By FRED R. BALLARD
 AP Features
 LEXINGTON, Ky.—William Helis flicked the ashes off his long thin cigar and declared: "Big mansions and fine fences aren't going to fool me."
 The New Orleans sportsman, who has pocketed more than a quarter of a million dollars off his bulging bankroll this year for likely looking thoroughbred yearlings, was speaking this time of his plan to purchase a Bluegrass farm home for his horse flesh.
 Ready To Lay It On Line
 Helis rapidly becoming an important figure in the thoroughbred world, will lay it on the barrelhead in whatever denominations it takes to buy a horse that appeals to his fancy. He already bid $66,000 last August for a yearling he liked at the Lexington Sales. A few weeks before he bought Attention, five-year-old son of Equinox, for $55,000. And all told, he has spent more than $300,000 this year for yearlings.
 But, buying a farm is different. He expects to buy one in this area sometime after he does a little shopping.
 "Give me a little time," he said. "The Good Book says it took the Lord seven days to make the world, so it looks like I should be hurried into this thing."
 Preparing Youngsters
 Meanwhile, Helis has leased training quarters at the nearby Coldstream Stud and is preparing some of his youngsters for the 1944 racing season. Trainer W.G. (Billy) Douglas has charge of the crop and plans to ship eight or

Duck, Deer Hunters Save Meat Points

AP Features
 MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—There are a lot of "ifs" in hunting this year.
 In spite of them the prediction is that in Minnesota alone hunters will put 25,000,000 pounds of duck, pheasant and deer meat in storage this season and ease the strain on the family ration points.
 Of course, "if" the hunters had the shells, they could get more ducks—because ducks are plentiful. Hunters report they haven't seen a duck in years.
 And "if" they had the gasoline, they could get to the lakes and sloughs a little often because the ducks are there basking in the sun and enjoying a real vacation from bombardments.
 You can buy the shells "if" you want to pay the price. There's a government ceiling on them—it's $1.58 on a box of 20 12-gauge shells—but hardware and sporting goods stores throughout the north west just don't have them.
 "If" you hit the black market or find hunters with a shell surplus, then you'll pay plenty—up to $5 a box which hunters agree makes duck meat pretty expensive. The metropolitan newspapers are full of ads listing guns for sale but guns just don't sell unless the vendor supplies some shells. There have been numerous instances where hunters have bought unneeded guns in order to obtain shells.
 The South Dakota hunter advertised he wanted shot guns shells "any amount, state price."
 Another want ad in the same column of the Minneapolis news paper read: "Haven't anyone a few shells they'll sell a disabled vet even?"
 A case of 12-gauge shells was advertised by another party. He wanted $80 for them. In the pre-war days the same shells would have brought $22 to $25; under ceiling prices $27.60.
 For one hunter it was no sacrifice to offer to trade his hip boots for shells.

Job Holders Divided Into Two Classes

By GRAVE MARTIN
 AP Features
 The job holders of America are divided into two classes—(1) those who have war jobs and, (2) those who think they have permanent jobs.
 The war jobs in many cases will be luckier in the long haul. They know what they are up against and know they must be ready to jump when the time comes. Only the slower among them expect chicken every Sunday forever.
 The brighter ones are post-war planners. They are putting aside war bond nest eggs so they can start a gas station on that well corner back home, or buy into the McWenney bakery. They are learning every skill they can at their war plants against the day when they will have to make good with some one skill in peacetime employment. They are keeping in touch with old friends, employ ers, relatives. When the time comes they will know which way to jump.
 In "permanent" jobs away from the mushroom growth of war in industry, the brighter men and women also are taking stock. Aside from the general proposition that no job really is permanent, any more than any industry is absolutely guaranteed, they know that no individual job is permanent—unless the jobholder makes it so.
 Only the Good Time Charlies among them think that the boom is going to be anxious always for their indispensable services as now. The truth is—and it's no secret that nearly every large corporation is carrying in these times a load of incompetents because nothing better is available. Only too obviously these sloppies lose salaries and savings money will be needed out some day. But not the post-war planners, who are busy right now making themselves "People We Can't Get Along Without."
 These post-war planners have weather eyes out also for new trends and opportunities in their own and kindred fields. They watch for them in trade papers and in reports of conventions and the like. And they keep a notebook just for jotting down the chances that they see. To such planners will open the opportunities that were opened to automobile and radio construction men after the last war.

Army Stevedores Learning New Tricks

CAMP HAHARAN, La.—The tough muscled men who load and unload the tough goods of war are learning their trade right here in camp by the grace of Army ingenuity and the good ship Gloria.
 The Gloria looks more like a rig up for a carnival than a ship. And she can't sail a lick. Her eight deck winches and cargo booms give the county fair effect and she's really only a sort of platform with hatches through which tractors stow and discharge their "practice cargoes" some 24 hours a day.
 Florida, fake transport with salt-water airs (the even has a bell and whistle) is the classroom of the transportation corps battalion trainees. To them is assigned the overseas job of feeding supplies to Allied armies.
 Night and day the big deck winches jerk the dummy cargo from a dummy wharf and stab it into the Gloria's hatches. Then they unload. Load. And so it goes unendingly; except for slight delays between shifts when her machinery is oiled and greased, the Gloria is never quiet.
 Truck operators learn to move their loads into exact position to be scooped into the hold of the Gloria; other men are trained to locky the giant air compressors which squirt their invisible power into the winches; all are trained in the technique of cramming a maximum of material into a minimum of space, in the shortest possible time. In the time perhaps that it takes an enemy recon-nnaissance plane to beckon its bombers. The men of the port battalions know that luck is a brittle thing. They don't depend on it. They

By doing that we help keep war production at its maximum... production which means earlier victory.

You can do it by conservation in your use of electricity. That doesn't mean doing without electric service; you NEED IT DOES mean doing without unnecessary electric service... that which is wasted when a refrigerator door is left open or when the cooking unit is left on high heat after boiling has started, or when lights are left on when no one is using them. It means keeping your appliances in good operating condition. ## Workers Ask Ford Company For More Pay

Lewis Begins Negotiations With Coal Operators For Contract With Miners

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17. (AP) — John W. Hecker told the National Association of Real Estate Boards today that the only way to meet the nation's debt burden was through full industrial production at present day standards. He warned against a continued deficit financing after the war. It was his first major speech since announcing his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

DETROIT, Nov. 17. (AP) — A demand for new wage rates without regard to the "Little Steel Formula" was presented to the Ford Motor Company today by the Ford department of United Automobile Workers (CIO). No immediate statement came from the Ford Company.

In Washington John E. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, met with soft coal operators today to negotiate for a wage agreement under which the miners would work after the government returns the mines to their owners.

Economic Stabilization Director Paul M. Vinson said that Congress orders an overall eight cents per hour increase in wages for non-operating railway employees. It will have taken the Little Steel Formula.

Expressing this view in a statement submitted to a Senate Interstate Commerce Subcommittee yesterday considering a resolution favoring executive approval of the 8 cents increase, Vinson said: "It is such a serious violation of the resolution Congress will have to take the country that a privileged group outside the stabilization program and is not to join in the non-operating railway workers, now taking a strike vote in connection with their unsettled wage demands, more than a year ago voted for 20 cents per hour increases. An emergency panel recommended eight cents, which the boardholders and operators accepted, but which Vinson vetoed in violation of the Little Steel Formula."

Subsequently a second emergency board worked out a chilling wage increase of four to 10 cents, which Vinson approved, but which the unions rejected.

The Congressional resolution is designed to give Vinson's approval of the 8 cents award.

State Patrolman recently recovered a Ford Sedan, stolen late Sunday night from Sgt. Fred Wales. The car was found at the side of the Orlando road near Maitland, according to Patrolman J.M. Ricbberg.

The plate glass window in the front of the Florida State Bank was broken this morning at about 1:30 o'clock by an overhead transport which opened by a violent explosion of steam. Two small stones and a brick against the window broke out a large section of glass. It was reported that the stones were thrown from a nearby building.

Co. C, State Guard, Furnishes 32 Men To Armed Services

Thirty-two former members of Co. C, Florida State Guard, are now in the Army or Navy of the United States, or have been called to active service since their period of training in the State Guard. It was revealed at the regular weekly drill of Co. C held at the Army Monday night.

The State Guard provides the best possible opportunity for preliminary training before entering the armed services. Capt. Caldwell said: "The fact that so many of our boys have been commissioned or received ratings, cutting them to higher pay than the average enlisted man is sufficient proof that anyone contemplating such service within the next year would do well to become a member of the State Guard now."

Rifle practice was conducted on the range under the direction of Sgt. Byrd Gosse in preparation for the annual battalion shoot which will be held in Lenoir on Nov. 28. And the company was put through some close order drill by Capt. Galloway and Sgt. John Meisch. Lieut. Porter Lansing reported for duty following a recent illness.

Rabaul Made Too Hot For Japs To Hold

102 Enemy Airplanes Destroyed In Six Days And Number Of Surface Ships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP) — Rabaul, a powerful Japanese base in the South Pacific, was made too hot for the Japanese to hold, according to a statement by a Navy spokesman today. The Japanese had suffered enough damage to important fleet units to make them unable to maintain a concentration of aircraft in the base, he said, but to handle the situation.

The statement, made after the reported destruction of 102 enemy aircraft in the last six days and sinking of surface ships in the Rabaul area, tied in closely with a previous assertion by Navy Secretary Knox that there is a possibility the Japanese will be forced to abandon Rabaul. Some military and naval observers predict the base will be up Allied hands by Christmas.

The statement for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the South Pacific was made today evening. The South Pacific command has something to show for the past six days. It is now something under 10 percent of what American shipping losses were.

It is noted that during current operations in the area, every thing possible was being done with what equipment was available.

The spokesman, Col. Lafayette Diller, made the statement when asked by newsmen for comment on dispatches printed here quoting Gen. Adm. Brent Young as saying that the United States was preparing the Southwest Pacific in quantities sufficient for large scale operations against the Japanese.

Russian Siege Guns Blast City Of Gomel

Record Of Four Epic Months

CATASTROPHIC NAZI LOSSES mark this first of the Russian winter campaign since July 12 when the Soviet forces began their giant push to cut the Germans from their last stronghold of the Dnieper River on Sept. 25 and bringing the crisis to a close on Nov. 2 are spectacular highlights in a victorious campaign which the Nazis had been unable to sustain for a long time. The Russian forces have been able to maintain a concentration of aircraft in the base, he said, but to handle the situation.

Germans Take Island Of Leros In Aegean Threatening Position Of Turkey

London, Nov. 17. (AP) —

Associated Press — British troops from the island of Leros in the Aegean Sea, which is a strategic position for Turkey, were attacking today.

Editors Draft Resolution On Press Freedom

Condemn 'Practice Of Regarding Papers As Government Tool'

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 17. (Special)—A resolution condemning "the practice in any government of regarding the press as an instrument of government" will be presented to the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in January, the society's bulletin announced.

The resolution was drafted by a committee, appointed by Roy Roberts, managing editor of "The Kansas City Star" and president of the society. Members of the committee are Wilbur Forrest, of the New York Herald Tribune; Erwin D. Canham, "The Christian Science Monitor"; and William Allen White, "The Emporia (Kan.) Gazette."

It will be submitted to the membership for discussion, possible revision and action. The text of the resolution follows:

"Whereas, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, conscious that a constantly widening area of freedom of the press is vital to the advancement of representative government and world peace, and moreover cognizant that its attainment is primarily dependent on the freedom of peoples, and whereas, international freedom of communications is a distinct forward step in order that news of international significance be widely known, and whereas, freedom of the press requires constant protection even in the areas where, as in the United States of America, its exercise as a right of the people has led to an enlightened public opinion.

"Be it resolved, that this society pledges such support as is within its power to further the principle of world-wide freedom of communications and of the press, and that we condemn the practice in any government of regarding the press as an instrument of government which thereby renders it a menace to enlightenment and future peace.

The annual conference of the society will be held in Washington Jan. 21 and 22.

W. P. B. Reports Paper Shortage Growing Worse

Government Asks Farmers To Cut Pulpwood In Off Season

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Reports of increasing gravity of the pulpwood and paper shortage were coupled recently with an appeal by the War Man-Power Commission for farmers to turn to pulpwood cutting and lumbering during the agricultural off-season.

Enforced reduction of at least 18 percent in all paper products available for use in the first three months of 1944 was indicated by the War Production Board.

The W.P.B.'s Forest Products Bureau reported that pulpwood production decreased 18 percent in the first nine months of this year as compared with a similar period in 1942. With a time lag between the cutting of wood and production of paper, the bureau said, first effects of the decrease probably will be felt in January.

An appeal for greater efforts in the nation-wide salvage of waste paper also came from James P. Byrnes, director of the Office of War Mobilization, who declared that munitions plants already have had to close down for lack of paper containers to ship their munitions output.

Mr. Byrnes said that about 6,000,000 tons of paper a year are being salvaged currently while minimum requirements are 7,500,000 tons.

To encourage more labor for pulpwood cutting and other occupations useful to the war effort, Man-Power Chairman Paul V. McNutt ruled that farm workers may transfer to such employment without obtaining a certificate of availability. If a farm worker remains on the new job longer than six weeks, his employer should make a request for his services for the additional period to the United States Employment Service.

Farmers and agriculture workers within the military age limits, eighteen to forty-four years inclusive, must obtain approval from their local draft boards. The boards have been instructed to approve the off-season transfers for periods up to four months.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

By Spuds Johnson

SEVEREST TEST OF THEIR LIFE-TIME

The farmers of Florida and the rest of the Nation now face the most exacting test of their lives—the 1944 war food production program.

The 1942 and 1943 production programs were severe tests of their ability, strength, and patriotism—tests in which they were not found wanting—but the 1944 program will be an even greater test.

On their shoulders rests the tremendous responsibility of producing enough food to carry on the war successfully against the enemies of America and other United Nations. Sufficient quantities and amounts of weapons must be available to win this war, and no weapon in the arsenal of Democracy is more important, more necessary than food.

Developments on the battlefronts in recent months, brighter than ever before for the United Nations, have resulted in a greater need than ever for food. Requirements for the military forces of the United Nations, for helping civilians of nations allied with us, and for averting starvation among peoples in lands occupied by United Nations forces are steadily increasing and will continue to increase until the war is over.

Thus, the American farmer, now winding up the second year of record-breaking war food production, is faced with the task of exceeding the record production of 1942 and 1943 in 1944. With less labor than ever before and with many other problems which have sprung up with the war, he is being called on to produce another record-breaking crop.

ODT Manager Urges Early Xmas Shopping

"Do your Christmas shopping early and send all packages destined for other cities as soon as possible, at least by Dec. 10," says George H. Cochran, district manager for the Office of Defense Transportation in Orlando.

Because of war strains on transportation and manpower shortages, delivery of packages by parcel post or express cannot be assured before Christmas if the load is concentrated in the few weeks preceding the holiday, Mr. Cochran pointed out.

In order to aid war bonded transportation facilities in handling the load, Mr. Cochran listed four simple rules which will lighten the burden for the country's railway and truck carriers:

1. Remember that the best gifts for this wartime Christmas are war bonds and stamps. The Post Office can handle bonds and stamps without using valuable shipping space needed for war material.
2. If you buy other gifts, do your shopping in November.
3. If you send Christmas packages to other cities, send small articles in order to save transportation space.
4. Ship all Christmas packages destined to other cities, whether by parcel post or express, as soon as possible and in any case before Dec. 10 if you want them to reach their destination before Christmas.

Lieut. Roosevelt Gets Silver Star For Gallantry

President's Son In Wounded While Saving Comrade's Life

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 17. (AP)—Lieut. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the third son of the President, received the silver star for gallantry and purple heart for wounds from Vice Admiral Hawitt yesterday during presentation of 24 awards to 22 officers and men of the destroyer Mayrant.

Five other silver stars, two of the legion of merit, and 15 purple hearts were awarded as the outcome of repeated enemy aerial attacks on their ship during the Sicilian campaign.

The 29-year-old Roosevelt received the silver star for gallantry and purple heart for wounds from Vice Admiral Hawitt yesterday during presentation of 24 awards to 22 officers and men of the destroyer Mayrant.

"During a heavy enemy night air attack on shipping in the harbor," the citation said, "several bombs were dropped close to the U.S.S. Mayrant, moored alongside the dock.

"Bombs struck a trainload of ammunition and other near by shortages of gasoline and explosives. When bomb fragments and flying shrapnel from exploding ammunition wounded two men on the bridge of the ship, partially amputating the leg of one of the men, Lieut. Roosevelt quickly and effectively with disregard for his own safety administered first aid and then during the heaviest part of the attack carried the more critically injured man down the ladders from the bridge to the nearest battle dressing station.

This prompt and courageous action in the face of great danger to himself in all probability saved the life of the wounded man.

"The exceptional courage, initiative and outstanding devotion to duty displayed by Lieut. Roosevelt were in keeping with the highest traditions of the naval service."

His purple heart was for a minor flesh wound on the shoulder from a flying piece of shrapnel.

Lieut. Roosevelt and others of the Mayrant's crew stood stiffly at attention in a rainstorm while the decoration ceremony took place on the deck. An officer of the deck, Lieutenant Roosevelt was in charge of assembling the men and dismissing them when the ceremony ended.

Rep. J. H. Peterson Appeals For Citrus

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 17. (FNS)—With citrus fruit playing an increasingly important part in the wartime food program, it is essential that Florida's great citrus crop be saved, Congressman J. Harlan Peterson declared in an appeal to homemakers and white collar workers in his district to help with his work by accepting employment in packing citrus commodities during the season.

"The vitamins in these fruits are so important that a special law was passed, making them citrus fruit and fruit juices and concentrates a part of the Navy ration," Peterson said.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Described For Readers Abroad

OWI Calls Her Friend Of Under Dog, And A Human Dynamo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—On the United States foreign propaganda front, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is pictured as a human dynamo who feels hot dogs to kings, keeps her husband waiting in parked car while she dashes off her daily newspaper column, and frequently writes "what cannot be done about this" memoranda to government officials.

Characterized as tall and graceful with "blue eyes that illumine an otherwise plain face," Mrs. Roosevelt has been "profiled" in an entry by the Office of War Information for foreign propaganda purposes.

The sketch, titled "The Working Woman in the White House," has been distributed to posts overseas to satisfy foreign curiosity about Mrs. Roosevelt, the O.W.I. said. It is one of a series about such prominent Americans as General George C. Marshall, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur; Wendell Willkie; Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, Ohio, and Tom Connally, Democrat of Texas; former President Herbert Hoover, and Representative Clare Luce, Republican, of Connecticut.

Mrs. Roosevelt was depicted as a globe-trotter who has traveled 280,000 miles in the last seven years and as a philanthropist who turned over to charity $500,000 earned through writing in the same period.

The O.W.I. calls her the "unofficial ambassador for the President" and says she can dance the rumba and play tennis.

The fact that she is "slightly deaf in her right ear" doesn't bother her, according to the O.W.I., and frequent "outbursts" of criticism leave her unbothered as she goes "quietly" about her business of "helping the underdog."

The O.W.I. considers Mrs. Roosevelt "not only an effective public speaker" and says she is more popular among low income groups than with the more prosperous.

She is deeply interested in the cause of labor, according to the O. W. I., and "is recognized throughout the United States as the champion of the young."

Probable lineup of the Fed's will be Cranston and Robinson ends Brunley and Singletary tackle; center and back, Fleming and Callahan as the four horses in the backfield.

The Fed backfield of late has really been showing plenty of class, with any man liable to bust loose for a good run anytime.

Bill Fleming has put in a wonderful season with an amazing total of yardage gained. Pete Brock has been a smart general at quarter and cut loose lately.

Callahan are both threats to any opposition. The line is firm and the ends, Cranston and Robinson right on the alert, ready to receive or intercept a long pass.

There ought to be a big crowd out Friday night if the weather is right. Next week the home game to Lewisburg for the final game of the season.

Kiwanians Hear New Deal And Rome Compared

Discussed From Page One

Nov. 27 Mr. Wilson served three years in the Army at Ft. Benning, Ga. from 1924 to 1927 and was rated as corporal and personnel clerk.

The Rev. E. D. Browder was introduced as a visitor to the club.

"Discipline became emperor of Rome in 284 A.D. in an unprecedented depression and a great emergency he sprang a New Deal on the empire in 313," read the Rev. Row's address.

Under him the Roman senate became politically impotent and the last traces of republicanism in institutions disappeared.

Senator Ernest R. Graham is expected to make formal announcement of his candidacy for governor in the near future.

Partisan and career managers of federal business and commerce. Prices of all commodities, wages and other activities were in complete control of the state.

What happened to this strange experiment? We have the verdict of history. Dictatorism and his New Deal failed to reckon with the inevitable fact that neither the all his legions could nor the human nature. Despite the fact that Dictatorism promised to be the only hope for the people of his time, living again the same collapsed. Black market flourished to traffic in commodities became common with labor merchants closed their doors and went on vacation. Dictator took the fun out of work and authoritative regulation which had led to the masses.

Shortage of tomatoes is especially felt by market operators who have put in special equipment to grade and polish them. Bean shipments have just about ceased from the Zellwood section, most of the light supplies being local.

Some movement of peppers has taken place lately, but supplies are very light. Cabbage is also scarce.

The citrus picture however, is much brighter, and near the market. The Sanford Fruit Company is shipping hundreds of crates of Hamlin and Parson Brown oranges daily. Quality of the fruit is very good, and ship prices are stated that the present price ceiling has not been dropped as was feared.

No grapefruit has yet appeared on the market, as it has not yet reached required standards of sweetness, it was reported.

French Avenue will be a very busy street when all citrus vehicles in the neighborhood get out full action. In addition to the Sanford Fruit Company at the market, there is the new large packing plant of Shlack, Patrick and Lingle, at French and Twelfth Street, Southward Fruit Company across the street from them, and Kirchhoff Packing Company on Thirteenth Street, which has been making additions to the plant formerly operated by Patrick and Lingle.

On East First Street, Chase and Company has made important additions, put in new machinery and is now engaged in packing early fruit. It was reported.

So great is the demand for vegetables at the State Market that farmers bringing in loads of other produce did not on many occasions unload them on the market platform, but back right up to log out-of-state produce vans, and transfer their wares directly to them.

English Is Exonerated By Shands Committee

Tallahassee, Nov. 17. (FNS)

Tallahassee, Nov. 17. (FNS)—The committee, composed of Senators Win P. Shands, Ed Baker, John E. Beacham, Walter W. Rose and J.A. Franklin, made public its finding last week following an exhaustive and careful investigation.

Instead of disclosing any irregularities, the investigation reported on an actual tribute to Senator English and his department in that it found that the average annual cost of two school books in Florida during the past five years is lower than in any other state, and a comparable test-cost showed a comparable test-cost.

A comparable audit made by State Auditor Bryan Willis revealed that the average cost per pupil for school books in Florida during the period from July 1, 1937 to June 30, 1942, was 84 cents.

Comparative costs in other states were: Georgia, $1.05; Oregon, $1.15; Texas, $1.15.

The committee found Mr. English's record commendable in giving the lowest average cost in giving school books to Florida during the period in which the average cost in other states was higher.

English was exonerated by the Shands committee.

THE KING'S BASTION: THE CITADEL, QUEBEC

(From The Montreal Gazette) Peace on this bastion beats the Sunday sun. The city sleeps beneath me, old and gray.

On convent roofs the quivering sunbeams play; the muffled gun And batteries gauded by its mantled gun.

No breeze comes from the North, the hills which run Circling the blue mist of the Summer's day.

No ripple stirs the great stream on its way To those dim meadows where its rest is won.

Ah, God, what thunders shook these crags, what yells, what wails, What smoke of battle rolled about this place.

What strife of worlds in pregnant agony. Now all is hushed, yet here, in dreams, once more We catch the echoes, ringing back from space.

German Prisons

The reader of "Paris Underground" finds himself beset with many sharp reactions. One has to do with food. He looks with amazement at his own next meal. The cleanliness of the table, dishes, food itself. The warmth and good light of pleasant dining room or kitchen table. The wonderful, unbelievable abundance. The meat portion is small, but good. There is clean, good bread. There is gravy, or a little clean, good butter or fruit spread. Life in America is wonderful!

It takes such an experience as following a quiet, matter-of-fact American woman into French prisons manned by Nazis to make one realize one's mercies, to be filled with a violent and persistent desire to help France.

Another reaction is consideration of prisons in general. They are not intended to be pleasant anywhere. They should be stern and austere, but surely they should be decent. Prisoners should have winter heat; enough plain, clean food to keep well on; enough water for drinking, washing themselves and their clothing. Prisoners should be required to keep cells clean and orderly, but given facilities for doing so.

How good are our own civilian prisons? Are prisoners treated with plain humanity? How good are our asylums for the insane?

Our worst may be better managed than those of the Nazis in occupied countries. But how much better?

Mutual Aid

The British have a good name for the process we call "lease-aid." They call it "Mutual Aid." That is what it is. Great Britain has even now given almost as much in proportion to her own wealth as we in proportion to ours. Among other items, she furnishes food, shelter and other things to our soldiers abroad, no small affair.

Many matters of mutual assistance cannot be figured in terms of money.

Britain's dogged resistance in that terrible winter of 1940-41 is one. Without it, where would the United States of America be—all of the Americas? Russia's slaying of thousands of Germans, her wearing down of great German armies—can that be measured in money? What about China's resistance for five long years? America does what she can. Britain, China, Russia, and other nations give and to according to their powers. Working together, they will win. But none of them should let Hitler's last desperate attempts through propaganda weaving in and around the Allied nations get them down.

It would be well for Americans of today to keep firmly in mind that little interchange between two of the Founding Fathers.

"Gentlemen," one said as he signed the Declaration, "we must all hang together."

"Yes," replied another. "If we don't, we shall all hang separately."

Boys Town Heroes

Once in a while there comes to this office a quiet little sheet from Boys Town, Nebraska, where Father Flanagan carries on his great work of making useful citizens of homeless, abandoned boys, regardless of race or creed. Lately these sheets have taken the form of copies of citations. One by W. F. Halsey, Vice Admiral, U. S. Navy, reads:

"For distinguished service in the line of his profession on the northern coast of Guadalcanal Island on August 10, 1942. While a member of a patrol advancing through enemy territory, Huggard, with utter disregard for his own personal safety, fearlessly faced the accurate rifle fire of numerous enemy snipers to treat the wounds of incapacitated marines. Largely as a result of his valorous action the lives of several of the wounded were saved, and he set a fine example of courage to the members of his company."

The young man cited was Wesley Burton Huggard, Pharmacist's Mate second class, USN. His silver star medal is only one of a number of decorations given Father Flanagan's boys, hundreds of whom are now in the armed services. Eight of them have given their lives for their country. Boys Town has become a Town of Heroes.

WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

By JOE HENDRICKS

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH CONGRESS: Visitors to my office in Washington never fail to comment after a trip to the gallery of the House and Senate, over the manner in which Congress carries on its work.

Samuel H. Pettengill, a former Indiana Congressman and an author of note, recently wrote an article on the subject which I believe is an excellent explanation. How many times I have thought of the poor times Congress must make on those who see it for the first time from the gallery.

Yet, the visitor followed his own Congressman around for one typical day. I am certain he would come home with a growing regard for one of the habitué working groups of men in America.

Even the gallery one ordinarily sees few members "on the floor." Those present seem to be paying little attention to the proceedings. They are coming and going, talking with one another, reading the paper. But the visitor is there for only a few minutes, an hour at the most. He does not stop to think that the session he is witnessing began sharply at noon and will continue for four or five, sometimes for eight, ten or twelve hours. Long before such a session adjourns, even the visitor in the gallery would want to get up, stretch his legs, talk to his friends, and perhaps glance at the latest headlines.

THE REAL WORK OF Congress is done in Committee. What the visitor sees from the gallery is actually a ratification meeting, some proposal that has been already thoroughly threshed out in Committee. Every session, thousands of bills are introduced. They are referred to some forty Committees of the House of Representatives and corresponding number in the Senate. Some of these are of the greatest importance. When a Committee takes up one of these bills hearings are held in which a "day in Court" is given both to those who favor and those who oppose. This is the American way. No judgement is formed on the important matter until both sides have been heard. These hearings are held in the forenoon; consequently, the Congressman has already done half of a day's work before Congress assembles at noon.

It is not unusual for hearings to last two months or more, and then when they are concluded it often happens that the Committee will spend another month in re-writing the bill. If the visitor in the gallery had ever been a member of a jury back home trying a case which lasted five weeks, he would know better what his Congressman is up against. When one of these forty Committees finally reports a bill for action to the full House or Senate, the subject matter will generally have already come to the attention of all of the members, for the reason that, if the bill is at all important, each Congressman, even though not a member of the Committee having jurisdiction of the bill, will have probably been bombarded for weeks with hundreds of letters and telegrams, both for and against its passage.

Interested in the bill will come down to Washington to present their claims to him in person. The result is that by the time the bill reaches the floor, the average member already knows a great deal about it. Occasionally argument on the floor is fresh and new, but to a large extent it simply repeats what the member has already heard over a period of weeks or months. This being the case, it is not strange that the members are not in unanimous attendance when the bill is under discussion on the floor previous to the time it comes to a final vote, so that they apparently pay so little attention to what is being said.

Each of the forty Committees is a little Congress in itself. Unless the work were thus subdivided, it would be impossible for Congress to consider a tenth or a hundred part of the legislation that actually passes during a session. These Committees have from three to forty-three members in which both the majority and minority parties in Congress are represented, which again assures against arbitrary action. All members of Congress, have a great deal of confidence in the members of various Committees. When a Committee, therefore, reports a bill favorably, either by unanimous vote, which is true in the greater number of cases, or by an overwhelming majority, it is natural that the other members of Congress, who have been themselves busy on the work of their own Committees, will accept the recommendations of the Committee having charge of the bill.

It is only in the exceptional case, where there is a strong minority report from the Committee reporting the bill that there is apt to be serious and heated discussion on the floor. In addition to his legislative work, the modern Congressman often receives from one hundred to five hundred letters a day and sometimes an equal number of telegrams. The senders always expect at least the courtesy of an acknowledgment and most of them really desire a careful reply. In addition he receives hundreds of requests to go up to one of the Departments and plead the cause of a constituent. It is a killing pace. The mortality of members is much higher than the average in civil life for men in the same age limits. Sessions that formerly lasted only three months are now almost a year-long affair.

It Isn't TABOO any more for girls to know these truths

Some girls take CARDIOL as directed, three days before "their time" to help relieve periodic pain due only to functional causes. Others take it as a tonic to stimulate appetite and aid digestion by increasing the flow of gastric juices, thus helping build up strength for those demanding days to come. A 62 year record says CARDIOL may help. Try it, won't you? Adv.

Willkie To Fight Any Anti-Labor Stand By Party

Says National Ticket Sure Of Defeat In '44 If That Is Done

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 17. Wendell L. Willkie has pledged himself to block any attempts to turn the Republican party into an "anti-labor party," warning that the Republican national ticket would go down to certain and deserved defeat in 1944 if the party followed such a course.

Mr. Willkie, addressing 400 Wisconsin and Kentucky leaders last Saturday at a meeting sponsored by the Milwaukee County Republican Committee, charged that such an attempt to make the Republican party merely the voice of business and special interests was already being fostered by the same few politicians and "economic over-loads" whom he accused of trying to gain control of next year's Republican convention by promoting favorite son Presidential candidates.

"No more foolish course could be taken by the Republican party, and I will fight it every step of the way," he said. "The Republican party is not going to become an anti-labor party. I'll see to it that it doesn't."

Mr. Willkie ridiculed the idea that the results of the recent state elections in New York, New Jersey and Kentucky were proof that a Republican victory is inevitable in 1944, declaring that this notion was being spread only by politicians "who base their political philosophy solely on charts."

"I hope it is true that the Republican party will win next year," he said. "It can be true, but it is not inevitable. If the party were to adopt an anti-labor attitude it would take the road leading to certain defeat and deserved defeat."

"The government expects the total synthetic rubber production in the United States in 1944 to reach 800,000 long tons. Pre-war rubber consumption was around 600,000 long tons.

Tests Will Be Given For Social Workers

Pointing out that the demand for trained social workers is greater than the supply, due primarily to the rapid expansion of the public welfare program within the last few years, Mrs. Mary Holler, member of the District 12 Welfare Board from Seminole County, today called renewed attention to the Merit System examinations recently announced.

"While examinations will be held for 17 classes of positions," she said, "only two of these relate to social work—district welfare visitor and district welfare senior visitor. These two, however, offer basic experience for those who wish to adopt social work as a career, giving them opportunity to learn on the job."

Those who desire to take the merit system examinations, Mrs. Holler said, must file application with the Merit System Office, P. O. Box 113, Gainesville, not later than midnight of Nov. 26. Applications must be on official blanks supplied by the Merit System Office upon request.

Jones Urges Support For Farm Prices

War Food Administrator Says Commodity Credit Funds Ought To Be Put To Work

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP) While Congress debated the subsidy payment issue, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones today urged the continued use of Commodity Credit Corporation funds for this purpose in 1944, rather than "abandoning something we have for something that may look better."

Support prices are needed by the farmer to meet production goals, Jones told the Illinois Agriculture Association in a prepared speech. Jones also said the WFA is insisting on all possible allocation of steel for farm machinery for the remainder of this year and for 1944.

Farm machinery production of the year beginning last July 1 will be 50 percent higher than the production of 1940 despite heavy demands on steel output.

Meanwhile, the government launched a new subsidy program to hold bread prices down to present levels while permitting millers to pay higher prices for wheat.

Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson announced the program last night, to cost "no more than $1,000,000 a month" while at the capitol a coalition of Democrats and Republicans in the House pushed ahead with a campaign to kill all subsidies after January 1.

Under the Vinson-approved plan, wheat flour millers would pay as high as parity prices for wheat, should the market reach that level, and at the same time continue to sell flour for no more than the ceiling price now in effect.

The date on which payments will become effective will be announced later, Vinson said.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been asked to provide funds for the subsidy and to administer the program.

Mrs. W.L. Cooper Urges Food Goals To Shorten War

"In spite of a new food production record set by American farmers in 1943 for the seventh consecutive year, there is not enough food in total to satisfy all the demands, and there are definite shortages of a number of our favorite foods. It was pointed out today by Mrs. Walter L. Cooper, who recently was appointed by the Seminole County Defense Council as chairman of the Coordinated Food Committee of the county, sponsored by the O.P.A. and the Defense Council.

"The reason for the food shortage," Mrs. Cooper explained, "is that demand for food, both for civilians and for our armed forces, has increased so rapidly that our food can't keep up with the demand."

"Our food can shorten the war, save American lives, help win the peace if we use it not only to feed our civilians and our armed forces, but to meet the needs of our fighting allies, and to help feed the people of Europe as they are liberated from the Axis yoke," she added.

"In order that vital food reserves be built up to meet war needs, American citizens should produce more food of the right kinds, she pointed out; "conserve food and avoid waste; preserve fresh and perishable foods; add to working power by eating right foods for health; forego scarce foods in favor of those more plentiful; play fair with rationing requirements; pay no more than top legal prices; participate in community food projects; place 'war needs first.'"

Properly informed, every citizen will learn to think of food not just as a means of selfish satisfaction, but as essential, vital war material," Mrs. Cooper said.

Wendell Willkie Stops In Atlanta On Trip To Texas

ATLANTA, Nov. 19. (AP) Wendell Willkie, stopping briefly here today en route to Texas, announced the hope that Republican carry in the South would not allow itself to "become the instrument of prejudice, racial or otherwise." He described himself as "representing the viewpoint of the liberal leaders."

Members in Marietta, Pa. (Clarance Huntington Kelland, author and Republican National Committeeman from Arizona, proposed that Republicans and Democrats adopt identical plank on foreign relations in their 1944 presidential campaign platform.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, Kelland said that "with a victorious war approaching the final stages, it is not well that this country should be at odds upon the subject of its foreign policy."

"Let us eliminate the period inherent in such a difference," he said. "Democrats, New Dealers and Republicans are in substantial agreement. Let us then—our party which has formulated the policy, and the Deal Party which has adopted it—agree to eliminate the subject as a political issue."

The way is simple. It presents no difficulties. Let the officials of the two parties meet and agree that in the platforms to be adopted in 1944 there shall be identical foreign relations planks. Not similar planks. Not planks which shall faintly resemble each other, but planks identical as to every paragraph, sentence, word and punctuation mark. To the end that the rest of the world shall be apprised, that no matter what the outcome of the election shall be, upon the question of postwar cooperation and foreign policy, America is not divided, but is one and indivisible.

The executive board meeting of the Central Florida Council of Boy Scouts of America will be held at the Mayfair this evening, starting with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock. It was announced today by Ralph A. Smith, district chairman. Representatives of scout groups in the seven counties of the district are expected to attend the meeting.

Boy-Scout Council Will Meet Tonight

Dr. W. J. Allen, president of Stetson University, has requested that the Finance Committee meet at 8:00 P.M. at the hotel prior to the supper in order to adopt a budget for the coming year.

The Seminole County District Scout meeting was held at the Parish House of the Episcopal Church last evening. Mr. Smith called on Dr. Allen of the Stetson University School will be the big event of the year for scouts of the county—the get-together and conference. The speaker, Francis McEvoy, has been appointed to the entertainment committee of the event which will be held at the Parish House.

Earl Jeter Excels At Miami University

Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Jeter of 808 W. 17th St. have been informed by M.L. Stone, commanding officer of the Navy V-12 Unit at the University of Miami that Earl W. Jeter has been outstandingly successful both in his academic and military training.

"This success is far in a credit to him and should be proud of," Earl W. Jeter, the commanding officer, stated in a recent letter to the parents. Earl graduated last June from Benedict High School.

Hull Reports To Congress On New Pact

Precedent Broken As 72-Year Old Secretary Tells Of Success Of Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP) Secretary of State Hull today in a historic message reported to Congress on the Moscow conference on the new pact of peace and security. The declaration adopted by the four nations participating in the pact is hailed as a landmark in the history of all peace-loving nations, great and small.

High School Athletic Association Gives Banquet For Football Team

Thirty nine voracious appetites of the Cleary football squad dined on a banquet at the Mayfair tonight. The occasion was the big annual banquet given by the Seminole High School Athletic Association for the football players.

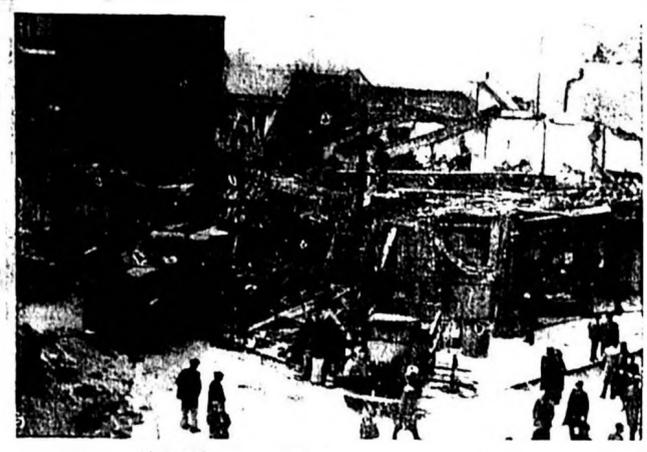

Attending the banquet also were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George Zainer and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Whitchel, and Bob Hodges, S/E of the Sanford Naval Air Station, a former New Jersey football star who has been very active in aiding coaches Zainer and Whitchel round the boys into playing football.

The happy 39 made such short work of the big turkey dinner with all trimmings, including apple pie, that Principal Morris was led to comment today that if they play football as well as they eat, there will be no question about winning here against New Smyrna tonight and Leesburg next week when they invade that city in Lake County.

Serving hot biscuits on plates to the boys as is done in Rotarian, Kiwanian and Lions parties, was forced to bring them in by the dispatcher.

Through the courtesy of Lieut. Morris H. Gross, welfare and physical director of the Sanford Naval Air Station who has served as a football referee for the club last three home games, the whole party was invited to the Station to view Pat O'Brien in the movie, "The Iron Major."
