Humana Hospital Bennett in Plantation has accepted blame for twice disposing of "red hag!" wastes at the Southwest Regional Landfill, said Joe Harden, enforcement administrator for the Environmental Quality Control Board.

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Florida Highway Patrol said Tuesday it had made no arrests in the shootings at a family by two teenagers in traffic on interstate 95, although investigators had some solid leads.

There were conflicting theories within the patrol on whether the shootings Monday stemmed from a traffic incident or were done by two youths driving around in a Ford Bronco looking for a reason to shoot someone.

TALLAHASSES — Gov. Bob Martines and the Cabinet Tuesday voted to set size and bag limits on black drum, the first time harvest of the fish has been regulated.

The governor and Cabinet approved the proposed Marine Fisheries Commission rule despite objections from commercial fishermen, who said black drum represent a small, but important part of their livilhood.

Commercial fishermen said they see the black drum rule as one more in a series of fisheries regulations that are slowly whittling away their profits. Martines and the Cabinet have previously enacted restrictions on redfish, grouper and king macherel, and the MFC plans to propose limits on speckled trout and mullet later this year.

"There's a big question: Is there a certain point in the differentiation of cell types that they're vulnerable to loss of gravity, that maybe gravity plays an unknown role, but an essential role, and once you get past that point, the older ones are past that crucial gate, if you will," Bagian said.

State criticizes controversial new African AIDS treatment

alted Proce International

ST. PETERSBURG - Florida health officials are upset with a former employee who now runs a company that sends AIDS victims to Africa for a $50,000 treatment with a controversial new drug.

Unt'll January, Ramona
Medina ran the Tampa health department's clinic for AIDS patients. She is now president of Medical International Consulting Agency in St. Petersburg and acts as an agent for the African drug manufacturers.

For $50,000, a patient gets a round-trip ticket to Zaire, a two-month stay in a villa and treatment with a substance called MM-1, the Miami Herald reported Tuesday.

MM-1 was developed by Dr.

Ahmed Shafik, a colorectoral surgeon from Kinshasa, Zaire, and Dr. Z. Lurhuma, a surgeon from Cairo, Egypt. In a November news conference, the doctors said the drug rebuilds the immune system destroyed by the AIDS virus.

A follow-up paper said they had given the drug to 49 patients with AIDS, and compared their progress to that of 40 untreated AIDS patients.

Within a year all the untreated patients had died. In the treatment group, nine died. But the remaining 40 had gained weight, were suffering no opportunistic infections and were declared cured, the paper said.

The doctors made one stipulation, that the disease was more advanced in the untreated group than in the treated group.

The announcement was widely covered in Africa and Europe, but drew skepticism in the United States. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration knows nothing about MM-1, said spokesman Brad Stone.

State health officials said they can't understand how Medina could leave a state clinic to promote an unproven treatment. "We think it's absolutley criminal for persons and organizations to prey on the fears and illnesses of people, exhaust their financial resources and leave financial resources and leave them with no improvement," said Joyner Sims, head of Florida's AIDS program.

They are also concerned because Medius had access to a lot of AIDS patients' manes. Sims has asked the impector general of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to investigate.

Judge sides with Customs Service in rocket fuel case

United Proce International

HOUSTON - Customs Service agents properly seized a shipment of scarce rocket fuel headed to Iran, a federal judge ruled Tuesday as he dismissed a Florida firm's request seeking to regain the chemical from the government. U.S. District Judge Sim Lake ruled against Girindus Corp. of Tampa, which had sought to regain the 1,144 drums of ammonium perchlorate, a basic ingredient in the solid fuel used for rockets and missiles. Customs agents in February 1988 seized the drums of ammonium perchlorate as they were were being loaded onto an Iranian freighter in the Dutch port of Rotterdam.

At the time of seizure, Girindus did not have possession or legal title," Lake said; adding Girindus' customer, D.A. Dampf of West Germany, owned the drums at the time.

Lake also dismissed Girindus' claims that the gov-ernment have violated the company's due process rights. "On behalf of the Customs Service, we are delighted with the results today," said Customs spokeswoman Donna De La Torre. Providing no one else files a claim for the chemical within 10 days, the government can open a bidding process to sell it, she Federal prosecutors had argued Girindus plotted to send the materials to Iran from Houston under a bill of lading showing it was bound for a buyer in Basel. Switzerland.

Lake stopped short of find-ing any criminal intent on the part of Girindus; but he said the shipping documents in-correctly listed the ultimate destination as West Germany and Switzerland when it was really Iran.

Girindus had an understanding with its buyer that the fuel would not be sold outside of Europe but was betrayed by its European trading partners, a company spokesman said.

Foreign animals threaten state's fragile ecosystem

SANFORD - While other parts of the state have experienced a larger influx of exotic animals into the natural enviroment. Central Florida's fragile ecosystem is being threatened on a smaller scale by animals from other environments. "There are so many fish culturing facilities in Central Florida that we've created the problem." said George Burgess, director of ichthyology at the University of Piorida Museum of Natural History. "The exotics are coming in and destroying the envioronment that is Florida."

Burgess said the fish are som.

times housed in poorly maintained facilities that spill into lakes and rivers releasing the non-indigenous animals into Florida waters. Other times, as in the case of the walking catfish, the fish literally walk away from their pens.

"And sometimes, well-meaning do-gooders will release an exotic fish into the environ-ment rather than kill it when they can no longer care for it." said Burgess.

The fish become a problem

when they have an advantage of size or aggressiveness over those which have established a niche in the natural environment over years of evolution.

"If they destroy an established animal," said Burgess, "they will completely alter the environment.'

Burgess said that South American and African cichlids, so popular in the tropical fish and aquarium industry, thrive when released into the waters of Central Florida because it is so much like the water in their native lands in terms of temperature and vegatation.

"These breeds would never survive in Michigan or New York," said Burgess. "But here, they thrive and take over a niche formerly occupied by native fish." According to Burgess, the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has regularly released new breeds into Central Florida waters to provide the game fisher with new challenges.

Scientists argue that such a practice is destroying the local ecosystem. The fish previously caught in this area have been replaced by those that are indigenous to other areas.

"In effect," Burgess said "we are making what has been a unique environment into one that is like others elsewhere."

More stringent policies by the importers of fruits and vegetables have decreased the numbers of exotic insects in the Central Florida area, but not before those such as the fire ant made their way here.

"In such cases the effect on man is more pronounced, as in the way they bite and cause physical harm," said Burgess.

Many birds, such as starlings, have been brought in by breeders and live harmoniously with other wildlife and humans in Central Florida.

Solar power still has much potential

Don't cash in your solar chips just yet. Specialists in the energy industry say that technological breakthroughs are possible that could make solar power more affordable and practical in the near future.

Unfortunately, some American companies that had explored the possibilities of solar power are pulling back. ARCO is selling its solar-cell subsidiary, the world's largest manufacturer of the cells. Other major U.S. energy firms, including Exxon Corp., Shell

Oil Co. and Motorola Inc., also have pulled back their solar activities.

That leaves the Solarex Corp., a subsidiary of the Amoco Corp., as the major U.S. presence in high-technology solar-power development. Solarex is the No. 2 U.S. producer

Companies in Japan and West Germany have expressed interest in acquiring some of the solar operations that U.S. companies have

Some analysts of the utility industry have said that U.S. reluctance to maintain commitments to solar-power development is due to the lack of prospects for short-term profits.

Man has been harnessing the sun's energy for hundred of years. Modern forms of the sun's energy for hundred states and the second

One of the first experimental solar-heated houses was built in 1939 in Massachusetts by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology American scientists developed the first flat-plate solar collectors in 1942 and the first effective silicon solar cells in 1964. In 1967, NASA equipped a satellite with solar power

Keeping the heat on

Every year, the State Department performs a much needed public service by reporting on human-rights practices throughout the world. The report for 1988, like its predecessor surveys, is hefty — 1,560 pages this time, covering 169 countries.

This year, as before, the report contains a few shockers. It given unusually high marks to the Soviet Union for making "remarkable changes" in its human rights practices. Unusually tough marks were given to two traditional U.S. ailies — larael, because of a "aubstantial increase in human rights vio-lations" connected with attempts to put down an uprising in occupied Arab territories, and the Philippines, where "there were signs of deterioration in the human rights situation in

Unfortunately, the spotlight of publicity does not always unlock prison doors or soften whips. But without publicity, the mistreatment of political disaidents and others would be far more common. Sunlight is still the best disinfectant.

Booze, dope: Outlawed but not rejected

WASHINGTON — Much of what follows here is used on heariny, but most of it was heard from copie who were there the last time crime got out of control in the United States

My father was just reaching manhood in Ghicago when prohibition brought Al Capone and all-out gang warfare to the city. He saw and heard some of the things that enlivened movies about the Roaring 20s and provided the story line later for "The Untouchables" — the incorruptible federal agents called "G-Men" — who finally brought Capone down.

One of the stories from that time is that one of the gangs, O'Bannion's perhaps, sent two cars full of machine gunners to shoot up a rival's headquarters. The gunmen in the first car fired blanks to clear the street of innocent bystanders; the shooters in the second fired real lead.

That was supposed to show concern for public safety and a public indifference to gangaters in the 1930s, our family moved to St. Paul. Minn., renting a flat only a few blocks from an apartment building from which, I was told by neighborhood kids, John Dillinger and his gang once had shot their way through a cordon of G-Men and local copa.

It also was said that the St. Paul police chief permitted bani robbers and kidnappers to hole up in town if they broke no local laws. but that the federal authorities messed up the arrangement by insisting on trying to capture Dillinger when they found out he was in residence.

That was, at least until the current outbreak of drugrelated crime and violence, the most lawiess era of the 20th century. There are a lot of differences between that time and this,

but there may also be some instructive parallels in looking at the types of crime that flourished

the country

'I'wo crimes that got a lot of attention during that period were kidnapping and bank robbery. Although there may have been some initial admiration based on the Robin Hood legend for the bandits who were striking at the rich, stealing the savings of widows and abducting innocent children eventually outraged the mass of the public and the government's efforts to crack down on those crimes got solid citizen

But the country never did manage to enforce prohibition, the ill-starred attempt to outlaw alcoholic beverages that spawned an immense amount of related crime, official corruption and violence between 1919 and 1933.

Big-time bootlegging and all the bloodshed that went with it didn't end until the government conceded that a sizable part of the public intended to continue drinking despite prohibition and repealed it.

This is not an argument in favor of legalizing dope, but the prohibition experience seems to tell us that it is difficult, if not impossible, to do a good job of enforcing laws that do not have the strongest public support.

At a time when millionaire athletes and entertainers and successful business people are revealed to be snorting, smoking and injecting drugs of all sorts, it is impossible to say that this society has really taken a solid stand against dope, just as it never fully rejected booze during

Rescuing the 'Lost Battalion'

WASHINGTON — Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist did not mention George Kasen by name, and may not even know about the plight of the Federal district judge in Laredo. But Kasen is proof of the point Rehnquist made when he called an almost unprecedented news conference last week to plend for an immediate 30 percent pay raise for judges to avert "the most serious threat to the future of the judiciary...during my lifetime."

Last month, the House and Senate, battered by radio-talk show hosts and Ralph Nader, killed the proposed pay raise for federal judges, top executive-branch officials and members of Congress. Critics rubbed their hands in give and promptly forgot about the issue.

But the problem did not go away, as George Kasen knows all too well.

When I called him last week at the suggestion of a friend and follow juriet, this is what I learned. Kasen is 49. He grew up in Laredo and was first in his class when he graduated, at age 21, from the University of Texas law school. Married and the father of four, he was making about $120,000 a year in private practice when President Carter ap-pointed him to the bench ten years ago. Today, He's making $89,500 in inflationshrunk dollars, the same as the American people pay those who represent them in Congress, the man who drafts the federal budget and the heads of the CIA, the FBI and

On behalf of the public, Judge Kasen administers justice in a vast expanse of south Texas. By all reports, he does it very well. In the last two years, as efforts to halt the flow of narcotics have intensified, his felony calendar has increased 40 percent and may be the longest of any federal judge.

This is what Judge Kazen told me: "I was in pretty good financial shape when I started here. But I have put three children through college; my son is still in law school. Another son will graduate from high school this year and wants to go to Trinity in San Antonio, where tuition, room and board to $15,000 a year, without a nickel for books or clothes or anything else.

I have liquidated every bit of stock I owned and every investment except two pieces of real estate that are dead ducks and can't be sold. My debt has probably doubled. This year, I promised my wife, my family, my banker and myself that this would either be the year I finally got a handle on my finances, or I was going to get out. The pay raise (to $135,000, recommended late last year by President Reagan and a bipartisan commission but killed by Congress) was all going to go to reducing the debt. With it, I could see how I would be out of debt by the time I was $0. But without il, I just can't go on.

"I feel a tremendous amount of loyalty to my colleagues, to the court personnel, but there's only so much I can do for my country. I honestly feel that serving my country for ten years has cost my family $1 million. And what really hurts is when you're told (by critics of the pay raise), 'You're in a fat, cushy job...You're a dime a dozen...lf you leave, there's a dozen others could fill your job.'

"Well, I haven't looked on it as just a job. I work my butt off on this endless narcotic docket because I think it's important. But the minute I said to a reporter for a Texas legal magazine l might have to leave the bench. I started getting feelers for jobs staring around $200,000... so what the hell. I tell you. we're the lost battalion out here, and I'll admit it, I'm very frustrated, very bit-

When Kazen talked to members of Congress about the situation, he was told,

"We just don't want to discuss pay raises. It was very unpleasant for us to take that abuse. Our feelings are hurt."

"I honestly feel that

serving my country for 10 years has cost

my family $1 million.

Indeed, neither President Bush nor Democratic leaders of Congress have stepped forward on the pay-raise issue since last month's flasco. But in a few days, the National Commission on the Public Service, headed by former Federal Reserve chairman Paul A. Volcker, will highlight the crippling effect of the pay freeze on morale in the courts and the agencies, and on the ability of the government to attract top acientists, administrators and

Many members of the commission, such as former Senator Edmund S. Muskie, favor "decoupling" congressional pay from that of judges and top executive-branch officials, and taking immediate steps to deal with the judicial and executive-branch pay crisis. The two key committee chairmen, Sen. John Glenn (D-Ohio) and Rep. William Ford (D-Mich.), are receptive to that idea. But neither has received any great encouragement from

Time to remove waste to help lower deficit

WASHINGTON — Budget Director Richard Darman is searching for ways to get around President Bush's read-my-lips pledge not to raise taxes. The harassed Darman doesn't see how he can hold down the worrisome deficit without collecting more revenue.

We'll tell him how; all he needs to do is stop the government's excessive, wasteful spending. We'll make it easy for him; we'll even point out the waste.

We'll show him how hundreds of billions of dollars sink out of sight each year in federal quicksand. This is a swamp that must be drained before Darman can rebuild a sound fiscal structure on it.

The pitiful whining for higher taxes. meanwhile, comes from the bureaucrats who want more money to spend, the recipients who want more benefits and Congress who court the beneficiaries.

They wall that they need the extra taxes to reduce the deficit. The truth is that they will merely find new ways to spend the additional revenue. Taxes have been going up for the 58 years that this column has chronicled Washington, D.C., accops and scandals. Yet the deficit remains.

After each tax increase, the deficit has not come down; spending has gone up. The federal establishment has always spent every last dollar the tax system has brought in, plus a perennial deficit as high as the public would tolerate.

The real need is to spend less, not tax more. And the way to cut spending is not with a meat cleaver, but with a scalpel. The Gramm-Rudman approach is to cut government expenditures across the board, but that hurts legitimate programs and barely scrapes the ones that need to be eliminated. The J. Peter Grace approach is to cut out the waste and leave the legitimate programs unscathed.

Grace headed the commission that searched for waste in the dusty corners of government. The offshoot of the Grace Commission, Citizens Against Government Waste, has surgically removed $110 billion in unnecessary fat. But far more waste is still rotting on the federal carcass.

It will take Congress to cut it off. Darman lacks the authority to eliminate most of the waste. But it is up to him to start the process. We will show him where the waste is; all he needs to do is cut it out of the budget he submits to Congress.

Here are just a few examples that in our view could have been cut from last year's

The taxpayers were tapped for $10 million for surplus sunflower oil. They paid a $6.4 million advance on a $46 million condola system in Idaho. They put up $376,000 to subsidize a privately owned underwater laboratory in Florida. The Army shelled out $26 million for coal, though it already has a four-year surpius.

Members of Congress also slipped a few million dollars out the back door of the Treasury. Among the appropriations not mentioned in the law but requested by Congress anyway were $1 million for a study on how to replace a vegetable laboratory in Washington. D.C.: $500,000 for an oil-seed research project in North Dakota; $2.5 million for a "World Trade Center" in Kansas; $200,000 to reactivate two unneeded data buoys off the coast of California; $3.8 million to build salmon hatcheries in Alaska; $1.9 million for research on new ways to use fish oil, and the list goes on.

Even as we write this. Congress is working on another budget larded with fat.

He said that he has done a good job serving as city clerk and acting city administrator for numerous commissions. "When Gene DeMarie first reported to Longwood as city administrator. I met with him and pledged my total support to make his job as easily effective as possible. Almost from the beginning, DeMarie paid very little attention or discounted at almost every opportunity, any thought or recommendations I made that might have helped him," Terry said.

permanent city administrator. He said "blatant interference" by commissioners may have forced him to take actions he considered improper.

"It was apparent to me I would not be able to function properly as a city administrator and I resigned. I will disagree with any commissioner if it is a question of right or wrong," he said.
Terry said that DeMarie is also to blame for the hazardous waste that was buried behind the public works department because he was aware of the report by the Florida Department of Regulation. Former Public Works Director Charles Hasaler ordered the burial of 16 barrels, half of those containing hazardous waste because they were taking up room in the storage area.

"I think the city right now is paying dearly for Gene De-Marie's mistake. We will probably incur fine; and expenses of $75,000 for the disposal of hazardous waste," he said.

Hardy also said that DeMarie's comments are untrue and that Terry would make a good city administrator because he's a hard worker.

'Here's a guy that was terminated by the city commission. To expect anything but that type of comment from that individual would be unrealistic. That would be totally expected. That's un-true (what he said)," Hardy said.

He said DeMarie never took the hazardous waste issue seriously and even rewarded Hassler with merit pay.

"Stop and look again at what Don Terry has done. While Gene DeMarie is sitting home writing this childish letter. Don Terry is working hard for the city... (I don't know) Why he's going to continue to say bad things about Longwood when he was terminated. I don't know how he expects that to help him in the future when he's looking for employment," Hardy said,

Robert LeMasters and Brian Smith, 22, of St. Petersburg, each had less than one month to serve when Smith, convicted on multipal counts of forgery, said Tony LeMasters and Robert LeMasters' girlfriend planned and executed their walk-away escape from an Orange County jail. Smith said he and Robert LeMasters acted on impulses when they followed Tony's escape plan. They were recaptured in Orange County Feb. 14 after a massive manhunt by Seminole County sheriff's deputies in deep woods near the area where Thomas was killed. That's the same area where Tony LeMasters set up hide-out camps for his brother and Smith. The Geneva woman was also attacked at that same site. Smith said he and Robert LeMasters spent about three weeks in the woods before Tony. who also spent time there with them, was arrested in connection with the antiques mall burglaries. After cluding the Seminole County SWAT team and deputies, Robert LeMasters and Smith fled from the woods to an Orange County Day's Inn. where they spent several days before a telephone tip to police brought their recapture. Deputies said Robert LeMasters remains in state custody, facing charges of escape and burglary. Smith also faces escape charges.

Sheriff's Sgt. Steven Walthers. who led the investigation that cracked the antiques mall burglary cases that brought the arrest of Tony LeMasters, his wife and several other Sanford leMasters, but there was not residents on Feb. 7 and 8, said enough evidence in the case to although Robert LeMasters was implicate him, investigators convicted of a violent crime.

Walthers has always considered Tony LeMasters the more dangerous of the brothers. Walthers, who became familiar with both LeMasters during the burglary investigation and the search for the escapces, characterized Tony as "a Rambo type. A survivalist." He said Robert is more of "a smoothtalker, a con-man." "I've always thought Tony LeMasters was a psychopath and that he was capable of just about anything," Walthers said. "I've always felt Tony was very dangerous and if he got out of jail he would hit the woods and it would be pure hell trying to find

The LeMasters brothers, who moved to the Geneva area about 10 years ago, knew the woods where they hid from lawmen well. Tony LeMasters was a native of New Martinsville, W. Va. He was a U.S. Navy veteran and a heavy equipment operator. He and his wife were murried last fall. At the time of their arrest LeMasters and his wife lived in an apartment in San-ford. there was an attempt by another suspect in the case to try to sell a unique, stolen chair to a Casselberry antiques dealer who alerted sheriff's deputies.

When deputies searched the woods for the escapees they knew the fugitives were heavily armed, with weapons stolen from houses burglarized in the Geneva area. After Tony LeMasters surrendered and was arrested Feb. 8 he returned to the words on the claim to lawmen that he would encourage the escapees to surrender. Instead, Smith said, he further aided them in cluding sheriff's deputies.

After the escapees were captured Smith led deputies back to his old hideouts in Geneva on an unsuccessful search for a cache of hidden, stolen firearms. Some stolen tools were recovered, but the guns weren't found. Tony LeMasters had equipped his brother's hideout with camping gear including cots and tents. He provided him with a mini-television, food and alcoholle beverages. Smith said their time in the woods was pleasant and they didn't want to leave, although they occasionally made trips into Sanford for supplies and once went to the beach in for answers to the double slaying. In the afternoon, mental health counselors were at the sheriff's department to aid some of Thomas' fellow deputies and friends in coping with the reality of his death — a fate they all face daily. Sheriff John Polk couldn't comment on the killing of one of his finest deputies. Polk called on Capt. Roy Hughey to speak for the department. It has been 12 years since a Seminole deputy was killed in the line of duty during a Longwood robbery.

Sgt. Steven Walthers, who knew both Thomas and LeMasters, remembered Thomas "a good cop. One of the most dedicated cops I've ever seen. He ate, lived and slept police work. He was just a young kid who was eiten up by being a cop. It's such a damn waste."

Walthers was one of Thomas' supervisors when he became a deputy in October, 1984. "I preached to the rookies constantly - things like this happen. It happens. Nobody ever expects it to happen. It just happens," he said.

Walthers, who spearheaded a recent burglary and prison escape investigation involving LeMasters, his brother Robert, and Brian Smith, as well as several other Sanford residents, remembered LeMasters with anger. Although LeMasters' arrest record didn't include violent crimes, Walthers said, "I've always thought Tony LeMasters was a psychopath, that he was capable of just about anything." Walthers said justice was served when LeMasters killed himself.

On the other side of the coin. Thomas, "always did everything right. He was the most conscientious deputy sheriff there is." school crossing guard coordinator Beverly Hughes said. "He wanted to be a cop all his life. He was good at it. He was the best. He'd do anything for anybody all the time. The public has no idea of the asset they lost. That's it in h mutshell."

Since he was two years old he wanted to be a police officer. He's been a police officer at heart since he was born," Sinsy Thomas of Longwood said of her sjam son.

Thomas was born in Greenville, Miss. His family moved to Seminole County in September, 1981. In addition to his mother, he is survived by his and half-brother Corbin.

Thomas was making plans to marry Lisa Elienburg Oct. 21. Elienburg is the step-daughter of one of Thomas' supervisors during his three years of work as a traffic enforcement officer, Sgt. John Negri. Negri, who heads a family which includes several sheriff's department employees. said Thomas was part of the

"He was an avid police buff all the way," Negri said. Even Thomas' hobby of collecting police uniform patches centered on his profession.

'He was very professional. He attened all the schools he could. He excelled but was cautious too. You couldn't prepare for this," Negri said. He added that his family, which is so involved with law enforcement, can't let the dangers of police work dominate their thoughts.

Thomas was graduated from Lake Brantley High School in 1983. While in high school he became a youth deputy at the sheriff's department and achieved the rank of lieutenant before he was old enough to become a sheriff's deputy.

As a deputy, Thomas was first assigned to routine patrol. He was later a traffic officer for three years and recently switched back to patrol, Lt. Al Sanchez said. "He was thinking about becoming an investigator. Police work was all he ever talked about. He was the kind of cop you like to have. A good young man. It's a shame this had to happen.

"He was a good kid, Well mannered. Clean cut. It's real sad we had to lose him. especially so young. Every day police officers are shot. This hits home. He was so close to us.

We're going to miss him. "He was a young baby-face kid. He grew up with us. He died with us, I'm not too sure it's worth it. A young man like that," Sanchez said.

Services for Thomas are scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday at the Catholic Church of the Nativity on County Road 427, Lake Mary, with burial at Oaklawn Park Cemetery on County Road 46-A. Negrt said. Visitation is all day Thursday at Gramkow Funeral Home on Airport Boulevard in Sanford, Gramkow Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Hollywood has a case of Oscar fever

LOS ANGELES - As star-struck fans lined up for choice seats and traffic cops braced for the impending invasion of hundreds of limousines, Hollywood swooned in the throes of its annual attack of Oscar fever.

The first of the 2,500 to 3,000 fans expected to crowd the entrance to the Shrine Auditorium for tonight's night's 61st annual Academy Awards show began staking out their star-watching seats Tuesday.

Huge rolls of red carpet - more than 1,000 square yards awaited rollout and state traffic engineers put the finishing touches on their plan to deal with the 800 to 1,000 stretch limos - at $500 to $750 for the night - that will serve as charlots of the stars.

The three-hour show was scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. PST. and will be broadcast live on ABC, which has set up 17 cameras to beam the program to an estimated worldwide audience of 1.5 billion viewers, according to Allan Carr, producer of the show.

Court rules on retirees

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that states may not treat retired federal employees differently from retired state and local workers for purposes of taxing retirement benefits.

In an 8-1 decision, the court said the state of Michigan may not exempt its own retired employees from taxes on their benefits while taxing the benefits of federal retirces. In the opinion written by Justice Anthony Kennedy, the court found a portion of the Michigan Income Tax Act unfairly favors "retired state and local government employees over retired federal employees.

The court ordered a refund for Paul S. Davis, the man who brought the lawsuit in the matter, and sent the case back to state courts for a determination of whether the law should be changed to exempt federal retirement benefits from the tax or to extend the tax to state and local retirees.

Representatives of the Markham Woods Homeowners Association strongly protested the plan, although admitting it is an improvement over AMCOR's original plan. However, the association members urged the board to retain the one housing unit per acre density that exists in the rest of the area.

Barrett Allison, representing AMCOR, said developing the area in one-acre lots would bring development right up to the ie wetiands alo By clustering 295 of the 420 lots. more fragile areas can be left as open space and development will not come as close to the river, he

The company had also proposed an alternate plan which involved developing long narrow lots, which Allison said would use even less of the acreage for development.

The cluster plan was approved on a 4-1 vote with Commissioner Fred Streetman voting against it. Streetman said he was sure that a developer would some day come up with a plan to keep the area in the one unit per acre density that present residents of the area want.

Another controversial request to allow industrial development on 15 acres west of Kansas Street and north of Orange Boulevard was rejected by the

The proposal, by former commissioner Sid Vihlen and 1-4 Industrial Park developer James Hickman, was strongly opposed by residents of the area, located near the Port of Sanford and Interstate 4.

Viblen attempted to amend his request from industrial use to planned commercial, and said he had filed amended plans last week and payed the filing fee of $1,700. However, since a hearing on the request for industrial use was the issue advertised. It was the only request the board could consider, county staff said. Residents of Booker Town, just south of the area, and Sanford Farms, a housing development in the area, opposed the proposal saying it would create too much traffic on already overloaded Orange Boulevard, and ruin their rural housing area.

Vihlen offered to resubmit a request for planned commercial area later if he could get his $1,700 application fee back, but was told the fee could not be refunded because the plan had already been processed by the staff.

He also received little encouragement for submitting a revised request. Commissioners Streetman and Sturm both said the comprehensive plan calls for no industrial or commercial use west of Kansas Street and they are in favor of sticking to that

WASHINGTON - Testimony from former Attorney General Edwin Meese showed Tuesday that Oliver North tried to hide his Iran-Centra activities as the foreign policy scandal unraveled even though Meese told him not to conceal anything.

Meese testified that when he questioned the White House aide about the scandal in November 1986. North offered a series of what prosecutors call lies including claiming Israel, not the United States, set up the scheme to divert money from U.S. arms sales to Iran to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

North himself - the selfproclaimed "action officer" in the affair - arranged some of the arms deals, channeled some Contras and managed a private resupply operation that kept the rebel forces fed and armed at a time when Congress had banned torney general from February 1985 until he left office under an ethical cloud Aug. 12, 1986, testified as one of the last witnesses against North, a former staff member of the National Security Council.

The defense was expected to open its case Friday and subpoenaed Reagan as a witness. But on Monday, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell ruled North's defense team first must show the former president's testimony was of vital importance to its case before he would compel Reagan to appear.

North has claimed his acts were approved at the highest levels of the Reagan White House but prosecutors have tried to show North never was authorized to commit the 12 of the excess money to the felonies with which he is charged, including lying to Congress, destroying official documents and lying to the attorney general Nov. 23, 1986.

United Press International

WASHINGTON - The National Transportation Safety Board called Tuesday for the gradual climination of aging school buses after reviewing a crash in Kentucky last year that killed 27 people.

The board's recommendation followed a 10-month investigation into the May 14, 1988, collision of a pickup truck and a church bus carrying 67 people. mostly children, and the result-

In a 5.0 vote, the board concluded the probable cause of the accident was the drunkeness of the truck driver, who was traveling on the wrong side of the highway with a blood alcohol content of .26. Under Kentucky law, a person is considered drunk with a blood alcohol content of .10.

The board also found that several other factors contributed to the accident, including the puncturing of the bus' fuel tank. the difficulty exiting the bus and the flammability of the seals.

Turning ics attention to ways to prevent future tragedies, the safety panel recommended that all 50 states and the District of Columbia set a timetable for the gradual climination of all school buses made before 1977.

In 1977, a series of federal standards went into effect to improve the safety of school buses, such as added protection for the gas tank, but about 70,000 buses made before that date are still being used to transport students.

IN BRIEF

Hawkins starting to come on

As a collegian, Hersey Hawkins set scoring records and became one of the most prolific scorer's in college basketball history. As an NBA rookie, Hawkins is trying to regain the confidence that made him great.

Tuesday night, he took a big step in that direction.

The Philadelphia 76ers guard scored 13 of his 21 points in overtime to lead homestanding Philadelphia to a 117-115 victory over the Boston Celtics.

Cleveland pounded Dallas 90-77, New Jersey got by Atlanta 111-108, Chicago clipped Golden State 115-108, Houston eged Seattle 120-117, New York downed Portland 128-124, San Antonio buried Washington 130-114 and Phoenix crushed the Los Angeles Lakers 127-104.

Cubs release Gossage, Nipper

CHICAGO — The Chicago Cubs Tuesday released two high-priced but recently ineffective pitchers — Goosage and Al Nipper.

Goesage, who started the 1988 season as the Cubs' bullpen stopper, is one of the all-time career save leaders. With the Cubs last year, however, he had a record of 4-4 and only 13 saves. He blew 11 save opportunities.

During spring training he walked 10 and allowed six hits in nine innings while working on off-speed pitches.

Nipper had a 2-4 record last season.

The moves reduced the Cubs' roster to 27 players one week before the scheduled season opener April 4 against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cubs Monday demoted highly touted pitching prospect Mike Harkey to their Class AAA lows farm team. Harkey had a spring record of 1-4 and an ERA of 8.84.

NEW YORK — Beyond scoring more points than their opponents, St. Louis and St. John's bring completely different motivations into the National Invitation Tournament final.

For the Redmen, the NIT has mainly functioned as a preseason for next year, providing extra playing time to their three starters. Coming off their worst season in Big East history, they are bidding for a record fifth NIT title in Wednesday's championship game.

"Anything we do now will help us for next year," St. John's freshman forward Malik Sealy said.

The Billikens, meanwhile, play in the relatively unknown Midwestern Collegiate Conference. They reached the NCAA Tournament last in 1957 and won the NiT once — in 1948.

"We're just happy to play in the final," St.
Louis Coach Rich Grawer said. "This is a Big East school. We've faced Big Ten schools (Wisconsin and Michigan State in the NIT) and a WAC school (New Mexico) and this is just another chance to get out of the Midwestern syndrome."

The Buffalo Sabres moved a long way toward avoiding first-round playoff elimination Tuesday night.

Buffalo, held without a shot until 30 seconds left in the opening period, rallied behind two goals by Jeff Parker to post a 4-2 triumph over the visiting Hartford

U.S. stripped of Cup

United Proce International

NEW YORK — A state judge Tuesday handed the 137-year-old America's Cup to New Zealand. disqualifying the Americans as the victors of the 1988 race because Dennis Conner's Stars &

Stripes catamaran was illegally designed.
"It is clear that a catamaran may not defend in America's Cup competition against a monohull," state Supreme Court Justice Carmen

"Accordingly, San Diego shall be disqualified in the September 1988 competition." Last September, America's Cup holder Conner defeated New Zealander David Barnes, 2-0, in a three-race series off San Diego.

Conner's Stars & Stripes easily defeated the New Zealand, a single-hull sloop stretching 90 feet at the waterline, with his twin-hull catamaran, which, although smaller, was much Yacht Club in 1857, they wrote a "Deed of Gift," faster than the larger Kiwi yacht.

The disqualification stripped San Diego of the cup and gave it to New Zealand's Mercury Bay Boating Club, despite the fact that New Zealand never won the cup on the water.

The United States had regained possession of the cup from Australia in 1987.

"The court is mindful that forfeiture is a drastic remedy," Ciparick wrote. However, she said, the parties on both rides suggested no other alternative.

"The court urged Mercury Bay to fulfill its obligations as trustee in the spirit of friendly competition that George L. Schuyler intended.

Ciparick said.

New York lawyer George Schuyler was one of five owners of America, and when he and the other four donated the cup to the New York | | See Stripped, Page 3B spelling out in vague language what type of boats qualify for the race.

Schuyler was the only original owner still alive when the deed was updated in 1881 and 1887, with rules covering today's America's Cup competition. 'San Diego was well aware of the risk it ran when it chose to follow the unprecedented course of defending in a catamaran," Ciparick said.

Barely paying lip service to the significance of the competition, its clear goal was to retain the cup at all costs so that it could host a competition on its own terms.

"San Diego thus violated the spirit of the deed," the judge said.

Spartans rip Rollins

By JIM RICKENBACKER Herald correspondent

WINTER PARK - Sitting in Alfond Stadium Tuesday night, it became simple to see why The University of Tampa Spartans came into their Sunshine State Conference game with Rollins hitting .315 as a team.

For the 300 or so fans that stayed to watch Tampa hold off Rollins 15-12 to remain unbeaten in the conference, the Spartans demonstrated their prowess with a seven-run eighth inning burst. The Spartans (21-7-1, 5-0) riddled Rollins (19-11, 2-3) for eight of their 20 hits, going through three Tar

Tampa reeled off five consecutive hits to open the eighth, highlighted by Brian Castellano's two-run dou-ble that left the Tars trailing 8-3. Glenn Finnerty finished off the uprising with a two-run triple to cap, off the 35 mileste 100 inning and run the Spartans' lead to 12-3.

Amazingly, Rollins rallied for seven runs in the bottom of the ninth — four coming by way, of bases-loaded walks — and had a chance to win the ball game.

Rollins centerlielder Carmine Cappuccio, whose two-run home run in the first gave the Tars a 2-0 lead, smacked a single to load the bases in the ninth. Harry Bald followed with an rbi single to account for Rollins' final run and shave Tampa's lead to 15-12. With the bases loaded and two out, Clay Bellinger (Rollins' leading home run hitter) struck out to end the game.

"We didn't get down on ourselves," said Rollins relief pitch-er John Brocket, a graduate of Orlando-Boone High School, "We didn't have the intensity earlier, but the last inning lit a fire under us that hopefully will carry into tomor-row (today, when Rollins travels to Tampa for a 3 p.m. contest).

"We were 15-4 (and ranked No. 4 nationally in the NCAA Division II polls) and played 14 games in 14 days. We were exhausted mentally and spiritually."

The Tars' three home runs were the most for the team in one game this season. Besides Cappuccio, who hit safely in three of five at bats. Dan Garrison hit his first home run of his college career and Doug Dvorak hit his fourth home run of the season, a two-run shot in the bottom of the eighth that left Tampa leading 12-5.

Tampa rocked Rollins for the most runs and most hits the Tars have given up all season.

In Oviedo's win over Brooksville-Hernando' Tuesday, Todd Tocco (sliding) led off the third inning by reaching first on an error. After advancing to second on a walk, Tocco stole third and later scored the tying run.

Rams may make their own break

By TONY DeSORMIER Herald sports editor

ORLANDO - Lake Mary High School's baseball squad is a team in search of a break

Going into this week, the Rams had a more-than-adequate record of 10-5. But after watching his team drop two games last week on last-inning home runs. Coach Allen Tuttle sees his team riding the ragged edge of disaster.

So as his team started play in the 10th annual Colonial Classic at Orlando-Colonial High School on Tuesday. Tuttle was careful to stress how his team needed to approach the competition and what it might mean to the Rams.

We lost two games on last-inning home runs last week," said Tuttle on Tuesday. "That doesn't happen very often. We just came out here and told the kids to have a good time this week. Of course, winning makes

And what Tuttle left unspoken was that if the Rams do get hot and play well this week against a tournament field that boasts some of the country's top prep teams. it could provide that impetus needed to boost Lake

Mary into a serious state contender role. "It could be a springboard." Tuttle agreed.

On Tuesday, Lake Mary took its first leap into the deep end, taking on the McLane Highlanders of Fresno. California. And if the result - a 9-6 come-from-behind victory for the Rams - is any indication, then Lake Mary may have found the break for which it is looking. "Anything can happen in this ball park." Tuttle said

Lady Raiders sweep CFCC

By DEAN SMITH Herald correspondent

SANFORD - Bouncing back from a doubleheader loss to Lake City over the weekend, the Seminole Community College Lady Raider softball team crushed the Lady Patriots of Central Florida Community College 12-0 and 14-2 in Mid-Florida Conference softball action Tuesday afternoon at Raider Field

The wins advanced the Lady Raiders to 27-12 overall and 13-5 in the conference. Seminole will play another home doubleheader Thursday, hosting the Lady Mata-dors of Valencia Community College at 3:00 p.m.

Neither game went the distance as both were called because of the 12-run mercy rule. The first game went six innings and the second lasted five as the Lady Raiders collected 34 hits to only six for the Lady Patriots. So dominant was Seminole that from the second inning of game No. 1 through the third inning of game No. 2, pitcher Theresa Lisk retired 24 of 25

Rams-

With ace starting pitcher Alex Birle (an earned run average of 1.04) on the mound, the Rams figured they would need just a few runs to open the tournament with a win.

Except that Birle started cold, hitting the lead-off batter with a pitch and walking two of the next four batters to load the bases. Jason Jensen delivered a two-out double to put McLane up 2-0 in the top of the first.

The Highlanders stretched it to 5-0 when, in the top of the third inning. Birle surrendered two consecutive singles and a three-run home run to McLane designated hitter Jeff Johnson.

"In the first inning, I don't think he (Birle) was really ready to pitch," explained Tuttle. "After that, he came back and did a great job."

Birle was aided considerably by his teammates, especially first baseman Derek Wolke. After Scott

Conklin, Aaron latarola and Jason Sewell had all drawn walks to load the bases in the bottom of the third inning, Wolfe blasted a grand slam to cut McLane's lead to 5-4. In the bottom of the fourth, Birle tied the game with a solo home run. The Highlanders momentarily retook the lead in the top of the sixth as Jerry Saldivar doubled, took third on a fly to right and scored on a Birle wild pitch.

But Lake Mary came back one more time, scoring four runs in the bottom of the fifth to take the lead for the first time. latarola tied the game when he led off with a double, took third on Sewell's sacrifice (McLane tried to throw out latarola on the play but failed, leaving Sewell at first) and scored on a wild pitch.

Cook aims to please different tastes

By JANE HALE Herald correspondent

SANFORD - Our Cook of the Week can legitimately refer to her home as a "restaurant": Any two of Carolyn Leonard's five children rarely like the same food, meaning she has had to come up with a menu for each Carolyn Leonard, of Sanford, is a native of Sanford being born and raised there.

"I lived in Sanford while I was growing up and even after I was married and moved around I always knew I would return someday to Sanford," Leonard Leonard went to Wilson Paola Elementary School, Lake Monroe Elementary School and Sanford Junior High School.

Leonard's mother, Edith Wittenmeyer, is from Tennessee.
She was a housewife who liked to stay home and take care of her family. "Being from Tennessee she sure could cook country style," Leonard said.
"My daddy. Gus Lee, was a hard worker who worked for the railroad," Leonard said. An installer for railroad tracks, he was born in Florida and has since passed away, she said.

"I lived in the country most of my life so I was outdoors playing every chance I got," Leonard said. "I use to climb trees and chase the boys. I enjoyed my childhood especially when my friends and I went horseback Leonard is the oldest of two girls. Her sister, Robin, lives in Sanford.

Leonard gives credit to her mother for teaching her how to cook.

"She was always trying to teach me and I really didn't want to learn, but finally she won out," Leonard said. "Mama had the patience of Job in teaching

"I learned to cook Southernstyle and old-fashioned. We used to have a garden when I was small and we would have plenty of fresh vegetables all year long. My job when I was little was to weed the vegetable garden."

The first dish Leonard remembers cooking was a pot of

"Daddy said it would stick to the pot so I turned it upside down and the rice fell all over the floor and on top of my foot, burning my foot. But at least the rice did not stick," she said.

Adulthood has necessitated that Leonard come far from her rice mishaps.

"Since I got married and had children I cook like a restaurant, because everybody likes dif-ferent things," she said. "There are only two people in this house who cat the same things, and that is my husband and me."

Leonard met and married her husband, Kenneth, while he was in the Navy and stationed in Sanford. Retired from the Navy. he is now an electrician for Kemco in Sanford.

"I knew when I saw Kenny he was the one I was going to marry," Leonard said, who has been married to her husband for 26 years. "We got to travel quite a bit while we were in the Navy." Shortly after the Leonards were married, they moved to Jacksonville where he was stationed. They then moved to Meridan, Miss., Albany, Ga., Maryland and then back to Jacksonville before returning to Sanford.

The Leonards an: the parents of five children. Carol is married to Steve Tregear and has a son, Steven. LeAnn, 6, is in school. Son Richard is single and lives at home, as does son John. Son Dwayne and his wife are the parents of a daughter named Breezy.

Leonard enjoys staying home taking care of her house and tamily, but recently has started a woodcraft business. She sells rocking horses, Santa Clauses and reindeers for Christmas, as well as numerous other items.

Besides her family and wood crafting. Leonard enjoys bowling.

"I take my frustrations out on the bowling pins." she said. "Some days I bowl really good. but there are days when I can hardly find the alley."

Leonard's philosophy on life is: "Do what you can to help people because one day you might need help, too."

Listed below are some of her recipes that her family enjoys: SNICKER DOODLES

Spring arrived officially the 20th of March. With the beautiful spring-like weather. my mind turns to those foods that traditionally are plentiful and best at this time of the year...asparagus, rhubarb, spring lamb and strawberries, to name just a few. A leg of lamb served with fresh vegetables and fruits is a meal worthy of this time of the year. Lamb cooks quickly in the microwave and comes out tender and juicy.

When reading the currently published material on blood fats, one might conclude that the lower the cholesterol and triglycerides, the better. Experts are now recommending that adults attempt to reduce serum cholesterol and triglycerides to below 200 milligrams/deciliter and 150 milligrams/deciliter, respectively. These figures are probably unrealistic for the average American.

DEAR READER: Yes, but I

Cholesterol levels

Appropriate levels of blood fats are age-related; as we grow older, the permissible levels increase. In children. cholesterol/triglyceride values of 175 milligrams/50 milligrams would be normal; in an adult, that would be low. Most labs put the low normal-limit of cholesterol for adults at about 150 milligrams, the triglycerides at about 50 milligrams.

However, no one is really sure about normal, low levels in healthy people. Cholesterol and triglyceride levels probably reflect more than mere dictary/genetic factors. In fact, cholesterol itself may be a marker for disease. Excessively low levels are often seen in ill or malnourished patients, and cancer usually causes a fall in blood cholesterol. Therefore, when I see a patient with unusually low blood fats. I'm suspicious that an undiscovered disease is present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My boyfriend told me I can't get pregnant if he withdraws in time. Is this true?

DEAR READER: Withdrawal is not a satisfactory method of birth control because some sperm can enter the female reproductive tract before the male orgasm. You and your boyfriend are taking a big risk if

After an opposing opening bid. the overcall in a suit has a wide range - from a few points up to opening-bid values. But the standard way to describe a good hand of 16 or more high-card points plus a long suit is to double for takeout first and then bid the suit. That was the card points, he would have approach selected by South in responded.) Declarer was thus today's deal. Still, North did not have quite enough to come in queen. He could play for the club when West bid his second suit. diamonds, over the takeout

When South then bid two spades. North had a sound invitational raise with four spades and an acc. South bid the game and now had to make it. The defense played three rounds of hearts. Declarer ruffed and played a low spade. East took the ace and returned a diamond. Incase to make the contract.

Declarer now had some information to guide his play. East, who had shown up with the spade ace, had passed his partner's one-heart opening bid. Unless East was being incredibly timid or had overlooked his hand, he could not hold the queen of clubs. (With six highsafe in assuming West had that queen to drop doubleton, but his nine of clubs provided an unusual winning play - the backward finesse.

So declarer picked up the remaining trumps, ending in his hand. He then led the jack of clubs. West covered with the queen, won with dummy's acc. That left declarer's K-9 over East's 10, and South took that

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY March 30, 1989

Your greatest benefits in the year ahead are likely to come from a venture or enterprise that will be resurrected. Over the coming months it should succeed where it previously failed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try not to take full credit for something today that an associate was instrumental in helping to bring about. It could scar a productive relationship. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Making last-minute changes in strategy today could turn out to be a counterproductive measure. What you had in mind originally is likely to be your best bet.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If developments warrant it today, befriend one with whom you have established ties rather than siding with a new acquaintance.

Others will measure you by the amount of loyalty you express.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you may be required to honor a commitment that you'll find a bit difficult to keep. Regardless of the inconvenience. you'll have more respect for yourself if you stand by your word.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your ideas for handling a critical arrangement today are likely to be superior to the well-meaning advice of your co-workers. Give credence to your judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Make an extra effort to exercise self-discipline today in an area where you sometimes tend to overindulge. It can be done without taking the edge off of your fun. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be firm regarding your terms today if you have to negotiate a matter of importance. If you are lax or indifferent, you might make some needless concessions. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

People with whom you'll be involved today might be so wrapped up in their own interests that they won't be receptive to your propositions or proposals. If you sense this, make your pitch at a later date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you have something critical to discuss with someone else today that directly affects your career or finances, iron it out first before you digress to lighter

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Guard against tendencies today to suddenly switch tactics in matters that are presently running to your advantage. The changes you're likely to introduce aren't apt to be as effective.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you may be in a rather gregations mood, and this is well and good, provided you do not openly discuss things that were told to you in strict confidence.

P18CES (Feb. 20 March 20) You're in a good cycle pertaining to the fulfillment of hopes and expectations provided they are based upon practical foundations. Don't build castles on sand.
