

Commission Clerk Seeks Pay Raise

The Board of Seminole Commissioners authorized action at its Tuesday afternoon session that might raise the salary of the Clerk of the County Commission by $2,000.

O. P. Herndon, just before the Tuesday afternoon session, told the board "I've served as clerk of the county commission and as county auditor for a number of years for which I have received no compensation."

Excess fees returned to the county from my office, explained Herndon, have been from $5 to $11 thousand and it costs my office a little over $1,000 a month to take care of the business of this board.

"It seems to me," he said, "as if I should be paid $2,000 a year to be paid out of the excess fees. I've worked at nights, Saturday, and many times on Sunday, explained Herndon, and I am just as much entitled to additional salary as any other employee of the county.

Questioned as to what other counties pay their clerks, Herndon said that "Some of the other counties pay their clerks as much as $800 to $900 a month."

Commissioner John Krider stated "Before I commit myself on this I would like to know what other counties are doing."

Herndon commented "I don't believe that one county official's time is worth more than any other county official."

Commissioner Homer Little stated "If the Judge (Judge Ernest Householder) is entitled to it O. P. should get it."

Herndon commented "I don't want to put any of you men on the spot, but I do know you believe in fair play and I can justify my request."

Plans for the construction of the bridge may be seen at the office of the District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, 478 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville.

It is not proposed to hold a public hearing on the application, said the notice. Any facts developed will be given the same weight as if they were developed at a public hearing.

"Anyone desiring to submit a protest based on the proposition that the proposed work would unreasonably interfere with public navigation, or would unfavorably affect the navigable capacity of the waterway, should submit such protest in writing in sufficient detail to admit of a clear understanding of the reasons therefor," said Col. E. E. Kirkpatrick, District Engineer, Corps of Engineers.

The decision of the Department of the Army on the application must be based entirely on the effect of the proposed bridge on navigation, and not on its effect on property values or other considerations having nothing to do with navigation, said the notice.

"A Department of the Army permit is merely a waiver of objections insofar as public rights of navigation are concerned," the notice read.

Protest should be addressed to the District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, P. O. Box 4070, Jacksonville in time to be received on or before May 31.

Teacher

Rules Chairman Tom Beasley of Walton insisted the Legislature can complete all its work by May 31 if the committee will get busy and meet on weekends if necessary.

But a majority of the committee handling the tedious revision expressed sentiment that the matter should be taken care of in a two-week special session devoted to that and nothing else.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has served notice he will insist on revision and will call a special session if it is not done in the remaining 23 days of the current meeting. Legislators batted back and forth the issue of whether a special session should be tacked on the end of the present one or wait until September.

When asked if the water test brought out any leaks Chief Aeder answered, "we located a few minor leaks, but over all the 'Poopy Suits' were in good shape. Although we had one man who had lost a considerable amount of weight recently and his suit no longer fitted around the neck. That's why we like to make this type of test, with the person who will actually wear it."

Chief Aeder is a veteran of 12 years naval service and has been in VAH-11 since October, 1934. So far his work as a parachute fitter has called for him to make over forty-four actual jumps from aircraft. Survival training is taught at VAH-11 in many ways: by training films, lectures and demonstrations, but as Chief Aeder says, "The closer the training comes to the real thing, the more effective it is."

New Church Makes Amazing Progress

By R. E. Brown

"What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" — Matthew 27:22.

If you were in P.F.'s place what would be your answer? At it were, you are in his place and this question equally concerns you. In other words, will you crucify or praise Him?

Pinecrest Baptist Church and Sunday School is new and, like a new born babe, struggling to grow and fill God's requirements by furnishing food for our spiritual hunger. Our congregation is rapidly growing—last Sunday total attendance was 162.

We have Sunday School facilities for all age groups, so don't hesitate to bring the little ones. Classes commence at 9:45, followed by regular Church Services at 11. We extend a cordial WELCOME and invitation to you to come worship with us.

If you live in this community and have no Church Home, why not come and consider ours. We need your support. You will be a blessing to us, and we feel that you will receive a blessing from having come our way. Brother Herman Morris, our temporary pastor, is well known by most of you and was called by Divine Inspiration to minister His Word. There is no middle road to truth.

Last Year's U. S. Cotton Crop Over 13 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has fixed the size of last year's cotton crop at 13,910,000 bales.

The value of the crop, based on the season average price to May 4 of 21.7 cents a pound, was about $2,111,000,000. This compared with 1935 crop value of $2,379,000,000. The 1935 average price was 32.33 cents a pound.

The 1936 crop estimate, based on actual ginnings, compares with production of 14,721,000 bales in 1935 and a 10-year average output of 13,098,000 500-pound bales.

The department said the season average price received by farmers for cottonseed production was valued at $200,000,000. For the 1935 season the season average price for cottonseed was $14.60 per ton and the value of production was $269,000,000. The 1935 combined value of lint and cottonseed of $2,417,000,000 or 2 per cent less than for 1935.

The Crop Reporting Board said acreage in cultivation last July 1, the start of the 1936 season, was 16,822,000 acres, with 15,815,000 acres harvested. Yield per acre on the 1936 harvested acreage was estimated at 409 pounds.

In 1935, there were 17,506,000 acres in cultivation at the start of the cotton year, and 16,928,000 acres were harvested with yields averaging 417 pounds an acre. The acreage allotment for 1936 crop cotton was 17,391,304. Acreage for the 1937 crop is 17,885,453 acres.

OFFSPRING FORGOTTEN

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—A father who left his 6-year-old son unclaimed for one month in the General Hospital explained to police that "we were moving and I forgot a few things." The boy, Clarence Hicks, had been admitted to the hospital for an ear infection. When no one claimed the boy after a month, police were notified. They found the parents in Milton, Ont.

AY, THERE'S THE RUB

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Albert W. Snoke of New Haven, Conn., president of the American Hospital Assn., today discounted a suggestion that automation be applied to hospitals. "You cannot automate a highly individualized personal service such as hospital care," Snoke said, "or at least I don't know how automation could take the place of a back rub by a nurse."

Now Hear This!

JACKY FENWICK

Just made the merest mention of the "Pot Luck Supper" planned as the next meeting of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club, and I guess I'd better clear up some confusion. It will NOT be held at the U.S.O. as the meetings usually are, but it is definite that it will be held at the E.M. Club at the base. It will be for club members and their husbands only; one way of including them in on the wives activities! "They're always so curious as to what goes on!" Sorry, but no children will be allowed this time. It will be strictly a "get-together" for the adults, and they're working on a plan now for some kind of activity that will include everyone, in addition to dancing. The coffee and rolls will be provided, and plastic spoons and forks as well. If you want to be real "fancy", you can bring your own; but that's usually too much trouble. And it WILL be STRICTLY "pot luck"! Bring whatever you want to, but just bring plenty of it! If you have some "pot" casserole you make well, or a favorite pie you know your husband would like for dessert, or anything that you feel you'd care to bring, that will be just! You may end up eating several varieties of potato salad, or three different versions of a meat loaf, but it will be a good regardless, since the object of this is to bring what you yourself make best! Remember, that's Monday night, May 20. There won't be an actual meeting as such, but all members are expected to attend. I've got two choices! Either I forget all about ever being "savette and sophisticated", or give up my weekly card-party! Calista says it gets worse each week! We played at Irene Duke's last Wednesday night, and hardly stopped "stuffed" ourselves long enough to play cards. Those there were Jimi Gold, Chris Ricker, Adele Heitman, Betty O'Conner, Joyce Williams, Rosemary Finnegan, your's truly, and of course, Irene! As for the game we played, any resemblance between it and Canasta, BELIEVE me, is purely coincidental! But we do have a good time, and since that is the first and foremost purpose of these card-parties, no one seems to be worried about how much we're corrupting the game. We started out with the most delicious and dainty tea-and-swiches, olives, potato chips, and garlic-cheese dip. It should have saved Irene a lot of trouble if she had just "slapped" the stuff between two slices of bread, but they were lovely, and so good! While all this went cooling lemon-meringue, I think I know she only did it because she can afford to consume those calories! She served a wonderful pineapple upside-down cake, and coffee. To those of you who might read these "menus" each week, it probably seems as if all we do is get together to eat! But I think we deserve some kind of credit for the fact that we stick to our original intent, and DO play cards!!!

Getting back to the E.M. Club, don't forget there will be a dance there one week from tonight, on May 17. We'll again have Sidney Vihlen's wonderful band, and we're lucky to get them! (Have you noticed too that they seem to play for so many affairs around town?) To those of you who may never have heard them, this should be a good reason to come out for the dance! At least you can count on having good music to dance to! That's Friday night, 8:00 P.M., so try and make it!

One week from tomorrow is "Armed Forces Day". I haven't been able to reach anyone to confirm anything, so I won't state that there will be "open-house" aboard the Sanford Naval Air Station, though it's more than likely that there will be (I'm just "chicken" and refuse to commit myself to anything I haven't personally "checked out") I only know what I read in the paper about this; but the day will be celebrated with a big parade in downtown Sanford in which units from the Air Station will participate. Also, one of the AFD's is suppose to "fly-over" to start the parade, and though I'm sure by now everyone has seen them in the air, it always gives me a thrill to feel that I have even a remote connection with them. "Armed Forces Day" was set aside to pay tribute to the men and machines that make possible the "safe" feeling we here in the United States take for granted. Recently the whole city of Sanford made it very clear that they appreciated us; and even with the prospect of more and more noise, as more "jets" come to this base, they wanted to keep us here. I like to think that in addition to the economic reasons that were involved, they also realized that the Navy is here to perform a vital and necessary part of the tremendous task of defending the United States from aggression. If you have ever met anyone who has been through an actual bombing—or a serviceman who has served "under fire", or have heard stories of such things, then you can only thank God you have never been through it. And you'll never have to if as long as your husband and mine, and probably your next-door neighbor, stand ready to do what to them is their "everyday" job. I can only conclude these thoughts with the obvious statement that I'm proud to be a Navy wife.

Story Of Navy Hero Brought To Screen

Maureen O'Hara co-stars with John Wayne and Dan Dailey in "The Wings of Eagles," M.G.M.'s spectacular drama telling the story of Commander Frank (Spig) Wead, one of the Navy's great modern heroes. Miss O'Hara plays the girl who married "Spig." The new picture was directed by four-time Academy Award-winner John Ford.

At Pensacola, on grounds of the United States Navy's largest shore-based command, Hollywood recently turned back the clock more than 35 years to bring to the screen the story of one of the greatest legends of Naval Aviation. The picture is M.G.M.'s "The Wings of Eagles." Starring John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara, Dan Dailey, which starts Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre.

This spectacular drama tells the story of Commander Frank (Spig) Wead, one of the Navy's great modern heroes. This exciting movie was directed by four-time Academy Award-winner John Ford.

It was at Pensacola that Wead began his Naval Aviation career, and the opening portion of the picture was filmed there during the ten-day location of a cast and a crew of 92 persons. Here, the company had filmed the end of the picture aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Philippine Sea. One hundred miles off the Pacific Coast.

Aircraft construction expert and stunt flier, Paul Muni, was commissioned to do the flying for the picture. "The Wings of Eagles," Ford does such stunts as flying through an open hangar, and numerous others. "Don't forget Movie Sweepstakes every Tuesday night at The Movieland Ride-In Theatre."

IN A SCENE from the scintillating musical, "Funny Face," due Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, Audrey Hepburn and Kay Thompson deliver a lesson "On How To Be Lovely" in song and dance while Fred Astaire salutes their obvious qualifications. The Paris-filmed picture is Audrey's song-and-dance box, in VistaVision and Technicolor with music by George and Ira Gershwin.

Musical 'Funny Face' Starts Sunday At Ritz

"Funny Face," which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, is a lavishly produced, delightfully scored, danced and backgrounded musical with an added ingredient that sets it apart from anything you've seen before. Starring Audrey Hepburn and Fred Astaire, co-starring Kay Thompson, featuring Michel Auclair and Robert Fleming, and set to the music of Gershwin, it was filmed with radically different VistaVision—Technicolor techniques that make it, visually, one of the most exciting pictures in years. These techniques, devised beautifully with the stars, since Astaire plays a glamor photographer and Miss Hepburn the bookish Greenwich Villageer, he transforms into a world-famed model and takes on a posing tour of Paris as well as the seldom seen, enchantments, filmed on the spot and from a hovering helicopter, that range from the hottest to the coolest imaginable.

Opportunities Don't Just Float By; They Must Be Sought Out, Used

There are reasons to be optimistic over the fact that the Board of Seminole County Commissioners have unanimously agreed to sell eleven lots in the huge area now occupied by the Seminole County Court House.

In the first place, idle land, unprofitable at times and a rather grotesque welcome for visitors to our growing city, will be turned into a productive area for the city and county.

The board of commissioners placed restrictions on the property to be sold. There must be a building erected on the property within twenty-four months after the sale is consummated. And, in addition, the value of that building must be $100,000 or over. That means a revenue, according to the figures presented to the board, of $4,000 a year in taxes.

If the purpose of the sale is carried out, there will be erected on the property a banking center so modern that it will be second to none in the State of Florida. It will be a memorial, so to speak, to a man who had implicit faith in Sanford and its future. The late Chester Hugh McNulty could foresee the growth of Sanford and Seminole County and he believed in progress — the real reason for the sale of the property.

In the final analysis, the mere sum that has been placed on the value of the property to be sold by the county is just a "drop in the bucket" compared to what it will bring in to the City and County in revenue.

There has been no area in Florida which has felt the touch of expansion and growth that hasn't looked to the future with a calm and deliberate — a firm grasp on basic thinking — attitude toward what must be taken in to make the county and city prosper.

Sale of the eleven county-owned lots at the corner of Park Avenue and Seminole Boulevard is actually an advancement in the county's future prosperity.

Some dare say that within the next five to ten years a new court house must be built. Without a doubt Seminole County deserves a huge new structure to replace the present building — we'll all admit that. But Seminole County now can't dig up the funds to improve its secondary road system, build its own schools, construct a building for the agricultural interests of the county, buy right of ways for primary and secondary roads — what can they do in the next five to ten years?

An open area of 118 feet is being reserved for future expansion of the court house — even more space than that is available to the rear of the present building — as much space as can be used by Seminole County in the foreseeable years ahead.

Your Annual Check-Up

By HERMAN H. HUBBARD, M.D.

A THOROUGH annual check-up probably is the best way to protect yourself from the ravages of cancer. Most cancer is curable in the early stages. The quicker it is discovered, the better.

Ask The Doctor
Just what is a thorough examination? Well, as a minimum, I would suggest you ask your doctor to make the following check:
Examine the skin of your face, body and extremities for sores, bleeding warts, black moles and unhealed sores.
Examine your lips, tongue, throat, tonsils and pharynx for persistent alterations, the larynx for hoarseness and the lungs for persistent coughing.
Look for Lumps
Examine the subcutaneous tissue for lumps on the arms, legs or body.
Examine the lymphoid system for enlargement of the nodes of the neck, armpits, groin, etc.
For women he should examine the breasts for lumps or bleeding nipples.
He should also examine the uterus for enlargement, lacerations, bleeding or growths. A thorough annual check-up will determine the condition of the ovaries.

Investigate symptoms of persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. Should carefully feel the abdomen.
Examine the urine for blood with the aid of a microscope.
Examine the rectum and determine the cause of any pain or bleeding.
Examine a bone and make an X-ray of any bone that may be the seat of any boring pain which becomes worse at night.

QUESTIONS - ANSWERS
Q. I have been troubled with a certain condition since childhood. Is there any cure?
A. This condition may be the result of an infection in the throat, tonsils or the sinuses. A cross nasal bone or polyp in the nose may also cause it. A thorough and careful examination could be made by a physician to determine the source of the irritative secretions.

No doubt the area in which the eleven lots, now offered for sale by Seminole County, will be one of the most productive areas in the county in the immediate future. Industry will funnel into Sanford along this same boulevard. It will be a busy, fast-growing, heavily populated area in the few years just ahead.

Other communities have prospered and grown by taking advantage of the opportunities presenting themselves from time to time. However, Sanford and Seminole County cannot, not for a day, rest on the assumption that such opportunities as this one will continue to float by and present themselves merely for the grabbing.

Both of the boards will have to "go out and get others" to come in to enjoy the prosperity in the heart of Central Florida.

'Heedless Horsepower'

Death on the highways of our city, county, state and country continues to climb and the finger of blame is pointed directly at Mr. Average Motorist himself in the twenty-third annual highway safety book entitled "Heedless Horsepower."

More than 40,000 Americans were killed and 2,368,000 injured on our highways last year, according to the report and an analysis of these casualties show that human error was the biggest factor in a big majority of the cases.

Faulty equipment was blamed for less than four per cent of the fatalities. Bad weather prevailed in only 15 per cent of the instances. Accidents occurred when cars were going straight ahead in 75 per cent of the cases.

Some statisticians have attempted to prove that the dangers on our highways are decreasing, because the rate of death per mile traveled and vehicles registered has decreased sharply in recent years.

But the issue is the same now as it was 51 years ago when the keeping of accident records began. cannot be stated in terms of numbers of miles or numbers of automobiles. At best, these give us cold comfort. The issue is one of human life, of men, women and children killed or injured regardless of how many miles they traveled or how many cars they passed on their way to an accident.

"Heedless Horsepower; It is a chronic disease of the Age of the Automobile," the report states. "The disease of heedless horsepower is highly contagious. It can spread by an irresponsible word, an inflated claim, a careless example . . . everyone who is in a position to influence drivers should learn the horsepower in the hands of the heedless is the fundamental cause of our ever-mounting toll of disaster."

Unity

"The world grows smaller, man must grow bigger" is the view expressed by Bishop Frank Smith of the Methodist Church. The world would be a paradox, except for the fact that Bishop Smith does not have the physical man in mind but rather is thinking of his character.

The world is indeed growing smaller. Means of increasingly rapid human communication and travel facilities. Overcrowding is already becoming evident. There will be room for all, however, if man's character development moves toward unity and amity instead of division and rivalry.

Backstairs At White House

By MERRIAM SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

Recently there has been heavy dynamite blasting in the area near Camp David, the presidential hideaway in the Catoctin Mountains of western Maryland.

Some of the residents of the area have been asking each other whether the government might be building some bomb shelter near the camp which President Eisenhower still uses occasionally for meetings of large groups, although his Gettysburg, Pa., farm is only about 20 miles away.

Another local theory is that the government may be putting in some small dams in the streams running through the federally owned Catoctin recreational area to help improve the fishing.

Some of the presidents staff, including Wilton B. Jerry Persons, deputy assistant to the President, and Earl Cheney, administrative assistant, have been fishing in the Catoctin Mountain area recently, but not up near Camp David itself where the fishing generally is poor.

From now until about the end of June is the best time to do any

WASHINGTON — Translators President Dave Beck, on a Senate investigation of his personal use of union funds:

"This don't bother me in the slightest degree. It's all part of the job. The fact of the matter is I'm three and a half pounds heavier than I was three weeks ago."

WASHINGTON — Special presidential envoy James P. Richards, on returning from a 15-day tour of the Middle East: "I was surprised at the confidence of the governments and people in that area as to the high moral purposes of what the United States is trying to do."

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin state Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, on a successor to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy:

"The voters elected Joe McCarthy and his philosophy for six years—there is no one who could represent his point of view better than Joe McCarthy, the senator's widow."

BRAZORIA COUNTY, Tex. — National Guard Lt. Darrell Windham, on the reluctance of about 100 families to leave their homes despite flood waters:

"Many of them have water inside their little ramshackle homes but they still won't leave. Some of them are out of food, but they are still hanging on. They say they have to take care of their chickens, a cow, a horse or a pig."

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, explaining that his recent golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga., helped in throwing off his lingering cold and cough: "I personally think for the kind of difficulty I had that the sun is the only answer."

sort of fishing in the Thurmont-Mo. Gettysburg area, particularly in the hilly sections, because when hot weather comes, the streams lower a bit and the water becomes so bright that the fish, mostly trout, remain hidden in the shadows.

Another factor causes a relatively sudden fall-off in trout fishing in the President's neck of the woods. With warm weather, the flies begin to hatch, and the fish, with such an ample supply of natural food on hand, become finicky about going for artificial flies and other lures.

Gettysburg will be in the news this weekend when the President's house guest will be Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy commander of NATO forces in Europe and a World War II commander-in-chief of the Chief Executive.

Montgomery and Eisenhower are old friends and probably will devote their weekend to old soldier ball games and a tour of the famous Civil War battlefield which Eisenhower promised the famous British General some years ago.

This is why some members of the White House staff groan at a rumor, possibly started as a gag, that instead of going to Colorado for his late summer vacation, Eisenhower will spend most of his time on his Pennsylvania farm where the house is delightfully air-conditioned.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Warsaw dispatches report that the faction of the party which opposes Gomulka's independent policy will make a determined bid to check any further trend toward liberalized rule.

To this end, they will fight especially to get Deputy Premier Zenon Nowak back on the Central Committee, from which he was ousted last October.

If they succeed, Gomulka's task in preserving Poland's independence of Moscow domination will be made even more difficult.

Gomulka was restored to his post of first secretary of the Communist Party at the time of the Polish revolt in October, after having been imprisoned as a "Titoist" — one who, like President Tito of Yugoslavia, refused to knuckle under to the Russians.

Ever since his restoration, Gomulka has been beset by problems which might have overwhelmed a weaker man.

He has had to contend with a serious economic situation. All the time, the "Stalinists" who remain in the Polish Communist Party have been fighting stubbornly against what has become a steady, if gradual, trend toward liberalization.

For the present, Gomulka's position seems safe. The best the "Stalinists" can hope for is to make a comeback which will permit them to step this trend.

Had it not been for a singular line-up of support, it is doubtful whether Gomulka would have lasted this long.

On one hand, Gomulka has had the backing of President Tito and especially of Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-lai, the big two Chinese Communist leaders.

On the other, Gomulka has had the support of the Roman Catholic Church in Poland. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, the Catholic primate, urged voters to support Gomulka in the election held last January.

To Visit Pope
As evidence of Poland's liberalized rule, Wyszynski has been given permission to visit Pope

Pius XII and is due to go to Vatican City this week.

Gomulka will get one big boost in September. Mao Tse-Tung, who seldom leaves Red China, is to visit Poland as well as Russia in September.

There seems to be a strong feeling in Warsaw that if Russia has any thought of trying to oust through the Polish "Stalinists,"

Man will discourage it. Gomulka may get his biggest boost soon, however, from the United States. Washington dispatches say that an agreement under which Poland will get about 100 million dollars in aid may be signed at any time. That will ease Poland's economic plight at least, and the economic situation is Gomulka's biggest handicap.

SIIS Meets Unexpected Foe Tonight; To Play Oviedo In Semi-Finals

Junior Olympics Will Be Staged May 17 In DeLand

The Sanford Seminoles found themselves with an unexpected foe on their hands for tonight in the semi-final of the Sub-group Tournaments in Memorial Stadium as a revitalized Oviedo team made upstarts of themselves and downed DeLand for the Sanford opposition.

L. C. Smith drew the starting mound nod from Seminole coach Dave Laude and had a new game to figure for tonight. DeLand, a highly favored team to be facing the Seminoles tonight, proved to be a different type club to pitch to from the more aggressive Lions from Oviedo.

The surprise win by Oviedo in yesterday afternoon's opener for the Tournament gave Laude new problems to ponder as he looked into the face of a small, yet, from yesterday's appearances, smooth ball club.

Although the Oviedo baseball record has been only fair this season, Laude was quick to remind all quakers of the just recently past Oviedo showing in

Club Members View Regatta Films; Plan Boat Cruise

A capacity gathering turned out last night for the regular monthly meeting of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club, during which the color films of the first annual Sanford Outboard Regatta were shown.

Despite the atmosphere of the big time boat racing that appeared for the first time on Lake Monroe before a jamming throng of an estimated 10,000 spectators, some of which could not see and some of which could not hear, the showing featured the bouncing, turning course and the spills and thrills that were a part of the race.

Dr. A. W. Woodall, Commodore of the club, welcomed the 10 new members to the club and announced a proposed boat cruise and barbecue, topped by a return moonlight cruise for Sunday afternoon.

All parties interested in participating in the cruise were invited to contact commodore Woodall by telephone. The scheduled time for the beginning of the cruise is 2 p.m. Sunday.

New members to the Sanford Boat and Ski Club are: T. J. Gemers; Mrs. Eleanor V. Smith; F. D. Scott; A. O. Payne; Al Faroni; W. E. Gray; Darwin F. Bruce; F. W. Corst; J. A. Lathrow; and John A. Russell.

Semi-Pro Team Meets Dead End

By HUGH ANSLEY

The City of Sanford employees are so busy this week that they do not even have time to send crew of workers to a one hour project of erecting temporary bleachers at the site of the Semi-Pro baseball teams' opening game, thus virtually signing a death warrant for the opening game of the season and any hopes of meeting current operating expenses for the first week of play.

W. C. "Red" Hires, who has fostered the program of bringing the strongest semi-pro team to Sanford in decades, said yesterday afternoon that he saw no way ( ) of the dead end.

"But," said Hires, "let the people come on out for the game. Maybe some church group or other organization will donate the use of folding chairs or benches for the people. Something is bound to turn up."

This writer personally can not see any method to the apparent madness of refusing to let the estimated crowd of 1,000 enjoy the opening game of the season with the highly touted Sanford Semi-Pros meet the Orlando Aces.

If it is true that the City of Sanford employees are so rushed that some of them can not take out one hour to set up bleachers, which could remain in that one spot for the rest of the baseball season and provide comfort for the negro league as well as the season opener of the Sanford Semi-Pros, why has someone not suggested and given the interested men of the team the permission to move the bleachers to the New York Giants "bull-pen" behind Memorial Stadium?

Or could it be that the Sanford City Commissioners do not know that this simple request has been denied the valiant efforts of the handful of men who are interested enough in Sanford's baseball future to donate untold hours of individual time with no possible hope for personal gain?

Two temporary bleachers, capable of comfortably seating 1500 fans are sitting idly by in Memorial Stadium and will remain so until football season resumes in mid-September.

Every afternoon the Rotary League plays two games in the "bull-pen" with an average spectator attendance of 50. The negro team will be playing a light season on the same diamonds. Is it so much to ask for one hour of effort for so much use in the months to come?

Is it so easy to spend nearly a quarter of a million dollars for a civic center and so hard to move bleachers in one hour?

It may be wise to have some values re-adjusted.

Pierson Ball Team Comes From Behind To Beat FMS 8-7

Pierson staged a final inning rally in the second game of the Sub-group Tournament yesterday afternoon in Memorial Stadium to come from behind for an 8-7 win over Florida Military School when Cadet centerfielder dropped a long fly with two out and two on that allowed the tying and winning run to cross the plate off his error.

Florida Military School moved into the lead in the first half of the first inning with a four run scoring spree and stayed ahead until the error in centerfield that cost them the ball game.

After that first inning lead, the Pierson club began a deliberate cutting away of the score margin and were in command of the ball game in everything but the score by the fourth inning.

Billy Carlisle started on the mound for Pierson but lasted only two innings before he was shifted into centerfield and Ed Robinson took his place on the mound. But Carlisle redeemed himself in the sixth with a triple that bounced against the fence and sent a run scurrying across.

Both Robinson and Carlisle had trouble with control but allowed only one hit apiece for the game. All seven of the Florida Military School runs were unearned.

Oviedo Nine Beats Deland In First Tournament Game

The Oviedo Lions moved into an added prominence in the Sub-group Tournament being staged in Memorial Stadium yesterday as they found solid ground and played heads-up baseball to shock Deland 7-5 in the first elimination for the semi-finals.

The blazing win moved Oviedo into the semi-finals and a try at Sanford tonight when the two teams meet at 8 p.m. for eliminations for the finals.

The offensive power of the Lions proved formidable as they converted eight hits into the seven runs that carried them to victory. In the first inning Oviedo moved into the lead with a four run binge and never relinquished the long end of the score despite minor control troubles in the fourth and fifth innings.

The opportunistic attitude of the team was a revelation even to the team members as they stepped from Class C all the way to Class A and gave the Bulldogs a decisive licking that showed clearly the Oviedo Lions could roar in something besides basketball.

Lee, the starting Oviedo pitcher, worked himself into trouble in the fourth and was relieved by Brown, who allowed three runs in his first inning on the mound. The Lions put the game on ice in the sixth inning by sending another run across and did not have to go to bat in the seventh.

Rotary All-Star Team To Take On Half Pint Champions Saturday

The Rotary Baseball League all-star team will take on the defending State Half Pint Baseball Champion Saturday morning at 9:30 in the "bull-pen" behind Memorial Stadium in a game that should highlight the Rotary Baseball League season.

All the four teams of the league will play parts of the game against Orlando Curry Electric team, which last year won the State Half Pint Championship.

Last year the Sanford Rotary Baseball League played Curry Electric two times and won one of the games. They won on the home diamond and lost on the road.

The event, in which the public is invited, will feature right-hander Earl Summersill and lefty Alex McKibbin sharing early mound duty for the Sanford Rotary Baseball League All-stars.

Jerald Jones and Mike Roberts will switch duties at first base; Skipper Palmer and Threat will do duties at second; Vernon Kirk and George Perides will swap duties at short stop; Terry Christensen and Steve Powell will both see action at third; Ray Lundquist and Brooks Adams will take turns in left field; Jimmy Gracey and Jimmy Emerson will handle center field; Billy Rowles and Len-ville Rianer will take responsibilities in right field and working behind the plate will be Don Carter and Tommy Butler.

Elected captain for the All-stars from Sanford will be Ray Lundquist.

Challenge For Dr. Mays

A new novel by ELIZABETH SEIFERT.
© 1955 by Elizabeth Seifert. Reprinted by permission of the publisher, Dodd, Mead & Co., Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 17

ALICE MILBURN was small and fragile-looking. She wore a ruffled frock of tawny lace, with many twinkles of rhinestones buttons; she waved a cigaret in a long, skinny holder, and her laugh tinkled.

"You must come back and talk to me, Dr. Mays," she said with the assurance of an empress who is accustomed to having her every wish fulfilled.

And, sure enough—having been introduced to several men, a lawyer, a chap named Tar, two called Bill, one called Sterling and as many women, one thin and thirtyish, one stout and fortyish, a pretty, young one—Chad did find himself back in the chair beside Mrs. Milburn's table. The young manservant was proffering his tray of glasses.

Chad selected a light from a plate of oeuvres, leaned back and surveyed his hostess. "Lillian Gish," he said, and popped the canape into his mouth.

The silver curls danced in an excess of merriment. "I'm afraid you're incorrigible," she tinkled.

"This pate," he confided, reaching for another canape, "reminds me of Africa. They make a pate of grasshoppers there—mash 'em up, you know. Not bad at all."

"When were you in Africa?" asked Lacey from a chair ten feet away.

"What part?" asked someone else.

He answered them both, and launched a detailed account of everyday life in Nyasaaland. He exhausted the subject, of his knowledge of it, and then began methodically to eat every canape upon the plate. "I forgot to eat lunch," he told his hostess.

She picked up her glass, held it to his lips, with a smile dancing in his eyes and creasing his cheeks.

"What's so funny?" Mrs. Milburn asked him.

"Chad waved his hand and the glass in a wide, inclusive arc. "They all believed me," he chuckled. "It wasn't any of it true. I've never been near Africa—but you all believed me."

He drained his glass, leaned back in his chair, and looked pleased with himself, as if he didn't care what the others might say, or think.

He sat on and on, watching Lacey from behind his lowered eyelids, noting her ease, her apparent liking for people, the warmth of her voice and smile—was it real? Genuine? Honest? Maybe it was all honest, years ago, fourteen-year-old Chad was probably been jealous of his mother's liking for people, just as now a supposedly adult Chad resented the fact that he must share Lacey's attention with a dozen strangers.

Well, he did resent it. He'd come out here to talk to Lacey, to question her, and persuade her—

Some guests departed, others arrived. Among the newcomers was a woman in flowered crepe who greeted Alice Milburn as only a sworn enemy can courteously salute a foe in glasses.

Chad selected a light from a plate of oeuvres, leaned back and surveyed his hostess. "Lillian Gish," he said, and popped the canape into his mouth.

The silver curls danced in an excess of merriment. "I'm afraid you're incorrigible," she tinkled.

"This pate," he confided, reaching for another canape, "reminds me of Africa. They make a pate of grasshoppers there—mash 'em up, you know. Not bad at all."

"Chad waved his hand and the glass in a wide, inclusive arc. "They all believed me," he chuckled. "It wasn't any of it true. I've never been near Africa—but you all believed me."

He drained his glass, leaned back in his chair, and looked pleased with himself, as if he didn't care what the others might say, or think.

light and cold had rotted her. "Of course it's rot," Chad repeated. "Look! I'll show you. Now, if . . ."

His opinion having been adequately expressed, Chad dropped abruptly into a long chair beside Mrs. Castleberry. He smiled ingenuously into that lady's coldly indignant face. "I shouldn't do things like that," he admitted. "I have no wish to embarrass Mrs. Milburn. Her guests have every right to their mistaken opinions. Now! What are you interested in?"

Mrs. Castleberry gasped. "You don't much look like a doctor," she said in a clear voice.

Chad, his relaxed figure stretched upon the pale-blue cushions of the chaise, opened one eye. "In my time I have been in a hospital half a dozen times, and I'm a doctor," he said coolly, "because of my informal attire."

For the next fifteen minutes, Mrs. Castleberry plied him with questions. Chad watched her, his eyes half shut and aware, from time to time, of the glances of the other guests. He had been trained in medicine.

In the East, said Chad, he had not got into his present line of work?

Had he ever practiced?

Not really.

In an office? Was he a surgeon? Or just a physician?

He hadn't specialized.

Didn't he think all young men should serve an active apprenticeship to older doctors, to learn about their relations to patients? This, she admitted was not her own idea.

"Dear Claude believes in that," Dr. Wilkins-Smith, you know?" she threw a somewhat wide-eyed glance around the group upon the terrace. And went on for another five minutes to defend and praise "dear Claude," ending with the assumption that Dr. Mays did not know him, and shouldn't Alice, really, give the boy the opportunity?

Alice Milburn was amused. Her buttons twinkled with mirth, her lace quivered as every silver curl was a tremble.

As if he had expected and waited upon precisely that, Chad got up from the chaise, began to pace the terrace, to pull at the lobe of his ear, and to talk.

Woman Given New Knee Joint

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Service Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Pioneering in the human skeleton, a surgeon has given a woman patient an entirely new knee joint—two metal rods, hinged together.

It replaced the natural bony joint of her skeleton which had been immovably fused by the ravages of arthritis and was utterly useless. She has had the new joint for over a year. So far it works fine.

This business of replacing joints is a scientific wilderness, Dr. W. Russell MacAusland, of Boston, called it "pioneering." If the pioneers break through, many new helpers and hopeless invalids will cease being so.

Arthritis can fuse the bones of joints. When that happens, joints are immovable. There are operations with which knee joints and hip joints can be unfused and made movable again, to a degree.

Four Joints Affected

But these operations don't work so well for the knee joint. For that reason MacAusland's "pioneering" merited a full technical report in the Journal of the American College of Surgeons.

His 45-year-old patient had four immovable joints, both elbows and both knees. Because of the former she couldn't lift her hands to her face; because of the latter her legs were frozen and she was totally helpless.

MacAusland restored movement to the elbow joints by the standard operation which permitted her to feed herself. Then he took up the problem of the right knee.

He had the hinged rod made of an alloy of chromium and cobalt. This alloy is called "vitallium" and its use in unaccountable dental plates has proven that it is inert when in contact with human tissues.

The fused parts of the natural joint were sawed away. The rods were inserted into the upper and lower leg bones and made fast by flanges. By this means, the existing structure of ligaments and muscles was preserved.

her right leg straight or bend it at the right angle. MacAusland reported that she believes she would "be able to walk again," if the left knee is made movable. Whether he will repeat on her left knee, he did not say. Presumably the decision depends on the ultimate outcome of the pioneering surgery.

MacAusland is not the only such pioneer. Dr. L. G. F. Shiers has replaced four knee joints with stainless steel hinges. He has reported the results of the second one was a failure. Dr. B. Wallis replaced the joint with hinges made of acrylic plastic. But in none of these efforts has enough time passed for the results to be truly known.

Hospital To Hold Open House May 13, 15, 17

Open House at Seminole Memorial Hospital will be observed Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of next week, Harry Weir, Administrator has announced.

The opportunity to visit the Seminole Memorial Hospital is to point up the theme of National Hospital Week, May 12-18, "Careers That Count."

Hours of the open house will be from 8 to 5 p. m. It was announced, and will be in charge of Mrs. L. A. Anderson, chairman and Mrs. W. V. Bitting, co-chairman of the Program and Projects Committee of the Women's Auxiliary. Auxiliary members will assist with tours of the hospital.

National Hospital Week provides the citizens of Sanford and Seminole County with an opportunity to assess the importance of hospitals to the community.

As cities and communities grow, hospitals must meet the increasing demands for their vital services.

Harry Weir, the local hospital administrator said "The theme of National Hospital Week emphasizes the career opportunities for young people in our hospitals and points out the shortage of hospital personnel, a shortage that will continue to increase as our population expands, unless we of this community can find some way to close the gap."

Weir said that in large hospitals "There may be as many as 200 job classifications."

Seminole Memorial Hospital's administrator yesterday released some of the facts about the local hospital. He said that during 1956 there were 2101 admissions, there are 75 beds, a personnel staff of 95, an average daily census (infant and adult) of 38, there were 402 births, 900 emergencies. In addition, Weir said, Seminole Memorial Hospital served 85,728 meals, there were 12,544 days of care, and an average stay per patient of 6 days.

It is expected that hundreds of Sanford and Seminole County citizens will file through the corridors of Seminole Memorial Hospital during "Open House" Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week during National Hospital Week to get a close look at the facilities available here.

GA Focus Week To Start Sunday

Sunday, May 12, marks the beginning of GA Focus Week for the churches all over our Southern Baptist convention territory. Girls' Auxiliary is an organization for girls between the ages of nine through 18 to participate in the study of missions—learning to better strengthen their own lives for Christ by studying and supporting our missionaries who give their all for Him that his love may be known to others.

The GA's of the First Baptist Church will begin their Focus Week activities by attending the 8:45 morning worship service with their mothers or families. Because it is Mother's Day, the girls and their mothers will be specially recognized.

Then at the Training Union hour, 6:45 p. m., the GA's of the Junior I and II departments and those of the Intermediate I department will lead in their departmental opening. Following Training Union in the evening service, the GA girls will participate in welcoming the worshipers and in the receiving of the titles and offerings.

On Tuesday evening, the Intermediate GA's and their mothers will be honored at their Mother and Daughter Banquet.

Highlighting and concluding the week's activities will be the presentation of a play entitled, "The Remedy", during the regular prayer service, Wednesday night at 7:30. This play, put on by the GA leaders and girls, shows the purpose of and the benefits gained in Girls' Auxiliary.

"So we invite everyone to join with us in these services as we focus the spotlight on the Girls' Auxiliary," a spokesman for the organization said today.

Planning Group OK's New Access Highway Route Through County

Local Jaycees

Make Outstanding Short Agenda To Be Showing At Confab Before Commission

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Long Range Highway Planning Committee, meeting with Road Board member William A. Tol of Orlando, District Engineer Richie Green, Asst. District Engineer Hugh Hannah, and In-state Highway Engineer H. E. Lewis approved a new route through Seminole County for the Limited Access Highway.

There are only two points that have been definitely established. Tol told the committee members Friday night at a meeting held at Jim Spencer's Restaurant. These points are north of SR 41 just off the Lake McIntosh Bridge and the one at Lee Road in Orange County, he said.

"Right now we can't go any further until a route is tentatively approved by this group," he said.

Aerial maps showing the proposed route through Seminole County were shown to members of the committee and later at a public meeting held in the Seminole County Court House. Test proposed routes were shown.

The local Jaycees delegation returned to Sanford today with "good news" for the organization upon the outstanding showing the Sanford club made at the State Conventions in Ft. Lauderdale through Saturday at Ft. Lauderdale.

Honors were brought home with the club winning three first place and one second place awards.

There are 100 Jaycee clubs in the state and each club enters awards entries into state competition with other groups for special awards for the outstanding single projects in the state.

The Sanford Jaycees entered an awards entry on Navy Appreciation Day in the division known as public affairs and won first place. The same entry was then judged in the project of year group. Again this entry took first place.

The group also received first place honors in Christmas activities. This project winning for the fine interest shown in spreading Christmas spirit of "good will towards men."

The Youth Welfare Activities division was for counseling, recreation and morale building and in this group the Sanford Jaycees placed second.

G. Andrew Soper, president of the local Jaycees, said today that the awards entries would be judged in national competition in Milwaukee in June.

The local delegates and their wives attending the confab were M. L. "Sonny" Raborn Jr., Tom McDonald, Bob Brazzell, Mason Wharton and G. Andrew Soper.

Dr. Libby Tells Confab

UPTON, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Willard F. Libby of the Atomic Energy Commission said today that nuclear energy, if handled wisely, can give the world "material benefits almost without end."

He told the first inter-American symposium on peaceful uses of the atom that power and isotopes for medicine, agriculture and industry are the first, but not necessarily all, of the atom's non-warlike benefits.

A new scientific discovery, like the discovery of a new continent, he said, "opens new and unknown horizons which take time for explorations."

"It is likely that unborn uses of the atom may also eventually prove to be as important as those we are now developing," he said.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President, extended to the delegates the chief executive's "cordial greetings and sincere wishes for a rewarding experience."

Milton Eisenhower said in opening the conference that its primary aim is "cooperation—cooperation by all in a steadfast resolve to use the atom for the benefit of ourselves and for all mankind."

"We are here," he said, "on the verge of what can be the most amazing and rewarding period in history."

W. R. 'Pop' Smith Dies In Orlando

William R. "Pop" Smith, 83, passed away in Orlando at his residence, 1829 E. Concord Ave. Saturday night, May 11, at 11 p. m.

He had been a resident of Orlando since 1929 coming there from Dublin, Ga.

Mr. Smith was a barber for 52 years and has been in retirement for 10 years. He was a member of the Broadway Methodist Church of Orlando and a member of the Methodist Men's Club.

He is survived by three sons, Harvey P. Smith, Orlando; William R. Smith Jr., Daytona Beach; and David H. Smith of Sanford; two daughters, Mrs. Gailie Hackney, Ft. Pierce and Mrs. Raymond Cowherd, Orlando; two brothers, Charles M. Smith and Horace A. Smith of Atlanta, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. Ben F. Stewart and Miss Lillian Smith of Calhoun, Ga.; four grandsons; three granddaughters; and one great granddaughter.

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the W. Gay Clark Home for Funerals in Orlando with Rev. McCoy Gibbs officiating.

Interment will be in the Greenwood Cemetery.

Local Officers To Attend 10-Day Police School

Law enforcement officers from Sanford will attend the Deland Police School which they will be permitted to commence with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The school will last tonight at 6 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium.

Officers from 12 different Central Florida areas are expected to take part in the 10-day school which continues through the night of May 24.

Deland Police Chief Clyde W. Heath pointed out that only full-time law enforcement officers are eligible to attend the school. Special FBI instructions are slated to teach the three-hour courses each night that the school is in session.

Areas represented other than Sanford and Deland will be: Orlando, Tavares, Mt. Dora, Eustis, Crescent City, Palatka, Daytona Beach, Port Orange, Holly Hill, Ormond Beach and New Smyrna.

The schedule to be followed is: May 13, 6:30 p. m. opening remarks, functions of the state attorney's office and techniques and machines of arrest.

May 14—6:30 p. m. Burglary in.

City's Policy On Use Of Public Areas Told

"The past week has been considered a discussion over the use of various city park facilities," said City Manager W. E. Knowles today. "Most of this discussion has been caused by misunderstandings and failure to know the City policy on the use of the public property."

He said it is public property, reservations for the use of any of the facilities must be scheduled in a "first come—first serve" basis. "No special privileges will be granted to any group or individual."

Since these fields and play areas require the scheduling of several city departments for work to be maintained, repaired, and cleaned, it is necessary to have a central co-ordinating point.

Over 100 Present As Elks Observe Mothers' Day

Over 100 members, wives and friends of Sanford Lodge No. 1241, B. P. O. E., witnessed a short but most interesting ceremony yesterday afternoon at the Elks' Lodge Rooms on the occasion of the annual Mothers' Day program.

After the welcome and explanatory remarks by Exalted Ruler Guy Allen, the principal tribute to Mothers was delivered by Past Exalted Ruler Roy Green. Dick Holteclaw, popular bass baritone of the N.
