City Will Hire Full-Time Grant Administrator

Block Grant Funds Available

By Karen Tailey Herald Staff Writer

Sanford will begin contacting homeowners next month to offer them rehabilitation funding for their homes following city commissioners' contracting for receipt of Sanford's $650,000 community development block grant.

Commissioners executed the funding contract during their meeting Monday night and also authorized Sanford Chief Accountant Carolyn Small's attendance at a three day, state-sponsored grant seminar in St. Petersburg.

Commissioners are also moving toward paid with grant funds and answer directly to Sanford Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons.

These links, when added to those provided by the city's citizen grant advisory board, form a funding distribution chain that leads to approximately 50 homeowners in Sanford's Georgetown community.

Funding process for the rehabilitative effort began back in November, when commissioners authorized grant application. The Seminole High School football team assisted grant receipt by rushing hiring a grant administrator, who will be the area targeted for funds to collect data from homeowners for inclusion in the application.

Initially, the funds will be used to revitalize the Georgetown community and will subsequently extend into the Goldsboro area if a grant distribution system the city has developed proves successful.

Proposed is concentration on offering the monies to Georgetown property owners through low interest loans, rather than outright allocations. The city is hoping resultant repayments will fund rehabilitation projects in Goldsboro.

Overall responsibility for the effort lies with the city, while the citizens advisory board is acting as grant facilitator.

The grant board is chaired by former Sanford City Manager Pete Knowles and contains residents from both the Georgetown and Goldsboro communities. The board members from these areas will help get the word out regarding the funding program, Simmons said.

The city estimates at least 50 homes in the eight block Georgetown area will be revitalized through the grant. The area is bounded by Orange and Locust avenues

Burton had selected being an author or a scientist as his career choices, and had indicated his hobbies as writing and science. Henley said Burton attended Milwee Middle School and Spr-

Charges Against Teacher Dropped By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County high school drafting teacher who resigned in May under accusations he had sexual involvement with a 171/2-year-old female student will not be prosecuted, according to the assistant state attorney on the case.

Robert Michael Cannon, 39, of 291 Gary Boulevard, Longwood, will not be charged with prohibitive acts while in custodial authority, as suggested by the Seminole County Sheriff's

The circumstances involved in the case apparently navigated it between the cracks in various applicable laws, according to the prosecutor.

Kurt Erlenbach said the purported victim is strongly opposed to prosecution and there is a possiblility that a crime did not occur. The girl was not under his care and the law requires that she be, Erlenbach said.

Charges of carnal intercourse with a person under 18 or fostering a dependency were not applicable because of the victim's age or background, he said.

Erlenbach said it was a very unusual case because the different laws didn't apply and he warned that teachers should not now think it is safe to have sexual encounters with students other than those they teach.

According to investigator's report, the girl met the teacher at school and began to confide in him about her family life.

The girl said the teacher became a "father figure" to her. She trusted him and felt secure with him, investigators said.

The girl expressed an interest in motorcycles and the teacher reportedly took her for a ride. After the ride he told her he had enjoyed their time together and suggested they plan an all-day ride, which she agreed to.

In January they reportedly rode to Clermont and stopped at a motel to "talk." The talking, she alleged, led to sex.

The encounters reportedly continued, sometimes in a Seminole County orange grove. Two weeks after the relationship ceased the alleged incidents were reported.

Panel Approves Grain Transfer For Drought Victims' Relief

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House Agriculture Committee, responding to the worst drought on record, has voted to tap mounting grain surpluses for relief to Southern farmers left with scorched crops and dying livestock.

"This is an attempt to alleviate one problem by assisting in another problem," said Chairman Kika de la Garza, D.Texas, citing storage deficits for bountiful crops elsewhere in the nation.

De la Garza and GOP leaders introduced the bill early Wednesday and pushed it through the committee by voice vote in the afternoon. He put the bill on a "fast track" and predicted it would be sent to President Reagan next month.

Citing budget constraints, de la Garza said farmers can be given commodities already owned by the government rather than cash disaster payments discontinued in recent

Senate OKs Gramm-Rudman Fix

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate, trying to keep up pressure to cut the federal deficit, approved a repair of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings balanced budget law to make it constitutional and give Congress a voice in final spending reductions.

The intent of the repair is to give the president's Office of Management and Budget the power to make automatic budget cuts, but restrict the OMB enough to counter fears that the executive branch will rig the numbers.

The Senate approved the fix-it job on a 63-36 vote Wednesday. But it faces an uncertain future in the House, which was waiting for the Senate to act first.

The Senate also faced a vote today on a move by Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., to repeal altogether the Gramm-Rudman law, which requires Congress to cut the deficit to zero by 1991 or face automatic reductions.

Facing Up To Debt Crisis

Mexico, staggering under the weight of a $98-billion foreign debt, a deep recession and plunging revenues from its oil exports, bought itself some time recently by signing a new agreement with the International Monetary Fund. The agreement could lead to $12 billion in new loans, twice the amount that was under consideration as recently as the first week of July. The aid will also cover a longer period - 18 months, rather than one year.

Although terms of the agreement are more flexible than usual, it still represents a short-term solution, one that merely adds to the total debt. Mexico still faces a crisis.

And so do her neighbors. In fact, the Latin American debt crisis is arguably the most urgent problem the hemisphere faces. Mexico is merely the latest Latin American nation on the critical list.

"Prolonging the present course," a recent report from a group called Inter-American Dialogue points out, "will leave Latin America economically stagnant, sociall repressive and politically unstable. The region's economic problems will imperil world financial arrangements."

The Dialogue report notes that each year since 1982, interest payments alone have absorbed $35 billion of Latin American nations' $90 billion to $100 billion annual export earnings. Obviously, the debt burden these nations are carrying has stultified their ability to expand their economies.

There is a better way. As New Jersey Sen. Bill Bradley has been pointing out lately, this better way proceeds from the notion that Latin America's $400 billion debt is more than a bank problem. In Bradley's words, "It is a political and national problem." It involves trade. jobs and democracy.

"The debt situation in Latin America," Bradley points out, "has already cost (the United States) about 1 million jobs." Four hundred thousand of those jobs were lost as a consequence of diminishing markets for U.S. agricultural products. To squeeze out money nceded to pay oil the banks, Latin American countries have been forced to cut off imports from the United States, thus penalizing American farmers and other American exporters. The debt has also slowed economic growth in most Latin countries and put heavy strains on the new Latin democracies. And the situation is getting worse.

So what's to be done? Bradley proposes a partnership to help Latin nations fight poverty and increase their standards of living. He proposes a program to take the strain off the new Latin American democracies, giving them a chance to take root instead of being destabilized by inherited debt and social unrest resulting from economic austerity

Bradley proposes cutting interest rates on all commercial and official bilateral debts of 15 Latin debtors by three percentage points for a three-year period and forgiving 3 percent of the loan principal a year for the same three-year period. These measures would provide $42 billion in debt relief from commercial banks and $15 billion in debt relief from bilateral loans by governments.

Endorsing Sen. Bradley's plan in a recent column, former U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick noted that it reminds us that the United States "has a permanent public interest in the democratic development and peace of the region, which is not identical to the private interests of any particular Americans, including bankers," Bradley's plan, Kirkpatrick also pointed out, tries "to take into account the seriousness of the problem, its importance to us, and the risks to the international financial system posed by current conditions." She, and we, believe that it deserves careful consideration.

Nope. They're professional models hired to portray a purported new breed of employee at the Dow Chemical Co., the nation's second largest producer of industrial chemicals. The firm is best known as the supplier of napalm and Agent Orange to the armed forces during the Vietnam War.

Dow, whose corporate headquarters is in Midland, decided that its image needed refurbishing - a conclusion shared by other firms in a business plagued by controversies over everything from calamitous industrial accidents to gross mismanagement of toxic wastes.

Du Pont, the largest company in the field, established the pattern for the industry half a century ago when it sought to obscure its work as a World War I munitions maker with the slogan "better things for better living through chemistry."

Today, Du Pont is a partner in an unlikely coalition that includes two other chemical manufacturers -Monsanto and Exxon - as well as two environmental groups - the Conservation Foundation and the National Wildlife Federation.

Operating under the name of Clean Sites, Inc., it is attempting to help the Environmental Protection Agency speed up the cleanup of abandoned toxic waste dumps.

Until very recently, chemical companies were routinely arrogant and confrontational, especially when criticized. Today, they often seem anxious to acknowledge errors in the past and offer promises to do better in the future. "We were short-sighted. We

A Delayed Victory

An anniversary slipped past me what their restraint did not buy for unnoticed the other day.

July 18 marked a half century since Francisco Franco called upon all Spaniards holding "a sacred love" for their country to join him and overthrow their government. That began the Spanish Civil War, a brutal three-year curtain-raiser to World War II.

Both sides in the struggle were coalitions. Franco's Nationalists included a rigidly conservative church hierarchy, a land-owning upper crust, most of the military, diehard monarchists and home-grown fascists. The Loyalists supporting the shaky five-year-old Spanish republic were a jumble of leftists from socialists through communists all the way to anarchists, and what there was of a liberal democratic movement.

Choosing sides was a tough call for the beleaguered democratic world of the time and in many respects it foreshadowed the fateful choice that would shortly have to be made between Hitler and Stalin. Totalitarianism infected both Spanish camps. But at least the Loyalists represented a legitimate, elected government and included those Spaniards who believed in democracy. Franco's Nationalists attracted no support from that quarter. That drew tens of thousands of idealistic volunteers from other countries to the Loyalist side. From the governments of the democracles, however. Spain's democrats got only sympathy, and not too much of that. There will always be speculation as to what might have happened if the French and British had aided the Loyalists militarily, as the Germans and Italians did Franco's forces.

But they didn't, and we well know them - shelter from the gathering storm. Within six months of the end of the Spanish struggle in March 1939, they were at war.

Under Franco's dictatorship. exhausted Spain sat out the world conflict. For three decades after the war's end, his grip remained unrelaxed. As late as 1974 when the Illegal Spanish Socialist Party chose an energetic new leader, who used the code name "Isidoro" to shield his identity from Franco's secret police, it was at a secret convention in Paris.

But Franco died a year later, and Spain began to change more rapidly than anyone, especially Spanlards. could have expected. The dictator's heir. King Juan Carlos, presided over a transition from authoritarianism to parliamentary democracy. Facing down an attempted military coup in 1981, the restored monarch has shown himself to be Spain's most deeply committed and politically adroit

Within seven years of Franco's demise, "Isidoro." now revealed as Felipe Gonzalez, was swept into office as prime minister with an absolute majority for his onceoutlawed Socialists. Surviving early fears of possible coups by disgruntled military elements, he was returned by Spanish voters this

By now it is clear that while Spanish democracy may have lost the civil war, it has won the peace. As confirmation, take the furor last year when President Reagan suggested in an off-hand remark that the thousands of American volunteers who fought for the Loyalists had been "on the wrong side." Gonzalez promptly responded, "I don't agree with him."

Bald Spot Remover

By Larry Doyle UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) - Men embarrassed by their bald spots can now just have them removed, physicians

Well, it isn't that easy. The new procedure, called tissue expansion, requires about $4,000, two operations, some pain and inconvenience. and a couple of months looking like something out of the "Outer Limits."

"Most men who are bald don't want to be," says Dr. Sheldon Kabaker, a San Francisco surgeon. "But they also want some sort of simple, non-surgical procedure, and there just aren't very many viable alternatives in that area." Tissue expansion is more expensive and complicated than the various creams, gels and electrical gadgets being touted to grow hair. But it also works, having been proven effective in eliminating hairless patches caused by male pattern baldness or scarring. Kabaker reported in the July

Archives of Head and Neck Surgery. The principle behind tissue expansion is similar to what happens naturally during pregnancy, when the growing fetus pushes out the stomach of the mother. Plastic surgeons use a similar process to create extra skin for grafts in burn victims, and African cultures have been using such techniques for centuries to enlarge certain facial features. Kabaker says.

In the case of a man with male pattern baldness, an expander is placed beneath a hairbearing area on the scalp and inflated over a sixto eight-week period. In a second procedure, the device is removed and the bald area is excised.

The largest bald spot treated in the study was approximately 3 1/2 by 6 inches in size, but Kabaker says the procedure is only limited by the amount of hair the patient has remaining.

"This doesn't create more hair, it just stretches it out over a larger area," he says. "So if a man has only about a one-inch ridge of hair (around the bald spot), and we expand that across his scalp it's going to end up looking very unnatural. We really need an eight to 10-inch ridge to make this work."

Kabaker and his colleagues at the University of California in San Francisco have performed more than 30 tissue expansions with good results. The effect is also permanent, Kabaker says, since the procedure is only done once a man's baldness has stabilized, usually some time in his thirties.

Secret Service Spies On Its Own

By Jack Anderson Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - Three Secret Service officers with a high-powered video camera staked out the beach at Ocean City, Md., for three hours and 45 minutes on July 6, 1984. Crouching in the sand dunes, they surreptitiously observed and filmed a muscular, innocent-looking man of 34 as he lay on the beach. soaking up sun.

Was this part of some secret anti-terrorist operation? Was the target of the Secret Service surveillance a suspected assassin. perhaps a member of a dread Libyan hit squad?

Not quite. The object of all this attention was Robert Hambsch III, a member of the uniformed Secret Service and a union activist. The photographic evidence of his afternoon at the beach was used by agency officials to fire him six months later. The "crime" so painstakingly documented by Secret Service inspectors was that Hambsch, though on unpaid sick leave for a knee problem, had been forbidden to go farther from Washington, D.C., than his home in Annapolis. Md., and its environs. Service regulations require permission before officers may leave their duty area. Ocean City is a two-hour drive east from An-

Summoned for interrogation later by a staff inspector. Hambsch was told to state where he had been from July 2 to July 8; he was told he could be "as vague as he wanted." Hambsch responded that he had been in Annapolis and nearby Cape St. Clair. Md.

Hambsch requested the presence of an attorney or a neutral witness at his interrogation. This was refused. On the transcript of the interrogation. he wrote "Under Protest" beneath his signature. Hambsch was later fired for "falsification of facts" and insubordination.

Hambsch appealed his dismissal to the Merit System Protection Board, claiming that his superiors were acting in retaliation for grievances he had filed against them. He also argued that the regulations requiring permission to leave the area should not have applied to him. since he was on leave without pay. His appeal was rejected.

Hambsch then took his case to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals. He lost again, even though the court acknowledged that "one might be able to infer that high-ranking officers of the Secret Service were 'out to get him."

Court records reviewed by our reporter Jim Lynch reveal the basis for such an inference. They show that six agency officials met on June 19, 1984, to begin a formal investigation of Hambsch. Background information was provided to the officials by a senior staff inspector whom Hambsch had filed a grievance against two months

On June 29, Hambsch submitted a request to go to Ocean City, which was denied. On July 3, three agency inspectors staked out Hambsch's Annapolis home and noted that "no vehicle known to be used or owned by the subject was observed." Three other inspectors and a sergeant meanwhile took turns phoning the house. letting the phone ring 25 times on each call. They got no

Two of the inspectors left Hambsch's home that day and drove to Ocean City. At 4:10 p.m.. they spotted Hambsch walking from the beach. Three days later, the inspectors returned to Ocean City with a photographer and filmed him on the beach.

A Secret Service spokesman said the Hambsch investigation was "standard procedure to get sufficient evidence." Hambsch has asked the federal appeals court for a

Church Plans To Build Mission For Homeless

Congregants of the Rescue Church Mission of God are calling upon their spiritual Father and the greater-Sanford community to assist their successful completion of a "faith journey" whose des-tination lies with a $125,000 mission for the homeless.

Through "God's guidance" and community support, the church hopes to provide food. lodging and clothing to Sanford's homeless at the 1701 W. 13th Street mission it will break ground for Saturday. said church Elder Quentin

The one-story mission. Sanford's first, will be built on a vacant lot across from the church. It will be able to accommodate 20 people a night, sleeping 10 men and 10 women in two separate rooms, Faison said.

The church received city construction approval for its project this month after running into an initial dilemma due to Sanford's lack of specific building requirements for missions.

Originally, city planning and building staff requested the mission allocate land for 11 parking spaces, although church members successfully appealed for leniency, citing, limited available land area in combination with the economic status of those the mission would cater to.

The city agreed to the rationale and "decided in favor of the people who will benefit from the mission," in screeing to cut the original parking space requirement roughly in half, said Sanford Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons.

The moved was based on a decision that the project should not be catagorized as either an apartment or multi-unit dwelling during site plan review, and therefore not have to comply with the number of spaces required for either type of project, Simmons said.

The mission met all other Sanford building requirements during site plan review and also complies with permitted uses of the general commercial zone it will be located in, Simmons said.

Faison said the church has viewed construction of the mission as "a spirtual journey" since determing two years ago "there are so many homeless just passing though, with nowhere to stay and a need to be taken care of. With God's guidance and the community's support, I'm very optomistic the mission will become a reality."

in addition to monies provided by church members. Faison said it is hoped the project's estimated $125,000 cost will be funded through contacts with area parishes and community assistance. Also targeted is paring the mission's cost by enlisting "plenty of volunteers to help build it," he said.

Ex-Firefighter Sues For Disability Retirement

Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford fire lieutenant who had a stroke while working for the city has filed suit to change his retirment classification from 'normal' to disabled.

The difference would almost double his retirement benefit. The city maintains he is not eligible for disability retirement.

The suit seeking a declaratory judgment was filed by Lt. Richard Evans and his wife Nellie Evans, both residents of Sanford. The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr.

According to the suit, Evans, 54, states he suffered a stroke on June 19, 1985. It has affected his ability to communicate and it is possible but not probable that he will return to work. At the time of the stroke he had worked for the city 26 years.

According to city ordinance, a person can retire at age 60 or after 25 years of service to the city, whichever comes first. Or, a worker became eligible for "normal" retirement but can delay retirement. Disability retirement, continued to work. He also states he has Retiring after the time one is eligible to retire would be delayed normal retirement, for whatever reason. Colbert states in the court papers.

He says the city ordinance regarding disability retirement was "envisioned" for someone not yet able to retire under the normal program. Since Evans was eligible to retire under the normal program he is by inference ineligible for the disability pro-

Gramm-Rudman Authors Ready Modifications To Make Law Constitutional

authors of the Gramm-Rudman But, to address congressional law, armed with a Senate vote of confidence, readied a plan Wednesday to try to make the law's automatic budget cutting process constitutional and still ensure Congress has a hand in determining the size of the reductions.

The Senate voted 66-33 to keep considering the Gramm-Rudman modifications, rejecting a move by Sen. James Exon. D-Neb., to send the whole issue back to committee.

1 "I don't see why we have to fix up something that doesn't need fixing." Exon said, arguing Congress, itself, should cut the deficit without an automatic trigger.

Opponents of Gramm-Rudman also planned a move to repeal the entire law, but it, too, is expected to fail.

Sens. Phill Gramm, R-Texas, Warren Rudman, R-N.H., and Ernest Hollings. D.S.C., the authors of the measure, which requires Congress to cut the annual budget deficit in steps to zero by 1991 or face automatic reductions, worked with Senate Budget Committee leaders to design a repair procedure to address the Supreme Court's ruling that the original process is unconstitutional.

The original law set up the federal comptroller general as the one to make the cuts, but the Supreme Court said he is ineligible since he is a legislative, not executive officer.

"We are trying to perform a truth-in-budgeting thing," said Sen. Lawton Chiles, of Florida, leading Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee who worked on the modifications.

Chiles said the restrictions would be specific this year on such things as economic growth rates and the speed with which the government spends its money, but could be modified in succeeding years.

Under the procedure, Chiles said. "We'll know that they (OMB) are not totally skewing (the numbers)."

The Gramm-Rudman modification is attached to an essential bill to lift the federal government's debt ceiling from $2 trillion to a record $2.3 trillion. Estimates are that without the debt ceiling increase, the government would run out of borrowing authority by Sept. 1.

The debt bill annually attracts numerous amendments since it is "must" legislation needed to keep the government running. but President Reagan could veto it if he objected to the Gramm-Rudman modification or any other amendment.

Servicemen's Letters Delivered 42 Years Late

WASHINGTON (UPI) - It was 1944 on the troop transport ship Caleb Strong and all the Algeria-bound American Gis could do to endure the enemy fire and the bad food was to write home. Their letters never arrived — until Wednesday.

The 235 World War II "Vmail" letters, expressions of love and comfort to worried families and sweethearts, sat in a Raleigh, N.C., attic for 42 years before an exterminator spotted them in a worn duffel bag and took them to the Postal Service last month.

Three Seminole County elementary schools will serve as locations for a pilot YMCA-sponsored program of after school child care program starting this fall. The School Board of Seminole County approved program during approved program during their Monday night meeting.

The program is aimed at "latch-key children" whose only alternative is going home only to be without parental supervision.

Goldsboro, Lake Mary, and Longwood elementary schools will be the sites for the after school sessions which are slated to last from the end of the school day until 6 p.m.

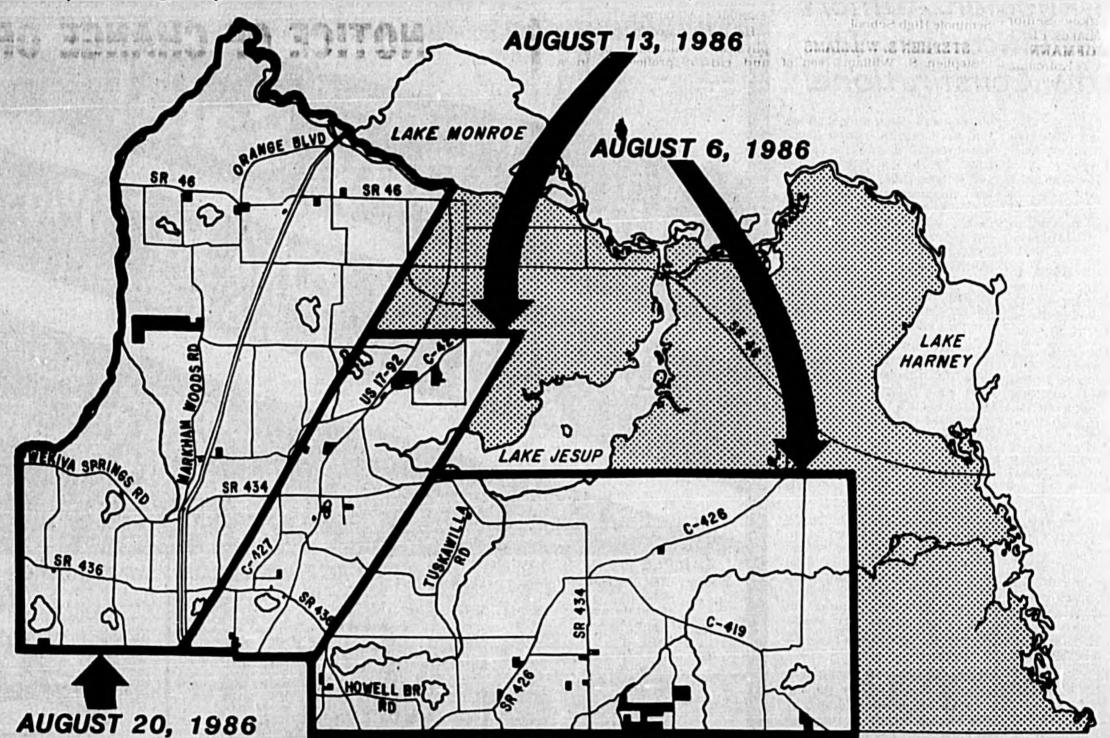

The YMCA will staff the programs, and meet all HRS and insurance requirements. A fee of $20 per student per week will be charged, $10 for each additional child from the same family. The YMCA will provide scholarships for those families needing reduced fees.

YMCA representative Nancy Britton told the board the program will encourage self exploration, creativity and include study time and afternoon snacks. Parent involvement will be encouraged.

The program could be expanded throughout the county if successful, she said.

SALT 2 Talks Stalemate, Monitoring Faces Same Fate

GENEVA (UPI) - U.S.-Soviet talks on the future of the SALT 2 arms treaty ended in total and inauspicious stalemate amid strong signs that separate talks on monitoring underground nuclear testing would end the

The Soviet Union requested the SALT 2 meeting for clarification of President Reagan's May 27 statement that the United States was no longer bound by the 1979 strategic arms limitation treaty because of Soviet violations.

Instead, Reagan proposed a framework of "truly mutual restraint" pending a new accord on "verifiable, deep and equitable" cuts in nuclear arsenals.

That was flatly rejected by the Soviets at the Geneva meeting, which ended Wednesday after just eight days.

Jenco To Deliver Message

LONDON (UPI) - The Rev. Lawrence Jenco, driven by fear for the hostages he left behind in Lebanon, took his personal campaign for their release to the Archbishop of Canterbury today, carrying a secret message from the kidnappera.

Jenco, 51, released Saturday after more than 18 months in captivity, arrived in London Wednesday shortly after delivering the same message to Pope John Paul II during a private audience in the Vatican.

The Roman Catholic priest, who suffers from a heart condition, said the next step in his mission was to deliver the message "to another great Christian person," Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, religious leader of the Church of England.

He was to meet Runcie today before returning to the United States for a meeting with President Reagan at the White House Friday.

OPEC Ministers Still Coping

GENEVA (UPI) - Tight-lipped OPEC oil ministers went into a fourth day of their latest emergency talks today in search of ways to reverse the slide in oil prices.

Usually willing to briefly answer questions, the 13 ministers this time ignored reporters as they walked to their meeting in the ballroom of the Hotel Intercontinental. A news blackout was ordered when the talks began Monday but had not been respected by most of the ministers. The plenary session began at noon, one hour behind schedule.

OPEC officials said the ministers were continuing their quest for voluntary production cuts aimed at reducing combined output to 18 million barrels per day or less.

Panel Recommends Mistrial

MANILA. Philippines (UPI) - A Supreme Court commission said today former ruler Ferdinand Marcos unduly influenced the court that acquitted 26 people in the murder of Benigno Aquino - President Corazon Aquino's husband - and recommended a mistrial be declared.

'It is abundantly clear that President Marcos did not only give instructions as to how the case should be handled. He saw to it that he would know if his instructions will be complied with," the three-member commission said in a 63-page report to the high tribunal.

The trial was "performed by willing dramatis personnae as well as by recalcitrant ones whipped into line by the omnipresent influence of an authoritarian ruler," the commission concluded.

Cruise Ship Returns To Miami After Fire, Explosion

MIAMI (UPI) - The luxury cruise liner S.S. Emerald Seas, hit by an explosion and fire that injured 17 people while the ship lay at anchor off a Bahamian island. returned to its home port today.

Nearly 1,000 passengers on "dream" vacations were forced to evacuate the ship by lifeboat Wednesday. Seventeen of the passengers were hurt, none seriously. The injured were flown to Miami hospitals by the Coast Guard.

The Emerald Seas, operated by Eastern Cruise Lines, entered the Port of Miami shortly after 6 a.m. today. Marine safety officials waited at the docks, but they were limited in their ability to investigate the explosion and fire because the ship is registered in Panama and the accident occurred in a foreign port.

Turlington Predicts Lottery Win

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Commissioner of Education Ralph Turlington says voters and the Legislature will soon approve a state lottery that could provide Florida's educational system an extra $1 million a day.

The first step towards approval was accomplished Wednesday, when the Division of Elections certified 398,885 petition signatures gathered by his pro-lottery group, Excellence Campaign: An Educational Lobby. Each of those signatures is on a petition asking that a constitutional amendment allowing a lottery be placed on the November ballot.

That are about 56,000 more signatures than required to place a proposed amendment on the ballot, and Turlington says he expects more. Turlington said he had more than exceeded the requirement that at least 8 percent of the voters in at least half the state's 19 congressional districts request a proposed amendment. EXCEL gathered more than the 8 percent minimum in 11 districts.

Defense Bolstering Drug Theory

FORT MYERS (UPI) - A lawyer defending Steven Wayne Benson from charges he killed his heiress mother and nephew with pipe bombs planned to put witnesses on the stand today to show that the nephew was addicted to drugs and drug dealers probably planted the bombs to avenge the youth's bad debts.

Circuit Judge Hugh Hayes cleared the way for defense testimony about Scott Benson's drug use after reviewing the testimony with the Jury absent. But Hayes ruled the defense could not present hearsay testimony about Scott's alleged drug transactions.

Steven Benson, 35, is on trial for first-degree murder. He is charged with the July 9, 1985 killing of his mother, Margaret Benson, 63, and his nephew. Scott. 21. If convicted, he could be sentenced to death.

Because of their everexpanding application, a competitive position in the semiconductor market - or lack of it - can significantly affect the United State's international trade stance in the future.

During the lengthy negotiations that were extended several times, the Reagan administration and the domestic semiconductor industry insisted that any settlement include an end to dumping — which would mean a price increase on Japanese chips - and a guarantee of increased sales of U.S. chips in Japan.

They also insisted on assurances that Japan would not dump their chips elswhere around the world to snatch markets away from U.S. compet-

Asked if the new agreement would guarantee that Japan will open its markets for U.S. memory chips, Baldridge replied:

"That's difficult to say absolutely 'yes or no' when you talk about being nailed down. ... The Japanese have agreed to accept more memory chips by opening their markets. There will be benchmarks as to how they are progressing in that area. It won't be hard to find out. It's not something they can run and hide from. I believe in good faith in this particular exercise."

Students at Seminole Community College are not affected by the new measles policy or any of the state's Board of Regents' policies, according to Joseph Roof, director of admissions and records.

"Seminole Community College is governed locally by a district board of trustees," said Roof, "Besides, the measles rule would cause a real problem here since the median student age is 30. I know I couldn't find such and Paul Schaefer records." he said.

Jim Shupe GOING FISHING?

Fishermen Need Good Sunglasses

All Floridians need good sunglasses, but fishermen need to pay particular attention to the quality and design of theirs.

Fishermen who do not wear good sunglasses subject their eyes to a great deal of potential damage.

One of the harmful side-effects of overexposure is nightblindness. If you fish all day in the bright sun and have to drive home in the dark, you risk the possibility of restricted night vision. Eyes will burn, and objects will appear as blurry apparitions. According to the American Optometric and American Medical Associations, a single day in bright sunlight can steal as much as 50% of your night vision. This can make driving at night or navigating a boat at night a dangerous proposition.

It can often take up to a week before normal vision is restored.

In addition to nightblindness, not wearing good sunglasses has been found to contribute to physical fatigue, headaches, and tired eyes.

Fishermen's eyes are subjected to intensive overexposure because of glare from the water. Each wave and ripple acts as a mirror, increasing the sun's reflective intensity many times.

Quality sunglasses also protect anglers from harmful ultraviolet and infrared rays. The sunglass industry is the largest in the entire beauty and health field. The market is flooded with many inferior products that offer no protection from the sun's damaging rays. They are attractively designed and priced cheaply, but are virtually useless on the water. The average consumer purchases sunglasses by the outward appearance of the product. Fishermen and other outdoorsmen owe it to themselves to be more discriminating when purchasing their sunglasses. Considering the amount of glare on a bright day, fishermen need sunglasses that will reflect 85-90% of the sunlight. A simple test when you try on a pair of sunglasses is to look in a mirror. If you can see your eyes clearly. then the sunglasses will not protect your eyes adequately against glare. A good pair of sunglasses will also have a light absorption curve provided with the glasses. That is the only way you can tell whether the sunglasses will effectively block out both ultravio-

It's pretty fitting that the name of the street the Sid Lickton Softball Complex is on is called Saturn. Because there aren't many 12-year-olds on this planet who play softball as well as the Seminole Hawks.

The Hawks, representing the Seminole Softball Club, will compete in the American Softball Association 12 and Under Southern Regional Tournament which begins Friday night at the Sid Lickton Complex in Clearwater.

Seminole goes into the 20-team, doubleelimination tournament with an overall record of 37-5 this summer. The top three teams from the Southern Regional advances to the ASA National Tournament later in August at Marietta, Ga. The Hawks, who have finished lower than second in only one tournament this season, are looking for their second consecutive national tourney berth.

The Hawks have six players returning from last year's team which was the first 12 and under squad from the Seminole Softball Club to go to nationals. Defense was the strong point of last year while Risse said this year's squad is more balanced with a strong offense and plenty of depth.

The Hawks hit .429 as a team for the 42 games they have played and have averaged 10.9 runs and 14.4 hits per game. Seminole has allowed its opponents just 2.9 runs and 6.2 hits "Compared to last year, this year's team is definitely stronger offensively and as strong defensively," Risse said. "I will be disappointed if we don't get in the top three at regionals. We have a lot of players returning and are a little more mature this year. If we do get in pressure situtations and lose one, we can hold our own."

One of the returnees from last year's team is pitcher Christine Risse who has a 34-5 pitching record and a .387 batting average. Catching is Rence Sanville, another returnee from last year. who carries a team-leading .517 batting average with 45 runs batted in. Sanville can also pitch.

The infield includes returnee Kat Foldeak at first base, Kristy York at second, Christa Schroeffel at third and returning player Michelle

Miami Blanks Seminole Broncos

By Mark Blythe Herald Sports Writer

A two-run error opened the door for the Miami Broncos Wednesday night and it was all they needed in a 4-0 victory over Seminole in the Bronco Southeast Region Tournament before 301 fans at the Seminole Pony Baseball Complex.

The loss puts Seminole in the the Rome, Ga., team tonight at 6. Rome stayed alive with a 12-2 losers' bracket rout of Alexandria. Ala., in Wednesday's first game.

The winner of tonight's first game will immediately go up against Miami in the tourney finals tonight at 8. A second champtonship game, if necessary, will be Friday night.

Seminole had three errors in one inning that produced three of Miami's runs. The hardluck loser was Aaron Merril who went four innings, striking out one and walking four while giving up four hits.

In the bottom of the second for Miami, Omar Fernandez singled and after an out stole second and went to third on a wild pitch.

Martin County Eliminates Juniors

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Andy Spolski gave up just four hits Wednesday, but one of them was a two-run homer off the bat of Jeff Keating and that was the difference as Martin County downed the Altamonte Junior All-Stars, 3-1, in the State All-Star Tournament at Tampa.

The loss eliminates Altamonte from the tournament while Martin County advances to tonight's losers' bracket final at 7 against North Fort Myers. North Fort Myers dropped a 3-2 decision to Azalea Park in Wednesday's second game. The winner of tonight's game, faces Azalea Park on Friday for the championship and the right to go on to the Southern Regional Tournament at Eastmonte Complex in Altamonte Springs.

'Martin County had good pitcher (Doug Petty) and he was throwing hard and throwing strikes and we weren't getting around on him." Altamonte manager Duke Pleicones said. "Andy (Spolski) pitched a supergame and kept us in it. He gave up one home run ball and that was the difference."

Keating's two-run homer came in the top of the second and Martin County upped the lead to 3-0 on Tim McGrane's RBI single in the third. Altamonte left baserunners on second and third in both the first and second

"We had a couple of chance to score early," Pleicones said. But we didn't get the key base hits with the runners on base."

Altamonte closed within 3-1 inthe fourth but left the bases loaded in that inning. With two outs. Charlie Curley reached on a bunt single and a walk and a helder's choice loaded the bases. 'He (center fielder) made a great catch," Pleicones said, "If he didn't make that catch, we would have scored three runs on the play."

After the fourth Inning, Altamonte never threatened again. Petty held Altamonte to just three hits in the game including Curley's bunt single and base hits by Terry "Downtown" Brown and Neill James.

SENIORS ROUTED

Englewood pounded out 13 hits and broke open a close game with five runs in the fourth and fifth frames en route to a 16-4 thrashing of the Altamonte Senior All-Stars in the State Tournament Wednesday night at Brandon.

The loss climinated Altamonte while Englewood moves on to the losers' bracket final against Wednesday's Coral Springs-Tampa Bay winner. Wednesday's game was moved from Tampa to Brandon due to heavy rain in Tampa. The game, orginally scheduled for 6, did not start until 8:15.

Altamonte took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first but it was quickly erased when Englewood scored three times in the top of the second. Englewood broke it open with five runs in the top of the fourth to chase Altamonte starter Shane Stufflet.

Altamonte made somewhat of a comeback with three runs in the bottom of the fourth to make it 8-4, but Englewood put the finishing touches on with five runs in the fifth and three in the

Red Sox Lose Again, Clemens Ejected In 5th

United Press International

Thud. That was Roger Clemens falling off his pedestal. If the Boston Red Sox can't even count on Clemens to win, League East standings would appear to be very tenuous. Clemens, the glamour boy of the mass media this season after posting 17 victories and recalling memories of Bob Feller, dropped his third game of the year and lost for the first time on the road in 11 decisions Wednesday night when the Chicago

White Sox beat him. 7.2. The hard-throwing righthander also made the earliest exit of the year when he was ejected for the first time in his career after bumping first base umpire Greg Kosc on a disputed play with two out in the fifth. Clemens argued vehemently that he had touched the bag on the toss from first baseman Bill Buckner on Harold Baines' grounder. John Cangelosi scored the go-ahead run on the play to pin the loss on Clemens.

Tigers 11, Indians 3 At Cleveland, rookic righthander Eric King tossed a sixhitter over 7 1-3 innings and rookle catcher Dwight Lowry slammed a three-run homer to lead Detroit.

Blue Jays 7, Royals 2 At Kansas City. Mo., Jesse Barfield and Ernie Whitt hammered fifth-inning homers and Joe Johnson earned his first AL victory for Toronto.

Angels 6, A's 2 At Oakland, Calif., pinch hitter their future atop the American Doug DeCinces lined an RBI double in the eighth inning to snap a 2-2 tie and lift the Angels.

Mariners 4, Twins 2 At Minneapolis. Spike Owen's buses-loaded single drove in two runs in the sixth inning to snap a 2-2 tie and the Mariners' three-game losing streak. Rangers S, Orieles 3

At Arlington. Texas. Don Slaught hit a two-run homer with one out in the 11th inning to give the Rangers their victory.

Padres 9, Reds 3 At San Diego, Ed Whitson says he is regaining the form that made him a 14-game winner and a millionaire. On Wednesday night, the right-hander earned his first victory since returning to the Padres in a July 9 trade with the New York Yankees. He allowed just six hits over 7 2-3 innings. and Graig Nettles homered twice to lift San Diego to a 9-3 victory and a three-game sweep of the Cincinnati Reds. Whitson, 1-2, received a standing ovation when he was removed in favor of Gene Walter in the seventh.

Expos 3, Pirates 2 At Montreal, Wallace Johnson. recalled from the minors earlier in the day, triggered a two-run. seventh-inning rally with his first major-league homer to lead the Expos. 2.4, was the loser.

At Philadelphia, Terry Pendleton contributed two RBI and a sparkling defensive play in support of pitcher Bob Forsch. who improved to 10.6. Pendleton made a diving stop of a sixth-inning grounder and turned it into a double play. Todd Worrell earned his 21st save. Charles Hudson fell to

Astros 4, Braves 2 At Houston, rookie left-hander Jim Deshales scattered five hits over 8 2-3 innings and Glenn Davis powered a solo home run to propel the Astros. Deshales, 6-3, struck out nine. Dave Smith notched the last out for his 19th save. Jim Acker, 0-3, was tagged with the loss.

Cube 4, Mets 3 At New York. Ron Cey hit a bases-loaded double in the first inning and Gary Matthews homered to lift the Cubs in a game delayed 1 hour, 57 minutes by rain. Cubs starter Dennis Eckersley, 5-6, pitched five innings for the triumph. Sid Fernandez, 12-4, struck out 11 and suffered the loss.

Dodgers 4, Glants 2 At Los Angeles, Bob Welch, sparked by a three-run first inning, earned only his second triumph in his last 17 starts. Welch had a one-hitter through; six innings and improved to 5-9. Tom Niedensuer finished for his sixth save. Terry Mulholland. recently back from the minors,

Fuller Sweeps Diving At Commonwealth Games

EDINBURGH. Scotland (UPI) - Debbie Fuller of Canada captured the springboard event Wednesday, becoming the first woman since 1970 to sweep the Commonwealth Cames diving medals.

She capitalized on one missed dive by defending champion Jenny Donnet to win with 513.09 points to the Australian's 494.52.

The double was last achieved by Canadian Beverley Boys, who served as a judge this year.

Consistent diving also brought Canada's Kathy Kelemen (484.65) the bronze medal over Australia's Valerie Beddoe (481.59), the runner-up in the highboard competition. Craig Rogerson of Australia won the gold in the men's highboard event with a final dive worth 72.24 points for a total of 600.87. Canada's David Bedard took the silver with 576.81, and Welshman Robert Morgan scored 78.72 on his final attempt for the bronze with 561.54.

Princess Diana, who had watched swimming heats in the morning with her husband Prince Charles, returned to the pool to present Fuller with her second diving gold.

For the second time during the Games, an object in the pool area was suspected to contain a bomb but was found to be no threat. Police said the bomb squad was called because of the presence the prince and princess.

Curry To End Six-Month Layoff

NEW YORK (UPI) - Donald Curry will end a six-month layoff, which he blames on a betrayal by Sugar Ray Leonard, when he defends his world welterweight title Sept. 27 against Lloyd Honeyghan of England.

The bout, scheduled for 12 rounds, will be held at Caesars in Atlantic City, N.J.

Curry has not fought since he stopped Eduardo Rodriguez in two rounds in March. Curry's managerial situation has been uncertain since, partly because of Leonard's challenge of middleweight champion Marvin

"If Ray wants to come back, let him come back and fight me first and prove to the public that he's back," Curry said Wednesday at a news conference.

John Henry To Race Again

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI) - John Henry, the all-time leading thoroughbred with $6.5 million in earnings. Wednesday worked five furlongs in :59 2-5 at Del Mar.

Attending the workout were Sam and Dot Rubin, the horse's owners who brought 11-year-old John Henry out of retirement last spring.

"I'm taking it one day at a time," trainer Ron McAnally said. "We'll try to get him ready, then look for a race."

McAnally said John Henry would probably cover six furlongs next Tuesday. It is hoped that John Henry will race before summer's

Another Injury For Warner

United Press International Curt Warner showed shades of 1984 to the Seattle Seahawks Wednesday and caused some anxious moments.

Warner, who injured his knee In 1984 season-opener and missed the rest of the season. was injured during Wednesday's preseason scrimmage against the Houston Otlers. He left the field limping and was kept off as a precaution. He ran just three times for 17 yards. Seattle Coach Chuck Knox said Warner suffered a bruised hip.

"We got through the scrimmage without getting hurt. made some prograss and that's what we needed." Knox sald. "We got a chance to see how our players react to a pressure situation."

Reserve quarterback Sean Salisbury threw two touchdown passes in the closing minutes to lift the Scahawks to a 12-6

Louganis Continues Diving Dominance

HOUSTON (UPI) - Greg Lougants, who has not lost a three-meter competition since 1981, appears set to continue that streak and keep himself unbeaten in sports festival events. The top diver in the world, Louganis takes 27.21 point lead into the final day of three-meter springboard competition today at the 1986 U.S. Olympic Festival.

'It feels good to be back competing,' Louganis said. "I've been able to train with Ron O'Brien and he's whipped me into shape. I feel good about my diving and my performance today."

The performance was marked by two scores of 10 for the lead over second-place Mark Bradshaw of Springfield, Ore. The next diver is 60 points behind Louganis. who, at 26, continues to dominate his sport.

"The only way I'll continue diving is if I'm getting better," he sald. "And I do think I am getting better. I felt strong and I felt I had good technique out there today."

Lougants, of Boca Raton, Fla., has won the springboard competition each of the four previous years - 1979, 1982, 1983 and 1985 — he has appeared at the festival.

Michele Mitchell, also a defending festival champion, has a 512.49-512.40 lead over Wendy Lucero, of Aurora, Colo., heading into Thursday's final series of 10 dives.

In third place is Kelly McCormick, the Long Beach, Calif., diver who led after nine dives but faltered on her final attempt Wednesday to slip 20 points off the pace. The 23-year-old Lucero, who never has won a festival medal, is not going to let her lofty early showing get the better of her. "I don't feel like I have the kind of pressure that some of the other girls have because I don't take it as all-important," she said. "This isn't life and death. This is something that is enjoyable to me." The festival is serving as a tryout for the U.S. Diving Team, with the gold and silver medalists in both the men and women divisions earning the right to compete in Spain next month at the World Aquatic Championships.

In addition to the three-meter diving, gold medals are to be awarded Thursday in basketball, women's water polo and halfmarathons for both men and women.

An East team, led by the festival's leading scorer Jerome Lane will meet the West for the men's basketball gold while North meets South for the women's title.

Maureen O'Toole, who already has broken her own women's water polo scoring record with 21 goals, will lead the North team against the South.

Mark Smith of Houston, and Clay Howell of Austin, Texas, combined for the only shutout of the festival to give the South a 9.0 victory over the West and the baseball gold medal.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore lishing is very good from 90' on out. Sandra Lewis, E.J. Trujillo Repeat Vows

Sandra Gayle Lewis of Pasadena, Texas, and Eduardo Jose Trujillo, also of Pasadena, were married at 11 a.m. on June 28 at Saint Peters Catholic Church, De-Land. Father William Ennis was the officiating clergyman for the double ring nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, 2455 Palmetto Ave., Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jose Trujillo of Houston, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white satin gown fashioned along the silm silhouette with a lace bodice embellished with lace and pearl appliques and long Julit sleeves. A peplum-effect across the front waistline of the alim skirt gradually extended into a bustle in the back to enhance the flowing chapel train.

Her headpiece was a derby style hat with a pearl lattice crown. A poul of illusion veiling in the back cascaded into a tiered fingertip vell. She carried a cascade of white roses interspersed with pink roses, white baby's breath and English Ivy. Helen Agee of Lake Mary

attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a pale pink satin tea-length gown featuring diagonal folds on the strapless bodice. The straight skirt was defined with a peplum at the natural waistline. She carried longstemmed pink and white

Laurie Penick of Lake Mary was the bridesmald. Her gown and flowers were identicl to the honor attendant's.

Dr. Jorge Trujillo of Tyler. Texas, served his brother as best man.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Ruth White and Robert White, niece and nephew of the bride, from Miami.

The reception was held at the Lake Mary home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Agee.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, the newlyweds are making their home in Pasadena where the bride is employed as an elementary school teacher and the bridegroom is employed as an electrical engineer by Singer-Link Corp., Houston.

Ding Dong; Avon Has Been Calling For 100 Years

book salesman took a page from his occupation and came up with an idea to sell perfume door-to-door.

The salesman, David McConnell, started his business in a little loft near Wall Street in New York City, but called his new enterprise the California Perfume Company for no other reason than to evoke romantic images of that faraway place.

The name worked and the perfume, a flowery concoction called "Little Dot," sold well. But it was the inspiration to sell his product door-to-door that propelled his small operation into a major corporation and a household name around the world.

Ding-dong, Avon calling. Avon, which officially celebrated its 100th birthday at its nationwide summer meetings July 30, is the world's leading manufacturer and distributor of cosmetics, fragrances and fash-ion jewelry. Some 1.5 million sales representatives worldwide - 400,000 in the United States - generated more than $2 billion in sales in 1985.

The name "Avon" did not arrive on the scene until 1928, after McConnell took a trip to William Shakespeare's birthplace at Stratford-on-Avon in England. But the company dld not change much with the name. It only grew larger.

The company's devotion to direct sales - knocking on doors and mailing catalogs — has been a constant over the years, setting it apart from its competitors and pushing it to the front of the field.

"Avon started out as a direct-selling organization and has continued to sell that way for 100 years," said James Preston, president of Avon Proscheduled Sunday. Aug. 10. ducts inc.'s beauty division in unique advantage.

The company has come a long way from the first "Avon Lady," Mrs. Persus Foster Eames Albee, needed a job in 1886 to support line, which caught on with her children. Albee recruited consumers. But the addition of other agents in the area, who knocked on doors in their home fusion.

By 1902. McConnell's bustness had more than 10,000 representatives. Sales exceeded $1 million in 1920 and the company never looked back.

Avon, which has a major distribution center in Atlanta, has been shaped in part by the changing roles of American women over the years.

More women entering the work force dealt a double blow to Avon. Women were out of the house and less accessible to Avon representatives and the field of potential sales representatives dwindled.

"For years, we offered a unique earning opportunity when there were very few opportunities for women in the work place," Preston said. "Up until about 20 years ago, Avon was the only game in town for many women seeking a parttime or full-time earning opportunity.

But with the advent of the women's movement, the competition for women in the work force became more and more acute. By the mid-1970s and early 1980s, our recruiting became more difficult. We were faced with a dilemma."

Avon's solution was a slight change in philosophy.

First, Avon began to shift its recruiting focus from quantity to quality, introducing a more intense training program for new sales people. Second, Avon representatives began knocking on doors in the work place. About 25 percent of Avon's sales today are made where women work. Preston said.

Some other problems arose from questionable product moves. Avon spread into a number of areas, including Jewsome products caused con-

Young Mother's Discipline

Provokes Shoppers' Disgust

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday while grocery shopping, I witnessed a young mother screaming at her son to hurry up and choose between a Twinkle and a Ding Dong. The child was so frightened he couldn't decide. Instead of waiting, she grabbed him by his hair and whipped his head back! He started crying and say, the child ended up with nothing. I noticed that four or five other shoppers had witnessed this cruel scene and appeared as disgusted as I was. Why didn't one of us do something? A part of me said, "Stay out of it - it's none of your business," and another part of me said, "That woman is abusing her child; you should intervene." What should I have done? WITNESS IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

DEAR WITNESS: It would have been appropriate to have quietly approached the young mother and in a very kind and non-judgmental way expressed concern for her: "You must be very tired, impatient and under a lot of pressure to have overreacted as you did. Please discuss this with your physician instead of taking it out on the little fellow."

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you suggested a portable cordless telephone for people who work in their yards a lot and rush back into the house to answer the phone but seem to get there too late. As one with 13 years of professional experience in electronics. I believe the public should be warned about the lack of privacy when using these devices. Cordless telephones transmit conversations using short-wave radio signals. Many users are under the false impression that because the unit operates only within a limited range, the signal travels no farther. Not so. With a very cheap receiver. I have overheard conversations from cordless away, and this experience is not uncommon. Another warning: Certain types of cordless telephones are neighbors will think I've lost my vulnerable to "hackers" who mind. could electronically break into your telephone line and charge their toll calls to your bill. The public has a short memory. In 1972, the Watergate burglars were caught trying to place a transmitter in the telephone of the political opposition. Had cordless telephones been available at that time, they could have merely presented their target with one as a "gift," and listened to their heart's content.

RAYMOND F. GAWRYLA, SCRANTON, PA.

DEAR ABBY: You gave the address for DMA's (Direct Marketing Association) Mail Preference Service as a solution to reducing the quantity of unsolicited mail.

I liked an alternative I tried with success with one organization. If there is a return envelope with a permit number to pay return postage, just put something heavy in the envelope. For those who want to know what percentage of their contribution goes to the beneficiary. and how much goes for "administration" and fund raising. write to: the Charities Division of

DEAR READERS: Everybody hates junk mail, right? Wrong! Read on for a major surprise:

DEAR ABBY: How can I get on a list that will get me some Junk mail? I live alone and enjoy looking at catalogs and all kinds of advertisements. I even welcome campaign literature and religious material. I find it detelephones from over a mile pressing to go to my mailbox and find it empty. Hypochondriacs Are Looking For Trouble

DEAR DR. GOTT - How can be the product of bleeding into you tell if you're a hypochondri- this interior. Therefore, floaters

DEAR READER -Hypochondriasis is a medical condition in which a person exhibits a recurring, abnormal concern about his or her physical health, despite rational evidence that there is no disease or illness present. Most hypochondriacs are perfectly normal adults who simply seem to worry excessively about themselves.

There is no single test to diagnose hypochondriasis. It is an emotional difficulty that is revealed by excluding physical causes. A problem may arise because, in severe cases, the distorted mind/body relation can be so strong that actual disease may develop.

Ordinarily, we all worry to one degree or another about our health. Hypochondriacs raise this worry to the state of an art: Every imagined symptom becomes cause for alarm. If a person shows chronic, excessive concerns - and a reasonable medical evaluation has shown no physical abnormalities hypochondriasis may have to be considered. Then. psychotherapy is the treatment of choice.

I should add that some patients with unusual or untypical diseases may not be diagnosed for months or years. In these situations, doctors might incorrectly tend to blame the symptoms on emotional instability or neurosis. By contrast, the hypochondriac is fundamentally healthy; he or she just worries inappropriately.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have had operations to repair tears in my retinas, and I am getting more "floaters" all the time. I'm very active physically (running. tennis, weightlifting). What is causing the floaters and what is the prognosis?

DEAR READER - Floaters are spots that appear to drift in the line of vision. Most floaters are caused by small deposits within the jelly-like interior of the eyeball. Sometimes floaters can can be a serious indication of continued bleeding after a reti-nal tear. Check with your ophthalmologist to see if physical activity, particularly weightlifting, could be con-

DEAR READER - The probable cause of your repeated navel dermatitis is yeast infection. This can be documented if your doctor obtains a scraping and culture of the area when it is inflamed.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

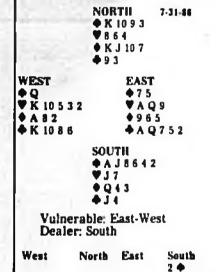

The Championship Bridge Series (Devyn Press, 151 Thierman Lane, Louisville, KY 40207) is a collection of 36 fold-out pamphlets on various aspects of bridge. Although some titles may not interest the average player, the convenience of dropping the pamphlet you like into a purse or a shirt pocket to be reviewed at leisure makes boning up on the game easy. Furthermore, the authors are all renowned players.

"Sacrifices" deals with deliberately taking a penalty rather than allowing the opponents to play a makable game or slam contract. At rubber bridge, sacrisince only occasionally will you

'advance' save - a high sacrifice bld, made before the opponents can get to their best contract.

When South opened with a weak two-spade bld, North was certain that East-West could make at least four hearts. When West passed, North jumped right to four spades. East might have smelled a rat, but taking action was just too dangerous. And the same was true when the bidding got back to West. So South played four spades, not even doubled, and gave up only 100 points, when East-West could have made five hearts or six clubs.

An advance save does not fice bids become too expensive always net such an incredible result, but once in a while it will set the opposing contract. At work when the opponents' high tournament bridge, well-judged cards are evenly distributed so sacrifices are worthwhile. The that neither opponent realizes above deal highlights the his pocket is being picked.
