Intermediaries In Kidnap Case Still Have Hope But Optimism Is Seen Ebbing

HOPEWELL, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—Three Norfolk intermediaries seeking the kidnaped Lindbergh baby today had a new summons to a party today while optimism here was ebbing. They said they had not abandoned hope of getting the baby back through a person who represented them as a go-between for the Lindberghs.

Members of the police expressed skepticism about that angle of the search. They disclosed an investigation launched into the origin of a bank fire which endangered the Lindbergh home Tuesday. They said Henry Johnson, sailor and father of nurse Betty Gow was turned over to federal immigration authorities after he was questioned in connection with the case.

Search for Harry Fleischer, alleged member of a Detroit kidnaping gang, was extending along the eastern seaboard. He is wanted for questioning regarding his activities on the night the baby was abducted.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police head, disclosed the nationwide hunt for Harry Fleischer, a known kidnaper, had been intensified by reports he had been seen several times under suspicious circumstances since the Lindbergh baby was stolen from his crib.

"Investigators have followed each of these leads," the police au-

CALDWELL IS SPEAKER HERE ON CANDIDACY

Sees Re-Organization Of State Legislature As Necessary To Correct Evils

Declaring that a classic legislative system must be found and overcome by every governor before the State can expect the benefits of good government, Sanford Caldwell, of Jacksonville, Democratic candidate for governor, addressed a gathering of about 60 persons last night at the corner of First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Prefacing the main part of his speech with a few remarks on his minor political roles of the past and his co-operation in the latter days of the Democratic party, Mr. Caldwell declared that it is not only his ambition to be governor of his native state but to be one worthy of the name, one who could merit the people's choice with "dynamic and constructive achievement," and not one who would merely fill the chair with "dignity and routine respectability."

That the constitutional foundation of the State government (as to the House and Senate) interfere with proper and efficient functioning of those law bodies, was the opinion expressed by the Jacksonville attorney when he recited the difficulties confronted by the last session of the Legislature and recounted its various extra sessions and hurried efforts to pass the revenue bill in the final few minutes of the last extra session.

For the correction of this evil Mr. Caldwell suggested the formation of a committee to study the problem.

MANY RACES ARE REPRESENTED ON HONOLULU JURY

Six Men Of American Descent Are Among Melting Pot Group

HONOLULU, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—A representative "melting pot" jury was completed here yesterday after four days of legal maneuvering to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three navy men accused of lynching Joseph Kahanawai.

The see-saw tactics of Clarence Darrow, defense attorney, and John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, ended in acceptance of six men of American descent, three Chinese, one Portuguese, one German and one Hawaiian.

Darrow, who admitted the cosmopolitan complexion of the panel puzzled him for the first time in 34 years of law practice, sought to qualify Caucasians and discard Orientals. Kelley strove to keep Orientals or Hawaiians in the box.

Mrs. Fortescue, well known in Washington and New York society is on trial with her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Maesie, U. S. N., and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, enlisted men, Kahanawai, the slain Hawaiian, was accused of an attack on Mrs. Maesie.

"We accept the jury, your honor," Montgomery Winn, of the defense, finally said to Presiding Judge Charles S. Davis.

Kelley, who a few minutes previously had stated the jury was acceptable, hesitated a moment and then said:

"We accept the jury."

Judge Davis adjourned the trial to Monday when testimony will start.

Ex-Governor Drops In to 2nd Place With Sholtz And Martin Crowding Him Hard

Howey Shows Nearly Twice G. O. P. Vote As Herbert Hoover

A veritable snow storm of ballots have piled into The Herald office during the past 24 hours, running the total cast so far in this newspaper's presidential and gubernatorial straw vote up to 342 for president and 337 for governor, with Roosevelt overwhelming all opposition, whether Democratic or Republican, and Howey capturing first place on the gubernatorial side from Hardee, the leading Democratic candidate, who seemed to be safely in the lead over his Republican rival when yesterday's count was made. It's G. O. P. Day in Sanford today.

Howey gained the ascendancy when there was a sudden falling off in the support which Hardee evidenced during the early part of the week, and a slight change in the Democratic tendency which was favorable to Sholtz and Martin. The combined Democratic vote, however, is still substantially superior to the Republican vote as represented by the 32 votes cast for Howey had received up to the morning's check-up. The Democrats have divided their strength of 342 among eight Democratic candidates.

For the first time since the poll began, Hardee has failed to lead in a single day's balloting. During the past 24 hours he had picked up 23 additional votes. (Continued on page Eight)

ECUADOR'S NAVY, OF 2 GUNBOATS, STAGES MUTINY

Attack Upon English Oil Tanker Lends International Touch

QUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—Ecuador's navy, consisting of two gunboats, mutinied yesterday to prevent the homecoming of Gen. Leonidas Plaza Gutierrez, twice president and former minister to the United States, who was exiled in 1925.

The disturbance took on an international complexion when a party of the insurrectionists, en route to the fort, captured the oil tanker Buaro, the property of an English company.

All these activities failed to prevent General Plaza from landing. He disembarked with his family, had lunch at one of the hotels, and then returned unharmed to his ship, apparently intending to proceed to Quito.

The day's turmoil was increased by a clash between police and a mob of unemployed, who attacked workers loading ships in the river, and by a demonstration from Quito, the capital, telling of the discovery by (Continued on Page Seven)

PINELLAS SEEKS STATES AID FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Starts Proceedings To Get Funds Allocated It On Tag Sale

CLEARWATER, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—Municipal proceedings to require the state to take money from its general fund to help operate schools will be filed in the state supreme court on behalf of the Pinellas board of public instruction, it was decided at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon.

Faced with the probability that this county's share of revenue from the sale of automobile license tags and the constitutional one-half mill tax on real estate would amount to the $289,554 allotted to the county under the $7,500,000 state school appropriation made by the last Legislature, the board decided to take the step.

The school board instructed its attorney, Representative J. L. Kelly, to prepare the case for filing within the next two weeks. Other counties are expected to join in the proceedings, board members said.

TWO THREATS OF CIVIL WAR LOOM IN CHINESE AREAS

Province Of Shantung And Central China Appear As Menacing

SHANGHAI, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—While Sino-Japanese peace negotiations simmered in deadlock today, there appeared two threats of civil war against the Nanking government, one from the communists in the west, and the other from a group of war lords in the north.

Attention centered on a coalition of Yellow River war lords, the most powerful of whom appeared to be General Han-Fu Chu, who has control of Shantung province with 70,000 well-armed and thoroughly trained troops.

Scant attention had been paid to him until today when rumors began to circulate that he would band with other war lords in Hopen, Shensi and Shansi provinces to overthrow China's foremost generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek.

These war lords, in control of the Yellow River area northward to the Great Wall for some time, are reported increasingly displeased with the restraint of Nanking.

To the west in central China are several communistic governments, the most menacing of which appears to be that of Gen. (Continued on Page Three)

SENATE VOTES TO LEND MONEY TO STORM VICTIMS

$5,000,000.00 Provided For People Hit By Dixie Wind Storms

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—The Senate yesterday voted, 40 to 17 to lend $5,000,000 of federal money to unfortunate residents of southern states recently visited by terrific storms.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Black (D. Ala.), now goes to the House. It authorizes the secretary of agriculture to lend up to $5,000 each to residents of the stricken areas of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky to assist them in rehabilitation.

Favorable action followed three hours of debate during which Senator Fess (R. Ohio), opposed the measure on the ground it would set a bad precedent and increase the Treasury deficit.

Senator Black refused to allow the issue to be put over to another day.

Mississippi was eliminated from the benefits of the measure at the request of Senator Harrison of that state, who explained it was affected but little by the tornado which struck on the night of Mar. 21.

The resolution was opposed by (Continued on Page Three)

Farmer Freed In Fatal Shooting Of His Uncle, Partner

Shortly after 11:30 o'clock this morning, J. W. Johnson, Wagner, farmer, who yesterday was arrested for the fatal shooting of his uncle and partner, W. W. Myers, was set free as the result of an investigation conducted by a coroner's jury which, according to Justice of the Peace O. P. Harrison, "found nothing with which to hold the defendant."

Johnson, however, admitted shooting Myers but claimed self defense as his motive. The jury's verdict completely substantiated the defendant's claim. It read as follows: "We find that W. W. Myers, 77, was shot to death as the result of an argument by J. W. Johnson, 34."

Johnson, yesterday, told officials that Myers attacked him with a machete and that following several arguments over the ownership of a piece of property the shooting followed.

Officials sent the machete to Orlando to have their print experts identify it. According to a report and have this morning the prints were found.

The body was taken to Sanford hospital and reported the affair to Sheriff W. McCollough. He said the shooting took place at about 11:30 a. m. with Myers, 77, and Johnson, 34, in the room.

Johnson's attorneys have asked for the body to be returned to the defendant's home, at (Continued on Page Seven)

Hoover Prepares For Budget Cutting Meet

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—Seated at the head of the cabinet table, President Hoover today armed himself with new facts upon cutting federal expenditures in preparation for the meeting tomorrow with the House Economy Committee in a unique move toward balancing the budget.

It was the regular, semi-weekly meeting of the cabinet. The President gave to each man present a new instrument.

The instrument—an "economy yardstick" affair consisted of a narrow piece of cardboard bearing upon the edges the names of various government divisions and figures running into billions. Tomorrow's meeting is the outgrowth of attacks and counter attacks between the White House and Capitol Hill.

Extortion Note With Human Finger Is Sent

CLEVELAND, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—A grisly extortion plot in which a finger, hacked from a human hand was sent to John Wilberding, prominent building loan company president, as a terrifying warning, was investigated today by detectives.

Accompanying the finger left in Wilberding's mailbox was a demand that he pay $3,000 to a messenger of the extortionist. Whether the finger was severed from a dead or living body could not be determined. It was cut and torn from the left hand of an adult man wrapped in an envelope for delivery. The letter was the second demanding money. The first threatened death if he failed to comply. The second also threatened him.

Legionnaires Resist Dry Agents In Miami

MIAMI, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—The News today had five prohibition agents defended a hastily barricaded cafe at Miami Beach last night against several score American Legionnaires after the agents with drawn guns had entered the place to raid it. One shot was fired but none was hurt.

The paper said the patrons inside hindered the progress of the agents toward the door while others outside cut the tires of the agents' automobile and threatened to overturn it.

After lining the patrons against the wall the agents, unable to reach the door, locked themselves in the cafe and summoned additional agents. Five cafe employees were arrested. Prohibition headquarters declined to comment on the raid, saying there was a "slight disturbance" at the cafe and one person was arrested.

LEHMANN GIVES ADDRESS BEFORE EXCHANGE CLUB

Sees Transportation And Farm Interests As Closely Allied

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 7.—Warning that safeguards should be placed around the development of the transportation service out of the state in order to protect the agricultural interests, Karl Lehmann, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, yesterday noon discussed Florida's prospects of the future with members of the Jacksonville Exchange Club. The club was in weekly luncheon session at the George Washington Hotel. In his discussion of the state's transportation problems, Mr. Lehmann declared that the state owes a debt of gratitude to the great transportation systems, saying that "we do not fully appreciate their agricultural and horticultural contributions."

He touched briefly on the plan to cut a canal from the St. Johns River to the Indian River, pointing out the tourist possibilities of such a move in getting pleasure craft into the St. Johns, and concentrated Jacksonville on getting San. Charles P. Sumnerall to head the national organization seeking the cross-state canal to connect the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Turning to water carriers handling freight service on fruits, Mr. Lehmann warned of a danger of flooding markets, pointing out what he said was a bad situation in New York City when a steamer landed almost a week's supply of citrus fruits there in one day. It was at that point and in connection with truck operations that Mr. Lehmann insisted on the necessity of developing the state's transportation facilities.

"Florida will always be the dominating tourist prospect of the United States," Mr. Lehmann said. He criticized policies of some cities in the past—he mentioned no specific municipalities—in the handling of the tourist question relative to entertainments, etc., offered travelers, and declared that "we need a reformation in tourist promotion in the state."

He urged that "we guard our credit mightily in our industrial growth," and declared that "an industry we have to bonus to get, we'll have to bonus to keep."

Florida's development industry will, in his opinion, be in industries related to agriculture," Mr. Lehmann declared. "Florida's backbone is agriculture and it will be increasingly so."

Mr. Lehmann declared as he began to cite a few figures as to the value to the state of its agricultural products. He said that the citrus industry alone represented an investment of $500,000,000, and declared that "spells about one-third of the agricultural story of Florida."

He turned to Seminole County with particular reference to that section's production of celery and said that last year's movement of Spine and vegetables from that county was on an average of one day per hour for every hour of the day and night. He said that last year's celery crop grossed $8,000,000 to Seminole County.

Mr. Lehmann was introduced by Thomas C. Imeson, city commissioner and a past president of the National Exchange Club.

The entertainment features of the meeting were two soloists, Mrs. Bruce Fudge and Robert Farina. Both sang three numbers each.

Frank Forster Announces For Clerk Of Court

He became connected with Lyman Bank when the First National Bank was organized on Nov. 1, 1927. Mr. Forster was elected as its first cashier. Named vice-president, while in 1918, he became president of the institution.

Among the interesting memories of the years of service he gave to this community is a gold watch presented him on July 1, 1913 by citizens of the county, in recognition of the efforts he had expended in behalf of the creation of Seminole County which until then had been a part of Orange County.

Another memento is a diamond stick pin, presented him when he retired from the Board of Public Instruction, after serving five years as its first chairman.

Mr. Forster served one term in the Florida State Legislature, after being elected in 1920. He was a director of the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville for 23 years, a former director of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, and now holds an honorary life membership in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

bulletins have been cast with 12 failing to indicate any preference for governor. Huey Long whose name was written in on four ballots in yesterday's count, failed to show any strength today and remained with a total of four. Hoover, who ranked third in total votes cast yesterday, jumped into second place today nosing out Byrd who was second yesterday and running ahead of Garner who is second among the Democrats today. Hoover's vote stood at 28 this morning.

His party's candidate for governor was still showing considerably more strength than the head of the ticket. Forty votes have been cast for the Republican candidate for governor, while the combined Democratic strength in the gubernatorial race is shown as 144. The Republican candidate for president has received 28 votes as compared with 158 votes for the various Democratic candidates.

In the presidential race, Baker received 4, Byrd 16, Cox 4, Garner 22, Murray 10, Ritchie 16, Robinson 7, Roosevelt 84, Smith 16, Long 4, and Hoover 28. In the gubernatorial race Caldwell received 22 votes, Durrance 1, Eberhardt 1, Hardie 57, Hathaway 1, Martin 24, Morris 24, Hovey 40. Only two more days remain in which to mark a ballot and get it into the Herald office so that it can be counted in this straw vote. The polls close sharply at midnight on Saturday and it will be just too bad for anyone who wants to vote after that time. Additional reports on the progress of the balloting will be made tomorrow and Saturday with the final count reported on Monday.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE FAVOR REVENUE BILL

Mills declared the Treasury would not recommend a revival of the sales tax so decisively rejected by the House and his statement appeared to end this proposition.

The secretary startled the committee with an unequivocal declaration for the federal estate or inheritance tax as a permanent tax proposition, abandoning the campaign of his predecessor, Andrew W. Mellon, for repeal of this duty.

However, he condemned the 45 percent maximum inheritance rate, voted by the House and advocated a 25 percent maximum.

He was questioned closely 25 times by committee members. According to Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, he declared it "imperative" the government balance its budget next year. He congratulated the House for standing by this principle and said the action was necessary to leave unimpaired the public credit which has been placed behind the private credit of the nation in the emergency.

Mills called for elimination from the bill of the increased rate imposed on consolidated returns by corporations, of the tax placed on stock dividends and of the ban against allowances for net loss deductions.

Future Of Tung Oil Industry In State Described

"We already have the market in the United States for tung oil," he said. "While there is an overproduction in desks, chairs, electrical appliances, and a lot of other things in the country, that's not the case in tung oil. Last week a carload of the oil was shipped out of Gainesville for 10 cars, or 100 cars or 1000 cars were made available, they would find a market as quickly."

"Tung oil has not been used in the manufacture of paints, yet and when that is started, no telling how many more uses it can be put to in varnishes, the oil is closely related to resin, and there are possibilities of a number of industries springing up where the oil is produced."

Jacksonville's rail and port facilities, without doubt will be used in getting Florida's production to Eastern manufacturers, until such factories as can utilize the oil are established here, the Washington official intimated. Although he has spent nearly the entire past decade watching and studying the tung oil possibilities, he said that he could not tell how far beyond his own dreams the industry would go.

Mr. Concannon spent the day here in company with Walter N. Pearce, manager of the district office of the bureau in Jacksonville, and during the day drove to Ocala to view the naval stores experimental station there.

Cheating in School

No one knows better than the students themselves to what extent cheating may or may not exist in the schools. They are the ones who are on the scene when and if this practice is indulged in, and they cannot be enlightened as to its extent. However, they can be advised as to the evils of looking at someone else's paper, of taking someone else's information and using it as one's own, and they can be shown that such a practice is a serious step leading towards dishonesty in other ways.

It occurs to us that the best method to wipe out cheating is to establish a sentiment against it similar to that which exists against stealing money. Pupils are very apt to minimize the seriousness of merely glancing over at a neighbor's writing. It may seem that such a trivial act, not associated with any of the odium attached to thievery, can't do very much harm.

Maybe it isn't so very bad, maybe it is sort of like picking an orange off a tree that belongs to somebody else. But the people who steal oranges from other people and the pupils who steal information from other pupils are laying a good foundation for a possible criminal career. Their first delinquencies are the forerunners of worse of offenses, the opening wedges in the armor of character, which make the path to crime easier.

Teachers who are hired primarily to instruct our pupils and who are not charged with the responsibility of their morals, are nevertheless forced to make some effort to keep down cheating in order that a true value of a pupil's work can be ascertained. But there are many ways to avoid detection and unless strictest observation is made there are apt to be many cases of violation.

With no intention of making any charges but merely in the interest of fostering a popular sentiment among the school children against cheating, The Herald suggests that our teachers spare no effort in discouraging this evil with the result that Sanford's future citizens will have been thoroughly drilled in the virtue of integrity.

Florida's Exhibit At World Exposition To Be Good Example

DELAND, Apr. 5.—Millions of Americans, in Florida, as in other states, are asking "What is a diorama?" Ever since the newspapers of the country have begun to publish news stories of the Century of Progress exposition to be held in Chicago in 1933, the word "diorama" has been so frequently printed in connection with the proposed big show, that public interest has been aroused as to its meaning.

The word can be found in even the most abridged dictionary, but the definition set forth in painting or series of paintings for exhibition, is far from being a definition or description of the word as it is used in connection with modern expositions such as that which will be staged in Chicago next year, and in which Florida purposes to figure largely.

"A diorama, in the sense in which the word is coming to be used in connection with great expositions, is an illusion of reality," says Edward J. Ashenden, the English artist who, with his experience as a creator of dioramas at the great expositions held with in the past year or two, at Wembley, in England, and in Paris last year, is now in Chicago, directing the work of constructing some of the dioramas which will be featured in the Century of Progress exposition.

And such it is, as is being demonstrated at their studio in Deland, by the artists who are creating the dioramas, which will feature the Florida exhibit, models of which are being taken about the state for exhibition at meetings and gatherings of various kinds for the purpose of giving the people interested an idea of what they may expect when they reach the world's fair grounds in Chicago during the summer of 1933.

The diorama has been described as "a pictorial representation in three dimensions, width, height and depth," but that carries but little meaning to the layman. If the diorama is well made the beholder has the feeling that it has a fourth dimension—distance—and that he is looking miles away into the background. In other words, the "illusion of reality" suggested by Mr. Ashenden, plays an important part in the entertainment of those who witness the diorama presented by the picture.

The diorama calls for a combination of the arts of the painter, the sculptor and the architect. The resultant illusion must be so complete that the looker on has difficulty in learning where the work of the sculptor and the architect stop and that of the painter begins. Lighting also plays an important part in making the illusion complete.

It has been said that had it not been for the invention of the diorama, the principles employed in the creation and construction of the diorama, great expositions would not have been revived after those of 1915, at San Francisco and San Diego. The people had become tired of looking at the same old thing—masses of machinery, the products of farms, groves, orchards and fields. They came away tired, physically and mentally, forgetting what they had seen and heard; regretting their visit. They were off world's fairs forever.

However, art and science backed by showmanship, developed the diorama by means of which a much more comprehensive idea of the great industry, plantations, rolling or of a pleasure resort, for instance, can be given than was possible before the diorama had been brought to its present state of perfection. It makes possible a picture of scenes which have before now even been dreamed of being shown.

Because of its wealth of tropical scenery, Florida's exhibit at Chicago can be displayed at Chicago in a manner and with a verisimilitude by means of the many dioramas now under construction, which will make it the outstanding exhibit in the Court of States.

Two dioramas from the Florida exhibit are being shown at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. One is a diorama of the Florida Everglades, and the other is a diorama of the Florida citrus industry.

The diorama of the Florida Everglades is a masterpiece of art and science. It shows the vast expanse of the Everglades, with its winding waterways and its rich vegetation. The diorama of the Florida citrus industry shows the orange groves and the workers in the fields.

RESIGNATION OF JAMES W. GERARD SEEN SIGNIFICANT

HARLAN, Ky., Apr. 5.—(A.P.)—Delighted over being the first college group to investigate conditions in Harlan county, eight students and two professors of the Journalism department of Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., left here yesterday to return to their class rooms.

"We have not been disappointed in Kentucky's hospitality," said Prof. W. Page Pitt, head of the Journalism department and conductor of the group. "The citizens and officials of Harlan County have shown us every courtesy and we're ready to praise the country from its hospitality to its beauty."

The group entered the county quietly Tuesday and got in touch with Sheriff John Henry Blair, who gave his permission to investigate conditions.

The group toured the county yesterday, visiting several coal companies, interviewing operators, working miners and jobless miners. Professor Pitt said the students were not investigating conditions in a sense of protest, but merely wished to gain first hand information concerning the coal fields of Harlan county.

The National Committee has been in debt since 1928 when Mr. Alfred E. Smith was the party's nominee for President. The last report by Mr. Gerard on Democratic finances showed that the committee had $140,489 on hand on Feb. 29 last, and owed $780,116. Of the latter figure, $483,706 was due the County Trust Company of New York, of which Mr. Raskob is a director and Mr. Smith, chairman of the board; $345,250 was owing Mr. Raskob, and $7100 to the John Price Jones Corporation, publicity agency for the Victory Fund campaign.

In political quarters here, high party preference is seen to be in effect for Mr. James A. Farley, Democratic chairman of the campaign to give Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt front place in the presidential lineup at Chicago, if he continues to wage successfully against the non-Roosevelt movement that is at present stirring the Democracy. Mr. Farley may even succeed to Mr. Raskob's place, it is held, if all goes well with the New York Governor.

Coincidentally with Mr. Gerard's resignation, announcement was made that Mr. Smith had sent telegrams to friends in Wisconsin and Minnesota denying reports that he would withdraw as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

So, since mankind is haunted day and night by fear of riots, want, disease, starvation, condemned by top laws to share the high of the gutter, suffering in each neighboring nation, it might have been assumed they would unite to solve their problems in cooperation.

And practice, what a few fanatics preach, the law of all for all and each for each. To find a cure for cancer; to devise some means of getting goods to those who need them; creating not unprofitable ties between the folk who've fed and those who feed them; to conquer insect pests; to mobilize credit, and justice, for all men and lead them through sheer increase of knowledge, and of wealth.

To some degree of happiness and health.

Instead, it seems that their opponents are that wherein they take the greatest pains. With hands, and hearts, and minds, they have done what they can to make their lives more comfortable. And every state retains in its employ people of public spirit and of brains.

Who spend their time discovering deadly germs. For killing off their fellow men in masses.

In fact, we found them colonizing the world. If they could even halt what they are doing.

On occasion, however, the dominating influence of these men and their followers is not these other things.

THE RICHARDSON REPORT

Interest in the Richardson report on Hawaiian crime conditions has been increased by its rather coincidental submission to the Senate at the very time when the trial of Mrs. Fortescue and Lieutenant Massie is beginning in Honolulu. It was the murder of a young Hawaiian following an assault on Mrs. Massie which stirred the Department of Justice to such action that it sent a commission headed by Beth Richardson, assistant attorney general, to the islands to investigate conditions.

In his report, which would require several columns of type to print in full, Richardson not only made several recommendations for laws which Congress might pass in an effort to improve the situation but also pointed out numerous defects in the system of justice and the detection of crime. Criminal tendencies on the whole, he said, were no worse than on the mainland, but politics often played an important part in the failure of the courts to convict.

Beginning with the problem of apprehending criminals, Mr. Richardson declared that the police in Honolulu, whose chief concern was political activity and the requirements of staying in office, were undisciplined, neglectful, and unintelligent. The county sheriff, who is the head of the police, was found to be wholly inexperienced in police administration.

Numerous prosecuting attorneys, the report continued, cover the islands. In Honolulu, this official was characterized as "inexperienced, inefficient, and immersed in politics, his deputies appointed largely for political purposes. . . . As a result prosecutions had fallen into disrepute and there was a lack of public confidence in the county attorney. . . . Mr. Richardson found no fault with the judges, pointing out that they were appointed by the President (of the United States) and subject to no political interference.

Continuing the report stated that the prison system on the islands is very inefficient. "The High Sheriff was, by law, in charge of the state prison. He was a man entirely without experience or disciplinary ability! The prisoners were haphazardly guarded both within and without the prison, and the entire administration of prison affairs was extraordinarily lax. . . . The parole system we found to be exceedingly lax. No proper record was kept of paroles, no reports of parole prisoners were required, and only a nominal parole officer was provided, his duties being largely 'playing politics'."

In view of these conditions it was extremely likely that such a crime wave as had spread over the islands during the past year would result. Business men and civic leaders, now greatly annoyed by the adverse publicity given island conditions, might well have expected nothing else. Another view we take of the situation is that if the Richardson recommendations succeed in stamping out crime on the islands, or even in checking it, a similar attempt might be made in some of our more important cities on the mainland.

General activity prevails in all survived by his wife and two brothers, J. B. Williams, and T. W. Williams.

The Sanford Music Club held its regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. George Fox, Jr., Tuesday night, with Mrs. Fox as leader. She sang, his life and composition, was the subject of the afternoon. Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Fox, Miss Mary, Miss Florence, Miss Frank, Miss George, Miss Miss, Miss Carrie, Miss Lewis, Miss Flora Johnson, and Miss Wood.

Mrs. T. A. Neal is home again after a delightful trip and that of a week in the big world with Mrs. Neal in Florida. Mrs. Neal visited in Sanford, Fla., for a short time in New Orleans where she enjoyed the Mardi Gras.

J. T. Lanier, candidate for sheriff, is in Sanford, Fla., for a short time in New Orleans where she enjoyed the Mardi Gras.

CANNON WARNS PARTIES NOT TO HAVE WET PLANK

Says Action Will Incur Opposition Of Prohibition Forces

NEWARK, N. J., Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, last night warned both political parties that the inclusion of wet planks in their presidential platforms would arouse dry opposition.

Addressing the Newark conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he called upon President Hoover, as the probable Representative to demand that his party reject proposals for a wet plank.

The churchman also accused newspapers in large cities of printing "false and vicious wet propaganda" and said "ignorance, bias, prejudice or malice, or all combined," sit enthroned in their editorial chairs.

"In 1920, 1924, and 1928, efforts were made to insert dry and wet planks in the Democratic national platform," he said. "I personally opposed either wet or dry planks as vigorously as I could, and at all three conventions neither wet nor dry planks, but law enforcement planks, were adopted.

"There is no question but that the efforts will again be made to insert a wet plank in the Democratic platform, and I greatly fear that, unless dry Democratic leaders flatly declare they demand a law enforcement plank, that they will carry the night on that issue to the convention floor, and that they will not support a candidate running on a wet plank, that there will be a wet plank in the Democratic platform, and a candidate named by the wet leadership running on that wet plank.

Should the wet leadership succeed in writing their wet plank into the Democratic platform and dictate the nomination of a wet candidate, then the same group which repudiated the wet Tammany Smith leadership in 1928 will repudiate vigorously, and I believe effectively, similar leadership in 1932.

"It is admitted on all sides that President Hoover will be the Republican nominee. He can demand that the Republican convention limit itself to the adoption of a law enforcement plank. He can prevent the injection of a plank for resubmission of the prohibition question in the Republican party platform. The responsibility of the Republican party platform rests with him, and he must justly be held responsible for whatever action is taken by the convention.

"Should both conventions adopt law enforcement planks, as in the past, the prohibition question will be taken out of the campaign as far as the party platforms are concerned, and will center around the personally expressed views and records of the two candidates. But should both conventions adopt planks advocating resubmission or repeal of the prohibition amendment and should both the Democratic nominee and Mr. Hoover agree to run on such wet planks, then there should arise a situation which would compel those who put their convictions and moral principles above party labels to confer together to determine the proper course to pursue under such

DRY AGENTS WILL MAKE LARGE MAP OF SPEAKEASIES

Federal Men Set Out To Compile Directory Of Rum Joints

NEW YORK, Apr. 8.—Sixty prohibition agents, armed with large maps and pockets full of red-headed pins, set forth yesterday to compile a speakeasy directory of New York.

Some have said there were 60,000 liquor dispensaries on this island. Others have put that estimate down to 40,000. Commissioner of Police Edward P. Mulrooney says that "nobody has guessed within 20,000 of the real number." The prohibition department has decided to end all guesswork.

Having compiled the directory of speakeasies, night clubs, saloons and "private clubs"—private to anybody who hasn't got a dollar—the 60 agents will then be in a position to plan a new, intensive and intelligent attack on the vice front, according to Col. Amos W. Woodcock, director of prohibition.

Thus there is every indication of a tightening up all along the prohibition front. It was reported but without confirmation, that the latest orders came from Washington, and that the higherups in the federal government are determined to take away from the wets their favorite argument which begins, "Now you take New York's instance."

Monday night there was a sensational raid on the Chimes, one of the most elaborate of the city's luxurious liquor shops. In addition to stripping the club of its furnishings and ornate decorations, the agents finger printed the employes. And it was indicated that the Chimes raid was merely the opening gun in a vigorous campaign.

The agents who began their map-making business yesterday, are to report to Woodcock not only the location of the speakeasy, but its characteristics—whether it has a peephole through which customers can be inspected or whether, as thousands of them are, they are as easy of access as the old-time saloon. The agents will also note what class of trade is done, its hours of doing business, and the quality of its patrons.

Neither Director Woodcock nor Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell expect any help from New York's 19,000 policemen. In fact they have not requested assistance from any of Mulrooney's men.

Woodcock, in New York for a long conference with Campbell and United States Attorney Medalla, said that he "doesn't believe in drives" because such affairs savor of sensationalism.

"Maybe they could sell them maps to strangers," one bar keep said.

Referring to the newspapers, Bishop Cannon said: "The worst offenders in recent years have been the press of certain cities, usually with population largely foreign-born, or foreign extraction.

"These papers, not only in news, but also in editorial columns, have carried on such false and vicious wet propaganda that there is no escape from the conclusion that ignorance, bias, prejudice, or malice, or all combined, sit enthroned in the editorial chairs."

Legionnaires Are Urged To Work For National Defense

MIAMI, Apr. 8.—(A.P.)—A plea to legionnaires to work for adequate national defense to increase the national employment ratio, and against hoarding funds was voiced today by Henry Stevens, national commander, in an address before the Florida American Legion convention here.

He declared the nation is undefended by ample army or navy forces in the face of international conditions he termed "far graver than they were immediately prior to the opening of the war in 1914."

The United States, he said, is 20 percent behind in living up to the provisions of the London treaty. He urged further activities of the Legion to reduce unemployment and bring into circulation part of the $28,000,000 which he said represented the total of small savings accounts in the country.

PALM BEACH—Approximately $10,000 worth of new sewers will be installed here.
