FLAG WRAPPED CASKET WITH SIX BLACK HORSES GOES TO REST IN ARLINGTON

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Laid to rest with all the honors a grateful nation could pay, the unknown hero from France bivouaced among gallant dead today in Arlington national cemetery. The highest officers of the army and navy walked beside the coffin but only hands of gallant comrades of the great war were laid upon it. Minute guns at Fort Meyer boomed continuous tribute as the funeral procession was passing from the capitol to the amphitheatre in Arlington where the ceremony opened with playing of Star Spangled Banner by Marine Band. Marshal Foch and his staff in full uniform of the French army, General Jacques, Belgian chief; General Diaz, of Italy; British Ambassador Geddes; Premier Briand, of France, other internationally known figures present. Chief Mest Kook, of Crow Indians, attired in full war regalia, feathered bonnet, furs and skins, was seated on the platform joining groups of high military leaders of Europe.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Long before rising sun broke through low clouds long columns of soldiers, sailors, marines today began making way to the capital plaza there to receive into their keeping America's unknown soldier and to accompany him to final resting place at Arlington. Pennsylvania avenue was roped off and all traffic stopped as when in augural parade passes. Crowds began lining the avenue before daybreak in order to secure advantageous positions for viewing the procession. President Harding arrived at the capitol at 8:27 and took his place behind the caisson which had been held in front of the capitol steps to await parade formation. As house delegates marched out and took up their position behind senate, Representative Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma, the only woman in congress, took her place near the front, dressed in the uniform of an American Red Cross nurse. Soldier detailed to march with her. Former President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson in automobile, joined the procession as it swung around the north end of the capitol. As he turned into Pennsylvania avenue crowds along the way cheered Wilson continuously. Six black horses with drivers rigged in saddle, drew funeral car. On gun timber simple flag wrapped casket rode high with only handful of flowers on it. Among them lay withered clusters of French blossoms that came with him all the journey home.

LENA CLARKE KNEW BEFORE OF INDICTMENT

SAW IT IN DREAM BEFORE INDICTMENT WAS READ TO HER

ORLANDO, Nov. 11.—Lena Clarke claimed she knew she had been indicted for the murder of Fred A. Milmore before human voice or scratch of pen had told or conveyed to her news of the action of the grand jury, whose indictment charging the former West Palm Beach postmistress with murder in the first degree was reached Wednesday afternoon, too late for presentation to the court, was formally entered in open court yesterday. The same indictment charges B. H. Patterson, the chauffeur who drove Miss Clarke to Orlando on the fatal day, with murder in the first degree.

The first count, charging Miss Clarke with the crime, names Patterson as accessory before the fact. The second count, which is against Patterson, as alleged principal, names Miss Clarke as alleged accessory.

Patterson turned ashen white as Sheriff Karel was ordered to step forward and escort him to the county jail to await, with Lena M. T. Clarke, the action of the petit jury during the present term of court now sitting here for the seventeenth judicial district. Miss Clarke will not be arraigned until Friday and probably not until Saturday. Counsel for Patterson lost little time in beginning the work of drafting a petition for a habeas corpus writ to be served for the purpose of releasing him on bond.

Big Crowd Here To Celebrate Day; Many Amusements

It is estimated that one of the largest crowds Sanford has ever entertained is here today attending the Armistice Day celebration. If the size of the crowds on First street this morning can be taken as an estimate there must be at least three thousand visitors and they are here from all parts of the state. It is said that Sanford is pulling off one of the biggest Armistice day stunts in the state and the crowd looks like it. The lake front is lined with thousands this afternoon watching the many events. The dance and the carnival will interest them this afternoon and night and most of them will remain in the city until a late hour.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S ADDRESS AT BURIAL UNKNOWN SOLDIER ARLINGTON CEMETERY TODAY

We are met today to pay the impersonal tribute. The name of him whose body lies before us took flight with his imperishable soul. We know not whence he came, but only that his death marks him with everlasting glory of an American dying for his country.

He might have come from any one of millions of American homes. Some mother gave him in her love and tenderness, and with him her most cherished hopes. Hundreds of mothers are wondering today, finding a touch of solace in the possibility that the Nation bows in grief over the body of one she bore to live and die, if need be, for the Republic. If we give rein to fancy, a score of sympathetic chords are touched, for in this body there once glowed the soul of an American, with the aspirations and ambitions of a citizen who cherished life and its opportunities. He may have been a native or an adopted son; that matters little, because they glorified the same loyalty, they sacrificed alike.

We do not know his station in life, because from every station came the patriotic response of the five millions. I recall the days of creating armies, and the departing of caravels which braved the murderous seas to reach the battle lines for maintained nationality and preserved civilization. The service flag marked mansion and cottage alike, and riches were common to all homes in the consciousness of service to country.

We do not know the eminence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country, and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning, uncomplaining, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that his country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indisputable justice of his country's cause. Conscious of the world's upheaval, appraising the magnitude of a war the like of which had never horrified humanity before, perhaps he believed his to be a service destined to change the tide of human affairs.

In the death gloom of gas, the bursting of shells and rain of bullets, men face more intimately the great God over all, their souls are aflame, and consciousness expands and hearts are searched. With the din of battle, the glow of conflict, and the supreme trial of courage, come involuntarily the hurried appraisal of life and the contemplation of death's great mystery. On the threshold of eternity, many a soldier, I can well believe, wondered how his obbing blood would color the stream of human life, flowing on after his sacrifice. His patriotism was none less if he craved more than triumph of country; rather, it was greater if he hoped for a victory for all human kind. Indeed, I revere that citizen whose confidence in the righteousness of his country inspired belief that its triumph is the victory of humanity.

This American soldier went forth to battle with no hatred for any people in the world, but hating war and hating the purpose of every war for conquest. He cherished our national rights, and abhorred the threat of armed domination; and in the maelstrom of destruction and suffering and death he fired his shot for liberation of the captive conscience of the world. In advancing toward his objective was somewhere a thought of a world awakened; and we are here to testify undying gratitude and reverence for that thought of a wider freedom.

On such an occasion as this, amid such a scene, our thoughts alternate between defenders living and defenders dead. A grateful Republic will be worthy of them both. Our part is to atone for the losses of heroic dead by making a better Republic for the living.

Sleeping in these hallowed grounds are thousands of Americans who have given their blood for the baptism of freedom and its maintenance, armed exponents of the Nation's conscience. It is better and nobler for their deeds. Burial here is rather more than a sign of the government's favor, it is a suggestion of a tomb in the heart of the Nation, sorrowing for its noble dead.

Today's ceremonies proclaim that the hero unknown is not unknown. We gather him to the Nation's breast, within the shadow of the Capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the Republic worthy of his death for flag and country.

Ours are lofty resolutions today, as with tribute to the dead we consecrate ourselves to a better order for the living. With all my heart, I wish we might say to the defenders who survive, to mothers who sorrow, to widows and children who mourn, that no such sacrifice shall be asked again.

It was my fortune recently to see a demonstration of modern warfare. It is no longer a conflict in chivalry, no more a test of militant manhood. It is only cruel, deliberate, scientific destruction. There was no contending enemy, only the theoretical defense of a hypothetical objective. But the attack was made with all the relentless methods of modern destruction. There was the rain of ruin from the aircraft, the thunder of artillery, followed by the unspeakable devastation wrought by bursting shells; there were mortars belching their bombs of desolation; machine guns concen-

Shooting Affray in South Carolina Theatre Results in Killing

(By The Associated Press) GREENWOOD, S. C., Nov. 11.—Deputy Sheriff T. L. Cann shot and killed Policeman H. B. Cannon, and wounded Policeman Clarence Crawford and himself was perhaps mortally wounded in an opera house at Abbeville last night. According to police, Cannon created a disturbance in the office of the theatre during a performance of minstrel. Shortly after the show closed Crawford and Policeman Stevenson attempted to take him out when Cannon began firing. Crawford was wounded in the mouth and Stevenson took him to the street. Cannon then attempted to persuade Cann to leave the building. In a pistol duel resulting Cannon was instantly killed and Cann shot thru the lungs. Cann went home alone after the shooting and is now under guard. Physicians say his chances of recovery are small. Crawford will recover.

EASTERN LINES ASK WAGE CUT OF 10 PER CENT

TO PASS FULL RESULT OF THE REDUCTIONS TO PUBLIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Immediate action will be taken to secure reductions in the wages of train and yard service employees, approximately 10 percent on all lines north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the presidents of the lines involved.

Reductions, according to L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, will be in line with the decision reached by the railroad executives in Chicago on October 14. The wage cuts will affect approximately 1,000,000 men.

The executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives will go to Washington Saturday, it was announced, to confer with members of the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the best means for bringing about a reduction in freight.

The railroad executives announced that when the 10 per cent additional wage reduction first was proposed they intended to pass the decreased cost of operation along to the public by rate cuts.

Mr. Loree said if the employees do not accede to the cuts the matter will be taken before the Railway Labor Board with request for an early hearing.

Similar action to that taken by the rail presidents here today will soon be taken by the Southern and Western railroads, the executives said. Since July 1, it was said, between eighty and ninety thousand employees have been added to the various lines.

SCHOONER AT JACKSONVILLE IDENTIFIED AS BAGDAD NO TRACE OF CREW.

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 11.—The schooner towed with bottom up to the mouth of the St. Johns river a week ago last Tuesday, by the coast guard cutter, Yamacraw, has been identified by a diver as the Bagdad, of Pensacola, 700 tons. No trace of Captain Griffith and crew has been found yet. The Bagdad normally carried nine men. The vessel put into Key West on October 16th, for repairs, and leaving there, apparently caught the force of the tropical storm last month.

Many Floats and Beautifully Decorated Cars

BRILLIANT ARRAY

OF CARS, FLOATS, YOUNG LADIES, FLOWERS, BANDS, GOOD TIMES, GREAT DAY

The greatest celebration of Armistice Day and one of the greatest celebrations ever held in Sanford started off this morning by the blowing of whistles and firing of guns at midnight and from that time until the memorial exercises at the park in which the American Legion took part and Dr. George Hyman delivered the memorial address up to the time of the great parade the city was on the qui vive and the parade made them wild. The parade was one of the longest and one of the best that has ever been staged in Sanford and is a credit to the Legion and to the public spirited citizens who made it possible. Starting at Tenth street and winding its length over the principal streets of the city it was a thing of beauty and a joy as long as it lasted. The Herald tried to get a partial write-up of the cars as they passed and we took our own car out of the parade in order to check the other cars and if any of them are left out the people who witnessed the parade will know why for it was a mammoth and a gorgeous affair and nothing like it has ever been staged in this part of the state. The line and the cars are given as they appeared in the parade:

The colors, old Glory, borne by Matt Tarbell, representing the navy and escorted by Ned Chittendon of the army and Roy Chittendon of the Marine.

DRAWBRIDGE NECESSARY AT CROSSING

TITUSVILLE AND GENEVA ROAD AND WILL BE MADE INTO FREE FERRY

Our recent efforts to have a new bridge on the Geneva-Titusville road did not mature on account of a recent ruling of the War Department that the bridge would have to be a drawbridge and the proper kind of a drawbridge would cost between $8,000 and $10,000. It will be remembered that the counties of Seminole, Volusia and Brevard at a meeting decided to build the road and bridge that would give the proper connection with the Ft. Mims and Titusville road through this county near Geneva and the bridge at this point having been burned down, had to be renewed. The county commissioners asked for assistance of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of obtaining a sufficient sum of money to supplement what the commissioners had available and build the bridge and also the road to Oseola.

This was done by the Chamber of Commerce and the sum of money needed was raised by the people of Sanford, Oviedo, Geneva, Chuluota and other points in the county. Since that time County Engineer Fred Williams has been informed that the former bridge plan will not be allowed and a steel drawbridge must be built. Since this is out of the question now the county commissioners have very wisely decided that a ferry would be much cheaper and the money that was raised will be used in making good approaches to the bridge and on the Oseola road as planned. This will give the traffic at the bridge much better accommodations than formerly as the wooden bridge was unsafe, whereas a good ferry will be much more satisfactory and being a free ferry will meet with the approval of the traveling public until such time as the counties interested can build a steel drawbridge.

We wonder at times whether a saxophone is a musical instrument or a mental disorder.

WILSON MAKING RAPID RECOVERY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Former President Wilson has made a good recovery from his recent setback and probably will be able to attend the services in honor of the unknown soldier at Arlington National cemetery on Armistice Day, his physician Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, said today.

Wilson, Grayson said is taking daily motor car rides and has attended the theatre once since he was forced to his bed by "a digestive upset." He indicated however, that it had not been definitely decided whether the former president would attend the ceremonies. Inclement weather might make it impossible for him to be present.

If Wilson attends, it will be his first appearance at an official function since he hobbled to the capitol on inauguration day to take a brief part in the ceremonies.

WOMEN POLICEMEN FOR JACKSONVILLE.

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 8.—Mayor Martin has announced his intention of appointing two or three additional women police here whose duty it will be to keep a watchful eye upon young girls. Two women, Mrs. J. D. Alderman, president of the Duval County Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. H. I. Nivens, vice president of the organization, who were given special police powers sometime ago, have been supplied with badges by the mayor.

IRISH PEACE CLIMAX WILL COME THURSDAY.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A climax on the Irish situation will be reached Thursday.

On that day the Ulster cabinet will confer with Premier Lloyd George on the proposed settlement, requiring certain concessions by that district.

Should the Ulsterites refuse to consider the compromise proposition, it was believed certain Lloyd George would carry out his threat to resign.

BETTER SPEECH WEEK SUCCESS AT HIGH SCHOOL

CAMPAIGN BY TEACHERS AND SCHOLARS WILL BEAR FRUIT

Monday morning the program for Better Speech Week began with a chapel talk to the High School students made by R. J. Holly in his usual genial style. Mr. Holly is recognized by all S. H. S. as one of its best friends and consequently his words about "Good Speech as a Commercial Asset" were fully taken to heart. During that day the posters made for the contest conducted by the Welfare Department of the Women's Club were on exhibit at the High School. Since then these have been placed in various show windows about town. Nan Paxton's is in Speer's window; Byron Stephens in Bower & Roumillat's Drug Store; Rodman Lehman's at Newberry's and Edward McCalley's in Brady's Jewelry store window.

The second chapel talk was made Tuesday at 10:30 by Miss Ora Williams of the Expression Department of the public schools. Her subject was "The Human Voice" on which she gave a free expression lesson, which was fully appreciated by all the students. An entertaining recitation added charm to her words of advice.

The High School students were particularly fortunate in having secured Dr. Wm. Fremont Blackman for chapel on Wednesday.

Thursday's chapel included talks by Pattye Lyles and Edward Henderson, a reading by Mae Holly and at 2:45 p. m. the awarding of prizes in the poster, play and story contests, as well as the presentation of two short plays under the direction of Mrs. Maxwell and Miss Williams.

Dr. Blackman made an eloquent address. Speaking in behalf of Better Speech Dr. Blackman, former president of Rollins College, made an eloquent address yesterday morning to the high school students and faculty on the subject, "Some Masters of the English Language." Dr. Blackman spoke of English as a beautiful and efficient language which we are fortunate to be privileged to speak and urged that we do all in our power to conserve and enrich it. Then in a sympathetic yet discriminating way he spoke of the seven masters of the English language which had made the strongest appeal to him. As the greatest of these masterpieces he named the King James' version of the Bible, and as other powerfully stimulating works the labors of Bunyan, DeFoe, Lincoln, Stevenson, Carlyle and Woodrow Wilson.

The address was one of the most beautiful and inspiring which Sanford High School students have ever been privileged to hear and fully proved Dr. Blackman, himself, one of the great masters of our language.

There are few marble palaces in this country, but we have a House composed largely of ivory.

And polishing makes one's work seem lighter. Well, perhaps in time the chorus will try it.

Republican Stronghold In Virginia Succumbs to Deom. Onslaught

Democratic Majority Will Range From 15,000 to 18,000

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Nov. 10.—Latest returns from the Ninth Virginia Congressional district heretofore regarded as only great Republican stronghold in state, gave Trinkle, Democratic candidate for governor a majority ranging from fifteen to eighteen hundred over Henry W. Anderson, Republican. This is the first Democratic victory in the Ninth District since 1898.

OLDEST ODD FELLOW OF NORTH CAROLINA DIES.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 9.—C. H. Beine, 87 oldest Odd Fellow in North Carolina and grand representative of the order to the Sovereign Grand Lodge which met in Toronto, Canada, last month, died at his home here last night, following an attack of acute indigestion, which he suffered while attending a Masonic lodge meeting. Mr. Beine was born in Pennsylvania and came to Raleigh shortly after the war between the States.

RADIUM DISAPPEARS

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 9.—A tube of radium valued at $6,500 and owned by a syndicate of local physicians, has disappeared from a local hospital for women, where it had been used on a patient.

It is believed one of the nurses threw the tube down a sewer when emptying what the nurse thought was refuse. The tube was insured and an adjuster is to come today to investigate the loss. The sewer connections have been torn up at the hospital in an effort to find the missing radium.

AMPLE AID IN FLORIDA FOR CATTLE INDUSTRY ASSURED BY NEW BANK

pany were agreed upon, as indicated in the following letter of confirmation from Chairman Eugene Meyer, Jr., addressed to members of the subcommittee:

"In the conference between the board of directors and yourself this morning you informed us that you expected that a new cattle loan company, with approximately $250,000 subscribed capital, would shortly be formed to take care of cattle loans in Florida and Georgia, and that it was supposed that this cattle loan company make loans to cattle raisers who are in a position to comply with the following terms:

1.—All cattle upon which loans are predicted shall be confined in ample pastures or ranges owned, leased or otherwise controlled, by the borrower, in such a manner that the herd or herds may be conveniently inspected at any time by representatives of the war finance corporation. Such enclosed pastures or ranges to have an adequate water supply for the cattle, and sufficient dipping vats for tick eradication purposes. In the case of a lease, same shall be for such time as the war finance corporation may deem necessary for the protection of the loan.

2.—That loans be made only on cattle in tick free areas, or in counties which have voted in favor of tick eradication; this provision being necessary in order that cattle on which loans are made may have access to the market before maturity of the loan.

I am glad to be able to inform you that the war finance corporation is ready to consider applications from such a live stock company, operating in accordance with these terms.

Very truly yours,
EUGENE MEYER, Jr.,
Managing Director.

Chairman Meyer, of the war Finance Corporation has made it known that the credits which the corporation is prepared to extend to the cattle raisers of Georgia and Florida are liberal in the extreme, and members of the Atlanta agency representing Florida declare that they will be amply sufficient to meet the needs of the industry in Florida and Georgia.

Cattle loans have already been made extensively in the western states and many cattle banks have been organized to secure a proffered aid for their respective communities. In those cases the aid has been usually on the basis of ten dollars to each dollar of capital stock paid into the bank, and it is expected that this will probably be the basis in Florida, though no definite statement as to this was forthcoming today. It was brought out at the last Washington conference that the aid extended the west by the finance corporation through the cattle banks, new and old, has resulted in relieving the financial stress of the industry to such an extent that cattle owners have not been forced to put their stock on the market at a sacrifice and already an increase in the value of cattle of not less than $10 a head is apparent by the market prices.

The fullest measure of co-operation on the part of owners of grazing lands is urged in a resolution which was adopted at a late meeting of the Atlanta agency. Floridians owning lands are asked particularly to assist insofar as possible. The part of the resolution discussing this phase of relief follows:

"And be it further resolved, That land owners are urged to lease grazing lands to cattle owners on a nominal basis of rent in order that the cattlemen may thus be enabled to comply with one of the conditions necessary for a loan and to thereby assist in fostering the cattle industry of the state."

According to members of the Florida committee, such aid as is secured for Florida must be secured before July 1, 1922, when under the law the war finance corporation must begin liquidating. However, the loans extended may run for a period of three years from the date they originate.

In the letter from Managing Director Meyer it is to be seen that the war finance corporation has laid down certain prescribed rules which must be complied with before loans are extended, and these may be expected to have an important bearing in assisting Florida in developing more tick-free territory.

Only one bank through which the corporation will operate in Florida is expected to be organized in Florida and it is designed to operate in two states. Bartow was selected as the point for its location because it is one of the central points in Florida as related to the cattle industry. Its president is one of the most popular fi-

ARMISTICE DAY.

It was three years ago when the whistles aroused everyone from bed and told them to get up and celebrate the signing of the peace pact or armistice that would stop the fighting until terms could be arranged. It all came so suddenly and almost like a bolt from the clear sky and just when we were wondering how many of our boys would be killed and how many wounded, and how many missing, for it seemed that they would be forced to go through another winter on foreign soil with all its attendant influenza and wounds and agony. The surrender of the German army on November 11th, then meant so much to the watching and waiting ones. It meant so much to those at home as well as those boys who were over there fighting and waiting and eating their hearts out for the chance to get across. It meant so much to all of us here in the land of the free and the home of the brave, and then when the 11th ushered in the great day, how we celebrated, and how we sang, and how we shouted, and went perfectly wild for pure joy. And then the attendant joy of the home-coming of the boys, and the promises never to forget their deeds and trials and suffering and yet how soon, how soon. But we are not bringing up any complaints today, any charges or any forebodings. This is the day of joy and thanksgiving, and cheer, and a good time for everybody.

Armistice Day means more to us now than any other day on the calendar, and Sanford is showing the true spirit by putting on one of the biggest celebrations in Florida. Sanford can always be depended upon to do this, and we are doing it today.

Have a good time, all of you visitors. Have a good time, all of you "buddies." Have a good time, all of you fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers of the Legion men. This is your day, and their day, and they should have full need of praise and good wishes. And this goes for veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Confederate Veterans, and the G. A. R., and all the veterans of all wars, everywhere. All of you have upheld the traditions of America, no matter where you shouldered the musket, no matter what the cause, no matter what the result. You have been soldiers, you have had soldier's wives, sisters, mothers, sweethearts.

We have all gone through the fiery furnace. Let us rejoice today that it is over, and let us pray that it may never occur again.

"ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKEN"

Under the leadership of the Literary Digest which is furthering the observance of "Better Speech Week" throughout the country, people are being brought to foreswear careless enunciation, ungrammatical construction, mispronunciations, the use of slang and poor choice of words for the duration of this week, the underlying object of course being that what endures for seven days may exist for seven more and thus lay a foundation for a decided improvement in the American use of English. In a full page devoted to the subject the Literary Digest goes on to suggest that the school room should be the headquarters for any campaign that deals with the improvement of American speech, and presents the following pledge written by Grace Williamson Willet of the Chicago Woman's Club, for the consideration of every pupil in the High School and grammar school departments:

- "I love the United States of America, I love my country's flag, I love my country's language. I promise:
1.—That I will not dishonor my country's speech by leaving off the last syllables of words;
2.—That I will say a good American 'yes' and 'no' instead of an Indian grunt 'umhum' and 'nupum' or a foreign 'ya' or 'yeh' and 'nopa';
3.—That I will improve American speech by enunciating distinctly and by speaking pleasantly and sincerely;
4.—That I will try to make my country's language beautiful for the many boys and girls of foreign nations who come here to live;
5.—That I will learn to articulate correctly one word a day for one year."

Attention to this all-important subject need not stop with the children for they are not the only ones who are in error in murdering their mother tongue. The youngsters hear slipshod English all about them (yes, even in the school room) and any campaign that is to end in the real uplift of our standards must of necessity have the co-operation of those whose example bears such weight with the young folks. Continued use of slang and a slipshod method of expression—these are indications of a poverty of mind which no person should care to advertise to the world. If "Better Speech Week" shows to some, their deficiencies in this regard the excuse for ordaining a special week (a custom grown far too frequent these days) will have been found.—St. Augustine Record.

CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY WITH PRAYERS FOR PEACE.

Three years ago tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the morning, the last gun was fired in the greatest and most devastating war the world had ever known; a war that slaughtered more young men, made more widows and more orphans, and entailed more misery on all the world, than all the wars which had preceded it since men first began slaying each other. Nearly two thousand years of growing civilization and proachment of the Christian doctrine of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men," had engendered the hope and belief that there would never again be a great war. Vain belief! With the suddenness and fury of a cyclone the great war broke on a shuddering and fearful world.

Men forgot the teachings of centuries and rushed to kill, with all the fury and savagery of wild beasts. Christianity, civilization and common humanity lost place in the minds and hearts of men, and were replaced by a beastly lust for the blood of their fellow men. Science was called on to invent engines of destruction more deadly than had ever before been known. For four long years the combat raged on the earth, in the air, and under the water of the sea. Millions of homes were desolated, and peaceful peasants with their wives and little ones were turned out to wander and starve. The achievements of centuries in art and science were ruthlessly destroyed, with no thought of the future. Great empires toppled over as if made of cards, and kings, kaisers and czars lost their thrones and even their lives. Trade and commerce were stagnated, for all the thoughts and acts of men were devoted to war and destruction. It was a time of wild and ferocious insanity that affected the whole world, and only ceased when complete exhaustion compelled a stop.

Finally with the submission of the central powers, came the armistice, and the fighting ceased on November 11, 1918. All the world rejoiced that the awful carnage was ended at last, and America was especially jubilant, for we had four million of our young men in battle array, with two millions of them over seas fighting the common enemy. We have our souvenirs of the conflict in thousands of whose sons and fathers lie under the lilies and poppies of France and Flanders, or have been brought back for Christian burial in their beloved home land. Tomorrow the great nations of the world will begin a meeting in Washington, with the hope of making a recurrence of such an awful calamity forever impossible. All America, and all the world indeed, will pray to God above that their efforts may prove successful.—Tampa Times.

ARMISTICE DAY MESSAGE.

The following "Armistice Day Message" is issued by the Federal Council of Churches, which is composed of 30 communions with 20,000,000 members, to be read by the pastors to their congregations on Friday: "Today we solemnize the valorous sacrificial service of those who went to take our part in the great war for the defending of the cause of world freedom and world peace. In bringing the body of the unknown soldier to our national cemetery we symbolize our undying gratitude to him and to all whom he represents. "But this is not only a day of sacred and grateful remembering of those who gave themselves for their country and the cause to which their country pledged its all. It is a day when, turning from this fresh-made grave, we face the responsibility which their suffering and sacrifice have made ours. That responsibility, heightened by the fact that God has prospered us beyond other peoples, has prompted us to invite the leading nations to confer as to how the suffering, struggling peoples of the earth may be relieved of the crushing loads of armament and the suspicions and fears and animosities engendered by colossal military and naval equipment. "Let us raise thankful hearts to God, the Creator and Ruler of nations, for the measureless blessings He has bestowed upon us, and let us dedicate ourselves to the services of mankind. "Let us pray God's blessing, resting in special measure on the Conference that gathers on this Memorial Day, may mark the beginning of a new era in human history. "Let us pray that America as a nation may be filled with the spirit of that great Leader of Mankind who taught that men should love their enemies and that service is the true way of greatness and of life."

PARDON, LYNN, PARDON

Lynn Bloom, of the Lakeland Star, sends us a postal in which he states that he will stick our saintly head in the Atlantic ocean at Bimini for crediting his fine editorial, "Alone But Not Forgotten" to the Telegram instead of the Star. We beg your pardon old chap. We were thinking of you when we copied the editorial for it sounded so much like your sentiments and certainly echoed our sentiments—that's why we copied it. Don't know how we came to give credit to dear old Harry Brown and know that he does not want anything that is not coming to him. We have acquired the habit of running so many editorials from both of the excellent Lakeland papers that we can be excused if we got them mixed once in a while. And again, Lynn, old chap, you will not dip our head in the ocean for it looks like we will not see Bimini or the ocean on the 20th. Sorry, but it can't be helped.

With a daily boat leaving Jacksonville for New York, the Clyde Line Steamship Co., should be able to move an enormous amount of the citrus crop to northern markets. That will mean lots of good money saved to the growers that otherwise would go to the railroad companies.—DeLand News.

All the world is enjoying a holiday except the editor of the daily paper. He is obliged to stay on the job and get the news regardless. People want their daily paper even if they are on a vacation and it is up to us to give them service. Well, when it comes to service, we have it, and we certainly want the people to have the Daily Herald regardless.

Armistice Day is fast displacing the Fourth of July as the National holiday in America, and no one is sorry. The grand and glorious Fourth was becoming more or less of a nuisance, with its fire crackers and cannons, and fireworks, and waste of money and accidents and noise. We can celebrate Armistice Day in a more quiet and subdued manner and no one is hurt—much.

People are making a lot of fuss over Henry Ford's remark that "all history is bunk." We quite agree with Henry. All history is more or less bunk. Take the present day stuff; that will some day be history. No man sees an event the same, no man writes about that event the same, no witness in court tells the same story. All history is bound to be more or less bunk. This whole life is more or less bunk.

We feel sorry for Youngstown, Ohio. It has just elected a frank mayor, a man who had only been in the city four months and his platform includes the abolishing of the city traction line, allows spooning in the public parks and the promise to turn his salary over to charity. It is said that he was elected by the women's votes. We do not believe it. Florida elected a man one time of that calibre and the women were not even voting.

SOAP VERSUS ROUGE

Any Berkeley, Calif., high school girl who appears in class with cheeks rouged and lips painted will be escorted to the washroom and treated to a thorough face wash. This is a warning of the girls' association which has voted to put an end to make-up.

The determination of the student body to abolish the vulgarities of rouge and lip stick is to be commended. But the strenuous method of enforcement is open to question. Doubtless the mere suggestion will help to hold wavering slaters in line. But any girl who decided definitely to go counter to the consensus of opinion could make it very unpleasant for hardy enthusiasts who laid forcible hands upon her. Young girls are pretty wise and it is doubtful if the matter will be carried to a final issue in any instance. In case of extreme obstinacy on the part of any young exterior decorator social annihilation would probably be more effective and less difficult than rougher methods of regeneration.—Palatka News.

We understand some such measure will be taken at Sanford High if any of the girls try to be facial artists.

BRYAN'S HERE

A cloud is on Nebraska and it hides the shining sun,
The golden wheat and verdant corn are uniformly dun;
Old-timers wag their bearded jaws nor whittle any whit,
For news has come to give them pause, the Peerless says he's quit.

The hat is out of Omaha and Lincoln's lost its link;
Up where the Niobrara runs, the current's turned to ink,
No cross of gold refulgent now her coat of arms adorns—
Yea, all that decks Nebraska's brow is just a crown of thorns!

The savor's gone from politics. Dissolved in tears in Platte—
It's orator has gone who put the pep in Democrat.
Shut down each press that first would wait to chronicle his nod,
Put up the shutters on the state and write there "Ichabod."

Yet in a soft and soothing clime, where all is bright and fair
His lures and penates have made their legal fair,
From Tallahassee to the Keys all Florida's a-goat,
While "Bryan," whispers every breeze, Miami gets his vote!
—Jacksonville Observer.

WORK IS HARD ON ARTISTS

Singing into the Recording Horn Conceded to Be a Nerve-Racking Experience.

Music is a lot trickier to can than penches or pears, remarks Farm and Fire-side.

When you play one of your phonograph records you have no idea how hard it may have been to get that melody "preserved." You are listening to the result of a lot of mighty hard work, which may have included considerable storming by the director and tears on the part of the artist. Some artists simply cannot sing for the records at all, while others are nervous wrecks for days after a session of recording.

To sing into a recording horn may look easy—just as it may look easy for a baseball player to hit a ball over the fence for a home run—but in reality it is one of the most difficult, nerve-racking things anyone can attempt.

On the concert stage a singer with a good voice may make little mistakes without the audience noticing them. If he has an attractive presence and an engaging manner, he may even sing a bit off key and yet make a hit. But the wax master record is a relentless mirror, with no mercy for the imperfections that the average artist—like other human beings—is guilty of. The slightest waver or strain in the voice, the slightest deviation from the true pitch, comes out badly. And the very fear of making these mistakes and flaws "hundred" most singers into making them.

The result is that many a popular stage artist has met defeat in the laboratory.

WAR ON SCREW-WORM FLIES

Traps Have Proved Effective Methods of Getting Rid of Human and Animal Pests.

The use of flytraps for catching screw-worm flies is a new idea as a means of combating those abominable insects, and has already proved decidedly effective. They are a first-class pest in some parts of this country, and especially in southwest Texas, Cattle and other livestock suffer much from their attacks, their habit being to lay eggs in any sort of wound.

The larvae hatched from the eggs bore into the tissues, feeding upon them and doing most destructive mischief. When ready to transform into pupae, they come out, drop to the ground and bury themselves to await metamorphosis into flies. The screw-worm flies are typical meat flies, and the carcass of any dead animal quickly becomes a hatchery for them. Hence, in the region afflicted by them, it is very important that all carcasses shall be promptly destroyed, preferably by burning. Occasionally it happens that human beings are attacked. A fly crawls up the nostrils of a sleeping person and lays its eggs. The larvae hatched from them invade the sinuses, and death is likely to result. —Milwaukee Sentinel.

Squirrels and Robins Fight.

A fierce lawn battle between forces of squirrels and robins has been observed in Mount Vernon, N. Y. The squirrels and robins on Eleventh avenue, Mount Vernon, have declared war upon each other, and each day the battles are waging bigger and fiercer. Residents on Eleventh avenue have for some time thrown peanuts on their lawns for the squirrels and bread crusts for the birds of the neighborhood. Three weeks ago a few robins after eating the bread helped themselves to peanuts, and the squirrels ran away. The first day a few squirrels attacked the robins and there was a short but furious fight in which the squirrels saved their suppers. The second day about twenty robins swooped down and the squirrels were routed. The third day the squirrels returned reinforced by an equal number and there was a battle royal for a quarter of an hour. It was a drawn battle, both sides leaving most of their peanuts and crusts on the field.

Light on the Depths.

It is said that at a depth of only 200 fathoms the light of the unclouded sun penetrating the ocean is reduced to equality with the starlight of a clear night on the surface. At more profound depths the sunlight is entirely extinguished. Yet there are both light and color in the abysses, and at the bottom of the sea. The light is of phosphorescent origin, and it may be remarked that in general the fixed marine forms of life are not behind their free swimming allies in light-emitting powers. There are illuminations produced by the movements of abyssal fishes through the forests of phosphorescent sea-pens, fan corals, red corals, and other Abyssinians. The colors of deep-sea animals are both brilliant and varied.

Japan's Fight on Hydrophobia.

The Japanese are inoculating dogs instead of people to prevent rabies, which is now "ubiquitous" in that country, says the New York Evening Post. The bacteriologist Umami and his coworkers at the Kitasato Institute for Infectious Diseases have perfected a method of prophylactic inoculation that can be given the dog in one or two shots. In all, 31,002 dogs have been treated and in not a single instance has any one of them been found suffering from rabies. Instead of the usual methods of killing mad and stray dogs, the Japanese medical experts are advocating inoculation of all the dogs of Japan.

WILL WEAR 'EM LONGER BUT NOT VERY LONG COUNTRY IS SAFE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—More women are rallying to the short skirt standard and voicing a protest against the threatened invasion of the ankle length hem, which Paris approves and is already sending over.

Midway between knee and ankle is the accepted length, according to women interviewed yesterday. As Miss Mary Wood, president of the Women's Republic State Association and now in charge of the women's division of the Curran headquarters, expressed it: "Skirts should reach to the top of the old-fashioned shoe. We don't wear high shoes any more, but that's where the skirt should come. That's a reasonable and sanitary length and it covers most defects. It escapes car steps and is sanitary. Short skirts became so short that they were almost eliminated and you saw nothing but silk stockings. I'm tired of that effect. Moderation is what I want to see in our styles, moderation and comfort, and we can't be comfortable in long skirts."

Mrs. Emma Kip Edwards, president of the Colonial Club, is another ally of the short skirt forces. "We ought to wear them short, of course," she declared. "It's the only way to have our skirts. But when I say short, I mean a moderate height, not up to the knees so you can see the garter. Eight inches is about the right height from the ground. Almost any woman of any age can wear 'hat height' for the street."

Mrs. Mable Russell, secretary of the League of Women Voters, advocates a skirt that reaches from seven to eight inches above the ground. "I like a respectable length. It's what we used to call short before they began wearing their skirts up to the knees. Extremely short skirts are not only unattractive but they are out of place for business. Ankle length is too long for practical purposes. The medium length is what we want."

Mrs. Dora Thompson, assistant to the principal of the Washington Irving High School, who has more than 6,000 girl pupils in her care, stands for comfort and conservation. "The only sensible skirt to wear is one that means one that does not get in the dust and yet is not of exaggerated height. School girls and women in business could never work comfortably and get about in skirts that reach to the ankles."

Mrs. Noble McConnell, president of the Mozart Club, which held a rehearsal at the Astor Hotel, declared "Paris has nothing on us. We can stand on our own feet in America. There are no smarter groomed or better looking women in the world than in New York. Instead of our listening to what Paris says about lengthening or shortening our skirts, we can tell Paris what to wear. French dress-makers know that the leadership in fashions is slipping away from them, hence the outcry about our changing into their accepted longer skirts. The short skirt is sanitary, it is comfortable and it is becoming—I mean the moderately short skirt its trains are abominable and should be forever abolished, even on evening gowns, except for court occasions."

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Looks like nice winter weather and bullewe us we want some of it. Not that real cold weather but some of that nice cool, growing weather that will allow us to have a big time today and tonight and then be nice for the vegetable growers. It takes this kind of weather for the proper growing of vegetables and it takes clear weather for the American Legion to forget France—last year it looked like we would have to make some "duck boards" for the lake front. But today, it is fine except for those young ladies in the flimsies who will freeze to death before the parade is over. But this is Armistice Day and everything goes—even the weather.

MUST LET EMPLOYEES VOTE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Co. was found guilty today of refusing to permit twenty-five employees to absent themselves from work for two hours with pay to vote in the primaries last April. Judge Frank Righimer, in county court, fined the company $100 in each of the twenty-five cases. An appeal will be taken to test the law requiring employers to pay for the time employees spend in voting.

MATTER OF DEATH IN DOUBT.

Authorities Puzzled as to Whether Being Pronounced Dead Makes Him Legally So.

At Ft. Williams, United States district attorney for Kansas, received a letter a short time ago making his opinion as to the status of a person upon whom a death sentence has been executed, who has been legally pronounced dead, but afterwards regains consciousness and recovers.

The case cited was that of five bandits who were convicted of highway robbery in the province of Cagayan Philippine Islands, and sentenced to die by the old Spanish method of strangulation. After the execution the five bandits were placed on the floor of a church to await funeral rites in the morning. In the night three regained consciousness. Two of the three died "again" in a couple of days, but one recovered, although left in a deformed condition.

The questions asked are whether the bandit who lived could be strangled again, or, if he could not, would the fact that he was legally pronounced dead prevent his being tried in the courts if he committed another crime. Mr. Williams wrote an opinion to the inquiring person, declaring that he believed that an order could be obtained from the court setting aside the first execution as having never been performed and another one ordered.

His opinion was that if the bandit were not killed, finally, he could be held amenable for other crimes, although legally he was not in existence.

"Of course," Mr. Williams said, "you will probably find as many lawyers and judges disagreeing with my opinion as concurring."

FLED FROM CHEESE BARRAGE

Commander of Brazilian Warship Thought Some New Kind of Bomb Was Being Used.

Probably the strangest and most curious use to which cheese was ever put occurred in a naval battle between Brazil and Uruguay in the mid-nineteenth century, records the Intelligence.

The Uruguay ship, commanded by Captain Coe, in the midst of the battle became exhausted of shot. A lieutenant reported the facts to Coe. "Powder all gone?" asked Coe. "No, sir; lots of that yet."

"We had a darned hard cheese—a round Dutch one—for desert at dinner today; do you remember it?" said Coe. "I ought to; I broke the carving knife in trying to cut it, sir."

"Are there any more aboard?"

"About two dozen. We took them from a drawer."

"Will they go in the 18-pounders?"

"By thunder, commodore, but that's the ideal. I'll try 'em."

And in a few minutes the bombardment from Coe's ship reopened, and the enemy found more shot flying over their heads. At last one shot struck the mainmast, scattering the bits of cheese far and wide. Then another came. Then four or five more slapped against the masts. The enemy commander, unable to decide what was happening, and thinking that a new kind of bomb was being used on him, became terrorized and ordered his boat to back away. Little did he know that he was retreating from a barrage of Dutch cheese.

Lakes for Tourists.

Fresh-air lakes are to be found in great numbers and of all sizes along the coast of Alaska, says the American Forestry Magazine. The Chugach forest has its full share, two which are typical and easily accessible to the tourist, being Eyak lake, near Cordova, along the south shore of which runs the Copper river and Northwestern railroad, and Kennel lake, which is in the heart of the massive range some twenty miles north of Seward and is reached by the government railroad skirting one shore.

trating their leaden storms; there was the infantry, advancing, firing, and falling—like men with souls sacrificing for the decision. The flying missiles were revealed by illuminating tracers, so that we could note their flight and appraise their deadliness. The air was streaked with tiny flames marking the flight of massed destruction; while the effectiveness of the theoretical defense was impressed by the stimulation of dead and wounded among those going forward, undaunted and unbeseeching. As this panorama of unutterable destruction visualized the horrors of modern conflict, there grew on me the sense of the failure of a civilization which can leave its problems to such cruel arbitrament. Surely no one in authority, with human attributes and a full appraisal of the patriotic loyalty of his countrymen, could ask the manhood of kingdom, empire, or republic to make such sacrifice until all reason had failed, until appeal to justice through understanding had been denied, until every effort of love and consideration for fellow men had been exhausted, until freedom itself and inviolate honor had been brutally threatened.

I speak not as a pacific fearing war, but as one who loves justice and hates war. I speak as one who believes the highest function of government is to give its citizens the security of peace, the opportunity to achieve, and the pursuit of happiness.

The loftiest tribute we can bestow today—the heroically earned tribute—fashioned in deliberate conviction, out of unclouded thought, neither shadowed by remorse nor made vain by fancies, is the commitment of this Republic to an advancement never made before. If American achievement is a cherished pride at home, if our unselfishness among nations is all we wish it to be, and ours is a helpful example in the world, then let us give of our influence and strength, you, of our aspirations and convictions, to put mankind on a little higher plane, exulting and exalting, with war's distressing and depressing tragedies barred from the stage of righteous civilization.

There have been a thousand defenses justly and patriotically made; a thousand offenses which reason and righteousness ought to have stayed. Let us beseech all men to join us in seeking the rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail.

Standing today on hallowed ground, conscious that all America has halted to share in the tribute of heart and mind and soul to this fellow American, and knowing that the world is noting this expression of the Republic's mindfulness, it is fitting to say that his sacrifice, and that of the millions dead, shall not be in vain. There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare.

As we return this poor clay to its mother soil, garlanded by love and covered with the decorations that only nations can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice Day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men. Let me join in that prayer:

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen!

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. West and son, Leonard; Mr. and Mrs. Cramer and children, motored down to the Formosa sanitarium Sunday afternoon to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lundquist have a nice new Ford touring car just purchased last week.

Mrs. W. C. Meador has been quite ill for a few days from an ulcerated tooth and Dr. Marshall and the dentist came out to remove it; Mrs. August Swanson also assisted with the neighbors in caring for her.

Mrs. Westerlind and Mrs. Beck called on Monday to see Mrs. Albert Cruse and baby, Alice Marie, in Sanford. Baby was named after Mrs. Flits, who so kindly cared for the mother during her long illness with malarial fever. The family are expecting to remove this week to New Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. August Swanson and Archie; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lundquist and children, were Sunday callers to see Mrs. Nell Swanson, who recently had another bad fall, wrenching her back.

Mrs. V. C. Collier is spending the day, Thursday, at the home of her nephew, Charles Cramer, and wife. They are having Mr. Stafford out putting them down a well.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tyrner entertained on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krell and Dorothy, Miss Eunice Tyrner and Mrs. Benston, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Fry, from Windermere, and Mr. and Mrs. Jameson and Mr. R. Bb, of Sanford, were callers.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. West, who have been camping out for some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Westerlind, have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Campbell, though they cannot give immediate possession, but they have moved their camp thereon. We shall welcome them as neighbors but are sorry indeed to lose Mr. and Mrs. Campbell from our locality.

A number of our people, about 30, gathered Tuesday evening, at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lundquist, in spite of the threatening weather in honor of the birthday of the host. Of course they had a good time as we always do when we get together, cakes and coffee being served for refreshments; the unpleasant part was the getting home.

Rev. Albertson brought over Rev. J. S. Clark, of near Sanford, and he preached for us at Upsala, last Sunday.

There is a movement on foot, and just between us, we think Rev. A., is the moving force in it, to have Rev. Clarke, minister to the churches at Lake Mary, Upsala, Paola and Sorrento, giving them each a proportionate amount of his time. Lake Mary has pledged her amount of $20 per month, Wednesday evening, and the amount was nearly pledged last Sunday at this place, and if any wish to help in providing this for our spiritual food will they kindly give their name and amount per month to Geo. Ballinger and wife, or Mrs. John Borell.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Beck attended the wedding of Miss May Thrasher and J. D. Woodruff, his nephew, at the Presbyterian church in Sanford.

Mahoney & Walker are putting down a well for Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Westerlind and Mr. Westerlind is re-siding their house, himself. They are expecting company as his sister, Mrs. Geo. Benton and daughter, Miss Alice, of Rochester, N. Y., are leaving this week for Florida, and Mrs. Westerlind's only living brother, Mr. Seymour Pritchard and wife, of Norwood, N. Y., are leaving for Boston, coming this way by boat.

We are pleased to have with us some new faces at the church service on Sunday, among them, Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch and little daughters, Mr. Bridgeman's children, and Mr. Malm. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bertelson en-

PRESERVING HER BEAUTY

Miss Caroline Valentine does not care how ugly she looks when she is engaged in playing hockey on the field. She disguises herself with this grotesque makeup which prevents her from having her beauty marred, should she be struck by the ball during the heat of the play. At the Philadelphia Cricket club grounds she was in the line-up when the All-Philadelphia Ladies' hockey team met the British champion hockey players.

HAVE APPRECIATION OF LIGHT

Citizens of Colorado Town Realize What It Means to Secure the Needed Power.

You who live in cities where the electricity is a thing to be taken for granted, requiring only the pressing of a button, would appreciate it more if you could see what has to be done in Green Mountain Falls, Colo., before we have any light.

In the first place, we don't have any electric light at all until 6 or 6:30 o'clock in the evening. And the only reason that we have that, is because the men who manage the power plant, which is situated almost at the very top of a mountain, start their long and far-from-easy climb every night about 5:30 and turn on the lights for us.

It may sound very simple and all that, but if you could see the speck that is the power house, way, way up there against the side of an exceedingly steep and rocky mountain, you would change your mind about it. They say the climb is about a mile. And sometimes in the midst of a severe thunder storm, when the rain is hurling itself down the mountain, and the falls are roaring in stentorian tones, and the trees are straining and moaning in the wind, you wonder that the men ever reach the top at all, and are more than thankful when the lights finally go on. For that is our only way of knowing that the men have reached there safely.—Kansas City Star.

Weather Affects Watch Springs.

Did you ever have the mainspring of a watch break? If you did, the chances are that this occurred in thunderstorm weather, writes C. A. Briggs in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been the experience of many jewelers that in thunderstorm seasons the number of broken watch mainsprings increases greatly. This has been erroneously ascribed, though somewhat vaguely, to the effect of electricity, magnetism, and of the noise from the thunder, but an analysis of the explanations attempted fails to develop any reasonable relation in accord with these ideas.

This matter has recently been made the subject of scientific study. It was finally found to arise from the fact that at this time of the year the air was both warm and moist, and that both of these conditions facilitated rusting. A small spot of rust often starts on the spring or in a crack, and the spring soon weakens and lets go.

EAST SANFORD

W. W. Dressor received a message Sunday evening that Mrs. Dressor's mother, Mrs. Lovica M. Paige, had passed away at her home in Watertown, N. Y., at noon after an illness of fifteen weeks. Mrs. Paige was 89 years old the 7th of last June. She was well known here, having been here several winters. Mrs. Dressor has been with her mother since the first week of her illness. Her many friends here sympathize with her in the loss of her dear mother.

It seems to be the opinion of many of the growers that the rain which came in torrents here Tuesday night, did more damage to young plants than the rain of a few weeks ago. Everything had been worked out since the big storm and looked fine again.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Richards, of Loraine, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Richards, of Lakewood, Ohio, have been guests of their relatives, the Corpany's and Chorpensing's this week. They are driving through to St. Petersburg to spend the winter.

Mr. C. B. Tyler is spending some time in Jacksonville as guest of his friends.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Dressor, of Watertown, N. Y., are in Lake Helen, for the winter and drove over in their Grant Six sedan, Sunday for the day, with their nephew, W. W. Dressor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Corpany, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Chorpensing and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellsworth, made a party Sunday and drove over the hills of Orange and Lake counties, and picnicked at the lake side pavilion at Tavares. Everywhere the ground in the groves were covered with fruit from the big wind of a few weeks ago.

Miss Hoskins Jones is expected home this week after a month's stay at various points in the north; spending this week at Washington.

Mrs. J. W. Corley has been quite ill with grip. Mrs. L. A. Brumley is reported as having also been ill.

Mrs. R. C. Long, of Richmond avenue, entertained a party of little girls for her daughter, Kathleen's birthday, on Saturday from 2 to 5. The guests were Lenore Shacer, Martha Flits, Jennie May Brown, Louise Fortson, Elnore Cameron, Alys Chorpensing, Beatrice and Annie Merl Bledsoe Eunice and Marjory Dorton, Mildred and Margaret Ferguson, Gretchen Long, Lonovec Kathleen Long. Many pretty gifts were received, and all kinds of jolly games were enjoyed. Delicious cake and ice cream was served at the delightful finish of a very happy afternoon.

The first vegetables to be shipped out of here this season are early cabbage from Walter Raulerson's field, and lettuce from L. Royce's, sold to John Rumley for express shipments.

Coal From Spitzbergen.

A few months ago the first Holland contingent of engineers and coal miners embarked for Spitzbergen to work the extensive coal properties recently acquired by a group of well-known Holland commercial men. The first cargo of Spitzbergen coal arrived at Rotterdam, August 11, direct from the mines of the Netherlands-Spitzbergen company. Notwithstanding the high freight rates, it has been shown that Spitzbergen coal can be laid down in Holland at a price lower than that paid for English or German coal. Easy access to the coal beds and economical working of the mines make these cheaper deliveries to Holland possible. Enormous amounts of coal are available.

Machine Measures Golf Drive.

Golf enthusiasts bent upon developing an ability to make long drives can measure their progress by means of a machine which has been invented to record accurately the length of drives. The machine consists of a steel pole on the top of which is a dial to the mechanism of which is attached a cord. The golf ball is attached to the end of this cord. When the player strikes the ball the force of the drive is recorded on the dial and the length of the drive, had the ball not been held by the cord, can be determined.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

BOSTON TO LOS ANGELES

Lots of the boys kicked when they had to hike a few miles during the late war, but others so enjoyed it that they still insist on hiking, even though they are out of the army. Take for instance, Tom M. Harney of Boston. Tom desired to attend the American Legion meet in Kansas City, and to visit a few buddies at Los Angeles, so he picked up his old hiking outfit and started on foot to Los Angeles.

European Paper Money.

In every European country the war produced a flood of paper money. With the exception of Great Britain, great issues were made everywhere of notes of very low value. The more desperate the situation, the more the recourse to the printing press. In Germany, especially, cities and small towns, business firms and prisoners' camps issued emergency money, mostly in the form of paper notes (Schelme). Many of these notes have high artistic value, due partly to the artists and partly to the desire to make the notes serve a propaganda purpose, and to be attractive generally, as well as incapable of fraudulent imitation. The interest and beauty of these notes are so well recognized that a literature on the subject has grown up, collectors and dealers have appeared, and a society and an exhibition have already drawn attention to the subject.—International Studio.

Gave World First Ice Cream.

When you next eat ice cream, consider the debt you owe to Sambo Johnson, negro pastry chef in a New York tavern, who gave the world its first dish of ice cream 105 years ago this month. For years Sambo had a monopoly on the manufacture of ice cream because he kept his process a closely guarded secret. All that is definitely known about his discovery is that it was an accident, and a happy one. It might not be a bad idea to erect a monument somewhere to Sambo. And while about it, surround his memorial with others to the men who gave us the other things that help to make summer endurable—artificial ice, lemonade, refrigerators and fans.

Strange Volcano.

A geological map of Iceland by Doctor Tohrudsen, who has spent many years on the work, gives much information about one of the world's most wonderful islands, which few visitors ever see. An example of the strangeness of Iceland is furnished by the volcano Kathu. This is buried under immense snow fields, but from time to time its fires burst through the glittering blankets, and then such floods are poured from the melting ice that a great stretch of country between the volcano and the sea is inundated and huge masses of ice are carried out into the ocean.

Young man, you will never be called in as a pinch hitter until you learn to strike out for yourself.
