Financier Convicted In $5 Million Fraud

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal court jury Sunday night convicted Akron, Ohio, financier Sydney L. Albert of illegally selling $5 million worth of unregistered stock in the Automatic Washer Co. of Newton, Iowa.

Co-defendant Joseph Abrams of Great Neck, N. Y., also was found guilty. The jury returned an innocent verdict against a third defendant, Larry Knobl of Long Beach, N. Y.

Albert and Abrams were found guilty on 17 of 22 counts in a grand jury indictment.

Federal Judge Harold R. Tyler Jr., set April 2 as the date for sentencing and submission of motions.

Albert was paroled until noon Tuesday at which time he must post a $50,000 bond. Abrams was paroled until the same time when he must post $35,000 bond.

The jury returned its verdict after more than two days of deliberation.

The jury also convicted as a corporate defendant on 17 counts, Richmond Securities, Inc., of New York.

The trial had lasted for five and one-half months, during which time 90 witnesses appeared.

The government charged that the three men gained control of a plumbing firm, the N. O. Nelson Co. of St. Louis, Mo., "milked it," then sold it to the washer company. The washer firm later went bankrupt.

Defense attorneys said the defendants used the washer company stock as collateral for loans. However, the loans were not repaid, and the securities were sold on the public market.

Belli Charges Phones 'Bugged'

DALLAS (UPI)—Never a man to miss an opportunity, defense lawyer Melvin Belli chose the opening of the Jack Ruby murder trial today to allege that his hotel room and telephones have been "bugged" by somebody or other.

"My phone has been bugged, room has been bugged," he said.

"That's the reason we've been working away from here."

The statement was made at the end of an interview in Belli's room at the Stuller-Hilton Hotel. He and his assistants have been working elsewhere preparing for the questioning of prospective jurors in a town whose image he says—"it that it has to vindicate itself."

After his brief utterance about the "bugging"—a word that could denote wire taps on phone lines and microphones hidden in rooms—a reporter asked if he had positive proof.

ILA May Halt All Soviet Grain Loading

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—A boycott that would halt loading of American wheat for Russia in Atlantic and Gulf coast ports was threatened today by President Thomas W. (Teddy) Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA).

Gleason, who Sunday instructed ILA locals in New Orleans and Houston not to load wheat for the Soviet Union on three foreign flag vessels, said he might broaden the order to cover all Russian-bound grain in ports under ILA jurisdiction from Maine to Texas.

The union leader said his action would depend on the outcome of a meeting of AFL-CIO Maritime Trade Department executive board to consider the sale of wheat to Russia under federal government auspices.

Assistant Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds arrived in Miami Beach late Sunday night in an apparent effort to discuss the problem with the longshoremen boss. Indications were that the department would resist pressure from the Johnson administration and formally approve a resolution condemning the sale of the grain to the Soviet Union.

Forest Rangers Give Program At School

By Bernice Kelsey
Forest Ranger Jim McClellan of Chuluota and his assistant, W. H. Hill, presented a program recently for students at St. Luke's Christian Day School in Slavia.

A film showing fire in the Okefenokee Swamp, provided by the Union Bag Paper Company, was shown and charcoal drawings 'on fire prevention by Chuck Littleton of Oriedo were displayed.

McClellan, who is entering his second year as a ranger in Seminole County, is cooperating with schools in the area by presenting fire prevention talks and programs.

He pointed out that in his two years here, there has been only one fire, which occurred south of Tuskuwilla Road, thought to have been started by a youngster.

The ranger also is assisting 4-H Clubs and advises that he is "learning with the boys" since he grew up in downtown Miami and never had opportunity as a youth to be a 4-H member.

The swamp fire film will be shown at the Oriedo School at a later date.

UT Honors McGregor Smith As 'Engineer Of Year'

MIAMI — McGregor Smith, Florida Power and Light Company chairman of the board and the utility's chief executive officer for 25 years, will be honored by the University of Tennessee Saturday as "Engineer of the Year."

The Nathan W. Dougherty Award for 1963, given each year to an outstanding leader in the engineering field, will be presented to Smith at the Florida Engineering Society's annual banquet, 7 p.m. at the Everglades Hotel.

Dean Armour T. Granger of the University's College of Engineering, who is coming to Miami especially for the presentation in conjunction with National Engineers' Week, observed: "McGregor Smith has certainly contributed to the prestige of our University by his outstanding career."

U. S. Kidnaped Defector, Red Note Charges

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has accused the United States of kidnaping Soviet disarmament delegate Yuri Nosenko, informed Soviet sources said today.

The Soviets branded the alleged kidnaping a serious threat to the Geneva disarmament conference.

The sources said the charge was contained in a note delivered by Soviet Ambassador Anatol Dobrynin to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington on Wednesday.

At the same time, the U.S. Embassy announced tonight that Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had summoned Ambassador Foy Kohler to the Foreign Ministry building in downtown Moscow to discuss the Nosenko case. The embassy would not elaborate.

Couple, Divorced For 43 Years, Rewed After Second Mates Die

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Wedding bells chimed a second time this weekend for a couple divorced 43 years ago.

John H. Patterson, 70, and Mrs. Rosa Bell, 63, were married at the home of their son, George H. Patterson, Saturday night.

The couple was married first in 1917 but separated in 1921 when George was two years old. Both remarried and Patterson moved to Detroit to make his home.

After their mates died, Patterson began writing his former wife and popped the question several days ago. She accepted.

They plan to live here when they return from a brief honeymoon trip.

ity of Tennessee Professor R. C. Matthews, now a Ft. Lauderdale resident. Cited, among other things, were the FPL official's role in directing the company's vast expansion program over the years and "the manner in which he made friends of former enemies of his company."

Both alumni and non-alumni are eligible for the honor and final selection is made by a special committee appointed by Dean Granger.

The 64-year-old Smith is regarded as one of Florida's leading industrialists and one of the state's most influential men. He graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1921, with a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering, and served as president of the Louisiana Power & Light Company before moving to Miami in 1939, first as FPL's vice president and general manager, then president and director, in the same year.

The new president settled many thorny controversies in which the new company was involved and, in the process, virtually destroyed the public's concept that a public utility figure by nature is some sort of stuff-shirted "green demon."

Smith presented a strikingly new, if not unorthodox image, with his "shirt sleeve" policy and his penchant for playing the harmonica, which he claims helps him think and for which he became known from Miami to New York and points west.

Smith, who became FPL's first chairman of the board in 1954, is credited with bringing millions of dollars in new industry to Florida while at the same time guiding his own company in unprecedented growth from a small 220,000 kilowatt company immediately following V-J Day to a gross capability of more than two and a half million kilowatts.

Innovations pioneered by FPL under Smith include outdoor plant construction, hurricane damage restoration procedure, mobile power plants, Fuse-Breaker coordination and a dealer sales development plan.

The utility executive is a board member of Eastern Airlines, Inc., and the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. He also is a University of Miami trustee and serves in a similar capacity for the American Heritage Foundation. Other memberships include the Orange Bowl Committee, Florida Engineering Society and the United Fund.

Disease Of The Week

Of all the warnings about what might happen from excessive watching of television — ruined eyesight, atrophied muscles, curvature of the spine — no one foresaw that an entirely new disease might be generated.

It's been diagnosed as "TV medication" by Dr. A. M. Albinder of New York City.

According to the doctor, some viewers become so caught up in medical dramas that they identify with the actors and think they have caught the disease being portrayed. "Convinced they have the disease, they visit their doctor and even request the treatment they saw administered on television," he says.

This might be an idea for the rating services. Along with asking viewers what they are watching at the moment, they could inquire about what diseases they are suffering from. This would reveal not only current program standings, but any carryover from previous weeks' shows.

Blame It On The Sun

While most of the nation is suffering from or recovering from the hefty blasts Old Man Winter let loose by way of blowing out the old year and blowing in the new, we may as well talk about the weather.

We may as well talk about it; we can't get away from it.

Someone in the back row will surely add: Yes, as Mark Twain said, everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it.

This is fallacious on two counts: Mark Twain didn't say it — at least, he didn't originate it; and some people ARE doing something about the weather.

They may not be doing anything to control it or make it more pleasant, but they are learning about its hidden rhythms and recurring cycles.

For instance, Dr. Charles Greeley Abbot, dean of the world's astro-physicists and former secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, claims that long-range weather forecasts "many years in advance" are now possible.

He has discovered what he believes to be a basic cycle of 22 years and nine months — "a family of regular harmonics of 278 months in solar radiation and terrestrial weather" — which is a controlling geographical fact.

The 91-year-old scientist has put his money on the line by publishing a forecast of precipitation for Nashville, Tenn., through 1970.

Beginning in 1920, Dr. Abbot and colleagues around the world took measurements of solar radiation from desert mountaintops. These "solar-constant" measurements were correlated with actual weather.

A cause - and - effect pattern eventually led Dr. Abbot "to conclude firmly that variations of the sun's emission of radiation are associated intimately with weather changes."

The majority of meteorologists are withholding decision about the theory until more evidence is in. But for the next seven years, the residents of Nashville — digging out of snow, sopping through rain, parching under the sun — may reflect that the eyes of the world's weathermen are fixed on them with more than usual interest.

Thought For Today

We cannot all be great but we can always attach ourselves to something that is great.—Harry Emerson Fosdick.

But in all, a king is an advantage to a land with cultivated fields.—Ecc. 5:9.

A limitation on the production of the individual is pure waste.—Louis D. Brandeis.

Secretary of State Tom Adams has called 1963 a milestone in Florida's penal history. "For it was the first year that the courts of this state placed more offenders on probation than they committed to the state prison."

Speaking to the Florida Council on Crime and Delinquency recently at the Apalachee Correctional Institution, Adams pointed out that 2,881 persons were sentenced to terms of supervised probation while 2,817 were committed to prison.

The Secretary of State, citing the need for more effort toward rehabilitation rather than punishment, called for improvements in the probation and parole system and for an expanded program of psychological diagnosis within the prison system.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Negro drive in the North, stepping up again after months of quiet, is not all militancy and marching. Clearly viable strains of caution and conservatism show themselves in potential hot spots.

An example is Philadelphia, scene of several racial outbursts in 1963. Minor rumblings already have been felt this year.

Philadelphia's Negro leaders, of course, press for steady, good-faith action on jobs, housing, schools. They dislike the present state of things. But not all of them look for miracles of Negro progress the day after tomorrow.

Seek them out in their troubled city and you will hear opinions like these:

—The city's white leaders—the citizens — have been awakened to the Negroes' problems. Contact between the races gets better all the time.

A prominent white politician's daughter dropped in at the Urban League to offer help. Many others do the same, including "social action" groups from white churches.

—Businessmen try honestly to place Negroes in good jobs. Their personnel men constantly tap Negro organizations in the search. The city's unique job training program, geared to specifically available jobs, is further tangible proof.

—But no pressure, no campaign of demonstration will assure skilled, well-paying work for all unemployed Negroes.

Handicaps in schooling put many thousands beyond effective reach of retraining.

—Last year's riot entry of a Negro family into white suburban Folcroft was not typical. Through the months more than 100 Negro families have been installed in Philadelphia suburbs without fuss.

Some white resistance to desegregation of housing, in city and suburb, is to be expected. But Negro spokesmen insist it will not be as grave as white politicians fear—at the polls or elsewhere.

—In education, a frequency held, though not general, view is that the Negro wants better schooling above all, rather than desegregation for its own sake. The two are said by some to be bound up simply because the whites have the good schools.

—We shouldn't want to bus little children across town just to have a white child sit next to a Negro," says an NAACP official.

What troubles such leaders is the fact of overcrowded, poorly equipped Negro schools within easy bus ride of underused white schools.

Taking note of white parents' concern over a school "mix," one Negro Philadelphia says:

—We understand well enough that they are afraid of poor, ignorant, underprivileged Negro kids being moved into their schools.

—The thing to do is get the education level of the Negro children up to decent standard. Then no one will be afraid.

Leaders cite cases where, when standards at mixed schools prove good, white parent-teacher associations actually urge further desegregation.

None of these cautious, un-militant, basically hopeful opinions among some Negro leaders should be misread as complacency. The line between those men and the militants can vanish swiftly.

A Negro lawyer asked a white friend to look in the mirror.

"See that fellow there?" he went on. "The white friend nodded.

"The Negro then said: 'What he wants I want.'

Cauldron Of Intrestes

In Vientiane, which lies along the Mekong River and is the administrative capital of Laos, the Japanese are building a water system designed to give the capital for the first time a water supply which its residents can drink without boiling first.

Airliners take off from an American-built field after passing through a French-built terminal.

A new gambling casino operated by Chinese and Vietnamese is another of the innovations moving in upon gently resting Laotians who in the main prefer a less complicated life.

But despite these things, and a flood of Western educators, economists and agricultural experts sent to help preserve a neutral Laos from Communism, Vientiane remains a sleepy town dedicated to its ancient Buddhist ways.

It is the countryside which provides the real testing ground for the Laotian neutrality agreed upon in Geneva in July, 1962, and which remains as it was before, a cauldron of conflicting interests with the military advantage remaining with the Communists.

U.S. planes take off from the Vientiane field to airdrop supplies to friendly people cut off by the Communist-led Pathet Lao.

Communist North Viet Nam exports leadership and supplies to the Pathet Lao. Within the government there remain the divided forces of right, neutral and Communist, including separate military commands.

As Soviet influence wanes, Red Chinese influence grows.

An international control commission set up to enforce neutrality is hamstrung by the intrusiveness of its Polish member until he makes a sudden about-face. There is speculation in due part to Poland's focus for the future of U.S.-Polish trade.

Within the term land there are the trappings of neutrality as seen by trade agreements both with the West and with Moscow and Peking.

Right-wing leader Gen. Phoumi Nosavan occasionally hears himself praised by the Moscow, Peking or Banal radios.

Occasionally, neutral Premier Souvanna Phouma confers with his Red half-brother and Deputy Premier Prince Souphanouvong but agreement stays just out of reach.

In the Plain of Jars, tactical key to Laos, neutral forces retreat before the Pathet Lao and finally lose the plain altogether. The Communists reinforce their hold upon the Ho Chi Minh trail leading to South Viet Nam and approach to within 15 miles of the Mekong across from Thailand.

Neutrality has been but another weapon working for the Pathet Lao and the Viet Cong of South Viet Nam who are political brothers. And it has added to the danger of Thailand.

It is a gloomy picture, emphasizing that for the Reds there are no separate theaters in Southeast Asia. Laos, South Viet Nam and Thailand are one. In Thailand, the death of a strong leader led to a replacement still untested. And in South Viet Nam, a military coup led to a new government still un-

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE R-485: Alan B., aged 18, is a college freshman who is taking a beginning course in psychology.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "on Valentine's Day all the stress is directed at the heart; not the brain.

"Cupid is thus pictured with his arrows pointed at the heart.

"And in our ordinary speech, we talk about 'hardheaded' 'softhearted' people.

"So what ever gave mankind the notion that the heart was the center of our emotions and ideas?"

"Where is the center of our thinking?" you may ask and even the grammar school child will answer "the brain."

For that fact seems self-evident to us modern people. But we also tend to think it must have been a sign of stupidity that the American Indians never had invented the wheel.

Aristotle was the earliest psychologist of antiquity, yet he thought the brain was just the cooling system for the blood.

Aristotle regarded the brain as something similar to the modern radiator in an automobile.

In my classes at Northwestern University, I often let the students try to prove that the brain is the center of our thinking.

"Assume you lived at the time of Aristotle," I would begin. "Let's see how you could derive the fact that the brain is the center of our personality."

"Well, Dr. Crane, the brain is so well protected by bones and it seems logical that the center of our being would thus be shielded from injury."

"That's logical," I would answer, "but Aristotle would say the heart is also shielded within the ribs and cushioned by ever thicker surrounding muscles to protect it against injury."

"Dr. Crane," a second student would argue, "a blow on the head often causes us to lose consciousness, doesn't it?"

"Correct," I'd admit, "but Aristotle would say a blow over the heart (solar plexus), also causes us to lose consciousness."

"But we are conscious of every part of our skin, a third student argues, so the center of consciousness should be in contact with all parts of the body. And nerves run from the brain to every bit of skin, don't they?"

"Right," I would concede, "but Aristotle says blood vessels also run to every part of the body, too."

By this time the students would begin to realize that their quick decisions about the brain's being the center of our being, was not as easy to prove as they had at first believed.

"But, Dr. Crane," a fourth student would protest, "we just KNOW the brain is the center of thinking."

"Well," I would admit, "we have been TOLD that, but maybe our informants have been tricking us, for Aristotle's generation would also say they just KNEW the heart was the center of our thinking." (More tomorrow.)

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Letters

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers on public affairs. The writer may use a pen name provided the letter also carries the writer's name and address. Editor, Herald:

Please print this on behalf of the decent American teenagers.

I believe that there are good and bad in each generation. We the teenagers of this generation do have the problem of much publicity about juvenile delinquents, and not enough publicity over our good deeds.

Delinquency starts when the child is just a little baby. It starts in the home and in his upbringing. If a child is not to become a delinquent he needs love and a good understanding between him and his family.

The trouble with most adults is that they sit back and wonder what in the world is going to become of us, but yet they won't try to do anything to help us.

John F. Kennedy, one of the greatest men of our time said "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country." Here's your chance. Stand up and be heard. Help us to help ourselves in every way you can.

Don't put an emphasis on the bad things we do. Put an emphasis on the good things going on. Encourage us to have hobbies and work helpful to our generation.

$1 Million Rubens Painting Stolen From Museum

BRUSSELS (UPI) — A million-dollar Rubens painting, one of the world's most valuable works of art, was stolen over the weekend from Brussels' Ancient Art Museum, police said today.

The police announcement of the theft of the painting, "Negroes' Heads," did not set a price.

But leading art critic Urbain van de Voorde called it one of the Flemish master's greatest and said it was worth at least $1 million.

The thieves broke into the museum through a skylight, removed the 18 by 26 inch painting from its frame, left the frame behind, and escaped with the canvas, police said.

The painting is a national treasure, a Belgian government designation for especially valuable works of art in this art-rich nation.

It depicts the heads of four Moors-Negroes from North Africa—and is a study for a later work considered the masterpiece of the painter, "The Adoration of the Magi."

The painting is reproduced on Belgium's 500-franc notes. It is as familiar to Belgians as the portraits of American presidents on U. S. currency.

Van de Voorde said the painting "is one of the greatest paintings Rubens ever created."

"It is nearly impossible to attach a price to it but I would say it is worth at least 50 million francs ($1 million)," he said. "It is a national treasure."

Peter Paul Rubens, the Flemish master who lived and worked in what is now Belgium at the end of the 16th and beginning of the 17th century, found the Moorish models for his painting in the port of Antwerp.

"Negroes' Heads" dates from his "Antwerp period," the prolific years he spent in the city from 1609 until 1621.

New York was the first state to require dog licenses, in 1894.

National Resumes Air Service; Pay Scale To Be Negotiated

MIAMI (UPI) — National Air Lines resumed full service today and union and airline officials negotiated to settle the salary dispute which prompted a strike, which halted operations of the giant carrier and put nearly 4,500 employees in 40 cities out of work for two days.

Both sides agreed Sunday to settle the wage dispute by Friday or submit to binding arbitration.

The agreement was made at the suggestion of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and prompted a telegram from President Johnson commending both sides in the dispute for their reasonableness.

Resumption of service meant relief of hundreds of tourists who had booked passage on National's bustling service from the Northeast to Florida's Gold Coast resorts, now at the peak of their winter season.

The walkout by clerical workers had completely tied up National since pilots, engineers and mechanics refused to cross the picket lines. Pickets were thrown up by the Air Line Employees' Association (ALEA) at 12:01 a. m. EST Saturday and were dismantled at 2:30 p. m. EST Sunday.

The nine-month-old salary dispute is over a demand by the ALEA for $60 a month boost for clerical workers over three years.

National had offered raises ranging from $36 to $51 instead.

Booster Club Social Gathering Is Rescheduled For March 19

Seminole Boosters club social gathering that was tentatively scheduled for Feb. 20 has been reset for March 19, it has been announced by President O. L. Barks. The change in dates was necessitated by a conflict with a play at the high school, it was said.

The plan for the covered dish get-together remains as it was first planned. "The Boosters Club members are to bring a dish of food," Dr. Barks said, and added "and it undoubtedly will be a rather ample one, because these fans know that our athletes can work over a dinner table about like a swarm of locusts over a wheat field. They truly enjoy eating!"

The Varsity and JV football and basketball players, the cheerleaders of both squads and their dates are to be guests of the Boosters at the "blow-out" that will be in the Seminole High School cafeteria beginning at 7 p. m.

Barks said that regardless of whether the parents of a team member had paid their Booster Club membership fee, they are welcome to attend this function if they come with that "essential covered dish of appetite-appealing food."

The motto "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star" was originated by the poet Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Cobras All Beaten By Ferrari Racers

DAYTONA BEACH, (UPI) —The battered but unbreakable cars of Ferrari hurtled to the first three places in the 1,245-mile Daytona intercontinental road race Sunday night over the stiffest challenge ever offered by the American-bred, Ford-powered Cobras.

Phil Hill of California and Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico, driving for the factory-sponsored North American Racing Team (NART), won the $40,000, 12-hour, 40-minute marathon with an average speed of 98.23 miles an hour.

A private Ferrari was second, four laps back and the other Nart Ferrari was third, eight laps back. An even sixteen laps behind in fourth was the best of Carroll Shelby's A.C. Cobras, but it was the best showing the Cobras have ever put on against the invincible Italian marquis in an endurance race.

Veteran Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Bob Johnson of Columbus, Ohio, turned in a splendid drive to

VAH-3 Cagers Runners-Up

Heavy Attack Squadron Three took second place honors in the COMFAIRJAX District Basketball Tournament in Jacksonville. In the double elimination competition, Three scored victories over Jacksonville's VA-44 and VA-45 and Sanford's VAH-5. The victory over Five advanced Three to the Semi-Finals, where they gained a 69-68 closing seconds victory over VA-44. The two losses of the tournament were both to the first placed Saratoga.

Ray Blasek YNS was Three's high scorer for the tournament with 96 points. Merle Grady, AQB2 was second high with 92 points. Grady's foul shot in the closing seconds of the Semi-Final game with VA-44 gave Three a 69-68 victory and a chance to meet Saratoga again in the final. Saratoga, who had defeated Three in the eliminations, proved to be the better team and won the hard fought contest 88-72.

VAH-3 team members are: LT James Goss, Officer in Charge; Tom Tenhagen TD8; Manager, Edward Creed ADJ8; Larry Roberts AES; Ray Blasek YNS; Merle Grady AQB2; Jack Thompkins AQB3, and his brother Jerry Thompkins ATR3. Also Billy Cromer AME3, Perry Elliot AE1, John Mitchell YNS, and Wendell Hans AQB3.

Jack Thompkins was selected to go to Norfolk for the Naval Air Forces, Atlantic Fleet Tournament as a member of the Saratoga team. Rules allow regional teams to augment for the big AIR-LANT tournament.

Rollins Nine Opens Practice

WINTER PARK. — Baseball practice is under way at Rollins College as Joe Justice begins his 18th season as coach of the Rollins Tars.

Thirty-five games and two tournaments comprise the Rollins 1964 schedule, with the opening dates being Mar. 12-14 when the Tars travel to New Orleans to take part along with Tulane, Memphis State, and L.S.U. in the Crescent City Invitational Tournament.

Rollins will host its annual Invitational Tournament Mar. 20-Apr. 4 with Colby, Davidson, and Duke joining the Tars for the week of doubleheaders. Three new schools have been added to the 1964 Rollins baseball schedule. They are Colby, Susquehanna, and Valparaiso.

Justice has nine lettermen returning this season, but only one of these veterans is a pitcher. The Tars will be hurting at the mound. Three of last year's starters were expected to help the Tars this season, but Terry Williams, a right hander with a 4-4-2 record and a .249 era last season, is the sole returning hurler push the ailing Cobra so high.

"We were on seven cylinders the last six hours," Gurney said after the race. "We lost a guide or piston or ring or something. We had to nurse it along but it kept on running."

Rodriguez, at the wheel when his Ferrari whipped across the finish line at 10:40 P.M. (est), said it was "too bad the Cobras didn't last—it would have made the race more interesting."

The Cobras, he allowed, were "very fast."

They were indeed, Shelby's new hard-topped Cobra, named the Daytona Cobra because this was its first race, had a healthy lead and an average of better than 100 miles an hour when, at lap 209, it pulled into the pits with a broken grease seal on its differential.

A mechanic trying to refuel the car dribbled gasoline on the red-hot exhaust pipes and the car billowed up in flames, burning—but not seriously—a mechanic.

The pit crew got the fire out but it couldn't repair the differential and Cobra's hopes for a win were dashed.

The No. 2 Ferrari belonged to David Piper of London and was co-driven by Lucian Bianchi of Italy. The NART Ferrari that took third was piloted by Bob Grosman of Nyack, N.Y., and veteran Walt Hansen of Bedminster, N.J.

The Gurney-Johnson Cobra finished only slightly ahead of yet another privately-entered Ferrari and a factory-entered Porsche.

Junior Boy Cage Tourney Feb. 28

Eight statewide cage district all star teams will converge on Sanford Feb. 28-29 for the annual Florida Junior Boys Basketball Tournament for 1964.

Teams will come from Panama City, DeLand, Lake Wales, Tallahassee, Fort Walton, Clewiston and Pensacola, plus Sanford.

The tournament will be played at the Fleming Gymnasium at Seminole High School. The Sanford Naval Academy will provide the necessary housing for the members of the various teams.

Jim Jernigan, director of the City Recreation Department, will manage the tournament in which the Sanford all star aggregation will defend its state title.

In first round contests, Panama City will meet DeLand, Lake Wales will tangle with Tallahassee, Fort Walton plays Sanford and Clewiston encounters Pensacola.

All of these games will be played on Feb. 28. The following day the four winners will meet in the semi-finals with the championship tilt slated for 8 p.m. on Feb. 29.

Lana K. Towles Becomes Mrs. William Johnson

Miss Lana Kaye Towles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Du Vall, wed William Edward Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Johnson of Sanford, Friday evening at 7:30 in the Methodist Temple of Lakeland.

The double-ring, candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. John H. Hunt and the Rev. Raymond Gregory Jr., pastor of the Ebenezer Methodist Church in Sanford.

Mrs. Joseph Mayo was the organist and Fred Larson, the soloist, sang "I Walk With God," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Oh Lord Most Holy." Larry Towles, brother of the bride, was candle-lighter.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a full length white peau de soie gown with a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. The skirt fashioned a controlled silhouette with a full drape fold back interest. Lace and sequin appliques embellished the midriff and chapel train. Her crown was of pearls and illusion and the veil was hand rolled. She carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Virgil McKissack, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a chic peacote street length dress in Oriental red, with a demure high scoop neckline. The dome slope skirt was highlighted with a petite ribbon sash. Mrs. McKissack wore a matching sweetheart rose, fashioned veil and carried a white fur muff. The bridesmaids, wearing the same fashioned dress as the matron of honor, were Miss Janet Johnson, sister of the groom, Mrs. David Gurgel, and Mrs. Bill Brown. Miss Cheryl Johnson, sister of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid.

The best man was Frank Millen of Watkins Glen, N. Y. Ushers were James Du Vall, brother of the bride, Gary Roth of Falls Church, Va., and Ronnie Lauderdale of Lakeland.

The mother of the bride wore a peacock blue chiffon sheath over matching taffeta. A chiffon bolero jacket covered the bodice of imported Belgian lace of matching color. Her dress was complemented by a corsage of red carnations.

The mother of the groom chose a blue and coffee floral silk sheath with an overlay skirt. Mrs. Johnson's lovely outfit was completed with a white carnation corsage.

Budget Family Food Right

By Myrtle Wilson

To help choose the right foods for your family at a price you can afford, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has prepared a publication "Family Budgeting."

Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent, says Food Economists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service present five family food plans geared to different levels of cost. Each food plan suggests the kinds and quantities of foods to buy weekly to provide a nutritionally adequate diet for each member of your family based on sex, age, and activity.

Included are an economy plan, two low-cost plans, one moderate-cost plan, and one liberal plan. The moderate-cost plan, suitable for the family with an average income, allows for meals with more variety and less home preparation than does the basic low-cost plan. It includes larger quantities of milk, eggs, meats, fruits and vegetables.

For your free copy of "Family Budgeting," send a postcard with your name and address, and the title and number of the publication to the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., 20250.

Palm Circle Gladly Welcomes Guest Speaker

The Palm Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met recently at the home of Mrs. H. A. Parker. Mrs. Hardy was co-hostess at this gathering. The two ladies served their guests coffee and cookies, which were beautifully arranged on a table which carried out the Valentine theme.

During the meeting, Mrs. Blanton Owen, president, reported the old and new business to the group. These items were discussed and voted upon. Besides a keen interest in the progress of their plans for a new Garden Club Center, the members still want to learn to be better gardeners. They were happy to be shown slides depicting the transplanting of large shrubs. Ernest Lundberg, the guest speaker, presented to the group a program explaining the steps to follow in moving shrubs and in planting those acquired in burlap or in tin cans. Mr. Lundberg, who represented the Agricultural Department, invited the ladies to attend the regular Monday morning Gardeners Clinic at the Garden Center and offered to demonstrate the intricate methods of grafting and budding of citrus.

Also during the meeting, Mrs. Wade Garner gave a timely horticulture report about garden care at this time of the year. Mrs. Howell was welcomed into the circle as a new member.

Latin Club Will Present Banquet

The Latin Club of Seminole High School is busily making the final preparations for the annual Latin Club Banquet to be held in the student lounge on March 17. The various committees have been formed and the individual tasks assigned.

The theme of this spectacular event is Dido, queen of Carthage, giving a banquet in honor of Aeneas, a Trojan leader and hero of the Romans. This theme was derived from Virgil's "Aeneid," which describes the wanderings of Aeneas and immortalizes the love affair of Dido and Aeneas. Dido was a contemporary of the Trojan Aeneas. When Aeneas was shipwrecked off the coast of Carthage, Dido welcomed him with a banquet. Then when Aeneas sailed for Italy, she committed suicide in despair.

Dido will be played by Helen Mann and Aeneas will be represented by Steve Sewell. Also Audrey Decker will play Venus, who is goddess of love and mother of the Roman people, especially of the Julian family, which claims descent from Aeneas. Aeneas, son of Aeneas, will be played by David Lanier.

Planning Extra Corners In Kitchens

There's a lot of potential storage area in the corners of wall and base cabinets, but it takes special planning to make this space convenient. You will find several good ideas in a new U. S. Department of Agriculture leaflet, "Corner Storage in Kitchens." This leaflet was prepared especially to help you take advantage of the hard-to-reach space in the U-shaped, broken-U, or L-shaped kitchens. In small kitchens, it is particularly important not to waste corner storage space.

Housing specialists in the USDA's Agricultural Research Service say that one of the best ways to make use of the corner space is to install revolving cabinets. Excellent hardware that insures trouble-free operation is available from building suppliers.

The leaflet shows a revolving base cabinet, a floor-to-ceiling cabinet, revolving wall cabinets and half-circle revolving shelves. Use of drawers or pullout trays and shelves also is shown.

For your free copy of this kitchen planning guide send a postcard with your name and address to the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

House Bill To Find Outlet For S & L Cash Called Up For Action

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House today called up a bill that the Savings and Loan (S&L) industry wants to take some of the pressure off its members in seeking outlets for their cash.

Spokesmen for Savings and Loan organizations stressed that the measure would not make any drastic change in the overall complexion of the S&L investments which are concentrated in the residential mortgage field.

The bill would permit S&L's to put their money in state and local bonds, and mortgages for mobile homes. It also would increase from $3,500 to $5,000 the limit on home improvement loans.

Beatles Delay Return Home

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The Beatles, shaggy-haired idols of the bobby sox set, decided to delay plans for returning to London and spend a few more days basking in the Florida sun and the aweing adoration of teenaged legions.

"I hope we'll be able to enjoy our extended stay without a crowd always following us," said Beatle press agent Brian Summerville, his tongue stuck firmly in cheek.

Summerville was almost as enthusiastic about the moppet quartet's performance on the Ed Sullivan show Sunday night as the thousands of teenaged girls who swooned at the band's booted feet during the television performance at the Deauville Hotel.

Last Wednesday when we visited the Sanford Naval Academy for a Chinese luncheon with officers and cadets we didn't hear a single "Gung Lay fat choy." And last Wednesday was the final day of the Chinese year. You've probably guessed that "Gung Lay fat choy" means happy New Year.

Among those "sized" to appear in the Lake Mary Chamber's talent show at the Sanford Junior High auditorium last year night are Harold and Ralph Unger, Joy West and Dolores Kirsch, the Bokur Trio, Gregory Nichols, Tanny Johnson, King Karolers Gospel singers, Jerl Whentland, Bobby Ray, Bonnie Swain, Marilyn Sprouse and Delby McLean, Al Skinner, Ed Miller and Charles Best. There'll be more, too.

One Clock watcher called this morning to tell us about the weather beaten and faded flag which ripples in the breeze atop the new Sanford Public Library flagpole.

Another Clock watcher has called our attention to the numerous might oak trees throughout Sanford being choked to death by moss. "If the moss is not removed," she said, "the trees will surely die." She suggested that perhaps some young people could be employed to remove the moss. She also asked why the Garden Club had not called someone's attention to it.

By the way, The Herald—and the Clock—are getting some mighty interesting letters. Unfortunately we cannot publish them because they are not signed. If you do not wish your name to be used—as long as you do not deal in personalities—we'll not publish your name. But sign them, please.

Just when we commend the West Side Grammar School PTO mothers for serving an excellent lunch at Third and French, here comes word from Mrs. J. E. Bedenbaugh that they need six volunteers. Guards serve from 10 to 45 minutes each morning and about the same time each afternoon. If you can help call Mrs. Bedenbaugh at 322-6105 or contact the school at 322-1942.

Around we got The Herald published a photo from a national construction magazine showing a parking lot built over Rock River in the middle of Janesville, Wis., with a hint to Sanford authorities that such a facility might be built over Lake Monroe. Mrs. Harry Daehn of Sanford, a former Janesville resident, sent a clipping from The Herald to the Janesville Daily Gazette and Sanford received publicity there.

One local firm which now employs about 20 persons had told E. S. Douglas, director of the Seminole County Vocational School, that by 1968 it expects to need at least 125 employees.

Last year South Seminole Elementary School at Cassberry had a total of 670 students enrolled. This figure included children from the English Estates area. This year, South Seminole Elementary, exclusive of English Estates children, now has 628 students. Now you tell us if South Seminole is growing. It's no wonder school people have problems!

County Commission Chairman James P. Avery Jr. said the other day he found a huge amount of pornographic material dumped very near a school bus stop in South Seminole. He said, "It wasn't exactly smutty; it was downright filthy."

Signs of the times—a car back of a small compact car: "Quit honking! I'm pedaling as fast as I can."

Storm Warning
MIAMI (UPI)—The Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm warning today for a part of Florida north of Sarasota and Veru Beach.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Salute To A Hero

It doesn't come once in everyone's lifetime to be a hero. The opportunity just doesn't present itself. Or if it does, the person who could be the hero just doesn't grasp it.

The proverbial "lightning" has struck three times for Silas Lackey. For three times in his lifetime Lackey has dashed into flames to save a human life.

When he was an airman in the U. S. Air Corps and stationed at Pinecastle AFB, outside of Orlando, Lackey braved flames to save the life of a buddy.

Last summer, Deputy Sheriff Lackey rescued a woman from a burning house. Early Monday the same law officer, for the third time in his lifetime, braved a burning house and rescued a young boy, returned into the flames and brought out the body of another boy.

Lackey bears burn scars on his right arm from his first rescue at Pinecastle AFB.

It is not generally known in Sanford and Seminole County but Deputy Sheriff Silas Lackey starred in the Olympic games in Helsinki, Finland, back in the 1950's.

The Sanford Herald salutes Silas Lackey... to the point, and unknown to him until this reading... I. L. Gerald Arenberg, director of the National Police Hall of Fame at North Port Charlotte, Fla., has agreed to post his name along with other law enforcement heroes. Lieutenant Arenberg informed The Herald this morning that Deputy Lackey and his superior, Sheriff J. L. Hobby, will be presented with a citation heralding Lackey's bravery.

Flights To Gitmo Like 'Little Berlin'

GUANTANAMO NAVAL BASE, Cuba (UPI)—The flight of Cuban exiles to this big U. S. base is beginning to resemble a small-scale West Berlin.

Eyewitnesses told today of how a 15-year-old Cuban youth swam about a half-mile under fire from Communist guards to join about 600 other members of Guantanamo's little-publicized exile community. The youth's two companions were killed in the water by gunfire from Castro guards.

The youth, who was not identified because he has relatives in Cuba, dared death last week to reach U. S.-held territory because he said he wanted a chance to get an education and become a physician.

Rear Adm. John D. Bulkeley, base commander, said 14 escapees have reached the base, either by swimming or by climbing the 10-foot steel fence and daring U. S. minefields, since he assumed his post last December.

The exiles, who are never identified by name, are checked out after they reach the base so as to weed out any possible Castro spies. They are then given asylum and employment.

The 15-year-old's escape was made at a point known as the "water gate," where two sections of the base are divided by a narrow section of Guantanamo Bay.

Cuban guards spotted the three young swimmers soon after they struck out from the Cuban shore. The 15-year-old was lucky and managed to make it unharmed through a rain of rifle fire. His friends were not.

The boy says it is impossible to get an education in Castro Cuba because there is

Citrus Mutual Praises Hobby
J. L. Hobby, sheriff of Seminole County, was praised today for his co-operation in apprehending fruit thieves in a report presented to the board of directors of Florida Citrus Mutual by Les Resener, director of the fruit protection division.

"To date, more than 115 arrests for stealing citrus and committing other acts detrimental to the citrus industry have been made. One hundred and five of these investigations and arrests have been carried out by members of the Central Intelligence Bureau."

Bessinger told the board he believed that "through the efforts of the fruit protection division, the CIB and the 32 sheriffs in the citrus-producing counties, we have been able to prevent thousands of boxes of fruit from being stolen to date."

Legislation, Site Units To Begin Work

By Julian Stenstrom

Initial steps were made Monday toward the creation of a port terminal in the Sanford area.

The Port Authority Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce turned on a green light to get the necessary machinery in operation.

Chairman Francis Roumillat Jr. named Gordon Frederick to head a special sub-committee to study legislation and Scott Burns to be chairman of another sub-committee to study site feasibility. Frederick will be assisted by County Commission Chairman James P. Avery Jr., County Commissioner John Alexander and Andrew Carraway. Burns' group will include Jack Bolt, Mayor A.L. Wilson, of Sanford, and Carl Schilke.

The general committee agreed that it would seek the counsel of experienced individuals and agencies in this field. It will invite Frank Norris, a member of the Jacksonville Port Authority and chairman of the Barnett National Bank, to its next meeting along with the manager of the Jacksonville port group. In addition, Harry Lee Lindsey, of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Robert Doyle, executive director of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, will be invited.

"With the coming of the St. John's-Indian River and the cross state canal," said Roumillat, "we must act now if we expect to make Sanford an inland port."

He also pointed out that "we realize that this endeavor is going to be costly and require considerable time. However, if we can investigate thoroughly and accumulate sufficient facts we will be in a position to establish the kind of legislation with the latitude required to have a port authority which will adequately serve all of inland Florida."

FEC Hearing Collapses

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI)—A government attempt to hold joint union-company meetings on the Florida East Coast Railway strike stalled today, apparently over the question of whether the talks should be recorded.

FEC officials, including Board Chairman Edward Ball, walked out of the meeting after a court reporter was refused entrance.

Minutes later Asst. Labor Secretary James L. Reynolds held separate meetings with Ball and G. E. Lighty, chief negotiating officer for 11 non-operating unions which struck the FEC 13 months ago.

Reynolds talked with Lighty for 30 minutes, then summoned Ball, who said: "The FEC has nothing to hide. If I meet with Mr. Lighty I want a court reporter there."
