Sanford Police Arrest 4 In Cocaine Bust

Sanford police today arrested four persons, one of them a Sanford woman, on drug-related charges and confiscated 2.2 pounds of cocaine with an estimated street value of $3.5 million.

This morning's arrests culminated a 2½-month investigation into drug sales in the Master's Cove apartments area, as well as in the area of Seminole High School, according to Sanford Det. T. Brooks.

In addition to the Sanford woman involved, police arrested three men, two from Melbourne and one from Miami. Brooks said the Sanford woman's identity would not be released yet, pending further investigation. He said she is a 25-year-old white female who has been under investigation for the last several months for allegedly selling small quantities of cocaine around the high school.

The identities of the three other suspects were not available late this morning.

Brooks said he had shown one of the men $100,000 in cash a few days ago to show his ability to buy a large quantity of cocaine, and that a sale had been arranged for this morning on the Lake Monroe lakefront near U.S. Highway 17-92.

About 11:30 a.m. today Sanford police staked out the area and Brooks was to buy the 2.2 pounds of cocaine for $250,000, he said.

Brooks said the suspects showed up in two cars, a Cadillac and a Buick. When the cocaine was handed over to Brooks, other police officers moved in and the arrests were made.

Brooks said that in addition to the cocaine confiscated, police found a 9mm automatic pistol on one of the suspects.

Leading Sanford plainclothes officers in the arrest was Lt. Paul Whitley, while Lt. Ralph Russell and Lt. Doug Bishop headed several uniformed men in the bust.

All the suspects were booked at the county jail pending an initial court appearance.

Committee To Examine Crooms High Facilities

Are the facilities at Crooms High School adequate? Does the school plant adequately house the students and programs? Is the facility satisfactory for a good educational climate?

These will be among the questions to be considered by a 15-member committee of school administrators, principals, teachers, parents and other lay persons in a study beginning Oct. 30 with an orientation meeting at the Seminole County School Board office on Mellonville Avenue.

Dan Dagg, assistant superintendent of instruction for Seminole's public school system, said the committee will make a comparison of Crooms students with other boys and girls at a similar grade level and recommend ways to correct possible deficiencies or to change the grade structure.

"It is possible," Dagg said, "that the committee will find that the ninth graders at Crooms should be moved to Seminole High School. 'That doesn't mean Crooms will be closed,' he said. "It may mean, however, that Crooms will be put to a use other than for ninth graders."

School Board member Roland Williams is to be an ex-officio member of the committee.

To Cut Electric Bill, Watch That Thermostat Setting

By DIANEM. JEFFERSON
Herald Staff Writer

Second of Three Parts

Cooling, heating, and water heating, as noted earlier, account for 83 percent of the energy consumed in your home each month. This is the area of highest cost on your monthly bill, and any saving you can make in this area will dramatically reduce the bill.

The Florida Power & Light Co. (FPL) estimates a three-ton, central air conditioning system uses 2100 kilowatt-hours (kwh) of electricity during the hotter months. At eight cents per kwh, this means $168 of your monthly electric bill may be spent on air conditioning alone. If you have a four-ton unit, the estimated figure is 2750 kwh.

How much money you spend on air conditioning depends on where you set the thermostat. FPL research has shown that for every degree your thermostat is set under 78 degrees in summer, you are using eight percent more energy.

If this seems insignificant, look at how much more energy is used when the thermostat is set at 72 degrees: 40 percent more. And the higher the kwh, the higher the cost of your electric bill.

Central heating also is dramatically affected by temperature setting. For every degree your thermostat is set above the range from 68 to 70 degrees, you are using five percent more energy.

Good insulation, as mentioned earlier, will help lower your operating costs because since the temperature is maintained inside the house, the unit must cycle on and off less. Your compressor is the energy glutton. If it does not have to come on as frequently, it will draw less energy and you will not have to pay for as many kwh.

Does setting your thermostat at 90 degrees save more energy than turning the unit off? No, answers Bruce Berger, FPL district manager, who suggests you turn the unit off if you work all day or will be gone for six or eight hours.

"The life of an air-conditioning unit is a function not only of its age but also of its use," Berger explains. "The more your air-conditioner is run during the day, the shorter its life will be." He says this applies to the fan setting on your unit as well.

Berger recommends a simple test to See THERMOSTAT, Page 2A

Workshop Trains Handicapped

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Omega Workshop, sponsored by the Seminole County Mental Health Center, is one of the new agencies added by United Way of Seminole County for the coming year. Omega's share of the proposed $305,000 United Way goal has been set at $4,500.

Located at 201 S. Elm Ave., Sanford, Omega Workshop offers vocational evaluation, training, and work experience in a sheltered environment for emotionally handicapped persons 18 years and older.

The purpose of the workshop is to assist clients in establishing work habits that are standard to industry and prepare them for placement in the competitive work force.

Some skills are acquired as a result of participation in workshop projects, according to Maitland A. Purdy, program coordinator, and in some cases individuals are referred to a vocational program to heighten their abilities for employment following completion of the work-experience program.

The workshop contracts with private businesses, such as Walt Disney World, Sea World and Farrow Industries, to do such things as stuffing envelopes and folders, apply labels, and package plastic miniatures, and other small jobs.

There have been 400 referrals since the workshop opened its doors in February 1978, with Omega accepting 174 clients, or 44 percent of those referred to the rehabilitation program. Since that time there have been 150 terminations, with 20, or 13 percent of the total, returning to school to continue their education and 69, or 44 percent, returning to the competitive work force. At this time Omega has a positive termination rate of 56 percent.

Fifty-four clients have been enrolled in the workshop since October 1980. There have been a total of 39 terminations in that time. Eleven clients, or 28 percent, returned to school, and 15, or 38 percent, accepted employment. Currently, Omega has a successful termination rate of 67 percent.

Admittance to Omega Workshop is limited to Seminole County residents diagnosed as emotionally handicapped and who, because of that handicap, have been unable to obtain or maintain gainful employment. The potential client also must express the desire to enter school or the competitive job market, and be eligible for CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) employment. These persons are considered handicapped as a direct result of poor interpersonal and communications skills, inability to function in a stressful situation, lack of work experience, and unrealistic job expectations.

Omega offers vocational evaluation, personal adjustment training, crisis-intervention counseling, remedial education and work experience.

In 1980 clients came from the following places in Seminole County: Sanford, 22; Longwood, 18; Altamonte Springs, nine; two each from Winter Springs, Fern Park, Casselberry, Midway, Forest City and Winter Park; and one each from Oviedo, Lake Mary Geneva, Orlando, Apopka and Maitland.

The program is divided into three segments—probation, interim and three-quarter employment, where the clients work the allowable maximum of 30 hours.

Educational achievement, vocational and psychological testing are administered throughout the work-experience period.

Some 942 Seminole County high school graduates this year scored higher in scholastic aptitude tests (SAT) than the state, Southeast region and national averages, and second highest in the Central Florida area.

But the average Seminole student's score—909—was down by 10 points from a year ago, and school administrators are trying to find out why.

Prior to the 1981 graduating class, Seminole had steadily increased its average score over a three-year period.

And even though the average fell by 10 points this year, it still was higher than Orange County's 886, higher than Lake County's 892, higher than the national average of 890, higher than the average of those states south of the Mason-Dixon line and east of the Mississippi River (854), and higher than the state average of 887.

Seven points of the 10-point loss was in the mathematics score of 475, down from last year's 482. The English portion was down by three points, from 437 to 434.

Dan Dagg, superintendent of instruction, and Robert King Jr., testing assistant for the public school system, initially blame the lower score on two factors—109 more students than last year took the test, and more girls than boys took the test.

King said that generally as the number of students taking a test increases the number score goes down. And as another general rule, females do better on the English portion of the test and males do better on the math portion. He said males generally seem to understand the more abstract math better.

It happens that for these tests, 436 males and 506 females took the test. On the English portion, boys and girls both scored 434, down from last year's 437. On the math portion, boys scored 493, girls 459. The average was 475. The average last year was 482.

King said Dagg and others are examining two sets of test scores to see if a tendency exists for achievement-test scores to go down.

Other statistics came out of the test scores. The students who take the tests usually are those who plan to go on to college. Satisfactory SAT scores are a requirement for admission to most universities.

While 942 students took the test, there were 2,200 students in the 12th grade in the high schools of the county. King noted that this means 43 percent of the 12th graders planned to go to college. Since about 2,050 students graduated, the percentage of those graduates planning to go to college climbed to 47 percent.

King noted that the general rule is that 33 percent of high school graduates go on to college. Since community colleges do not as a rule require incoming students to take the SAT, it's likely that more than 47 percent of the graduates will go on to college.

"This shows the community is academically oriented," King said. He also pointed out that Seminole County ranks first in the state in the percentage of students going on to college.

Meanwhile, the county's ninth graders did well on the comprehensive test of basic skills (CTBS), which they took early in September, after the summer vacation "forgetting" period.

The average ninth grader scored at the 10.4 grade level, three months above the national average. Some 2,435 ninth graders took the test. Their average scores were as follows: reading vocabulary 10.6, reading comprehension 10.6, combination 10.5; language mechanics 11.0, language expression 10.5, spelling 10.2, total language 10.5; math comprehension 10.9, math concepts 10.4, math applications 10.4, and math total 10.5. The average grade for the battery of tests was 10.4.

The students also scored 10.4 on the average in reference skills, science and social studies.

54 Haitian Refugees Hit The Beach At Hallandale

HALLANDALE (UPI) — A boatload of Haitian refugees landed on Hallandale Beach early today, just two days after the Coast Guard cutter Hamilton began patrolling the Windward Passage in search of illegal immigrants, police said.

Fifty-four men, women and children arrived on the beach in a 38-foot sailboat at 6 a.m. (EDT) today, said Trish Lockrem, Hallandale City police clerk.

Pot-Smoking Cops Fired

MIAMI (UPI) — A pre-graduation marijuana party for Dade County Metro police recruits last month has resulted in four more dismissals from the Police Academy, raising the total to eight.

The latest to be given termination notices were Michael Ruggiero, 31, Timothy South, 27, Edward Pacificar, 23, and Alex Rojas, 19. They were notified Friday they were being dismissed for failure to report violations of laws, department rules, or orders to their supervisor or to police internal review officers.

Demos Victorious In '82?

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Florida Democratic leaders managed to shut off controversy and turn the three-day state convention into a unity session they predict will carry the party to victory in the 1982 elections.

Democratic National Chairman Charles Manatt, in a speech that wound up the convention Sunday, declared Florida Democrats have achieved a unity that should be a goal for other states.

"The new Democratic mood" is beginning in Florida and will enable the party to rebound next year from the disastrous defeat it suffered in the 1980 elections, Manatt said.

Graham: No To Gambling

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham is ready to head two campaigns, if necessary, in next year's elections — his own re-election bid and a drive to defeat legalization of casino gambling.

If the current petition drive to put a casino gambling amendment to the constitution on the 1982 general election ballot is successful, then Graham will mount a campaign to defeat it, the governor said Sunday. And he will have money and personal help from former Gov. Reubin Askew, who led the defeat of a similar amendment in 1978.

$11 Million In Pot Seized

KEY WEST (UPI) — Four men arrested aboard a Louisiana-based shrimp boat face federal marijuana smuggling charges and U.S. Customs inspectors are confronted today with a massive disposal problem.

The four were handed over to Drug Enforcement Administration agents Sunday in Key West by crewmen of the Coast Guard Cutter Ute.

The cutter's crew also turned over the 82-foot shrimp Lady Disco with 726 bales of marijuana aboard to Customs. The marijuana weighed in at 37,560 pounds. Coast Guard spokesman Dan Waldschmidt in Miami estimated the street value of the cargo in excess of $11 million.

3 Die In Plane Crash

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Federal authorities began an investigation today into the fiery crash of a twin-engine light plane which killed a Florida man and two West Virginians.

The plane, a Beechcraft Baron, struck the guy wire of a cable television tower, crashed and burned in a heavily wooded area outside Gainesville about 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

The badly burned bodies of the victims were identified later as Gary G. Cline, 47, of Baisden, W.Va.; Larry K. Walls, 31, of Gilbert, W.Va.; and Fred D. Herless, 66, of Citra, Fla.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Rain that swept across much of Texas left a wake of flash flood watches today and heavy snows prompted winter storm warnings in western Montana and the mountains of California and Utah. Much of the western half of the nation was under siege by a massive storm system that doused the Great Plains region with showers and thunderstorms and blanketed the Rocky Mountain and Plateau region with rain and snow. From the Austin Hill Country to Del Rio, Texas, authorities reported highways blocked by rising waters from a string of thunderstorms that dumped up to 10 inches of rain in some areas Sunday. Some campers were forced to evacuate and one car was washed into a ravine. But no injuries were reported and no one was reported missing. Portions of Montana west and south of the Continental Divide were under a winter storm warning due to heavy snows. A winter storm warning was also in effect for higher elevations of Utah while a winter storm watch was posted for the mountains and western sections of Colorado.

5 Arrested In Seminole 'Beer Bust'

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A crackdown is underway in Seminole County on the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors, Seminole County Sheriff's Department officials said. The crackdown is the result of numerous citizen complaints of the illegal sales, deputies said.

Five arrests were made over the weekend of area bar and convenience store employees who were caught selling alcoholic beverages to an undercover juvenile working for the sheriff's department. The juvenile purchased alcoholic beverages from the five persons without having to show proper identification, sheriff's deputies said.

Eva Margaret Lamoureux, 58, Rt. 1, Box 382, Chuluota; Patricia Ann Brown, 41, 561 E. 3rd Street, Chuluota; Dianne Jeanne Sampson, 21, Rt. 1, Box 816, Oviedo, were arrested Friday night when they allegedly made illegal sales of beer at Granny's Grocery store, Chuluota; The Hitch & Post bar, Chuluota; and the Geneva General Store, Geneva, respectively, deputies said.

Ruben Reyes, 26, 1201 Wilkinson St., Orlando, and Frank Hall, 51, 3469 Seagrade Ave., Winter Park, were arrested Saturday when they allegedly sold beer to the undercover juvenile at the Tenneco Store, Howell Branch Road, and the 7-11 convenience store at State Road 436 and Winterwoods Blvd., deputies said.

All five persons arrested were released from the Seminole County jail in Sanford after each posted $100 bond, jail officials said.

For Country Music Awards

Jones, Alabama Top List

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Singer George Jones, who says "hardships and hard times" have helped him relate to fans, is nominated for awards in four categories at tonight's Country Music Association awards show.

Only Alabama, a four-man band that went through a decade of small club and high school dance performances before making it big last year, has more nominations at five.

Jones, nicknamed "possum," has fought alcoholism, declared bankruptcy and suffered through a divorce from his longtime singing partner Tammy Wynette. But that didn't stop fans from buying his records.

Jones won three CMA awards last year and despite more problems this year, received nominations for top entertainer, top album, male vocalist and top vocal duo with Miss Wynette.

Joining Jones and Alabama as nominees for the top entertainer award are Barbara Mandrell, last year's winner; Kenny Rogers, and The Oak Ridge Boys, a onetime gospel group turned country.

He was named male vocalist of the year by the CMA last year and similar honors were bestowed by the Academy of Country Music and the Music City News. He also won a Grammy Award for his song, "He Stopped Loving Her Today."

Jones will compete with Rogers, Ronnie Milsap, Willie Nelson and Don Williams for male vocalist honors.

Alabama — comprised of Teddy Gentry, Mark Herndon and cousins Randy Owen and Jeff Cook — was nominated for top entertainer, single, album, vocal group and instrumental group in balloting by CMA members.

Alabama first cracked the national scene with the song "My Home's In Alabama." Then came "Tennessee River" and this year's "Old Flame."

Miss Mandrell, who last year became only the third woman ever to be named the CMA's top entertainer, is on the CMA board of directors and had her own television show this year.

In addition to top entertainer, she was also nominated for top female vocalist and best single for "I Was Country (When Country Wasn't Cool)."

Berletha Miss Mandrell, Terri Gibbs, Emmylou Harris, Loretta Lynn and Anne Murray were picked in the female vocalist category.

... Turn Thermostat Down

tell whether the thermostat on your air conditioner is set where it should be.

"If the room feels cool, it is probably too cold," he says. "If you can't really tell if it's cool or hot, that's probably where it should be."

Often people set thermostats lower than they need to be simply to keep air moving inside a house. Berger suggests paddle fans. He says they will give you the feeling of a breeze, of air circulating, while allowing your air conditioner to remain at a setting of maximum efficiency to keep the cost down. FP&L estimates a ceiling fan uses only 12 kw/h, or 96 cents per month.

Now to the controversy over water heaters. They are the second largest energy user in your home. Should you use a timer on your thermostat?

Berger says research has shown that people tend to cut back their water consumption when they have a timer on their water heater. When a timer is set to come on for only two hours a day, people realize there may be less hot water in the tank, so they use it more sparingly. It is this factor, Berger says experts believe, rather than the saving in electricity, that may make timers a saving measure for certain people.

The best way to save money on your electric bill with a water heater is to put the tank in a blanket — that's right, put an insulation blanket around the unit. The blanket costs roughly $18, but it will save you $9 per year on your electric bill, according to FP&L research. In two years your investment will be amortized.

A blanket keeps the heat inside the tank. That sounds simple, but the real cost of operating a water heater is heat loss through the sides of the tank. Berger says that if you touch the side of the tank and it is very warm, or hot, you are paying for energy that is literally disappearing into the air. An insulation blanket will prevent that.

Another simple measure to make your water heater more cost-efficient is to adjust the thermostat on the heater to 120 degrees if you don't use a dishwasher, or to 140 degrees if you do. Most water heaters are set at 150 degrees when installed, says FP&L.

If your water heater is a dual-element quick-recovery type, set the top thermostat setting at 120 degrees (or 140 degrees with a dishwasher) and the bottom one 10 degrees lower. That way, only one heating element will come on to heat the water. Berger says this is all that is usually necessary, unless you have drained the entire tank of hot water.

Before making any adjustments to your water heater, be sure the electricity is off! Otherwise you might get a nasty shock. Instructions for changing the thermostat on your water heater can be found in a consumer pamphlet, "Water Heating," available at your local FP&L office.

Saturday night stabbing in the Deluxe Bar parking lot located on Southwest Road in Goldsboro.

The youth told Seminole County Sheriff's deputies he was watching a fight in the bar parking lot when another youth stabbed him in the back with a knife. The youth told deputies the attack probably was in retaliation for a fight in which he was involved last week.

ALLEGED PROWLERS

Two men were arrested at 3 a.m. this morning after Seminole County sheriff's deputies received a report they were prowling around the loading dock at the Jim Taylor Corp., 187 Atlantic Dr., Sanford.

Robert Thomas Hubbard, 24, of Sorrento, and Willie George Banks, 33, 1207 Jackson St., Mt. Dora, were arrested and charged with prowling. Hubbard was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon in his vehicle, deputies said.

A witness told deputies he saw the two men pull up to the loading dock in a black pick-up truck and get out. Suspicious, the witness notified authorities.

Deputies said when they arrived they found a tractor-trailer had been broken into but, according to the truck operator, nothing was stolen. The rig contained $20,000 of beer, deputies said.

Deputies said they asked the two men why they were in the area, but the pair could not give them a good answer. Hubbard and Banks are being held at the Seminole County jail in Sanford under $5,000 and $100 bond respectively.

STRONG-ARM ROBBERY

A Sanford woman was robbed at 2:40 p.m. Saturday while she was walking along Locust Avenue in Sanford.

Margaret Greco, 54, of 1806 Locust Ave., told police a man grabbed her while she was walking down the street and took her purse. Ms. Greco said the man also knocked her to the ground causing her to cut her lip, and scrape her chin and knees, police said. She was treated by Sanford Fire Department rescue personnel.

The assailant, who reportedly stole approximately $25 cash and several credit cards, lost his baseball cap during the incident, police said.

The suspect, described by Ms. Greco as a slender black male, 18-20 years old and approximately six feet tall, was last seen fleeing on foot east on 4th Street, police said.

HEADSTART DIRECTOR ROBBED

Robbers stole approximately $2,550 of merchandise from HeadStart Director Portia Spencer, 61, 909 S. Sanford Ave., at 8:40 p.m., Saturday.

Police said the burglars apparently entered Ms. Spencer's home through a rear window and took a diamond watch, a gold and ivory necklace, along with numerous gold, bronze and copper pieces from a tea service. The robbers exited the home through the front door, police said.

Herald: Carter Tried Secretly To Get Cuban Troops Out Of Africa

MIAMI (UPI) — The Carter administration held secret negotiating sessions with Cuba for more than 2½ years in an effort to improve relations and get Cuban troops out of Africa, it was reported today.

The Miami Herald, citing interviews with current and former federal officials, said the negotiations were held in the United States, Cuba and Mexico while the president was publicly snubbing Cuban President Fidel Castro.

During a meeting in September 1980, the newspaper said a Carter negotiator warned his Cuban counterpart that Ronald Reagan would win the presidency unless Cuba closed the port of Mariel to end the politically embarrassing seafleet that sent 125,000 Cubans to south Florida.

Within days — on Sept. 26 — the newspaper said Castro ended the seafleet.

Although none of the meetings has been officially acknowledged, the Herald said it confirmed they took place through interviews with current and former government officials who had direct knowledge of them.

The meetings were reportedly held between the spring of 1978 and late summer of 1980. In 1978, the Herald said, a "confrontational meeting" was held with Castro in Cuba.

The talks broke down when the Cuban president refused to withdraw his troops and advisors from Africa, the newspaper said.

It was widely reported the U.S. Interests Section in Havana and Cuban Interests Section in Washington were established following a meeting of officials from both countries in early 1977.

It was after this, the newspaper said, that both countries agreed to meet secretly.

Across The U.S. In 55 Hours

BLACKBEARD ISLAND, Ga. (UPI) — Two adventurers piloted their 10-story-high balloon to a remote Georgia island, within a stone's throw of the Atlantic's waves, to become the first ever to make a transcontinental crossing of the United States in a helium balloon.

John Shoecraft, 37, and Fred Gerrell, 40, both of Scottsdale, Ariz., endured upper atmosphere temperatures of 40 degrees below, sleepless nights and intermittent bites of peanut butter-and-honey sandwiches for the 2,515-mile trip from Costa Mesa, Calif., to Blackbeard Island.

It took the adventurers 55 hours and 25 minutes — from Friday to Sunday — to complete the journey in their huge billowing balloon dubbed "Superchicken III."

Gerrell said he and Shoecraft — dressed in five layers of clothing and electric socks — leaped from the gondola and "jumped up and down" after a "very smooth" landing Sunday just 200 yards from the warm ocean waters. Then they planted a "Superchicken" flag in Blackbeard Island's sand to mark their feat.

Three hours later, they were picked up, taken back to the mainland and had their first good night's sleep since early Friday. The two planned to hold a news conference in Savannah today.

"The biggest reward of the flight is finally making it — achieving a goal we set out to do," said Shoecraft who had attempted the cross-country flight twice before. "I couldn't have imagined a more successful outcome for a coast-to-coast flight to land on the beach."

Asked about their future plans and a possible flight of "Superchicken IV," Gerrell said, "We don't know, but it seems kind of a shame to leave it in the garage, doesn't it?"

Shoecraft admitted Superchicken III's flight was "quite an ordeal."

"It's worth every moment but it's got to be something you're into or it's not much fun at all," he said.

The men said the cold temperatures, which at times reaches 40 degrees below, and the constant use of oxygen masks caused them the most discomfort.

"I think the cold was the thing that surprised me the most," Gerrell said. "Of course we were on oxygen all the time. You can't eat, sleep drink or do anything else without oxygen. Have you ever tried to spread honey at 40 below?"

The men had a small stove to heat tea and dehydrated soup, but ate mostly the peanut butter-and-honey-sandwiches and granola bars.

"You've got to eat by taking your oxygen mask off, grabbing a bite and then putting it back on," Shoecraft said.

When the transcontinental balloonists landed at 11:07 a.m. EDT Sunday, it took rescuers three hours to find them because Blackbeard Island is so remote and so tiny — just 5 miles long and 2 miles wide in some places. A rescue boat carrying their wives, members of the ground crew and reporters finally ferried them to the mainland.

Claims Husband And Three Sons

Cancer Devastates Miami Family

By VALERIE STRAUSS
MIAMI (UPI) — In 16 devastating years that have become part of medical history, cancer has claimed Jane Southerland's husband, two of her children and crippled her third son.

It was hot and muggy last May when she got the phone call from Bethesda, Md. that unhinged her life again.

Jane's husband of 22 years, Metro policeman Raymond Southerland, called from the National Institute of Health to report doctors had found a cancerous tumor in his brain — his second — and it was growing fast. "I felt like I had been hit with a ton of bricks," she said.

"When I went to pick him up at the airport, I saw people watching us. They didn't know why two people were crying and holding on to each other for dear life.

"But we were holding on for dear life, because we knew that things wouldn't be the same."

The summer of 1981 got worse for Jane Southerland. Much worse. In June, 16-year-old Michael, "the sensitive one," lost his second bout against cancer in a Cincinnati hospital. He was the second of Jane and Ray's sons claimed by the disease.

Then in August, with his wife and surviving son Stephen at his side, Ray Southerland died after undergoing brain surgery. The fast-talking, wise-cracking cop was never told about Michael's death.

"I'll miss Mike," Mrs. Southerland said. "And missing Mike, I'll miss Ray, because I'll need him to lean on and he won't be there, so I'll miss Mike again. It's a never-ending cycle. But I know I'll just have to break it."

"Life goes on, I know that. And so will I."

At age 41, Jane Southerland has seen cancer claim her husband and two of her three sons, and cripple 21-year-old Stephen. But she is not, she says, "a bitter woman."

"I think life has been good to me. If I did not believe there was something after death, perhaps I would be bitter. But I do.

"I can't say I understand why this happened to me, or if there even is a reason. But I know that I now have to live for three people. I have to keep laughing, joking and loving life, because Mike and Ray would want me to. Anybody in my position would do it. I'm not extraordinary."

What is now a chapter in medical history began for the Southerlands in 1966 when doctors discovered that 3-year-old Jeffrey had acute lymphatic leukemia.

The day before Jeff died in 1967, doctors discovered that Michael had a rare form of cancer of the spine's nerve lining. He underwent and survived surgery and seemed to be cured.

But cancer kept striking the Southerland family — again and again and again in an almost unbelievable sequence. Health officials began extensive research on the Southerlands and news accounts told of how the family coped with the disease with courage and humor.

When the Southerlands moved to Miami in 1972, Stephen — then 13 — was found to be suffering from bone cancer that cost him a leg. Stephen is now a senior at the University of Florida and plans to attend law school next year.

The next three years were kind to the Southerlands. But in 1975, Ray underwent testing and a brain tumor was discovered. He underwent surgery and returned to work at Dade County's Metro Police Department, where he was involved in community service work and the Officer Friendly program for children.

Another quiet period followed. In 1979, a new form of cancer struck Michael, then 14 and a champion swimmer.

Doctors told the family Michael would die, but surgery might prolong his life. In revolutionary surgery, cancerous spinal vertebra was replaced by metal braces and parts of four ribs.

By now, health officials had discovered a history of cancer in the Southerland family that dated back 141 years.

Ray's mother had breast cancer. Ray's brother died from the disease at age 2. Like Stephen, Ray's sister lost a leg to the disease, and it claimed the life of Ray's uncle. Jane's side of the family was not cancer-free either. Her mother's aunt and uncle also have cancer. "It seems as if everybody has a little bit of it in their family."

"When Jeff first got it, we didn't consider it being a big problem in the family," she said. "It was leukemia and while it was terrible, it did not scare us. When Michael got what he had, it got to be a little unusual. But not that unusual. Then, when Steve got it, people started asking questions and research began. We couldn't believe it when Ray got it."

"It may sound funny in a family like ours with so much cancer that death was sudden, but Michael's was. He had beat the cancer once and we thought he could beat it again. We always thought we could beat it."

"Naturally, I regret the pain my family has been in. But I am not sorry I married Ray Southerland. I only wish we had a little better quality life for a little longer."

Poverty Lobby: Powerful Force

Ever since President Reagan announced his proposed budget cuts last February, the doom-sayers have been proclaiming calamity for the nation's poor. Almost daily accounts in the media have detailed how millions of underprivileged are being lacerated by a heartless administration, which is made up, we are often reminded, mostly of millionaires. Numerous interviews with poor persons have reflected awful hardships to come, even starvation.

The time has come to leaven these fears with some facts.

First, the American people should realize that the multi-billion-dollar federal assistance programs have generated a powerful lobby to resist any and all reductions. The Food Research and Action Center (FRAX), the National Anti-Hunger Coalition, and six other national groups lobby for food stamps. Other potent lobby, a Low-Income Housing Coalition of church, labor, civil rights, and tenant groups pushes for public housing; the National Gray Panthers for Medicaid, and so on down a long list of activists for the poor.

Poverty programs have developed a powerful, subterranean politics of their own. The General Accounting Office last year charged FRAC had illegally used government money to lobby against a federal "work-fare" project. In March, the government-funded Community Services Administration (CSA) was found to have been involved in a massive mailing of fliers declaring "Reagan Says 'No' to Human Needs..." and urging citizens to lobby legislators against the administration's proposed budget cuts.

And the politics of poverty have scattered federal goodies year after year over so many millions of recipients that any sort of discipline has become politically unpalatable. The Census Bureau calculated that 27.2 million households receives at least one federal in-kind benefit. Federal spending in 1980 for food stamps, school lunches, public housing, and medical care for the poor was $48.3 billion, nearly three times the $17.3 billion spent on cash transfer programs for the poor.

Actually, millions of Americans receiving federal assistance are in the middle class category and not at the poverty level. The Census Bureau reports that almost 40 percent of food stamp recipients had incomes exceeding the government's poverty level. More than 50 percent of those receiving subsidies under Medicaid, housing, and school lunch programs were above the federal poverty level as were more than 80 percent of those in the Medicare program. The Project of Food Assistance and Poverty estimated that 85 percent of their recipients have incomes above the poverty level. Nevertheless, the subsidy programs have kept on expanding along with their costs.

The truly needy, it is worth remembering, are not to be found in one out of every three U.S. households. In his book, "Welfare," Martin C. Anderson, President Reagan's chief domestic adviser, argues that the last 20 years have "virtually eliminated poverty in the United States." And Morton Paglin, Portland State University economist and authority on the subject, has concluded that only 3 percent of the population are poor, about 8 million persons. To be sure, these low figures are vigorously contested in some quarters, but they suggest the case for welfare reform is even stronger than the administration has been arguing.

Despite this public outcry, the welfare cutbacks proposed by President Reagan are not actual reductions from 1981 programs but, more often, mere reductions in the increases in subsidies scheduled by the Carter administration. We forget that, even after cutting about $37 billion from the bloated Carter budget for fiscal 1982, the Reagan administration will still be spending about $40 billion more than was spent in 1981. This includes substantial increases over last year's welfare outlays—$1.6 billion more in the Medicaid program alone, for example.

"Don't tell ME what to do!"

The Florida Wildlife Federation has awarded State Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, its "outstanding conservation legislator of the year" award.

Vogt is a member of Seminole's Legislative Delegation.

The award was presented to Vogt at the Florida Wildlife Federation's annual meeting in Kissimmee.

Vogt, chairman of the Senate Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, was instrumental in the passage of the "Save Our Rivers" bill during the 1981 legislative session. This legislation created the Water Management Lands Trust Fund to be used by the state's five water management districts to buy lands necessary for protection of water supplies and resources.

The new law provides funds for the purchases by an increase in the documentary stamp tax on real estate transactions of five cents per $10. The additional increment will raise the cost of buying a $60,000 home by $30, Vogt said, but will generate $320 million to buy vital wetlands over the 10-year life of the act.

Vogt's selection this year makes him the fourth double recipient in the 40-year history of the award. He also received the award in 1979 for his role in the passage of the Conservation and Recreation Lands Bill which revived the state's environmentally endangered lands program.

More than $1,000 in cash prizes is being offered by the Orlando Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) in its fourth annual "Peace Essay" contest.

For the first time, Seminole County senior high school students, as well as Orange County high school students, are eligible to enter the contest. Preferred length of essays is 500 words, but other lengths will be accepted, a spokesman of the Society of Friends said.

Writers should enclose with their essays a separate sheet giving name, address, telephone, age, number words, school and name of teacher, the spokesman said.

Suggested subjects are "How Can the Nuclear Arms Race Be Reversed?" "How Can People Be Made Constantly Alert to the Danger of Nuclear War?" "How Can People Learn to be Friends with Other People of the World?" "How Can Citizens Influence Their Governments to Plan for Peace?"

First prize is $500, second prize is $300, third prize is $200 and fourth is $100, the spokesman said.

Essays must be mailed or delivered by Dec. 1 to the Orlando Friends Meeting House, 316 E. Marks St., Orlando, FL 32803. For more information, contact G. Conditte, 425-3255.

DICK WEST The Gullibility Gap

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although some hikers I know report the Appalachian Trail seemed less crowded than usual this summer, statistics kept by the National Park Service won't support a conclusion that the backpacking population is declining.

The explanation may be that backpackers merely have become less conspicuous. If so, I think I know the reason. It has to do with a loss of mystique.

It used to be that people who had never done any mountain hiking were awed by tales of tramping over such eminences as New Hampshire's Presidential Range, Colorado's Pawnee Pass and Virginia's Old Rag.

Indeed, their level of credulity was such that the temptation to romanticize a bit was at times nearly irresistible.

And then nine handicapped people had to go and spoil it all by making it to the top of Mount Ranier.

That achievement, while undoubtedly an inspiration to the incapacitated, has made it a hundredfold more difficult for hikers who are sound of limb to elicit gasps of astonishment.

I myself have noticed a big difference when narrating, with strategic embellishments, my own adventures in the high country.

This summer, for example, I challenged some peaks that had only been conquered by 9,376 Girl Scouts and little old ladies in tennis shoes. Heretofore, my neighbor Phizbeam would have been an appreciative audience for a travelogue. But when I recently undertook to give him a vicarious thrill, he was uncharacteristically quizzical.

"Our destination was the 14,495-foot summit of Mount Whitney, highest point in the United States outside of Alaska," I told Phizbeam. "We set up base camp at a motel and approached the peak from the difficult and treacherous Whitney Portal trailhead."

"I didn't know motel elevators could go that high," Phizbeam commented.

One thing you learn on the trail is never backtrack or become disheartened. So I pressed gamely on.

"Would you believe we found snow fields at the higher elevations even in midsummer?" I said.

"Hmnmnm," hummed Phizbeam. "Was there any danger of the escalators icing over?"

I could see I was in deep trouble. Normally, by that time, Phizbeam would have been hanging on my every word. But I determined to tough it out.

"It was virgin territory for everyone in the party and we were thankful that previous wilderness experience had taught us how to follow trail blazes and orient ourselves on topographical maps," I said.

"Well," said Phizbeam, "if you had gotten lost I'm sure the floorwalker could have given you directions."

There were many exciting exploits I could have related, but I could see that man vs. nature stories would be wasted on Phizbeam. And more's the pity.

Until the lame and the halt started conquering Mount Ranier, he would believe anything.

WASHINGTON — Columbus Day is an appropriate time for Spain's King Juan Carlos to arrive here for talks with President Reagan and his foreign policy advisers.

The welcoming rhetoric will gloss over the reversal of international power in the 400 years since Juan Carlos' predecessors hooked the royal jewels to send a Genoese adventurer off in search of the Orient by sailing west.

Yet many proud Spaniards are as resentful of the United States' benign "imperialism" as the natives of the New World were of the much harsher variety practiced by the conquistadores more than four centuries ago.

Instead of wringing gold and silver from local population in the old Spanish tradition, the United States is suspected by many Spaniards of exploiting its military power in an even deadlier way: Hoping, through NATO, to make Western Europe the battleground in any future Soviet-American war.

The big question in the minds of many Spaniards today is whether Spain should rush pell-mell into the NATO alliance, as Premier Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo and his centrist regime

Ralph Nader: Citizen

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Ten or 15 years ago, the "national citizen action conference and gala fund-raising dinner" recently held here would have been widely acclaimed solely on the basis of the principal sponsor's identity.

But Ralph Nader is no longer a novelty, and it's neither politically fashionable nor socially chic to be enthusiastic about his work these days. As a result, the conference was generally ignored by those searching for new thrills.

Nader's celebrity status has indeed faded since he came to Washington in the mid-1960s, but for more than a decade he has built a solid reputation as a man whose vision, integrity and dedication probably are unique to our time.

"Nader's boyhood hero was Lou Gehrig, who didn't miss a game for 14 years and was nicknamed 'Iron Man.' In an age when everything seems to be going against Nader, stamina is his touchstone," says longtime associate Donald Ross.

"Stamina—the sheer force of his belief in himself and his causes that some see as prophetic, selfless passion and others see as shrill, blind obsession—is what sustains Nader now and what could propel him forward again," adds Ross.

"He has arguably had more impact over the past 15 years than any other individual," says The American Lawyer.

"What sets Nader apart is that he has moved beyond social criticism to effective political action," adds The New York Times.

Although his face does not appear as frequently as it once did on newspaper front pages, magazine covers and television programs, Nader remains unalterably committed to his long-standing goal of building a broad-based citizen movement with real influence "in government and other forums where large corporations shape power and dictate their will."

Describing the recent two-day conference on "Taking Charge: The Next 10 Years" as "the first step toward empowering citizens to control what they already own," Nader offers an ambitious agenda for the coming decade: "Regaining control of what is ours—the hundreds of billions of dollars in pension funds, savings and loan deposits and mutual insurance assets, the public airwaves, the resources on public lands—will be one of the major political issues of the 1980s."

The most powerful immediate deterrent to attaining that goal is President Reagan, who has staffed scores of federal policy-making positions with the same corporate executives Nader has so harshly criticized.

Undaunted by such current setbacks, Nader continues to call upon corporations "to stop stealing, stop deceiving, stop corrupting politicians with money, stop monopolizing, stop poisoning the earth, air and water, stop selling dangerous products, stop exposing workers to cruel hazards (and) stop tyrannizing people of conscience."

Reagan is summarily dismissed by Nader as "the most genuinely ignorant president... since Warren G. Harding" and "a president who has more horses than books."

Describing Reagan as "a cruel man with an amiable smile," Nader says the president is the product of "mannequin politics," in which "corporate interest groups pick someone who can talk smooth, smile well and not ruffle people even though he may believe in terrible things."

That's tough talk, but Nader has the resources, staying power and popular support to sustain himself, in his ceaseless struggle with both powerful politicians and influential business executives.

His Public Citizen network, founded 10 years ago, includes organizations devoted to congressional lobbying, public interest law, health research, tax reform and energy policy. Other affiliates are concerned with aviation policy, auto safety, clean water, pension reform and disability issues.

Dealing with Nader can be an exasperating experience. He is, for example, often intolerant of views with which he disagrees. But even he does not claim to have attained the perfection that has eluded other members of the human race.

"Felix Frankfurter used to say that the highest office in a democracy was the office of citizen," says author Jack Newfield. "The American who brings the most distinction to the office of citizen is Ralph Nader."

How Is Fat Defined?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Reagan says that more waste must be trimmed from social programs if he is to keep his promise to balance the federal budget by fiscal 1984. He also says that defense spending cannot be trimmed much more if this country is to avoid falling so far behind militarily as to encourage Soviet adventurism.

Administration officials have gone to extraordinary lengths to make sure that this argument has not been couched in terms of guns vs. butter. Instead, they have said that the country must "rearm" and "reverse a decade of neglect" while making the cuts in social programs demanded by those who supported Reagan in 1980.

Earlier this year Congress approved slashes in the fiscal 1982 budget amounting to almost $40 billion while approving a defense budget of $221 billion, $26 billion more than had been proposed for the year by President Carter.

But now it seems that even more—at least $13 billion more—will have to be extracted from the fiscal 1982 budget because of the size of the tax cut and the administration's miscalculation of revenues and spending.

David Stockman, the director of the Office of Management and Budget, says that he has found some more fat that can be trimmed in the non-defense sector, while Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger says that he has found a little fat—about $2 billion worth—that he will reluctantly cut from his budget. But Weinberger has warned that "any more cuts will simply increase our window of vulnerability" to the Soviets.

An examination of two small items—one in the defense budget, the other in a social program—offers ample proof that what is "fat" for one federal agency may be "muscle" for another.

When Congress was debating the initial round of budget cuts, Reagan and Stockman announced that they would not make cuts in a "safety net" of social programs for the "truly needy."

But even these programs are no longer sacrosanct. Education Secretary Terrel Bell recently disclosed that the administration wanted Congress to reduce educational assistance to the handicapped by almost one-third, from the current $1.15 billion to $783 million. In other words, the budget cutters decided that one federal dollar out of every three spent on the education of the handicapped was fat.

Now consider the Pentagon budget, which contains an entry titled "administrative vehicles, Army"—in other words, staff cars for high Army officials. The Carter administration deleted this item from its budget on the grounds that the Army brass needed new cars only every other year.

But the Reagan administration decided that "rearming America" called for the purchase of 15,000 new "administrative vehicles, Army" at a cost of $139 million. After all, there is no telling how many invasions the Russians might plot if they learned that American generals were being driven around Washington in year-old cars.

This little item did not escape the notice of "Cap the Knife"—the little Weinberger earned as budget director during the Nixon administration. He has determined that the Army will have to get by with only 10,000 new "administrative vehicles" at a cost of $89 million.

Anti-U.S. View Gaining In Spain

WASHINGTON — Spain's Socialists are gaining strength, according to diplomatic and local sources. A number of experts say they would win power if elections were to be held today.

Even in Washington, a Spanish official acknowledged that the Socialists had "gained momentum" lately.

Opposition to NATO is not the core of the Socialists' program. Indeed, they're streaming that Spain's domestic problems are far too serious to take on the added risk of a controversial embrace of NATO.

In meeting with members of the opposition, in fact, my associate was told that the Socialists are not against NATO per se. They said they simply feel the government's timing is bad — Spain's efforts could be better spent attacking high unemployment, political instability and overall economic woes.

These assurances were made by a local party leader in Cadix, the bustling port on Spain's southwest coast from which Columbus set sail in 1492. The Socialist functionary saw no contradiction in the anti-NATO and anti-U.S. posters that were plastered on the walls of party headquarters.

Although the Socialist politicians did not say so, they may be using the NATO issue and anti-American sentiment as a campaign tool — just as their French compatriots have done, or as Irish-American office-seekers regularly denounce the British. Presumably, if they were to be elected to rule, the Socialists would turn out to be no more anti-American than the friendly Francois Mitterrand.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Alexander Haig added fuel to the fires of resentment ignited last February, when he was widely quoted as saying the attempted right-wing coup in Spain was an "internal matter." His belated statements in support of Spanish democracy did little to dispel the belief among many Spaniards that the United States would welcome a military takeover.

Haig's latest gaffe was to fly to the south of Spain for a meeting with Saudi Arabia's Prince Fahd. He made no attempt to meet with Spanish leaders — which was regarded by the sensitive Spaniards as a deliberate snub.

Knights Explode, 47-13

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

UCF

Tick. Tick. Tick. Tick.
BOOM!
For the first four weeks of the 1981 college football season, the University of Central Florida's offensive unit had been lying around like a dormant hand grenade, waiting for some half-crazed commando to come along and yank the safety pin.

Saturday night, before more than 6,400 spectators at the Tangerine Bowl, a host of UCF heroes helped detonate an offensive explosion that left visiting Savannah State at the short end of a shell shocked 47-13 defeat. The same Savannah State that thoroughly whipped UCF's Knights a year ago 44-0. The same Savannah State that featured no less than 51 returning lettermen.

Place kicker Scott Ryerson and halfback John Muldoon led the Knight stormtroopers with a pair of record-breaking performances in an offensive explosion that Knight head coach Don Jonas had been waiting for and secretly anticipating.

"I had a feeling about the middle of this week that it was all going to come together," said an ecstatic Jonas. "It had to. As hard as we've been working on offense and as simple as our mistakes have been in the first four games, it was a case of us coming out some night and just blowing the lid off.

"The coaching staff and the offense have worked so hard for so many hours they really deserved a game like tonight. It was a matter of the cream coming to the top."

UCF's cream not only came to the top, it crested like a raging tidal wave and swept away what prior to Saturday night's 7:30 kickoff had been known as the Savannah State Tiger defensive unit.

Midway through the first period John Muldoon followed a block by fullback Steve Colubiale and zipped through the Tiger secondary en route to a record breaking 73-yard touchdown run. Ryerson warmed up his leg for a record breaking night with his first PAT kick of the evening to give the Knight's an early 7-0 lead.

With a minute left in the quarter, Ryerson, named the game's MVP, eyed the goal posts from 54 yards out, consulted with Jonas and the Knight coaching staff, then blasted the pigskin through the uprights with a boot that broke both the school and his own coach's (Jonas') record to put UCF 10-0.

"We were on the sideline trying to decide whether to punt or give Scott a shot at the field goal," recalled Jonas of the early-game decision. "I was thinking about my Tangerine Bowl record of 52 yards and I was thinking about how Scott has been hitting 60-yarders in practice. I almost decided to punt," laughed the Knights coach. "But we made the right decision in going for three. We made a lot of right decisions tonight."

The Knights found the end zone again four minutes later by capping a 48-yard drive on Haul Perez's eight-yard scoring run.

With the aid of a pass interference penalty, the Knights struck again moments later when quarterback Mike McCrary fired a 21-yard touchdown pass to wideout Jeff Froelich to make the score 24-0 UCF.

The Knights, marching almost at will, struck first half paydirt again with four minutes left before intermission when McCrary rifled a 40-yard scoring strike to Jim Taylor to push the UCF advantage to 31-0.

The Tigers managed a 15-yard touchdown pass from Tony Richardson to Reggie Tindal to snap UCF's string of allowing no first half points and then limped off to intermission, trailing 31-6.

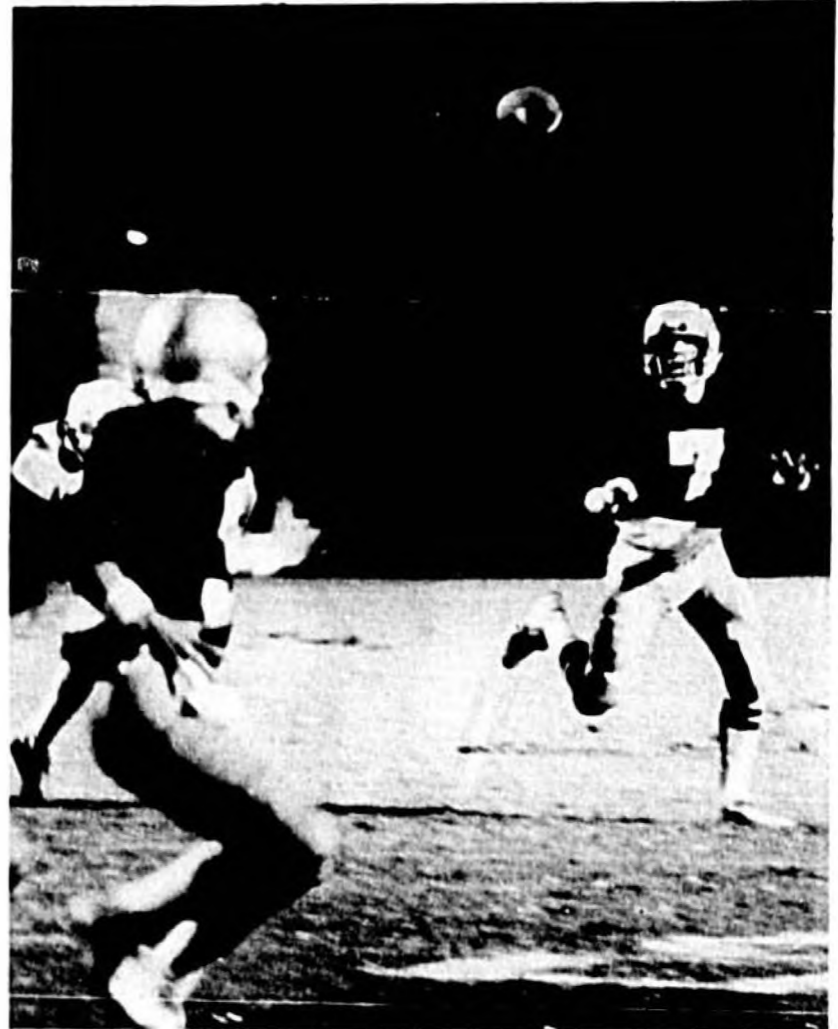

Savannah State's Vincent Green put a little roar back in the Tiger's attack when he took the second half kickoff and raced back to UCF's 25-yard line. The Tigers struck quickly when quarterback Richardson connected with Tindal for a 25-yard Savannah State touchdown. The Tigers drove again moments later and appeared ready to roar back into the game before linebacker Billy Giovanetti came up with an interception in the Knight end zone, one of five thefts for UCF on the night.

Ryerson's leg ended any momentum building by Savannah State, however, when he hit a 50-yard field goal try with four minutes remaining in the third quarter.

UCF's final touchdown of the night came when Cobiale rumbled seven yards into the end zone in the third quarter. Ryerson tacked on two field goals in the fourth period.

The victory marked the third straight for UCF after an 0-2 start while the loss dropped Savannah State to 2-3 on the season. The Knights travel to Huntsville, Ala. next Saturday to take on powerful Alabama A and M.

UCF's John Muldoon, (left), waits for a spiral from Mike McCrary during Saturday night's 47-13 rout of Savannah State. Muldoon ran for 126 yards on the night to break Mike Stapp's rushing record of 101.

This was a familiar look Saturday at the Tangerine Bowl as the Central Florida Knights dazed Savannah State, 47-13. Just last year, Savannah blitzed the Knights, 44-0. Center Kirk Daniels (above), one of 51 returning lettermen for Savannah, was knocked silly by a ferocious Knight defense.

Record-Setting UCF Performance Draws Praise From Exuberant Jonas

Minutes after UCF's whopping 43-13 win over Savannah State, head coach Don Jonas was busy wading through the sauna known as UCF's locker room, attempting to shake each hand of his victorious Knights and passing out accolades at each locker and heaping praise upon praise.

The Knight's post-game celebration was Christmas, New Year's and the Fourth of July all wrapped up in a single bundle of happiness.

"We kept the pressure on them and we put the points on the board," smiled Jonas. It really came all together for us tonight."

The victory was a totally unlikely encore against a team that had whipped Jonas and his Knights by a 44-0 margin a year ago. What made it more significant was the fact the Knights crushed a fellow Division III squad that not only wasn't in a rebuilding year, but one that featured no less than 51 returning lettermen.

"This was the biggest victory in our history," stated assistant coach Tom Murphy. "You want character, well, we showed a lot of character."

"These guys don't know they're not supposed to go out and do things like they did tonight," chipped in Jonas. "We don't have the talent the teams we play against do. But don't tell our kids that. When they go out and line up on game night, their efforts come from here," said Jonas pointing to his heart.

In fashioning an impressive win against a powerful foe, much of the credit had to be attributed to the Knight's offensive outburst that ended four weeks of frustration. Almost lost in the shuffle was a typical Knight defensive effort sparked by the familiar names of Ed Gantner, Scott Redditt and Billy Giovanetti.

But Giovanetti typified the mood of his defensive mates. It was the offensive unit's hour to be in the spotlight. It was its turn to get the attention and ink.

"The offense finally got it moving and Ryerson helped a lot," understated Giovanetti. "It kind of took the pressure off of us," said the former Lyman High star who thwarted a Savannah State comeback bid with a third-quarter interception, one of five on the night for the Knights.

"They got the momentum going in

The Knights had 35 rushing attempts which broke the existing record of 50. UCF ran for 196 yards which broke the previous high of 173. The total offense was 493 yards which erased the old mark of 343. The Knights intercepted five passes to tie the old mark.

Miami's record-setting wide receiver Nat Moore hauls in another one.

Plot Thickens For Dolphins Against Buffalo On ABC

Miami

Either the plot thickens soon in the AFC East or else the fast-starting Miami Dolphins will resolve a division race sooner than baseball.

Such an exaggeration, of course, overlooks the vagaries of injuries, fumbles and penalties which ultimately force everyone to memorize the NFL tiebreaker process by December. But the unbeaten Dolphins have an opportunity to take command in a big way.

The Dolphins (4-0-1) must contend with the defending AFC East champion Buffalo Bills (3-2) and 80,000 altogether hostile fans in a Monday night TV showdown before the ABC-TV cameras. The 9 p.m. EDT kickoff at Rich Stadium will be the Dolphins' severest test after sweeping three road encounters in September.

A Miami victory would open a chasm in the AFC East with four clubs trailing the Dolphins by three or four losses. But the favored Bills, who swept their first five games in 1980 on the way to the title, can pull within a half-game of the lead by winning.

In a nutshell, the Dolphins' challenge is to stop a Buffalo stampede which trod upon the New York Jets, 31-0, and the Baltimore Colts, 35-3, a few weeks before those same two clubs scored 28 points apiece and combined for 1,060 yards against the Dolphins.

But then, the Dolphins have produced back-to-back 300-yard passing games for the first time in club history and have scored more points in five games than they scored while struggling to a 4-5 start in 1980. If preseason forecasters are surprised by the Dolphins, how do statisticians feel about a team that is unbeaten in five games yet has been outgained by its opponents?

Coach Don Shula has been juggling personnel to cope with injuries in the Dolphins' offensive backfield which have claimed four of the six running backs who made the 45-man roster. Finally, when quarterback David Woodley suffered a hairline fracture of a rib, Shula had seen his entire opening-day backfield wiped out and the Dolphins still clicked for 21 points in a fatiguing 28-28 tie with the Jets.

Backup quarterback Don Strock, who may get the starting call against the Bills, came off the bench to pass for 279 yards including a whopping 210 yards on seven hookups with wily Nat Moore. Moore had had only five receptions in the first month of the season.

"A lot of balls haven't been thrown to Nat this year because we've been substituting a lot," Strock said, "but I've never lost faith in Nat one bit. It was quite evident today."

Two weeks after his 30th birthday, Moore was the elusive firefly he has always been in leading the Dolphins in receiving for six straight years (1974-79). He snared bombs of 47, 52 and 45 yards plus two touchdowns, and on another reception, he juke-stepped past two defenders and lunged to fall just inches short of the goal line.

Moore's catches of 45 and 23 yards on the 90-yard touchdown drive for the final TD boosted him past the 5,000-yard career mark. The eighth-year pro has caught 317 passes for 5,046 yards and 47 touchdowns — all Dolphin career records — and his 210-yard bounty surpassed Duriel Harris' 180-yard tally on 10 catches against Green Bay Oct. 26, 1979.

Moore admitted he had been frustrated by the lack of activity while, for instance, Jimmy Cefalo caught two TD passes in a 20-7 triumph at St. Louis and Harris had three receptions in the winning TD drive at Houston.

"I had to sit down and eat my pride and say, 'Duriel Harris is a great receiver, Jimmy Cefalo is a great receiver, and it's unfair for me to want all the balls,'" Moore said. "So all I can do is go out and perform when the coach asks me and the other guys will do the same. I don't have to make the big play, game after game, because we've got great backs and great receivers, and it's just a matter of whose number is called."

Moore also gave credit to Strock, who has a 3-0 record in starts against Buffalo (1975, 1976 and 1978). Strock completed 18 of 29 passes, a sharp encore to his 7-of-10 marksmanship in the second half of a 16-10 triumph at Houston two weeks earlier.

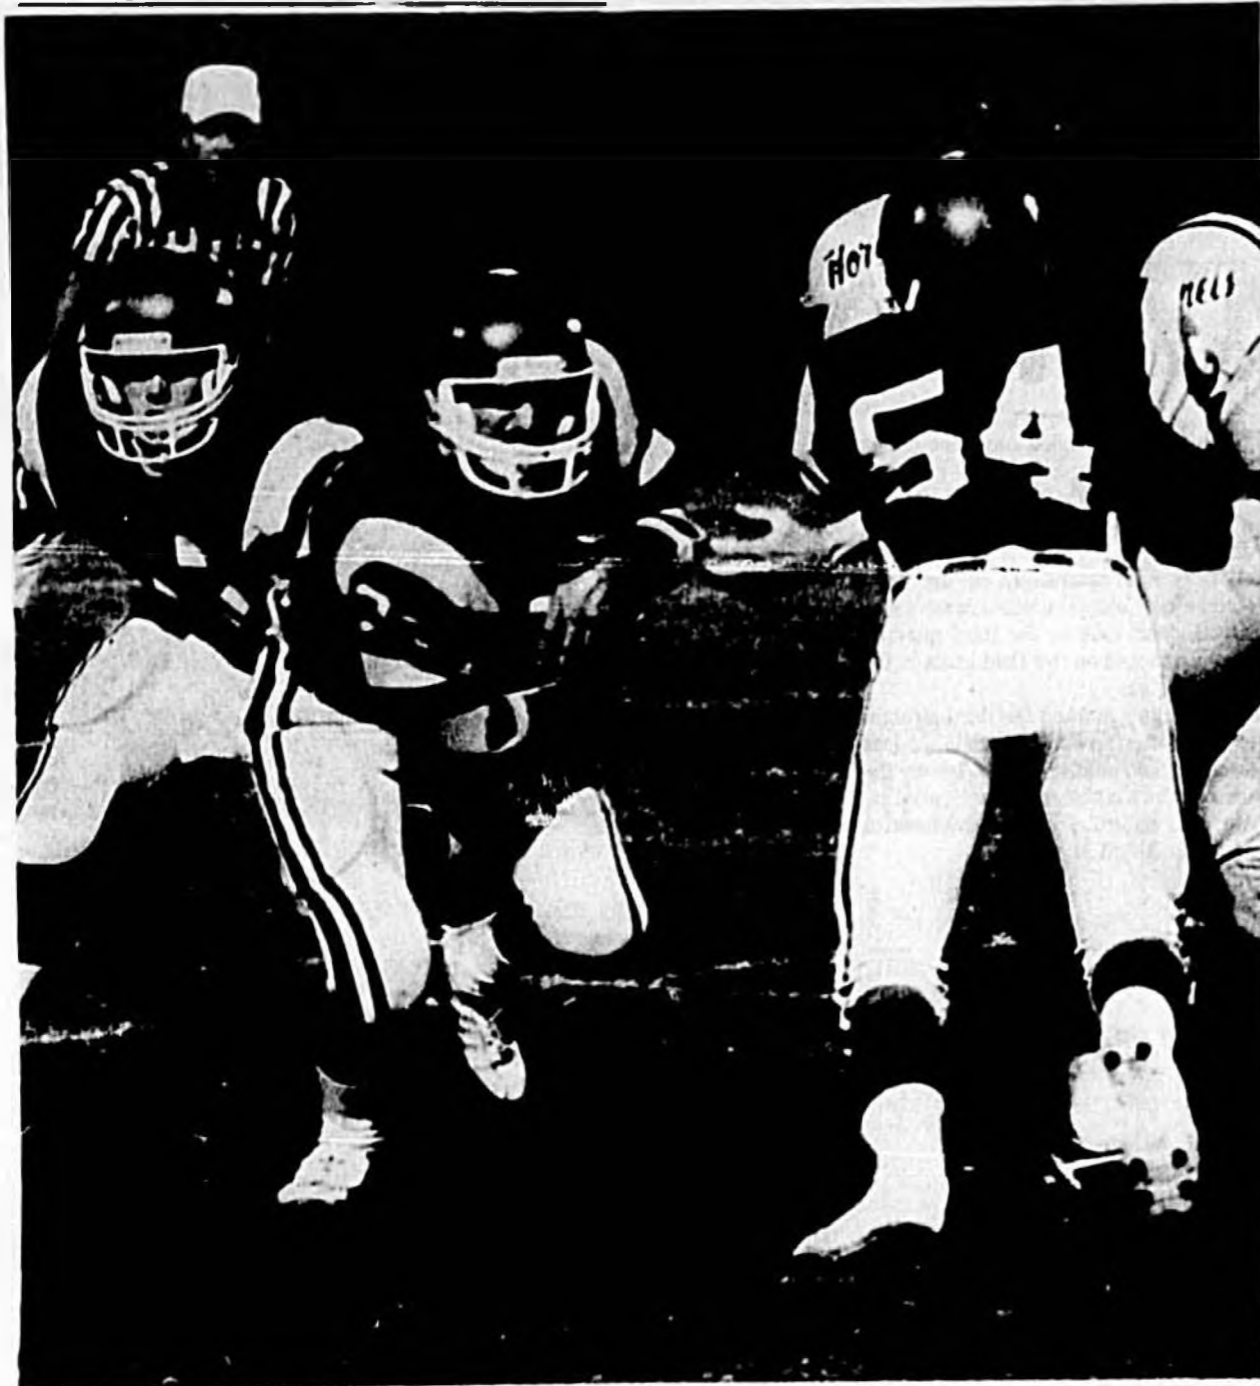

"A lot of time, they (Jets) did have us covered," Moore said. "Maybe we had half a step, but Strock did a great job of laying the ball up and giving us a chance to go get it."

The tie with the Jets broke a string of six straight losses by the Dolphins to the New Yorkers. So the tie was like kissing your sister if your sister happens to be Cheryl Ladd. Or as Shula said with a grin, "It's a step in the right direction against the Jets as far as we're concerned."

The Dolphins are concerned about reverting to the swarming defense that sparked their opening three victories. Shula has called it "alarming the way we've played against the run" particularly a 242-yard rushing yield to the Jets. The 514 and 546 yards allowed on consecutive Sundays marked the second- and third-highest totals surrendered by the Dolphins since Shula took command in 1970.

Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson has the best touchdown-to-interception ratio in the NFL with 11 TDs and only five interceptions. Wide receiver Frank Lewis (26 catches for 425 yards) ranks fourth in the league in receiving yardage, and running back Joe Cribbs used a 150-yard advance against Baltimore to climb to sixth in the NFL in rushing with 397 yards.

In their last visit to Rich Stadium, the Dolphins intercepted Ferguson five times but still lost, 17-7, after a 10-year, 20-game winning streak over the Bills.

FUTURE STARS

Varsity football isn't the only game in the county as junior varsity coaches and Herald Photographer Tom Vincent will readily attest. The Seminole County JV circuit has been pretty competitive this fall. At the right, Vincent catches Lyman's Dan Lynch going up to grab a pass in the Greyhounds victory over Seminole last Thursday. At the left, Lake Mary running back Will LaVelle heads upfield after receiving a handoff from quarterback Kyle Frakes. Steve Kaiser (right) moves his man out of the way. Coach Harry Drivas' Lake Howell JV is undefeated in county play, having knocked off both Lake Mary and Seminole. Lyman has disposed of the Tribe and battles Lake Brantley this Thursday at Brantley. The match that may decide the best team in the county is coming up Oct. 22 when the Greyhounds invade Lake Howell. Next year's stars can be witnessed this year on Thursday nights throughout the county.

Late Field Goals Drop Atlanta, San Diego

Different Shots Keep Rams, Vikings On Top

By United Press International
Thanks to a couple of shots of a different nature, the Los Angeles Rams and Minnesota Vikings still share first place in their divisions.

The Rams, rallying around what was termed a "cheap shot" on quarterback Pat Haden, parlayed backup quarterback Jeff Rutledge's two touchdown passes, LeRoy Irvin's two long punt returns for scores and Frank Corral's 25-yard field goal with 24 seconds left Sunday into a 37-35 victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

Minnesota, meanwhile, missed a chance to tie San Diego when Rick Danmeier flubbed an extra point with 1:51 left, but the kicker redeemed himself when he drilled a 38-yard field goal as time ran out to boost to Vikings to a 33-31 triumph over the Chargers.

Los Angeles, 4-2, finds itself tied for first in the NFC West with the surprising San Francisco 49ers, who posted a 45-14 victory over Dallas. The Vikings also are 4-2 and remain tied with Tampa Bay, a 21-10 winner over Green Bay, for first place in the NFC Central.

"I felt that hit on Haden got the entire team mad," said Irvin, whose runs covered 75 and 84 yards with the 84-yarder pulling the Rams within 35-34. "Pat's a super guy and we hated to see him get a cheap shot. I think it was definitely a factor in the game."

With the Rams trailing 21-13 in the second period after blowing a 13-point lead, Atlanta defensive end Wilson Faumulina dived into Haden's legs just after he released a pass in front of the Rams' bench. Haden lay on the sideline and it was first thought he had a broken left leg. It later turned out to be just a deep bruise.

This seemed to ignite the Rams, especially Rutledge, who set up Corral's winning kick by driving Los Angeles from its 20 to the Falcons' 8-yard line. The key plays in the drive were pass completions of 12 and 8 yards to Henry Childs and 20 and 9 yards to Preston Dennard.

For Atlanta, which dropped its third straight, Steve Bartkowski completed 17-of-38 passes for 214 yards and three TDs. At San Diego, Danmeier credited his teammates with giving him a another chance.

"I've got every bit of confidence in myself and every bit of confidence in the other 10 guys," said Danmeier. "I just went out there and concentrated on what I had to do. I've kicked a lot of those things (field goals) and the worst thing that could have happened was to think about missing it."

With Minnesota trailing 31-30 because of his missed extra point after Tommy Kramer's 13-yard TD pass to Terry LeCount with 1:51 left, Danmeier's on-side kick was recovered by LeCount on the Chargers' 41. Kramer, who completed 27-of-42 passes for 441 yards and four TDs, then passed three yards to LeCount, threw incomplete and connected again with LeCount for 15 yards to move Minnesota to the 20. After Kramer recovered his own fumble on the next play, Danmeier kicked the winning field goal.

The Chargers had taken a 31-24 lead with 4:13 left when Chuck Muncie — his fractured left hand bunched in a cast — scored from a yard out on a 4th-and-goal. For the Chargers, who fell to 4-2, Dan

49ers 45, Cowboys 7
Joe Montana completed 20-of-30 passes for 314 yards and two TDs and San Francisco, 4-2, added 17 other points on Dallas turnovers. The Cowboys, 4-2, suffered their second straight setback and their worst defeat in 11 years.

Terry Bradshaw passed for 199 yards and one touchdown, Dave Trout kicked two field goals and J.T. Thomas intercepted a Cleveland pass in the end zone with 1:53 remaining to give Pittsburgh, 2-4, its fourth straight victory. The Browns, 2-4, played the fourth quarter without quarterback Brian Sipe, who left the game with a concussion.

Jets 28, Patriots 24
Richard Todd threw three first-half TD passes and Darrol Ray returned an interception 43 yards for the deciding score to lead the Jets to a frantic triumph. Johnny Lynn saved the game for New York when he intercepted Steve Grogan's pass near his own goal-line and returned it 67 yards to run out the clock.

Bengals 41, Colts 19
Ken Anderson fired three TD passes and completed 21-of-27 passes for 257 yards to give Cincinnati its fourth triumph in six games.

Oilers 35, Seabawks 17
Ken Stabler recouped from his poorest passing day as a pro one week ago to throw three scoring passes and Earl Campbell hammered the Seattle defense for 186 rushing yards on a career-high 39 attempts to spark Houston.

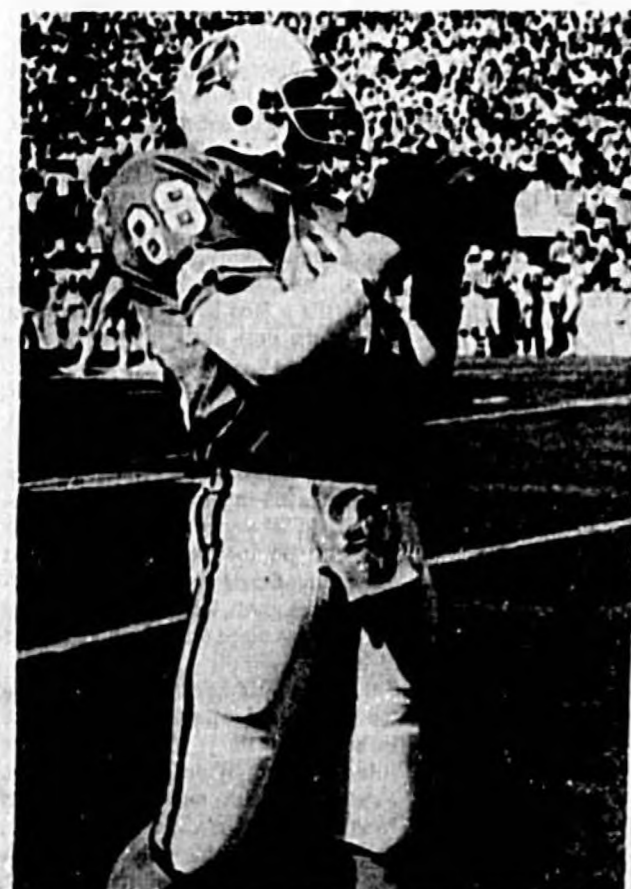

Redskins 24, Bears 7
Neal Olkewicz returned one of four Vince Evans' interceptions for a TD and John Higgins scored twice to lead Washington to its first victory of the season.

Broncos 27, Lions 21
Craig Morton threw scoring passes of 95, 40 and 15 yards and Fred Steinfort added a pair of 24-yard field goals to give Denver its fifth victory in six games. Billy Sims rushed for 185 yards for the Lions.

Bucs Intercept Four Passes

Williams Dazzles Packers 21-10

Tampa Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, behind the passing and running of quarterback Doug Williams, scored touchdowns on their first two possessions of the second half Sunday and got four interceptions to beat the Green Bay Packers 21-10.

The victory gave the Buccaneers a 4-2 record and left them in first place in the NFC Central. Green Bay, which has yet to win at home this season, dropped to 2-4.

Williams broke a 7-7 halftime tie by plunging 1 yard to cap a 65-yard drive that began after the opening kickoff of the second half. Less than two minutes later, Tampa Bay linebacker Cecil Johnson intercepted a Lynn Dickey pass and rambled 29 yards to the Green Bay 1. Fullback James Wilder fought his way into the end zone on the next play and Bill Capece added the point after for a 21-7 lead.

Tampa Bay also scored on a 5-yard pass from Williams to tight end Jimmie Giles, who worked himself free from the Green Bay defense most of the afternoon. Green Bay scored on a 7-yard run by fullback Gerry Ellis and a 34-yard field goal by Jan Stenerud.

Williams' quarterback sneak capped a 10-play drive that began on the Buccaner 35. Tailback Jerry Eckwood opened the march with a 25-yard run and Williams sustained it by throwing a 16-yard pass to tight end Jim O'Bradovich and a 22-yarder to Giles on a crucial third-and-long play.

Johnson's interception, his fourth in the last three games, came on Green Bay's third offensive play of the second half.

Linebacker Scot Brantley stopped a Packers drive with less than 10 minutes to play by picking off a Dickey pass on Tampa Bay 2. Neal Colzie and rookie linebacker Hugh Green also had interceptions.

Green's pickoff stopped the Packers' final drive on the Tampa Bay 27 and he returned it 50 yards.

As he ran towards the Packers' end zone, the Green Bay fans stood and cheered. The stadium resounded with a chorus of boos as the hometown Packers left the field.

The Packers took the opening kickoff and drove 85 yards on nine plays with Ellis bowling through from 5 yards out for the score.

Tampa Bay came right back, moving 46 yards before stalling on the Green Bay 24. The Bucs came away empty-handed when Capece's 41-yard field goal try sailed wide to the right.

The Packers played without offensive tackle Mark Koncar, who left before practice Thursday after being criticized by Coach Bart Starr in a team meeting. Koncar was not in uniform and there was no immediate word as to whether or when he would rejoin the team.

Scratchin', Clawin' FSU Drops Notre Dame, 19-13

By United Press International
Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden admits, "I was afraid they were going to beat us, but our boys just kept scratchin' and clawin'."
The result was a 19-13 victory for the 19th ranked Seminoles and the first win ever over the University of Notre Dame for any football team from Florida.
The weekend was almost uniformly good for Florida college teams; the lone exception was Florida A & M University. FAMU saw a 6-point lead evaporate and the Hatters lost 14-6 to Jackson State.

Florida hosted Maryland and beat the Terrapins for the second time in less than a year. The Gators overcame their Tangerine Bowl rivals of last December by a come-from-behind 15-10 margin.

Bethune-Cookman trounced Albany (Ga.) State, 33-8, in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando. Central Florida flattened Savannah (Ga.) State, 47-13.

The elated Bowden said, "Back to back wins over Ohio State and Notre Dame. That may be the first time anybody has done that."

Notre Dame Coach Gerry Faust said, "I wasn't really frustrated (by the FSU victory). We knew going in we were in pretty bad shape physically. We were just hoping to get by."

Bowden noted the Seminoles dominated Notre Dame in the statistics, outgaining the Irish on the ground, 250 yards to 218, and netting 114 yards through the air while bottling up the host team's passing attack to just 38 yards. FSU had a 19-15 edge in first downs.

Notre Dame jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first period on Harry Oliver's 43-yard field goal. The Seminoles managed a 3-3 halftime tie with Mike Rendina's 25-yard field goal.

In the third quarter, another Oliver field goal, good for 23 yards, gave the Irish a brief 6-3 lead following an intercepted pass. But the Seminoles came back less than four minutes later with a 17-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Rick Stockstill to Mike Whiting. A Rendina conversion put the Seminoles ahead 10-6, and a Rendina 23-yard field goal made it 13-6 at the start of the final period.

But Notre Dame's Greg Bell dove over the goal line from the 1 on the first play of the fourth quarter to tie the score at 13-13.

Stockstill gave Florida State its final six points midway through the fourth quarter when he took a 5-yard pass from Whiting into the end zone. Florida State's defense throttled Notre Dame the rest of the way.

Fullback James Jones tossed a 9-yard flea flicker pass to Gator Quarterback Wayne Peace and Kyle Knight tackled Maryland Quarterback Boomer Eskinson in the end zone for a safety to give Florida its 15-10 win. Florida's other scores were on first half field goals of 31 and 49 yards by Brian Clark.

Maryland got a first quarter touchdown on a 5-yard pass from Easton to John Tice and a 32-yard field goal in the fourth period by Jesse Atkinson.

Raiders Knock Off Manatee

Kim Meyers came off the bench to fire up a sluggish Seminole Community College volleyball team Saturday and lead the Lady Raiders past Manatee Community College 15-13, 17-15.

"Kim came in and woke them up," said Raider Coach Ileana Gallagher Monday morning while doing the dishes. "We were very sluggish until then."

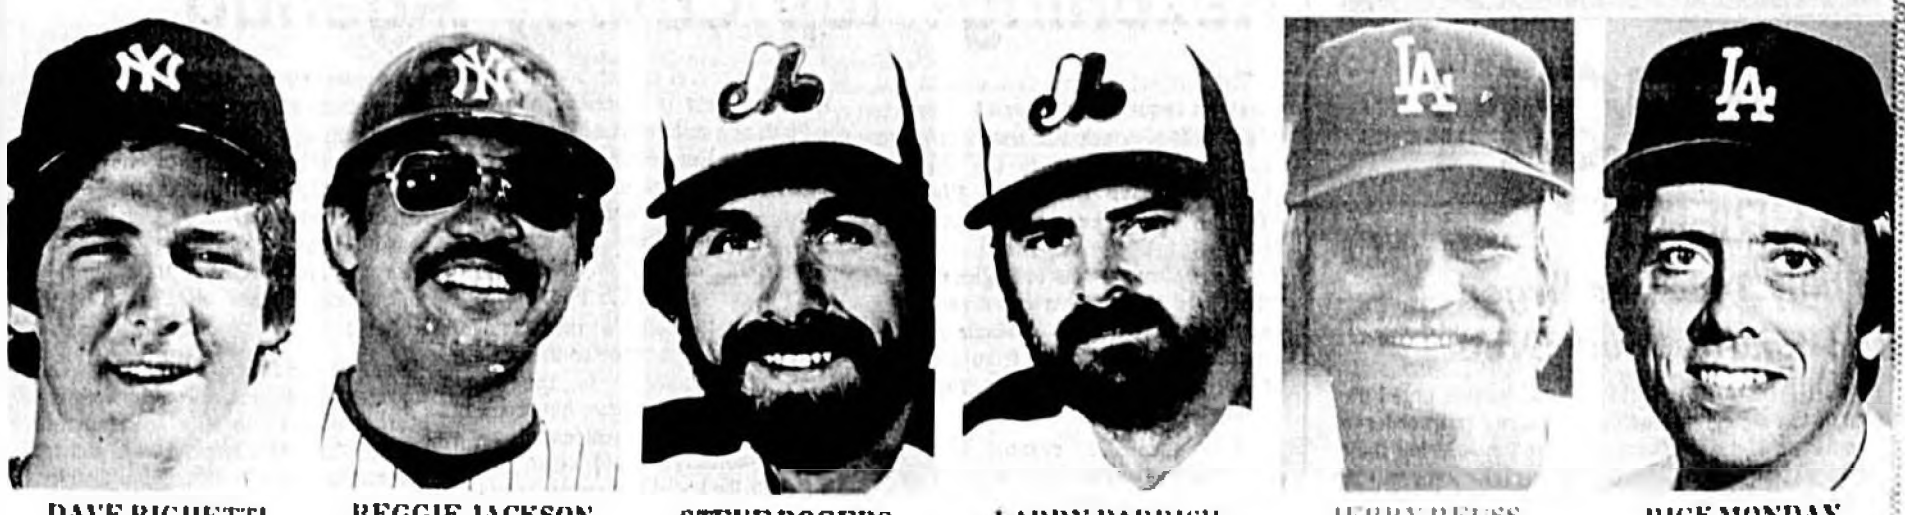

SCC hosts Santa Fe in a big Division III game Tuesday night at 7 in the Raider gymnasium.

Vianney Trips All Souls

All Souls School was halfway there Saturday. The Sanford school, still in search of its first soccer victory, trailed just 1-0, against St. John's Vianney before the Orlando school broke loose in the second half for an 8-1 victory.

"We had a good first half," said Souls Coach Ted Sierputowski. "But we fell apart in the last half."

All Souls plays St. James Wednesday at the St. Mary Magdalen Field in Altamonte Springs.

Championship Playoffs Begin Tuesday

Something Old (Yankees), Something New (Expos), Something Borrowed (A's), Something Blue (Dodgers)

By United Press International
Like a bride-to-be preparing for her march down the aisle, the four division winners of the League Championship Series emerged on Sunday with something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

The old will be represented by the New York Yankees, whose 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers in Game 5 marks the fifth time in six years they will seek an American League banner. The borrowed meet them in New York on Tuesday when ex-Yankee manager Billy Martin, now on permanent loan to the A's, West champion Oakland A's, looks for a rout of his former team.

Montreal will symbolize the new after their 3-0 trouncing of the Philadelphia Phillies in the fifth and deciding game of that series ushered in the Expos' first NL East title in their 13-year history, and the first ever for a Canadian team.

Ready to face them will be the blue of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who came back from a two-game deficit against the Houston Astros to even the series Friday and Saturday and then scored a 4-0 shutout to capture the NL West. Their contest with Montreal is scheduled for Tuesday in Los Angeles, where the Expos have lost the last 18 of 19 games played there.

At New York, the Yankees muscled their way into the American League playoffs on home runs by Reggie Jackson, Oscar Gamble and Rick Cerone and the relief pitching of Dave Righetti, who took the decision.

After Milwaukee took a 2-0 lead, Jackson tied the game with a two-run blast and Gamble followed with a solo shot off loser Moose Haas to highlight a four-run fourth inning. Righetti allowed a run in the sixth and singled home two runs to spark the Expos and beat three-time Cy Young Award-winner Steve Carlton for the second time in the playoffs.

Rogers, who went 3 2/3 innings to beat the Phillies 3-1 in the first game of the series, walked only one and struck out two in smothering the World Series champion.

He also provided a stolen base on a single in the fifth that gave the Expos the only runs they needed. Larry Parrish added a rousing double for Montreal in the sixth, while the Phillies could manage only six singles — one of them a home — against Rogers.

At Los Angeles, Jerry Reuss scattered five hits and Steve Garvey scored one run and drove in another with a triple to lead the Dodgers. Reuss, who finished the regular season with a 10-4 record, only allowed one Houston runner to reach third base as he struck out three, all in crucial situations.

The Dodgers had little early success against Houston's Nolan Ryan, but finally scored in the sixth inning on RBI singles by Rick Monday and Mike Scioscia and added a third run later in the inning on an error by first baseman Denny Walling.

Ryan was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning. In six innings, he gave up just four hits and three runs, two of them earned, while walking two and striking out seven. He was replaced by Dave Smith.

The Dodgers added their final run in the seventh inning when Ken Landreaux reached on a ground-rule double and scored on a triple by Garvey.

Cerone's Home Run Apology Enough For Steinbrenner

NEW YORK (UPI) Rick Cerone had a confession.

"If we had lost, it might've been my last game as a Yankee," he said, leaning against his locker Sunday night after the New Yorkers had eliminated the scrappy Milwaukee Brewers, 7-3, to move into Tuesday's championship playoff with the Oakland A's for the American League pennant.

This was an altogether different Rick Cerone from the night before when he had been the goat in a 2-1 defeat by the Brewers, taking the Yankees out of a seventh-inning rally by what his boss, George Steinbrenner, had angrily called "stupid baserunning" and then striking out for the final out of the game in the ninth.

Cerone didn't have much to say to reporters after that. He got dressed in a hurry, left Yankee Stadium quickly and went home to watch the Dodgers-Astros on TV.

Still smarting over the loss to the Brewers, Cerone reacted to Steinbrenner's comments with the kind of sulphuric statement you don't normally make to your employer. Not if you expect to be around very long, anyway. But the Yankee catcher was not and he told Steinbrenner exactly what he could do.

Milton Richman
Sports Editor

By Sunday, though, he had cooled off. He didn't mind talking to newsmen at all, especially after he had contributed an important seventh-inning home run as well as a single and had driven in a pair of runs in the Yankees' victory.

The 47,505 fans at Yankee Stadium, many of whom knew of Steinbrenner's criticism of Cerone, either by having read about it in the newspapers or having heard it on radio or TV, showed how they felt about the curly-haired 27-year-old Yankee receiver by giving him a thunderous, ear-ringing ovation when he came to bat for the first time leading off the third inning.

Cerone, who responded with a crisp single off Moose Haas, the first of seven pitchers used by Brewers' manager Buck Rodgers, talked about the feeling he had over the reception he got.

"I was a little surprised," he said. "I thought they were gonna boo me."

The questions from newsmen swung around to Steinbrenner, who had sent a note to him before the game. Steinbrenner had given the note to Reggie Jackson and asked Jackson to give it to Cerone. Now Cerone was asked what Steinbrenner had said to him in the note.

"It said he wanted me to understand a couple of things," Cerone revealed. "He said strikeouts didn't bother him so much as mental mistakes did, and I can see his point. The rest of the letter had to do about the vulgarities I said and he said he realized some things are said in the heat of the moment when you get frustrated."

"I won't apologize to George and he won't apologize to me," Cerone went on, explaining that neither he nor Steinbrenner was actually looking for any. "No apologies are necessary. If I said some things, it was because of losing, not because of his comments about me. Reggie called me after I got home and tried to make me feel better. I told him, 'You don't have to worry, I'll show up. I may stink again.'"

Cerone smiled at that.

"It was a very nice letter," he said, getting back to what Steinbrenner had written him. "Look, I don't want to make this controversial. I'm not a controversial player. You don't have to yell at me and you don't have to put me on the back. Things don't affect me as much as they did when I first came up. I was only 22 then. If something like this had happened to me then, I don't think I'd want to play anymore. But I'm a lot different now."

"I think the best thing I did (Saturday) was not talk to the press. I'm not sour at all. I love New York and I love wearing these pinstripes. But I don't know whether I'll be traded or not. It's not for me to say. When I got home last night, I thought about it a lot and felt when I spoke out (to Steinbrenner) it did something for me. This was something done at the frustration level, but it's all over now. Today we had fun playing baseball; yesterday was not fun."

Steinbrenner had pretty much the same feelings about the episode.

"What can you say about the way he played?" asked the Yankee owner, obviously pleased over Cerone's showing Sunday. "That homer of his kind of broke their backs. I don't think anything I said to him last night necessarily had to do with what he did tonight."

But it did.

Reggie Jackson also played a big part. Not only with his two-run homer in the fourth that brought the Yankees back from their two-run deficit, plus two more singles by him later on, but with what he did as a goodwill ambassador. Before Sunday's game, he told Steinbrenner privately:

"These guys are busting their necks for you. Cerone is a fine professional and you'll see, he'll be all right."

It all turned out as Jackson said. Now we direct your attention to the center ring where Billy Martin and his A's are moving in. Don't go away. The real circus is about to start.

Battling Bucs Clinch Midget Football Championship

The Bucs battled from behind Saturday to beat the Steelers 22-13 and clinch first place in the Midget Division of the Sanford Recreation Department Flag Football League.

The Bucs are 3-0 in the new league for 8- and 9-year-olds, with two games left to play.

In the Junior Division, the Cowboys remained unbeaten with a 34-7 win over the Wildcats, while the Bulldogs stunned the Rams 22-0 to move into sole possession of second place.

After taking the opening kickoff, the Bucs put six quick points on the board on a 65-yard run by Calvin Donaldson.

The Steelers wasted little time striking back, capping a drive with a 20-yard run by Vernon Miller. William Davison picked up the extra point and the Steelers led 7-6.

On their first possession of the second half, the Steelers padded their lead on a five-yard run by David Roberts. The extra point failed and it was 13-6.

Bernard Brown took the kickoff and returned it to the Steelers 15-yard line. From there, Donaldson ran 15 yards for the TD. Donaldson scored the extra point to tie the score at 13-13. He ran right and when appeared that he had been stopped, Donaldson reversed his direction and ran into the end zone on the opposite side of the field.

The Bucs defense stopped the Steelers and the Bucs regained the lead with a 25-yard touchdown run by Donaldson. Donaldson also ran for the extra point.

The final two points for the Bucs came when Ray Adcock and Brian Howard caught a Steelers runner in the end zone.

The Cowboys got on the board first with a 35-yard touchdown pass from Ernest Lewis to Kevin Campbell. Campbell ran for the extra point to make it 7-0. The Cowboys scored a safety to lead 9-0 at the half.

Early in the second half, Campbell intercepted a pass to give the Cowboys the ball and then scored the next touchdown on a 45-yard run. A fumble on the kickoff gave the ball right back to the Cowboys and Lewis tossed a 35-yard touchdown pass to Campbell.

The Cowboys increased their lead to 28-0 when Campbell broke loose on a 60-yard touchdown run. Ernest Lewis passed to Anthony Lewis for the extra point.

The Wildcats scored on a Darris Littles run in the closing seconds of the game, but when they kicked off Campbell ran the kickoff back 60 yards for his fifth touchdown of the game.

After Willie McCloud returned a punt to the five-yard line, Reginald Bellamy ran the ball into the end zone for the first Bulldogs touchdown.

The Cowboys battle the Bulldogs at 9 a.m. Saturday at Chase Park, while the Rams and the Wildcats square off at 10 a.m. The Bucs play the Steelers at 11 a.m.

...Record-Setting Knights

the third quarter and we had to stop them," added the Casselberry native. "Savannah is the kind of team that can come all the way back once they get it rolling and we talked about that at halftime."

"We sure did," confirmed Jonas. "I've been involved in those kind of games and I know what can happen."

A few years ago, in his playing days, Jonas was involved in another Tangerine Bowl scrape, one in which he set a field goal record of 52 yards against the Orange City Ramblers while playing for the Orlando Panthers in the old Continental Football League.

Saturday night, Jonas was part of the decision that set the stage for his own record to be broken.

"That Scott Ryerson is tremendous, isn't he?" asked Jonas of his place-kicking star's four field goal effort that included a 54-yarder which broke Jonas' record. "He's as good as anyone in major college football today. The key with Scott has been his consistency, and lately he's been very consistent."

"I never dreamed I'd have a night like this," explained a less than bashful Ryerson. "I only had two field goal tries in high school and missed them both, so this is really the icing on the cake," added the game's MVP. "It sure is going to be hard topping tonight."

Fullback Steve Colubiale will have a hard time topping his week at UCF too. Prior to the Savannah State game, Colubiale was a member of the Knight's "scrub" squad, the Division III version of the taxi team.

"He was really a big key in making the offense go," Jonas pointed out. "He's the one who broke Muldoon's 75-yarder for us in the first quarter."

"We've been having trouble with our fullback kicking out on the block against the linebacker. The coaches kept telling me we had this kid on the scrub squad who was just blowing people away. He sure didn't look like a scrub tonight," smiled Jonas about the Daytona Beach Mainland product's effort.
With Colubiale leading the way, the Knights' running back tandem of John Muldoon and Turner Davis had a field day. Muldoon broke the school record for longest run from scrimmage, longest scoring run and most yards rushing in a single game while Sanford native Davis kept the ball moving on the ground in the second half with 80 yards rushing.

"We used a lot of backs tonight and stayed fresh," said Davis. "But hey," smiled the Knight halfback, "Give credit where credit is due. Not only was the starting offensive line tremendous, but the second and third string did a great job too."

"I didn't make the Savannah trip last year because of an ankle injury," informed Davis. "So I spent a lot of time talking the guys up this week and we stayed loose."

The Knights were so loose that by the time the fourth quarter rolled around, UCF's fourth and fifth quarterbacks of the year managed to get some playing time under their belts.

Rezoning Top County Agenda

The Seminole County Commission will hear six requests for rezoning of which three will also ask the board to grant specific amendments to the county's Comprehensive Land Use Plan—at Tuesday's public hearing at 7 p.m. in the county courthouse in Sanford.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will ask the board to rezone a two-acre parcel abutting the east side of Maple Avenue north of State Road 436 from a single-family dwelling district to agricultural zoning.

A request to rezone from an agricultural site to a single-family district is also expected to be heard by the board from Thomas G. Freeman.

His property consists of 28 acres and is at southeast corner of Tuskawilla Road and Dike Road.

Andrew Kutz is scheduled to ask the commissioners to consider rezoning a four-acre parcel from agricultural zoning to a travel trailer park district.

Kutz' property is described as about one-tenth of a mile west of Interstate 4, north of State Road 46 on the west side of Oregon Avenue. The property is about three miles west of Sanford.

Three requests for rezoning and specific amendments to the county's Comprehensive Land Use Plan also will come before the board at the hearing.

Robert L. Suss is expected to ask for a specific amendment to the comprehensive plan to change his property from a low-density residential to a medium-density residential. Suss also wants the board to consider rezoning his one-fourth acre from a single-family dwelling district to a residential-professional district.

Suss' property is at the corner of O'Brien Road and Jaffa Drive, approximately one-quarter mile west of U.S. Highway 17-92 north of Maitland Flea Market.

A request for a specific amendment to change from a low-density residential to a medium density residential and to rezone from an agricultural zoning to a multi-family dwelling district is a request filed by Don Bajgler for the board to consider.

Bajgler's property is on the south side of Woodson Avenue off 17-92, east of Woogles.

Barnett Bank and Trust Co. representatives plan to come before the board to ask for a specific amendment to change a low-density residential district to a medium-density residential district. The land is described as south of Highway 436 on the west side of Balm Beach Drive.

The bank representatives also want to rezone the five acres from an agricultural zoning to a multi-family dwelling district.

Judge Suspected Of Bribery Says He Won't Quit

MIAMI (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings, under investigation for allegedly soliciting bribes from criminal defendants who appeared in his court, says he won't step down from the bench.

"I intend to be in my office on Tuesday for sure," said Hastings, who added he may spend part of today, Columbus Day, a federal holiday, catching up on work in his Miami chambers.

Hastings refused to discuss a bribery scheme that prompted the arrest of Washington attorney William A. Borders Jr., a longtime friend of the judge.

Sanford Gets $10,000 For Extension

Developer-entrepreneur Tom Rucker of Altamonte Springs has paid the city of Sanford $10,000 for a 60-day extension on his option to purchase 7 1/2 acres of city-owned property behind the Evening Herald building near the lakefront.

The Sanford City Commission two weeks ago granted the extension contingent on the payment and with the understanding this would be the final extension.

In a letter to Rucker, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles acknowledged receipt of the $10,000 and advised Rucker to complete the purchase prior to Nov. 29. The city commissioners have instructed Knowles to prepare to place the property on the market for sale if Rucker's latest extension expires without positive action on his part.

Knowles is to report to the commissioners at a 7 p.m. meeting today that Rucker has paid the $10,000.

The city agreed to sell Rucker the former city sanitary landfill site nearly two years ago for a total of $130,000. The idea behind the sale originally was to encourage development of the parcel and thus place the property on the tax roll.

According to the sale contract, Rucker must develop the land into an apartment complex within one year after the purchase is completed.

AAUW CONVENTION

Mary H. Purcell, center, president of the American Association of University Women, greets Marjorie Payne, right and Laurie Linsley of the Seminole County branch of the AAUW, at the Florida State Convention held Oct. 2-4 at the Gainesville Hilton. The Seminole County delegation, including president Joan Madison, participated in a pre-convention tour and mid-workshop at the University of Florida where faculty members shared their views about the future directions for women in high education, tying in with the convention theme: New Directions: Moving Ahead Together.

Woman Chairs National Fleet Reserve Post

A distinct honor was bestowed upon the B. Duke Woody Branch 147, Fleet Reserve Association, when national president Lawrence J. Cummings appointed "Shipmate" Helen Edmondson to be the first woman to chair a national committee in the FRA. Mrs. Edmondson was named to head the National Public Relations committee while a delegate of the Sanford Branch to the national FRA convention in Atlanta. She has been serving on local, regional and national public relations committees for more than four years. While at the convention, Mrs. Edmondson was presented with her second national award for Excellence in Naval Affairs activities. In addition, an Honorable Mention certificate was given to Branch 147 itself. These awards are given in recognition for the past year's activities in competition with some 337 FRA branches worldwide. Shipmate Edmondson had served as Branch 147 Chairman, Naval Affairs committee, last year. A former Sanford resident, now residing in DeBary, Mrs. Edmondson has served as secretary and treasurer of Branch 147 for more than six years. She is a retired Senior Chief Petty Officer, U.S. Navy.

Helene Edmondson received her second national award for Excellence in Naval Affairs Activities at the National Fleet Reservation Association convention in Atlanta.

Marked Teen-Agers Come Clean

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, the "Tattooed Man" wrote you, explaining the grief his self-inflicted tattoos had brought him. Thousands of teen-agers have engraved themselves with tattoos, often as a symbol of gang identification, and later wish there was some way the tattoos could be removed. As you advised the "Tattooed Man," a plastic surgeon should be consulted. Most teen-agers, however, cannot afford a plastic surgeon and for years the marks proclaim their youthful indiscretion and gang affiliation.

Now in the San Fernando Valley, there is a unique project, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Medical

Dear Abby

Association and Juvenile Justice Connection Project, whereby teen-agers can have gang-related tattoos removed without cost. As the plastic surgeon who performs the surgeries, I have seen several teen-agers have their lives literally turned around after removal.

For further details about our anti-gang project that offers free surgical service, please contact me by writing in care of the Juvenile Justice Connection Project, 6837 Lennox Ave., Van Nuys, Calif. 91405.

KARL N. STEIN, M.D.
F.A.C.S.
SHERMAN OAKS, CALIF.

DEAR DR. STEIN: Your unique project deserves this nationwide publicity. I hope it inspires other plastic surgeons around the country to initiate similar programs. DEAR ABBY: My only granddaughter has been taking showers after dinner with her father ever since she was a very young child. She is now 7 years old, and her father still calls her when he's ready to shower so she can join him. I do not approve of this closeness, and feel that a 7-year-old girl needs her privacy.

This situation has been upsetting me. I've discussed it with my daughter and she suggested that I write to Abby and ask how you feel about it. I am waiting patiently for your reply.

FRANNY
DEAR GRANNY: I agree with you. Your granddaughter should have quit showering with her father three years ago.

DEAR ABBY: Bless you for renouncing that wonderful patriotic poem, "If God Should Go on Strike." I had copies made and have sent them all over the U.S.A. and Canada.

CECIL IN VERMONT
DEAR CECIL: Thanks, I needed that. Read on for the flip side:
DEAR ABBY: I beseech

you to stop featuring such insipid poetry as "If God Should Go on Strike." It was bad enough seeing it in your column once, but twice was almost too much to bear. Believe me, Abby, these fleabag-brains who request reruns of such tripe are in the minority.

And while I'm writing, I implore you not to devote an entire column to one subject like drunk driving. No drunk is ever going to make it through an entire column in the first place!

What I want is letters! As many as you can cram into your space, which should be twice as long as it is. And I want these letters sensational — drugs, illicit relationships, cheating spouses, etc. This is the stuff I wake up for! Please Abby, I write this on my knees. Sign me . . .
DISGUSTED IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had surgery recently, and while he was still out of it, some relatives he rarely sees came to the hospital to visit him.

Abby, please tell your readers that the last thing a person needs or wants when he's had surgery is company!

I've had surgery, and I know what it's like to have some idiot come in, sit by your bed and talk to you all afternoon because of the mistaken notion that you need "cheering up."

I have even seen robins with "No Visitors" signs on the doors, but little groups of people "sneak in" for a few minutes because they think they are "special."

All a patient needs is to be left alone.
HAD MY SAY IN N.Y.

DEAR HAD: Your letter will do more for some post-surgical patients than a "No Visitors" sign. Thanks for writing.

Proudly Presents
Elizabeth Paulucci
and her newly published
"Cookbook From a Melting Pot"

Published by Grosset & Dunlap

Autograph Party
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14
10 AM to 5 PM

Elizabeth Paulucci was reared in a Minnesota Iron mining town where immigrants from over 25 nations lived, worked, and shared their native cooking lore. These "melting pot" cuisines had a powerful lifetime influence on her, and she perfected her mastery of cooking with extended study at a Cordon Bleu school.

You don't have to be Jewish to like gefillte fish, Greek to enjoy baklava, Swedish to savor krum kaka, or Italian to serve crescia. In over 400 recipes and 14 chapters, Elizabeth Paulucci gives a complete sampling of the many ethnic foods that have become a part of the American culinary tradition.

Married to Dr. Norman A. Helfrich Jr., a Winter Park pediatrician, who is her business manager . . . they live in Sanford.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, October 13, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

October 13
Considerable effort will be spent by you this coming year to bring various departments of your life into better balance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Partnership situations usually turn out to be rather fortunate for you, but today the opposite may be true.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're basically strong and independent, but today you could yield to peer pressure and do things contrary to your best interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
No one will think less of you today if you fail to face up to challenges where the odds are stacked against you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Usually you're a pretty good listener, and when someone has sound advice you're willing to give it a try.

ignore the wise suggestions of pals.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Unfortunately, some individuals you have to deal with today may not match your high standards.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
It's not a good day to try to make important decisions under pressure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Things you've failed to attend to properly could pop up today and demand immediate attention.

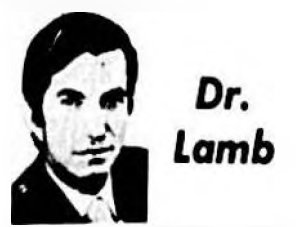

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You'll be disappointed today if you expect your peers to fall in line with your wishes and bidding.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
If your household is in an uproar today there's a strong possibility your doings may be the major contributing factor.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22)
Be very careful today about what you say, or what you put in writing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Be extremely selective today as to whom you let represent you in situations which may affect your finances or security.

Vitamins Won't Aid Aplastic Anemia

DEAR DR. LAMB - My son has aplastic anemia. I would like to know if there is a vitamin he can take that can help him feel better.

DEAR READER - Aplastic anemia refers to a lack of normal blood cell formation by the bone marrow.

As a result, aplastic anemia may cause a decrease in red blood cells, white blood cells and a low platelet count.

Most anemias are really caused by a failure in the ability of the bone marrow to produce cells fast enough to replace those that are destroyed.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper.

The balance can be upset by loss of blood as is common in women in the childbearing age, or by failure in production as occurs in aplastic anemia.

There are many causes of aplastic anemia, including a reaction to drugs and chemicals. In some cases it may be a form of allergy to one's own blood-forming tissues, which we call an autoimmune response.

Treatment is often difficult, depending on how severe the case is and what is really causing it.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My mother died several years ago of cancer of the liver.

DEAR READER - A person can have cancer of the liver just as one can have cancer of the breast or cancer of the lungs.

Cirrhosis is scarring of the liver, which deforms it and affects its ability to function.

About 40 percent of the people who have cirrhosis do NOT have it from alcohol but rather from complications of previous hepatitis.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH and dealer information.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag
Oswald: "The ACBL has finally produced the book of the 1980 Olympics."

match was won by France over the United States.

Alan: "France took an early lead. Here is one of the early boards. The bidding in the box is what took place when France held the East-West cards."

Oswald: "The bidding started the same way at the other table. But instead of doubling four clubs, our player bid five clubs."
