What is a Creditor?

Current agitation for continuation of inflationary policies has brought out the fact that many persons who are themselves creditors do not fully realize it. One such person, strongly extolling the virtues of putting additional currency into circulation, remarked later in the conversation that he was going to sell some of his real estate and buy government bonds.

The rather popular belief seems to be that all America is divided into two parts, debtors and creditors. The debtors include all poor people, all middle class people, all farmers, all small business men, all laboring men, and all professional men. The creditors include first and foremost Andrew Mellon, and then J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, and perhaps three or four others. All the rest of the people owe all the bonds, notes, mortgages and bills to these few.

According to Nicholas Roosevelt, writing in a syndicated newspaper article, there are sixty million life insurance policy-holders in the United States. Each one of these policy-holders is a creditor of some life insurance company. In 1931, according to records of the Statistical Abstract, there were 51,000,000 time and savings deposit accounts in the various banks of the country. Making allowance for persons who have several separate accounts, we believe there must be fully 30,000,000 or possibly 40,000,000 persons in this country with deposits of this kind. Each one of them is a creditor of the bank.

Besides these major groups of creditors, writes Nicholas Roosevelt, "are many hundreds of thousands of individuals who have made loans to other individuals, or have bought Liberty Bonds, or hold other bonds or mortgages. Even though the same persons appear in several of these categories it may be estimated that the total number of creditors in the country is in the neighborhood of 65,000,000." Now if more than half the people of the country are creditors, who are the debtors?

The federal government is a debtor to all the people who have bought its Liberty Bonds and other securities, and to all the war veterans to whom pensions are owed. Local and state governments are debtors to all the persons who have bought these local and state bonds. But by far the largest class of debtors are the big corporations which have sold many billions of dollars worth of railroad, utility, and industrial bonds to the investing public.

According to Nicholas Roosevelt, the number of individual debtors is small. "Not more than 3,000,000 farmers have mortgages on their farms and of these only one-quarter are in distress. To these 3,000,000 debtors should be added 10,000,000 debtors on urban real estate. Allowing another 7,000,000 individual debtors on a long term basis, it brings the total number of debtors up to 20,000,000." There are probably another 30,000,000 of the people who are neither debtors or creditors, who don't owe anything and to whom nothing is owed.

The important thing to remember, however, is that most people are both debtors and creditors. Most people owe something and something is owed to them. A merchant sells goods to some of his customers on credit and to others for cash. The cash he deposits in the bank. He is the creditor of part of his customers, and he is the creditor of the bank. If he bought the goods on time, he is a debtor of the wholesaler.

A farmer places a mortgage on his farm in order to finance his crops. He is a debtor. He also pays the premiums on his life insurance policy so that in the event of his death his wife and children will be protected against the foreclosure of the mortgage on the farm. He is a debtor to the mortgage company, but a creditor of the insurance company. Any action which damages creditors, damages this farmer in the depreciation of his insurance.

Inflation is designed for the relief of debtors. "Apart from the gross unfairness of penalizing the great army of creditors in this country through inflation," concludes Nicholas Roosevelt, "it should be remembered that by impoverishing some 60,000,000 people the recovery of the entire nation will be indefinitely delayed. Furthermore, the social consequences may precipitate a crisis more grave than any through which we have yet passed. When the great American people wake up to the fact that it is seriously proposed to rob 60,000,000 people of their savings in order to relieve the debts of 3,000,000 farmers (and the big corporations), the Thomases, Bryans and others who advocated inflation will find themselves among the most unpopular men in the nation's history.

"Unfortunately, as their pleas for inflation have been most widely disseminated, and as they have maneuvered the President into a position where inflation may be the only way to save their skins, they have for the time being, the upper hand. And the speculators, the international bankers and the heads of big corporations having enormous debts are following the activities of the inflationists much like buzzards watch the slaughtering of a steer on a ranch—waiting to swoop down on the carrion. It is these speculative birds of prey, and not the farmers, who will be the real beneficiaries of inflation."

THERE IS a growing company of buyers who have amended that ancient slogan, "Let the buyer beware," to read, "Let the buyer be aware!"—aware not aloof of price and of terms, but aware of the people at bench and loom who have put into the goods something of themselves. And if that worker contribution has been gained without fair payment, and if the whole background of the product is malevolent, economically and socially, the temporization, "It's a good business," will not avail. Good business is that sort of business which not only is good for profit but good for people.—Christian Science Monitor.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Dea, Mrs. Forrest Lake, and Mrs. Walter E. Morgan.

FINANCING TRADE WITH RUSSIA

The prospect of a half billion dollars' worth of exports to Russia in 1934 is almost exactly the same as in 1933. Those who have studied the world in 1932 and nearly twice the value of our exports to Russia in the best year—1933. If shipped abroad within the next twelve months some of the most troublesome surpluses might be materially reduced.

But two points should be borne in mind. First, the experience of the last decade does not show that the growth of trade is dependent on recognition. In 1913 our exports to Russia amounted to $27,000,000; in 1922 they amounted to $29,000,000 and had grown by 1933 to $114,000,000. In other words, despite non-recognition, our exports to Russia were four times greater in 1933 than in 1913.

The second point is that the shipment of such a vast amount of exports depends in the final analysis on credits, which, in turn, depend on Russia's capacity to pay. Of her desire to pay there can be no question. Her record as a commercial creditor is unquestionable. Even if some of her leaders might secretly favor ultimate evasion of her commercial debts, it is so obviously to her interest to pay faithfully that the credit risk may be regarded as excellent.

Inside Details Of Big Theater Deal Are Bared

Smoking a cigar and producing laughter from spectators and spectators, Fox said he was forced "under duress" to sell his companies to General Theaters Equipment, Inc. in April, 1932, after bankers had "entered a writ of sequestration" to deny him credit.

He also told of conversations with President Hoover and other Republican leaders early in 1934 to prevent his prosecution under health laws, in connection with the acquisition of the theater chain.

Fox said he obtained the assistance of Houston and Burke in the anti-trust matter, that he paid Mayer $2,000,000 for claims he had in connection with the Fox-Low merger, and that before the merger, Mayer was "in opposition" and claimed to have had the justice department change its opinion concerning the acquisition of Low shares "from one of consent to one of restriction."

Fox testified he did not believe anyone charged the justice department records, but if anyone did it was Harley E. Carter, former head of G. T. Carter, charged as one of the "conspirators" to force him out of business.

"I'll show you how beautifully these boys worked," Fox said. He named Clarke, Halsey-Stuart & Co., Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman of the Chase National bank; John Otterson, official of the American Telegraph & Home of Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, the regular club players being joined by a table of other guests.

Those present were: Mrs. G. F. Smith, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. M. Vance, Mrs. W. D. Holden, Mrs. T. A. Neal, Mrs. R. H. Marks, Mrs. Lemon, Mrs. C. Butt, Mrs. F. J. Gonzalez, Mrs. O. W. Brady, and Mrs. Barrett.

Civil Works Board Sets Up Plan To Aid County's Jobless

employed on regular jobs are those who have been on work relief and direct relief. For the present projects which have been in process of completion or have just been undertaken will be continued to the end. These projects include the digging of drainage canals in Goldsboro and Canan City, the reconstruction of Mellenville Avenue south through Fort Reed, the cleaning of ditches and roadway in various parts of the county, and the cutting of weeds and grass at the Sanford County Club.

Yesterday, it was reported at the Court House office of the Civil Works Administration that there are 852 white and colored persons listed as now being given work relief or direct relief.

Of this number, 107 are considered unable to work because of illness or infirmities. This number included 26 white men and seven white women, and 41 colored men and 33 colored women. They are being given direct relief.

The remaining 745 persons, or 645 men and 100 women, have been on what is known as work relief for some time. This means that they have been on a part-time work basis, on a weekly salary that averages around $3 or $4. Of the 645 men, 338 are white men and 307 are colored men. Of the 100 women, 43 are white women, and 57 are colored women. Classified further 98 of the 328 white men are under the "skill 1 worker" classification.

Classified as to the locality in which they live, and based on the number of persons who were on work relief last week, the division is as follows: 345 live in Sanford; 117 in the county in general; 66 in Midway; 17 at Altamonte Springs; 10 at Chuluota; 28 at Geneva; 17 at Lake Mary; 18 at Longwood, and 30 at Oviedo. This is a total of 618 persons who were on work relief in the county last week, and it is hoped that these persons, plus the 97 who were not on relief last week, will go on full time work starting Monday.

Last week's payroll for the 648 workers amounted to $2096, or an average of about $3.25 for each worker. If the same number of persons go on regular jobs next week at a minimum of $12 for the 40-hour work week, the payroll will amount to $7776 next Saturday.

It was reported that the reclassification of persons on additional $1204 will be released in the early part of a payroll Civil Works Administration payroll next Saturday of about $20,000. That the workers may have employment until Feb. 1, when the present allotment of Federal money for this work is scheduled to expire, is indicated in the following list of projects, which was drawn up last night at a meeting of the local project committee.

- headed by Fred T. Williams: 1. The relaying and repairing of the city's sewer system. 2. The repairing of the road and relaying of brick where necessary of State Road No. 1 through Seminole County, including all streets in Sanford.

- 3. The moving of the present wooden bridge across the St. Johns River at Lake Monroe, and its erection at Titusville ferry, provided the work may be completed before Feb. 15. 4. The construction of an emergency airport at SanLando Springs.

- 5. The grading and improving of the Forest City road by way of Bear Lake to the Orange County line. 6. The grading of the new Upsala station road north to First Street.

- 7. The cleaning of gutters and storm sewers in Sanford. 8. The relaying of brick on Sanford Avenue from First to Fifth Street, and on Celery Avenue to the City limits.

- 9. The erection of a negro school at Wagner and at Midway. 10. The controlling of mosquitoes in the Elder Springs district. 11. The repair of South Side Primary School, the Lyman School at Altamonte Springs, and the present Midway school.

Attention is called to the fact that these projects are only tentative. They are not to be carried out unless approved by the state Civil Works Administration to which board the list was sent last night.

Milane Movie Tells Of Life Of Young Hoboes

Every large city in the past three years has developed hobo encampments near its railroad terminals, which are very similar in type. This was discovered when photographs for locations were taken in Chicago and Los Angeles simultaneously for "Wild Boys of the Road," a first National picture now at the Milane Theatre.

Danny Ahearn, who wrote "Wild Boys," based the story upon some of his own experiences in and near the city of Chicago's rail terminal - together, of course, with some of the other hobo camps in other parts of the country.

"Wild Boys of the Road" is a dramatic story, although interspersed with many hilarious incidents, concerning the thousands of boys and girls too, who have taken to the road in the past three

SALLIE HARRISON CHAPTER OF B.A.R. ENTERTAINS AT "BARNYARD" BRIDGE

Over 30 tables of players attended the annual subscription "barnyard" bridge party given yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club by Sallie Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Samuel Puleston, regent of the chapter, and Mrs. L. P. Hagan, who was general chairman of the affair.

Prizes of a turkey, ducks, hens, and eggs accentuated the "barnyard" theme of the party as did the decorations which consisted of a profusion of wild flowers, corn husks, pumpkins, and bright colored autumn leaves. Vases and bowls of chrysanthemums were arranged in the club auditorium while the stage was decorated to resemble a barnyard.

Mrs. Henry McLaughlin was awarded the turkey, the duck prize and also was the recipient of low score contract prize, a dozen eggs. Miss Margaret Page of DeLand won high score contract prize, a duck, and Mrs. A. M. Phillips received second high score prize, a hen. Scores were collected by Mrs. John Meisch, Jr. and Mrs. B. D. ### LOAN RELEASES DATA ON UNIQUE MODELS FOR 1934

General Motors Line Will Feature Cars Without Front Axle

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 24.—Fred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, announced yesterday in an interview that automobiles of his company would discontinue with the front axle, and that each front wheel will be attached individually, "by its own set of springs."

Mr. Sloan said that when a "one-action wheel," as he described the device, encounters a bump or hole it will rise or fall independently, as the leg is lifted or lowered by the leg without affecting the other leg or the equilibrium of the body.

The result, he said, will be that the wheels, not the passenger, will get the bump. "The result," he said, "is added comfort, especially on the back seat, is surprising. Safety is much increased also, for the wheels on the new cars will be able to take all the bumps and shocks and shimmy is gone from steering wheel."

Mr. Sloan said the device had been used in Europe to a limited extent, but that it would cost millions of dollars to install new equipment to provide the 1934 models with the new front wheel assembly. He said the company's engineers and researchers had been working for two years perfecting the device.

Improvement involved re-aligning entire line of the General Motors cars, and Mr. Sloan said that the installation of the self-aligning device would require the four-wheel drive Buick and the installation of the Fisher model's suspension.

He said the general trend of the industry was toward streamlining, and that the average price of the 1934 cars would be at least 5 percent higher than this year's models. He said the cars will be ready for delivery about Jan. 1.

Crooms Team To Play Undefeated Eleven In The Home Tomorrow

What promises to be a stubbornly fought football game is scheduled to be played at Municipal Park tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when Crooms Academy footballers, undefeated this season will play the strong St. Petersburg team for the state championship.

The Crooms team has scored 100 points in 10 games, and has won 10 straight games. They are coached by Coach J. H. Crooms, and the team is made up of 15 players.

St. Petersburg has yet to be defeated or even tied, and it boasts a strong team of veteran players. A fast moving backfield is a feature of the visiting eleven, although Crooms fans believe that finding the signs of recovery. Business is on the verge of another forward surge.

NRA RESULTS ACCLAIMED BY HUGH JOHNSON

The self-serving attacks on NRA failed. Confident in its growing strength, it has not been too hard on some small enterprises. That is being corrected. Compliance has been too loosely enforced. A national-wide mechanism is being set up for that.

"The speed of the various moving parts of the president's whole machine is being equalized. Areas which have been slow in receiving benefits are beginning to catch up. Gains are being consolidated."

Then came his claim of 25 percent recovery, the "seventh wonder of the world."

"And for this relief much thanks," for 95 percent of the American people, he continued, "but from the leaders, guides and scouts of the old roads to ruin—what? Strident clamoring—a few little men with loud voices, frankly waving puny red flags of false and futile warnings in the path of the righteous advance of a great people—125,000,000 strong—united by suffering in a common purpose, by mutual sacrifice and co-operation and under the inspiring leadership of a great leader, the people will march any day to the victory which has already been theirs for many years."

Johnson said tribute to the mass of businessmen, big and little, saying their response to NRA "has been one of the most inspiring chapters in its history. It has even by observation that industrial leaders who have been parts of NRA itself rapidly become converts and then zealous for what is being done to improve industry."

He took up charges of too great spending in the recovery program, and recalled that the World War cost the United States something like 42 billions.

Of southern problems, Johnson said NRA "got no violent shock" when industrialists of the south asked a 30 percent wage advance "because of the lesser efficiency of the labor they employ."

"It is the first time," he observed, "that I ever knew of a community boasting that any section of its people are inferior to a corresponding group in any other part of the country."

"You may be certain that the north will not win its contention for a universal wage scale and the south will not get its 30 percent differential."

Johnson again criticized the agitation over freedom of the press, asserting "the constitutional provision can no more be waived than in the right of habeas corpus or in fact, of citizenship itself."

Rollins Ends Out 13-4 Win Over Carolinians

ORLANDO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Staking a brilliant comeback in the second half after spotting Rollins a 18 to 0 lead here last night, a scrappy, Eddie Rhyne team from Hickory, N. C., almost pulled the contest out of the fire, scoring one touchdown in the last period and missing a second by two yards in the last minute of the game before the final whistle marked a 13 to 6 victory for the Tar.

Only a desperate goal line stand by Rollins prevented the invaders from pinching over the second score in the closing minutes of the game. Buck Mauney, who worried the Tar defense throughout, nearly killed what might have been the tying counter by springing 30 yards to the Tar two yard line where he was brought down in the next to the last play of the game. A pass over the goal line which was snagged by Dick Washington, Tar full-back, saved the gun for Rollins.

BROOKVILLE, Nov. 24.—

Many Herando county hunters went to the fields this week, and while they got fairly good bags, they reported dry weather was a hindrance to sport, as the dogs are unable to work satisfactorily in the dry underbrush. Birds are plentiful, it is said.

dist Episcopal Church, South, said yesterday, may not hurt the women but it hurts him. Speaking before the North Georgia conference, he said he "Never thought as much of a woman after seeing her smoke as I did before."

ATTENDS OWN FUNERAL

MAMMOTH SPRING, Ark., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Cool Bratton went to his own funeral, to convince his wife and friends that he was not dead. While Bratton was away from home, a young man resembling him was killed in an accident at West Plains, Mo. Mrs. Bratton and others identified the body as that of her husband. Bratton returned, learned of his "funeral" and rushed there to prove he was alive. The body later was identified as an itinerant.

Bus Line Slashes Rate For Travel In Florida

TAMPA, Nov. 24.—Bus rates between Tampa and Jacksonville were ordered slashed Tuesday in what has become to be known as the new deal rate war for travelers.

Meeting the coach rate of 1 1/2 cents a mile, of the Seaboard Air Line, the Florida Motor Lines, through T. B. O'Steen, traffic manager, and affiliated lines, announced a one-way reduction of 40 percent in the Tampa-Jacksonville rate, with a round trip double the one-way fare, less than 10 percent. On the east coast the reduction will be 45 percent.

The new tariff, effective Sunday, will reduce the one-way fare from Tampa to Jacksonville from $6 to approximately $3.60, and make the round trip $6.50, as compared with $10.80, as at present. These figures are not official, but are near the mark as estimated by local officials on the basis of the opinion of traffic experts, that there will be a tremendous amount of travel between all Florida points during the winter.

DEAD BALL RULE APPROVED BY MANY PLAYERS

Sam Davis Of Florida Among Critics Who See Few Benefits

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The so-called "dead ball" regulations in the national intercollegiate rules, by which runs with recovered fumbles are barred or ball carriers automatically stopped if anything but their hands or feet touches the ground, are endorsed today by a slight majority of star players polled by the Associated Press.

Evenly divided in their opinions in the south, east and middle west, the balance in favor of the existing restrictions is thrown into the scales by the players of the far western gridirons. In the combined Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast sections, the vote was 15 to 10 in favor of the "dead ball" rules, thereby making the aggregate totals 41 to 35 for the entire country and giving the national lawmakers something to think about. The mid-west stood 9 to 5, the east 12 to 12, and south 5 to 5.

Nearly all the players concede that the old rules, permitting the offense to gallop off with recovered fumbles or allowing ball-car-

NRA COMPLIANCE IS CHARGED TO BIG INDUSTRIES

Johnson Increases Responsibility Placed Upon Larger Groups

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Faced with reports of ineffective enforcement of NRA code terms, Hugh S. Johnson yesterday increased the responsibility placed upon industry to secure compliance and designated a committee to help industrial self-government units get organized.

The administrator announced a program under which trade associations would be called upon to shoulder the load as quickly as possible, but simultaneously made clear that the government would be ready to step in whenever self-government was lacking and would use a "veto power" over their actions.

The announcement had the double purpose of hastening better compliance and of meeting the demand of industrialists, led by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, that code administration be left to business.

The NRA chieftain reiterated that labor questions would not be left to any industrial agency that did not have "adequate" labor representation. Unless an industry has its own arbitration units, the national and regional labor boards will have jurisdiction, although complaints of individual employees will be handled by the local and regional compliance directors.

riers to keep going after being knocked off their feet, would return many thrills to the game, but a majority, likewise, stress the fairness, as well as the safety, of the current regulations.

Most of the ball carriers heard from prefer being allowed to try to gain more ground after being partially or even completely knocked off their feet, even though they also admit the factor of bodily safety is something for rules-makers to consider.

Bill Corbus, star Stanford guard, for instance, thinks this rule has helped reduce injuries, but suggests it be modified to make it a "zone proposition, effective several yards on either side of the scrimmage line." Harold Davies, Utah captain, emphasizes the prevention of "unnecessary roughness."

However, such stars as Sid Gillman, Ohio State end and co-captain, Sam Davis, Florida captain, and Phil Sorboe, Washington State quarterback, insist the rule, not only handicaps rugged ball-carriers, especially on a slippery field, but has failed to accomplish its purpose of protecting the runner or reducing injuries. In the tackling pile-up, Davis adds: "It leaves room for too much criticism of officials as to whether the knee has touched the ground or not."

Star ends, including Colin Sirkart of Carnegie, Graham Batchelor of Georgia, Ray Morse of Oregon, Bill Smith of Washington, and Joe Skladany of Pittsburgh, agree that it's fair enough to prevent running with a fumbled ball.

Howdie Gordon, of Creighton and Vernon Close, Vanderbilt half-back, agree there probably would be fewer low-scoring or tie games, if the defense were permitted to run with a recovered fumble, but likewise admit they prefer the balance provided by existing rules.

"A game should not be lost because a fellow happens to fumble, however interesting it may be to pick up a loose ball and run for a touchdown," remarks Cliff Montgomery, Columbia's backfield star and captain.

On the other hand, Fred Carrinus, star St. Mary's end, expresses a wide viewpoint in holding that additional thrills for the spectators make it worth while to permit running with a fumble. In agreement with him is Capt. Charles Straub of Virginia Military Institute, Art Best, Michigan State tackle, Les Carlson, captain of the George Washington university team, and Clair Bishop, Nebraska guard. Most of these players also point to the advantage of making the offense more careful about handling the ball and giving the defense opportunities to distinguish themselves by dashing off for touchdowns.

Winter Haven Uses Installment Plan In Tax Collection

WINTER HAVEN, Nov. 24.—A new plan for collection of delinquent city taxes has been adopted by the city commissioners. The plan was originally braced by the Winter Haven Taxpayers Relief society nearly a year and a half ago, and was devised by E. B. Wathall, later president of the society and now a city commissioner-elect who will take office on Jan. 2.

The first section provides that all taxpayers not owing back taxes pay the 1933 levy of 10 mills, two mills less than in 1932, in cash, receiving four percent off if paid in December, two percent in January and one percent in February.

The second section provides that taxpayers who owe back taxes shall pay their 1933 taxes in cash and receive the discounts provided, and then meet five percent of all back taxes each quarter in February, May, August and November, thus giving the city 20 percent of all back taxes.

If they cannot pay all the 1933 taxes in one cash sum, they are permitted to pay in quarterly installments in the months above designated, at the same time meeting five percent of the back taxes, and then upon paying the fourth or final installment being allowed three percent discount on the entire sum of the 1933 taxes. This discount is contingent on meeting all payments promptly in the months designated.

CHICAGO—Chicago police say they feel Chicago really is not such a bad place. Checking up on them they found that in the past year, two-thirds of all the persons they questioned about carrying pistols were not natives of the "Windy City."
