SIXTEEN YEARS FOR TODAY

GIVING GETS: There is that scatterth and yet increase; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty.—Proverbs 11:24.

STRANGER

I've been so busy, all these years, with marketing, and things to eat, and smoothing paths for little feet, and building laughter out of tears; With writing grocery lists and times, and heating eggs in yellow bowls, devising ways to distant goals, and making jam, and coupling times. My life has been so full, with love and laughter at my apron strings, I haven't missed the other things existence has been empty of. But oh, this morning, unwary, I found a stranger in the glass. Back in my busy, blessed past, I must have lost myself, somewhere.—By Frances Noel Mehlke.

Parisians may tell us how to drink wine but they don't tell us how to get the wherewithal with which to buy it.

The word may be growing better and better, but it will be a long while before any of those investigations run out of material. San Diego Union.

To be sure, there are critics who are skeptical about what modern penology is doing for prisoners, but then, there's Millington. He came but will fight, didn't he? Boston Herald.

Now they want to pass a constitutional amendment so that they can have a popular election for a president. We don't see how they could have a more popular election than that one is, do we?

The average American is becoming very proficient in dodging his tax as difficult as it is to hit him with a tax as it is with a gun. National News. Some of the police officers, however, are amazingly successful at it.

With that young boy up in Pennsylvania who is slowly turning back to the trouble steered up his back, but with most of the people he's known who were afflicted like that, the trouble was confined largely to the head.

Thalia Maas who used to kill her mother for the $500 found for her objects to being admitted to hospital in Geneva. "My wife is my own," she says, "to do with as I please." After a good night's sleep she may feel differently about it.

Most of the candidates for the United States Senate at Congress that we have seen have sold the people what they would get for this state if elected. What we would like to see is some candidate promising to do something for the country, and one of the best things he could do would be to help reduce taxes.

More things every queer thing. Down in Miami where business is supposed to be picking up, a young girl, age 18, drowned her five minutes old baby because she was unable to stop it from crying and a woman killing her baby, trying to get food for her baby, but she cannot understand a woman who kills her own baby for any reason.

We see by the Tiberville Star-Advertiser that the Board of Police Commissioners offer their support to the Board of Police Commissioners. Tiberville Star-Advertiser.

Aviation Commission

An effort is being made to take the aviation companies, and especially the air mail, out of politics by a bill which has recently been introduced in Congress proposing the creation of an aviation commission of five members who would have complete control over interstate air lines, the regulation rates, routes and services, the arbitration of labor disputes, and the prevention of abuses contrary to public policy.

"Heretofore the commercial air lines have provided their own regulation in the matter of service and charges," says the Miami Herald, "and their rapid expansion indicates the job was well done. They allotted different sections and routes to certain corporations, thus dealing with the question of competition, which is managed by federal commissions. It would be wasteful to organize several competing lines between the same points when the business did not warrant them. Yet this common-sense method has apparently brought the companies into a class with the government over the charges of collusion, although collusion is approved and enforced for the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"The aviation corporations are apparently willing to submit to the dictation of government, hoping that this will remove the suspicion of them and correct evils which have arisen. With certificates issued to the established companies they will also be more assured of permanency and protection against fresh competition. They may present the conditions that face the railroads with several lines running over the same territory."

"The carriers also believe the plan will solve the present air mail problem and return this business properly to the commercial flyers at rates which will apply alike to all. The post office department is encountering difficulties and seems greatly confused in trying to work out suitable contracts upon which to bid. Temporary compensation will be set by the bill pending permanent rates to be ordered by the commission."

"The aviation law would protect the carriers, as much as the public. It would prohibit under penalties interference with the licensed craft, forbid passes and the granting of preferences. The commission would decide upon all rates. It appears to cover every detail of regulation. "Big business, such as this, is not opposed to government supervision of a responsible character. Rather it is welcome, although the railroads have not exactly prospered under the rule of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Government is too apt to be arbitrary in decisions, to fix rates higher than would be the case under free competition, and excessive costs reduce business and profits. But the nation has grown so large and complex that some sort of federal supervision has become necessary to prevent chaos."

Income Taxes

With Congress still somewhat undecided as to what to do to the taxpayer at the present time, the Senate Finance Committee has recently prepared a set of tables which reveal what the various proposed schedules of rates on income taxes require. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Couzens amendment—rates appearing in the last column below—was voted out of the bill Tuesday, only to be included by a reversal of opinion in the Senate yesterday.

The following tables show the taxes which a single man with no dependents has to pay on various brackets of income under the present law, under the House bill, under the Senate Harrison bill, and under the Senate Couzens bill, and also what a married man with no dependents has to pay.

Table with 5 columns: Net Income, Present Law, House Bill, Senate Harrison Bill, Senate Couzens Bill. Rows for Single Man - All Earned Income from $2,000 to $100,000.

Karl Lehmann Talks On America's Future

"America Facing the Future" was the subject of the talk made by Karl J. Lehmann at the program given yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club on Oak Avenue by the Literature and Music Departments of the club with Mrs. Karl Lehmann and Mrs. Arthur Braun as sponsors and Mrs. J. Dingfelder and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell as hosts.

In his talk Mr. Lehmann said that the future could not be considered without thinking of the President who holds the destiny of the nation in his hands for the next three years. He then quoted from an article by W. M. Kiplinger which appeared in a recent issue of "Nation's Business."

In giving an account of C. E. Treadway's recent trip to Washington to secure funds for Florida schools, Mr. Lehmann stated that Mr. Treadway appealed personally to the President who "turned a deaf ear" to his application. On seeing Mrs. Frances Perkins he was advised to interview Mrs. Roosevelt who promised to see her husband. As a result, the next day the President promised to give the money to Florida schools, which Mr. Lehmann said, showed that Mr. Roosevelt was not a "one-trick" man, but that he takes advice, adding that he will be available himself with this people and takes their advice.

Relating his talk of the future to local affairs, Mr. Lehmann predicted that Florida will have a boom before another 24 months have elapsed. He declared that with 1,200,000 people in the state this boom amounts to an average of $5.00 per day, one-third of whom had never seen Florida before, prosperity is bound to return here.

Other members on the program were a vocal solo, "America's Blue Eagle" by Sherman Lloyd with accompaniment by Mrs. Arthur Braun, and another vocal solo, "The Road is Open Again" by Mrs. George Lehmann with Mrs. Frances A. Lehmann as accompanist.

Mrs. Ralph A. Smith presided over a short business meeting of the Literature Department immediately before the program. At this time Mrs. E. E. Jones was elected program chairman in the place of Mrs. E. O. Shalaby who resigned recently. Officers of the department were revised and each member was asked to write ideas for next year's program.

At the conclusion of the program a social period was enjoyed. The club rooms were decorated for the occasion with quantities of many dragons and other brightly-colored garden flowers.

ITALIAN ICEMAN GETS REVENGE ON FORMER BANKER

New Yorker, Who Lost Savings in Closed Bank, Nabs Official

NEW YORK, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Joseph Tarantino, ice dealer, charged Monday and figured he is now almost even with Vincenzo Tibbo, former financier.

The ice dealer lost $5,000 when Tibbo's private bank blew up with a $2,000,000 bang 11 years ago, but the fun he had Sunday in juggling the banker in a white collar was almost worth the money.

Since the Tibbo brothers' bank collapsed, police had sought Vincenzo Tibbo around the world, but never caught him. That remained for Joseph Tarantino.

Friday Tarantino finished digging a wine cellar in his home in Jamaica and started shopping around for something to put in it. A friend gave him the telephone of a liquor merchant. Tarantino called it.

Over the wire came a voice—a voice that Tarantino was unrecognizable. It was the voice of the former banker. He almost blushed with surprise, he said, but managed to answer:

"Please bring me two gallons of alcohol."

Tibbo arrived on Saturday with the alcohol. The ice dealer, beaming, layed him down to the wine cellar to have a drink. When they came to the ladder leading to the dark hole, Tarantino politely told the former banker to precede him.

Then he slammed the trap door shut, put two barrels on top of it, and telephoned the police. The charge against Tibbo is larceny, preferred by Tarantino.

Professor Says Honor Cards Are Dealt With Regularity

CINCINNATI, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Here's good news for struggling bridge players who complain that they never get a "decent" hand. Harold W. Sibert, a bridge-playing professor of higher mathematics, calculates the chances are slightly better than 50 to 1 that you'll be dealt a hand with no honor count at all rather than one that really is something to brag about.

Deals at the game have strongly suspected it all along. But it took the professor—no great shakes at a bridge player, either—to reduce it all to mathematical ratios.

It took him and his bridge-expert collaborator, Charlton Wallace, 12 hours to do it.

Now he says the chances are that roughly 11 out of every 100 hands will yield an ace, king and queen, or their equivalent in honor count. On the other hand, an absolutely "bad" hand with no honors at all can be looked for about twice in every 100 hands, while the chances of pulling most of the honors is a mere once out of 10,000 deals.

The professor, member of the faculty of the University of Cincinnati used the so-called Winslow honor count system in framing his deductions. Under that system an ace is worth 1-2 tricks, a king, one trick and a queen, half a trick. No account is taken of jacks, as that would entail dealings in quarter-trick calculations.

Incidentally, Sibert says that the new valuation system announced by army leading New York experts—fixing an ace at worth 3; king, 2; queen, 1 and jack 1-2—is nothing more than the Winslow system with the jack restored, and the values multiplied by two.

Sibert's table of probabilities of dealing by the National Antine and Chemical Company.

WORLD Must Know Cultural FLORIDA

Educational and religious advantages of Florida and the high standard of cultural life in its communities are tremendously important to prospective new residents.

These cultural advantages must be made known, if Florida is to attract those citizens who recognize the necessity of raising their children in an environment which will fit them spiritually, intellectually and physically for the keen competition of present-day economic and social existence.

The world must know that Florida is a whole population is a comparatively good one. It is a state that has been a leader in the building of churches and schools, and in maintaining religious and educational institutions of the highest character.

It must be known that the public school system, facing the problem of a constantly changing and increasing population, has kept pace with the progress of Florida and is prepared to keep physical, mental and moral progress which, by an organized effort of all of our officers, we will induce during the coming years. It must know that children who attend school in this mid-climate have a decided advantage over those confined in heated, stuffy rooms of northern sections.

MIAMI MOTHER WHO KILLED TOT IS GRIEF TORN

Interviewer Discovers That 'Murderess' Is Just A Little Girl

Editor's Note: The following story was written by William Mott, special feature writer for the Miami Daily News, after her interview with Mrs. Eva May Nottage, 18-year-old Miami woman who pushed her five-month-old son to sleep before drowning him in Miami bay.

MIAMI, Apr. 12.—They're calling her "murderess." They say she killed her baby Saturday night, coldly and without passion. But the Eva May Nottage who walked blindly from the body of her dead child in the darkened parlor of a funeral home—and once, off guard, clutched my hand in a spasm of grief—was just a

In The WEEK'S NEWS

MOTOR CAR IS KING.

New York's most popular topic was the new 1934 cars during the auto show, to which celebrities and plain John Citizen flocked in great numbers. Here are some of the high spots of the show: Right, the cameraman shows some of the crowds which jammed the exhibit.

AL SMITH MEETS NAMEBAKE.

Al Smith of New York met Al Smith of Detroit during the show. Detroit's Al, a veteran employe of the Fisher Body Corporation, hasn't missed an auto show in thirty-five years, but this is the first time he ran across New York's Al. Looks as though Al has his eye on that car in the next picture!

THEY COULDN'T GET PAST.

Lyda Roberti and Tamara, stars of "Roberta," were busy inspecting gadgets and motors at the show until they found this miniature style show with tiny mannequins dressed in latest fashions—and there they stayed. Photo shows Miss Roberti, Margit Nilsen, ex-Vanities dancer who designed the style show, and Tamara.

THE PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Ball, put off her return to Washington from a shopping expedition long enough to inspect the new cars. The most interesting exhibit in the show, she said, was the tiny Neopolitan coaches built by young members of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild. She is shown inspecting the coaches with W. A. Fisher, sponsor of the foundation.

WRAP IT UP!

That's what these stars of "She Loves Me Not" are saying as they rest for a minute on a shiny new streamlined LaSalle. Polly Walters, New York's stage sensation, is at the wheel.

MAN WHO SPENT 23 YEARS IN JAIL GIVEN FREEDOM

Prisoner Becomes As Child In Wonderland Upon His Release

PITTSBURGH, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Frank Maley, whose life stood still for 23 years—ever since the day he was sent to western penitentiary as a killer back in 1911—Monday became as a child in wonderland.

He is en route to New York and will sail for his native Yugoslavia, the condition on which he was paroled.

Wearing a trim suit he made in the prison workshop, and accompanied by former Sheriff Judd M. Bruff, the man who five times saved him from the death penalty, Maley climbed into a motor car at the prison gates and was whisked to downtown

Pittsburgh. "Look at that little kid," he yelled an occupant of the machine turned, expecting to see a child in danger. Then they remembered two decades had passed since the prisoner had seen a child at play.

As the car halted for a red light at a street intersection and other cars whizzed past at right angles, Maley exclaimed: "What if we hadn't stopped?"

Bruff explained "those lights control the traffic. See, we can't go until it turns green."

"Who does all that?" "Oh, they're automatic," said Bruff.

As the machine started down a slight grade Maley became excited, shouting, "puu on the brake." They told him the car could be stopped at any time and he sat back in his seat. Automobiles weren't always reliable in 1911.

Street cars, department stores, speedy elevators, all were revelations to Frank Maley.

He hoped to reach Yugoslavia in time for his niece's wedding. She postponed it several times upon learning her uncle was coming home.

"But you know how impatient women are about those things," he said.

"I understand. I could have told her that, but her mother and father were watching, anxiously, and she said no more. She looked down at her dress—it was a clean dress, but shabby. She put down one hand, self-consciously as though to cover the ugly fabric—and looked back at me.

"I hope things will turn out all right, Eva." It would have been impossible not to hope that, right then.

"I hope so—too." That hard leer which they've been saying was stamped on her face, was gone. She was a little girl. She turned away, to put a hand on her mother's strong arm, and look at her father, twisting his hat.

Eva had seen her baby. Now they were taking her away from it—back to jail. Back to walls which may watch silently, while she cries in the night.

Buffalo Baseball Official Here To Inspect Ball Field

State Labor Board To Seek Teachers' Support

MIAMI, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Florida's State Federation of Labor closed its thirty-fourth annual convention here last night with definite plans drafted for missionary work toward the unionization of 8500 school teachers in the state. Committees are to be selected from local labor groups to wage an intensive campaign to urge the affiliation of the teachers with the American Federation of Teachers.

The convention gave its unanimous endorsement to a teacher program seeking $7,500,000 for the next legislative year for schools—a program outlined by H. H. Filer, of Miami, leader of a teacher organization group in the state.

Leo T. Miller, official of the Buffalo Baseball Club of the International League, and Frank Walker, umpire in that league, were in Sanford yesterday afternoon inspecting Municipal Park and contacting local persons who might be interested in bringing the Buffalo Club to Sanford next year.

Mr. Miller stated that while he has no complaint to make of the club's present training quarters at Ft. Lauderdale, it has been difficult to schedule an adequate number of exhibition games with major or minor league clubs. Major league clubs, he stated, leave the state at least two weeks before his club leaves, and there are few teams remaining on the East Coast which provide opposition for his club.

Mr. Miller stated that the local park is a "splendid" lay-out which needs only a little touching up to make it an ideal location. He was interested in hotel rates and similar facilities, and he promised to remain in touch with local conditions so that when the new training season rolls around, this city will be given consideration as the home of an outstanding minor league club.
