RITTER LINKED WITH PLOT TO EXPLOIT FIRM

Meeting Turned Toward Effort At Proving
That Federal Judge
Knew Of Conspiracy

MIAMI, Nov. 22.—(AP)— Efforts to prove that Federal Judge Richard L. Ritter had knowledge of an alleged conspiracy to throw the Trust Company of Florida into re-ceivership and exploit the company's property, and that he "acted unjudiciously in appointing receivers when he did not have the jurisdiction,"
were begun today at the House judiciary sub-committee hearing into the official conduct of the judget.

The Trust Company of Florida,
which for 60 years properties held throughout the state and valued at millions of dollars, was placed in receivership last December.

Subsequently, the Appellate Court ruled that Judge Ritter had jurisdiction and it required his receivers to surrender all trust properties to a state liquidator.

Detailed ramifications of a $2,000,000 mortgage foreclosure
suit against the White-Hall Hotel of Palm Beach, in which Judge Ritter figured, were brought into the hearing yesterday.

The foreclosure action was disclosed at length. A $2000 debt was held by K. E. Rankin, former law partner of Judge Ritter, to be paid shortly after he received fees
as attorney in the White-Hall
case, was under examination.

Called to the witness stand yesterday, Federal Judge Alberton of Tampa said it was this that allowed Rankin to receive fees from Ritter and which he said he
paid shortly after he received fees
as attorney in the White-Hall
case, was under examination.

Judge Sherman said when he allowed the $2000 fee to Rankin
he knew it was in a mortgaged foreclosure case, but did not know this the White-Hall was a hotel.

Unfinished by counsel for either side, Judge Sherman then said he had not known Ritter before he was appointed judge, but when he had been closely associated with him. He said he thought the late Ritter's reputation for honesty and fairness and believed it would be wise to let him speak.

Judge Wilson, head of the State Advisory Committee on Civil Works, and C. R. Treadway, chairman of the State Road Department, was named to the post. Treadway accepted and he will preside when the council meets here tonight.

Marcus C. Page, present civil works administrator, remains in that post, but the active direction of the program will be in Tread-way's hands. The appointment of Treadway elevates him to the chairmanship from his previous appointment as a committee member, which had not been accepted.

J. P. Newell, Shultz' secretary, also named as a committee member, said he would accept the appointment.

Today's development followed two previous changes in Civil

Works administration.

First, the State Advisory Committee on Federal Emergency Relief was named as Civil Works
Council, and in that appointment
Wilson became chairman and Page administrator.

Cast Thursday, Hopkins announced the transfer of the civil works program to a special committee composed of Newell, as chairman, and Page and Treadway.

Saturday, "After further consideration" he announced he had decided to carry out his previously announced program and again place civil works under the previously created Emergency Relief Council, with Treadway and Newell added as members.

Treadway at that time said he had not decided whether he would accept the appointment.

Shultz and Treadway, both of whom had just returned from Washington, hurried back there Sunday and conferred with Federal officials Monday. They returned to Florida yesterday.

Borrowing Plane, Grief Torn Jacksonville Woman Flies Out Over Atlantic To Death

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 22.—(AP)—

The rushing waters of the broad Atlantic today apparently formed the grave for Mrs. Lorraine Turner Shuster, recent widow, daughter of a prominent family, and 30
year old Junior League who borrowed a plane and flew seaward to meet death wherever the raft's fuel ran out.

There was a four-hour gasoline supply in the plane's tanks, airport attendants said, and she was unreported last night—hours after-

SPRAGUE QUIT, PREDICTING END OF U. S. CREDIT

Former Advisor To
Bank Of England
Resigns In Protest
Over Money Policies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—

Asserting the nation was threatened with "unrestrained inflation" and a complete collapse of government credit, Dr. O. M. W.
Sprague, special financial advisor to the treasury, resigned yesterday in protest against the Roosevelt monetary policy.

In a letter to the President, that predicted disaster would follow if the administration's plan for raising commodity prices by increasing the money value of gold he said the only defense against the dangers he foresaw was "an aroused and organized public opinion." He had hoped to take part in such an effort.

"It is possible that there might still be a meeting of minds had I been afforded any opportunity to discuss policies with you," Sprague wrote to the President.

"But no opportunities whatever have been afforded me since my return from London in July,
after your rejection of the arrangements to study the organiza-

DAMAGING RIOTS IN PENITENTIARY WORST IN YEARS

Philadelphia Prison

Mob Of Prisoners

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—

In the most damaging raid in the century long history of Eastern State penitentiary, 35 prisoners broke into open cells with Taking advantage of the "yard out" call, marking the exercise period for the 1200 prisoners in the institution, the 35 rioters

smashed my hinged in the shop
fired the dye house and kitchen,
and partly burned the chaplain's

LEGION REBUKES ITS OFFICIALS

IN NEW MEXICO

Department Charter Is

Ordered Suspended;

Politics Is Blamed

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—

Suspension of the charter of the New Mexico department was voted yesterday by the national executive committee of the American Legion after an investigating of charges that legionnaires of that state had permitted their organization to become involved in partisan politics.

National Commander Edward
A. Hayes was authorized to appoint a supervisory committee to control the department until it
"may be safely returned to its members." The action is unprecedented in legion annals.

The New Mexico department
was charged with factionalism, political activity and padding the membership rolls to control the state organization. A four-day hearing was held by a sub committee which reported its findings to the supreme governing body of the legion. The executive committee adopted the report by a vote of 39 to 12.

Commander Hayes declared
there is no question in his mind that that there is a solution to the legitimate about in New Mexico."

He said: "It will be the purpose of your national committee to bring together the diverse elements within the legion of that state and clear up the confusion
which seems to prevail there."

2 Killed In Bombings
In Camaguey Province

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—

Three powerful bombs exploded in Camaguey Province today, killing one youth and seriously wounding four others as new distress developed in the interior.

The second death of the day
came to a man gravely wounded
last night when seven bombs were exploded in the same province.

Until the story is released, Mr.
Moore said, it would facilitate matters considerably if those persons now on trial or who are out of work will not call at the welfare office to ask for information in order to when they will get a job. Since last Saturday, the office personnel has been swamped with requests for information which it is not able to furnish. Much valuable time is lost by the personnel because of these interruptions, Mr.
Moore said as he urged that the unemployed and those seeking relief catch The Herald for details on the news.

Sanford Herald*A Matter Of Rights—And Lefts

Collectivism, that is, the elevation of the rights of the group over the rights of the individual, has so far in our social revolution been confined to a planned economy. It is restricted largely to the methods of making a living. It concerns mainly hours of labor, minimum wages, acres of production, and the price per bushel, or per quart. It does not, at least, it has not yet, affected, for instance, the clothes which a woman may wear.

Women still insist upon wearing what they please regardless of the rights of others. They are quite out of tune with the present order of things when they attempt to superimpose their individual rights to the welfare of the group. They may subscribe to the theory of collectivism in economic matters but when it comes to what they wear they include in their wardrobes the things which please them most, whether those things happen to prove beneficial to society as a whole or not.

Perhaps they get this rather selfish attitude from the men. Men as a whole are also rather inclined to dress to suit themselves. We have seen men go without a necktie at dinner simply because they wanted to. We have seen them wear dirty overalls down town when such an exhibition was frighteningly embarrassing to their wives. We have seen them appear on the beaches in nothing but trunks with their great hairy chests flagrantly exposed to the sunlight and public gaze disregarding utterly whether such exposures were beneficial to public morals.

Now we read that the women are not to be outdone. In St. Petersburg right now they are having a frightful squabble over the question of whether the constitution of this country guarantees equal rights to all, or whether it guarantees equal rights only to men and puts women in a category by themselves. The women down there are insisting that if the men are to be allowed to run around half naked, with nothing but a little skimpy pair of pants on, why they've got a right to too.

Well, now, no reasonable man would question the right of any woman to appear in public in anything, or nothing, that pleases her fancy. At least no man would again who ever had before. But one might be pardoned for pointing out in a general way that the allure and charm of some women at least can be served to better advantage in an atmosphere of reserve, suggestion, and illusion, than in a public demonstration of the brazen fact. We simply mean that some women, like most men, are more attractive with a little something on.

We are reminded of a line which caught our eye in an article by Beverly Nichols on women's clothes the other day. We never read those things, but this particular line just happened to stand out. It said, "When a woman wears a dress which looks like a bathing suit with extensions, she is throwing away all the artful aid that fashion might give her." And we suppose one might add, that when a woman wears a bathing suit that looks like Eve's fig leaf, she is laying bare the naked truth.

Any woman who can afford to do that should stand on her constitutional prerogatives.

The Drake Estate

Almost everyone at one time or another has bought a gold brick. It may not actually have been a gold brick, but it was something like that. He may have learned his lesson in a real estate game. He may have bought some stocks on a margin, or some Peruvian bonds. But nobody can claim that it would have the responsibility of feeding approximately 15,000 persons this winter. Already purchases of butter are being made and large quantities of feed and seed loans, for all impoverished small and middle farmers.

Roughly, a pound of wheat provides the flour necessary for a loaf of bread. There are 50 pounds of wheat to the bushel and was estimated that the purchase of 1,000,000 bushels meant that material would be available for 50,000,000 loaves of bread. Hopkins' organization estimated that it would have the responsibility of feeding approximately 15,000 persons this winter. Already purchases of butter are being made and large quantities of feed and seed loans, for all impoverished small and middle farmers.

Under Secretary Morgenthau has ordered all treasury officials to refuse to give out any information whatever concerning the activities of the treasury department. That may not be censorship but it indicates that certain fears of some newspapermen were not entirely without foundation.

Under Secretary Morgenthau has ordered all treasury officials to refuse to give out any information whatever concerning the activities of the treasury department. That may not be censorship but it indicates that certain fears of some newspapermen were not entirely without foundation.

At a conference of farmers in Chicago the other day, a resolution was adopted beginning as follows: "We demand the cancellation of secured debts, mortgages, bank rents, back taxes, and feed and seed loans, for all impoverished small and middle farmers." Such a resolution is approved.

Congress, a concurrent resolution might also be adopted beginning thus: "It is hereby expressly provided that any farmer whose debts have been canceled shall henceforth be prohibited from incurring new debts." That would eliminate all credit business for the farmer as concerned.

It is estimated that no less than forty thousand persons in five middle western states, where the depression is about to start a revolution, have been mulled of over one million dollars by this racket. Many times persons named Drake are convinced that they are entitled to a share in this estate if they will only put up a couple of hundred dollars for attorney fees.

It's a much better racket than the crude methods of Sir Francis himself. It is not nearly so dangerous as the old-fashioned buccaneering expeditions.

Mrs. T. J. Perkins of Tallahassee has been in the city for several days visiting friends much to the delight of the many people who knew her when the family resided here. Mr. Perkins was a C. C. L. ticket agent here for several years and now holds a similar position with the Seaboard.

RECOGNITION, NOT ALLIANCE
NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

It is not unnatural that this country's resumption of relations with Soviet Russia should arouse much speculation and gossip throughout the world. Recognition involved such a radical change in official American attitudes that observers abroad are perhaps to be forgiven for concluding that it reflected just as radical a change in the attitude of the American people toward Communism, toward Kremlin, or toward Far Eastern or European fads. Some of the assumptions, however, that have already found their way into print, here and abroad are so grotesque and dangerously misleading that they must be profoundly irritating to the American people.

From Japan, Russia, China, Italy, and many other quarters come semi-official press comments in which it is taken for granted that the establishment of relations between the Soviet Union and the United States is "tantamount to an alliance," as one hopeful Chinese journal badly puts it, and that that alliance is inspired by a common fear of or hostility to Japan. Italy thinks that it temporarily disposed of the Far Eastern problem. In China some think it will have a sedative effect on Japanese policy and others that it will act as an intoxicant. No Chinese cares to view it without political significance. Mr. John Strachey, the radical litterateur, is pleased to see in recognition a preliminary to a Russo-Japanese war in which Great Britain will be Japan's ally and this country Russia's.

How little we know of the significance and consequences of our acts until the authorities vouchsafe us an explanation! In Moscow "Pravda" eagerly explains to the Russian people, on behalf of the Kremlin, that recognition means the American proletariat's repudiation of the anti-Communist position of the "yellow" American Federation of Labor. It is also to be taken as our contribution to world peace in view of threats to Russia's territorial integrity from the imperialistic neighbors, which may mean Japan, or Germany, or both.

In the estimation of our people, it can be said with absolute assurance, this act of recognition no more commits the United States to a pro-Russian policy in Europe or Asia than our existing friendly relations with Germany and Japan are evidence of the nation's sympathy with Nazi domestic policy or with Japan's domination of Manchuria.

It is unthinkable that the Administration has even suggested an entente to Mr. Litvinov. But if it had, the statesmen of Europe and Asia could be sure of this as of nothing else: that such an understanding would have only to be revealed to be repudiated by the American people.

exchanges during the period of the world economic conference."

It was just before that conference met that Sprague came to the treasury. Previously he had been economic advisor to the Bank of England. President Roosevelt expressed himself then as extremely gratified at obtaining his services, adding that he was a "perfectly good American."

For weeks it has been well known that Sprague was in disagreement with the administration on monetary questions. Early in his career at the treasury, he invariably participated in White House conferences on the subject but in recent weeks he had not attended such meetings.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., the new acting secretary of the treasury, declined to comment on Sprague's assertions.

"I knew this was imminent," he said. "I knew he was out of sympathy with the administration. I am only surprised if he does not take place sooner."

"I think the sun will rise tomorrow and the next day and the birds will sing."

Interpreting the Roosevelt plan for increasing commodity prices throughout the nation of buying gold both here and abroad as an effort to deprecate the currency, Sprague expressed opposition to it and predicted failure.

"The present policy threatens a complete breakdown of the credit of the government," he wrote. "The recovery program involves expenditures far in excess of current revenues. Certainly as much as two billions of dollars must be borrowed during the remainder of the fiscal year."

"Bonds, including government bonds, are an unsatisfactory investment at a time when a government is determined to depreciate its currency."

"Already many issues of government securities have dropped below par, including the issue that was brought out in October."

"I believe you are faced with the alternative either of giving up the present policy or of meeting government expenditures with additional paper money."

"You will then no doubt incur a rise in prices. For you will be faced with distrust of the currency."

Miss Aranka Takach left yesterday for Gainesville where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Molnar, for several weeks.

rushed to the scene to augment the details of state troopers stationed within the walls for several weeks since the first of a series of disorders. The latest was last Sunday when a group of prisoners made a vain attempt to escape over the walls by means of a makeshift ladder.

It was for that attempted "break" that the 75 men who rioted yesterday had been segregated.

With riot guns flashing and tear gas bombs ready, and while machine guns barked from the prison wall, the recalcitrants were herded into unoccupied cell blocks to restore comparative quiet. But although the riot had been subdued a cordon of police patrolled the walls last night, prepared for a rumored "break."

Reports from inside the prison said many prisoners were injured in the flaring disorder, but this was flatly denied by Warden Herbert J. (Hard Boiled) Smith.

In a statement, Warden Smith said barely had the men entered the yard than the 75 broke loose. "They made a rush for the machine and weaving shop," he explained. "I blew the whistle and all the men started back for the cells except those 75, who rushed over to the dye house, setting fire to it.

"Then they picked up clubs, pieces of iron and whatever weapons they could find and started smashing machinery in the shops. The damage done is by far the worst since the convicts have been rioting.

"When it became evident the 75 would not surrender, I sent out a call for reinforcements."

might prevail. I have now reached the conclusion that there is no defense from a drift into unrestrained inflation other than an aroused and organized public opinion."

"It is for the purpose of combating as I may to such a movement that, with feelings of profound disappointment, I sever my connection with your administration."

He declared a conviction that the gold buying policy would prove ineffective in securing a speedy rise in prices, asserting this could come only through measures increasing and sustaining consigning power.

In conclusion Sprague wrote: "We are a merciful people. The memory of postwar depreciation of currencies in Europe is still fresh. We have recently experienced distrust of banks spreading like wildfire throughout the country. A similar wave of currency distrust threatens."

"I have retained my present position for many weeks, hoping against hope that wiser counseled arrangements upward from $33.81.

Prize Novel Is Basis Of Milane Film Today

With women constantly enlarging their sphere in life, the question of whether or not a career other than that of wife and mother is compatible with female happiness is often a subject for controversy.

This question is said to be treated fearlessly and frankly in "Ann Vickers," latest and most sensational of Sinclair Lewis' best selling novels. A book which has gone into edition after edition since it was published in 1932, "Ann Vickers" has aroused discussion such as few works of fiction ever have.

Retaining all of the drama and vital interest of the novel, which deals with a social service worker's efforts to combine romance

SHOLTZ WILL BE HONOR GUEST AT STATE COLLEGE

Governor And Wife To Head Throng Off Fans At Homecoming Tilt

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 22.—Governor and Mrs. Dave Sholtz as guests of honor will head a delegation of several thousand Floridians to the campus of the state university for the annual observance of Homecoming Friday and Saturday. Acceptances to invitations extended by the university to prominent officials of state indicate that practically all will be here for the auspicious occasion.

University of Florida alumni take a particularly prominent part in the Homecoming ceremonies, in spite of the fact that the climax of the week-end is the football game, which this year brings to the Florida Campus the powerful Auburn eleven which last Saturday scored a spectacular victory over the hitherto undefeated, and national champion, inclined Georgia Bulldogs.

Headed by President J. E. Yonge, the alumni executive council will convene in an important session Friday night immediately following the Blue Key banquet at the Woman's Club. To all except this small group of alumni officials, Friday night offers a gala program in the university stadium, including the finals in the intramural boxing tournament, vaudeville skits, band music and novelty presentations, is scheduled just outside the beautiful football stadium monster bon fire will be lit, with members of the freshman class tending to the fuel supply.

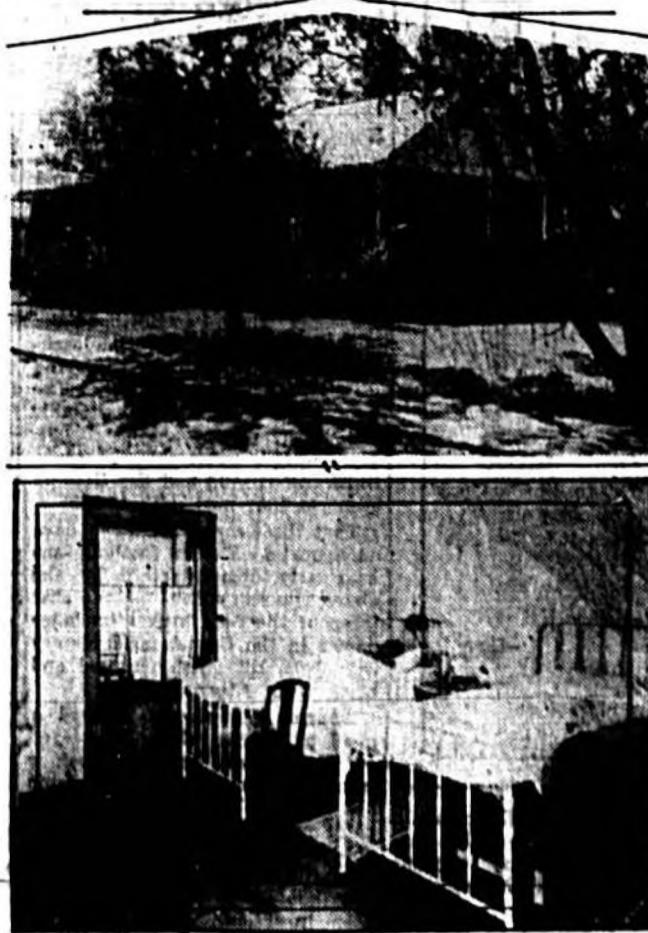

Social affairs dot the evening calendar Friday night, with chief interest centering in the dance by the Cavaliers, non-fraternity organization, in the new gymnasium. Clyde Gardner and his orchestra of Jacksonville will play, and all alumni and friends of the university are invited to attend.

Saturday morning the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association will be held at 10:00 o'clock at the Law College Auditorium, followed by the Alumni Luncheon at 12:00 o'clock noon. At this affair alumni will be privileged to hear an address by the Honorable Governor Sholtz. The luncheon, annually held in the university library, attracts a capacity crowd. Presentation of the oldest living alumnus of the university, presentation of five faculty members to the ranks of "Florida's Faithful," and unveiling of a new portrait painting of University President John J. Tigert will be other events at the luncheon.

The facilities include eight beds, a bath room, a sleeping porch and office space for the two residence physicians.

Funds to equip the infirmary were raised by the Mother's Club by means of bridge parties and

Rollins Has New Infirmary

WINTER PARK, Fla., Nov. 22.—Other events of sunny nature.

Largely through the efforts of the Rollins Students' Mothers' Club the Rollins Infirmary recently opened its first infirmary for the care of its students.

A house owned by the College and located in a quiet section a few hundred yards from the campus, has been converted into the Infirmary at a cost of $10,000.

Up to this time the College has had to use the facilities of local hospitals to care for students needing medical care and many hospital cases of students who remained in their fraternity or dormitory rooms, the dangers of epidemic having been a serious hazard.

The facilities include eight beds, a bath room, a sleeping porch and office space for the two residence physicians.

President Hamilton Holt of the college is of the opinion that the new infirmary is one of the most important additions ever made to Rollins.

fraternities, and many evening dances are planned. The "P. G. C.,"

Woman Flies Plane Out Over Atlantic To Commit Suicide

(Continued from Page One). than four hours after Mrs. Stanton had sent her plane into the air—sent three pilots maneuvering their planes over the ocean but Maloney said this was really a gesture and explained the start had made the chances of finding either the woman or traces of the plane remote.

In her note to Maloney—one of seven that had been discovered last night—Mrs. Stanton told the airport manager to refrain from sending anyone on a dangerous search for her and declared she was "sorry to have it that way, but that's better than having an aviation accident."

Her husband was killed in an upset of an automobile near here less than two weeks ago. Friends said she had grieved deeply. She held a private pilot's license and renewed it last week. Maloney said she had been flying frequently since her husband died.

Maloney said he believed she flew as far out over the ocean until the gasoline was very low. Then he said he believed she opened the throttle wide, sent the plane into a sharp climb and then flew straight down into the sea.

Steadily rained from infantile pneumonia, Mrs. Stanton held one of the few special dispensation pilot licenses in the country.

Her final request of Maloney was that there be no "fanfare" or cheapness. She said she felt a distinct aversion to the word "suicide."

Despite her intense interest in minor league work, Mrs. Stanton said to be an artist of above the average ability. Along with the note to Maloney, Mrs. Stanton wrote briefly to her parents, Col. and Mrs. Raymond Brock of Jacksonville, Dr. and Mrs. Stanton of Hastings, parents of her husband; Donald McGovern, a Jacksonville attorney; J. G. Nall, department of commerce assistant to her sister, Mrs. Louise Edwards; and Laurine Young, veteran pilot and the man who taught her to fly.

ROLLINS TO GIVE WEIGHT TO TEAM FROM CAROLINA

Tars To Meet Veteran Eleven In Game At Orlando Tomorrow

WINTER PARK, Nov. 22.—The Lenoir Rhine Bears, who are coming to town Thursday night of this week to battle the Rollins Tars, will have a weight advantage of twelve pounds to the man in the line. Even in the backfield, where Rollins usually has a slight edge on opponents in weight, the statistics show a stand-off with both teams having an average weight of 175 pounds behind the line.

The Hickory, N. C., lads appear, on paper, to be tall and heavy. Ten of the men stand six feet or more and most of them weigh about 180. The squad seems to be blessed also with plenty of veterans as only three of the Bears are playing their first year on the squad. Three are putting in their fourth year on the team, four are playing their third year, and thirteen others are playing their second.

Gator-Auburn Tilt To Be Witnessed By Record Crowd

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 22.—Auburn's sensational victory over Georgia a week before Florida's Homecoming has definitely turned a new interest on the Tigers' visit to Gatorland this Saturday, and the question is asked—will a new high attendance record be set?

The Alabama game here in 1930 when Florida dedicated her stadium and observed Homecoming at the same time, established the high attendance of all time, athletic authorities recording as the official attendance, 19,479. The Georgia game in Jacksonville this fall is the second high, 18,051. The Georgia game in 1929 ranks third with 16,703 and the Georgia game in 1931 next with 18,149.

That the Georgia Bulldogs have an appeal to Florida football fans is clearly demonstrated by the above figures which show that three of the four high attendance games in the Gator's grid history have been tilts with the Red and black from Athens.

Auburn has always enjoyed a good patronage when she played on Florida soil, but this week it is assured that the gridiron from the "Lovely Village" who put the skids under Georgia so unmercifully last Saturday, will play before the largest Florida audience that has ever seen an Auburn team in action.

The capacity of Florida Field stadium here is 22,000, and while there is no prospect that it will be filled, upwards of 18,000 persons are expected to be present for the kick-off at 2:30 P. M. Saturday.

SHOLTZ DENIES REPRIEVE FOR FORREST LAKE

Governor Turns Down Petition By Local Persons Who Asked Additional Freedom

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—Governor Sholtz today said he would not grant a reprieve to Forrest Lake, Sanford banker sentenced to three years in prison, pending his application to the State Pardon Board for a pardon.

Mr. Lake recently lost an appeal in the Supreme Court to have his sentence to the prison set aside on the grounds that the statute under which he was convicted of making false entries in bank records, did not specify imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Since the decision, Governor Sholtz told the state cabinet today, a group of Sanford citizens have petitioned him to grant a reprieve so that Lake would not have to go to the prison before the Pardon Board acts on his petition. Governor Sholtz told the cabinet he would not grant the reprieve.

170 Men Reported Trapped In Canyon By Fire Are Safe

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—One hundred and seventy men cut off by a roaring brush and forest fire in the foothills northwest of Los Angeles were reported safe by a motorcycle officer who ran the gauntlet of flames and found them scurrying to safety.

The men, county welfare workers engaged in unemployment relief work, were making their way over the hills and were apparently in no danger, the officer said.

A camp housing the men was reported surrounded by flames and out of the 100 men encamped only 20 were first reported to have made their way to safety.

Concern also was expressed for 40 additional fire fighters, members of the CCC, who failed to report to their headquarters for more than two hours.

The brush fire is completely out of control, and it is raging in three separate canyons. Nearly 800 men are concentrated at Tujunga in an effort to save that city. Several residences and a large number of cars, more than 16,000 gallons of choice wines were destroyed.

Tracy Dismissed For Mexican Escapade

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—Lee Tracy, film actor, was discharged from the employ of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion picture company last night by Louis B. Mayer, studio executive, who described Tracy's behavior in Mexico City as "deplorable."

Announcement of Tracy's dismissal was contained in a telegram which Mayer sent to Abelardo Rodriguez, president of Mexico. It said the actor's five-year contract had been cancelled "as a result of Tracy's deplorable behavior."

"Not only has he been removed from the film 'Viva Villa,'" the telegram continued, "but he has been dismissed entirely from our studio and his contract cancelled."

Confirmation Of Work On Channel Is Secured

Confirmation of Congressman W. J. Sears' recent announcement that he had arranged for the dredging of a channel in Lake Monroe near the municipal docks was received today from Major E. C. Dunn, district engineer of the U. S. War Department office at Jacksonville.

The work will get under way within the next three weeks, according to Major Dunn. It will include the dredging of several shallow areas directly in front of present and proposed docks. When the work is completed, it will be possible for boats to use these docks without danger of being grounded on the lake bottom as is now the case.

Administration Disregards Criticisms Made By Sprague; Fisher Upholds President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—Disregarding verbal blasts set off by Dr. O. M. W. Sprague's criticism of the government's monetary policy, the administration held to its gold buying program yesterday and simultaneously disclosed that the treasury was supporting the bond market.

Funds turned over to the treasury for investment by various governmental agencies, including the postal savings, farm credit administration, the debt sinking fund and federal deposit insurance were described as going toward the purchase of government bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University last night said that the monetary policy of President Roosevelt "is substantially right."

He spoke at a meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, with Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma. The senator said he was "as much opposed to inflation—the imprudent, excessive and over-issue of either currency or credit, as any money changer in Wall Street."

Professor Fisher declared that the core of President Roosevelt's monetary policy is contained in his address to the London economic conference July 3, in which the President said:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(A.P.)—A prediction that President Roosevelt would move to restore silver to monetary glory before Congress convenes on Jan. 3 came yesterday from Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada.

Pittman, in a cable to Sir George Schuster, at New Dehli, India, his belief that President Roosevelt would aid silver.

The cable originated in China on approval by India of a silver anti-dumping agreement worked out at the London conference at which Pittman was one of the American delegates.

Pittman indicated the President was considering a suggestion of limited free usage or recompensation of domestic silver producers proposed this program by Roosevelt several weeks ago.

The suggestion originated at the London conference and the silver dumping for four years to come with Jan. 1 and ended by India, the holder of an estimated $60,000,000 ounces, to a total of 140,000,000 fine ounces over the four years at the rate of $6,000,000 yearly.

The lady lay prone on the operating table in the orderly little office of Dr. Wynekoop, whose late husband, father, two brothers-in-law and daughter Catherine have gained note as physicians in China.

She had been slain evidently by a child, calculations later, for the one bullet wound passed her back exactly where it would reach the heart. She was unclad except for her blouse and a slip, pulled down to her waist.
