

RAIL PROBERS MAKE REPORT AFTER STUDY

Consolidations And Permission To Run Trucks Are Recom- mended In Report

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A new era in transportation, with regulation concentrating on insuring the most efficient service at the lowest competitive cost, is envisaged in the report of the national transportation committee, published last night.

This report, the result of more than four months of work, most of which was under direction of the late Calvin Coolidge, has been anxiously awaited by large investors in the nation's $20,000,000,000 railroad system, who have long sought a solution for the vexed transportation problem.

The committee's conclusions—based on one of the most thorough surveys that has ever been made of the nation's transport facilities by a disinterested non-partisan body—find the outlook for the roads "far from hopeless" but assert that rates cannot be based on obsolete capital structures nor can competing forms of transportation be handicapped for the benefit of the railroads.

The committee urges "sweeping consolidation of the roads, on a regional basis, to eliminate wasteful duplication of facilities and services, and that these groupings be enforced by governmental action where necessary, looking eventually to a single national system.

As an emergency measure, facilitation of reorganizations was necessary to reduce unwieldy and uneconomic capital structures, as urged by revision of bankruptcy procedure. No broadening of the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is found necessary, although the committee points out that "adequate security" for loans does not necessarily mean "marketable collateral."

Railroad managements are taken to task for not using rather than seeking to combat, such competing forms of transportation as trucks and airplanes, and are severely criticized for seeking government aid without having first operated to eliminate wasteful competition and otherwise having taken advantage of all possible economies.

The report of the committee is signed by Bernard M. Baruch, who as vice chairman succeeded to the chairmanship on the death of former President Coolidge; by Clark Howell and Alexander Legge.

Reckless Spending Of State Funds To Be Given Check-up

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The board of commissioners today ordered a check-up of department expenditures with a view to bringing such purchases under the supervision of the state purchasing agent. A report to the department for January showed $43,000 spent for supplies under contract through the purchasing agent, while various offices spent $40,000 for emergency expenditures.

"We've got a purchasing agent and he is in a position to buy more advantageously than various departments. We will find out immediately why these departments cannot operate on a better schedule of buying through the purchasing department," Governor Sholtz said.

MAN IS SOUGHT IN KIDNAPING OF DENVER YOUTH

Hunt Is Ensnared In Mass Of Doubtful Clues Of Citizens

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Ensnared in a mass of doubtful clues furnished by excited citizens, authorities investigating the $50,000 ransom abduction of Charles Boettcher, II, wealthy Denver investment broker, have concentrated on solving the identity of a mystery man reported to have twice appeared at the home of Boettcher's father.

Previously Chief of Police A. T. Clark said he had determined positively that the kidnaper was "a couple of racketeers who have been here the last year."

Although Chief Clark declined to amplify his statement it was assumed the "brother" was identified photographs as those of the men who last Sunday night seized Boettcher at his home and forced him into an automobile.

Coupled with the investigation of the mystery man was a suspicious telephone call placed in the Brown Palace Hotel here to a number in Cicero, Ill., which Chicago authorities said was the home of John Brown, a gambler, who was questioned and released after he denied receiving the call. ## FARLEY SEEKS SUM TO ERASE PARTY DEFICIT

Chairman Of National Committee Makes Plea For $750,000.00 To All Democrats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A plain-spoken bid was issued yesterday for $750,000.00 to wipe out the Democratic party's deficit in the three weeks remaining before Franklin D. Roosevelt enters the White House.

James A. Farley, chairman of the national committee and probable postmaster general, and patronage dispenser for the new administration, announced a drive to make it possible for the new President to start in with "no obligations, embarrassing his party."

Farley minced no words. He said campaign contributions should be collected before presidential appointments to offices are made—so as to avoid even the appearance of a bargain.

The bigger contributions he argued, logically will come from the class of men who have demonstrated skill and ability in private affairs. Because of this evidence of ability, this class also will be drawn upon by Roosevelt in choosing assistants.

"The sort of men I have in mind," he continued, "would have no idea that they could buy an appointment. It would therefore be infinitely better if contributions were made beforehand to avoid even the appearance of a bargain.

"Of course the acceptance of a campaign contribution involves no obligation or commitments. The President can and will select his officeholders without reference to any contribution."

Farley said he saw no reason for being "mealy-mouthed" about the matter, especially "with an incoming administration that purposes to be entirely frank with the people."

Wisconsin Dairy Farmers Withhold Their Products In Effort To "Get" Price

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Wisconsin co-operative milk pool sales strike, a new farm threat in the campaign for higher prices, was to begin at milking time this morning.

Wisconsin dairy farmers in great numbers, Walter M. Siegler, president of the pool, said, would withhold their products from creameries, cheese factories, condenseries and city distributing stations. Strike leaders have expressed hope the movement would sweep the entire Middle West agricultural area.

The milk pool demands that creameries and cheese factories pay for milk on the farms. In the Milwaukee area, producers are paid $1.50 a hundred for milk sold in bottles. But in other cities the price to the farmers averages $1, while cheese factories and condenseries have been paying 60 cents.

What degree of success was in store for the strike depended on how generally the 180,000 farmers of Wisconsin followed the example of 6,000 members of the militant milk pool.

Local milk distributors and officials of condenseries and cheese factories faced the impending strike without anxiety, and apparently without any special preparations.

The Milwaukee milk producers association, co-operative which supplies the large Milwaukee market, gave assurances the pool would make its usual route today. It has not joined the strike.

Siegler said he looked for cooperation from the pure milk association, which supplies the Chicago market and to which many Wisconsin farmers belong. (Continued On Page Two)

DEADLINE ON TAGLESS CARS IS EMPHASIZED

Delinquent Motorists Will Be Subject To Arrest After Feb. 28th, States Agent

TAMPA, Feb. 15.—Florida motorists driving their cars after Feb. 28 without 1933 license tags are subject to immediate arrest and the enforcement of this section of the state motor vehicle law will begin Mar. 1 with no chance of an extension order from Tallahassee, it was announced yesterday by C. W. Cushing, Tampa state agent.

"The motor vehicle law is plain on this point," Cushing said. "It reads as follows: 'Operators of any vehicle after the month of February without having attached a license tag for the current year shall be subject to arrest and punishment as provided by the law for the operation of motor vehicles without proper license.'

With licenses purchased on all but new cars now subject to a 25 percent penalty, delinquent motorists running with 1932 plates on old cars after Mar. 1 will be liable to fines in state court, ranging from $5 to $25, the tag agent explained.

"No extensions can be granted," he said, "but the financial plight of the schools this year, even if the time could be extended, would compel state officials to demand rigid enforcement of the law. The proceeds of the auto tags as everyone knows, is put in the state treasury in the credit of county school funds. Unless the motorists buy tags the schools lose revenue and this means shorter terms. So it is the patriotic duty of motorists this year of '34' to buy tags."

Cushing also called attention to the state law requiring all persons driving cars on any road to carry state chauffeur licenses. These license badges are now on sale at the Tampa tag agency and the proceeds go into the school fund along with the automobile license money.

"The chauffeur license section of the motor vehicle law will be enforced rigidly as well as the auto tag provisions," Cushing added. "Motor clubs are vitally interested in the chauffeur license requirement and have asked the cooperation of state and county officers to enforce every section of the law."

GOVERNORS MUST PAY
LANBING, Mich.—Dismissal of garnishment proceedings affecting the salary of Gov. William A. Comstock was sought following the revelation of action against the governor to satisfy a property judgment of $7,002.

SHOLTZ REPORTS 25 PERCENT CUT IN STATE BUDGET

Announcement Of His Official Family Is Awaited On Return

MIAMI, Feb. 15.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt is expected when he returns from the sea today, to give his immediate attention to his cabinet and among his first visitors, probably will be Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, slated for secretary of the treasury.

It is believed likely Roosevelt and Senator Glass will talk things over in New York City this weekend. Whether Glass, takes over the treasury post is expected to determine the choice for one or two other cabinet portfolios.

However, most of the cabinet for the new deal is regarded as determined with James A. Farley, of New York, for postmaster general; Attorney General; William H. Woodin, of New York, for secretary of labor looked upon as certain.

Senator Hull, of Tennessee, also is placed as a sure shot in the cabinet. He is looked upon as secretary of state or secretary of the treasury should the veteran Glass feel unwilling to take over cabinet duties.

Because of the apparent desire of Roosevelt to have the Virginia senator back in the treasury office where he served under Woodrow Wilson, it is regarded that the next President is going to steer clear of Wall Street banking influences and also avoid anything but the most controlled form of currency inflation.

Glass has repeatedly criticized Wall Street bankers.

The yacht Nourmahal of Vincent Astor, carrying the Roosevelt vacation party, steered back to Nassau in the Bahama Islands yesterday before setting out for this port where debarkation will be made tonight.

Japan Ceases All Negotiations With League Of Nations

Tokyo Stock Exchange Closes Due To Drop Because Of Mounting Anti-Jap Feeling

TOKYO, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Japan served notice today that it has ceased negotiations with the League of Nations in the Manchurian dispute. The decision was announced in a statement issued by the Japanese government.

The Tokyo Stock Exchange closed at noon and then at Osaka and Nagoya also shut down owing to a severe slump in prices caused by indications of increasing anti-Japanese sentiment at Geneva.

It was learned on high authority that the government feels the withdrawal from the League would be a turning point in the country's history.

Before an ultimate decision is made, the Council of Elders, the nation's highest distinguished personages, heads of branches of the imperial family, and all living ex-premiers, will be summoned for consultation.

Yusuke Matsukata, who has been Japan's special counsel during the long debate over Manchuria before the League, called this a foreign office today requesting permission to leave Geneva and return home by way of the United States.

The foreign office said it will be granted, the request as soon as the League assembly discusses the Manchurian question which is expected to take place by Feb. 25 at the latest.

Although the League left the door open to consultation, the foreign office announced Japan will have no further objection to offer and would stand firmly on its determination to maintain the government of Manchuria in territories wrested from Chinese control.

NEW DIRECTOR IS NAMED ON BOARD OF TRADE BODY

James Wilson Of Chuluota By Unanimous Vote

JAMES WILSON, of Chuluota, last night was elected unanimously as a director of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, filling a vacancy in the board from the Chuluota section of the county.

The new director is president of the Duval Agricultural Club, and one of the leading farmers of his section. His name has been prominently identified with many constructive endeavors undertaken in the county during the past several months.

The election took place at a routine meeting of the Board of Directors, featured by reports on the recent membership drive and the progress of the county's exhibit at the Orlando Fair.

S. O. Shihohler, chairman of the Exhibit Committee, reported on the elaborate plans which are being made to this county's exhibit on the stage of the Orlando Municipal Auditorium the sensation of the Central Florida Exposition.

He told of the construction of an eight-foot diorama showing the celery growing industry in its many phases, and said that Byron Stephens, local commercial artist, is doing the work of his career on this diorama. He also announced that John E. Fox, of Paola, will be in charge of the exhibit, and that Alex R. Johnson and C. M. Dawson are assembling the fruits, vegetables, canned and preserved products and other articles that will be displayed.

President H. M. Papworth took occasion to offer congratulations to the membership committee and trade body workers who made a success of the recent membership drive.

Those present at the meeting were: A. G. Wagner, of Chuluota, D. F. Wheeler and T. W. Lawton, of Ovidio, R. E. True, of Lake Mary, H. W. Loder, of Longwood, H. F. Laine, and L. H. Haines, of Altamonte Springs, J. A. Logan, of Geneva, Gordon Barnett, and Captain C. Hallett, of Fern Park, George E. Holmes, H. M. Papworth, F. W. Hender, J. E. Fox, G. W. Melroy, S. O. Shihohler, J. H. Connelly, W. M. Haynes, John Meisch and Karl Lehmann, of Sanford.

Poultrymen To Meet At School Thursday

Commercial poultrymen of this section will meet at Seminole High School for a round-table discussion on the factors which influence the cost of producing eggs. Alex R. Johnson, director of vocational agriculture for the county will lead the discussion.

MONSALVATGE EXPLAINS METHODS OF CANNING AND COLD-PACKING OF FOODS

The difference between the methods and advantages of canning and cold-packing food products today was explained to Sanford Kiwanians meeting at the Montezuma Hotel by R. F. Monsalvatge, chemist associated with the Chase and Co. interests here in research work on Sanford grown fruits and vegetables.

SENATE WILL TAKE UP REPEAL RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Senate voted today to take up for consideration the Illinois resolution to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. The vote which brought up repeal for consideration was the closest approach to a real test of the Senate wet and dry strength this session, although it was not regarded as an indication of prospective vote on the submission resolution itself. While only a bare majority was needed to take up the resolution, two thirds will be necessary to submit it to the states for ratification. Whether this margin can be mustered is problematical. The vote today was 54 to 23 more than a two-thirds majority.

FATE IN BALANCE

TAMPA—Three of five men charged with the murder of Orlo B. Brown, filling station attendant in a hold-up here last July, went on trial.

CORBETT BINKING

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—James J. Corbett, former heavyweight boxing champion, was reported very low last night by his attending physician, Dr. G. Willard Dickie. "He is considerably weaker than he was Monday," said Dr. Dickie. "He may last for several more days, but I am doubtful."

STAGE ALL SET FOR OPENING OF 3-DAY HOME DEMONSTRATION FAIR AT HOTEL

Stressing the fact that there is no admission charge for attendance at the three-day first annual Home Demonstration Fair which opens at the Mayfair Hotel Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Mrs. W. B. Ballard, of Altamonte Springs, president of the Seminole County Federation of Women's Club which is sponsoring the event, today said that she is hopeful of being able to report that a record attendance for an event of this kind will have been set by Saturday midnight when the Fair closes.

FORCES OF COLOMBIA SEIZE PERUVIAN TOWN

BOGOTA, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Colombian troops captured the town of Tarapaca today driving out the Peruvian force which had occupied the Buta River port 80 miles north of Leticia. Details of the engagement could not be learned immediately. This is the second development in the open hostilities between the two countries.

PICKING HOLIDAY ON CITRUS WON'T BE MAINTAINED

Decision Is Made At Winter Haven Meeting Of Fruit Men

WINTER HAVEN, Feb. 14.—Florida's citrus picking holiday will not be continued next week, but all shippers in the state are urged to hold picking to a minimum. This was the decision made at a meeting here yesterday of the special committee named last Monday at the state-wide shippers' meeting for recommendation as to continuing the picking holiday.

The committee meeting here yesterday, composed of representatives of the Florida Citrus Exchange, the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Association and representatives outside of these two organizations, announced that despite the large volume of fruit in the processing plants and packing houses when the picking started last Tuesday morning, shipments this week indicate the picking holiday has been virtually maintained.

Instructions were sent last night by the committee to all shippers in the state pointing out that the extreme cold weather in the northern auction markets was retarding fruit movement and causing continued low prices and the committee therefore urged that picking be held to a minimum next week. The special committee decided to meet again next Friday to consider action for the following week.

Reports from the markets made available yesterday to the committee showed that six auction sales, were missed on account of the cold weather, 454 cars of Florida oranges being sold at auction during the week at a general average of $2.35 delivered. This price is $1 below the average of a year ago, when 523 cars of oranges were sold at an average auction price of $3.35 delivered.

Suits Dismissed Against Former Bank Directors

DELAND, Feb. 14.—Suits brought in federal court by M. G. McNeil, receiver of the defunct First National Bank of Deland, against former directors of the institutions seeking judgments of approximately half a million dollars for alleged improprieties, alleged misfeasance and malfeasance, has been dismissed by Judge Louis W. Strum, of Jacksonville. It was learned from Tom B. Stewart who with John Cooper, of Jacksonville, represented P. N. Burt, of DeLand Springs, in the suit.

The court said it was of the opinion that the three years statute of limitations applied, and that time begins to run from the time when the loan in question is made, and the bank parts with its money, and not from the time of renewals. Therefore the statute of limitations has run on substantially all the loans set up in the bill of complaint, all but four or five of which were made and the money apparently parted with, more than three years before the bill of complaint was filed on Jan. 7, 1932. There can be no recovery.

Moreover, the bill of complaint is lacking in requisite definiteness and certainty. The bill seeks a money judgment against the defendants for alleged statutory, nonfeasance, misfeasance, and common law negligence, but does not specifically allege with which of these delinquencies the several defendants are charged with respect to any loan. Each act of misconduct is a separate cause of action against those who participate therein. Omnibus allegations are not sufficient. In its present form the bill is too general.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

PRaise GOD: Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises unto our King, sing praises.—Psalm 47:6.

SONG OF THE APPLE

As Eve lay dreaming by Paradise Wall, Came Michael the Angel and spoke of the Fall; All for a pomegranate, all for a dove, For an Apple of Ashes or an Apple of Love!

As Eve stood a-thinking in Paradise Grove, Came the green, coiling Serpent and hissed of love; All for a sly hiss, and all for a frown, On the face of vexed beauty, the Apple came down.

As Adam came walking with a light in her eyes, And giddily talking and blushing surprise, Said Eve to the Apple, "You Apple of Sorrow, I think we'll make camp in the Desert-tomorrow!"

And Adam fell eating—and then we may pass Over hours the handed bee buzzed through the grass While the mocking bird fluted and the shadows grew long And love became Slumber and Slumber a Song.

As our Mother and Father turned away from the Gate, Adam strode like disaster, but Even counselled, "Wait!" It looks like a country of fruitage and mirth, And I feel I'll have children to plensh the earth!"

On the Cliff by the Fire, as they stared o'er the Plain Where the stars stood as many as a field full of grain, "Now will it," thought Eve, "be a Girl or a Boy?" All for an Apple, O an Apple of Joy!

—By William Rose Henet.

The amount of arms-reduction achieved at Geneva just about equals the amount of real beer that has produced by Congress.—San Diego Union.

Republicans in general and perhaps a few Democrats celebrated Lincoln's birthday Monday and not a few gifted orators mentioned the trials and tribulations with which the "Savior of his country" was confronted. We dare say, however, if Lincoln were alive today, he, like everyone else, would be talking about the good old days.

Many important business men, asked to testify before the Senate Finance Committee on causes and cures of the depression, request that such testimony as they give be regarded as confidential. Among them, Frank Vanderlip, New York banker, Melvin Traylor, Chicago banker and once mentioned as a presidential candidate, and Walter S. Gifford, head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, are particularly anxious that their remarks on the depression be held secret. Probably if the world knew what these men think about the world today it would not be good for the world.

Strange Inconsistencies

During the political campaign last Fall we heard a great deal about the Hawley-Smoot tariff law and the evil consequences of high tariffs in general which had destroyed our foreign trade. The sentiment of the twenty million or more persons who voted the Democratic ticket must have been pretty largely that tariffs should come down and, hence, foreign products admitted to our markets.

Yet, in the last few months another cry has arisen with almost equal unanimity with the former anti-tariff arguments. That is the "Buy American" movement. If we are to buy American, that must mean that we are to stop buying foreign made products. Now what we can't understand is where the consistency lies in advocating at one and the same time both lower tariffs and a "Buy American" policy.

Many other inconsistencies have arisen in connection with this narrow policy of national isolation. Many inconsistencies have also developed with all such policies throughout the world which are in fact movements in restraint of trade. What the world today is suffering from more than any other thing is simply insufficient trade, and yet we together with most of the other governments of the world set up all sorts of trade barriers, embargoes, discriminations and other restrictions for the sole purpose of interfering with, and in many cases preventing altogether, the free orderly exchange of goods.

Other ironies of this situation were pointed out the other day by the Christian Science Monitor which sees them as follows: "First, someone made the gleeful discovery, recorded in small type in Time magazine, that some of the machines being used in the British Post Office to stamp 'Buy British' slogans on loyal Londoners' letters were made in America. But one of the ironies—which approaches unreasonableness—about the 'Buy American' campaign is that it is fomented by many of the same persons whose intransigence on war debt revision has aggravated the pressure of British, German and other imports at American customhouses.

"Another is that one of the chief spokesmen of the movement buys print paper from Canada for his newspapers and ships cattle into the United States from his ranch in Mexico. A third is that a congressman from Massachusetts, home of protectionism, opposes a bill to require the government to 'buy American' because that would leave out the New England industry of manufacturing imported jute into twine.

"But the outstanding incongruity, if not misfortune, of both these nationalistic movements is that the two economic realms thus bidden to draw into their shells have hitherto had a flourishing trade with each other which as recently as 1931 continued at the rate of more than $1,500,000,000 a year. The United States during that year bought some $610,000,000 worth of goods from British Empire sources and received approximately $995,000,000 for goods sold to Empire customers—a three-to-two balance which it would seem ought not to disturb even American mercantilists as much as it has upset Great Britain.

"Viewing this exchange, one may see that even if American dollars are spent for British books or razors or coal, there is a pretty fair likelihood of their coming back to American producers of cotton, wheat, pork or silver. And that if pounds sterling are spent for American petroleum or motorcars or motion picture film, they are fairly likely to come back to England, if not directly by purchases of dress goods, then by way of Malaysia in return for rubber or via Canada for butter.

"Does it seem too much to expect, then, that American and British statesmen at the impending debt negotiations and the World Economic Conference should succeed in ironing out some of the ironies of this situation?"

The House That Gates Built

One of the strangest episodes in the history of mansion building is about to be concluded with the destruction of a million-dollar house which the late Charles G. (Spend-a-Million) Gates built more than twenty years ago in Minneapolis for his bride.

Patterned after the Pallazzo Farnese in Rome and embracing many of the architectural features of other famous European palaces, Gates' dream home is constructed of materials imported from many parts of the world and is decorated with the works of art of the great masters. Chandeliers carved from solid alabaster, mantles carved from Carrar marble, and imported panels are scattered throughout the house. One mantle is nine feet high. Floors are trimmed with a variety of marble from a quarry in Numidia, South Africa.

But with all its beauty and grandeur, with all its art treasures, and with all its features to make living as perfect as possible, the house has never been occupied, except by servants, during its twenty years of existence. The owner died shortly before it was completed. The heirs never cared to live there and for all these years the house has stood as an empty monument to the lavish spending of a lavish spender.

At times it has been opened to the public by its present owner, Dr. D. F. Brooks, who bought the place from the Gates heirs at a reputed price of $100,000. Always it has attracted the attention of famous persons. Among its noted visitors was Queen Marie of Roumania. Recently the Junior League of Minneapolis obtained permission to open the mansion in an effort to raise funds for charity. An admission charge of 25 cents was made and between 18,000 and 15,000 persons visited the place in less than a week.

But like all other properties it is feeling the pinch of economic exigencies. Even income property is difficult to maintain these days, what with rising taxes and depreciated values, but a house in which no one cares to live, a house representing an investment of at least a million dollars, on which taxes must be paid, is certainly the whitest of white elephants. There is only one thing to do in a case like this, and that is to tear it down.

So the unemployed are going to be given a break. The work of dismantling will start this month, and many men who have long been idle will receive work. Great care will be taken in the razing process and every piece of valuable material and art treasure will be preserved. In a few months only the land will remain, and the house that once was, will be only a memory.

state on an even financial keel. "Our expenditures as of Feb. 1 had been cut approximately 50 percent," he said. "The work of the departments was curtailed as a matter of course. But I do not believe efficiency was sacrificed. I have drafted a new road board. None of the members of the board knew in advance why they were summoned to Tallahassee. I brought them here to undertake an important piece of public service. But we found that the road department faced obligations of $5,500,000 of which $2,500,000 consisted of unpaid bills and the remaining $3,000,000 was budgeted for maintenance. So it appears that the people of Florida will get their road building holiday but they will have to pay for it."

The governor announced a complete re-organization of the state auditing department as a means to catch up with a tremendous volume of unfinished work.

"The department was more than 220 audits behind schedule," he said. "I have found some counties from one to three years behind in their audits and many new officials unwilling to take office until the accounts of their predecessors have been checked. Summary action will be taken whenever and wherever shortages are found."

Praising his department heads for taking voluntary cuts in salary, the governor paid special tribute to George H. Wilder, of American and other foreigners succor. The United States government is firm in its determination not to hand a trooper in Mexico unless the conditions force it. Zeb Ratliff and Jack Slaton, of The Herald force, spent a day in Euclid this week looking over the monotype at the Lake Region office.

The Misses Miriam and Loretta Baisden, of Blackwell, S. C., are the guests of Miss Mammie Hill.

This evening over 50 business and professional men are expected to meet in the parlor of the Sanford House to discuss business conditions in the city. An effort will be made to improve local trade conditions at this gathering and all interested in trade conditions are expected to be present. Those forming the committee on organization are: J. D. Roberts, G. A. Spear, R. G. Stockton, W. J. Hill, W. H. Underwood, W. P. Carter, C. H. Dingee, J. D. Davison, H. E. Tolar, J. R. Holland, Dr. R. M. Mason, Dr. W. E. Housholder, J. B. Williams, George H. Fernald, J. H. Overman, and S. Runge.

Plant City, whom he recently appointed acting motor vehicle commissioner.

"Economies effected in this department," he said, "will aggregate more than $60,000 a year."

Digressing at this point to describe a recent trip made by himself and the cabinet through state institutions, the governor pleaded with the people to send old books and magazines to the insane hospital at Chattahoochee.

"The hospital today shelters 3700 unfortunate," he said. "I was shocked to find many of them had been put there by relatives with the view of making the state bear their upkeep. We also went through the boy's industrial school at Marianna and other institutions."

Regarding the preparation of the new budget, the governor said this work was nearing completion with the assistance of the cabinet.

"Rigid economy is being demanded all along the line," he said. "I expect the budget will total somewhere between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000, or a cut of 25 percent over the preceding budget. In this connection, let me announce that I cannot devote much attention to applications for jobs on the state payroll. I trust the people will understand that I was not elected to operate a state employment agency. My study of expenditures is being made by the same yardstick used during the campaign—does the state need it, can the state get along without it."

Budget sessions, the governor explained, have involved long discussions on the possibility of departmental consolidations.

"Now about automobile license tags," he said. "I want to call on the people to buy their tags as quickly as possible on account of the public schools. We cannot eliminate the 25 percent penalty. The law is inflexible and there is no way around it. I am opposed to the penalty and will ask the legislature to eliminate it. I am also determined to cut auto licenses to $5 on little cars and $10 on big ones and I would suspend the penalty this year if there was any possible way to do it. But there isn't and the schools need the tag money. So I hope the motorists will respond promptly so that the schools may be adequately financed."

The governor came out boldly against Florida accepting federal aid except for the emergency fund attached to the federal aid system as a policy all states should strive to eliminate from their financial setup.

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as you know, requires the state to match its appropriations," he said. "I am not a magician and I cannot pull money out of the air. Sooner or later, the state's loans from the federal long, but the association in Chisago southern Wisconsin farmers began yesterday voted not only against striking but also against seeking a high price.

From the Wisconsin branch of the farm holiday association, however, came renewed promise the group would not rush in to seize the markets which the strikers will abandon.

It was a busy day for Singler and hundreds of members of the pool as they hurried about the state seeking co-operation from non-member farmers. Such peaceful solicitation of support would continue for at least the first five days, Singler said.

But after that, he asserted, the pool's action would be more positive and direct. He refused to say whether he would order picketing of highways.

Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other Fox river valley communities are the center of the pool's strength.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(P)—Three hundred dairy farmers from four states serving Chicago with milk voted at a meeting yesterday not to strike or attempt to obtain increased prices.

The farmers voted on three propositions: (1) Not to try to get higher prices. (2) To make such an attempt. (3) To demand higher prices government must be repaid. So I intend to confer within a few days with Finance Corporation officials in Washington and notify them that Florida cannot continue much longer on the dole plan. I will ask a reasonable continuance of relief work in this state. But I think the time has come for all states to stop this practice of matching federal funds. It is just like a fellow offering to loan you $1000 to buy a $2000 automobile you don't need, provided you put up the other $1000."

In conclusion, the governor pointed out that 75 percent of the state's appropriations are spent outside Tallahassee and urged the people to give greater thought to expenses of their local governments, both county and municipal. "I am doing what I can with the state's problem," he said. "When I finish that job I will work with county and municipal officials to cut their costs so that Florida can offer to the world opportunities for profitable investment and our own people may have some incentive to own their own homes."

and if necessary call a strike to get them.

Of the 17 districts voting, not one of them favored a strike. Fourteen recommended attempting to obtain no increase, but to conduct a campaign to get non-member dairy farmers into the association.

Two districts, including that of Joliet, Ill., voted in favor of attempting to obtain higher prices.

FARLEY SEEKS SUM TO ERASE PARTY DEFICIT

might very well be regarded both as the President and the appointee. A definite object is also, Farley said, to clear the state so as to provide for continuing the national committee's work through through from now till campaign time. This, he said, is recognized as the only method of securing success to a political organization and is particularly important in view of the announced policy of the Republicans to begin their campaign for "immediately". The announcement he referred to was the formation of a national Republican league, with Vice President Curtis and other old line Republicans at the helm, to start immediate campaigning. Farley declared that a major part of the effort to be cleared off was a heritage from the Smith-Raskob-Stans administration of the party. The 1928 campaign, he said, left a deficit of only $200,000, while at the end of 1929 the deficit was approximately twice the amount—$750,000. The plan announced yesterday, he said, has been worked out. Quota, have been allotted to the various states in proportion to the wealth and population of each.

RAIL PROBES MAKE REPORT AFTER STUDY

of railroads should be passed with a special provision for retroactive operation to be definitely declared to end on Jan. 1, 1933. The committee recommended prompt revision of the statutory rule of rate making, asserting that the old theory of trying to base rates on "fair return" on appraised value should be junked and adding "we see no reason why the rate making rule should not say in plain English that the railroads are entitled to make a reasonable profit based on costs of efficient operation, and that they are not entitled to earnings merely to preserve present structures, if over-capitalized." Smith did not recommend immediate changes in rules of rate making.

Man Is Sought In Kidnaping Of Denver Youth

Clark asked Chicago authorities to check an automobile bearing Illinois license plates which was seen parked near the Brown Palace Hotel about the time of the kidnaping. The car's ownership was traced to J. J. [unclear], 25 Chicago police reported last night they had taken the car into custody. Although authorities said they had not been officially notified of the appearance of the mystery man at the home of Clusde Bether, Colorado multimillionaire and father of the missing man, the Denver Post said the shabbily dressed stranger twice visited the Boettcher home during the night. His first visit, the Post said, was made at 10:00 P.M. He was admitted to the palatial residence for a short time later and hurried away, the newspaper said. On his second visit, about 3 A.M., yesterday, he refused to give up a paper which he had in his hand to the doorman. After he had stowed back, his hand when the doorman sought to take the paper, he was admitted to the home and remained several hours.

BECOMES BRIDE TODAY

Mrs. Andrew McGilbrey Carraway, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laurant Marentette, whose marriage took place this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Mayfair. Mrs. Carraway, who is a popular member of the younger set, was formerly Miss Helen Katherine Marentette.

MISS HELEN MARENTETTE BECOMES BRIDE OF ANDREW CARRAWAY

Simplicity was symbolized in the wedding this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock of Miss Helen Katherine Marentette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laurant Marentette, to Andrew McGilbrey Carraway, son of Mrs. Joder Carraway and the late S. McGilbrey Carraway. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Killaghan, pastor of All Souls Catholic Church, at the home of the bride's parents in Mayfair.

The marriage service was read beneath an improvised arch of fern entwined with pink sweet peas and snap dragons. Tall fern stands of pink and white flowers were arranged on either side of the arch and in various other parts of the living rooms which were opened en suite for the occasion. Mrs. Roy F. Mann served as matron of honor, Miss Lenabelle Hagan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hagan, was maid of honor and Mrs. Acy Carraway, of Orlando, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was also a bridal attendant. The groom was attended by his brother, Acy Carraway, best man, and Briggs Arrington, and James G. Sharon, Jr. as groomsmen.

Mrs. Mann wore for the occasion a two-piece suit of light pink rough crepe. The dress was fashioned along simple lines with a pleated skirt while the coat was three-quarter length. White accessories and a corsage of pink radiance rosebuds completed the costume.

Crinkly blue crepe was used for the dress worn by Miss Hagan. A high waistline and white collar and cuffs were features of the dress which was set off with white shoes, hat and other accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink radiance rosebuds and fern.

Mrs. Carraway selected for the occasion a two-piece ensemble in shades of blue and white. Her accessories were in white and she wore a shoulder corsage of pink radiance rosebuds.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the living room wearing an ensemble of white crepe, with shoes, hat and other accessories in white. The dress was trimmed with steel buttons and had quantities of small tucks while the matching coat, which was finger-tip length, featured the dropped shoulder line and tucked sleeves. Her corsage was of white roses, swainsonia, and fern.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left in their car for a short wedding trip. After a few days they will be at home to their friends at the Sanford-Country Club.

The bride is an only daughter. She was born in Baltimore, Md., lived in Atlanta for several years, and came here about eight years ago. She was graduated from

VICKS CUTS ANTISEPTIC COST IN HALF!

Makers of VapoRub produce new mouth-wash born in a depression . . . priced accordingly

WE make no extravagant claims for Vicks VapoRub Antiseptic. It is simply the best oral antiseptic Vicks Chemists could produce. And they were aided by the chemists, bacteriologists, and pharmacologists of our 15 allied organizations . . . in America, England, and Germany.

They examined the whole field of oral antiseptics. Some they found were too weak . . . a few were irritating for regular use in the mouth. Most were very good . . . but all much too expensive.

So they produced a balanced antiseptic . . . mild enough to be used day and night without risk to delicate membranes . . . strong enough to do everything an oral antiseptic can safely do.

You can use Vicks Antiseptic in the usual way for all your customary uses. And Vicks Antiseptic has this additional unique advantage . . . Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly. Large 10-ounce bottle . . . a usual 75¢ value . . . for only 35¢.

UNUSUAL TRIAL OFFER BY LOCAL DRUGGISTS

Five million special trial bottles are practically sold out. You can test Vicks Antiseptic on this guarantee. Buy the big 10-ounce size . . . use it one week. Unless you are delighted with it, return unopened portion; your druggist will return your money.

Regular Size . . . a 75¢ value . . . Only 35¢
