SANFORD'S MVI CLOSED...FOR NOW

This is what the Sanford Motor Vehicle Inspection (MVI) station will look like come Oct. I when the state requirement for car inspections is no longer in effect. But don't be fooled. The station was empty this morning because it had not as yet opened at 11 a.m. for the day's activities. Motorists whose vehicle inspection stickers have expired might be wise to have the inspections done. Florida Highway Patrolmen are periodically running stop checks on motorists and giving out citations to those whose vehicles do not carry up-do-date inspection stickers. The other two MVI stations in Seminole are located in Casselberry and at Sanlando Springs near the county landfill.

IRA Says New Inmate To Join Hunger Strike

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) - The IRA selected a new hunger striker to replace Martin Hurson, the six Republican faster to die for special prisoner status, and Ireland's Roman Catholic primate urged Britain to talk to the strikers "without delay."

Hurson's death early Monday set off new street violence in Uister and the leader of Ireland's Roman Catholics, Cardinal Tomas O Flaich charged Britain of reneging on a pledge to negotiate face-to-face with the hunger strikers.

"Martin Hurson's death, like that of Joe McDonnell, could have been avoided if last week's untiring efforts of the Irish Commission of Justice and Peace had met with a positive response they merited," Cardinal O

O Flaich urged British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to send a government representative to Belfast's Maze Prison "to talk with the prisoners without delay."

Hurson, 26, died unexpectedly on the 46th day of his fast, only four days after IRA inmate McDonnell, 30, had starved himself to death at the Maze.

Hurson was to be buried Wednesday in a militarystyle funeral near his home village of Cappagh and another prisoner would join the seven surviving hunger strikers, the IRA said.

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - The Soviet Union today iled Warsaw Pact Communist delegations to Poland's Extraordinary Party Congress, which was debating the most radical changes ever in a Communist nation, including the election of a party leader.

Party leader Stanislaw Kania opened the congress of 1,946 delegates by urging the group not to disappoint the hopes of the nation during the "difficulties our country is going through."

"Our congress must fulfill a very important role," said Kania, whose election was expected later in the day, Kania was named party leader last September after the settlement that ended the Goansk strike.

Haig Warns Vietnam

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) - Secretary of State Alexander Halg bluntly warned Vietnam it will suffer continued isolation if it keeps its troops in Cambodia but hinted at economic aid for a withdrawal.

"The United States has no intention of normalizing relations with a Vietnam that occupies Cambodia and destabilizes the entire Southeast Asian region," Haig told the U.N. conference Monday,

But Vietnam, which has 200,000 troops occupying Cambodia, the Soviet Union, and their ailies were not among 86 delegations attending the conference simed at bringing peace to Cambodia.

"We also will continue to question seriously any economic assistance to Vietnam - from whatever source - as long as Vietnam continues to squander its scarce resources on aggression," Haig said.

Teen Brothers Plead Guilty To Murder

A pair of teenage brothers from Altamonte Springs pleaded guilty in Seminole Circuit Court Monday to second degree murder in connection with the Feb. 7 slaying of a 24-year-old man at a Fern Park motel.

Judge Joseph Davis Jr. deferred sentencing pending completion of investigations into the backgrounds of Homer Lee Poole, 17, and his brother Jackie Lee Poole, 15, both of 120 Jackson St. The youths could receive up to life imprisonment.

The pair had originally been charged with first degree murder and were scheduled to be tried as adults. If convicted, they could have been executed. However, on Monday, the day before Jackie was to turn 17 years old, the youths agreed to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

The Poole brothers were charged with benting James C. Bullock, formerly of Room 1 of the Oak Ridge Motel on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Fern Park, and robbing him of $10 before shooting him once in the head with a small-caliber pistol.

A third suspect in the slaying, Columbus "Sonny Boy" Edwards, 32, who lived in Room 5 of the motel where Bullock's body was found, was indicted by the Seminole County Grand Jury two weeks ago for murder and is scheduled to be tried next month. According to court records, Homer Poole was the actual triggerman in the shooting, but his brother and Edwards were present and helped hide and destroy evidence afterwards. The shooting climaxed an argument in which the three accused Bullock of not living up to his promises - i.e. getting Edwards a job, a car, and an apartment.

All four men had been either drinking or smoking marijuana prior to the shooting, court records showed.

In other court action, six persons pleaded guilty to various criminal charges. They are:

-Anthony Eugene DePalma, 18, 2400 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, possession of a controlled substance. DePalma was arrested March 26 when he sold a Seminole County undercover agent a half-pound of marijuana for $170.

British Violence Continues Despite Government Threats

riot courts worked non-stop across Monday, dispensing fines as high as $950 and jail sentences as long as nine months to about 1,400 young offenders. Some defendants were as young as 11.

"I don't know why we bother arresting them in the first place," one police officer said. "When they are told they are going to Juvenile Court they just laugh up their sleeves." In the first 10 nights of violence, 1,719 people were arrested and 518 police were injured.

The Dally Telegraph said today London taxpayers face a $22.8 million bill for the riots, while damages in Liverpool were estimated as high as $9.5 million. The Riot Damages Act requires local governments to compensate riot victims for damage to buildings and their contents.

At least 15 youths were arrested Monday and two policemen were injured. With special riot courts handing out fines and sentences and regular prisons crowded, Home Secretary William Whitelaw said the government was considering confining rioters at army camps.

Whitelaw also authorized use of plastic bullets and water cannons to quell rioters. Plastic bullets have been used for years by British security forces in Northern Ireland. The outbreaks Monday night and today, although fierce and destructive, were confined to fewer urban centers than in the previous 10 nights and no trouble in London was reported.

State May Help Volusia Pay Fire-Fighting Costs

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) - Gov. Bob Graham flew over the Crane Swamp fire Sunday and later told Volusia County officials the state may provide financial aid to help cover the cost of fighting the fires.

Graham said he would let officials know within 30 days if the state can reimburse the county for part of the $250,000 it has cost to fight the Crane Swamp blaze, now in its 43rd day, and several smaller woods fires. From the air, Graham saw the extent of devastation as he flew over miles and miles of charred landscape.

"Thirty-one thousand acres is a very big piece of real estate," he said. "It was surprising. I have been to other fires throughout the state and this was more extensive." The governor, however, was pessimistic about the county's chance of receiving federal disaster aid, "largely because there has not been a substantial loss of homes and personal

21.000 Strikers Ordered To leturn To Work Today

BOSTON (UPI)-With Gov. Edward J. King's signagre on emergency legislation ending payless paydys for state workers, union leaders ordered some 21,00 striking employees to return to work today.

The strikers—unpaid since the fiscal year began July 1-rere to return to their offices and relieve National Guardsmen on the job at state mental institutions on the morning shift.

Lawmakers also were to resume work today on adoption of a compromise budget for the fiscal year, now 14 days old. The budget is bung up over how much the state should help local governments absorb cutbacks mandated by the tax-cutting law, Proposition

Until the state's $6.3 billion spending plan is accepted by the House, the Senate and the governor, Massachusetts will be without money to pay its expenses-except for the salaries and benefits included the $85 million emergency pay package.

Policeman Hurt In Chase

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - A rookie policeman chasing three robbery suspects through a housing project was snared by a clothesline, resulting in a gaping neck wound that took 135 stitches to close.

The 29-year-old officer, whose name was not released, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Marina Mercy Hospital with torn neck ligaments and numerous cuts and bruises.

The chase began before dawn Monday in the Venice district when the officer spotted a vehicle wanted in a robbery. The car rolled to a stop and the suspects jumped out.

The officer, who graduated from the police academy last May, chased the suspects until he hit the clothesline, investigators said. Robert Hernandez, 21, and a 17-year-old youth were arrested a short time later by other officers. A third

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) - Lightning ripped through a Boy Scout camp during a severe thunderstorm Monday night, injuring 21 young acouts and a troop leader, officials said.

Two scouts and troop leader Vincent Franceschini. 43, of Troop 155, Danvers, Mass., were admitted with minor burns to Elliot Hospital. Two other scouts were admitted to Catholic Medical Center for observation. The other acouts, 7 to 11, were treated at the two facilities and released. The lightning struck a tree at Camp Carpenter, traveled down its 50-foot length, through a rodent tunnel 37 feet to a cabin - where some of the scouts were located - then continued another 164 feet to a dining area where most of the scouts were seated, said scout executive Arol Charbonneau.

Two Killed In Plane Crash

PLANT CITY (UP1)-Two Hillsborough County men were killed Monday when their single-engine plane crashed and burned in a heavily wooded area six miles north of Plant City.

Sheriff's deputies identified the dead as the pilot, William J. Griffin, 54, and his passenger, William S.

The men had left Hillsboro Airport in east Hillsborough County about noon Sunday.

They crashed shortly before 2 a.m. Monday A Coast Guard helicopter Isunched from Clearwater after the control tower at Tampa International Airport picked up an emergency signal from the Piper Cherokee, honed in on the signal and located the downed plane at 2:10 a.m.

The helicopter pilot put his aircraft down in a pasture two-tenths of a mile away and the three-man crew made its way to the wreckage and extinguished a small fire. The two men were dead at the scene.

Sanford Sets Water Conservation

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Commissioners went pressure. through the formality of adopting a "water conservation plan" Monday night even though an 18 percent reduction in water use has already been accomplished.

The plan, mandated by the St. Johns River Water management District last Thursday, was signed by Mayor Lee P. Moore and ordered forwarded to the district immediately after approval.

The conservation plan, which notes that the district has mandated a reduction in water use by 15 percent, said Sanford has used the following measures to conserve effluent.

-Reduced operating pump of all city lines.

-Altered use of well fields -Initiated a water leak detection

program. -Continued its ongoing program of replacing dead water meters.

—Agreed to "create more prudent use of water through economic incentives "by preparing to increase city water rates by 8 to 18 percent, depending on the volume of water

-Reduced Irrigation of all city

-Replaced the use of fresh water for irrigation at the sewer plant with

-Reduced hydraulic cleaning of sanitary and storm sewer lines, except on an emergency basis. -Discontinued the use of large quantities of water for fire department training.

The plan notes that by use of these measures a significant reduction in water use has resulted. The city's average water flow from April 15 to 30, a base time period set by the water management district, was 6.9 million gallons per day. Since June 21, water use has declined to an average of 5.7 million gallons per day, for a reduction of 17.32 percent.

Other information gathered by the city of Sanford for the district includes records of rainfall at the Sanford sewer plant.

During the 9-month period from Oct., 1979 to June, 1980, total rainfall of 41.7 inches was recorded compared with 23.27 inches for the comparable period of Oct., 1980 through last month.

In the report to the district, however, the city points out that despite the deficit in rainfall, Sanford has received much more than other areas and the rainfall has replenished the city's water supply.

Records of choloride (salt) levels reduction in the future," said City in the city water supply showed city wells are stable. The chloride level in one well jumped dramatically by three times the normal level on June 20. The city immediately shut down the well for a five-day period. "The five-day rest resulted in a normal choloride level and it has remained normal with usage since that one day's high reading," the report to the district shows.

Knowles in recommending adoption of the plan, even though Sanford had achieved a reduction in water usage voluntarily prior to the district's order, said by the city complying with the order it can be "at peace with the world."

FBI Bought Spy's Daughter Gifts?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - An alleged Polish spy and the FBI agents who shadowed him for years became so friendly he introduced the agents to his acquaintances and they bought birthday presents for his daughter.

Marian Zacharski, who is charged with bribing an aerospace executive to steal U.S. defense secrets for Communist Poland, got to know the FBI agents who had him under surveillance 'almost since he arrived in 1977," Zacharski's attorney Edward M. Stadum said Monday at his client's arraignment.

"When they all went out to the Burger King for his daughter's birthday, the FBI agents bought her birthday presents," Stadum said. Zacharski has two daughters - 3 and

A spokeswoman for the Los Angeles FBI office said the bureau had no comment on the story.

At the hearing before U.S. District Judge David V. Kenyon, Zacharski and former Hughes Aircraft Co. engineer William Holden Bell pleaded innocent to espionage charges, which carry a possible death penalty. The judge scheduled their trial to begin Sept. 18.

Bell, 61, former project manager of the radar systems group at Hughes Aircraft in El Segundo, Calif., allegedly sold secret defense documents for $110,000 to Zacharski, 29, president of the Polish American Machinery Corp., and delivered documents to Polish agents in Austria and Switzerland. Outside the courtroom, Stadum said he was not sure what FBI agents gave to Zacharski's daughter as gifts or when the Burger King Incident happened, "but it is my impression it was recently. He said that by that time, Zacharaki was on such close terms with the agents assigned to keep watch on him that "he introduced them to his friends, as 'the FBI guys who have to Zacharski's relations with his FBI shadowers came up during a debate between Stadum and the prosecutor, assistant U.S. attorney Robert S. Brewer Jr., over whether Zacharski should be allowed to go free on bail pending trial.

The Justice Department successfully opposed setting bail, arguing that Zacharski would almost certainly flee the country if he were released, probably with Polish government help.

Grand Jury May Hear More In Williams Case

ATLANTA (UPI) - Attorneys for Wayne B. Williams failed to block today's grand jury proceedings in the case of the last of Atlanta's 28 young murdered blacks, clearing the way for additional evidence to be presented to the panel.

Fulton County District Attorney Lewis Slaton, who is leading the prosecution against Williams, said late Monday, "I'm not planning to have any indictment or a no bill tomorrow."

Slaton also said he had not decided whether he would present more evidence against Williams to the grand jury today. The panel got its first view of the case last week with testimony from Williams' mother.

Fulton County Superior Court Judge Sam McKenzie on Monday denied a motion by Williams' attorneys to stop the grand jury investigation. He set a hearing for later today on eight other motions, including one asking that Williams be released from jail, where he has been held since his arrest June 21, and allowed to testify before the grand jury.

Williams is charged with the slaying of Nathaniel Cater, 27, the 28th and latest victim in the slayings. He first came to police attention when stopped near a Chattahooches River bridge May 22 after a stakeout officer heard a loud splash in

Two days later, Cater's body was found a mile downstream from the same bridge. Sources have told UPI Williams also may be charged with several other of the murders, based mainly on fiber evidence and testimony from individuals who say they saw him with other victims.

Among other reasons for denying bail, Brewer said, was Zacharski's attitude, citing actions before his arrest.

After Zacharski identified the FBI agents keeping him under surveillance, the prosecutor said he mocked them, "calling them over, telling them they were not doing a good job, laughing at them."

Zacharski boasted to them that if he wanted to escape "he could be out of the country in hours and there was nothing they could do to stop him." Brewer said.

Stadum replied that on the contrary, Zacharski wanted to show that he could be "reasonable and amiable" about the surveillance and his remarks were part of the goodnatured banter between them, citing the presents for his daughter as evidence they got along well.

Castro Murder Plot Still On, Says Cuban Exile

MIAMI (UPI) - The head of Alpha 66, a Cuban exile commando group, says the capture of five guerrillas in Cuba last weekend will not stop the organization's plans to assassinate President Fidel Castro.

Andres Nazario Sargen, secretary general of Alpha 66, said several teams of infiltrators are in Cuba to sabotage the July 26 celebration of the birth of the Communist revolution, and Castro's assassination "is among the projects."

Radio Havana announced last Saturday a team of infiltrators carrying American-made weapons was arrested on Cuba's northern coast near Matanzas. The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the group was part of a plot to assassinate Castro.

Sargen confirmed that report Monday.

"That was one of their missions," he said. "We have an alternate plan (to kill Castro). We have other groups in the Island.

He said Alpha 56 has "nine units in Cuba, each with five to 11 men. Of those, six are operating in the island. They total over 45 men. We know that another of our groups arrived safely about a day or two after that capture. "We expect this July 26 to be a truly tragic one for the regime," Sargen said.

Social Security Must Be Saved

Congress has brought the Social Security system to the edge of bankruptcy by promising more than the system could deliver. Now Congress must find a way to keep solvent this pension fund that is the support of millions of Americans.

The Social Security system's trustees recently warned in their annual report that the Old Age and Survivors Trust Fund will run out of money by the end of next year. Even combining the trust fund with the Medicare and disability funds, which are still solvent, will not head off bankruptcy for long, unless the national economy improves phenomenally. Although the trustees may exaggerate the problem, as Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., charges, the trust funds are undeniably in trouble.

We've had other warnings about Social Security solvency, but this one seems to confirm the worst. Still, it's unlikely that Congress will allow the Social Security system to go broke. Aside from the shattering consequences of bankruptcy, the 35 million beneficiaries of the pension fund are a voting block too strong to ignore.

Thus Congress has three choices: It can raise Social Security taxes again, reduce benefits, or give the pension fund a transfusion of tax money from general funds. Payroll taxes went up sharply this year and will rise again in 1982. Therefore, unpopular as it will be, a reduction in benefits is more likely than another tax increase.

Congress will be tempted, of course, to bail out the system with an infusion of general fund money - A course that will only lead to increasing deficits and bigger bailouts in the future unless necessary reforms are made.

One relatively simple reform should have been in place long before now, and that is abolishing the annual adjustment of benefits to the Consumer Price Index. Many economists believe this yardstick of inflation runs ahead of actual price increases and itself is inflationary.

Similarly, Congress ought to resurrect the Reagan administration's proposals that came under such bitter partisan attack earlier this year. The administration prudently wants to reduce benefits for those who retire before 65, tighten eligibility for disability benefits, and introduce phased cuts in future retirement and survivors pensions. These steps would not only give Social Security the quick relief it needs, but would help solve the long-term financial problems, as well.

Basically, the Social Security system suffers from the excessive expectations of Americans who have been told by their political leaders that the federal system would keep them in middleclass comfort in their old age. In fact, Social Security was set up as a supplement to private savings, rather than a total support for the elderly. As Social Security is reorganized along sound lines, it will become less burdensome to the economy. Congress, therefore, should lose no time in encouraging a return to the plan's original concept of supplementing individual thrift and reliance on private pension plans.

The Reagan administration has provided a means to do this by proposing that the favored tax treatment now accorded some workers for Individual Retirement Accounts be extended to all workers. The administration would increase the maximum contributions from workers with no private pension plans from the present $1,500 to $2,000 a year tax-free to an IRA.

BERRY'S WORLD

The immediate financial problems of Social Security require a reduction of benefits the system cannot afford to pay. The longterm problems should be met by thrift incentives and the encouragement by Congress of private pension plans to reduce the dependence of most Americans upon a system that was only intended to be a safety net.

After six days, five games, including three against each other. Sanford Little Major League managers Sid Griffin and Ed Korgan Jr. were still smiling at each other when the dust finally settled over the sub-district tournament

Korgan's team — the Sanford Americans — finally upended Griffin's Sanford Nationals in a week-long battle to determine the best all-star team in the sub-district tournament at Ft, Mellon

But Korgan and Griffin had more in common than just smiles. Each has a son on his team. And both boys - Eddie Korgan and Andy Griffin played important roles in the tournament.

Korgan, who led the league in home runs, batting average and victories (9-2), fired a seven-hitter at the hard-hitting Nationals in the 15-5 championship game Saturday.

Two of those hits off Korgan were stroked by Griffin, who almost singlehandedly was responsible for the Nationals even making a Saturday appearance.

On Wednesday, the Americans had clobbered the Nationals 25-13. Friday, the Nationals had their backs to the wall, needing a win to stage Saturday's championship tilt. A loss would signal a "no tomorrow."

Griffin responded like a champion. He crashed a first inning grand-slam home run, doubled home another run in the second inning and natled a single good for two more RBI in the fourth

All told, Griffin chased home seven runs for the evening which would make a good week for many a ball player. In the top of the seventh, with the Nationals clinging to a 13-12 lead and a runner on third base, Griffin settled under a pop fly to ensure the victory.

While Friday belonged to Griffin, Saturday was Korgan's morning. The sandy-haired righthander was nailed for two home runs early on defective curve balls, but then settled down to blank the Nationals

After the third inning, Korgan retired nine of the last 11 batters he faced. Mixing his fastball with fewer curves, the talented 12-year-old struck out nine Nationals including the last two he opposed.

While Korgan turned in a solid mound effort, the difference in the tournament proved to be power. The Americans had plenty of it.

Imagine, Friday, when the Americana clubbed five home runs ... and lost. Saturday, they needed only three, but all three were important

Right-fielder Reginald Bellamy crunched a two-run shot in the first inning to get the Americans started, Two innings later, Bellamy deposited another two-run shot in precisely the same spot over the left-field fence.

The biggest and most damaging homer, however, came in the fifth inning to cap an eightrun outburst by the Americans. With the Korgan

Clubbers holding an 8-5 edge, renter-fielder Gregg Pond ripped a Cralg Dixowastball over the center-field fence with the beas loaded.

Pond's grand slam seemed to the the heart out of the Nationals as he jubilant circled the bases. "That was a big hit," Kegan would remark later of Gregg's "ducks on the Pond" four-bagger.

For the tournament, Bellamy rippedive home runs and Pond jacked out four. Cleario hitter Steve Warren smacked three and Casalberryimport Keith Denton walloped three while Michael "Slirn" Edwards and Korga each socked two. Denton played on the American last year, but moved to C-Berry. All those drive paid Bellamy batted .647 for the five games. Warren and Edwards hit the ball at a .500 elip and Tommie Mitchell batted ,455. After a sow start, Griffin came on to hit .429 for he Nationals. Dixon batted .500 with one home ran and a double. Leonard Lucas clubbed two homers in the same game to lead his team.

This Wednesday the Americans play at Clermont at 8 p.m. The Sanford entry finished second in the district to Clermont a year ago. Clermont, who won the district and finished second in the state, will probably be the Americans first-round opponent.

The winner of the district 4, four-team doubleelimination tournament advances to the state tournament July 27 at Jacksonville Beach.

Who's Running The House?

WASHINGTON (NEA) - "Do you realize what's happened?" a jubilant aide to the Republican leaders of the House of Representatives asked nobody in particular. "For the first time in 30 years, they don't run Congress."

"They," of course, are the Democrats, whose leaders had failed only minutes earlier to prevent House passage of a White Housepromoted bill that would mandate more than $36 billion worth of reductions in the federal budget.

If the Democrats are no longer in control, who is? "The Republicans certainly aren't running the house," says Rep. Thomas R. Harkin, D-Iowa. "President Reagan is."

Rep. Tom Bevill, an Alabama Democrat who sided with Reagan on some (but not all) of the budget votes, shares that assessment. "Back home in my district," he says, "all they want to know is, 'Are you with the president or are you against the president?" "

Other members of the House agree that the defection of 29 Democrats during a pair of crucial budget votes can more logically be attributed to a likable president and a popular idea than to a Republican juggernaut in the House.

But such defections - Democrats abandoning their party's leadership positions to vote with the Republicans, or vice versa -are hardly uncommon in the modern history of the House.

Southern Democrats (often referred to in the vernacular as "Dixiecrata") regularly have crossed party lines when they viewed the Democratic leadership position as too liberal for themselves, their constituents or both.

The only distinguishing feature about this year's budget votes was that the "Dixiecrats" have a new colloquial appellation. They're now known as "boll weevils."

What was significantly different about the House votes on the budget, however, was the absence of virtually any "liberal" or "progressive" Northern Republicans siding with the Democrata. Such switches, which offset defections going in the other direction, also have been a common phenomenon in the

Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., a particularly thoughtful member of the House, offers one explanation for that new voting pattern: The moderate-to-liberal Republicans are "afraid of well-financed right-wing hit men."

Disloyalty to Reagan, Frank suggests, would almost certainly incur the wrath of one or more of the currently hyperactive conservative political-action committees and encourage conservative challenges in future primary elections.

Meanwhile, the Democrats who have been providing the president with his victory margins are painting themselves into a political corner from which there probably is little chance to escape - and they're aware of their problem.

Conservative Groups Irked

By CLAY F. RICHARDS UPI Political Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) conservative groups that reluctantly stifled their displeasure over many of President Reagan's early appointments and his decision to put their social agenda on the back burner have run out of patience.

Reagan's appointment of Sandra Day O'Connor to the Supreme Court sparked overwhelming cries of protest from nearly every element of the right wing.

The basis for their complaint was her support of the Equal Rights Amendment and her still unclear voting record in the Arizona Senate on legislation dealing with abortion, family planning and other social legislation.

It is not unexpected that the move that drew Reagan sharp criticism from his strongest admirers also drew him praise from his strongest detractors - particularly feminists groups.

Since Reagan was inaugurated in January the New Right has been increasingly vocal in its criticism.

First it complained loudly because old line Republicans, often moderates, with government experience, were being picked for top administration jobs while staunch conservatives were being passed over.

After an entire issue of Conservative Digest was devoted to criticizing the Reagan appointment process, his political adviser, Lyn Nofziger, became the White House's job approver. More Reagan loyalists - and thus more conservatives - got jobs and the furor prayer, busing and the like - be put on the back burner until the administration's Ultra- economic program was passed.

Then Reagan asked that the social agenda of the right - abortion, welfare, school

Although anxious to rip into issues that will likely divide Congress far greater than taxes and budget cuts do, the conservatives again backed off when Reagan assured them he would support them to the hilt - next year.

But when Mrs. O'Connor was named, the conservatives couldn't take it any more. A group of 70 leaders, representing virtually every right wing cause, held an emergency meeting in Washington the day after the nomination. They emerged with strong warnings to Reagan. They said the nomination hurt the chances of his economic package because their constituents would stop lobbying for it and devote their efforts to blocking the

They warned that the forces that elected Ronald Reagan built on a conservative base, was being dangerously eroded. "This nomination could permanently disrupt that coalition" that put Reagan in the White House, warned Paul Weyrich, head of the Committee for the Survival of a Free

Congress. It will be interesting to see how the senators cormally aligned with these groups - particularly Jesse Helms of North Carolina, Roger Jepsen of Iowa and Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire - react to the nomination. So far, they have taken a wait-and-see at-

If the conservative senators side with Reagan on the nomination, it will send a clear message to the GOP's right - that no one elected them to run the government.

Battle Over The Straddle

WASHINGTON (NEA)-A bitter bipartisan battle has broken out over some of the most ingenious loopholes ever invented by the rich to avoid paying income taxes.

These intricate loopholes, known collectively as "butterfly straddles," have to do with the trading of commodities. The Treasury Department estimates that they cost the government $1,3 billion in taxes annually

The straddles enable commodities traders to turn ordinary income, which is taxed at rates as high as 70 percent, into capital-gains income, which is taxed at 28 percent. They also allow traders to defer all taxable income into the next tax year; thus, many traders have avoided paying any income tax for

But all of this would be changed under legislation introduced by two New York Democrats, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal and Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan. Their bill would outlaw most of the tax-avoldance schemes practiced in the commodities industry, set a tax rate of 32 percent on profits from all commodities trades and require the immediate repayment of deferred taxes.

The Moynihan-Rosenthal bill is strongly opposed by commodities traders as well as by most of the rest of the investment community. These forces are fighting back in Congress under the leadership of a conservative Republican, Sen. Steven Symms of Idaho, and a moderate Democrat, Rep. Marty Russo of

They are advancing the traders' argument that an orderly commodities market depends upon the continuation of butterfly straddles. If the tax laws are changed, they contend, many professional commodities traders will be bankrupted or otherwise driven from the market. And this disruption would threaten the nation's whole system of agricultural

One of the biggest promoters of butterfly straddles has been the brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, which Donald Regan headed before he became treasury secretary. During his confirmation hearings, Regan promised that he would not stand in the way of eliminating these loopholes.

In fact, the Treasury Department has gone Rosenthal and Moynihan one better by: recommending not only that the loopholes be closed and that back taxes be collected but also that the tax rate for commodities profits be set at 40 percent rather than 32 percent.

Now the debate has been joined by another powerful political force: The National Conservative Political Action Committee has for the first time gone to battle over a piece of legislation. NCPAC has urged the preservation of the loopholes in letters to many members of Congress who it helped in the past or pledged to help in the future. This is at least a technical violation of the law because the organization has not registered as a lobby.

Judge's Abortion Views Caused Concern

WASHINGTON-A memorandum, intended for the eyes only of President Reagan and Attorney General William French Smith. describes two eleventh-hour telephone calls to Judge Sandra Day O'Connor seeking reassurance on her views about abortion.

The telephone calls were made—at White House request-by Kenneth W. Starr, counselor and principal adviser to the attorney general

Both phone calls were made July 6, but it is not clear whether they occurred before or after President Reagan's own call the same day to Judge O'Connor, telling her she was his choice for the Supreme Court. The memo was dated July 7, the day Reagan announced the appointment—an indication of last-minute doubts about O'Connors views on abortion and concern over the political furor they have

O'Connor has declined to discuss her views on abortion or anything else with the press, saying it will all come out at her confirmation hearings. But here is what Sterr quoted her as telling him:
—She had never had occasion to rule on any issue related to abortion, either as a trial ur an appellate judge.

-Contrary to media reports, she has never attended or spoken at a women's rights conference on abortion," she told Starr.

-"In 1973, (as an Arizona state senator) she requested the preparation of a bill, which was subsequently enacted, which gave the right to hospitals, physicians and medical personnel not to participate in abortions if the institution or individual chose not to do so," she assured Starr.

-The same year, she co-sponsored legislation that would permit state agencies to take part in "family planning" activities.

"The bill made no express mention of abortion and was not viewed by then Senator O'Connor as an abortion measure," she told Starr. In any event, the bill died in com-

-In 1974, O'Connor voted against a bill that would have prohibited abortions at any educational facility under the jurisdiction of the Arizona Board of Regents. O'Connor explained to Starr, according to his memo, that she voted on grounds that the state constitution forbade legislation dealing with two unrelated subjects; the abortion ban was an amendment to a bond-issue bill to expand the state university's sports facilities.

-In 1970, she told Starr, she was on the senate committee that voted on a state House bill that would have repealed criminal sanctions against abortion. "There is no record of how Senator O'Connor voted, and she indicated that she has no recollection of how she voted," Starr wrote in his memo.

Finally, Starr wrote the attorney general, "Judge O'Connor further indicated, in response to my questions, that she had. never been a leader or outspoken advocate on behalf of either pro-life or abortion-rights organizations. She knows well the Arizona leader of the right-to-life movement, a prominent female physician in Phoenia, and has never had any disputes or controversies

The nature of Starr's questions and the defense quality of Judge O'Connor's responses-show that both the Reagan administration and the judge herself are aware of the explosive potential in the abortic issue. At this point, it seems to be the only weapon the O'Connor opponents have, and they will undoubtedly use it to belabor her at the confirmation hearings.

Strike Requiem: 'They Are Killing Every Boy's Dream'

dozens of statements and opinions concerning the strike, some worthwhile, some worthless, and of all those I heard, the one that bothered me most was a spontaneous expression of sorrow from that chamber of infinite truth - a man's heart.

Talking about the strike the other night, a friend of mine commented on how much harm it has done and how many people it has hurt and then concluded, rather wistfully:

"They are killing every boy's dream.

The way he said those words made them sound as much a requiem as an indictment

He didn't go into specific detail whom he meant by "they," nor was that particularly important. If big league baseball as we know it today ultimately does become a casualty of the

But what about that "boy" my friend, 52-year-old Dominic Prestipino, was talking about? He's the innocent victlm, and so are all his counterparts, those boys from 5 to 15 throughout this country and other countries like Canada, Mexico, the Dominican Republic and yes, even Cuba, too, who would like to hold on to that cherished dream of becoming a big league ballplayer some day.

Now these boys are watching that dream come apart through no fault of their own. Worse yet, that kid with the dream and the baseball bat in his hand in such places like Cuthbert, Ga., Chickasha, Okla., Sweetgrass, Mont., or Pachuca, Mexico, can't do a blessed

He has no earthly idea what the problem is all about. Nor does he really care. All he knows is that something he has become accustomed to, something he has grown to follow and love, is temperately missing.

Boys dream about becoming major leaguers some day.

Somebody out there has to come up with a way to keep the owners and players from killing a boy's dream. What an unconscionable thing to do. A man by the name of Milton Blackstone has an idea and I think it's a splendid one. It would get the players back on the field almost immediately and restore every boy's dream.

Now retired. Blackstone once was an advertising and public relations genius in the sphere of entertainment and recreation. Among his close friends were ballplayers like Dick Wakefield, Mickey McDermott and Whitey Ford.

He's eager to see big league baseball resume as quickly as possible, if not

Blackstone notes that the Constitution gives people the right to petition their government for a redress of grievances.

Without big league baseball, Blackstone feels the people of this country have a justifiable grievance. He believes the kids have as much a grievance as anyone else government is losing in taxes because of the strike," Blackstone says. "Why should it be made party to such an action? And look at all the tremendous enjoyment both young people and older people are being deprived of. My idea is for the Baseball Writers Association of America, acting in behalf of all the fans and all the kids in the country, petition President Reagan to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. That, at least, would bring about an immediate 90-day cooling off

"There have been resolutions already in the Senate and in the House of Representatives calling for an end to the strike. I know the President has said he didn't wish to become involved. but there is a provision in the Constitution for his taking action and all that's needed now is the proper procedure. I think the Baseball Writers (Association of America) have the necessary stature for communicating such a grievance to the President of the United States. I realize the law is supposed to be used chiefly for national emergencies, but wouldn't you call it an emergency if it affects the entire country the way it has?"

Blackstone, who still follows baseball, goes back to the days of Shoeless Joe Jackson.

"I saw Tris Speaker make a somersaulting catch I'll remember the rest of my life," he recalls. "I'm sure there are people who saw Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle make similar catches when they were kids and will remember it all their lives. What about the youngsters growing up today? Aren't they entitled to see the modern players give the kind of performances they'll remember all their lives? You just don't cheat a boy out of part of his

Altamonte AAA Steals Two All-Star Victories

With two relatively easy victories tucked in its back pocket, the Altamonte AAA All-Star team can sit back for a week before moving on to Eustia next Monday.

Manager Vance Ambrose's talented group of 13-year-olds disposed of Maitland 114 Friday and Ovledo 7-0 Saturday to move into a commanding position in District 14 tournament play.

Altamonte will play either Southwest Volusia, Maitland or Oviedo, depending on who comes back through the loser's bracket. The game will take place Monday, July 20 at 6 p.m. in Eustis. State Tournament and South Regional play will also be held at the Eustia

Duran Views Gonzalez As 'Step' Toward Leonard

CLEVELAND (UPI) - Former World Boxing Council welterweight champion Roberto Duran views his Aug. 9 return to fighting against Mike "Nino" Gonzalez only as a step along the route to a rematch with Sugar Ray Leonard.

Duran, looking slightly out of shape, arrived Thursday to begin training for the Gonzalez fight. It will be his first since Nov. 25, when he lost his title to Leonard by quitting in the eighth round because of somach cramos. The junior middleweight match against Gonzalez, a 10-rounder, will be nationally televised from Cleveland Public Hall.

The fight will be at 154 pounds, meaning Duran will have to lose at least 10 pounds. He will train at promoter Don King's training facility in rural Orwell under the direction of Panama Lewis.

'The last time he trained, which was last week, he weighed 164% when he left the gym," Duran's interpreter, Luis Henrique, said during a news conference at Cleveland Hopkins Airport. "He had a cold, so he didn't train for about four days. But he has been running."

Asked about Gonzalez, who is 24-1 with 13 knockouts, Duran said he remembered him as "moving pretty good" when he sparred with him a

"I'm only interested in fighting Leonard," he declared through his interpreter, "because I'm running behind him. I want to fight him again." Asked if he would be interested in fighting Tommy Hearns if Leonard should lose his upcoming title fight with Hearns, Duran said, "I'm only interested in fighting Leonard."

"He wasn't answering a question, he was only giving you his own feeling about what he wants to do," his interpreter added. "I think its obvious that if Leonard loses, the appeal for a (Leonard-Duran) fight loses a lot."

IN BRIEF

Laudner Cracks Homer Mark. O-Twins Throttle Astros, 6-2

Catcher Tim Laudner slammed his 29th home run of the season to break an Orlando Twins' club record and pace the Twins to a 6-2 victory at Columbus Monday night.

Laudner's blast-a two-run shot in the seventh inningbroke the old record of Jim O'Bradovick of 28. The home run highlighted a three-run inning which boosted the Twin lead to its final 6-2.

Ted Kromy picked up his eighth victory against five setbacks with a neat four-hitter. Kromy gave up single tallies in the fourth and fifth innings, but blanked the Astros the rest of the time,

Third baseman Gary Gaetti, voted the Southern League Player of the Month of June, slugged his 18th homer in the fifth inning. Steve Douglas, Rod Booker, Scott Uilger and Tim Teufel each rapped two hits for the Twins, who ravaged three Astro hurlers for 13 blows.

Strock Signs Dolphin Pact

MIAMI (UPI) - Quarterback from Strock signed a new contract with the Miami Dolphin: Monday and joined 50 rookies, free agents and a handful of veterans in the opening day of summer workouts at Biscayne

The 31-year veteran Strock, a long-time backup, had been a free agent for the second time before signing. The agreement had been rumored for two weeks and was no surprise.

About 20 second-year players join workouts Thuraday and the remainder of the veterans report July 23. Testing dominated the first day and there were four players who ran the 40-yarddash in 4.6 - fullback Woody Bennett; cornerback William Judson, an eighth round draft choice from South Carolina State; cornerback Don McNeal, an ail-rookie selection last year; and rookle running back Tom Vigorito, a fifth round draft choice from Virginia.

Festival Invites Gator Williams

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) - Forward Ronnie Williams of the University of Florida is among the 48 basketball players invited to compete July 25-29 at Syracuse University at the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival III.

The Festival aims to identify and develop potential U.S. Olympic team members.

Williams was named Southeastern Conference Freshman of the Year for 1980-81 and was the second leading scorer among the nation's freshman basketball players. He will play for the South team, coached by Bob Weltlich of the University of Mississippi.

The 48 players were selected by a committee headed by Athletic Director Dave Gavitt of Providence, who coached the 1980 U.S. men's team.

Benjamin Sold To 49ers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) - Overloaded with seven quarterbacks, the New Orleans Saints have traded veteran backup Guy Benjamin to the San Francisco 49ers for an undisclosed future draft pick.

Dumping the veteran quarterback Monday was the first fallout since the Saints picked up their seventh quarterback, passing wizard Dave Wilson, in the NFL supplemental draft last week.

The Saints picked up Benjamin from Miami last year two games during the entire season.

'War' Eliminates All-Star Classic

NEW YORK (UPI) - The major league All-Star Game was to have been played today, but for the second time in history a "war" has eliminated it.

Since 1933, when the classic was begun, the major leagues have failed to produce a game only in 1945, when wartime travel restrictions forced the cancellation.

But, there will be no game today because of the players strike, which has entered its 33rd day.

Instead of names like Willie Mays, Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Joe DiMagglo bringing back beautiful memories, the names making the news in baseball are labor negotiators, Marvin Miller and Ray Grebey.

And, there is no sign either wants to get together with the other to end the strike. Kenneth Moffett, the federal mediator whose proposal produced lengthy talks but no settlement during the weekend, said he was waiting for a sign of movement on either side before renewing negotiations.

Nancy Broff, acting general counsel for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Monday she foresaw no new talks in the next few days. "We will probably wait a few days but I don't know for sure," said Broff. The strike, the longest by far in major-league history, has forced the cancellation of 392 games and necessitated the postponement of the mid-season showcase. Chuck Adams, a spokesman for the commissioner's office, said no date has been established for playing the game.

"Until we have a resolution of the players strike, we cannot set a specific date," said Adams. "The 30th of July is a If the game is to be played on that date, the parties would need a settlement in a hurry — probably within a week. According to a formula established by players and clubs, it would take 12 days to place properly conditioned players on the field, and that time lengthens with additional strike time. If the game is not played this year, the Office of the Baseball

Commissioner has said Cleveland will most likely be the host next year. That would mean Montreal, originally scheduled as the site for next year's AliStar game, wouldn't get the contest until 1964. Comiskey Park in Chicago has been picked as the site for the silver anniversary contest in 1983 since it is the site of the first All-Star Game played in 1933.

However, the strike may not be settled by next season. The way things are going not even Jimmy The Greek would take

Despite the breakdown in talks Saturday, Moffett said there still was progress because the players had made significant concessions by dropping their demand compensation come from a player pool, with signing teams not being hurt directly by the loss of a player.

"I got things stirred up and got some people thinking," said Moffett. "The fact the union said so quickly that they would go for something other than their pool proposal shows there was some progress."

Outcast Connors Changes Outlook

NEW YORK (UPI) - For five years, Jimmy Connors was almost an outcast, a man who wouldn't play for his

Now, along with many of the other changes that have taken place in both his personal and professional life, this too has changed.

For the first time since 1976, Connors played Davis Cupthis past weekend and did so with obvious relish. He won both his singles matches in straight sets from Tomas Smid and Ivan Lendl, helping the United States beat Czechoslovakia, 4-1, and advance to the semifinals.

"It was a lot of fun playing for the team and playing for Arthur," Connors said, referring to Arthur Ashe, team captain. "I haven't played much Davis Cup in the past and 1 want to help the team win. That's something I've never done, and it would be important to me,"

Connors presumably wasn't happy with the previous regime that ran the U.S. Davis Cup team, and it wasn't until the appointment of Ashe he decided he wanted to play.

During the Masters tournament in New York in January, Conners and his wife had dinner with Ashe and his wife. According to Ashe, "Jimmy told me, "I'm ready to play Davia Cup again.' I didn't ask him for the reason." The next step for the United States and, presumably, Connors, is a date with Australia at Portland, Ore., Oct. 2-4. "I have a little rearranging to do, but if Arthur wants me to play there, I will," Connors said. Tensingly, Ashe responded, "We'll have to see how he

Paraquat Spraying Of Pot Up To States

Enforcement Administration has not ruled out the use of the herbicide paraquat to kill marijuana grown in the United States, but It would be up to the states to carry out such a program, a spokesman said today.

DEA spokesman Robert Feldkamp said the federal agency is prohibited by law from using the lethal herbicide in the United States. But he said states may seek permission to spray marijuana fields with paraquat from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Feldkamp said such a program has been under study as an "option" for months.

"DEA is not ruling out the possible use of marijuana grown in the United States," he several years.

$3.5 Million Bond Found

PINEVILLE, Mo. (UPI) - A southwest Missouri resort owner cleaning out his attic came across an 1871 bond worth more than $3.5 million today, enough to bankrupt his home county if he were willing - and able - to cash

McDonald County, whose budget for the year isn't even half the amount due on the 110year-old bond, argues that the bond was already cashed years ago and is worthless

George Foster found the musty paper document last month in the attic of his Ginger Blue Lodge and Resort. He presented the bond to the county's administrative court July 7 and was refused payment.

McDonald County Clerk Lou Harmon recommended to the court that the bond not be

"It has not been appropriated in the budget," he said.

Foster said he does not want the money. "The main thing is that I want to stop this thing. My bond is accumulating $1,100 in interest every day," he said.

Foster said he has suggested the county pass a law to avoid future disasters with bonds. He recommended the county place a call date with simple interest on its bonds.

The county clerk argues that Foster's bond was one of a batch of $100 bonds carrying 10 percent annual interest issued in 1871 and cashed in 1877 when a pair of investors sued the county for payment.

But Foster said, according to records, the bend was never cashed. "The bond has never been marked that it was paid," Foster said. "It is a legitimate instrument."

Cutting Oil Imports To U.S. Disputed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The country's third National Energy Plan, slated for release Wednesday, challenges the widely held idea that a drastic cut in oil imports is in America's best interests, it was reported.

The Wall Street Journal also said the new plan retreats somewhat from the administration's past predictions that decontrolling energy prices to permit them to rise to world levels will cause domestic oil production to rise.

The plan, which will be the administration's first comprehensive statement on energy policy, projects domestic oil production falling somewhat between 1980 and 1990, the newspaper said.

As expected, the plan outlines a policy of dealing with future oil shortages by putting "primary reliance on market forces to determine the price and allocation of energy supplies," it said.

Despite its free-market theme, the plan fails to state a policy on politically sensitive natural gas prices. The administration, at least in principle, has said they should be decontrolled

The plan supports policies of aggressive public leasing of oil, gas and mineral resources, expansion of nuclear power and coal, and federal assistance only for longrange, high-risk energy projects.

The president is required to present a revised National Energy Plan to Congress every two years. The only two previous plans, prepared by the Carter administration, were criticized by some interests for putting too much emphasis on forced conservation and not enough on

On the subject of oil imports, the Heagan plan states, "A low level of U.S. oil imports at any cost isn't a proper criterion for the nation's energy security and economic health," the Journal reported

Man's Had Enough Of Dade County Crime

three youths who left him bleeding and bound after ransacking his home says he can't cope with Dade County's crime problems and he's "not prepared to stay here any longer."

"I wouldn't advise even a dog to come down here, because it would be an insult to a dog," said Arthur Richards from his hospital bed, where he is recovering from injuries he sustained during the weekend beating.

"Dade County is no joke these days. This is the whole record for crime down here. The authorities

Richards' face is puffed and bruised. He is missing one tooth and has several cracked ribs. After the attack, he lay helpless for 2013 hours until he managed to struggle free of his bonds and hobble to a neighbor's house.

Richards said the three youths forced their way into his home Friday night and terrorized him for 45 minutes, beating him with their fists and a baton, pouring wine over his head and leaving his hands and feet tied.

He said the youths then ransacked the house, stealing money, a television, a record player, and a gold watch, before fleeing. He finally wriggled free from his bonds Saturday afternoon and notified a neighbor.

Richards, a retired Jamaican government employee, is British. He and his wife, Verley, came to Dade from New York City nine years ago.

"That's one move I regret," he says now, "I have been robbed and attacked three times in three years - I've had a nasty time, and I've spent three or four times as much money as I did in New York."

Verley Richards was visiting a brother in the Grand Cayman Islands when her husband was

Leslie Bruce, J.T. Dalton IV Exchange Vows

Leslie Louise Bruce and J. Thomas Dalton IV were married June 14, at 2 p.m. at Christ United Methodist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Hobert Miller performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony at which time the bridegroom presented the bride a surprise wedding gift, a 100-year-old heirloom diamond ring passed down from four generations of

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce, Star Rt. 1, DeBary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oliver, Plantation Drive, DeBary.

Mrs. Michael Korgan, organist, and cousin of the bride, presented nuptial selections and accompanied soloist, Mrs. Edward Hughs, also a cousin. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown of candlelight bridal organza. The gown featured a V-yoke neckline and the lace bodice extended to a natural waistline. The long alceves terminated at the wrists with a nude ruffled flounce trimmed in lace.

Her headpiece was an embroidered lace hat turned up at the sides. A bouffant back bow with illusion and bridal net formed a soft vell train. She carried an orchid arranged on a Bible, Mrs. Jennie Metzger, Orange City, attended the bride as matron of honor. She were a floor-length lilac gown fashloned with a high Victorian lace neckline and carried a plnk carnation bouquet with flowers in her hair. Danielle Bruce, niece of the bride, wore a floor-length pink gown with ruffled neckline and hemline. She carried a wicker basket of pink and white flowers. Tom Hines, DeBary, served as best man. Ushers were Harrell Bruce, Dan Bruce and Michael Bruce, all brothers of

The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise gown with a white carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The cake table featured a three-tlered cake decorated with yellow daisles and topped with a crystal heart shaped ornament. Mrs. Clifford Johnson, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Mildred Peters, another aunt, poured the punch.

Following a wedding trip to North Carolina the newlyweds are making their home in DeBary. The bride is employed as a cashier at Publix, Orange City. The bridegroom is also employed as a stockman at Public, Orange City.

Son's Wife Ruins Mother's Day

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor told me that this past Mother's Day she didn't get a card or even a telephone call from her married son. She felt so hurt and neglected she cried all day. She said two days later her son called and told her that the reason he ignored her was because she had not given his wife anything for Mother's Day. (The son and daughter-in-law have a baby boy who's nearly a year old.) The son told her he really wanted to call and wish her a happy Mother's Day, but his wife wouldn't let
