Paved Streets? Lake Mary Moves Ahead With Research On Drainage Data

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Preliminary research may soon be under way to gain the necessary drainage information needed to pave city streets in Lake Mary.

Paul Porter, the city's engineering consultant, suggested that the City Council set time aside each week in the future to work on city drainage problems. The council did not act on the suggestion, but agreed to consider it.

"We should go at it with a problem-solving attitude," Porter said. "We should decide, where are the biggest problems and how do you solve them?"

Out of 58 miles of city and county roads within the boundaries of Lake Mary, 43 miles are currently unpaved, said Mayor Walter Sorenson.

No money was included in this year's city budget for road paving and improvements. Part of Porter's future work with the city will be devoted to devising an overall road-improvement program.

"It may not involve paving all those streets," Sorenson said. "Some of them may just be upgraded, depending on the levels of traffic on them."

Porter estimates the planning process for road and drainage improvements should continue over an 18-to-24-month period. The cost for his services would range between $1,000 and $1,200 per month, he said.

Part of this evaluation process would require traffic evaluations throughout the city, said City Manager Phil Kulbes.

Tipton & Associates, a traffic-evaluation firm, will install 10 traffic counters throughout the city for a 24-hour period. The cost for the count will be about $500, Kulbes said.

One hitch in the program involves ensuring an accurate count on dirt roads. If the surface is too soft, Kulbes said, not all cars driving over the counter may be recorded.

Wooden platforms for the counters could be constructed, but the cost is seen as almost prohibitive. Simply putting the counter on top of an 8-by-10-inch plank may not ensure an accurate count either, Kulbes said.

The best time to do a traffic count is Friday, Kulbes said. Maximum traffic flow usually occurs that day, with many housewives making extra trips to the store and elsewhere, he said.

The council also listened to Kulbes' explanation of a preliminary request by a property owner currently located in the unincorporated portion of the county who wants to have his land annexed by the city.

About eight to nine acres near Main Road and bordering on U.S. Highway 17-92 is currently owned by Weyerhaeuser Inc., a lumber manufacturing firm.

Weyerhaeuser's representative, Boyd Arp, is vice president of the Babcock Construction Co. The property is currently platted into 133 parcels, each approximately 80 by 125 feet.

Arp told Kulbes he would like the city to annex the property and accept a replatted version of the property with minimum 13,500-square-foot lots. Kulbes told Arp the city would have to annex the property first and then consider allowing it to be replatted.

Sorenson said it might be better if Arp applied to the county for replating the property. Lake Mary might then consider annexing the property after it was replatted.

The property is not currently served by city water facilities, Kulbes said. The cost for a water line extension probably would be more than $30,000, he said.

SHA Narrows Candidate List

And Then There Were 6

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) Board of Commissioners narrowed the list of 20 candidates for the post of executive director down to six Thursday night.

The finalists for the $22,000-$26,000 annually salaried position are Thomas Wilson III, executive director of the SHA for eight years prior to his firing by a former board in November 1980; Linda Williams, employed by the SHA for eight years and currently acting executive director; Samuel Wright Jr., an administrator with the Seminole Employment Economic Development Corp. (SEEDCO); Edward J. Sullivan, executive director of the Florida United Methodist Children's Home; Willie King Sr., of Sanford; and James Owen Slate, former Orlando police officer.

"They are all local people," said SHA Chairman Joseph Caldwell. He said the commission will be interviewing the six candidates Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at a special meeting.

Prior to the Thursday night meeting at the Redding Gardens meeting room, each of the five commissioners had submitted a list of five choices for the position from more than 130 applicants from around the nation.

Jan. 7 has been set as the date for naming the new director.

U.S. Urging Americans: Leave Poland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is urging some Americans to leave Poland, considering cutting off economic aid to that nation and blaming the Soviet Union — in part — for the imposition of martial law in the embattled land.

The State Department said Thursday the U.S. Embassy can no longer extend normal protection to U.S. citizens in Poland and advised those with "no compelling reasons" to be there to leave. Others were told to limit travel.

Earlier in the day, President Reagan — who Monday suspended U.S. food shipments to Poland — told a nationally televised news conference:

"We have always been ready to do our share to assist Poland in overcoming its economic difficulties but only if the Polish people are permitted to resolve their own problems free of internal coercion and outside intervention."

Reagan declined to discuss what other "initiatives and options" the United States may be considering to assist the Poles.

"It would be naive to think this would happen without the full knowledge and the support of the Soviet Union," Reagan said. "We are not naive."

BELL RINGERS

The Salvation Army Advisory Board took to the streets Thursday to raise money for the organization's annual Christmas drive. Among board members ringing bells in front of the Sanford post office were Clyde Long (left), loan officer for Southeast Bank, and the Rev. Leo King, minister of the First United Methodist Church of Sanford. As of Thursday the kettle drive had brought in a total of $11,001, which is $901 less than last year at this time. Applications have been made by 500 needy families for food and toys for 1,700 children.

Wastewater Authority Moves Ahead On Bond Sales

A current drought of readily available sources for sewage treatment in Seminole County should be relieved in about 15 months.

Steps to achieve that goal were taken yesterday afternoon by municipal customers of the South Seminole and North Orange County Wastewater Transmission Authority. Participants in the project agreed to assume responsibility for $7 million in short-term bond anticipation notes.

Money from sale of the notes will fund approximately 24 miles of transmission line destined for connection to the new Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant.

Representatives from four cities and Seminole County, the primary members of the transmission authority, met at the Maitland City Hall Thursday to settle some final details on the venture. The four cities participating are Maitland, Winter Springs, Winter Park and Casselberry.

Customers of the authority decided to pursue short-term funding through the bond anticipation notes because of current high interest rates on long-term bonds. Ernest "Pat" West, executive director of the transmission authority, said short-term bond anticipation notes could be secured with a 9 1/2 percent interest rate.

Purchasing long-term revenue bonds is inevitable, however, West said. Current interest rates of between 12 and 14 percent make entry into the long term bond market less appealing at this time, he said.

All transmission authority customers and their financial agent for the venture, William R. Hough & Co., of St. Petersburg, are hoping for the highest possible rating on the notes. If Moody's Investors service gives the notes a "1" rating, they should be highly marketable, said Robert S. Middlemas, vice president at Hough & Co.

One significant incentive factor for a good rating from Moody's lies in the authority's finance arrangements. Two banks, Marine Midland, of New York, and Southeast Bank, of Miami, have agreed to purchase the notes if they do not sell within the maximum five-year payback period, Middlemas said.

The authority would prefer to enter into a long-term, 30-year bond sales project as soon as possible, however. If bond interest rates drop to an acceptable level before the five-year term on the short-term notes expires, the authority should "go to market" (arrange to finance) long-term bonds, Middlemas said.

Current bond interest rates are about 14 percent. The authority could assume long-term bond sales if interest rates dropped to 11 or 12 percent before the notes come due and save a significant amount of interest costs, West said.

As the market stand currently, the authority can save some $1 million in interest costs by selling short-term bond anticipation notes rather than long-term bonds, West said.

If the notes come due in five years and are not all sold, each authority customer also wants the opportunity to seek its own methods of paying them off. Both stipulations will be added to the contract before closing on Dec. 30.

Casselberry will be the primary benefactor in Seminole County from the new sewage treatment plant once it is in operation.

West said Casselberry will receive some three million gallons of capacity per day, while Seminole County is in for about 500,000 gallons. Winter Springs does not have a designated capacity level yet, but is currently negotiating for a percentage of the total 24-million-gallon initial capacity for the plant. — LEE DANCY

Raines Is Leaving Sanford

Tribute To Be Farewell

By BARRY DILLON
Herald Staff Writer

What was intended to be a homecoming appreciation day for Sanford's baseball star Tim Raines is turning out to be a farewell tribute.

Dr. Calvin Collins of Sanford persuaded a group of Seminole County residents to hold a production similar to the TV show "This Is Your Life" for Raines earlier this month. When Rebecca Sweet began rounding up potential participants for the event, she discovered athlete Raines will soon be leaving his native Sanford to relocate in Fort Lauderdale.

"We've lost him, and this will be our last chance to show him how much we appreciate what he's done," said Mrs. Sweet, a neighbor of Raines in earlier years.

"He will be a big loss to the city. I hate to see him go," said Wes Rinker, a former friend and coach of the Sanford star.

And that sets the tone for Sunday's tribute, scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center. For many friends, neighbors and fans, this will be a day for memories.

There is no admission charge for the program, which has speeches slated for former coaches, friends, teammates and neighbors of Raines.

Raines, who was named Sporting News' "Rookie of the Year" for his outstanding performance with the Montreal Expos, has been on the cover of two major sports magazines and earned an eight-page tribute in Life magazine for his rookie record of stolen bases in the National League.

"He is a very humble person," said Rinker. "Sometimes it might not seem that he appreciates what people do for him because of it, but he does. A lot of kids in his situation could say, 'Forget them', but not Tim."

"It's a real loss to the city because of what's going to happen in the future. He'll break all the records in his category," said Rinker, owner of the Florida Baseball School in Sanford and former major leaguer.

"This day will be special for Tim," explained his mother, Florence. "He's been playing around here since he was 7 or 8. People here have been really good to him, and he's learned a lot from them."

One Robber Successful, Another Is Frustrated

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An unknown gunman robbed a Sanford convenience store early today, but another would-be thief's efforts to rob another store Thursday night were foiled when the store clerk refused to cooperate.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said a lone gunman, wearing a blue and white ski cap, entered the Handy Way Food Store, W. Highway 44, at about 1:06 a.m. today, and told the store clerk, Lynn Hays, 43, of DeBary, to turn off the store's outside lights. Once the lights were out, he demanded Mrs. Hays put all the store money, including change, into a paper bag. The thief then forced Mrs. Hays into the store restroom, tied her hands behind her back and made her sit on the floor while he fled, deputies said.

However, a robbery attempt at the Imperial Oil Co. service station, 1208 Park Ave., at about 8:10 p.m. Thursday was foiled when store clerk Rose McCarthy, 62, of 714 Meadows St., Sanford, refused to concede to the would-be thief's demands.

Sanford police said a woman entered the service station, "nervously" told Mrs.

McCarthy to put all the store's money into a bag and told her that if she refused two men waiting outside with guns would kill her.

"I didn't see any gun or anything and I wasn't about to give her any of my money or my company's money," Mrs. McCarthy said. "She said to me, 'Lady, I know you're as scared as I am, but if I don't walk out the door with the money there are two men waiting to kill me and one is standing at the window with a gun now to kill you.'"

Mrs. McCarthy said she told the woman she didn't see any man with a gun and that "I'm not going to give you a damn thing, so get out of this store." Mrs. McCarthy then pushed the woman outside and locked the door, police said.

"Maybe if it had been a man who came in here and told me to give him the money, or even if I had seen a gun or something, I might have given the money," she said. "But I'm not giving anything to that woman."

Mrs. McCarthy said the police explained to her the seriousness of such a situation and that she could have been harmed, but that she "didn't even get nervous a little bit until I got home."

Two Of The FBI's 10 Most Wanted Fugitives Arrested

By United Press International
For the first time in its history, the FBI arrested two men on its 10 Most Wanted list in a single day — a radical terrorist suspected in a string of bank robberies and bombings and a fugitive wanted for the execution-style killings of four people.

The arrests in Colorado and California were for unrelated crimes and occurred without incident Thursday, the FBI said.

Garbagemen On The Job

NEW YORK (UPI) — Private garbagemen, back on the job after a 17-day strike, worked round-the-clock today to remove mountains of rat-infested trash from city streets in time for Christmas.

Two-thousand private sanitation workers voted overwhelmingly to ratify a new contract Thursday, ending a walkout over wages that left 100,000 tons of garbage rotting on sidewalks during the holiday shopping season.

Reagan Lights Yule Tree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The threat of the alleged Libyan hit squad altered a White House tradition — the lighting of the National Christmas tree by the president.

President Reagan, who just hours earlier told a news conference that he considers the threat "real," Thursday triggered the outdoor lighting by flipping a switch inside the White House.

Carter Flunks Reagan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Jimmy Carter, in his first public comment on the Reagan administration since leaving the White House 11 months ago, gave his Republican successor a failing grade in foreign affairs.

Carter chose the predominantly Republican and conservative Council on Foreign Relations Thursday night to give his first personal assessment of President Reagan's foreign policy record.

He sharply criticized Reagan on a wide range of foreign affairs, running from nuclear proliferation and China to human rights, and challenged Reagan to take a more aggressive position in seeking peace in the Middle East.

Nuclear Reactors Cut Back

United Press International
A drop in the use of electricity and skyrocketing construction costs have forced utilities throughout the Southeast to call off plans for new, high-priced nuclear reactors.

Work has either been canceled or postponed on 14 reactors and three others are threatened in seven southeastern states that planned in the 1960s and 1970s to build 53 nuclear units.

Utilities in Georgia, Florida and Alabama are the only states where the original plans will apparently be carried out, officials said Thursday.

Convicted Rapist Sentenced To Life

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A prison escapee from Georgia, convicted in November of raping a 19-year-old Sanford woman and threatening her at knifepoint, was sentenced to life in prison Thursday.

Wallace Gary Collier, 27, using the name Gary Winters following his escape, was convicted Nov. 3 of aggravated assault and sexual battery.

According to court reports, Collier escaped from a Georgia prison and came to Orlando to work. He was arrested Aug. 5 for allegedly threatening two women ages 18 and 19 and raping the older woman. Collier said the pair attempted to extort drugs and money from him and when he refused, they called police.

In other court action, a Sanford man is awaiting sentencing following his conviction Thursday by a six-member Circuit Court jury for two counts of battery in a stabbing which occurred at a Sanford motel lounge.

Rocky Ray Darnell, 101 Mayrose Drive, a 27-year-old ex-convict, was remanded to custody pending sentencing by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. He faces up to one year in the Seminole County jail on each charge.

Darnell, a maintenance worker for the city of Casselberry, was arrested Oct. 10 at the Cavalier Motor Inn, 3200 S. Orlando Dr., Sanford, after Tracy Good of Sanford was stabbed in the left arm with a knife.

MOTORCYCLE STOLEN

Thieves entered the backyard of an Altamonte Springs man's home between 1 p.m. Wednesday and 9 a.m. Thursday and stole his motorcycle.

Michael L. Doyle, 141 Dahlia Dr., told police someone entered his backyard and stole his 1979 Yamaha motorcycle valued at about $1,100.

TREES TAKEN

Thieves, driving a green pickup truck, stole 13 Scotch Pine trees from a civic club Christmas tree lot at about 11 a.m. Thursday.

According to Seminole County sheriff's deputies, a passerby reported she saw two men put numerous trees in the truck at the Optimist Club of South Seminole tree lot located at the intersection of State Road 438 and Fern Park Boulevard. Club members said the stolen trees are valued at about $150.

Martin Marietta Expansion Will Affect Seminole County

"A large number of our employees reside in south Seminole County, but the exact number would be hard to count. However, with the addition of about 3,000 or 4,000 employees we can only guess at the impact our addition will have on that county," a spokesman for the public relations department at Martin Marietta said today in regard to the company's planned $152 million expansion.

Tuesday, the board of directors of Martin Marietta Corp. authorized the expenditure of corporate funds to expand the firm's development and production facilities at the Orlando Aerospace operation.

The investment is part of a $401 million improvement program encompassing the entire Martin Marietta Corp. A major portion of the investment will go for the construction of a new electronic engineering, manufacturing and office complex east of Orlando, located six miles east of Semoran Boulevard and one mile south of State Road 50.

The new complex will consist of a seven-story office building and a two-story manufacturing facility. Building construction is expected to begin in the summer of 1982.

"There will be work in all areas, helping to stimulate the economy of many central Florida communities," the Martin Marietta spokesman said.

According to Robert J. Whalen, the Orlando Aerospace president, the expansion will mean jobs for "several thousand employees over the next several years."

Martin Marietta currently has 9,100 people on its payroll, including 2,500 added in 1981.

Organizational changes and plant expansion are part of a long-term master plan for Orlando "that will give us greatly improved capability to perform our major production programs and at the same time, pursue new business in our current fields and in other advanced technology," said Whalen.

Student Sues Over 'Bad' Grade

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — A communications major is suing San Jose State and her professor for $125,000 because she only got a B-plus in a communications course.

Laura Hylton, 22, said she deserved an A-minus in a course titled, "Research Methods in Communication."

The suit was filed this week against the university, communications professor Serena Wade and SJS Academic Vice President Robert W. Burns in Santa Clara County Superior Court.

Ms. Hylton charged in the suit that her grade did not reflect her true level of academic achievement.

Before going to court, Ms. Hylton took the matter to the university's Academic Fairness Committee, which raised her B-plus in the course to an A-minus.

Burns overruled the committee, however, and changed the grade back to a B-plus.

Burglars broke into an unoccupied Altamonte Springs home between Saturday and 4 p.m. Monday, and stole about $1,000 worth of appliances and fixtures.

According to police, the thieves entered the empty house, owned by James Wise, 45, of Orlando, by cutting a hole in the rear screened door and then prying the lock off the sliding glass door.

Wise said the burglars made off with a 160-foot chain link fence, a hotwater heater, a refrigerator, a range, a bathroom sink, faucet and toilet.

LETTER LARCENY

Sheriff's deputies reported a large amount of mail was found Thursday, some opened, in a wooded area near 1925 North Street, Longwood.

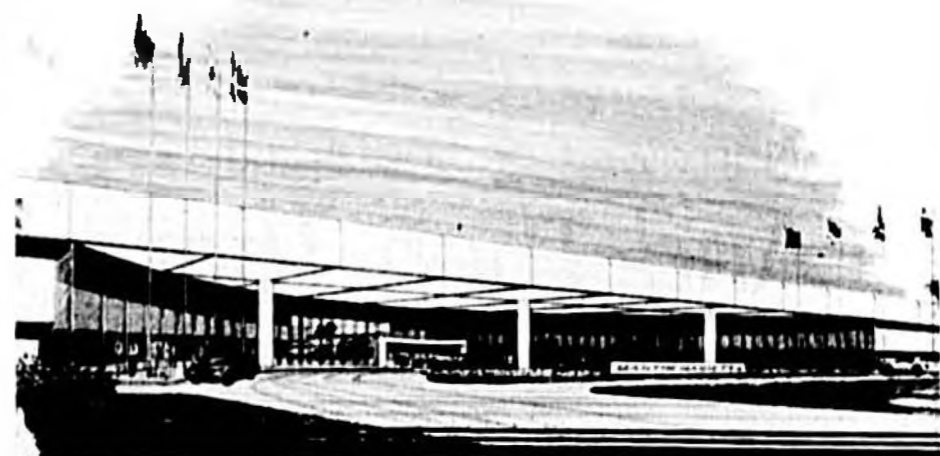

Deputies said Don Bundy, 1925 North St., found three large piles of mail across the street from his home in a stand of trees. The mail included many opened and unopened letters plus checks and advertisements, deputies said. The mail is currently being held at the sheriff's department.

VEHICLE STOLEN

A Longwood man reported someone stole his car at about 7 p.m. Thursday while it was parked for a short time at a Lake Brantley High School.

Joseph H. Sestero, 16, of 227 Slade Ct., told sheriff's deputies he and his wife thought they saw a friend drive into a school parking lot. They followed, leaving the keys in the ignition. Upon their return, Sestero said he saw someone driving his car east on Sand Lake Road.

The car, valued at about $800, also contained five $20 bills and a red jacket, deputies said.

Shevin Not Interested In Governor's Race

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Former Attorney General Bob Shevin said he is encouraged almost daily to run for governor again, but he isn't interested. The money and his life as a Miami lawyer are too good to give up right now, Shevin says. He served as attorney general for eight years, then lost to Bob Graham in the Democratic gubernatorial fight in 1978.

Insurance Scam Nets 1

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The president of All Peoples Insurance Agency, one of the busiest low-cost auto insurance firms in the state, has been charged with scheming to defraud, Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter announced.

Gunter said Arthur Gregerman, 59, was arrested at his home Thursday in Key Biscayne by investigators from Gunter's Division of Insurance Fraud.

Gregerman was accused of participating in a scheme in 1978 and 1979 to defraud his customers by adding a hidden charge to their premiums, Gunter said. The charge varied from $50 to $100 and covered membership in a motor club, he said.

Hunt Wins Libel Suit

MIAMI (UPI) — Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt has won a $650,000 libel judgment against an organization which published an article written by former CIA agent Vincent Marchetti linking Hunt to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

A federal jury of four men and two women deliberated less than two hours Thursday before finding Liberty Lobby, a Washington-based political organization, guilty of publishing an article in its weekly tabloid, The Spotlight, with reckless disregard for the truth.

Top U.S. Officer Serving With NATO Kidnapped

VERONA, Italy (UPI) — Four suspected Red Brigade guerrillas disguised as plumbers kidnapped a senior U.S. Army general from his apartment and left the Vietnam hero's wife behind bound in chains in an abduction that stunned Washington.

Brig. Gen. James Dozier, 50, was at home with his wife Judith, 47, when the guerrillas bluffed their way inside, hit him on the head with a pistol butt, stuffed him into a truck, took him to a van and sped away, a NATO spokesman said.

Dozier, the senior U.S. officer attached to the NATO headquarters in Verona, was the first American military man reported kidnapped in Italy since World War II.

Israel Braces On Golan

MAJDEL SHAMS, Golan Heights (UPI) — Israel massed new tank forces on the Golan Heights to guard against Syrian attack but the U.N. Security Council demanded that Israel revoke its annexation of the region.

The United States joined in the unanimous Council resolution that declared the legislation rushed Monday through Parliament applying Israeli law to the Golan "null and void."

Police Club Protesters

Police beat back Polish protesters with clubs and tear gas in Warsaw and Gdansk and troops opened fire on Silesian coal miners, killing seven. More than 400 people were reported injured across Poland and witnesses today described the country as an armed fortress with two giant concentration camps.

In Warsaw, police charged repeatedly into crowds of young Poles along two major thoroughfares in the capital Thursday, reports coming from Poland said. Tear gas was used to break up crowds yelling "Gestapo! Gestapo!" and chanting "Solidarity."

Marketing Large Grapefruit Crop May Be A Problem

LAKELAND (UPI) — Florida citrusmen produce 71 percent of the nation's grapefruit at $5 million boxes and industry officials predict that will go up by almost a third to 66 million boxes by the end of the decade.

The question facing the industry is can it market the larger crop. "That's a question we'll have to answer, as well as how to go about it," said Earl Wells of Florida Citrus Mutual.

The Florida Citrus Commission has initiated a new advertising concept for it, promoting frozen concentrated orange juice and grapefruit juice in the same ad message. In the past, promotions were kept separate and the joint promotion will introduce grapefruit juice to some advertising markets where it has never been before.

Citrus Commission promotions are financed by a per-box tax levied against the grower and because orange production has far outdistanced grapefruit, and with FCOJ proving to be the preferred product of the industry, grapefruit has been relegated to a back seat role in most cases.

"There are a lot of areas of the country that have never been exposed to quality grapefruit and grapefruit products," Wells said. "Grapefruit promotions have been limited to the major markets."

Wells said the two major consumer groups to which grapefruit has appealed are those on diets and the elderly.

Reagan Sees Soviet Hand In Harsh Polish Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although there is no sign Russian soldiers have joined the crackdown in Poland, President Reagan says he sees the hand of the Soviet Union in the imposition of martial law in that communist nation.

"It would be naive to think this would happen without the full knowledge and the support of the Soviet Union," Reagan told a nationally broadcast news conference Thursday. "We are not naive."

Reagan, who has already suspended food shipments to Poland, said he may withhold further aid unless there is an end to the repressive tactics that have included mass arrests and bloody clashes between Polish soldiers and workers.

The news conference, the sixth of his administration, touched on several subjects — from taxes to the Golan Heights — but Poland was the dominant issue.

After decrying "coercion and violation of human rights on a massive scale" that have occurred in Poland since the crackdown by its communist regime, the president said: "We have always been ready to do our share to assist Poland in overcoming its economic difficulties but only if the Polish people are permitted to resolve their own problems free of internal coercion and outside intervention."

When questioned by reporters, Reagan declined to discuss what other "initiatives and options" the United States may be considering to assist the Poles.

The president is already holding in abeyance roughly $100 million in agricultural credits that was about to be given to Poland for such things as poultry feed. An administration spokesman later said "a wide range" of other items, including banking help and trade status, were involved.

Reagan's statement Thursday appeared to indicate sterner steps might await the communists in Warsaw unless there is some kind of relaxation of the controls placed on the Solidarity labor union.

Repeatedly, Reagan has warned the Soviet Union not to intervene militarily in Poland.

GNP Rises, But May Fall Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today measured the economy from July through September for the last time, and found gross national product expanded by 1.4 percent — more than twice as much as previously figured.

The Commerce Department's final reading of the total value of the nation's goods and services in the third quarter, after adjustment for inflation, found a $79.2 billion increase at an annual rate. That would equate to a four-quarter total of $2,965 billion.

The GNP is usually revised twice to account for additional information. The third quarter was down 0.6 percent in the first government report, then up 0.6 percent in the first revision.

The year began with a vigorous first quarter, in which GNP grew at a surprisingly strong 8.6 percent annual rate. But GNP dropped 1.6 percent in the second quarter.

The latest report shows almost all the lost ground was recovered by the 1.4 percent third quarter increase. But what analysts have often described as an economic roller coaster is heading down during this current quarter, with administration analysts expecting a 5 to 7 percent drop. The first official measurement will be made early next year.

The reason GNP was revised upward for the third quarter — accumulating backlogs of unsold goods — is part of the reason GNP is seen to be falling sharply this quarter. As the backlogs keep growing, despite efforts to trim production and lay off workers, factories cut back even more.

The inflation index which is part of the GNP measurement showed overall prices, not just those for consumers, going up at a 9.9 percent annual rate in the third quarter, the highest of the year.

On Coping With Khadafy

The melodramatic confrontation between the United States and Libya is still building. And who can say to what showdown?

Unfolding developments recently carry a nightmarish unreality despite media repetition and public understanding of the problem. There is no parallel in American history wherein another nation has been implicated openly in a conspiracy to assassinate the President and other top U.S. leaders.

Nevertheless, the force of logic compels credulity in the evidence accumulated by U.S. intelligence that Libyan dictator Moammar Khadafy has sent at least two hit squads to murder President Reagan and his advisers in Washington. Apparently the information was gathered from a number of corroborative sources, including Libyan defectors, CIA agents, and the monitoring of Libyan radio and telephone communications by space satellites and by other sophisticated means. Suffice it to say some leading Democrats on Capitol Hill such as Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan who have been shown the evidence have, without exception, confirmed the seriousness of what they know.

Indeed, so solid is the intelligence that some of the terrorists known to be in the Libyan hit teams have been identified; their likenesses are being shown all across the country. One team, now thought to be in Mexico, is said to be headed by Ilich Sanchez, better known as "Carlos the Jackal," the notorious mastermind behind numerous air hijackings and reportedly leader of the 1972 Munich Olympics massacre of Israeli athletes.

Col. Khadafy's demand for President Reagan to show proof of U.S. allegations, which some domestic critics and foreign leaders have echoed, is completely unrealistic. As they must know, such a revelation could seriously compromise U.S. intelligence sources and even endanger lives.

In any event, the Reagan administration is wise to recognize the genuine menace from the fanaticism that motivates Col. Khadafy and his henchmen, part of which is Muslim zealotry. They have murdered Libyan dissidents and exiles throughout Europe and even in this country, and they have sought to subvert by violence more than a score of African nations. Libya is a global problem because Khadafy's Hitlerian aggressions are being lavishly fed by Soviet arms, purchased through oil riches. Khadafy's army of 35,000 equipped with 2,000 Soviet-made tanks is a force to be reckoned with in the Third World.

Protecting American leaders from fanatical assassins at all times and at all places is a frightening challenge. There are some, indeed, who doubt that a fool-proof shield can be erected. The best defense will be to convince Khadafy that the penalty for his crime will be more than he can pay.

President Reagan's call within recent days for Americans to get out of harm's way in Libya is a necessary first step for subsequent U.S. retaliation. Moreover, depriving Libya's oil operations of skillful American workers, who have been operating them, is in itself terribly inconvenient if not crippling for Khadafy. But much more must be programmed and communicated. In view of what is happening, the President should not hesitate to impose an embargo on Libyan oil. It is preposterous for Americans to continue business with a maniac who has dispatched assassination squads to this country. It is unthinkable that American dollars should continue to finance Libyan operations.

In these and more far-reaching measures, we must go it alone, because our European allies have already indicated to Secretary of State Alexander Haig at the NATO meeting in Brussels that they don't have the stomach to join us against Libya. Fortunately the United States is free and strong enough to do what has to be done. If push comes to shove and we have to teach this tin-horn bully a lesson, we suspect even those who now admonish us to cool it will secretly rejoice.

South Seminole County cities and officials are, like most people this season, caught up in many festive events taking place in their municipalities.

In fact, Wednesday night the Altamonte Springs City Commission was busy honoring the various city board members and their spouses with a special recognition get-together at City Hall. The event, sponsored and funded with budget money for the City Commission, was held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the lobby.

The entourage, including the commission, board members and various other city administrators and spouses, was served a variety of foods and holiday "spirits" catered by Gayle Brown catering service of Altamonte Springs, City Manager Jeff Etcheberger said.

"We used to have a combined employee-board gathering," he said. "This year I decided it would be nice to split the two." Altamonte Springs employees will be attending a Christmas luncheon next week, funded by the employees. The luncheon will be held at the Westmonte Recreation Center. Employees will eat "in shifts," according to City Clerk Bobbi Floyd, so as to not interrupt the flow of business at city hall.

When the City Commission and attorney sat down Tuesday night to convene the regular commission meeting, they found a "little surprise from Santa."

Mrs. Floyd purchased the miniature "surprises" including a skier for City Attorney James "Skip" Fowler; a clown for Commissioner Bob Reis; Mrs. Claus for Commissioner Cheney Colorado; a Christmas mouse for Mayor Ray Ambrose; a Santa and sleigh for Commissioner Dudley Bates; and a "pull-my-string-and-I-light-up" Santa for Commissioner Lee Constantine.

"I know I've had at least 15-20 invitations to things for Christmas," Ambrose said. "I will be attending a luncheon at the chamber of commerce honoring the Friends of the Library." The luncheon is slated for Sunday, Dec. 20.

Ambrose said he is also planning to attend the employee's luncheon.

In Casselberry, Mayor Owen Sheppard said he will be attending a Christmas luncheon at the senior center on Dec. 23.

"I've been invited to come out and have lunch with the seniors and I'm looking forward to it," he said. Approximately 110 reservations have been made for the luncheon.

"We're going to have a great time," Valerie Barner, senior center manager, said. "We've got our Christmas tree up and everything looks so festive. It's going to be a lot of fun for everyone."

Getting Tough With Grandma

One of the problems with this administration's endeavors to project a tough U.S. image to the world is that it frequently comes across appearing merely surly.

This is apparent in such major concerns as arms policy and hemisphere security and as minor as one as mail from Cuba.

The last, in case you require some background, has not been getting through. Bags of it have been piling up in Boston since the Treasury Department decided a few months back that receipt by the American addressee was in violation of U.S. law. Specifically, the Trading with the Enemies Act dating from World War I that was activated in respect to Cuba by the measures this country took in 1963 to sever economic relations in retaliation for the Cuban tilt toward communism.

The material at issue consists of ideologically oriented magazines and newspapers such as Granma, official organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba. Since there have been no direct mail connections with Cuba for two decades, American subscribers — who number only a few thousand and are primarily scholars, academic institutions and politically oriented periodicals — have been receiving the publications via Canada.

No longer, unless they make special arrangements. The bags of Cuban mail are still being forwarded from Montreal to Boston, but that's where the couriers are stayed from the completion of their rounds in this particular case.

The Treasury, charged with enforcing the trading act, has impounded them. If subscribers wish delivery resumed, they must apply for a special import license from the Treasury's Foreign Assets Control section.

A growing storage problem at Boston's post is not the least of the consequences of the interdiction. There is also a suit brought by a group of subscribers and concerned civil liberties organizations charging the government with a First Amendment violation.

As the plaintiffs see it, the issue is one of politics, not economics. The amount of money involved is infinitesimal. What is being blocked is not the exchange of goods but the transmission of information. It is no coincidence that for the first time in almost 20 years the regulations have been invoked for this purpose.

As the Treasury explains it, the act's application was triggered by word from Boston of a significant increase in Cuban publications arriving from Canada. This brought the situation "forcibly" to its attention and necessitated a response. Subscribers can respond in term by acquiring the special license, which is granted upon application.

That begs the constitutional question, the other side believes. Americans should not have to be licensed to receive reading material. Further, it is noted that initially the Treasury responded to objections sympathetically, indicating its concern for the First Amendment implications. Of late, it has been less forthcoming, allowing only that it is studying the situation and raising suspicions that conciliatory action has been vetoed by other quarters.

Namely, the State Department, which Treasury denies.

VISTA To Close When Needed Most

WASHINGTON — The White House budget brigade is secretly planning the demise of VISTA — the domestic version of the Peace Corps — at a time when its services are needed more than ever.

The deepening recession is exactly the kind of situation the VISTA program was designed to alleviate; it provides volunteers at subsistence wages to community groups that offer various kinds of help to the needy.

With the massive cutbacks in other federal social service programs, VISTA's modest government funding — $34 million a year — would seem to be a bargain for the taxpayers and a shot in the arm for the private agencies President Reagan wants to take over more of the social work.

But the administration is determined to sink VISTA with a sneak attack. The tactic is to deny certain non-profit groups an opportunity to reapply for VISTA volunteers once their current contracts expire.

This would naturally cut down on the number of volunteers in VISTA and thus reduce the agency's funding needs. It would also, of course, cripple the affected non-profit organizations by cutting off their government-subsidized workers.

For this reason, the community groups targeted for the cutoff have been carefully selected by Tom Pauken, director of VISTA's parent agency, ACTION. Pauken was a Reagan campaign worker, with a background in military intelligence.

Pauken used his training in covert operations when he prepared the "hit list" of 39 non-profit groups that would be denied VISTA volunteers. Then he secretly passed out the list at a secret meeting last June of four ultraconservative groups known as the Kingston Coalition (named for the Washington hotel conference room where it holds its meetings).

The four groups are: the American Legislative Exchange Council, the Washington Legal Foundation, the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress and the Conservative Caucus.

The 15 persons who attended the June meeting were sworn to secrecy, particularly about Pauken's presence. "We were told not to tell what went on to anyone in the media," a source told my reporter Corky Johnson.

The source quoted Pauken as saying the 39 groups on his hit list were "pro-leftist," and explaining that "many VISTA volunteers work with pro-leftist groups that need to be eliminated."

The targeted organizations are community action programs that teach political self-help techniques to the poor, establish legal aid foundations and promote low-cost housing. Oddly, several of the organizations on the hit list no longer use VISTA volunteers.

VISTA sources say President Reagan wants to replace the agency's militant programs with less politically threatening activities — such as support of Nancy Reagan's pet project, Foster Grandparents. The new VISTA would use unpaid volunteers — thus effectively limiting them to well-to-do individuals of supposedly more conservative views.

Pauken denied passing out a hit list at the Kingston Coalition meeting, but admitted having compiled an earlier list of 33 groups targeted for closer scrutiny before being funded again. "We are not interested in funding groups that are heavily involved in lobbying, demonstrating or in the political agenda," he said.

Meanwhile, memos sent to budget boss David Stockman under Pauken's name indicate that he expects the agency to be "phased out" by late next year or early 1983 — well before the funds already approved by Congress run out.

WHAT NEXT? — The House Committee on Education and Labor, which oversees VISTA, has warned Pauken that elimination of any agency program without entertaining appeals from the affected groups is a violation of the law. Insiders expect a dramatic showdown.

Playoffs Made Simple

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Football League playoff picture at a glance:

—Since all 12 teams in the South-Central Division of the Eastern Conference have losing records, all go into the final games of the regular season with at least a mathematical shot at making the playoffs.

The favorites are the Los Angeles Rams, who have seven mathematicians in their starting lineup.

—If the San Diego Pumas lose to the San Puma Diegos, they get a wild card berth in the Mexican-Canadian Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference.

If, however, the Diegos lose to the Pumas, they get an upper berth on Amtrak's Midnight Express from East St. Louis, Ill., to Phenix City, Ala.

—Note that the New Shamble Flatworms, with an 0-7 record, have played fewer games than the other teams. This is because the Flatworms dropped out of the NFL in mid-season in order to join the National Hockey League.

Commissioner Atticus "Pete" Nasturtium has ruled that hockey games do not count in the NFL playoff calculations. This is because no player has ever spiked a hockey puck. However, Nasturtium also has ruled that the Flatworms are eligible for the playoffs under a split-season formula.

—In event the Sinking Hills Centipedes wind up in a tie with the Buttermilk Falls Weevils with identical 1-15 records, the wild-card team will be determined by the 1980 census.

Since Sinking Hills has a larger population, the Centipedes would represent the bottom half of the Pacific Northeast Conference in the playoffs.

—As the top-ranked team in the Great Lakes Division of the Gulf Coast Conference, the Upper Iowa Termites have already clinched a "bye" in the first round of the playoffs.

Should the Termites not make it to the second round, their place would be taken by the winner of the wild card game between the South Bagatelle Mastodons of the Baja Minnesota Conference and the Sump City Cooties of the Mojave Watershed Conference.

—It could work out that the team with best record in the NFL won't even be in the playoffs.

As it now stands, the Malignant Springs Crickets, winner of the Lower 48 Division championship, is scheduled to play a wild card team Dec. 30.

However, that also is the date the players have set for their annual softball game against the team doctors.

—Since the final game of the playoffs is scheduled for Easter Sunday, a slightly different format is planned.

Rather than have an overtime period to break ties, the teams will compete in an Easter Egg hunt.

ROBERT WALTERS

Cutting Medical Expenses

AUSTIN, Texas (NEA) — Residents of this city don't enjoy any special immunity to illness, disease or accidents — but the amount of time they spend in local hospitals is almost 40 percent lower than the national average for urban areas.

Dramatic disparities in the cost and utilization of medical services are beginning to surface throughout the country. It now costs twice as much, for example, to have a baby in Boston than in Seattle.

In Minneapolis-St. Paul, the overall rate of inflation has been consistently higher than the national average throughout the past five years — but the increase in the cost of health care in the Twin Cities during the same period has been significantly lower than in other metropolitan areas.

Cost-conscious competition has come to the once genteel health-care field, supplanting the traditional personal relationship between doctor and patient with an unprecedented array of institutional arrangements and individual relationships.

Proponents of those new approaches claim they offer a unique opportunity to reduce the soaring cost of medical services. Critics warn that the innovations are leading to assembly line medical practices, episodic health care and corner-cutting in dealing with human health.

Here in Texas' capital city, a PruCare health maintenance organization, established by the Prudential Insurance Co. of America in October 1980, today has more than 18,500 participants and continues to grow rapidly.

The HMO concept, popularized many years ago by the Kaiser Permanente organization in California, offers participants a complete range of medical services in return for payment of a fixed monthly fee.

The incentive to control costs is the contractual arrangement that provides the HMO with only the prepaid fee regardless of how much health care a participant requires.

Organized medicine, led by the American Medical Association, vigorously opposes the HMO concept on the grounds that it is likely to reduce the quality of health care.

But here in Austin, the Travis County Medical Society has responded to the PruCare challenge by enrolling 300 of the 300 physicians practicing in the area in its own HMO, the Central Texas Health Plan.

In Minneapolis-St. Paul, the Hennepin County Medical Society organized its own HMO, Physicians Health Plan. Even the Blue Cross-Blue Shield organization, another outspoken critic of the concept, has formed HMO Minnesota.

The Twin Cities area has no fewer than seven HMOs, all vigorously competing with each other and with physicians engaged in the traditional fee-for-service practice.

Probably the most reliable quantitative measure of HMO impact on health costs is the number of hospital days recorded per 1,000 population annually — a figure that stands at 1,278 nationally.

In Austin, the rate for the entire metropolitan area is 776; Pru-Care has reduced it ever further, to about 400 among its members. Among HMO participants in the Twin Cities, the rate is 452. In contrast, St. Louis — a city with virtually no medical competition — has a rate of 1,753.

Austin also is the home of the Bailey Square Surgical Center, believed to be the country's largest and busiest freestanding surgical center, where 40 to 60 routine operations are performed daily on an outpatient basis.

That means that patients are sent home within hours after their surgery is completed rather than being confined to an expensive hospital room for days of recuperation, which many medical experts believe to be an unnecessary extravagance.

Elsewhere in Texas, cash-and-carry medical care is available at a chain of MedStop clinics, this state's version of the minor emergency clinics located in shopping centers or near busy intersections throughout the Midwest and in California.

How successful are these radical new approaches to health care? The final verdict hasn't been returned yet, but the initial evidence suggests that they may be performing a valuable service for millions of citizens.

Community Caught Up In The Spirit Of Christmas

The entire community of Geneva seems to be caught up in the Spirit of Christmas this week.

The children at Geneva Elementary School have donated food and money to prepare food baskets to be delivered to four families in this area.

The Garden Club, one of Geneva's civic organizations, in keeping with its traditional Christmas project, is also preparing a gift of food for a local family.

Many of the community's churches are seeing that the needs of individuals are being met at this Yuletide Season.

If you love Christmas cantatas, two Geneva churches are giving you a selection. Both will be held Sunday evening, Dec. 20.

The Church of the Nazarene's youth choir will be presenting "Christmas Fever," a contemporary cantata from Lillyness Publishers, at 6 p.m.

The joint adult, youth and children's choirs of the Baptist Church will present their cantata, "Sing Noel" under the direction of Scott Baumer at 7 p.m.

The community's annual Christmas Eve Candlelight service will be held on the lawn of the United Methodist Church beginning at 7 p.m. Dec. 24.

This traditional service where each person attending receives a candle to light is interdenominational and has been an annual happening for the past 27 years.

Not many hunters get the trophy Chuck Lockin of Geneva received.

Chuck bagged an 11-point buck during a hunting trip to Wyoming. At the present time, he is having the horns mounted and, when the taxidermist is finished, they will find a place on Chuck's wall next to the 8-pointer he got last year.

Others in the hunting party were his son, Ricky, Jerry Cochran, Danny Crabtree and Rick Morris, all of Geneva, and Rev. Bill Carr.

According to Julie, Chuck's wife, the men drove to Orange, Texas, where they picked up Rev. Carr, former pastor of the Geneva Nazarene Church. Then it was on to a ranch in Wyoming where they killed several deer and antelope. The men returned from their 10-day hunting exhibition through the scenic Colorado mountains.

If you have always wanted to learn the art of quilting, now is your chance. A limited enrollment is now being accepted at the Country Corner in Sanford for lessons that will begin January 18 at 9:00 a.m. and continue for 9 consecutive Mondays. There is a $35 registration fee.

You might want to mark your calendar early if you are trying to make plans for a sane and safe New Year's Eve. The United Methodist Church will be opening its doors that night for an evening of family fellowship and singing. The exact time has not been decided, but you may contact Rev. Gary Isner at 349-5787 for more information.

Selecting A Christmas Poinsettia

By DR. ROBERT J. BLACK
IFAS Extension Horticulturist
University of Florida

Highly prized throughout Florida and widely beloved as a symbol of the Christmas season is the Poinsettia. No other flower can make such a brilliant show of bright red throughout the festive weeks of December and January.

The poinsettia, Euphorbia pulcherrima, is a member of the spurge family which includes common ornamentals like crown-of-thorns, copper-leaf, castorbean and Florida's colorful crotons.

The Poinsettia was introduced into the United States by our first ambassador to Mexico, Joel Roberts Poinsett. He had some sent to his home in Greenville, S.C. in 1835—and this lovely Christmas flower has since borne his name.

An interesting point about poinsettias is their "flowers." The true flowers are small, green and yellow and inconspicuous. The showy red parts, often called flowers, are not parts of the flower; instead, they are highly modified petal-like leaves, which the botanist calls bracts. The bracts are formed below each flower.

Since the purchase of poinsettias is a once-a-year thing for most people several suggestions on proper plant selection are in order.

The poinsettia buyer should do the following:

Select a plant which has green foliage nearly to the soil line. Old plants will usually have experienced excessive leaf drop. Foliage drop is also caused by fluctuating temperatures, gas fumes, soil problems and plant pests.

The bracts should be large and extend over the lower green foliage. The most popular color in poinsettias is red. However, there are numerous shades of whites, pinks and color combinations.

Select only plants with small tight green button-like flower parts in the center of the bracts. These little buttons will eventually develop into open flowers. If the poinsettia is already producing pollen, you can be assured that a portion of its useful display life has already passed and the bracts will begin to fade.

Poinsettias are predominately greenhouse grown as pot plants for Christmas in most of the United States, but in South Florida they can be utilized as colorful landscape shrubs. In north Florida they may be frozen to the ground before flowering so are best used as pot plants.

Another excellent use of poinsettias is as cut flowers. The bracts need to be treated to coagulate the milky sap and reduce wilting. Immerse the cut end of the stem in hot water for one minute and then place immediately in cold water. An alternate method is to singe the cut end of the stem over a flame for a second or two and then place in cool water. Cut the flowers at least 18 to 24 hours before they are to be used and store in a cool place.

Poinsettias make beautiful house plants. If the new varieties are properly watered and placed in a cool, sunny, draft free area the bracts will remain lovely for one to two months.

Trinity Prep's Top Century III Leader

Jennifer Adicks, a senior at Trinity Preparatory School, has been named to the top Century III Leader in a competition there, according to The Rev. H. Benton Ellis, headmaster.

The 17-year old student is now eligible to compete with other local winners from around the state for one of two $1,500 scholarships and an all-expense paid trip to the national Century III Leaders Conference, slated for March 5-8, 1982, in Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia.

State winners will compete for the national winner's prize of an additional $10,000 scholarship.

The Century III Leaders program is designed to bring together and recognize student leaders who show both strong leadership abilities and an interest in the future of America.

Jennifer was judged on the basis of leadership skills, school and community involvement, and a current events examination. She also wrote a short essay on a particular issue which challenges America in its third century.

Jennifer is the co-editor of the "Chi Rho" yearbook, a member of the National Honor Society, a member of the volleyball and swim teams and a former writer for the "Gross Green Bird". She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Adicks, Oviedo.

SYMBOL OF PEACE

Portrait Artist To Display Team

Downtown Sanford shoppers will have the opportunity to view portraits of members of the Seminole High School volleyball team and their coach, Donalyn Knight.

This group of women became regional champions this year. To pay tribute to the team, Lynn Cullum, a local portrait artist, has created a life-like pencil drawing of each woman. The portraits will be on display at The Book Mark, 107 Magnolia Avenue and at Knight's Shoe Store, 208 E. 1st St., from Saturday, Dec. 19 until Thursday, Dec. 24.

Medicine And Politics Don't Mix For Patient

DEAR ABBY: I was hospitalized three times for surgery in my fight against cancer. The first two times I had wonderful nurses who cared for me, encouraged me and kept my spirits up. The last time I had foreign nurses who spoke so little English, I could barely communicate with them. Abby, I have nothing against foreigners; I married one. The nurse who spoke the best English was very cold and unfeeling. When I told her that my son had been killed in Vietnam, she said, "You Americans had no business being over there in the first place!" I became so upset and angry, I left the hospital without my doctor's permission, and now he is furious with me.

I love my doctor and don't want him to give me up as a patient. When I phoned his office to explain and apologize, his nurse told me that I "automatically discharged" my doctor when I left the hospital. Please help me get back in his good graces. If he refuses to see me, I don't know what I'll do.

DEAR DESPERATE: Call your doctor and insist on talking to him personally. When he learns why you fled the hospital, he will surely reconsider. And if he is a conscientious physician, he will inform the nurses at that hospital that medicine and politics don't mix.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter (now married) was taught proper table manners at a very early age, but her children (6, 9 and 11) eat like animals! She lets them come to the dinner table without washing their hands and the way they grab the food, hold their silverware and talk with their mouths full makes me nearly sick.

When I reminded my daughter (in a nice way) that it was time she taught her children some table manners, she became defensive, flared up and said there are more important things for children to learn, such as honesty, dependability, fair play, etc. Naturally I backed off. I love my grandchildren and hate to see them grow up so ill-mannered, so what should I do?

DISTRESSED GRANNY
DEAR GRANNY: Don't mention your grandchildren's table manners to your daughter again. But on those occasions when you are alone with the children, teach them. I agree, good character is more important than good table manners, but one need not choose between the two.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I took your advice, and when an acquaintance of mine insincerely said to me (for the umpteenth time!), "Why don't you come over sometime?" I replied, "I would love to. How about next Thursday?"

She stammered and blushed, and said, "No, not Thursday. That's my bingo night."

I decided to teach her a good lesson, so I said, "Well, what night would be convenient for you?"

She looked at me like she couldn't believe what she was hearing. Then she said, "I'll phone you," and quickly rushed away, mumbling.

I don't expect to hear from her. But I'll bet I cured her of extending those insincere "why-don't-you-come-over-sometime" invitations.

Jones Blocks Record 10 Shots

Herb Williams and Edgar Jones certainly took different paths to the NBA, but the two young forwards may be heading in the same positive direction. Williams, 22, a high school star in Ohio who went on to start 114 consecutive games at tradition-rich Ohio State, hit three critical base-line jump shots in the final moments Thursday night to help Indiana to a 100-96 road victory over injury-riddled Detroit.

World B. Free scored five points during a 10-point run to help Golden State to a comeback victory at home that snapped the Lakers' five-game winning streak. The Warriors trailed 107-104 with 4:09 left before reeling off 10 straight points as Free hit two field goals and a free throw in the string. Bernard King had 33 points and Free added 32 for the Warriors, while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was high for Los Angeles with 28 points.

Jones, 25, a lightly recruited high school player in New Jersey who played collegiately for obscure Nevada-Reno, got his first start for the Pistons after undistinguished service with the Milwaukee Bucks, Lehigh Valley of the Continental League and the New Jersey Nets.

The 6-foot-10 forward led all scorers with 25 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and registered a club-record 10 blocked shots. Williams, the 14th pick overall in this year's NBA draft, played only eight minutes in the first half because of foul

Christmas Decorating The Easy Way

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

We all enjoy decorating our homes for Christmas, but it's a special joy when we make the decorations ourselves especially when younger members of the family are involved.

A festive centerpiece that not only provides an attractive decoration for the holiday, but can also be eaten later; now that's a real winner. Such a goodie is a tree made of shiny red apples.

The apple tree has been a tradition for Peggy Aikens of Lake Emma Road, Lake Mary, for about 15 years. Mrs. Aikens used her apple tree as the centerpiece for a Christmas party given recently by the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers Club of which she is a member.

As a base Mrs. Aikens used a 12-inch styrofoam cone which she places on a cake stand or bowl. To cover the cone, she says, it takes approximately 26 red delicious apples.

She polishes the apples with a soft cloth then inserts a toothpick in each apple with needle-nosed pliers leaving enough toothpick protruding to fasten them securely to the cone. Begin at the base, placing the apples at various angles in order to fit tightly. Top the arrangements with a apple in which the pick has been inserted into the stem end.

For a different look, golden delicious apples can be mixed in with the red ones. For a touch of greenery, take sprigs of live or artificial podocarpus taped to floral picks and insert into the cone between the apples.

Mrs. Aikens says the apples will last through the holidays and can then be eaten or used in salads or other dishes.

Placemats made from old Christmas cards placed between sheets of clear contact paper are simple enough even for youngsters to make. After selecting a colorful array of Christmas cards, arrange them on one of the sheets and then place the second sheet on top and press together.

Another idea: stain a wooden spoon, tie a calico ribbon around the handle and decorate a matching wooden bowl. Dried nuts, acorns, or babies breath can be glued to the bowl and lacquered. Add miniature decorations such as animals and dolls if you like.

Paper-bag people are happy easy-to-make items to sell at holiday bazaars or to decorate holiday tables. Even children can make them with proper guidance.

You will need paper bags, plastic foam balls, felt, glue (such as Elmer's Glue-All), yarn, thin dowel, gold cord, construction paper and newspapers for stuffing. (More sophisticated "designers" may form newspapers over an inflated balloon for the head rather than using plastic foam balls.)

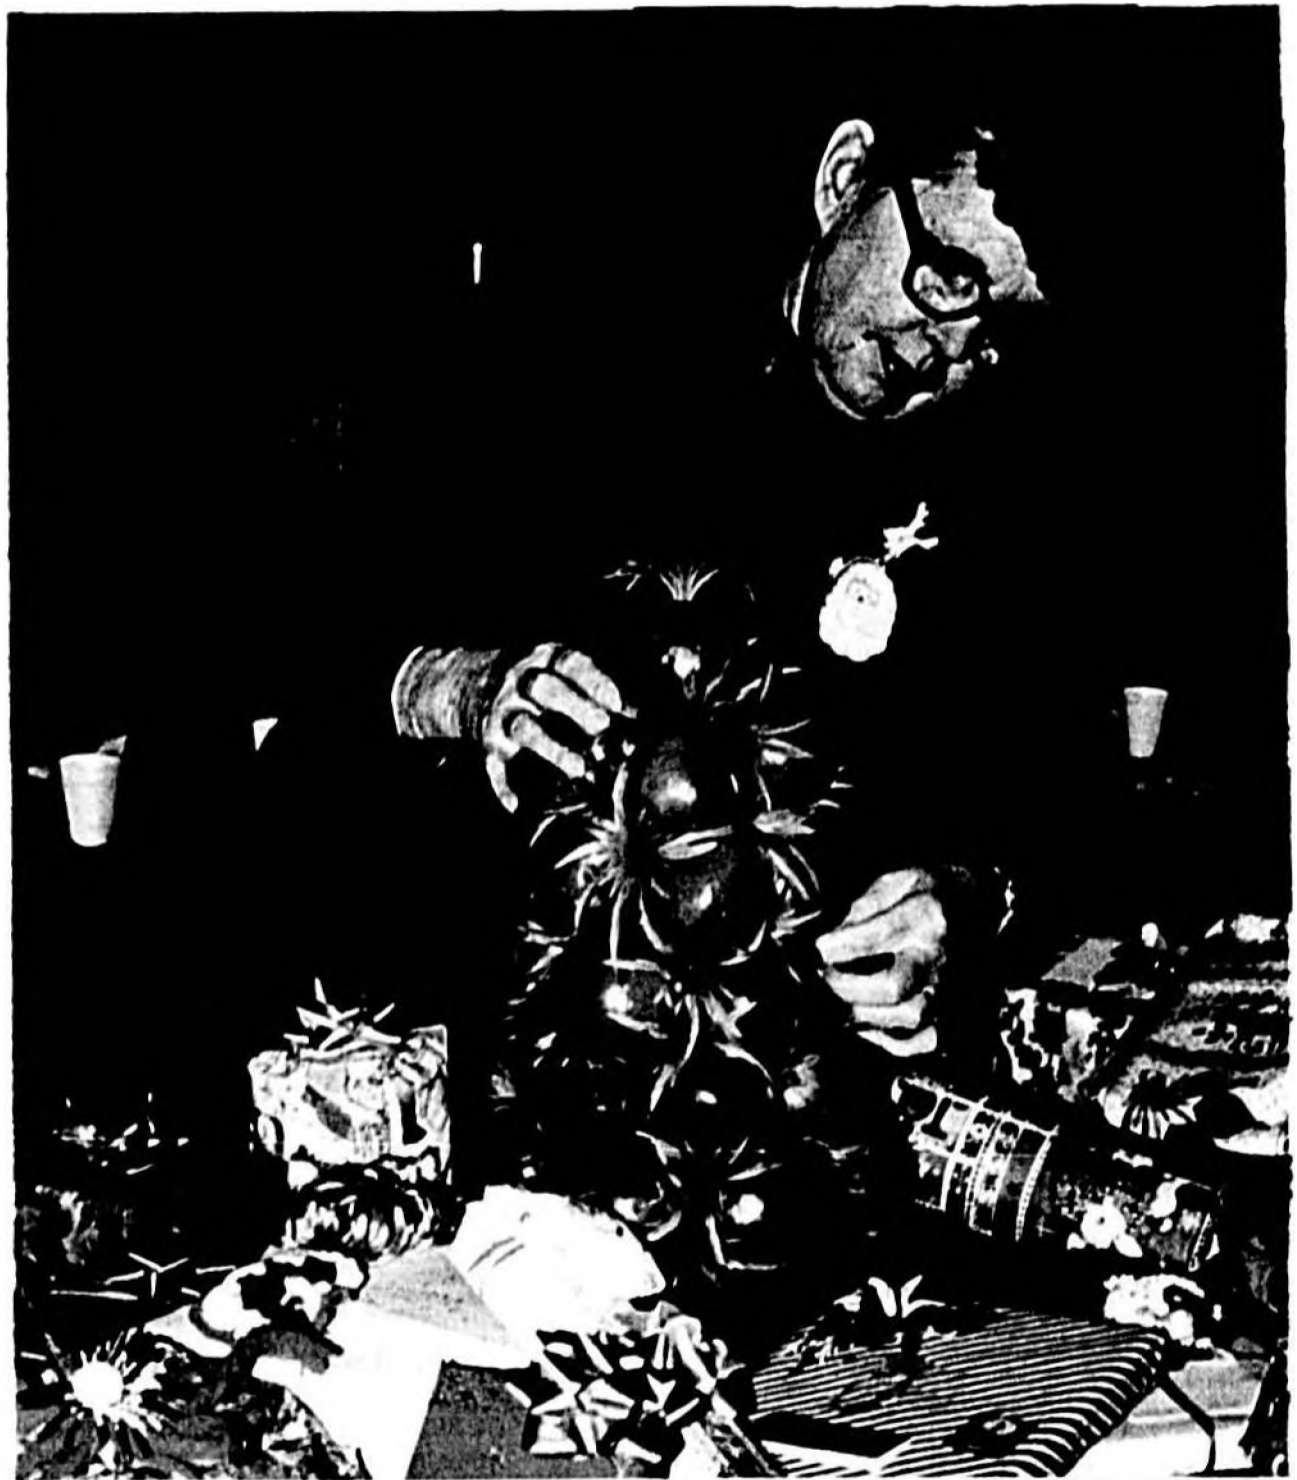

First open out the paper bag. Tuck in the top edge about 2½ inches. Stuff the inside of the bag with newspapers to hold the shape.

Gather the bag about 1½ inches from the top to form a cup. Tie with string. Apply three coats of glue with a brush, allowing about 30 minutes between coats for drying. When totally dry (about two hours) untie and discard the string and the newspaper stuffing.

Then finish the individual plastic form heads.

For an angel, cut 18 lengths of yarn, each 14 inches long. Glue the centers of the yarn lengths on top of the ball. Let dry in place. Then braid on both sides of the head.

Cut a ring of construction paper for the halo and glue it onto a stick. Insert the stick into the ball so that the halo frames the head.

Peggy Aikens of Lake Mary puts finishing touch to a centerpiece that is not only decorative, but delicious as well. There are hundreds of such easy, inexpensive holiday decorating ideas that just about anyone can use. Even you.

Tie a gold cord around the gathered section of the bag. Cut and glue wings at the back. Finish the face with paints or cutouts of construction paper.

For Santa, cut a belt from a piece of felt and glue it onto the bag. Glue rosy cheeks onto the head. Attach cotton matting for the beard, eyebrows and mustache.

To make the hat, form a cone from a half circle of red felt; glue together. When dry, fold the bottom edge under and glue onto the ball.

For a snowman, cut a scarf from long strip of green felt about 1½ inches wide. Fringe the ends and tie around the gathered part of the bag.

To make the hat, cut a rectangle of felt 2½ inches wide by 6½ inches long; glue into a cylinder. Add a contrasting band. Cut a circle 4 inches in diameter to form a brim of the hat; cut a hole in the center so that it sits on the snowman's head. Then glue the cylinder on top of the brim.

It's easy to decorate jars, tins, canisters

Gift jars, tins and canisters are simple to decorate. The personalized touch makes them very special remembrances.

All you will need to decorate a screw-top jar are pine cones, ribbons, glue, sandpaper and a brush.

First lightly sand the cover of the jar. Apply glue to the small pine cones and press them into place. Allow 15 to 20 minutes to dry.

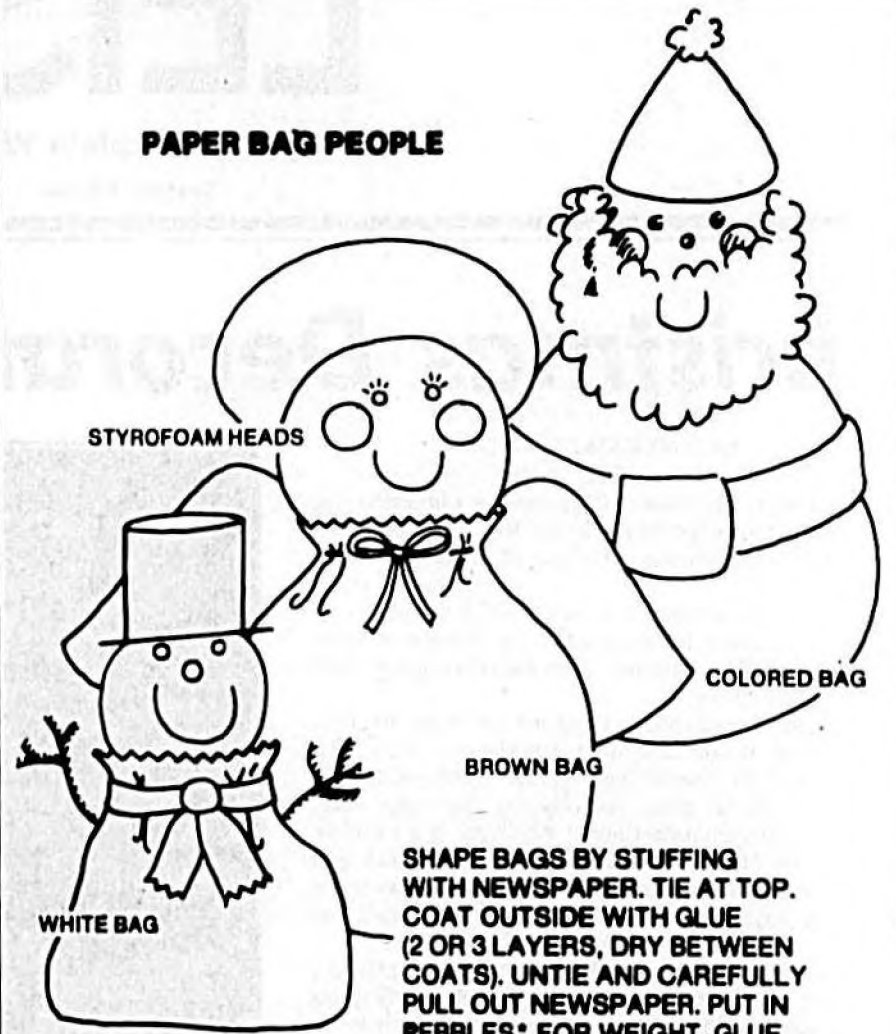

Then brush the entire surface with glue, let dry and brush again. This will keep the pine cones from "shedding" and give a shiny finish.

For a final touch, glue ribbon around the edge of the cover and add little bows.

Do you like decoupage? You can use the technique to great effect on tins like those that hold lozenges. Glue on a ribbon for a finishing touch.

PAPER BAG PEOPLE

SHAPE BAGS BY STUFFING WITH NEWSPAPER. TIE AT TOP. COAT OUTSIDE WITH GLUE (2 OR 3 LAYERS, DRY BETWEEN COATS). UNTIE AND CAREFULLY PULL OUT NEWSPAPER. PUT IN PEBBLES* FOR WEIGHT. GLUE ON STYROFOAM HEAD. THEN GLUE ON FACIAL FEATURES AND ACCESSORIES MADE FROM CONSTRUCTION PAPER.

* FILL WITH CANDIES FOR PARTY FAVORS.

Joan Crawford Had Four Kids, Not Two

DEAR DICK: Haven't heard good reviews on "Mommie Dearest," but just came from seeing it and I thought the acting was superb. But why were only two of Joan Crawford's children mentioned in the movie? I always thought she had adopted three children. Isn't it a fact that the third one says the "Mommie Dearest" story isn't true? What can you tell me about all this? BERNICE MORRIES, New Baltimore, Mich.

Actually, Joan Crawford adopted four children; Christina, who wrote "Mommie Dearest," was the oldest. The two youngest - twins - did object to the book, but Christina says that by the time they came into the family the worst was over, so they never witnessed the horrors she and her brother lived through. The twins threatened to sue if they were in the movie, which is why they aren't.

DEAR DICK: Do actors ever return to sitcoms they may have left to do a spin-off? I'm positive this happens with soap operas. I'd like to see Polly Holliday return to "Alice" since her own show, "Flo," was a flop and canceled. JOHN MARTINEZ, Albuquerque, N.M.

It's a lovely idea, and it's possible but unlikely. There are too many contractual details that have to be worked out, plus the psychological problem - once somebody becomes a star of his or her own show, it's tough to go back to a supporting role again. In the case of Polly Holliday, the chances are nil - the rumors were that she and Linda Lavin didn't get along too well in the first place, and they were both happy to be working apart.

DEAR DICK: Since my first movie, in 1936, I've been an avid movie fan - I can even name the actors in old B movies. But my memory bank has nothing on Jane Seymour. She really stunned me in "Somewhere in Time." Can you tell me something about her background? Also, what is the best reference on TV and movie actors obtainable by the public at a modest price? KEN GARRISON, Ventura, Calif.

I admire your taste. Miss Seymour is surely one of the most beautiful women around at present. She's English, a dancer originally, and she started in English films such as "Oh, What a Lovely War" and "Young Winston." She was one of James Bond's ladies in "Live and Let Die." She came to the United States a few years ago and has been doing very well. She's done a lot of TV - "Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders" (what a waste) and "Battlestar Galactica" (ditto). My pet book is Halliwell's "Filmgoer's Companion."

DEAR DICK: In the soap opera "General Hospital," what is the hospital that they show when it first comes on? Is that Upstate Hospital in Syracuse, N.Y.? CAROLE SMITH, Tucson, Ariz.

No, it's USC County General Hospital, in Los Angeles.

Rooney Does It His Way

MICKEY ROONEY

Mickey Rooney wants to play him, not according to the way someone else thinks I should play him. I haven't met Bill Sackter. I didn't want to meet him before I played the part. I don't draw on anything, any person, to create a characterization."

Rooney was very impressed with the story of Bill Sackter and feels "very honored to be playing him on screen."

"Bill signed a wonderful photograph of himself and sent it to me, and I consider it priceless," said Rooney.

Rooney says that working on behalf of the mentally retarded is a "main cause" in his life.

Stallion," he had never before portrayed a retarded person.

"I didn't do anything to prepare for the role," he said. "I'm an actor. I just go out there and act it the way I feel it. I play Bill the way

On the Broadway stage, Mickey Rooney has been starring in "Sugar Babies," playing himself. On TV this week, the veteran performer will portray a mentally retarded adult in the dramatic special "Bill," a "G.E. Theater" presentation to air on CBS, Tuesday, Dec. 22.

The drama, based on a true story by Barry Morrow, focuses on Bill Sackter, who, although mentally retarded, tackles life in the world beyond the confines of the institution in which he has spent 44 years.

Did Rooney find it difficult to make the daily transition from Bill to "Sugar Babies" in less than two hours, a schedule he had to maintain while filming the TV special?

"I don't find anything difficult," said Rooney. "I knew before I began what the schedule would be like. It's all under the conduit of show business."

Although the role of Bill might prove emotionally draining to some, Rooney considered it "fun."

"It's not fun the way 'Sugar Babies' is fun," he said. "It's your approach and your attitude toward what you do that determines whether or not it's fun. To me, it's fun to fulfill yourself playing a role with an emotional impact such as this."

Although Rooney has tackled just about every facet of show business since becoming a motion picture star as a youth — as Andy Hardy in "A Family Affair" in 1937 — and has amassed a number of dramatic acting credits ranging from "The Bold and the Brave," "Boys Town" and "Ah, Wilderness!" to "The Black

Sally Field And Hurt Star In NBC Live Theatre Dec. 21

"All the Way Home," Tad Mosel's Pulitzer Prize-winning play about a Tennessee family's struggle to cope with the accidental death of a beloved father, will be broadcast live, Monday, Dec. 21 on NBC Live Theater.

Academy-award winner Delbert Mann ("Marty") will direct the drama which Mosel based on James Agee's 1958 Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "A Death in the Family."

The Dec. 21 broadcast will mark the second time NBC has presented "All the Way Home." It was originally telecast as a Hallmark Hall of Fame pre-recorded presentation starring Joanne Woodward and Richard Kiley on Dec. 1, 1971.

Sally Field and William Hurt will star in this production of "All the Way Home."

Hurt will portray Jay Follet and Field will play his pregnant wife, Mary, who must struggle to keep the family together after Jay's tragic death in an automobile accident.

Field, who now can be seen in the film "Absence of Malice" with Paul Newman, won an Oscar in 1979 for her performance in the title role of "Norma Rae." She won an Emmy in 1977 for her portrayal of a mentally disturbed woman in "Sybil" on NBC. Other film credits include "Back Roads," "Heroes," "Stay Hungry" and "Smokey and the Bandit."

Hurt, recently acclaimed for his performance in "Body Heat," also played the young scientist in "Altered States" and the lead in "Eyewitness." A veteran of the New York stage, Hurt won a 1977 Obie award for "My Life" at the Circle Repertory Company, and was honored with the 1977-78 Theater World award.
