'A Victory...For Peace'

Historic SALT Pact Is Signed

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — President Carter and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today signed a historic treaty aimed at averting nuclear holocaust and the American leader called it "a victory in the battle for peace."

To roars of applause, the two presidents then hugged and kissed and toasted the pact in champagne.

Carter said the signing of the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II) meant "a victory is here for all," but he warned, "the threat of nuclear holocaust still hangs over us."

Brezhnev said the agreement defended "the right to live." The world's two most powerful men then headed home after their four-day summit, Brezhnev to secure rubber-stamp approval of the treaty from the Soviet parliament, Carter to face a tough Senate fight for ratification.

Brezhnev already has warned that any Senate tampering with the treaty provisions could destroy it, with "grave and even dangerous consequences for our relations and for the situation in the world as a whole."

The signing ceremony, in the huge ballroom of the ornate Hofburg

Palace, climaxed a week-end summit which brought Carter and the ailing, 72-year-old Brezhnev together for the first time.

Despite outspoken differences, the summit was characterized by American officials as friendly and substantive.

The Hofburg ballroom, where five emperors met in the Congress of Vienna in 1814 and where Ludwig Von Beethoven premiered his 7th symphony, was packed with diplomats, government officials and the press.

Crystal chandeliers lit the elegant room as Carter and Brezhnev took the only two seats at the gold-leaf and silk covered table where Emperor Franz Josef I of Austria presided at meetings of his privy council during the 19th century.

The two armchairs were upholstered with light green brocade. In a ceremony that lasted 35 minutes including speeches, the leaders put their signatures 16 times to the four documents that make up the treaty. Carter grinned broadly and the Kremlin leader smiled. Aides on both sides beamed.

The two men then rose, embraced and kissed each other warmly on both cheeks in the European manner.

Assembled military leaders, diplomats and government officials burst into roars of applause.

Carter said "Each of us has only one nation. We both share the same world. Not one nation on this earth, not one people, not one human being is harmed, threatened or deprived by this victory in the battle for peace. A victory is here for all."

"In setting our hands to this treaty, we set our nations on a safer course."

Addressing Brezhnev directly, Carter said, "Mr. President, we both have children and grandchildren and we want them to live, and to live in peace..."

But Carter reminded his listeners that the Soviet Union and the United States had weapons that could cause unimaginable devastation.

County Grand Jury To Get Jail Gripes

By SHARON CARRASCO

Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County grand jury is expected to convene Tuesday morning to possibly discuss county jail inmates' allegations that their civil rights are being violated, said Chris Ray, chief assistant state's attorney.

"I don't know whether we will get an answer tomorrow," Ray said today.

About three weeks ago, a Seminole County circuit judge asked the state's attorney to have a grand jury investigate alleged civil rights violations of inmates from unreasonable "strip searches" to the right to practice the free exercise of religion.

Four inmates, two of them in custody on murder charges, filed a petition for a writ of mandamus (a writ asking public officials be ordered to perform their duty) with the Seminole County Circuit Court.

Two who signed the petition are: Robert A. Preston, Jr., awaiting trial for murder, and Melvin Sims, a convicted murderer. Other authors include John F. Eden and Frank Hall II. Hall is free on bond and failed to appear for his trial last Monday on a charge of grand theft. Circuit Judge Volie Williams Jr. has issued a bench warrant for his arrest.

The action is made on behalf of all inmates of one particular cell block at the Seminole County Jail.

CAR COLLIDES WITH TRAIN

As best Sanford police could determine today, everyone involved in this car-train collision escaped injury Sunday. The collision occurred when a car driven by Scott David Larson, 25, of rural Sanford, crossed the railroad tracks while eastbound on Country Club Road, and was struck by a northbound train. Police said Larson's car was pushed across the tracks where it collided with another vehicle that had stopped at the crossing heading west. The other car was driven by Douglas Austin Reilly 24, of 1208 W. 25th St., Sanford, police said. Neither driver complained of injuries at the scene, police said.

Rape Suspect Is In Custody

By GEOFFREY POUNDS

Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police today reported they have a man in custody they believe is responsible for a series of rapes and burglaries in the city the past six months.

Police said they captured Andrew Hawkins, 27 of 814 W. Second St., Sanford, early Sunday morning while he was lying beneath the bushes in a wooded area between the Fairway Market and Seminole High School. Police said Hawkins was tracked to his hiding place by Lake Mary's trained dog, Dennis.

The capture of Hawkins came shortly after police received a report by a young Sanford woman who said she had been raped at knifepoint at about 1:30 a.m., detectives said.

Police said the woman was in her southwest side home with another woman when a man came through an unlocked window, threatened her with a knife and forced her out the door. The other woman watched as the man abducted the victim. She immediately phoned for help, police said.

The abducted woman, police report, was taken by the man to a wooded area near her home and raped. He then turned her loose and she returned home, police said.

According to reports, she was later treated and released at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

One of the responding officers arrived on the scene and saw a man running through the woods. Police said they then cordoned off the area and asked for assistance from Lake Mary's search dog. Police said they placed the dog at the spot where the man was last seen. The dog raced through the woods and came upon Hawkins, police said.

Hawkins was arrested and charged with sexual battery, burglary and false imprisonment. He was taken into custody and placed in the Seminole County Jail. His initial bond was set at $10,500. A Tuesday preliminary hearing in circuit court has been scheduled for Hawkins. Police reports indicate Hawkins is employed by the Altamonte Springs Recreation Department as a parks and playground supervisor. A spokesman for the department said he has been working there since early spring.

Following Hawkins' arrest, police said they began attempting to link the Sunday morning rape with a series of other crimes which have been committed by similar means.

Today, Police Chief Ben Butler said he anticipates detectives will be able to establish a pattern between the Sunday morning rape and other home burglaries and rapes. If the pattern is confirmed, he said, police may be able to wrap up several unsolved cases.

Another rape occurred in the city one week ago, but details on that crime were withheld until an investigation is completed, police said. Police declined to say whether or not Hawkins is a suspect in that crime.

Top Court Says No To Use Of Laetrile

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today unanimously overturned a lower-court ruling that allowed people with terminal cancer to obtain Laetrile.

The justices reversed a Denver appeals court ruling that the controversial substance, purported by some to be effective against cancer, is not covered by the safety and effectiveness requirements of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

The lower court had allowed cancer victims, certified by doctors as terminally ill, to receive injections of Laetrile, which is derived from the pits of apricots and other fruit.

Writing for the high court, Justice Thurgood Marshall said: "For the terminally ill, as for anyone else, a drug is useless if its potential for inflicting death or physical injury is not offset by the possibility of therapeutic benefit."

The issue in the case — the government's right to ban Laetrile use — drew widespread attention from supporters who say it cures and even prevents cancer and acts as a pain-killer.

Writing for the high court, Justice Thurgood Marshall said: "For the terminally ill, as for anyone else, a drug is useless if its potential for inflicting death or physical injury is not offset by the possibility of therapeutic benefit."

It's Best Not To Peddle Without Permit In Lake Mary

It's best not to peddle without a permit in Lake Mary. That's the lesson almost learned last week by a 30-year-old Sanford salesman who said he won't make any more sales calls there without obtaining a solicitor's permit from the city firm.

After entering the home of Evelyn Vreeland, 237 Third St., Thursday afternoon and delivering a 40-minute sales pitch on fire safety equipment to her and a man he thought was her son, the salesman was surprised to find himself flanked by police while being advised of his rights.

Mrs. Vreeland said she had received a call earlier in the day from a woman who identified herself as representing a government survey group interested in helping senior citizens escape home fire injuries. Mrs. Vreeland said the woman asked if another representative could come to her home and meet with her on the subject.

"Are you selling anything?" Mrs. Vreeland said she asked the caller.

"No," she said was the reply. "Then I guess it would be okay if he came by," she said.

But Mrs. Vreeland became suspicious of the call and alerted the Lake Mary police. Detective David Higginbotham made some routine calls and found that no government officials were engaged in such a program. He said he suspected a scam.

So Higginbotham arranged with Mrs. Vreeland to pose as her son and when the representative came by, he said he would try to determine what the representative's motive was.

The detective said gaining entry to a home by false identification or under phony pretenses is a common trick of burglars, who then case the house for subsequent thefts. It is also a common practice of con artists, he said.

When the representative arrived, Higginbotham induced himself as Mrs. Vreeland's son and began to subtly question the man as he started his speech on the dangers of home fires.

"Are you a government representative?" Higginbotham asked.

"No, I'm not connected with the government," said the salesman.

"Are you selling insurance?," pressed the detective.

"No."

The salesman said he was sorry if there had been any "misunderstanding" about his identity and began his talk on the importance of purchasing a smoke detector. He quoted government reports, Underwriters Laboratory reports and even Ralph Nader.

But before he got to his closing pitch, Higginbotham stopped him. The detective identified himself at the same time a uniformed officer came to the door.

Higginbotham asked to see the salesman's city permit. He had none.

The detective and the officer checked out the salesman's credential, informed him that they were concerned with the manner in which he set up the sales appointment ads and advised him to revise his approach. The salesman was not arrested, but he was warned not to sell without a permit.

Somewhat shaken, the salesman promised to tone down his approach.

The police must be cautious of situations suggesting a possible setup for a burglary, the detective reminded the salesman.

"Burglary? ... I can understand," said the salesman, adding, "You know my company sells burglar alarms; I don't suppose you'd be interested?" — GEOFFREY POUNDS

Soviets Dupe U.S.
On Technology

Detente has yielded the Soviet Union precious benefits in the form of advanced American technology sold to the Russians with Washington's explicit approval. American officials have defended these transfers of technology on grounds that they improve Soviet-American relations and that adequate safe-guards exist to prevent its use for military purposes.

Leaving aside the debatable question of whether trade by itself improves political relations, it is now abundantly clear that adequate safeguards do NOT exist to bar military utilization of American technology sold to the Soviet Union.

A case in point is the sprawling Kama River truck plant, built by the Soviets to American design specifications and stocked with $500 million in machine tools, computers and foundries supplied by American companies. This new manufacturing complex, which covers 38 square miles, is the largest heavy-truck factory in the world.

The plant's rated capacity of 250,000 trucks per year exceeds the maximum annual production of the entire U.S. truck industry. Its completely automated foundry is the most modern in existence. Its industrial computer system, provided by International Business Machines Corp., is among the world's largest.

In negotiating the purchase of this American technology, the Soviets stated that the Kama River facility would be devoted to civilian production.

Now, three years after the production line opened, both the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency report that heavy trucks produced there are being supplied to the Soviet army and to Communist forces in Eastern Europe. Moreover, CIA officials have told a congressional subcommittee that some of the 50,000 diesel engines produced each year at the Kama River plant are going into Soviet tanks and armored vehicles.

Ironically, the latest model Soviet tanks and armored personnel carriers receiving these engines are rated superior to anything in the U.S. Army's inventory. And, while Soviet production of trucks and armored vehicles has completely mechanized the huge Soviet army, units of some U.S. divisions still consist of footbore infantry.

Incredibly, the Commerce Department has not yet determined whether partial use of the Kama River plant for military production violates the terms of export agreements negotiated during the early and mid-1970s while the plant was in design and construction stages. The country can only wait the Commerce Department's findings with interest.

Even more dismaying, a department official told the Research and Development subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee in May that safeguards against the military diversion of American technology sold to the Soviet Union "have only marginal utility."

In other words, it is easy for the Soviets to cheat on these agreements and difficult for the United States to monitor compliance.

It happens that the Carter administration is currently lobbying Congress to grant the Soviet Union most-favored-nation trade status and to loosen already in-adequate restrictions on the sale of advanced technology. Whatever Congress' decision on the Soviet Union's trade status, the Kama River experience dictates that controls over technology transfers be tightened, not eased.

Special Interest Superstar

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Outside his congressional district in Chicago's North Side, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski's name isn't familiar in most households — but he's certainly a celebrity among the country's special interest groups.

The Illinois Democrat last year collected close to $120,000 in campaign contributions from almost 200 political action committees (PACs) operated by trade associations, corporations, labor unions and other interest groups.

That's considerably more than most of his colleagues received. Moreover, the generosity of Rostenkowski's benefactors is particularly noteworthy because he had no political opposition in 1978, in either the primary or general election.

Neither Rostenkowski nor his donors have acted illegally. But an examination of the congressman's campaign contributions, his political power and his recent legislative activities illustrates the gross deficiencies of the current system of financing campaigns for seats in Congress.

A product of Chicago's famed Democratic "machine," Rostenkowski is a savvy, street-wise politician who has shrewdly built upon more than two decades of Capitol Hill service to amass considerable influence in Washington.

His party title of deputy majority whip makes him the fourth-ranking Democrat in the House, behind Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts, Majority Leader James C. Wright Jr. of Texas and Majority Whip John Brademas of Indiana.

More significantly, Rostenkowski ranks second among the Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee, behind only Chairman Al Ullman of Oregon. Because Ullman now is 65 years old and Rostenkowski is only 51, it's widely assumed that the Chicagoan eventually will ascend to the chairmanship of the committee that originates all tax legislation.

Meanwhile, Rostenkowski this year assumed the chairmanship of the Ways and Means subcommittee on social revenue measures. Behind that opaque title lies the panel's exclusive authority to initiate the notorious one-word or one-line changes in the tax code that can produce savings of millions of dollars annually for an individual industry or corporation.

It's certainly logical to assume that there's a connection between Rostenkowski's influential legislative role and his ability to amass a list of campaign donors that reads like a directory of PACs.

Among the donors of $1,000 or more were trade associations organized by truck operators, automobile dealers, commercial banks, savings and loan associations, commodity futures traders, proprietary hospitals and dentists.

Trade associations contributing less included those representing optical manufacturers, machine tool makers, chain drug stores, magazine publishers, apparel manufacturers, confederates, insurance agents and textile producers.

On Levels Testing
During the past several weeks your paper has carried considerable coverage on the attempt of a parent group to effect changes in the levels testing system currently in use in Seminole County elementary schools.

The group waited at the May 23 School Board meeting until 12:30 a.m. and then was granted a work session with the board on June 4. The work session turned out to be primarily a presentation by Superintendent William Laver's staff and many of the administrative personnel who had received mandatory instructions from the Superintendent's office to attend.

During the three-hour work session, the parent group with the session was scheduled had 45 minutes to state their case and no opportunity to rebut or question statements made by Mr. Laver's staff and many of the administrative personnel who had received mandatory instructions from the Superintendent's office to attend.

There are 26 elementary schools in Seminole County. Mr. Laver instructed all principals, curriculum coordinators and a pod leader from each school to attend. If only three from each school had attended, 78 seats would have been taken. We wonder where the parents were expected to sit.

All we, as parents are asking is that the Board fairly and responsibly investigate the problems resulting from the use of one test as the sole basis for progression. We feel confident they will find as we have that such places undue stress on teachers and cannot adequately measure a child's achievement.

We are not opposed to the levels system. We simply request that levels tests be placed in proper perspective and that the Board enforce the Pupil Progress Plan adopted in 1977 which states in part:

Special promotion in the Seminole County Elementary Schools is based on an evaluation of each pupil's achievement in terms of appropriate instructional objectives. The basis for making this determination should reflect teacher judgment based on the following: progress tests, classroom assignments, daily observation, standardized tests, state assessment, and other objective data.

VIEWPOINT

Source Of Somoza Support

By Robert Walters
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Throughout the past year, a single member of Congress has thwarted officials at the highest levels of both the White House and State Department in their efforts to disavow Nicaragua's dictatorial government.

Only after the most recent recurrence of civil war in the Central American nation did United States policy makers muster the courage to semi-publicly repudiate the regime of Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza. Carter administration insiders offer convincing evidence that Somoza would have been disowned long ago were it not for the efforts of Rep. Charles Wilson, a Democrat who represents a predominantly rural congressional district in east Texas.

When the United States sought earlier to sever its support for Somoza, Wilson threatened "rough treatment" of the bill needed to implement the Panama Canal treaties and warned that he would fight to "torpedo" that legislation.

He characterized those in charge of Nicaragua policy at the State Department as a "bunch of adolescent anarchists" and repeatedly held foreign aid legislation hostage to his demands on behalf of Nicaragua.

Although a relatively junior and not especially influential member of the House, Wilson was able to follow up on his threats because of his membership on the foreign operations subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee.

Other members of Congress, notably Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., have been staunch defenders of Somoza, but none has matched Wilson's single minded devotion to the dictatorship.

Undaunted by a decade of globe-hide-and-peek, the federal government remains convinced that it can stop the flow of narcotics into this country by shutting off the supply from a single country or region of the world.

The first such effort to eradicate heroin use in the United States came when federal officials sought to disrupt opium traffic for the "Golden Triangle," the portion of Southeast Asia where Laos, Thailand and Burma meet.

But his diagnosis is far from unanimous. Leon W. Taub, vice president, Chase Econometric Associates, says flatly, "The recession has begun."

Once again, the American people are being bombarded by conflicting labels. Technically, a recession is two or more consecutive quarters in which the nation's economic output, adjusted for inflation, shrinks instead of grows.

Stephen Brooks, senior economist with Data Resources, Inc., a Washington forecasting firm, sees "a very mild recession" occurring in the July-September and October-December quarters of in early 1980. The number of unemployed persons will increase from about 6 million to about 7 million. Ironically, more people will be employed than now, but number of available jobs will not keep up with the continued growth of the labor force.

Some groups will suffer more than others. The jobless rate for married males will rise from 2.7 to 3.3 percent; for all nonwhites, from 11.8 to 13.3 percent; for teenagers, from 16.1 to 17.9 percent.

—The unemployment rate will increase from its present 5.8 percent to about 6.7 percent.

—Industrial production will decline at an annual rate of 5.5 percent during the third quarter of 1979, and 9 percent during the last quarter. Then it will shoot up.

—Corporate profits will fall $14 billion by the end of this year.

—The rise in consumer prices will slow from 10 percent in 1979 to 8.1 percent in 1980.

Jeffery Green, of Wharton Econometric Forecasting in Philadelphia, also predicts an unemployment rate of 6.7 percent for 1980, with the peak of unemployment exceeding 7 percent.

But Green does not call it a recession because his figures do not meet the technical definition — even though, he says, "the scenario is virtually indistinguishable" from some that are labeled recessions.

Douglas Lee, on the staff of Congress' Joint Economic Committee, says: "An awful lot of forecasters are feeling that economic growth is going to be very little if at all in the next couple of quarters — that it's likely to fall very close to zero, and if it falls on the negative side we call it a recession and if it falls on the positive side we don't."

"It doesn't really make a whole lot of difference," said Lee. "The point is that we're looking at a period when we think growth will be relatively close to zero. It's not too important whether you label that a recession or whether you don't."

"We now demand tests of food and drink so stringent that if Sir Walter Raleigh turned up

Switzerland, Austria, Finland and most countries in Eastern Europe steer a middle course between permissiveness and puritanism: the UPI survey showed. Almost all European networks reserve sexier or more violent shows for viewing after the kids are in bed.

France and Belgium project a small white square on one corner of the screen as a warning that upcoming material might not be suitable for youngsters. Not that this always works.

"All it means to my 13-year-old is that this is something she doesn't want to miss," said a mother in France's Brittany region. "Then I can either give in and let her watch or have a family quarrel on my hands."

The British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) recently transmitted a documentary largely photographed in a nudist camp.

"On their visits to Britain," said the Daily Express newspaper the other day, "Americans are aghast at how liberal our attitude is to nude scenes on television."

In Italy private television stations now musing in on the state monopoly leave no holds barred. One recently carried a quiz series in which housewives invented one garment each to wear to a party.

"You can see and hear anything on French television that you can see or hear at the movies, including films forbidden to anyone under 18," reported correspondent Arthur Higgins.

Sweden, which has a reputation for permissiveness, is less relaxed than one might think. "Pornography is a thing we do not approve of," said Swedish TV executive Thomas "Spanish censors still measure morally by the centimeters of bare skin showing," said Spanish TV critic Jose Ramon Perez.

But many ordinary on-the-air TV channels in Europe have an anything-goes approach found only on some cable-TV systems in the United States.

Billy The Kid Back In Yank Saddle Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some- body once said that long as the game of baseball existed, there would be a place for Billy Martin.

Columbus, Ohio Sunday, a move was set in motion to elevate current manager Bob Lemon to the position of general manager and make Martin the manager in the homestand starting Tuesday.

Now, 11 months after being fired and — 10 months earlier than expected — the fiery little man they call "Billy the Kid" is back at the helm of the New York Yankees.

After a secret meeting between Martin and Yankee owner George Steinbrenner in Columbus, Ohio Sunday, a move was set in motion to elevate current manager Bob Lemon to the position of general manager and make Martin the manager in the homestand starting Tuesday.

Now, 11 months after being fired and — 10 months earlier than expected — the fiery little man they call "Billy the Kid" is back at the helm of the New York Yankees.

After a secret meeting between Martin and Yankee owner George Steinbrenner in Columbus, Ohio Sunday, a move was set in motion to elevate current manager Bob Lemon to the position of general manager and make Martin the manager in the homestand starting Tuesday.

Steinbrenner A Jump Ahead

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Steinbrenner is always at least two jumps ahead of everybody else. That's why the New York Yankees generally do so well.

Regardless of his impulsiveness or his habit of blistering those he feels aren't performing up to the sometimes superhuman standards he sets for himself and asks for in others, he has had the Yankee situation figured perfectly all along.

Last summer, he decided possibly why Billy Martin continued as manager, so he made a change in late July, bringing in Bob Lemon to take over the club.

There's also another aspect to his making the move now. Remember how Billy Martin had been saying he wished George Steinbrenner would let him know one way or another whether he's coming back because there were other clubs interested in him?

Getting back to Lemon, though, actually, he led the Yankees to two playoff victories, first against the Red Sox and then against the Royals, after which he guided them to a world championship against the Dodgers.

Whenever Steinbrenner wishes to know anything about his ballclub, he will talk with his front office people and with his manager. But when he gets his best information is from his ballplayers.

This time, Steinbrenner came away feeling Lemon had lost complete control of the players, not that they were rebelling against him because he is a sweetheart of a guy who nobody can help hating, but that they had lost their initiative or hunger to win under Lemon.

Putt For The Money Of It

"Right here is where you got me," says Tampa's Tom Williams, ahead right, to Clarence Daniels following Sunday's Gator Trail putting tournament at the Fern Park Putt-Putt course.

On Sunday in San Diego, 18 years after he hit his No. 23, Kingman hit his 23rd homer of the 1979 season. It came in the Chicago Cubs' 5th game and helped the Cubs pick up their fifth straight victory, an 8-5 triumph over the Padres.

Hitting home runs is something Dave Kingman does very well. Talking about that? Well, that's another story.

"I enjoy playing in California and usually come into a tournament determined to win, but because I feel like I've lost it here the last two years, I wanted to redeem myself," he added.

The win pushed Black into the fifth spot of LPGA money winners with $8,652. "This is the fastest start I have ever had in my career," Black said.

On the front nine of Sunday's 1-under-72 round, Black started with a birdie on the first hole, then three straight pars, a bogey and a "key" par on the sixth.

Kingman Hits 23rd, Ahead Of Ruth, Maris

By United Press International He may not want to talk about it, but Dave Kingman is placing his name in some very select company. Consider the following:

Babe Ruth hit his 23rd home run of the 1927 season June 22 at Boston against a pitcher named Hal Wilson. It came in the New York Yankees' 6th game and Ruth also hit No. 24 that day en route to 60 for the season.

Roger Maris hit his 23rd homer of the 1961 season June 17 at Detroit against Don Mossi. It came in the Yankees' 6th game and Maris went on to hit 61.

On Sunday in San Diego, 18 years after he hit his No. 23, Kingman hit his 23rd homer of the 1979 season. It came in the Chicago Cubs' 5th game and helped the Cubs pick up their fifth straight victory, an 8-5 triumph over the Padres.

Who Won Counts, Now So Much How

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — In the years to come, they won't ask how the 79th U.S. Open championship was won, only who won it. That was Hale Irwin.

Irwin, who carried a three-shot lead into Sunday's final round, outstruggled a small group of challengers to win his second Open title, posting his first tournament win in two years.

"The long wait was well worthwhile," said Irwin, who was five shots ahead with two holes to play and ended up beating Jerry Pate and Gary Player by two strokes.

"Finishing double bogey, bogey is not my idea of championship golf," said Irwin, who had a final-round 4-over-par 284, "but it's not better than the two guys that I did not finish with, but then again I didn't have to."

Irwin, although a shadow of the player who fired a 4-under 67 in the third round, a round which he felt was the toughest he had ever played.

"This is the U.S. Open, not an intracolor tournament," he said. "It puts a lot of pressure on you. If you don't feel it, then you're on something funny."

Pate, who won the 1976 Open with a comeback finish, said he felt midway through Sunday's round, although six shots behind, that he was going to win. But when Irwin reached the 18th tee still with a three-shot advantage, Pate, although he bridled the toughest putt he had all week, "knew the best he could do was finish second."

Player, whose final round 3-under-par 68 matched Jack Nicklaus and Jim Simons for the best round of the day, said he was "very happy to finish second."

Farr Out!

Farr Insurance was dealt a crushing blow Saturday when it dropped a 3-0 decision to the Apollo team in the Top Team Little League tournament, eliminating the Altamonte Springs major league champion.

"We were hurt by two regulars being away on vacation, but mostly, we just didn't get the hits," said coach Russ Whittington after Farr's second loss in the double-elimination Top Team tournament.

Farr closed with a 19-4 overall record. Altamonte Springs' major league all-stars begin practice July 1.

All-Stars Split Against Inverness The Sanford All-Stars split a pair of semi-pro baseball games with Inverness last weekend, chalking up a 4-3 win on Randy Mierle's four-hit pitching and Kevin Miles' winning sacrifice fly in the 10th, then dropping a 1-3 decision.

The All-Stars are now 16-6 and travel to Durbin, Ga. for a pair of games this weekend.

Sparky's Sharp Eye Aids Tigers To Trip Angels

By United Press International When Sparky Anderson took over as manager of the Detroit Tigers last year, he arrived with impeccable credentials as one of the most knowledgeable men in baseball.

In Detroit's 8-1 victory over the California Angels Tuesday, Anderson not only recorded his first victory in the American League after four games, but he demonstrated to his players that his reputation is a deserved one.

After Jason Thompson looped a two-run single in the eighth inning to highlight a four-run outburst and snag a 4-1 tie, the Angels put runners on first and second with one out in the ninth inning. Don Baylor then hit a shot out to left-center and center fielder Ron LeFlore made a leaping catch at the wall.

But Anderson noticed that Davis led second base early and ordered his pitcher Aurelio Lopez, 1-1, to appeal the play. First base umpire Terry Cooney agreed with Anderson and ruled in his favor, creating a double play and ending the game.

Blalock Still On Fast-Start Tear

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Jane Blalock was redeemed herself. The 33-year-old Blalock captured her fourth victory in the eighth inning of Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Blalock, who finished the tournament with a 12-under-par 280, had run into trouble in the final round of last year's tour stop at Rochester and finished two strokes behind the winner, Nancy Lopez.

"I kept saying to myself, 'I can't wait to get back to Rochester to redeem myself.' I really wanted to win this week," said Blalock, who took home $15,000 as the winner.

"I don't usually come into a tournament determined to win, but because I feel like I've lost it here the last two years, I wanted to redeem myself," she added.

The win pushed Blalock into the fifth spot of LPGA money winners with $8,652. "This is the fastest start I have ever had in my career," Black said.

On the front nine of Sunday's 1-under-72 round, Black started with a birdie on the first hole, then three straight pars, a bogey and a "key" par on the sixth.

She recorded birdies on 11 and 12, but had back-to-back bogeys on 14 and 15. "I pulled the tee shot on 14 and had a downhill lie," she said.

H&D Realty Shocks Barnett, Captures Bronco Loop Title

Led by Byron Overstreet and Paul Alegre, H&D Realty twice came from behind to defeat Barnett, 4-3 and 7-2, to win the Bronco Championship of the Seminole Pony Baseball League.

Overstreet, who handled the mound duties for H&D, helped give himself some insurance as the 11-year-old seventh inning hit in a four-run crashed key that sealed Barnett's defeat.

Other boys that played key roles both offensively and defensively for H&D were Chris Dapone and John Andrews.

Mustang Playoffs Launched Tuesday

The Mustang Championship of the Seminole Baseball Pony League will be decided this week with a double-elimination tournament which starts Tuesday night.

Forest City's only regular season defeat came at the hands of the Longwood aggregation, while Longwood suffered its only blip when it dropped an overtime decision to Winter Springs.

Length No Answer

ATLANTA (UPI) — Larry Nelson says tournament officials are wasting their time if they think the way to toughen up a golf course is to lengthen its yardage.

"There are a lot of long hitters who are going to tear up any course that has flat fairways and flat greens. But put them up against greens when they take on an extra 50 yards and then wonder why we keep shooting out the lights on their course."

Nelson said that considering the quality of golf played by the touring pros, "they are going to tear up any course that has flat fairways and flat greens. But put them up against greens when they take on an extra 50 yards and then wonder why we keep shooting out the lights on their course."

Bigelow, Carter 1-2 In USAC

SALEM, Ind. (UPI) — Tom Bigelow and Pancho Carter swapped finishing positions in the twin 30-lap U.S. Auto Club sprint car features at the high-banked Salem Speedway.

Bigelow, who led Carter to win the first half of the 15-mile races, and Carter turned the tables in the second for a split decision. Greg Loeffler placed second, while Carter and Jerry Carman had the No. 3 spot in the second.

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his wife are both 30. He's an assistant professor and she's a social worker. They've been married for a year and lived together for two years before that. They're coming to visit us for two weeks this summer and I am not looking forward to it. I love them both, but two bigger sibs I've never met. Thank God they found each other. They were here last Christmas and my lovely home looked like a pigpen during their entire stay. They threw their clothes around, left wet towels on the bathroom floor, ate all over the house and smoked pot in their bedroom. I was exhausted picking up after them. I finally blew my stack just before they left. They apologized and we parted friends. After they left, my husband trap that (his words) and treat our children like guests, we should put them up at a nearby motel when they visit. Abby, do you think I was out of line for telling those kids off? And how about laying down some ground rules before their next visit? I know I won't be able to keep my trap shut if those sibs don't clean up after it. That did it. DEAR ABBY: Lay down some ground rules. If they break the rules, and you can't keep your trap shut at a motel, put the sibs up at a motel. DEAR ABBY: The letter from his wife asking how to get her attorney husband to update his will hit home with me. Here's how I got my father to update his 30-year-old will. He had left everything to my mother who has been dead for 15 years. I sent my father a copy of my will, asking for his suggestions on how to dispose of whatever he was leaving to me since I had no children. He got the message and promptly updated his will. I may have been left out of his will for all I know, but at least it made him update his own. DEAR G.A.G.: Thanks for a good suggestion. Read on for more. DEAR ABBY: My husband, who is attorney, kept putting off updating his will. My nagging did no good. Finally, I got disgusted and made an appointment with one of the most prominent and expensive estate lawyers in town. Then I usually told my husband about it. That did it. NO DUMMY IN DENVER A popular trick used by models to make their lashes appear thicker and longer involves simply using baby or talcum powder. First apply one coat of mascara to lashes, and while they're still wet, gently put some powder on them, either with a comb or a small sponge. Wait a few seconds, and then apply a second coat of mascara. Your lashes will come out thick and flirty looking. SETTELEU Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. A fast and little known

OURSELVES

Stephanie Smith, Robert N. Turner Exchange Vows

MRS. ROBERT NORMAN TURNER

Stephanie Warriner Smith and Robert Norman Turner were married June 16 in the chapel at the Naval Training Center, (NYC), Orlando. Dr. Virgil Bryant, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Sanford, and Father C. Knab performed the 6-15 p.m. candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Harry Wayne Smith, 303 Fairway Road, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Virginia Turner, 144 Riverside Road, Stuart, and the late Carl H. Turner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white organza gown fashioned with full sheer cuffed sleeves. The bodice was lavishly embellished with Venice flowerettes, embroidered lace and seed pearls. A deep ruffle adorned with matching lace bordered the full skirt.

A cap of embroidered and Venice lace accented with seed pearls secured her floor-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and English ivy showered with lace ribbons.

Mrs. Claudia Barke, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore an azure silk jersey gown designed with a halter neckline. The matching cape was highlighted with an accordion pleated ruffle. She carried a French hand bouquet of white daisies, baby's breath and roses with long satin streamers and natural foliage.

Bridesmaids were Amy Bates, cousin of the bride, Columbus, Ohio; Patti Turner, sister of the bridegroom; Jensen Beach; Vicki Tapert, sister of the bridegroom; Martha Gainer, Christine Urban and Pamela Russell. Their rainbow colored gowns were identical to the honor attendant's. Their flowers were similar.

Scott Oughterson served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Russ Meadows, Earl Meadows, Robert Thomas, James Weiland and Peter Wolek.

The reception was held in the Schooner Room of the NYC Officers Club.

Home Ec Teacher Of Year Continues Summer Work

Mrs. Ruth Gaines, home economics teacher at Lyman High School was selected Home Economics Teacher of the Year by Home Economists of the Central Florida District of Florida Home Economics Association, a district encompassing Seminole, Brevard, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Volusia Counties.

Florida Home Economics Association is part of the American Home Economics Association whose membership includes home economists in education, business, extension and homemaking.

Mrs. Gaines was announced runner-up at the recent state meeting, where a Broward County teacher was named Florida Home Economics Teacher of the Year. She is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, College of Home Economics and Syracuse University, College of Education.

Mrs. Gaines is the first home economics teacher from the Central Florida District recognized in the program. Cosponsored by Family Circle Magazine and the American Home Economics Association, the Award Program is in the National Home Economics Teacher of the Year. An individual currently active in AHEA and a Home Economics Teacher in grades K through 12 is eligible for award consideration.

The purpose of the award program is to give visibility to contributions of home economics teachers toward improved individual - family living and healthier communities; and to identify outstanding programs, teaching techniques, methods and activities.

Selection criteria include: innovative and creative programs, creative teaching techniques, development and implementation of home economics concepts and principles, evidence of program impact on individuals, families and community, integration of home economics subject matter with other related disciplines such as science, the arts, social studies, effectiveness of teacher to stimulate students in their own growth in and out of the classroom.

Mrs. Gaines, a 10-year teacher at Lyman High School, has developed the only Cooperative Home Economics Program in Seminole County. In conjunction with teacher-coordinator duties of the Cooperative Home Economics Education Program she instructs classes in the Textile and Clothing Program on the South Seminole campus. She will be teaching classes this summer.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, June 19, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 18, 1979
Friends will play important roles in your affairs this coming year, especially those who are progressive and enterprising. Build meaningful relationships with forward-looking persons.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
There is a beneficial change developing that could be important for your work or career. Be alert for the signals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Influential intermediaries can be very helpful to you today in advancing your interests. Call on pals with clout.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Press for finalization today on matters that need to be concluded. Get down to basics quickly because you're a good closer.

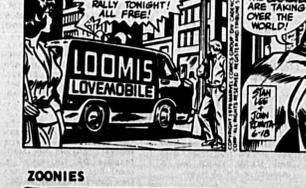

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
In situations requiring political savvy you'll be more than able to hold your own today without being phony in the process.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Anything that could spell financial gain for you today should be placed first on your agenda. Strike while the iron is hot.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You have a commanding manner today without being overbearing. Directives you issue will be willingly acknowledged.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Any obstructions blocking matters relating to your security can be effectively erased through positive action today.

Problem With Digesting Milk

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have just found out I cannot digest milk. Any advice you can give me on this would be greatly appreciated. My doctor has me using Acidophilus and I am OK, but I can't use any other dairy products such as butter, cottage cheese and so forth. I get most of my calcium from cottage cheese and butter. Our health food store has Acidophilus capsules and Lact-Aid. Which of these is best or is there something else I can use? Is this something I will get over or will I have it the rest of my life?

DEAR READER—You're not as unusual as you might think. About 90 percent of the adults in most ethnic groups have such a problem and about 10 percent of the Anglo-Saxon adults have this problem. The basic disorder is the absence of sufficient enzyme in the small intestine. This is an enzyme that splits the double sugar of milk into single sugars so it can be absorbed. When the sugar is not split and absorbed, it acts somewhat like a chemical laxative causing gas and diarrhea.

Cottage cheese will have less lactose in it than milk simply because of the fermentation process and the elimination of a certain amount of the double sugar in the liquid whey. How much double sugar the cottage cheese contains depends a lot on how it's made and whether you can tolerate it or not depends a lot on how severe your enzyme deficiency really is. I hate to disillusion you but you're not going to get any significant amounts of calcium from butter. It's all fat and a little water.

Ask the Experts

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sonsteg
Oswald: "Defense is much tougher than dummy play. The Declarer plays 26 cards each card."

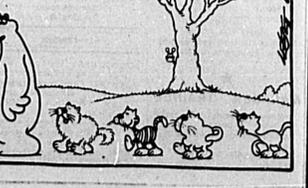

Alan: "On the other hand, a really good defender can really give declarer some a hard time. It's a win-win situation."

Oswald: "Here is a defense put up by Cliff Russell of Miami playing with the late Harry Harkavy some years ago."

Alan: "I suppose he started with a heart lead. East won with the king and returned the jack."

Seminole Experiment: Four-Day Work Week

Seminole County Public Works Director W.J. Schuder today announced he has put some of his road crews on a four-day 40-hour work week in an attempt to conserve diesel fuel.

Schuder told county commissioners he has some crews working Monday through Thursday from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. If the four-day week is successful in conserving fuel, he said, he will recommend expanding the plan and keeping it in effect while fuel supplies are scarce.

"From all indications and news reports, it looks like the supply of diesel fuel is going to continue to get tighter; we had to do something to conserve," Schuder said. "What this will do is to cut down the setup time. We won't be wasting fuel driving out and back to the sites one day a week."

Goldberg Resigns Seat To Run For Vacant Seat

By JANE CASSELL
Herald Staff Writer
Longwood City Commissioner Larry Goldberg resigned today to run for a vacant seat on the District 5 seat.

Goldberg, who lives in District 5 but was elected to represent District 1, submitted his resignation effective at 11:45 p.m. Sept. 3, in order to run for the seat vacated by former City Commissioner Stephen Barton, who moved from the city.

Stating he was resigning to comply with the "Resign to Run" law, Goldberg reserved the right to withdraw his resignation should the commission change its mind and appoint someone to the vacancy instead of holding a special election. He also said he may wish to change the date in his resignation.

A Seminole County assistant attorney, stating that he was not familiar with the particulars of the Longwood situation, said he believed once a resignation had been accepted by a governing body, it would be up to that body to

Tax Hike Unnecessary For Engine: Fire Chief

By BRAD PURDOM
Herald Staff Writer
Lake Mary interim fire chief, Jim Orioles, says his department already has money budgeted for a new fire engine and does not need the tax hike suggested by City Manager Phil Kulbes to pay for it.

Kulbes last week called for a tax increase of $1 per thousand of assessed valuation to be used, among other things, for the purchase of a new $200,000 fire engine. "Our department never asked for $200,000," said Orioles. "All we want is the $1,500 that is in our budget now."

Kulbes said it was his understanding that $1,500 of his department's $64,000 budget had previously been set aside for the purchase of a fire engine.

Kulbes said today the tax increase not only was needed for a fire engine, "but to provide the necessary services and equipment that a growing city needs."

"We have 26 miles of dirt roads we want paved," he said. "In addition to paving roads, Kulbes said he would like to extend the city's water and sewerage lines, improve storm drainage and perhaps build a new city hall."

Lake Mary's current tax rate is $3 for every $1,000 of a property's assessed value. Kulbes' proposed increase would make the rate $4 for every $1,000.

Lake Mary's tax rate, for its portion of the tax bill, is among the lowest in Seminole County. Winter Springs imposes a tax of $2.14 per $1,000 of assessed value.

But there are questions I'll have to have answered. We have to act in the best interests of the taxpayer. I want to hear from the other people."

Commissioner Bob Sturm said he was not satisfied that the merger option had been fully explored.

Gov. Signs Death Warrants

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Gov. Bob Graham today signed two death warrants and scheduled executions for convicted killers Charles W. Proffitt of Tampa and Robert A. Sullivan of Miami.

Graham set the executions for the week beginning Friday, June 22, and ending at midnight on Thursday, June 28. Both men are to die in the electric chair at the Florida State Prison at Raiford.

The warrants are the first Graham has signed since John Spenklink was put to death on May 25, the first person to be executed against his will in the United States since 1967.

Besides sentencing Proffitt and Sullivan to die, Graham recommended the state Board of Clemency reduce the death sentences of two other men on Florida's death row.

Florida's death row — Learie Leo Alford, of West Palm Beach, and Clifford Hallman of Tampa.

Graham said he will recommend the state Board of Clemency reduce the death sentences of two other men on Florida's death row.
