Seminole May Be Lumped With Lake, Brevard, Or Orange

Congressional Redistricting Plan Is A Big Secret

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida House of Representatives redistricting plan for congressional seats is "the best-kept secret in Tallahassee," State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, said today. Basically, Hattaway said, the House Committee on Congressional Reapportionment, headed by Rep. Sam Bell, D-Daytona Beach, is supposed to work on a plan this week. Hattaway said various congressional plans have been discussed as far as Seminole County is concerned. "One plan would have Seminole lumped in with Lake, Marion and Alachua counties. Another plan would have Seminole combined with Brevard for a district for U.S. Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Melbourne. A third one would place Seminole with Orange County in a district for State Rep. Dick Batchelor, D-Orlando," Hattaway said.

"Then there is the real plan, which none of us has seen," he added. Hattaway said the bigger issue in the state capital at the moment is taxes. From his vantage point as a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Hattaway said the committee in the last few weeks went through the budget requests of 15 state agencies. "Now we've been told we must begin the process all over again because of the economic slow down, which has brought a short fall in sales-tax revenues, coupled with higher than expected cuts in federal funding," he said. Florida's congressional delegation is to be increased from 15 to 19 as a result of reapportionment, based on its heavy population growth. Currently Seminole County is split into two congressional districts — the 4th, served by Bill Chappell, D-Ocala, and the 5th, served by Bill McCollum, D-Altamonte Springs. Chappell's district includes only a few Sanford precincts, along with other counties. McCollum's district includes most of Seminole, a portion of Orange and seven other counties. McCollum's district is the largest in population in the state, with nearly a million residents. Some 500,000 people will be in each congressional district after reapportionment. Earlier in the Senate, the possibility of including Seminole with other counties in a district extending all the way to Lake City in northern Florida was discussed to give Sen. Sherrill "Pete" Skinner, D-Lake City, a district to run for. Skinner is Senate majority leader. Rumors also were rife that redistricting would take the Orange County area away from Nelson to give Batchelor a district. Batchelor announced weeks ago that he would be a candidate for Congress. He has received many awards during his four terms in the Florida House, including Common Cause's Outstanding Legislator Award for leadership in ethics in government, lobby disclosure and regulatory reform. Nelson is said to have lobbyists actively at work in Tallahassee to keep his district, including both Brevard and Orange counties, intact. It has also been reported that Bell, chairman of congressional reapportionment, is eyeing the district currently held by Chappell for himself and is considering redrawing district lines that would omit Chappell's Ocala home and political base. McCollum's district also has received attention, with the possibility mentioned of drawing a district that includes only McCollum's Altamonte Springs home and nearby land in Seminole and then stretching the boundaries south through Orange and other counties.

Students Put On Festival

It Was All Greek To Them

Sixth graders in ancient-history classes at the Lakeview Middle School, Sanford, and the Rock Lake Middle School, Longwood, culminated a three-week study of ancient Greece on Friday with a Greek Festival. The two teachers responsible for the teaching, planning and preparation of this learning experience are Mrs. Debbie Thompson of Lakeview and Mrs. Jan Thompson of Rock Lake. Coordinating the event at the two schools was made easier by the close relationship of the two teachers, who not only are sisters but are married to brothers as well.

The 145 Lakeview students and 125 Rock Lake students went back in time to the year 455 B.C. to Athens, Greece, to try to experience what it was like to walk in the sandals of an ancient Athenian. They converted their classrooms with Greek columns, murals and furniture. They learned the dress and hair attire of the time. "We had 100 percent participation," said Debbie Thompson. "All the students and teachers wore Greek costumes, and we had a costume contest, won by Charles Quarterman, who dressed as a soldier." The whole festival was videotaped to be shown back to the class so the students can evaluate their performance, she said. This was the second year she had put on the festival at Lakeview, and it was so successful she plans to have another one next year. "The grades are higher in this unit test, as students are able to live the experience," she said, "and it doesn't cost the school any more, as the students bring in the things needed for the festival." The various ancient-history classes at the two schools were responsible for various events during the day, which began with an Olympic Games demonstration. Through the Dividends program, Greek folk dances were demonstrated by members of the Orlando Folk Dancers and a cook from Christo's restaurant in Lake Mary told the students at both schools about Greek cooking. Lakeview also had a special guest speaker for the day, Pam Margeolas, a former student who is now at Crooms High School. Pam, who has lived in Greece and reads and speaks the language, came in an authentic costume. Students got the opportunity to sample Greek cuisine at their feast, which featured moussaka, stuffed grape leaves, Greek salad, olives, fresh figs, bread and baklava. At a "press conference," such distinguished Greek personalities as Socrates, Plato, Archimedes and Hippocrates were interviewed by student reporters.

Area Opens Its Hearts To Young Couple

By MARK VOGLER
Herald Staff Writer

There are more kind hearts in Sanford than Jim and Mary Crabtree ever realized.

Last Friday the Ohio couple were complaining about the insensitive treatment they said they had received from local social-service agencies after finding themselves broke and stranded in Seminole County for two weeks.

June and Al Nelson, a Sanford couple who had opened their home to the helpless transients, had appealed to the public for assistance in the way of food, clothing and cash donations.

And even the Nelsons were doubting whether anyone else really cared about the plight of the Crabtrees.

They worried that Mary, about nine months pregnant, was due to deliver a baby any day.

The Nelsons worried about how long they could continue to support the Crabtrees — to house, feed and clothe them and the baby when it arrived. And they wondered whether they could help raise enough money to help them return to Piqua, Ohio.

But something good happened over the Valentine's Day weekend. The Crabtrees discovered that many Sanford area residents care about their problems.

And largely because of concerned local residents the Crabtrees' story should have a happy ending.

"All sorts of people are wanting to help. We've already received more than $300 in cash contributions, which should be enough to help Jim and Mary go back to Ohio after the baby is born," Al Nelson said today.

"And the good people of the Central Baptist Church of Sanford have contributed about $200 worth of food. That should really help. Jim even has a steady job if he wants it. And today I'm supposed to take him out on a yard assignment. People have responded very well to their situation. They're getting a lot of support," Nelson said.

He said he hopes someone will donate a travel trailer so he can better accommodate the Crabtrees in his back yard once the baby arrives.

Meanwhile, officials at the Central Florida Migrant Community Health Center may have allayed some of the Crabtrees' fears over their future baby's health and safety.

Bill Schomberg, executive director of the center, said Mary will be under a doctor's care before and after the baby is born even though the Crabtrees can't afford any medical help.

"We're here to take care of the poor people who can't afford to see a private physician. Most of our clients are rural poor. But we do get a good number of transients, since that's a need that has to be filled," said Schomberg.

"We're not going to treat her (Mary Crabtree) any differently. She and the baby will come under the care of the doctor," he said.

But officials at the migrant center aren't happy about Mary's situation.

"This case is unique because she's coming in right at the end of her pregnancy. Our doctor admonished her for doing what she did — leaving her home at a time when she was so close to delivery. It was a bad move to do that, because it could have jeopardized her health and the baby's. I wish someone could have talked her out of it," said Schomberg.

"A lot of doctors won't see a patient in a case like this. The fact that there are no records or medical history involved puts the doctor in a situation where he doesn't know what he's facing. A lot of doctors fear they could be liable for accepting cases like this," he added.

Growing Pains: County Agencies Running Out Of Office Space

Seminole County government agencies are rapidly running out of office space.

County officials felt there was adequate room to accommodate their needs when the new courthouse in Sanford opened 10 years ago.

But at a time when the federal government is cutting back its huge bureaucracy, Seminole County government is experiencing tremendous growing pains.

And a special consultant hired by the County Commission to determine long-range space needs says that within three years the existing county office buildings will be adequate to house only the judicial branch of county government.

"The property appraiser, the tax collector, the Planning and Zoning Department and all the County Commission offices — everybody else — will be out in the street or looking for a home to go to within three years," said David C. Hotary, director of the county's Central Services Department.

"By the year 1985 just the judiciary alone would consume every bit of office space the county owns or rents in Sanford. And I think the situation is going to be even more eye-opening when we find out how much space the other county government agencies will need," Hotary said today.

The County Commission last week approved a $29,853 contract with Sobel & Associates for the study of all county space needs, in addition to judiciary space, through the year 2000.

Also to be included in the space master plan report are recommendations on how much space will be adequate to house county government for the years 1985 and 1990.

Seminole County already has paid Sobel & Associates $9,400 for a study it completed last year on the amount of space that would be needed to carry the county's judiciary employees into the next century.

"I'm not one who is big for reports, but we're going to have to do this right," said Commissioner Barbara Christensen.

"Everybody needs more space. Everyone is clamouring for more space. We're just now becoming aware of the problem.

It's nothing we're going to rush into. But it's going to take a considerable amount of study, decisions and money to alleviate the problem. Otherwise, if we don't face the problem head-on, it could wind up costing us thousands of dollars more," said Mrs. Christensen.

Hotary said Sobel's preliminary findings reveal that by 1985 the judiciary employees will require virtually all of the 148,222 square feet of the existing county office space.

By 1990 the judiciary would need a minimum of 156,784 square feet and a maximum of 174,910 square feet. And by the year 2000, existing county buildings would seem too cramped to occupy. — MARK VOGLER

Chamber Slates Member Drive

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's annual three-day membership drive will get underway with an 8 a.m. kickoff breakfast Tuesday at the chamber building.

Drive chairman Dennis Coursen, president of Flagship Bank of Seminole and vice chairman of the chamber board, has set 1,000 members as a goal this year. Last year the chamber signed up 840 members.

Coursen will distribute membership packets to the following team captains: John Mercer, Bob Daehn, Dr. Earl Weldon, Wayne Albert, Elizabeth Doran, Chet Pierre, Bruce Berger, Vic Arnett, Irene Brown, Larry Strickler, Garnett

White and Judy Nichols. Chamber goodwill ambassador Martha Yancey, will present role plays at the breakfast on how to sell memberships, and there will be a question-and-answer session on information about the chamber.

Chamber membership fees for businesses begin at $40 and go up based on the number of employees. Individual memberships are $25.

Gib Edmonds, chairman of the board, said that this year each member is encouraged to sign up at least one new member even if he or she is not on a team. He is also requesting local businesses with display signs out front to put in a plug for the chamber drive during the three-day event.

Following the close of the membership drive at 5 p.m. Thursday, campaign workers will be treated to a hamburger cookout at the chamber.

The top salesperson in the drive will receive a mystery prize. Members of the winning team will receive dinners for two at local restaurants. Savings bonds will be awarded to the persons signing up the most new members and the most renewals, according to Jack Horner, chamber president.

Horner's title recently was changed from executive manager to president.

Car Crash Kills County Girl, 17

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An investigation is continuing today by the Florida Highway Patrol into the cause of an automobile accident Saturday night in Orange County that left a Winter Springs teen-ager dead and three other persons injured.

Heidi Sue Kramer, 17, of 107 Wedgewood Drive North, was killed when her 1978 MGB convertible crossed the center lane of State Road 13A at Rio Pinar Lakes Drive and collided with another vehicle at about 10 p.m., troopers said.

Highway patrol officers said Miss Kramer's car crossed the center lane, skidded sideways and collided with a northbound vehicle occupied by an Altamonte Springs man and a Casselberry woman.

Terry Howard, 18, of 4113 S. Semoran Blvd., Orlando, a passenger in Miss Kramer's car, was listed in serious condition today in Orlando Regional Medical Center's intensive-care unit, hospital officials said.

The driver of the other vehicle, Donald Robert Birlie, 21, of 100 Meadowlark Drive, Altamonte Springs, and his passenger, Cindy Bellevue, 20, of 285 Lake Griffin Circle, Casselberry, were treated for cuts and bruises at the scene, troopers said. Birlie was driving a 1979 Chevrolet.

No charges were filed in the accident, pending the outcome of further investigation troopers said.

NATION

Budget Battle: What A Difference A Year Makes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last year, President Reagan was king of Capitol Hill, obtaining record budget and tax cuts. This year, amid worsening economic times, there are signs of a revolt. An influential member of the House Budget Committee, vowed Congress will not be buffaloed into accepting Reagan's package calling for more cuts in social programs, another increase in defense spending and a projected deficit of $91.5 billion — a deficit many feel will lead to more fiscal problems.

UAW-Ford Contract Studied

DETROIT (UPI) — Skilled tradesmen — often the most vocal United Auto Workers members — will be the first of 170,000 auto workers to study the proposed Ford Motor Co.-UAW contract that will freeze pay in exchange for job security. Skilled trades workers will meet today as part of a week-long convention by local UAW leaders on bargaining issues. UAW president Douglas Fraser, one of the craftsmen of the pact, will address the group Tuesday.

Cody Shared Bank Account

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lawyers for Cardinal John P. Cody and the woman to whom he is accused of diverting church funds say there is nothing new in reports the two shared a savings account in a bank near the woman's Florida home. Leonard Hing, lawyer for Cody's lifelong friend, Helen Dolan Wilson, said Cody's name was on the savings account only briefly and only because she owed him money at the time.

Elderly Sisters Found Dead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two elderly sisters whose badly decomposed bodies were found in their luxury Manhattan apartment about three months after their deaths had more than $200,000 in nine separate bank accounts, police say. The bodies of Clare and Julie Osterman, both in their mid-seventies, were discovered last Tuesday by a city marshal who came to serve them with eviction papers for not paying their rent.

Man Killed Over Joint

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two teenagers shot a young man to death aboard a crowded Manhattan subway train when he refused to share a marijuana cigarette with them, police say. Kenneth Beam, 20, was shot in the back Saturday night as he tried to run from the youths. Scores of passengers ran screaming from the subway car after the youths fired two shots, one of which lodged in the wall of the subway car.

Murder Suspects Bagged

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two brothers were charged in the slayings of two police officers, police said today, and investigators tried to determine if they were linked to the slaying of a third officer. Police Superintendent Richard Brzezczek said neither brother related arrest after they were tracked to separate hideouts early Sunday, concluding a block-by-block manhunt thought to be the largest since the search for mass murderer Richard Speck.

SHS Cheerleaders 3rd In Competition

Seminole High School's cheerleading squad took third place honors at the Florida State Fair earlier this month in Tampa. Forty-six schools participated in the competition. Judging was based on originality, degree of difficulty, precision and unity, appearance, voice projection and clarity, and enthusiasm.

Sheriff's Agents Nab 4 In Drug Busts

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Seminole County men were in jail today and two others were free following their arrests on drug charges. Angel L. Rodriguez, 19, and Jose Felicio Torregrosa, 18, both of 1311 Waverly Way, Longwood, were being held under $8,000 bond each following their arrests at 8:16 p.m. Sunday in the parking lot of Sambo's Restaurant, Dog Track Road and U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, deputies said.

Rodriguez and Torregrosa were arrested, along with Michael Todd Ernst, 26, of 323 Secret Way Lane, Casselberry, after undercover deputies allegedly bought 5,000 Quaaludes for $5,400 in a prearranged drug deal, deputies reported. Ernst is free today after posting $8,000 bond, jail officials said.

Deputies said an undercover agent met with the three suspects and discussed the drug deal at a gas service station near Lake Mary Boulevard and Interstate 4. The agent was told he would have to go to New Smyrna Beach for the drugs but he refused, deputies said. The suspects then agreed to meet the undercover agent in the Longwood restaurant parking lot where they were arrested and charged with possession, delivery, and trafficking in Quaaludes, deputies reported. In another drug-related incident, Anthony Lamar Jackson, 23, of 515 Peachtree Lane, Altamonte Springs was released on $8,000 bond from the county jail following his arrest at 3:27 p.m. Friday on charges of possession, sale and delivery of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, jail officials said.

Undercover deputies reportedly purchased an envelope from the suspect which contained a green leafy substance believed by deputies to be marijuana, in the parking lot of Willson's department store, at U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 436, Casselberry, deputies said.

After laboratory tests determined that the substance was marijuana, a search warrant was issued and Jackson was arrested at his home, deputies said.

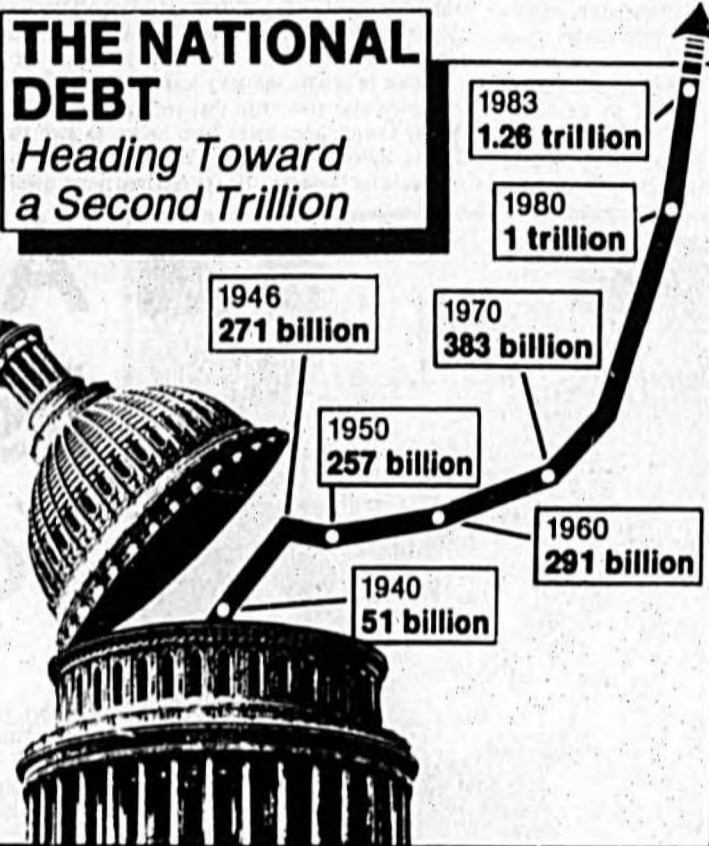

SEARCH HAS HAPPY ENDING

Two Longwood teenagers, who were late coming home from a Sunday afternoon fishing trip were found at 3:15 a.m. today at the Wekiva Marina, Miami Springs Road, Longwood, sheriff's deputies said.

The parents of Scott Bradley Neiman, 14, of 321 W. Hornbeam Drive, and John Kevin Gorman, 13, of 206 Sweetwater Cove North, told deputies they had received a telephone call from the boys at about 1:30 p.m. Sunday saying the two would be late in returning home, deputies said. However when the boys failed to show up, their parents became worried and notified authorities.

"We sent out search parties along the river and called for the Orange County helicopter," said Sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki. "But we got a call a little later from the parents who said the boys had reached the Wekiva Marina at about 3 a.m. and that they were fine."

Spolaki said the boys were stranded after they had difficulty starting the boat motor.

One consequence of the budget for the 1983 fiscal year as submitted by President Reagan would be another sharp surge in the national debt. The predicted deficit of $91.5 billion plus borrowing for other federal programs not carried in the budget would add another quarter of a trillion dollars to the debt, almost as much as accrued during the more than a century and a half from the founding of the nation through 1950. The debt first broke the $1 billion mark in World War I and has been climbing ever since with the exception of a 1946-50 decline.

Workers Abandon Oil Rig

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland (UPI) — Scores of workers from an offshore drilling rig took to lifeboats today in a raging Atlantic storm and a fleet of planes, helicopters and ships searched for them in the wind-whipped sea.

A Mobil official said rescue workers had been unable to find the 84 crew members who were ordered into three sausage-shaped lifeboats at the height of the storm which pounded the rig with 50-foot waves and 70-mile-an-hour winds.

Susan Sherk of Mobil Oil Canada Ltd. said the men were ordered into the boats at 2:45 a.m. when the rig Ocean Ranger began listing dangerously "and soon after that, radio contact was lost."

"All we know is that the lifeboats were launched ... we haven't heard anything else," she said.

The Canadian coast guard reported the rig, 170 miles east of St. John's, Newfoundland, began to list 15 degrees and the crew was ordered to take to the lifeboats in 50-foot waves.

One rig worker, who was on shore leave at the time of the accident and asked that he not be identified, said the lifeboats are "rigid, fiberglass survival capsules" about 20 to 25 feet long.

Earlier the coast guard said it believed at least one of the lifeboats had ejected its passengers into the ocean, but a coast guard spokesman later said it was uncertain whether the boat had capsized.

"We're just looking for whatever is out there," Lt. Cmdr. Douglas Cale said. Three ships and a helicopter were hunting for survivors. One helicopter had returned to St. John's for refueling without finding anyone. More ships and planes headed to the area to aid in the rescue.

Coast guard spokesman Malcolm McLaughlin estimated a man wearing regular clothing and a lifejacket would survive 30 to 90 minutes in the icy water before dying of exposure. The water temperature hovered a few degrees above freezing. Cale said the stormy weather was hampering rescue efforts. Visibility was half a mile, the cloud ceiling was 300 feet and winds blew at 70 miles an hour.

There were two other oil rigs in the same part of the Grand Banks, McLaughlin said, but neither reported problems. Miss Sherk said all three oil rigs had stopped drilling and there was no danger of an oil leak into the ocean. The rigs were still conducting exploratory drilling and production had not begun.

The Ocean Ranger is a semi-submersible oil rig that gets its stability from pumping sea water into ballast tanks. The rig uses propellers to direct itself and floats without the benefit of anchors or legs set on the ocean bottom.

One worker said he knew of at least one occasion — and was "pretty certain" of a second occasion — when the rig had listed badly and preparations had been made to board lifeboats.

He said a rig of this type is abandoned when it lists 15 degrees because it tips over at 18 degrees.

The main reason for the stability problems on the Ocean Ranger, he said, is that from the control room of the rig one cannot see "what's going on."

He said the rig had been drilling in the area for about 14 months.

Mobil leased the rig from American-owned Odeco Drilling Co.

Tom Cooney, a media relations officer for Mobil in Calgary, Alberta, said most crew members were Newfoundlanders, though a few Americans with offshore drilling expertise would likely have been on the platform.

Mobil has leased three drilling rigs for exploration off the Newfoundland coast, he said.

Several oil companies are looking for oil and natural gas in the area, which is considered to have vast reserves. None of the sites has started production.

Defense Witnesses Backfire In Williams Murder Trial

ATLANTA (UPI) — The defense resumed its attacks on prosecution testimony in the murder trial of Wayne Williams today, but one of its witnesses took the Fifth Amendment and another was squelched by the state's objection.

Williams is on trial for the murder of Nathaniel Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne, 21, two of the 28 young blacks abducted and slain in Atlanta. The prosecution introduced testimony tying the 23-year-old black photographer and aspiring talent scout with 10 more murders.

The defense's first witness at the outset of the eighth week of the trial was Israel Green, one of the organizers of the controversial "bat patrol" at the Techwood Homes housing project last March.

Green insisted the bat patrol was organized to protect the project from rapists, not because of the child slayings — although the murders were given at the time as the chief reason for the citizen patrol.

Green said careful checks were made of everyone entering the news conference held to announce the patrol, and state witness Nellie Trammell — who claimed she saw Williams with one of the victims — was not there.

Mrs. Trammell, however, never testified she was in the news conference, and Green admitted that the crowd was so large outside the community center where the conference was held that "I couldn't tell what was what."

The patrol, he said, watched the area and reported any "strangers." He said Williams was never seen in the area.

Green became irate when prosecutor Jack Mallard pointed out that shortly after the "bat patrol" began, a young resident of the project was abducted and murdered. When asked if he was aware that Williams, while under police surveillance, visited the Techwood area, Green snapped "I don't remember, and I decline to answer any more questions under the Fifth Amendment" — which protects individuals from self-incrimination.

Evelyn Payne, 24, Jimmy Ray Payne's sister, was asked if she was aware of any threats made against Payne.

"The threats were toward me," she said. Judge Clarence Cooper upheld a defense objection of irrelevancy and Mrs. Payne was not allowed to explain.

The eight blacks and four whites on the jury made their own journey Saturday to the Jackson Parkway Bridge, where the prosecution claims Williams dumped Cater's body early on the morning of May 22.

The jurors spent about 20 minutes silently examining the bridge, where a police stakeout saw Williams drive slowly away after an officer heard a "big loud splash" in the Chattahoochee River below.

Three witnesses — a blood bank nurse, the clerk of the transient hotel where he lived, and a friend — testified they saw Cater on Friday, May 21. The friend said he saw him holding hands with Williams at 9:30 p.m. that night.

But on Friday, the defense produced witnesses who claimed Cater disappeared May 19.

The defense wound up the week with what presumably is its final word on the matter of Williams' sexuality with testimony from Gwen Harden, who said she had sex with Williams.

Von Bulow Trial Simmers

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The Claus von Bulow attempted-murder trial goes into its third week of testimony with the prosecution's love-affair motive: simmering.

Whether the pot would come to a boil was a tantalizing question that had even the prosecution wondering.

The jury of seven men and five women was called back to the courtroom today for its 11th day of duty while most of the nation took a holiday.

Superior Court Judge Thomas H. Needham reminded the jury when he adjourned court Friday, Presidents Day is not an official holiday in Rhode Island and the courts must convene.

Prosecutor Stephen R. Famiglietti said the beautiful Park Avenue socialite Alexandra Isles would testify this week "if she comes at all." He didn't sound too optimistic.

She had been touted as a prime witness. The prosecutor said he would meet with the 36-year-old former soap opera actress Wednesday in Providence to get some idea what she would say on the witness stand that might help or hurt the state's case.

Famiglietti said after court had adjourned on Friday he had never talked to her before. But in his opening statement to the jury, and in his questioning of prospective jurors before that, he had said the state would show love for another woman was half a dual motive for von Bulow to try to kill his wife.

The 55-year-old Danish aristocrat is charged with attempting twice to murder his enormously wealthy wife by injecting her with insulin.

The state claims he was driven by greed for his $15 million inheritance under her will and love for another woman with whom he was "intimate" after the second alleged murder attempt.

Martha "Sunny" von Bulow has been in a coma since the second alleged murder try on Dec. 31, 1980. The state is in the midst of presenting technical medical evidence designed to show insulin caused the coma.

Legislature Still Has Much Work Ahead Of It

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Legislature will work frantically this week, trying to avoid a lengthy special session a month from now.

House and Senate leaders will be trying to negotiate deals on the budget, reapportionment and insurance reform because the 60-day regular session will be half over Wednesday and none of this critical work has been done. Maneuvering will take place on a possible sales-tax increase to balance the budget, reapportionment, and "Sunset" review of the no-fault automobile insurance law.

Shark Scare In Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — A school of 300 sharks that scared 5,000 beachgoers out of the water at Key Biscayne on Saturday failed to show up Sunday, but officials played it safe and kept everyone on dry land.

Officials said Sunday wasn't a good day for swimming anyway, as 20-knot winds made waters choppy and murky under overcast skies. The weather and the shark scare cut crowds on the beach from the estimated 5,000 Saturday to about 2,500.

Chinese Refugees Held

MIAMI (UPI) — Immigration authorities were holding what appeared to be eight Chinese refugees at the Krome Avenue detention center west of Miami today.

The eight were found Friday night by a Coast Guard boarding party making a routine search of a 24-foot pleasure craft. Also taken into custody were three crewmen who may be formally charged with smuggling illegal aliens.

U.S. Catholic Missionary Gunned Down In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — Hooded gunmen have killed an American Catholic missionary with a spray of submachine gun fire, only days after another member of his Christian Brothers order filed a protest against the army.

James Arnold Miller, 47, of Custer, Wis., died immediately Saturday in the hail of bullets fired from a speeding car outside his church school in Huehuetenango, a provincial capital 130 miles northwest of Guatemala City, co-workers said.

Pope's Security Threatened

IAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Pope John Paul II's appeal to Moslem leaders for religious tolerance has been abruptly canceled and the pontiff was rushed out of northern Nigeria because of a "security threat," Vatican officials said.

The meeting with Moslem leaders was to have been a key event in the five-day visit to Nigeria by the pope, who was nearly assassinated by a Turkish gunman in St. Peter's square last May.

A VISIT FROM ABE

Students in Nancy Langford's Intermediate Alternative Education class at South Side Elementary School received a birthday visit Friday from Abraham Lincoln in the form of Honest Abe look-alike George Smith who gave them a new insight into the famous president's life.

Great Cheese Giveaway

United Press International
Most needy Americans have welcomed this winter's great federal cheese giveaway, lining up to receive what one worker called "cheeses from Jesus," and delighting in the thought of cheese sandwiches, cheese sauce and just plain cheese.

The mayor of Barberton, Ohio, distributed 14 1/2 tons of it in eight hours. But thieves got to the cheese first in Indianapolis and Baltimore. And people in Richmond, Va., thought they smelled a rat.

Some states, like California and Maryland, already have handed out their first allotment. Others, like Kansas and Missouri, have not yet begun. And in Dallas, Sam Warren, the U.S. Agriculture Department executive director for Dallas County, complained only 8,000 pounds arrived.

"I thought a lot more was going to be handed out," Warren said. "I figure some people are playing politics with the cheese."

Richmond welfare official Elmer Ceay said his city is stuck with 38,000 pounds of government surplus cheese the needy have not claimed, apparently because they mistrust the government.

"There has been a lot of suspicion," Ceay said. "They want to know if it has steroids, salt-peter or birth-control pills in it. They question why the president all of a sudden would release all this cheese."

But the Richmond skepticism was unusual. A United Press International survey indicated distribution of the 100 million pounds of processed American cheese President Reagan made available to the needy is proceeding relatively smoothly. People have been lining up by the thousands, even in freezing weather, for their share.

The 5-pound oblong blocks of cheese wrapped in plain paper come from government surplus warehouses. They were bought by the Agriculture Department at $1.433 a pound to keep up the price of milk during the current dairy overproduction.

Deputy Assistant Agriculture Secretary

John Bode said since Dec. 22 when the president announced the giveaway, 48 states and the District of Columbia have applied for 23 million pounds of cheese, and 23 states already are distributing it. States have until July 1 to make requests.

The only two states that have not yet signed up are Wisconsin, a major producer of processed cheese, and Michigan, he said.

Most states assigned distribution to social service agencies which, in turn, called on the Red Cross, Salvation Army, churches and charitable organizations, the American Legion and volunteers for help.

"A lot of people said it was a real blessing to them," said Diana Mahoney of the Salvation Army in Reno. "One elderly woman told us she hadn't been able to afford cheese in a long time."

The Church Federation of Greater Chicago took part in distribution in the Wundy City, inspiring one worker to call the giveaway "cheeses from Jesus." In Iowa, the State Department of Social Services appointed one employee in each county to raise volunteers to distribute the 806,000 pounds of cheese allocated to the state.

Maryland's 558,000 pounds of cheese sat in warehouses for several weeks while distribution plans were being drawn up.

But not all of it reached its destination. Ken Shifflet, chief of food distribution for the State Department of Education, said someone made off with 450 pounds of cheese and was spotted hawking it on the street — $3 a 5-pound block, $15 a case.

"Apparently this guy got the cheese off a truck that was delivering to a distribution center," Shifflet said.

In Indianapolis, Perry Township Trustee Everett Newlon reported 22 cases of cheese disappeared from the Fire Department Training Building shortly before it was to be given out.

"Somebody came in and helped themselves," Newlon said.

Tax Centers Open In Seminole, Volusia

The Internal Revenue Service has opened 12 Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) and Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) centers to help Seminole and southwest Volusia county taxpayers with their tax returns.

VITA sites include Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1000, Concord Drive, Casselberry; Seminole Community College, Seminole Community Action, Inc., 1017 W. 13th St. and 1101 Pine Ave., and Central Florida Legal Services, 104 S. Park Ave., all of Sanford; Seminole Community Action, Inc., 199 Leonard St., Altamonte Springs; and Seminole Community Action Outreach off Lee Road in Oviedo.

Seminole Community Action VITA sites are open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, except Oviedo, which is open 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Central Florida Legal Services, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

TCE sites in Seminole County include the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 First St., Sanford, Mondays and Fridays through April 9 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and Hacienda Village mobile home community, 500 Longwood-Oviedo Road, Winter Springs, each Thursday through April 15, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Southwest Volusia County TCE sites include the Deltona Public Library at 1691 Providence Blvd., the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Mid-Florida, 940 Deltona Boulevard, both of Deltona; and First Federal Savings & Loan Association, 137 U.S. Highway 17-92, DeBary.

The volunteers have been trained by the IRS in preparing basic income tax returns with primary emphasis on the shorter Form 1040A, the earned income credit, simple Form 1040 returns and the credit for the elderly.

The VITA and TCE programs are available to persons whose tax situations are relatively simple. The TCE program is designed primarily for those persons age 60 and over. Persons who want their tax returns prepared should bring with them any information necessary for completing their forms, including W-2 forms and other statements of income and deductions.

"Taxpayers should also bring along their tax forms packages received in the mail earlier this year," Charles O. DeWitt, IRS director for Florida said.

The VITA and TCE services are free, the IRS expects more than 30,000 Floridians to benefit from the program statewide.

Drug War Claims Life Of Miami Boy

MIAMI (UPI) — A bullet-riddled car with bloodstains, shattered glass and a child's book inside has been found by police seeking the father of a two-year-old boy killed in Miami's drug wars.

The brown 1982 Oldsmobile was found Sunday in a predominately Latin section of Miami. The car was owned by Jesus Castro, 41, a drug kingpin's bodyguard. Police have said Castro's son, Johnny, was slain in the car.

A neighbor reported the car to police. It was unlocked with the passenger's seat caked with dried blood. Until the car's discovery, police had no crime scene or witnesses — only the boy's bullet-torn body.

The boy's body was found last week in an urn behind an Islam mosque. It had been bathed, clothed and wrapped in sheets. Three red roses and the child's passport had been placed in the boy's waistband.

Miami homicide detective Jon Spear continued his broadcast plea to Castro today to come forward and help detectives investigating the murder. Spear said he just wants to find the child's killers, not arrest Castro.

"We are still asking to talk to you," Spear said in an open message to Castro through Spanish and English media. "Finding the car is a step in the right direction. We do want to release your son's body."

Police have said Castro has declined to come forward, either because of his links to international narcotics traffic or because he want to avenge his son's death himself.

Castro has called police at least four times, including the time he informed them where his son's body could be found. He has said he wants the child's body shipped back to Colombia for burial.

Subsidizing Repression

The White House and the State Department seemed all ruffled feathers and injured pride last month when former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger charged publicly that the Reagan administration had been weak and vacillating in responding to the crisis in Poland.

Not so, chorused administration spokesmen. What, then, are we to make of the revelation that the State Department and the White House have decided to begin reimbursing American banks for loans that the Polish dictatorship cannot pay?

Unless revoked, this astonishing decision commits the United States government to pay up to $396.5 million of Poland's debts to American banks this year alone. The funds to make good Poland's debts will come, of course, from the American taxpayer.

Granted, the bank loans in question were already guaranteed by the U.S. government should Poland default on its obligations. But the State Department recommended, and the White House approved, a financial reprieve for Poland's martial law government without the customary declaration of default.

State Department denials to the contrary notwithstanding, this amounts to a rescheduling of Poland's debts. How does the State Department and the White House square this with last month's decision by NATO foreign ministers to reject Poland's request for immediate debt rescheduling?

Secretary of State Haig's contention that the administration acted to prevent a situation that could "bring down the temple of Western unity" seems a classic non sequitur. How does it preserve Western unity for the Reagan administration to push NATO states into a hang-tough posture the United States itself is then unwilling to abide by?

European banks, and especially those in West Germany, have far more to lose than their American counterparts if Poland lapses into default. Yet, the Reagan administration has now undercut any resolve that may have existed in Western Europe to demand the Poland, or its Soviet masters, pay the Polish debt on schedule.

Thus, it would appear that the Reagan administration is tossing away the West's only real ace in the tragic poker game over Poland.

At last count, bankrupt Poland owed the West some $28 billion. Demanding payment on time would compel Poland to turn to the Soviet Union. The alternative would be default, and the likely end of easy credits that have permitted the entire Soviet bloc to incur more than $120 billion in debts to the West during the last 10 years.

This de facto subsidy is one reason the Soviet Union has been able to devote up to 18 percent of its gross national product each year to building armaments.

It isn't clear whether President Reagan knew of the decision to ease the Polish dictatorship off its financial hook. But Mr. Reagan surely knows now, and he could rescind this blunder with the stroke of a pen.

Unless he does, it will be apparent that Henry Kissinger let the administration off too easily.

Conservative Revolt? Not Yet

Conservative political activists are a prickly breed, and this is not surprising. Many of them have labored for years in the political wilderness, going back to the Goldwater campaign and beyond.

Some worked hard for Nixon, only to feel betrayed. They worked for Reagan, and now that Reagan is in the White House with his landslide victory, the conservative activists are determined not to lose in the corridors of power what they won in the primaries and at the convention in Detroit. Having tasted victory, they are not going to be shoved aside by the forces they defeated so handily at the convention.

The conservative activists' discontent, rumbling around for months, came to the surface dramatically at a recent day-long conference at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington. The White House responded by setting up a meeting right after that conference between the president, his top aides, and six leading activists. Mr. Reagan got an earful.

It would be wrong to call all of this, as yet, a full-scale revolt. The conservative activists deeply admire Mr. Reagan, and they loudly approve of his attempts to regain control of the federal budget, achieve tax-rate reduction, and cut through the tangle of excessive regulation.

But they are worried about the tenacity and consistency with which these new initiatives will be pursued, and their worry is rooted in the administration's personnel policies.

Too many Ford and Bush supporters have been showing up in key positions, too many Ford and Carter holdovers are in place at the State Department, too many cautious careerists persist in doing business as usual throughout the federal structure.

In a measured but incisive statement released at the Mayflower, the conservatives put it this way:

"By far the most urgent problem in the administration — from which many of the others appear to stem — concerns the appointment of key personnel. In one department after another, crucial positions are occupied by people who have small history of sympathy with, or understanding of, the Reagan mandate ...

"Such appointments have apparently occurred because of a selection process which placed inordinate emphasis on prior government experience or corporate managerial credentials.

"The problem begins with the White House staff itself, and there irradiates throughout the government, and through the Republican National Committee. It is readily demonstrable that, in agency after agency, dedicated Reaganites are in a distinct minority, if not entirely isolated. The State Department, Justice Department, Education Department, Voice of America, are obvious examples. The Republican National Committee, despite nominal Reagan control, contains only a handful of dedicated Reaganites out of 350-plus staffers."

So the conservative Reaganites have a case to make. My guess is that the president himself is glad they are making it, providing him with political leverage on upcoming appointments.

Cuban Jail Doesn't Quiet This Poet

WASHINGTON — In a tyranny, it falls to the lonely genius and hero to stand up to the oppression. Some are honored by the world, like Russia's Andrei Sakharov and Alexander Solzhenitsyn. But others dare to defy the tyrants without acclaim.

Such a moral giant is Armando Valladares who, at 44, has spent nearly half his life in Cuban prisons. He suffers from chronic asthma and has been confined to a wheelchair for eight years. He gets no medical help.

His crime: He's a poet of eloquence and passion who had the courage to speak out against Fidel Castro in the early days of the Cuban revolution.

Twice in past years, I have reported on Valladares' valiant efforts to be heard through his prison walls. Now he has managed to smuggle another message to the outside world. He has earned the right to have it published.

How Valladares sneaked his words, uncensored, past the prison guards is a story in itself. The courier was Ramon Ramado, a Spaniard now living in Stockholm. He spent 10 months in prison at Combarbo del Este on charges of espionage and smuggling contraband into Cuba.

Members of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) chapters in Seminole County's seven high schools — Lyman, Seminole, Crooms, Lake Mary, Lake Brantley, Lake Howell and Oviedo — recently observed National FHA week.

And in Longwood, Mayor June Lormann, at the request of two Lyman FHA members — Donna Thompson, president of the Home Economics Related Occupations (HERO) chapter and Joel Buchanan, president of the Cooperative Home Economics chapter (CHEC) — issued a proclamation.

Currently among the Seminole County chapter members are a state officer and a candidate for a second state office. Anna Wiggins of Lake Howell is state vice president of program of work, while Debi Mulligan of Lyman is a candidate for vice president of public relations.

FHA-HERO chapters across the nation had activities during the week focusing on the theme: "Future Homemakers of America — Join Us and Grow With Us."

FHA is one of nine vocational education youth organizations. A part of home economics curriculums through grade 12, it provides meaning and motivation for youth working toward educational goals related to consumer home economics and vocational home economics education. It reaches beyond classroom instruction into the home and community.

FHA has 12,500 chapters and a national membership of 395,000. In Florida there are 8,437 members with 89 in Seminole County. Members belong to two types of chapters.

FHA chapters place major emphasis on consumer education, homemaking and family life education combined with exploration of jobs and careers.

HERO chapters place major emphasis on preparation for jobs and careers with recognition that workers also fill multiple roles as homemakers and community leaders.

Both kinds of chapters emphasize growth of the individual, leadership development, citizenship and the dual roles of a career and homemaking for men and women.

Founded in 1945 and located in Washington, D.C., (Florida was influential in the founding), FHA is currently in a $2 million fund-raising campaign to build a national headquarters and leadership center.

A move to Reston, Va., 19 miles out of the nation's capital, is planned next summer with Distributive Education Clubs of America and other vocational youth groups.

Failing On The Test...

If you happened to be reading this space the other day, there's a chance you were misinformed.

It was stated in an analysis of the situation in El Salvador that the United States is providing that country's military junta with $25 million in military and $40 million in economic aid.

That understates the real stakes by many millions. Current authorized economic assistance actually comes to $112 million. Furthermore, before the ink had a chance to dry on that commentary the administration was announcing its intention of tossing an additional $55 million in emergency funds into the Salvadoran pot.

The wisdom of that move may be questionable — and we'll get to that later — but it certainly provides an appropriate label for the El Salvador business. It's an emergency, all right, and not only for the junta's colonels. El Salvador is developing into a crisis of American policy and a test of the administration's willingness to level with the Congress and the people of the United States.

A test that is publicly failing. Failing in President Reagan's assurance to Congress that the junta is making progress in respecting human rights. An assurance required by the terms of the program authorized by Congress last December if aid is to continue, but directly contrary to what is known to be the true state of affairs in El Salvador. The junta is becoming not only steadily more repressive, but openly contemptuous of objections to its excesses.

Failing in attempting to finger the Salvadoran rebels for massacres of civilians when American correspondents on the scene know and are reporting the truth to the American public. The slaughter is overwhelmingly the work of government forces, in recent instances American-trained and equipped units.

Failing in asserting that a desperately needed land-reform program is succeeding when Salvadorans responsible for trying to make it work are writing it off as a lost cause.

Failing by insisting that the junta is in control of the situation when exactly the reverse is all too obvious. Government forces are rapidly losing control of the countryside. Guerrillas are in command of extensive areas outside the towns, which they are beginning to attack directly. Even worse for the junta, they are now strong enough to mount assaults on military installations.

The truth is that the rebels continue to move from strength to strength as American aid to the junta escalates. Aid that is actually self-defeating. The propaganda benefits the rebels are reaping from the clumsy American attempts to crush them far outweigh the military value of their Cuban-supplied weapons, which the administration says it so fears.

The rationale for aiding the junta has been that we thereby gain leverage in persuading the colonels to mend their ways.

False. As currently administered, U.S. assistance only encourages them to continue and intensify the repression.

The only way to make an impression upon the junta is to cut off American aid. Immediately. Completely.

Support for that drastic step is growing in Congress.

Reagan Gamble Queried

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As President Reagan was putting the finishing touches on his State of the Union address and his fiscal 1983 budget, the GOP state chairmen were meeting at a hotel several blocks from the White House.

Their public statements of confidence notwithstanding, the Republican leaders privately were expressing some grave misgivings about the economic course that the Reagan administration has charted.

They fear that the White House is committing the party to a major gamble that could turn the 1982 election into an all-or-nothing proposition. If things go wrong, the GOP could lose all of its 1980 gains in one fell swoop.

Many influential Republicans within the administration and on Capitol Hill urged the president to lower potential deficits by seeking $40 billion worth of tax increases — or, as they now are being called, "revenue enhancements."

These measures would have included higher excise taxes on items such as liquor and gasoline, a windfall profits tax on deregulated natural gas and a new oil import fee.

Advocates of these measures argued that continued high deficits would perpetuate the Federal Reserve Board's tight-money policy and thus would keep interest rates high.

They contended that high interest rates combined with the federal government's need to borrow huge sums to finance the deficit would prolong the recession by continuing to make it difficult for business to borrow money.

But the conservative supply-siders within the administration and in Congress argued just as strongly that Reagan would reverse his own economic program if he called for higher taxes.

They predicted that the economy would turn around by summer or early fall without tax increases; then the GOP would be able to campaign in the fall on a platform of having kept its promise to cut taxes, reduce inflation and revive the economy.

In the end — reportedly after having changed his mind at least twice — Reagan decided to ask for no new taxes in the hope that the economy would start to rebound before the November elections.

This is the gamble that Reagan is forcing on the party: He has guaranteed that without new taxes he will be able to hold the fiscal 1982 deficit below $100 billion and get the economy moving again. If he succeeds, the GOP will have a solid record on which to campaign.

But if he fails — if by summer the recession is still with us and the deficit has soared above $100 billion — the Democrats will have been handed a ready-made campaign platform. The GOP could be set up for a stunning defeat.

This, of course, is what is making the Republican leaders more than a little nervous. Privately, many of them predict that the party will either win big or lose big in November. They think that there will be no middle ground.

The White House has recognized this attitude, so its message to the state chairmen was strident. They were told to get behind the president 100 percent and to take the offensive because doing otherwise would only invite defeat.

The tone was set by Ed Rollins, the White House political director, who told the state chairmen that the key to winning this fall was to project a "strong image of the president and the Republican Party providing proven leadership."

The White House then offered what it characterized as "proof that the American people believe in what the president is doing and are behind him."

This evidence took the form of surveys by presidential pollster Richard Wirthlin showing that a majority of voters think that Reagan's economic program will work, that the program should be given at least another full year and that Congress has approved half or less of the complete Reagan package.

Wirthlin interprets these results to mean that the Republicans have a "margin of patience" and that they can still lay at least some of the blame for the economy on the Democratic-controlled House.

But the bottom line of the White House's message to the GOP chieftains seemed to be: "We are in this together, sink or swim." The state chairmen understood that political fact without having been told, and it makes some of them very nervous indeed.

now being weighed as the possible envoy to Indonesia.

A confidential "point paper" — that no one will own up to — is circulating among the White House staff. It condemns Abramowitz with truly Agnewesque alliteration as having a "political philosophy akin to McGovern, Muskie and Mondale." What's worse, the report adds, is that Abramowitz has a wife who actually worked for McGovern, Muskie and Jimmy Carter.

While assigned to the Defense Department, Abramowitz "constantly opposed encouraging Japan to increase defense spending," the anonymous document charges. In addition, he is identified as "the architect for U.S. troops' withdrawal from Korea in 1977" — a plan Carter considered but decided against.

Finally, the political indictment charges, Abramowitz is a "close friend" of Richard Holbrook, who was Carter's man in charge of Southeast Asian policy. He "worked very hard with Mr. Holbrook to recognize Vietnam as well as provide them with a massive foreign aid program," the report states. "Abramowitz did not return repeated calls for comment."

Seminole Girls Jolt Jones; Look For 20th Win Tonight

Ron Merthie's Seminole High girls basketball team placed four players in double figures Saturday night as it whipped Jones, 55-48.

Seniors Tony Hardy and Cathy Jones led the way with 14 points each for the 'Noles, while Johnnie Bennett tossed in 13 and Dieldre Hillery added 10.

Seminole, 19-4, broke to a 14-0 first-quarter lead and widened the gap to 16 points before setting in at 36-20 at halftime.

Tonight at 7, Merthie's cagers go after their 20th victory against Apopka. Also Saturday night, coach Beth Corso's junior varsity dropped a 46-24 decision.

Sharon Jenkins led Seminole with 12 points. Genese Stallworth had 11 points and eight rebounds, while Arlene Jones had 11 points.

Rams Knock Off Lions

Lake Mary's Andrea Johnson, Donna Peterson and Kim Averill all scored on offensive rebounds with less than two minutes to play Saturday to lift the Rams over Oviedo, 45-39.

The victory avenged four of five defeats for coach Bill Moore's Rams who have won 15 and take on Florida Central tonight at 8:30. The boys play at 8 p.m.

"Our bench did a great job since we had four starters foul out," said Moore. "We also only turned the ball over 10 times." The Rams usually average 31 turnovers a game.

Peterson led the Rams with 10 points, while Averill and Michelle Swartz added eight apiece. Lisa Gregory handed out four assists.

Seminole Community College's Travis Filer lets fly with two of his game-high 27 points in the Raiders' victory over Valencia Community College Saturday night. The Raiders go to Lake City on Wednesday to open the playoff tournament for a state bid.

Filer Hits 27

The Raiders saved the best for last. At least as far as the regular season is concerned.

In Saturday night's regular season finale, a prelude to Wednesday's divisional playoff at Lake City for a berth in the state tournament, Joe Sterling's Seminole Community College squad matched up against Valencia's run-and-gun minded Matadors.

It wasn't much of a match up. SCC out ran and out-gunned Valencia at its own game, rocketing to a 55-35 halftime bulge and burying the Matadors even more in the second half en route to a 121-93 conquest.

Sparked by sophomore Travis Filer's game-high 27 points, every Raider who dressed out got into the scoring act.

"Valencia likes to run and we pressed them," said Joe Sterling. "We got caught up in a scoring game and our guys just picked up on it."

SCC's 121 point pick up was the Raiders' season scoring high in a 20-5 regular season campaign. The win also boosted SACC division record to 10-4 and puts the Raiders in a favorable seed for Wednesday's playoff tournament.

Filer's 27 points paved the way for four other Raiders in double figures. Center Reggie Butler tossed in 18 and turned in a solid job on the boards. Freshman Reggie Barnes continued to show signs of shaking the freshman blues with an identical 18 point output. Lonnie Jones added 14 to the effort while Sterling got a pleasant surprise in Bruce McCray's 10-point effort.

McCray was seeing action for the first time in three weeks due to a knee injury.

"He got in a little playing time which is what we wanted," said Sterling. "He saw about five or six minutes and scored while he was in, then he got the leg bumped and we had to take him out. He's still dragging it a little but I feel confident we'll have him for at least part time beginning Wednesday."

Sterling is also feeling better about the performance of his bench, especially in the rebounding department. He singled out Barnes and freshman Ricky Sutton for their play Saturday night.

"They've really picked up the scoring and rebounding," Sterling said. "And we won't hesitate to go to them."

JC Basketball

In preparation for the playoff tourney, the Raider coach plans few changes.

"When you get this far you don't change anything," said Sterling. "We plan on a couple of short, brisk practices before we head up to Lake City Wednesday morning."

By tourney seedings, the Raiders will square off against Central Florida Junior College at 5 p.m. Valencia meets Santa Fe at 7 p.m. while Daytona Beach meets St. Johns in the night cap at 9 p.m.

Lake City, by virtue of its divisional runners up spot, will receive a first round bye.

On Thursday the winner of the Seminole-Central Florida game meets the winner of the Valencia-Santa Fe contest at 9 p.m. Lake City is positioned in the 7 p.m. slot against the winner of the Daytona Beach-St. Johns contest.

The survivors of those two games meet Friday night at 7:30 p.m. for the right to advance to the state junior college tournament at Stetson next week.

Clark's Championship Vaults Seminole To Third

Greyhounds Regroup For District Mat Title

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman wrestling coach Skip Pletzer was still shaking his head in amazement on the second night of the District 4A-9 Wrestling Tournament at Lyman High School, but this time a smile accompanied the disbelief.

On Friday night, Pletzer had watched two of his top boys — Cory Stanley (142) and Jeff Brannen (Unl) — lose first round matches to put the Greyhounds on somewhat "shaky" ground.

After the consolation round Saturday night, however, Lyman held an insurmountable 35-point lead over runner-up Lake Brantley and all Pletzer had to do was sit back and watch the finale.

"Our kids were as aggressive today as we were not-aggressive last night," said the Skipper. "We had seven pins out of 12 matches and just blew everybody away."

In the finals, Willie Perkins (189) and Rhett Harwell (150) picked up individual championships to run the final Lyman point total to 176. Lake Brantley (133), surprising Seminole (110), Lake Howell (105), Daytona Beach Mainland (104½), Apopka (93½) and DeLand (31½) completed the field.

The victory was the second straight for Lyman. Last year the 'Hounds also won the regional and placed fifth in the state. "In some ways this is more satisfying because we've watched kids like Pat Bell (second at 102) and Joey Lockwood (second at 123) develop."

"If everyone would have come on as much as Bell, we'd have had everyone in the finals. I thought we'd have a good team, we just didn't have that much varsity experience," he added.

While Lyman's second consecutive championship was expected, the Fighting Seminoles' excellent third place showing was not.

Junior 130-pounder Vince Clark pinned Mainland's Brian Huff at 3:51 to highlight the Seminoles highest finish ever in a district tournament.

Junior Ronnie Watson (100) lost a heartbreaker in the last period to finish second and senior Mike Thorman (130) was injured and couldn't finish his championship match against Harwell.

Seminole advances eight wrestlers to Friday's regional tourney also at Lyman. The Greyhounds advance 12. Lake Brantley has eight and coach Pete LeClair's Silver Hawks have six.

"The kids really wrestled well," said an elated Sherman who along with his brother Stacy are responsible for the 'Noles' turnaround. "Vince Clark pinned everybody he wrestled and if Ronnie (Watson) could have kept his head up, he would have won too."

Pletzer, too, was impressed with the Seminoles. "Scott's really got the program going," he remarked. "Now that they've done well, it should help get the better athletes to come out."

In the consolation finals, the Tribe's Kevin Tapacott (116) picked up a third place, while Nate Woodget (136), Ira Jackson (142) and Eric "Shamu" Martin (Unl) grabbed fourth places.

Here's a match-by-match breakdown of the finals:

LIKENS MAULS BELL
The Lake Brantley senior had too much savvy for the talented Lyman freshman. Likens used a series of takedowns and back points to build a 14-2 first-period edge. He added 11 more points in the final four minutes to win going away, 25-3.

109
WATSON LOSES HEARTBREAKER
Seminole's first-year junior Ronnie Watson had everything his way for two periods against Mainland's "C.J." Jackson. Watson jumped to a 7-1 bulge in the opening period, but Jackson battled back to close within 11-9 at the end of the period.

Watson appeared headed for victory when he took down Jackson in the last five seconds of the second period and added two back points for a 19-12 edge entering the last two minutes.

Jackson, however, cradled Watson right off his feet onto his back and pinned the surprised junior at 6:10.

MITCHELL DECISIONS BROWN
Mainland's Willie Mitchell jumped to a 3-0 lead on a takedown and a penalty point, but Erick Brown tied the match at the close of the second period on similar points.

In the last period, Brown locked his arms to lose another point and Mitchell added a reversal to win, 6-3.

HORN DOMINATES LOCKWOOD
This is the third time Horn, Lake Brantley's brilliant senior, and Lockwood, Lyman's tough junior, have met. The first two were tight matches, but Horn dominated this one from the first whistle.

He built a 9-0 lead with a takedown, near fall, reversal and back points in the first two minutes. Horn built the lead to 14-0 in the beginning of the third period before Lockwood finally scored. The final tally was 14-1.

CLARK SMOTHERS HUFF
Huff, a Mainland senior, had beaten Clark the two previous times including once for the conference championship. In both cases, Clark had been the early aggressor, but lost in the final periods. It started in that manner as Clark took a 2-0 lead at the 1:00 mark. Huff added an escape with :40 to go. In period two, Huff gained another escape to tie, then took down Clark for a 4-2 lead.

Near the end of period two, though, the Seminole junior began to come on. He reversed Huff with a chicken wing with 45 seconds to go and then pinned him at 3:51.

FARMER HANDLES SEARS
Rich Farmer, Brantley's tournament-tested senior, had his hands full with Lyman's Steve Sears for most of the match.

Sears took Farmer down in the opening period, but Farmer picked up his opponent for a reversal at 1:20. The Patriot took the lead for good with a takedown in the second period.

In the final two minutes, Sears was called for stalling and Farmer assessed a penalty point for locking his arms to make it, 5-3 in Farmer's favor. He then put the match out of reach with back points to win, 8-5.

BRUCATO BATTERS BUNEL
Lake Brantley's Bill Brucato, unseeded before the tournament, continued to march through this division by whipping Mainland's Mike Bunel, 13-8. Brucato, who could qualify as the tournament's most impressive showing, broke a 4-4 deadlock with an escape, takedown and near fall to move ahead, 10-4, after four minutes.

He added a reversal and an escape to win going away.

KNOBLAUCH AVENGES LOSS
Lake Howell's Paul Knoblauch avenged his Five Star Conference championship loss to Lyman's Curt Schuster by building a 10-6 second period lead and holding off Schuster in the last two minutes.

Schuster, a takedown master, scored first, but Knoblauch reversed him for a tie with 30 seconds to go. In the next two minutes, Schuster secured a reversal, then gave up an escape and grabbed another takedown with 40 seconds to go for a 6-3 lead.

Knoblauch, though, came on strong with an escape, a penalty point, a takedown and a near fall with two ticks left for his 10-6 lead.

Schuster pulled within, 12-10, with a minute to go, but Knoblauch used several takedowns to hold him off for a 17-11 victory. "I was a little worried when he got that first takedown (12-10), but I said to myself, I'm going to let him come back again," pointed out Knoblauch.

Schuster complained of being tired. "I was dead when that third period started," he said. "But give him credit, he wrestled a good match."

"He's definitely good on his feet," agreed Knoblauch. "It should be an interesting Schuster vs. Knoblauch III."

R. HARWELL TOPPLES THORMAN
Lyman's veteran senior Rhett Harwell wiped to a 5-0 lead over Seminole's Mike Thorman before the Tribe senior landed on his shoulder and couldn't continue. Harwell won by default.

171
KALICH EDGES SMITH
In one of the best bouts of the night, Lake Brantley's Bob Kalich used a penalty point in the last five seconds to nip Lyman's tough junior Dirk Smith, 5-4. Kalich took an early 3-0 lead, but Smith battled back to go ahead, 4-3 in the final session. Kalich then added a penalty point on an illegal hold and a point on a similar call near the end to gain the title.

PERKINS POUNDS CARTER
Lyman senior Willie Perkins broke a 4-4 stalemate in the second period with a reversal and back points to post an impressive 9-5 victory over Apopka's Joe Carter.

In the final two minutes, each grappler picked up a point on a stall to reach the final difference.

RAE IMMOBILIZES DAVIS
Lake Brantley's Kyle Davis rushed over from a football awards banquet to take on Lake Howell's rugged junior Dan Rae in a battle of gridiron standouts. Rae had pinned Davis twice earlier this year, but the bruising Brantley linebacker wasn't going to see the ceiling this night. The Silver Hawk took a quick 4-0 lead on a takedown and back points, but Davis added an escape and a reversal to close within, 4-3.

In the final two minutes, Rae escaped, added a takedown and two stalling calls for a final 9-5 verdict.

UNI.
BRYANT BOMBS SPICER
Another candidate for the tournament's best wrestler could go to Lake Howell's heavyweight Jeff Bryant. The tough junior mauled Apopka's Jerry Spicer, 11-1, before Spicer was disqualified for stalling in the final period.

"He's the most improved wrestler we have," said coach Pete LeClair about his 211-pounder. Bryant gave away 80 pounds to Spicer, but mauled the Blue Darter with a series of takedowns, reversals and escapes.

Dodgers Toast, Roast Lopes

Rick Monday, holding a glass of wine in his hand, walked over to the table where Davey Lopes was sitting with Ron Cey and Bill Russell.

"Let's have a toast to Davey," he proposed.

Cey and Russell both raised their glasses.

At another table nearby, Jerry Reuss and Jay Johnstone, the Los Angeles Dodgers' chief pranksters, weren't going to see an occasion like this ruined by any unnecessary seriousness.

"We're happy to see you go," one of them hollered at Lopes, making him smile because he knew it was only meant to needle him.

Cey and Russell waited for Monday to make the toast. He was thinking of something appropriate to say, maybe something funny, about the departing Lopes, being dealt to the Oakland A's for a 19-year-old minor league infielder after nine years with the Dodgers and 14 years in their organization.

Monday possibly took a moment or two more than he should've, creating an uncomfortable silence at the table.

"Hey, I'm starting to get a little emotional about this," blurted Russell, not wishing to turn the little going-away party they were giving Lopes into a maudlin farewell.

"Me, too," offered Cey solemnly.

Lopes nodded. The prospect of having to leave all those friends he had lived with and played with for so many years was beginning to work on him. The others could see that by the look on his face.

All this took place last Saturday at a hotel restaurant in Honolulu where some of the Dodger players were competing in NBC's Super Teams competition. The Dodgers lost five of the seven events to the A's, and that cost them some prize money in the televised contests, but they were much more concerned with the loss of their second baseman, Lopes, who, along with Cey at third, Russell at short and Steve Garvey at first, had been part of the same infield for the past nine seasons.

"It got a little heavy," Cey said Thursday from his Woodland Hills, Calif., home, talking about the impromptu get-together for Lopes in Honolulu. "I told David it was going to be hard for us to get more emotional than we did without it affecting us more. A lot of things might've been said that would've upset us more than we wanted. I'm going to miss him as a friend. We spent a lot of good times together. In our business, unfortunately, when a business transaction like this takes place you have to dismiss your emotions. We flew back to Los Angeles together and I hope I'll see him one more time before he goes. If not, I'll call him."

Lopes and Cey played together in the Dodgers' system at Spokane and Albuquerque before coming up to Los Angeles to stay in 1972.

Although Lopes, who was from East Providence, R.I., and Cey, from Tacoma, Wash., didn't seem to have a whole lot in common apart from the gritty, hard-nosed way both played, they grew close enough so that wherever you saw one, you generally could spot the other.

"We discussed it a lot of times that we came from totally different backgrounds, yet it was interesting to see how we got along so well together."

Cey said. "... parts of his personality are the same as mine. Sports was the thing that tied us together."

Steve Sax, 22, will replace Lopes at second for the Dodgers.

Stripp Teases Greyhounds On 2 Hits

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Prep Baseball

Lake Howell righthander Billy Stripp didn't relish the prospect of facing Lyman's hard-hitting outfielder Todd Marriot in Saturday's championship game of the Seminole County Preseason Baseball Tournament at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

And after Marriot followed teammate Kenny Brown's leadoff double with a similar stroke to score the speedy Smith, Stripp thought the worst might be yet to come.

"After those first two doubles, I thought it was going to be a long day," said the curly-haired senior.

He was right about the day, but wrong about the team. After Marriot's double, Stripp didn't allow another hit as the Silver Hawks knocked off the Greyhounds, 5-3, for their second straight preseason championship.

Using a teasing curveball to keep Lyman off stride, the smooth righthander struck out seven batters and walked three. Ironically, his nemesis Marriot fanned his final three appearances, including the final out of the game.

"His curveball makes his fastball look a lot better," pointed out Hawk manager Birto Benjamin. "He was getting as many outs with his fastball as his curve." The only Greyhound Stripp couldn't solve was second baseman Smith. After his double in the first, he reached on an error in the third, promptly stole second and third and scored on a line fly to right by Tom Perkins.

Again in the fifth, Brown drew a walk, swiped second and third and trotted home when shortstop Tony Dimavro threw low to first base on what would have been an inning-ending groundball.

Brown scored all three Greyhound runs and pilfered four bases for the day.

The 'Hounds held a 2-1 lead entering the bottom of the fourth as lefthander Pat Burkhardt matched Stripp pitch for pitch after struggling out of first-inning trouble by giving up just one run.

Frank Zubor ripped a one-out single in the fourth and John Hawkins drew a walk. Burkhardt caught Jorge Martinez looking for out number two, but then walked dangerous David Martinez to load the bases.

Lyman Manager Bob McCullough pulled Burkhardt at that point in favor of righthander Mike McArdle to face tough-hitting Dimavro.

McArdle, though, couldn't find the plate and walked Dimavro, Dough Chiodini and Bill Lang to force in three runs before McCullough brought on Jeff Barefoot.

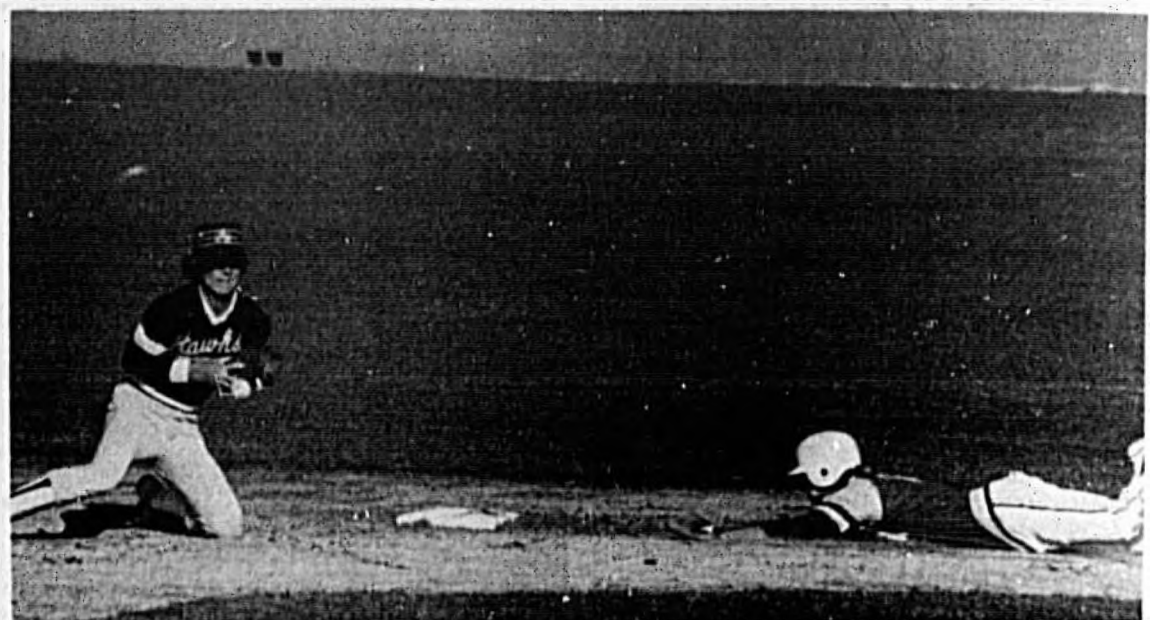

Barefoot promptly walked Jim Royal — the fifth in a row by the Greyhounds — to force in the fourth run of the inning. The young righthander then induced the next hitter to ground out and end the uprising.

Lake Howell, who goes to Oak Ridge Monday, scored four runs on just one hit and five beneficial walks. For the day, the 2-0 Hawks had just two hits.

"Those walks saved us," said Benjamin. "We weren't hitting the ball. Their pitchers just weren't clicking."

McCullough was the first to agree. "I've got to find me some pitchers," he said. Lyman, 1-1, travels to Colonial on Monday.

Allison Claims 500

By CARL VANZURA Herald Motor Sports Writer

Bobby Allison totally dominated the 24th running of the Daytona 500 at Daytona International Speedway. The Gatorade Buick ran flawlessly all day as he collected a record high purse of $120,000 for winning the 500 and finishing third in the 125 mile qualifying race Thursday.

In the fourth lap while running third the rear bumper flew off of Allison's car coming out of turn four. Joe Milliken was right behind Allison and said "I saw something sliding on the track, I couldn't tell what it was. I tried to dodge it but I caught it with the right rear and blew a tire. I didn't know what it was, but somebody told me later it was Bobby's bumper. After I cut the tire, I hit the wall."

Lake Speed and Geoff Bodine both crashed along with Milliken. After losing the bumper Allison said the car was a little loose but that it was still handling great. When asked about the bumper coming off he said that during the week there had been some complaints by the other drivers and that NASCAR had made him change it. The reason for it falling off he said was that he made contact with Cale Yarborough hard enough that it ripped the welding on it.

Allison felt the key to the race was a gasoline gamble.

"It was a perfect gamble not to stop for gas, as I ran out heading for Victory Lane," Allison said. He was in front of both major wrecks and was not involved in any close calls.

Auto Racing

Not so fortunate was Neil Bonnett and Richard Petty as well as pole sitter Benny Parsons when on lap 106 a blown motor on Bobby Wawak's car in turn one caused the three top runners to wreck. Bonnett said "a car blew down below us and Bobby threw up his hand and lifted, and I threw up my hand and lifted too. But somebody hit me from the rear. I'm sure they couldn't help it, and it started a chain reaction I guess."

Richard Petty said "I saw the engine go. There was so much smoke I think everybody slowed down. When I slowed down, somebody got me in the back, that really got me moving." Petty was taken to the infield hospital and had his foot checked for a possible break. The x-rays showed no break but he did have a sprain and will be on crutches for a couple days.

Local racer Rick Wilson was running in the top 15 most of the day but fell out on the 182nd lap and finished in 18th position. Gary Balough ran 196 laps and finished in the 11th position. The New Smyrna Speedway late model star moved up from the 31st position for his fine finish. Billy Harvey only made 8 laps when his motor failed and ended up in 39th place.

Allison for the week won over $307,000 as he won $50,000 for winning the Buick Clash, and another $137,000 for getting on the NASCAR Winners Circle Program. The race was run in 3 hours, 14 minutes, 49 seconds at an average speed of 133.991 miles per hour.

Von Herbulis Dash Lifts Seminole, 4-3

Prep Baseball

Seminole's Freddie Howard fires away at Lake Brantley.

Seminole's Brett Von Herbulis scrambled home from third base on a wild pitch in the top of the seventh inning Saturday to give the Fighting Seminoles a third place finish in the Seminole County Preseason Baseball Tournament with a 4-3 victory over Lake Brantley at Zinn Beck Field.

Von Herbulis' dash tagged the loss on Patriot starter Billy Green, although righthander Tommy Novak uncorked the wild pitch. Novak later got Freddie Howard to bunt into a double play to end the inning.

Green, a senior righthander was magnificent for five innings. He blanked Seminole on just three singles, while striking out six and walking no one. At one point, he set down eight in a row.

Tribe starter Howard was just as tough. After allowing an unearned run without a hit in the first, the crafty righthander pitched shutout ball until he tired in the sixth inning.

Green, nevertheless, tired first in the top of the sixth. Von Herbulis walked, but Tracy Walker lined out to left field. Centerfielder Alton Davis singled down the third baseline sending "Von" to second.

Von Herbulis promptly stole third and junior Greg Hill lashed a hit to left to score him. Davis stole third and Hill second, so Pat manager Sam Monary had hot-hitting Howard (two singles) intentionally walked to load the bases.

Leftfielder Greg Register then blooped a hit into center field just out of John Simas' diving reach to score Davis with the go-ahead run. First baseman Jeff Lutton then blooped another hit to right field to score Hill for a 3-1 Seminole lead.

The Patriots struck back for two runs in the bottom of the inning without a hit.

Howard walked Jimmy Robbins and Mark Hobson to open the frame and Seminole manager Bobby Lundquist pulled him in favor of Walker.

The curveball artist fanned Todd Pope and Brennan Asplen on called strikes, but then lost his control and walked Brian Wright, John Simas and Novak to force in both runs.

The Seminoles, however, picked up their run in the seventh and Walker induced Green to ground out to shortstop with the tying run on third base in the bottom of the seventh to end the game.

Seminole, 1-1 is off on Monday. The Patriots, 0-2, host defending champion Boone Tuesday at 3:15 p.m.

Hill, Williams Lead Lakeview To 12th Victory

Robert Hill scored 12 points and Daryl Williams added 10 on Saturday as Lakeview's Mustangs walloped Rock Lake, 75-51, in Seminole Youth Sports Association basketball.

The victory improved the Mustangs' SYSA mark to 7-0 and the season log to 12-0. Lakeview plays Teague on Saturday at Lake Brantley at 5 p.m. It returns home Sunday to host Tusawilla at 11 a.m.

Byron Washington, Chris Jackson and Sean Fulce each added seven points, while Michael Simmons and Raymond Hartfield each had six. Tony Harris threw in five.

Allen Sticks Hornets

Prep Wrestling

As far as the Suwannee wrestling team was concerned, there was no better person to have in the center ring when it came down to first or second than Donnie Allen.

Senior Allen, who best resembles the Incredible Hulk, was state runnerup two years ago before taking all the marbles in the unlimited division last year.

Allen didn't disappoint his 3A teammates. He pinned Tommy Jason of Gainesville Eastside at 5:10 to hand the Live Oak school the Region 3A-2 title 128-122.5 over last year's state champion Bishop Moore.

Allen gave a forewarning of just how strong he was on Friday when he picked up Oviedo's Darrel Tossie like a baby before gently placing the 224-pound defensive tackle on the mat and pinning him. "That guy is strong," raved Lions' coach John Horn. "It's no wonder he hasn't been beat in two years."

Neither the Lions nor the host Lake Mary Rams qualified anyone for the finals as the best they could do was advance Tossie and Shawn Knapp to the semi-finals and Robert Rawls, a sophomore heavyweight for the Rams made it that far too.

For Randy Jesse's Hornets, Robert Provost (136) decisioned Ocala Forest's Alvin Hamilton, 12-4, and Joe McKenna (142) stuck Tarpon Springs' Tom Tootos at 1:46 for individual championships. McKenna won the region last year too.

Friday, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Howard Johnson's Hotel (across from the Sheraton Twin Towers) at I-4 and State Road 435 north (Kirkman Road), Orlando.

The show will feature miniature dealers and craftspeople from all over the country, including some of Miniature World's own talented people.

Admission: $2 donation per day each person. For information, call (305) 859-1483 or (305) 422-6987.

SCC Teams With Cable TV

Seminole Community College will host its first Spectra Cable TV program on Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 3. The topic will be "The SCC Faculty Jazz Trio in Concert."

Spectra, a new educational program concept, will feature non-credit shows for cable viewers. SCC has teamed with Orange-Seminole Cablevision and Storer Cable Communications in this community service effort. Spectra programs will be aired every Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 3.

For information on program scheduling, contact Paul Butterfield, at 322-1450, Ext. 515.

Flowers To Depict Ballet

The public is invited to a Floral Design Interpretation of the "Nutcracker Suite and Ballet" Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Garden Club of Sanford, 3875 S. Orlando Dr., (17-92), Sunland Estates.

Eight arrangements will be presented by Mrs. Frank L. (Lou) Woodruff III. The program will take approximately one hour and is free of charge to the public.

Big Band Era Returns

The Big Band Era returns to Central Florida from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Feb. 27 at the new Casselberry Senior Center. Jeff Golub, host of the popular radio program, "Nostalgia" will lead this journey back to the days when dancing was fun and romantic.

Including both special song requests, Sadie Hawkins dances and dedications, the evening will also feature special prizes from the dance's co-sponsor, public radio FM 90 Plus.

Those attending the dance are asked to keep in mind the formality of dress during the incomparable Big Band Era. The Casselberry Senior Center is located in Secret Lake Park, Casselberry.

Needlepoint Guild Formed

The first meeting of the newly-formed Orlando Chapter of the American Needlepoint Guild will meet Feb. 23 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Dade Federal Savings and Loan building on Colonial Drive and Bumby in Orlando.

Cecelia M. Brown will discuss and teach background stitch alternatives, and it is suggested that those interested bring a small piece of canvas and yarn for a practice piece.

For information call: Lee Brady, 678-0867 or Ozzie Gaines, 862-2872.

Singleary Earns Award

Four Floridians have been named winners of the Rice-Judson Scholar Award by The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Recipients of the annual award are David Keith Brooks of Tampa; Rick L. Eason of Fort Walton Beach; Craig A. Loscalzo of Sunrise; and Wade Singletary III of Sanford. They are among 20 persons from 12 states to receive the $500 award, presented to incoming students who demonstrate outstanding leadership, scholarship and commitment to ministry.

Singletary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Singletary Jr., is a 1974 graduate of Carson-Newman College.

Kids Learn What's Grand About Opera

"A Musical Journey" was presented to the PTA by the third and fourth graders at Red Bug Elementary.

An Interstate Luncheon was served to the children on Feb. 4. The food included clam chowder from the New England states, taco salad, representing the Southwestern states, fruit compote depicting Hawaii and the Western states, cornbread from the Southern states and apple pie representing all of America.

"What's so Grand About Opera" was the name of the assembly presented to the student body on Feb. 9. Presenting the assembly were Willa Mae Koehn, Anne Kroft, Jeannie Hall and Rick Ross from the Orlando Opera Company.

The children in the audience participated in the activities which included trying on the clothing and helping sing the opera.

The 50s—60s PTA dance was a success. The board members are ready to have another one soon.

Tuskawilla Middle School held a Valentine Day dance on Friday.

The sixth graders at South Seminole Middle School attended a concert by the Florida Symphony Orchestra at Lake Mary High School on Feb. 12.

A Science and Math Fair will be held at South Seminole Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. The fair is open to the public. The winners of the vocational displays will display their projects at the Winter Park Mall on Feb. 19 and 20.

The Oviedo High PTSA will meet today at 7:30 p.m., in the school Commons. There will be an open house to meet and talk with the second semester teachers. The VICA Club will open the PTSA program by showing their state-wide competition skills. The ninth grade advanced English classes will have its project on display also.

On Feb. 18 and 19, the VICA Club will attend a Leadership and Skills Competition in Ocala. Oviedo High School will run an after school activities bus for one month beginning Feb. 1 as a pilot program to see if it will pay for itself.

The bus will leave the school shortly after 4:30 p.m., and will charge 50 cents per day to ride.

Old Column Changed Life For The Better

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: I was in the U.S. Air Force for 20 years and retired a few years ago at the age of 37. At 21 I married a hometown girl, expecting to grow old with her and enjoy our retirement years together. I soon found out that retirement with my wife was not what I had expected, but for the sake of our children, I stayed married.

Two years ago, while cleaning out our basement, I came across a box of fragile items that had been wrapped in old newspapers. It was then that I read a Dear Abby column in the Duluth Herald dated Sept. 11, 1968. That article changed my life.

I am divorced now and have met a lovely woman whom I hope to marry soon. All I want to say, Abby, is that had it not been for your article, I might have still been married to a woman who was becoming more like the woman in that article every day. I just wonder how many other people are in similar circumstances, but lack the courage to do something about it.

Thanks for helping me to change my life for the better. I'm enclosing a copy of the article, which I shall always treasure.

Dear Abby

NO NAME, PLEASE

"DEAR ABBY: My husband is retired now, and most of his cronies are either dead or too sick to be any company to him. He used to be quite the 'man about town' and I spent many evenings alone and heavy-hearted, wondering when he would come home.

"Now, do you know what? I can't get him out of the house. I actually have to look for things for him to do. 'Go to the grocery store! Go to the drugstore! Go to the hardware store!'

"I can't stand the sight of him anymore. I get nauseated when I hear his key in the door.

"After he reads the morning paper, he starts to follow me around like a puppy, supervising the cooking, housekeeping, etc.

"If I have an acquaintance in for a cup of tea, he moves right in and monopolizes the conversation.

"Dear God, I am so sick of him, death would be a welcome release. Sincerely, WEARY"

"DEAR WEARY: Yours or his? The quality of a marriage is only as good as the materials used by the builders. The 'lumber of life' is caring, sharing, patience, forgiveness and understanding. One can't expect to spend his twilight years in a cathedral when he's accumulated only enough 'lumber' for a shack."

DEAR ABBY: Although my wife can't balance her checkbook, she came up with an excellent suggestion for checkbook users in the new year. Write the numbers "02" on all checks to be used in January so as to avoid absentmindedly writing "1981" on those checks, making them invalid.

After a year of check writing, last year's date has become a habit that is sometimes difficult to break.

FELIX
DEAR FELIX: Thanks. But January alone won't do it for me. I'm writing "1982" until March.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDEOSOL
For Tuesday, February 16, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 16, 1982
One of your greatest attributes is your ability to make helpful friends of persons from all walks of life. This coming year, this gift will be even more accentuated.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your competency is likely to be the greatest today in dealings in new areas, or with new ideas. Don't fear incursions into uncharted fields. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions could suddenly shift in your favor today in a situation where you find yourself in competition. The odds now favor you.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're an individual who is never short of imaginative ideas to begin with, but today your genius for improvisation and inventiveness is exceptionally keen.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Because of your gentle demeanor, someone with whom you have material dealings today may be generous with you in a way he or she is not with others.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although sometimes your impetuosity can get you into trouble, today your impulsive commitment will turn out to be a fortunate act.
FOLLOW THROUGH ON IT.
CANCER (June 21-July 21) You may find yourself a shade more adventuresome when experimenting with new methods or techniques on the job today. This will work to your advantage.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is one of those days when some of the best things that happen to you occur quite suddenly and from unexpected sources, especially socially.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're in the mood today to surprise the family with something different. It may be as simple as serving a special dish or as elaborate as throwing an impromptu dinner party.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Chances are you'll be a pretty fast thinker today. It isn't likely anyone will catch you off-guard, even in areas where you may not be fully prepared to express yourself.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Look for today's profits to come from unusual sources or spur-of-the-moment happenings. Don't dillydally. Tomorrow may be too late.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't wait on other today if there is something important to do affecting your self-interests. Take the initiative. Put your own show on the road.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You should be able to size up situations accurately today by using answers you arrive at deductively, as well as intuitively. Use both gifts.

Noise Problem Real; Tinnitus To Blame

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am quite concerned and wonder if I am losing my mind. I was sitting in the yard and mentioned to my husband that there must be a fire in the vicinity as I could hear the siren from the fire department. He said he couldn't hear anything. The next day it started again and I thought it was an electrical appliance making the noise, but when I checked I couldn't find anything. The next day I was away from the house and could hear it again so I knew it was just me. Then I started hearing the sound of an organ chords playing over and over. I purchased some ear drops thinking it might be wax but it persisted. Please tell me I'm not going crazy. What could be causing this and what can I do to stop it? I feel like I could scream.

Help for Tinnitus - Noise or Ringing in the Ear. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10018.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My son's wife has herpes in her vagina. My son says he doesn't have it now but thought once he might have it in his mouth. He had blisters develop in his mouth.

I would like to know how safe my family is when they come to my home. I have all but asked my son not to come. I have a 16-year-old daughter. I couldn't bear to think of her getting the disease.

DEAR HEADER - Both herpes simplex type 1 (mouth) and type 2 (genital) are spread by physical contact with virus-containing secretions and cells shed by the infected person. That does NOT mean sexual contact in all cases.

A person can spread herpes from the mouth to the genital area and vice versa by his own hand. Kissing is a common way to spread herpes simplex type 1.

From 30 to 90 percent of teen-agers already have antibodies that show they have been infected by type 1 in childhood, not by sex but by kissing and simple physical contact.

With today's sexual freedom, and because of self-inoculation with spread by hand, you can find both type 1 and type 2 in both the genital and oral areas. At present the best we can advise to avoid spread is to avoid close physical contact such as kissing and touching.

DEAR READER

Millions of people have such noises. We call it tinnitus. It can be like a steam kettle, a siren, a roaring sound.

You should see your doctor or, if one is available, a specialist in ear, nose and throat problems. You are right that one cause is ear wax. You can also have such noises from medicines, including taking too much aspirin. If you are exposed to excess noise you can develop ringing in the ears. A number of hearing problems are also associated with such noises.

In some brain tumors tinnitus is the first sign - but most such noises are from other causes, not a tumor.

The treatment depends upon the cause. Even if a hearing loss is present that you are not aware of, a hearing aid that matches amplification of sound with the areas of hearing loss may eliminate the problem. Some patients use a tinnitus masker, which provides a constant sound to the ear and masks the unpleasant sound.

To update you on the many causes and management of tinnitus I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-10.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards and dealer information.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Oswald: "Faber has published another fine book by H.W. Kelsey. Like all Kelsey books the material is for advanced players, but it is well presented and makes for good reading. His first chapter is entitled 'A time for thinking'.

Alan: "Today's hand is constructed from one of his. Declarer plays dummy's seven of hearts at trick one. East produces the queen. South takes his ace and decides to set up diamonds to get a quick club discard. He leads his eight of the suit."

Oswald: "West ducks and wins the second diamond. He leads another heart. South is in dummy. This high diamond is in his own hand with no way to get to it right away. He leads a trump. East wins and leads the jack of clubs. Now South must lose a club and his nice game."

Alan: "Do you see how a little thought at trick one would have brought the game home? South should have played dummy's jack of hearts at trick one. East would still play the queen, but now South's 10 of hearts would have been a sure entry to his hand and he would have been able to get that all important club discard."

Oswald: "South was unlucky to find East with both high trumps and the queen of hearts, but forthright would have taken care of those bad breaks." (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
