful rapping, rapping on our office window and the building generally started. Upon investigation it was found that a flock of linemen of the Southern Bell Telephone Company were driving holes in the building for a big new cable that will take all the wires of the poles in the alleys and make a much better appearance aside from giving much better service.

The boys on the job stated that underground cables were also forthcoming and in time there will be no poles carrying the juice for the Southern Bell in this city—the wires will either be underground or placed on buildings where possible, doing away with poles altogether. We also understand that the Southern Bell will make many other changes to give Sanford one of the best services in the state and commensurate with the big growth of Sanford.

THE TIGER WANTS U. S. TO HAVE SAY IN WORLD DOINGS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 3.—Entry of America into European affairs, either as a member of the League of Nations or on some other basis, was urged today by Georges Clemenceau war-time premier of France, in the fourth of his series of addresses in this country, delivered at the Odeon before a capacity audience that applauded him roudly at frequent intervals.

The Tiger, summarizing what he thought he had accomplished so far on his tour of America, declared he believed he had convinced the country that France was not militaristic or imperialistic, and that she had every intention of paying off her debt to the United States.

Just to make sure, however, he repeated the arguments briefly on the points he touched in his subject of American participation in Old World affairs, that he has been more frequently advised he will not be able to get across.

"I do not intend to interfere in your policy," he said, "however, you interfered in mine (referring to the militarism charges), and I think I have the right to say that sometimes you were very much inclined toward the development of your military establishments.

"You have the best frontiers in the world. They cannot be better. But the other day you said you could not leave one unprotected unless you had 500,000 tons of war ships. That may be. I will give you a million tons if you want it. It is a way of spending and wasting your money which is, of course, at your disposition. I do not believe very much in capital war ships now, because there are submarines and airplanes which make war ships no longer capital."

AMERICA AND JAPAN LINE UP WITH THE ALLIES ON TURK QUESTION

That Turkey Wants Wiped Out For Territorial Rights

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Dec. 4.—Prince Andrew of Greece, and wife, Princess Alice, are proceeding to Corfu thence to Brindisi, Italy, aboard the British light cruiser Calypso of any dispatch from Malta.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 4.—America and Japan both lined up with Great Britain, France and Italy Saturday when they took their stand against Ismet Pasha's contention that Turkey had wiped out all the capitulations, or extra territorial rights for foreigners by declaring them null in October, 1914.

Richard Washburn Childs, spokesman for the United States, said that if any legal dispute arises, the Washington government will be obliged to take the same position as the allied powers. He expressed the belief, however, that the common interests of all concerned in the Turkish situation will make it possible to find satisfactory guarantees to replace the capitulations which are no distasteful to Turkey.

Baron Hayashi, for Japan, said he had great sympathy with Turkey's dislike for the capitulations, because his government once labored under the same system. Japan, however, had taken twenty years to build up a legal system satisfactory to the foreign powers.

HOLD FOUR NEGROES FOR DEATH OF GIRL

PERRY, Dec. 4.—Four negroes were held on suspicion last night in connection with the death Saturday of Miss Ruby Henry, pretty young school teacher. The body of the young woman was found with her throat cut and body bruised lying alongside a railroad track several hundred yards outside the town Saturday afternoon.

A coroner's inquest into her death was not considered necessary by the authorities who concluded after a brief examination that the young woman had been murdered by a fiend. The official investigation promptly resolved into a countryside search for her assailant. The investigation has not stopped with the arrest of the four negroes, Sheriff Lipscomb said last night. He spent most of yesterday out in the countryside running down the slightest hope of a clue.

The community turned out almost to a man to attend the funeral of the young victim. Services were conducted from the Methodist church here where the young woman had attended from the time she wore gingham and ribbons to Sunday school down thru her womanhood to the day of her death. Floral offerings abounded.

The aged parents were grief stricken at their rural home about ten miles from Perry. Miss Henry taught school here and lived with her sister, Mrs. M. A. Miller, probably a quarter of a mile from town. It was while she was coming from the Miller home to town that she met her death.

Despite its deep resentment, the community has held its head and there has been no untoward incidents in connection with the search for the murderer.

Following the game the hostess served chicken salad, nut bread sandwiches, sarkines, olives and ice cream. On the plates for the girls were cunning little vases of flowers for the girls, as favors and match boxes for the boys.

Good Outlook For Lettuce

Watching as they do from day to day, the plantings and marketing seasons in the various lettuce and celery-growing localities of the United States, the shipping organizations here generally are in position to give writers very pertinent information in this respect, which, in the case of lettuce at this time, comes from Manager W. M. Scott of the A. F. G. Florida Vegetable Division.

California is one of the great lettuce growing states and the crop is placed upon the markets of the country along with Florida winter truck crops. Mr. Scott's report on the present outlook in California is very interesting and shows that "A real shortage of lettuce in California is anticipated until about the first of January."

"The crop in the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles is very light this fall, being considered below normal and much below last year," the report continues.

It appears that the greatest crop is expected from the Imperial Valley region where "all indications are that the tonnage to move from that section will be excessively large. In fact, present indications are that the total acreage will range somewhere between 16,000 and 20,000 acres, or at least double, if not triple the total acreage of last year. The early average is very light due to extremely hot weather at time of planting, causing poor stand, which made it necessary to plow up a portion of the acreage planted. The movement from the Imperial Valley will begin about the 20th of December, but will not be sufficiently heavy to cut any real figure until about January 10th."

Even then, the report further states, the movement will be light until the end of January. Present indications are that a "deluge" will begin after January 1st and continue through the months of February and March, a time when the markets of the country were so high last year.

This forecast is of little concern to the Sanford lettuce growers who calculate upon having their crops off before February 1st and going ahead with their greatest of all crops, celery. Celery is shipped from January 1st until some time in April. It is recalled that the Winter Garden section, however, plays the late markets and have counted upon very substantial shipments during the months of February and March of next year. Florida Grower.

PLANT SALE ON SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK

HELP TO MAKE SEMINOLE COUNTY THE MOST BEAUTIFUL

Be sure to plan to go to the Woman's Club plant sale Saturday. There may be some things there that you will want for your garden—there is sure to be a warm welcome, and some interesting garden talk. If you have roses, foliage plants or fall blooming flowers, be sure to take a basket or vase, no matter whether you think they may take a prize or not. We folks have a wonderful county—this Seminole, and the more we realize this, and the prouder we are of the fact the better for all of us and our children, and the stranger who are daily thronging in to cast their lot with us. Bring your beautiful flowers—let us look out possibilities in the face, and see if we cannot build up into wonderful beauty our county that is already so wonderful in the more practical side of horticulture. Bring your flowers—if you happen to have something remarkable in the way of a fruit or vegetable, bring that. Who knows but that from some small time is remembering time, and there are Christmas gifts to make, and to buy, to wrap in all the daintiness of holiday paper, ribbon and Christmas seals, and to consign early to the care of Uncle Sam to insure their getting to destination before the great day. Some local stores are already showing their large and varied stocks of Christmas things, and others will place them on view the first of next week. Not only for the sake of the busy merchants, the hurried and hurried clerk to the old warbling "Do your Christmas Shopping Early" sign, but for your own sake as well. Buy early, and have your choice of the beautiful holiday assortments offered. Buy early, with the thought in mind of each person for whom the gift is intended. Harried and last-minute shopping often means the mistletoe gift, the thoughtless, inappropriate thing, which in your sane and sober senses you would never think of choosing for Bobbie or Kate or Of course, there are always the belated buyers, and always will be, but let's give them a clear field, and get our things first. Today is none too early to start out with these shopping lists, to stop, to pick up the holiday goods and then by next week Christmas plans and purchasing will be going through in such a rush that you will be free the last week or two to enjoy leisurely preparations for the home festival, to stop to consider the importance of education. If there is any doubt in the minds of any people here about the business that tourists bring to a city look at Orlando, St. Petersburg, and other first-class winter cities. Look at the prices paid for property and look at their marvelous growth. Tourist towns are live ones.

Congratulations to the Mt. Dora Topic that will now have a home of its own and a $15,000 stock company to take care of it. Miss Edith Edgerton now has everything just like she wants it and deserves it and we can look for big things in the future of Mt. Dora and the bright Topics and other first-class winter cities. Look at the prices paid for property and look at their marvelous growth. Tourist towns are live ones.

The question of the location of the new library is one that should be discussed and the location is something of vital importance to the people of today and the coming generation. It is something that should be the earnest consideration of the people themselves since the city commissioners want to place the building where it will give general satisfaction if possible. The lake front is its advantage and its disadvantage. A prominent citizen today speaking of the lake front said that the library building would be next the railroad property and if warehouses and railroad tracks were there in the future, it will fill up the space which a big auditorium would do. The result would be a crowded and noisy part of the city—something that would never occur in the parks and that the lake front is far from the residence center of the growing city of Sanford.

All of these objections and preferences should be brought out now and the Herald would like to have an open forum discussion in the Herald on this subject and the matter to be signed by the names of the contributors for publication or not just as they please but such a discussion would enlighten the public to a remarkable degree and as the bills have been opened it is high time the City Commissioners knew what the public has in mind in order that they can locate this building where it will be central if possible and suit the people generally. The City Planning Committee should also be consulted on the matter and see that the plans are for the lake front and other parts of the city.

This library building is not built for today, but for the future and the old and young people are interested in the library. Let us hear from you and make it snappy.

FOR UNIFORM MOTOR LAWS The desirability of having uniform state laws on divorce and many other subjects is constantly being urged by the public. The latest need is shown in the case of automobiles. A writer in Motor Life points out that not only has each of the 48 states its own set of laws for these vehicles, but that the counties and cities and down through the villages and hamlets, use of lights, the right of way, the speed of the cut-out, and parking restrictions. California has a complicated set of arm signals which every driver must use to tell when he is going to stop or start or speed or to turn in a particular direction.

On a 14-mile run over the Boston Post Road is found more than the half dozen different speed regulations. The following suggestion for improvement of the present system, or rather lack of it, is for uniform laws on speed limits for the urban, suburban and country driving so that in a 60-mile run the motorist will not be subjected to a dozen or so different limits. Standardizing of lights and colors for semaphore crossing signals so that the same colors everywhere. It is suggested that red be the universal standard for stop and green for go. Uniformity and accuracy in road signs should be given. Signs also advocated on signals. Signs also advocated on signals. Signs also advocated on signals.

With Thanksgiving a thing of the past and with the calendar just turned to December, Christmas is just around the corner, and really that is what it is, being but a trifle over three weeks away. These weeks are a short time in which to do all the things that lie before the average person, in the way of preparations for the Christmas season.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

Two years ago, Dr. P. F. Claxton, then commissioner of education, instituted the observance of the first week in December as Education Week. Last year the American Legion became interested in perpetuating this week. This year the United States Bureau of Education is co-operating with the American Legion and the National Education Association in inviting every American organization, club, school, church, newspaper, theatre, individual, and bodies of every description to participate in making the week, December 3-9, a real nation wide revival of educational enthusiasm.

The American Legion asked President Harding to issue a proclamation for the observance of this week, this he did, on November 20, 1922. In this proclamation, President Harding said, among other things, "The ideals of democratic government and democratic education were planted simultaneously in our country. In order that we may keep in mind constantly to improve our educational system, it is proposed that the week of December 3-9, inclusive, be set aside for special observance as American Education Week. Without a vision the people perish. Without education, there can be no vision."

The purpose of Education Week is to learn our school needs, local and national, and to meet these needs with constructive programs. This is the week for all American citizens to visit their school, to become acquainted with the teachers of the citizens of tomorrow, to become better acquainted with school laws and the educational system in general.

CO-OPERATIVE UPBUILDING The Neeshu plan of co-operative work between the merchant and the farmer, is the best that has come to our attention in a long period of time. If worked to completion as it is now contemplated, it will result in increased development and earning power to the farm and farmer, and will be the means of bringing more residents for the upbuilding of our country.

YOUR COMMERCIAL BODY In every city the same story is told of the active work of the chamber of commerce or board of trade or whatever the trade body might be called that is doing all the work of the various cities in the front ranks of progressive cities. The city is circumscribed by the manner in which the Chamber of Commerce is supported but whether the body is supported in the right manner or not the chamber is working mightily to help the city. It remains for the business men of the city to respond to the calls of the chamber of commerce for memberships as to whether the best results are being obtained or not. If the trade body is the full support of the people of the city, if they pay their dues and give the time and attention to their committees and attend the meetings and help the organization by giving it a suitable publicity tax that body and that city is flourishing. If they support the chamber of commerce in a half hearted way that city is not getting what it should in the matter of publicity and action and patronage. You can look around you and see the difference in the various cities in Florida. Those cities with the live organizations and the big publicity tax are forging ahead and doing business while the other cities are languishing although many of them would be dead long ago if it were not for their board of trade or chamber of commerce for their support.

Earning Power and Saving Power Of course, a man's earning power counts, but what is of prime importance is his saving power. It is not the amount with which you open an interest-bearing account that means most in the end, but the regularity with which you add to it. The Peoples Bank, of Sanford, will help you to keep your earning power and saving power well balanced.

Poor Richard Said "A penny saved is a penny earned." In his day pennies were as large as our quarters. Yet all the pennies in the world wouldn't have taken Poor Richard to a movie, bought him a flivver, or paid his street car fare. The pennies of a hundred years ago were not as big in buying power as those of today.

But Poor Richard's advice is still good. And it is no less valuable when applied to dollars instead of cents. Every year you spend a large proportion of the money you earn. So much for clothing. So much for shoes. So much for things to eat, house-furnishings, garden seeds, tools and what not.

There's just one way to save money in making your purchases. Know what you want before you buy. Read the advertisements. They tell you what is new and good. They tell you where and when to buy to best advantage. They help keep you posted on what the stores and manufacturers are offering.

RED CROSS AID AT HAND Alrump Crash Finds Aid at Hand The crash and destruction of the U. S. Army's large airplane in Florida last February with the loss of 34 officers and men and 11 injured was the most serious disaster in the Red Cross relief in this country. The suddenness of the accident tested the preparedness of the organization and the response was immediate and relief of the survivors, also funds for the families of the fallen, of the kind which came from long distances to claim their own.

Put up a Strange Defense. A breach of promise suit which she brought against him in the Superior court of Lincoln, Neb., was dismissed. The wealthy young Lincoln merchant told the court he had answered Miss Henoch's advertisement in a matrimonial journal and that when she contacted him she had become pregnant. He refused to marry him, Miss Henoch received a judgment for $8,000.
