Seminole Hit 8 To Red Hat's Sunday

Holding Bats Single, Double And Homer In Saturday's Game

The Seminoles proved their season record this weekend by dropping two games to Deland earlier in the week. Saturday's results were a 10-0 victory for the Red Hat's over the Seminoles. Outstanding in the game was a clean hit by Deland's pitcher, who pitched a clean game for Deland Saturday night, allowing only one run and one hit in six innings. BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD NEVER DESERTS US: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.—St. Matthew 28:20.

TAKE AWAY THE DARKNESS

Against the sun there sets a moon. Against the moon a sun. Is it the west begun too soon. Or the east too late begun?

All that I know or ever knew is that I began in space. And for a while I came and no With light upon my face.

And darkness is as good as light. While both shall be again— Except the darkening of sight. Made by a while of BYNNER.

Looks like this country is going to need a defense program against defense taxes.

Pictures from the German blitzkrieg in North Africa look strangely like Florida scenes.

Nazi Banner Planted Atop Olympus—headline and world held Zeus turned over in his grasp.

Most Americans seem to agree that too much power is a bad thing either for government, for capital, or for labor.

It just had to be German measles which kept President Roosevelt from going to Warm Springs last weekend.

The Citrus Commission is planning to give the Valencia growers a $50,000 "shot in the arm" by a special advertising program.

The Cocoa Tribune wisely points out that while the United States may have more crime than certain other nations, Uncle Sam didn't raise all the criminals that are in this nation.

Speaking in Fort Myers the other day, Mrs. W. L. Lawton, president of the National Roadside Council said, "Florida is neglecting her best chance for favorable publicity when she fails to provide attractive highways. Highway billboards should be strictly regulated." Florida lags years behind other progressive states in this respect.

William McChesney Martin, 55-year-old president of the New York Stock Exchange, has resigned his $10,000 a year job to enter the United States army as a buck private. Taking a cut from $4,000 a month to $21 a month for the safety and welfare of your country may set an example which will not be lost even in some CIO leaders.

President Roosevelt's popularity is soaring to new heights, according to the American Institute of Public Opinion poll. This shows that at the present time, very evidently because of his "appeasement" policy in dealing with the dictators, 73 percent of the people would give him a vote of confidence if he were to resign his office.

Reports from Belgrade reveal that Miss Ruth Mitchell has joined a Yugoslav band pledged to fight to the death against the Nazis. Miss Mitchell is a sister of the late Col. "Billy" Mitchell, an American Army man who died in the war.

The committee has now been organized to work for the recovery of the United States from the grip of the Axis.

Life Insurance

Pointing out that the American people are becoming more appreciative every day of the value of life insurance, B. C. Forbes reveals in the current issue of Forbes Magazine that there are over 65,000,000 policyholders in the United States with aggregate insurance of $117,500,000,000, a new high.

"Over the years, thanks to the conscientious, persistent head-work and leg-work of many thousands of agents," writes Mr. Forbes, "our 800 life insurance companies have accumulated assets of more than $30,000,000,000. The largest percentage has been directly invested in American employment-giving enterprises, in city and farm mortgages and in Government bonds. Thus: $8,772,000,000 in American industries, railroads, utilities; $7,224,000,000 in mortgages and real estate; $5,585,000,000 in U. S. Government bonds; $1,768,000,000 in State, county and municipal bonds; $2,767,000,000 in personal loans to policyholders; $1,214,000,000 in miscellaneous assets; and $910,000,000 in cash."

Continuing Mr. Forbes points out: Life insurance is the poor man's friend. It is, especially, the friend of widows and orphans. It succors millions of families in their hour of direst need.

It is our greatest aid in keeping bereaved families together, in preventing members from being scattered. It has done and is doing infinitely more than any other agency to encourage thrift.

Increasingly it is making it possible for men and women in modest circumstances to build up financial protection in old age.

More parents are utilizing insurance to lay up funds for the education of their children. Annuities provide financial security in later years, starting at any desired age.

Group insurance, totaling $16,000,000,000, now blesses over 10,000,000 men and women workers, many of whom could not pass physical tests. Not only is the cost to the employees very low, but in many instances employers pay all or part of the premiums.

The vast sums distributed by insurance companies—last year $2,700,000,000 was paid or credited to policyholders and beneficiaries—have done much to keep down the cost to taxpayers of furnishing relief. The 1940 benefit payments averaged $7,397,000 daily.

Death claims of 1,000,000 are paid daily. Life insurance is a great provider of jobs — greater than the mightiest of our industrial corporations.

Inside Pages Read

Advertisers who make continuous demands for page 2 or page 3, or even the front page of the newspaper, are wasting their breath for as Jack Bardonlar of the American Newspaper Publishers Association reveals the back page is read by as many people as the front page and the inside pages are read by 97 percent of both men and women subscribers.

The advertising expert made this statement before a meeting of Georgia advertising men at Macon, Ga. He said he based his report on a study of newspaper reading conducted by the bureau. Among other findings he reported, according to an Associated Press dispatch, were:

"Ninety-two percent of all readers always read illustrated pages. More women read advertisements than read even the picture page.

The old idea that right-hand pages are more carefully read than left-hand pages is untrue. Back section pages are about as well read as front sections.

White space doubles the value of advertising, and advertising appeal to pride of ownership is ten times as strong as price appeal.

"All this is exceedingly interesting to those who follow advertising trends, and merchants who wonder how much location has to do with advertising value and response," says the St. Augustine Record. "Newspaper editors and advertising managers have contended for a long time that every page of a newspaper which is attractively made up, with a judicious display of good reading matter and advertisements, gets concentrated attention from readers."

"It is of course always interesting to see statements of facts and figures from men who make a study of such matters, and view the matter from the standpoint of the advertiser."

THE SANFORD FORUM

Editor, The Herald, Sanford, Florida, Dear Sir:

The following quotation, taken from H. G. Wells' "Outline of History," written by a Chinese, Mo Ti, who lived in the 4th Century B. C., or twenty three hundred years ago:

"The mutual attacks of state on state; the mutual usurpations of family on family; the mutual robberies of man on man; the want of kindness on the part of the sovereign and of loyalty on the part of the minister; the want of tenderness and filial duty between father and son—these, and such as these, are things injurious to the empire. All this has arisen from want of mutual love. If but that one virtue could be made universal, the prizes loving one another would have no battles; the chiefs of families would attempt no usurpations; men would commit no robberies; rulers and ministers would be gracious and loyal; fathers and sons would be kind and filial; brothers would be harmonious and easily reconciled. Men in general loving one another, the strong would not make prey of the weak; the many would not plunder the few; the rich would not oppress the poor; the noble would be by inclination to the mean; and the deceitful would not impose on the simple."

A heathen tells us how to live; then the NAZARENE, and yet . . . . . "For the best (5) is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it; and the covering (6) narrower than that he can wrap himself in it" said the prophet Isaiah.

Press Freedom Called Bulwark Against Isms

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 22.—(P)—Freedom of the press was termed a bulwark against subversive activity yesterday by Roy A. Brown of San Rafael, Calif., president of the National Editorial Association.

"While we are waiting until we can outnumber the dictatorships of the world in the productivity of a war economy," said Brown at the opening of the association's three-day annual convention, "let us not forget that national defense in a democracy must be measured not alone in terms of tanks, battleships, planes and munitions—but it must be measured as well in terms of enlightened moral strength that springs from an understanding of and a devotion to our democratic institutions."

The beer tax to be increased from $6 to $7 a barrel; whiskeys from $8 to $4 a gallon and wines approximately 16 2/3 percent. An increase in the tax on cigarettes from $1.25 per thousand to $4 per thousand. The present manufacturers excise tax of 2.5 percent on automobiles to be doubled. The 2.5 percent tax on linen tubes to be raised. No change in the $500 personal exemption for single men and $2000 for married men. The burden of the proposed levies will be borne chiefly by those falling within a salary range of between $500 and $50,000 annually, officials said.

Lifting Of Income Tax Ban Opposed

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 22.—(Special)—Efforts to strike prohibition against the levying of a personal income tax will be opposed by the Florida State Chamber of Commerce at a public hearing in Tallahassee on Monday, Apr. 23, before the House committee on constitutional amendments. The hearing is scheduled for 3:00 o'clock. Executive Vice President Harold Cole, of the State Chamber, said today that so radical a change in the State's taxation policy "will be breaking the faith; but wealth will cease to flow to Florida from other states if this State should go into the business of imposing a tax on personal incomes, when we have advertised to the world that they would never be done in Florida."

Fire Hose Shipper Finds Firemen in England Grateful

AKRON, Ohio, Apr. 22.—(AP)—A battalion of smoke-eaters in the suburbs of London, who found most of their waking hours watching incendiary bombs, have added a full four inches to the chest expansion of an Akron rubber company employe.

Several months ago Peter Loncray was packing fire hose bound for London when he heard some one remark that the equipment was a "repeat order." The first load, he learned, was sunk when a British merchantman was torpedoed in the Atlantic by a submarine.

Moved, Loncray jotted down this note: "Hope the hose reaches you this time. Best of luck." He shoved it into the noggin and tucked his job at crating.

Not long ago came an answer from a fireman at Surrey, England, and signed by 19 fellow firefighters.

"Dear Peter," it said, "I happened to be unpacking some hose this afternoon and saw your note. And so I am writing this letter just to let you know that it has been found."

"Think all, let me thank you for your wish that we get the hose safely. I can assure you that it will be put to good use . . . This station often has to go to London and fight fires caused by German aeroplanes.

"We don't let things like that get us down."

The British fireman topped off his message with a request for a picture of Loncray.

Four New Men Are Called To Research Work

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 22.—(Special)—Florida's stockmen and farmers will soon have seven research assistants with their animal parasite problems, it was announced today by Director William Newell of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, in announcing the appointment of Dr. Leonard E. Swanson as parasitologist. Three other Experiment Station staff appointments were announced at the same time.

Dr. Swanson, expected to begin work May 1, is one of the outstanding parasitologists in the United States. His specialties include the diagnosis and treatment of parasitic diseases of domestic animals, and the control of insect pests of crops and livestock.

Colleagues are reporting considerable difficulties with parasites and are looking forward to Dr. Swanson's assistance. Dr. Swanson said.

Vernon C. Jamison has been named as entomologist at the Experiment Station in Lake Wales. He expects to continue his important citrus work previously carried by Dr. Michael J. Davis, who resigned recently. Jamison is a graduate of Cornell University, where he has worked for the entomology department and expects to receive his Ph.D. degree in June.

Dr. E. M. Anderson has been named as parasitologist at the Experiment Station in Gainesville, succeeding W. M. Elmer, who recently transferred to the Station. He will continue his work on the control of insect pests of crops and livestock.

Dr. J. H. Smith has been named as entomologist at the Experiment Station in Lake Wales, succeeding Dr. J. H. Smith, who recently transferred to the Station. He will continue his work on the control of insect pests of crops and livestock.

Here Is One Woman Who Has All The Orchids She Wants — 50,000 Plants

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

Doris Leger is one woman who has always had all the orchids she wants.

She helps raise and care for 50,000 orchid plants in the Summit, N. J., greenhouse in which she and her brother inherited a half interest from their father.

She has been fascinated by orchids since the day when, as a little girl just big enough to peer over a table top, she watched orchid seeds being sown in a glass flask. As soon as she was old enough she began to work with plants. Now, with a big water-proof apron tied over her frock, she spends hours every day among the exotic blooms.

Her favorites are the little green cypripediums (lady slippers), the purplish miltonias (daisy orchids) and the brown-tipped yellow oncidiums (butterfly orchids) — all small varieties. But she says that the majority of women—and men—prefer the big, fluffy, lavender and purple Cattleyas that spell "orchid" to most people.

Doris' chief interest right now is in a group of new breeds—two kinds of pure apricot and some pure yellow Cattleyas and some green Cattleyas with purple lips. There are not enough of these yet to place on the market, but she hopes to display some of them in the annual March New York Flower Show.

Doris (who is Mrs. Brooks Robertson in private life) has a lot of interesting things to say about the luxurious blooms with which she works. She declares that her father made orchid history.

"In 1906 he went to South America for 'plants,'" she says. "Among those he brought home from the Colombia jungle was one which failed to bloom for years. He was on the verge of throwing it away many times. Finally, in 1911, it bloomed. It was the first—and the only—all-white Cattleya Gigas that was ever found and is the parent of all the white orchids at that variety in commercial cultivation."

"People have a lot of queer ideas about orchids. They aren't parasites. The reason they grow

All the young lady knows is that the essence smells just like the carnations, only a little nicer. Back of her approving sniff lies a tale of labor, research and scientific agriculture, and an intriguing story of an obscure plant grown in the Florida Everglades that is all-important to two essential industries. The plant is lemon grass and its products are perfume oil and cattle feed. The production of both in one continuous process is the result of the inventive genius of engineers and technicians of the United States Sugar Corporation at Clewiston. The "made-over" mechanical operations of the harvesting machine that cuts the tough, odoriferous grass and the $50,000 plan where the perfume base oil is "steam cooked" out and the dehydrated pulp residue is pulverized and processed into a cattle feed is the story of lemon grass — that makes beef cattle fat and young ladies more alluringly charming.

Is this the great gasoline discovery of our time?

FROM TEXAS CITY COMES NEWS THAT MAY REVOLUTIONIZE PRESENT THEORIES OF GASOLINE CHEMISTRY

American Oil Company pioneers entirely new way of making gasoline! World's first commercial Hydro-forming unit now in production! Flame Control tested with remarkable results.

The people of Texas City, Texas, are proud of the American Oil Company's great refinery there. It includes the two biggest refining units in the world. Seven hundred and forty acres of Wonderland! They point to it as one of the show places of the state.

But one day a new structure began to take shape. People wondered . . . what was this feverish activity . . . why these swarms of hulking trucks . . . why these hundreds of men working?

Here were these great modern refining units—yet they were adding more equipment! What was going on? Then the news came out . . . it was the revolutionary new Hydro-forming unit!

For months the petroleum industry buzzed with the news of the discovery of this entirely new way of making gasoline . . . a process that may revolutionize all previous theories of gasoline chemistry. Chemical engineers call it Hydro-forming . . . a method of building new and important qualities into gasoline . . . a way that was impossible before the American Oil Company pioneered this wonderful process.

What Does This Great Discovery Mean?

Burning gasoline is a source of engine power. Uncontrolled combustion is violent, with a detonating, explosive shock that wastes energy. There was one best way to get the most out of it—by controlling the flame—and this has been the goal of chemists for decades!

New—Flame Control—Combustion Control!

Now in the revolutionary new Hydro-forming American Gas, FLAME CONTROL has been accomplished! From the moment the engine starts a new, more powerful, more efficient combustion flame is formed. The flame is controlled, the engine is more efficient, the car is more powerful.

Stewart Says—
Priorities Offer
Tough Problem
In War Relief

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WILLIE warmly commended our study to victims of overseas war conditions, State Secretary Cordell Hull wants it so systematized as to make it 100 per cent effective. Besides the Red Cross, it seems that the number of private relief agencies runs into the hundreds. Acting each on its own, Secretary Hull's idea is that they tend to fall over one another, cluttering up the job at which they all mean so well.

Joseph E. Davies, mean so well. Upon Cordell's recommendation, President Roosevelt recently named his three-man national committee to give collective direction to the miscellaneous organizations.

The chairman is Joseph E. Davies, American ambassador to Belgium until the Germans overran the country. Associated with him are Charles F. Tamm of Cincinnati and President Frederick P. Keppel of the Carnegie corporation. Besides funneling foreign relief into the right channels, the committee will have charge of the task of shaping the direction of contributions for the benefit of our selected training centers here at home. This latter may not be familiar in its strict sense, but F. D. R. and Secretary Hull think it needs attending to, to make the gifts count up to a maximum.

Who Comes First?
If supply sources or transportation facilities are skimpy?
It's quite a problem in connection with shipments abroad. Emergency-stricken peoples across the ocean battle for many sorts of stuff faster than we can produce it, and if we can produce it sufficiently, there's the everlasting difficulty of securing up enough boats to deliver it.

not be much of a puzzle relative to deliveries of presents to our domestic selector's committee. Yet it may be, too, even so to them.

We've got at least one domestic priority already. Aluminum's priority goes to military aviation's favor. Our flyers get the best cockpit at it, and pots-and-pans manufacturers can have only what little of it's left over, if any, to supply our housewives with aluminum.

Of course, I don't think that priority will be so interpreted as to deny cooking utensils to our absentee's camps, but it may be interpreted in a fashion to limit, in various other things that relief agencies would like to send to them.

Now, this is an extreme and impossible illustration. But suppose that the priority given to aluminum, in its entirety, is used to give quantities of cigars to our soldiers. Well, cigar-making absorbs part of our production capacity, all of which we need for defense purposes. Therefore, we deny priority to would-be relief contributors' cigar offerings to our selected concentration camps.

Advisory Only
Of course, the new Davies-Keppel committee isn't a distributive setup as the countries' Billman Office of Production Management's priorities division. An OPM division's decision is a mandatory one, the Davies-Keppel committee is only advisory.

I honestly can't imagine an OPM mandate barring cigar shipments abroad, on the ground that cigars aren't a military necessity for the concentration camps. I can't imagine the Axis powers, and that every square inch inside such boats as are available ought to be packed with shooting-iron, explosives, and casters. I certainly can't imagine the Davies-Keppel committee as advising charity contributors not to send gifts to our soldiers. But I can't imagine an advising committee giving anything but absolute necessities to Britain, Greece and China. Their mission also is to cope out schemes of getting help into the Axis-conquered areas without indirectly aiding the Axis aggregation.

It would be a fine note if we sent cigars into occupied France, and Germany smoked 'em.

Several guests lost all of their possessions. Firemen carried Parker to safety from the third floor. He was released from a hospital after first aid treatment. Frank Johnson, owner, said the hotel and furnishings were worth about $10,000.
