

THERE IS STILL A HOME FOR KOREAN ORPHAN—Lee Kyung Soo Paladino, 10, happily returns to the arms of his foster grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Paladino, in New Rochelle, N. Y. The Korean orphan was found wandering on the streets of war-torn Incheon in 1952 by Mrs. Paladino's son, Vincent, who adopted him and brought him back to the U.S. When Vincent married, his wife, with two children of her own, did not welcome Lee and he was placed in an orphanage. Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from veterans:

Q. I understand the Korean GI Bill prohibits courses in dancing. I am majoring in physical education in college, and one of my required courses is in group dancing. Does the prohibition apply to this course?

A. No. The prohibition will not apply so long as the dancing course is an integral part of your physical education studies, and no longer as it will give you college credits.

Q. I have just added the total disability income provision to my World War II GI insurance policy. If I become disabled and receive the monthly income benefits, will they decrease the face amount of my policy?

A. No. Disability payments in no way decrease the face value of your type policy.

Q. I am a disabled Korean veteran eligible for vocational rehabilitation training. I also am eligible for educational benefits under the War Orphans program. Would it be possible to receive training under both programs?

A. No. You must choose one program or the other and after making an election, you may not switch to the other training plan.

Q. I have a service-connected dental condition for which I draw disability compensation. Is there any time limit for outpatient dental treatment for my condition?

A. There is no time limit for compensable dental disabilities requiring outpatient treatment.

U. S. Army Helps Stone Age Study

GIessen, Germany.—Men of the U. S. Army 33rd Engineer Battalion stationed here have set to work to dig up Stone Age skeletons of early German settlers.

The skeletons are alleged by German experts to be those of primitive peasants who migrated to Germany some 4,000 years ago when Abraham was making biblical history in Babylonia.

Several skeletons found near Bulbach recently were identified by Darmstadt archaeologist Dr. J. Jorns as belonging to the cemetery of a Stone Age village uncovered 20 years ago by highway workers.

Jorns then asked U. S. Army engineers to aid in excavating the area in search of more specimens. Since work began, six more skeletons have been discovered. In addition, they have found relics of Stone Age pottery.

Jorns certified the skeletons were those of Stone Age humans by describing the way of burial.

According to Jorns, corpses 4,000 years ago were interred with arms and legs folded to resemble the unborn embryo. This method arose from the matriarchal, or "mother religion," practices at the time, he said.

Females were placed in the graves on the left side and males on the right, Jorns added.

These Stone Age settlers enjoyed a life span of about 35 years, he continued. The people were small—about four and a half feet tall.

The fact that pottery and stone-made items were buried with their dead show the people believed in some form of after-life. They wore clothing made from animal skins, lived by small-scale farming and kept cows, sheep, goats and dogs, Jorns said.

"Other separate Stone Age villages and cemeteries have been found previously in Germany, but this is the first case where we have found a village and a cemetery together," Jorns said.

The settlers are believed to have migrated from present-day Hungary and Switzerland about 2,500 B. C. These were among the first settlers, and they lived in wood huts and used crude handwoven stone tools and weapons.

Demos Determined To Step Up Missile Sub, Bomber Programs

WASHINGTON (UP) — Some Senate Democrats made it clear today they will wage a determined fight to force the administration to step up further its missile-firing submarine and H-bomber programs.

They went along in the Senate's unanimous approval late Monday of President Eisenhower's request for $1,250,000,000 in urgent defense funds to speed missile programs, disperse the Strategic Air Command's fleet of B-52 intercontinental jet bombers and start work on a missile detection system.

The vote was 78-0. All 18 absent senators were recorded as in favor, also, an unusual display of complete unanimity.

But Sens. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) charged the administration's program is inadequate to meet Russia's challenge in space weapons.

Fight Postponed
They postponed their fight for still more defense money to keep from causing any delay now. The showdown could come in a later supplemental request for the current fiscal year if the President makes one. But it most likely will be the regular defense appropriation for the next fiscal year starting July 1.

Censored testimony released by the Senate Appropriations Committee showed Defense Secretary Neil M. McElroy rejected a suggestion by Symington to boost the bill up to $2,000,000,000 for more missiles and B60s. McElroy said missiles were being pushed to the limit and a decision on more B60s could wait a few months.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said the administration had been too slow in asking for more defense money. He said nothing was to be gained by rebalancing the administration's failure to head earlier "clean and specific warnings."

Call For Efforts
Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) called for greater efforts by the administration to end the cold war stalemate with Russia. Otherwise, he declared, "ever-increasing enormous" defense costs "can lead eventually to our economic collapse."

Weather
Freeze or frost warning. Fair and continued cold today and tonight. Frost tonight with low 26 to 31.

Pilot Club Will Head Easter Seal Campaign

The first meeting of the committee which will conduct the Easter Seal campaign in Seminole County this year was held yesterday at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant in the Valdez Hotel.

The Sanford Pilot Club approved the campaign as a club project and will lead the drive for the Seminole County Chapter of the Florida Society for Crippled Children.

All money, said Lisle Reese, state director of the Florida Society for Crippled Children, raised in this year's campaign for Seminole County will remain in a local bank. The local committee will direct the spending of the funds going to the Forrest Park School for Exceptional Children.

Committee members attending the meeting said "We are happy to have a part in doing something for crippled children."

Mrs. D. K. McNab, president of the Sanford Pilot Club, and a member of the committee said "The Pilot Club has raised money for various things and we are happy to have an opportunity to serve crippled children."

Reese, commenting on the meeting following a lengthy session in preliminary planning for the Easter Seal Drive said "I have never seen a group so more pleased to do something for someone else."

Mrs. Harold Appleby will serve the committee in an advisory capacity.

Howard McNulty, vice president of the Florida State Bank, will

NEW YORK (UP) — The American people "will completely lose our right to know" in the next 25 years if secret government continues to grow at its present rate, V. M. Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa Tribune, warned today.

Newton, chairman of the committee on freedom of information of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, urged that all persons support their local newspaper editors in the fight for access to the news of public business and "let their congressmen and state legislators know that they feel they are not being informed."

Writing in the current issue of Look magazine, Newton said: "Today, it is clear that the first outright censorship in peacetime has been foisted upon the people. At every level of government, the politicians feel free to barricade themselves in their 'chambers of silence.'"

He said attempts to bring the problems to the attention of the White House have been met with "a barrage of aides. I don't think the President is informed on the issue of the public's right to know."

Newton said that last fall the President's legal assistant, Gerald Morgan, said he believed a conference could be set up between the President and a committee of editors. "We plan to lay before the President and his advisors at least 93 documented cases" of abuses of his executive secrecy order, Newton said.

But he said the problem is as great at the level of local and state governments as it is in Washington.

"There is little difference in practical effect between the secret procedures of the government of Soviet Russia and the secret operations of many an American school board, city council or congressional committee," Newton said. "In each instance, the real decisions are made behind locked doors. Politicians have a preference for doing the people's business when the people are not around. More and more, they are getting away with it."

Newton said the only solution is through laws requiring open records and open procedures. In their absence, he said, courts generally fail back on English common law which holds that only interested persons have a right to examine government records.

Commissioners To Hear Zoning Board Appeals

Satellite Radios Indication Man Can Survive Flight

WASHINGTON (UP) — America's Explorer satellite has a helpful indication man can survive a flight through space.

Scientists at the California Institute of Technology Jet Propulsion Laboratory said preliminary information from the first U. S. satellite indicates cosmic rays and particles of meteors will not be a hazard to space travelers.

At the same time, Army experts were reported seeking permission to launch a 300-pound "seeing-eye" television satellite and another one weighing 700 pounds that could be the forerunner of a permanent space station revolving around the globe.

Long Life Predicted
Dr. William H. Pickering, director of JPL, said the speed of Explorer cruising through space at 18,000 miles an hour in an orbit ranging from 230 to 1,600 miles away from earth could keep it aloft "perhaps 12 years." However, its two radio transmitters are expected to go silent in about two months.

Other scientists gave estimates ranging from 6 to 10 years of life for Explorer. Russia's Sputnik I stayed up three months. Sputnik II passed the three-month mark Monday.

Defense Department sources said neither Army proposal for 200 and 700 pound satellites had been approved. The Air Force already has contracted with Lockheed Aircraft for construction of a TV reconnaissance satellite.

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners was approved as a Board of Adjustments to hear appeals from Seminole County Zoning Commission decisions by resolution.

The first hearing to be conducted by the Board of Adjustments was set for Feb. 20 when Rev. H. M. Snow, a Church of God minister, requested that requirements of the Zoning provisions be set aside.

The request was made for a proposed church in the Ploceet area which did not get its construction program underway in time to avoid the required parking provisions.

A special meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was set for Friday at 2 p. m. to hear recommendations of William A. Kratzert regarding engineering and inspection of subdivisions.

Commission Chairman John Krider said "I don't see how we can spend county money to go into subdivisions to inspect development."

In the construction of roads, Kratzert told the board of commissioners that a soil-limerock stabilized road "is approved by the State Road Department" and would meet local requirements.

A proposal to approve 60-foot roads in the Woodmere Park subdivision was presented to the Board of Commissioners by Attorney George A. Speer Jr.

Speer told the commissioners that the State Board of Health has approved water and sewer connections with the City of Sanford and that roads, connecting the subdivision with Sanford Ave., already set out at 80-foot in the original plat, have been used in the replat of the area.

The replat, Speer told commissioners, is necessary in order to make changes in streets from the "straight" street to "curved" streets in order to meet FHA requirements.

"We request the waiver of the 60-foot street and approval of the 80-foot street," Speer said.

Commission Chairman Krider said "The better we can make these subdivisions the easier the lots will be to sell."

However, Commissioner Fred

Lion Cubs To Arrive At 7 a. m. Tomorrow

A huge contingent of Sanford citizens will be on hand tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock to welcome a pair of lion cubs who will become permanent residents of the Sanford Municipal Zoo.

Flown to Sanford by Riddle Airlines from Cleveland, O. city will arrive at an Orlando airport and then be transferred to a city truck for transportation to their permanent home here.

The cubs are gifts of the Florida State Bank and the Sanford Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Both of the young lions, a male and female, were purchased from the Cleveland Zoological Society, operators of the Cleveland Zoo. They are a litter of three.

Welcoming the cubs will be Mayor of Sanford, Merle Warner; officers of the Florida State Bank, T. E. Tucker, president; Howard McNulty, vice president; and Mer-

Exams For General Scholarship Loans Scheduled Mar. 18

Statewide competitive examinations will be held on Tuesday, March 18 to fill vacancies for 300-year General Scholarship Loans for the preparation of teachers and state nursing scholarship loans for the 1958-59 school year, said R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The date was designated by State Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey.

High school seniors, high school graduates, and college students who desire to train for a teaching career in Florida's elementary or secondary schools or those desiring to train for a nursing career in Florida, are eligible to compete if they have been residents of Florida for at least one year and are planning to register in the school of education of an approved institution of higher learning or an approved school of nursing in Florida next fall.

Each person awarded a General Scholarship Loan must agree in writing to begin teaching immediately following graduation from college with a bachelor's degree and must continue teaching for at least as many years as he has received scholarship assistance.

Gas Co. Franchise Renewal Discussed

A meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon to discuss with officials of the Sanford Gas Company details of a franchise renewal.

Mayor Merle Warner said the meeting was "merely an informal get-together and no action was taken." However, the city charter allows a meeting to be called when all members are present and an unanimous agreement is reached in making the session official.

Mayor Warner said "We might as well have stayed at home" when he referred to the accomplishments of the special meeting. He stated that "they (the Sanford Gas Company) will submit a franchise proposal to us and we will submit our proposal to them."

"It was two hours almost wasted," he said, "and strictly an informal discussion."

Commissioner A. L. Wilson didn't refer to the meeting as an informal discussion but rather, explained that "We discussed the gas company franchise pro and con. We were asked by the officials to think it over and submit a favorable opinion."

Wilson said "They literally dumped it in our lap as to what a favorable franchise might be." "There wasn't any meeting," Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said when questioned about the session held at the city hall. "It was just an informal discussion," he said. "To see what they had in mind."

Higginbotham stated "We told them that they had to get down to brass tacks and give the people something."

The meeting was called, according to Mayor Warner, by City Manager Warren E. Knowles, to discuss the franchise with Sanford Gas Company officials A. H. Gaele and Arthur S. Dewing. Gaele is president of the company and Dewing is a member of the board of directors.

Remains will be forwarded to Buffalo, N. Y. Feb. 5 for interment. Fairchild Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Accident Victim Dies Yesterday

Ensign Neil W. Herrmann, U. S. N. R. died yesterday at the Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident Jan. 1, 1958.

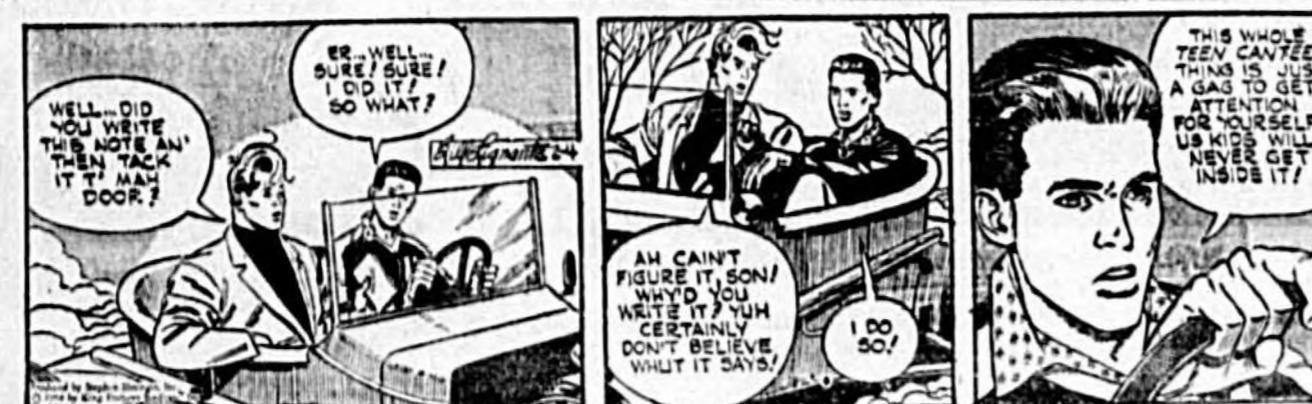

Ensign Herrmann whose home address is 156 Parview, Buffalo, N. Y. was originally a member of Heavy Attack Squadron Nine. He reported to the Sanford area in the fall of 1957.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold T. Herrmann. He was the eldest of five children.

ARRIVING IN SANFORD tomorrow morning are the two lion cubs shown at the left. The two cubs, yet unnamed, will occupy the newly renovated lion cages at the Sanford Zoo. They were donated to the Municipal Zoo by the Florida State Bank and the Sanford Jaycees. The lioness shown at right is the mother of the cubs. The picture was made at the Cleveland, O. Zoo.

THE PHANTOM

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Science needs some people to experiment with to see if appetite is capable of controlling the amount of food people eat. The possible result of such experiments would be proof that even moderate exercise could prevent people getting overweight. This is a hypothesis, you understand, which is a word much used by scientists to describe a logical supposition needing to be proved—or disproved. The core of this hypothesis is that people in our take-it-easy age don't exercise enough to rouse their appetite chemistries. Scientific studies in the past few years have shown that military cadets spend 17 and 3-4 hours out of every 24 lying, sitting or standing, and coal miners do those things 18 and 24 hours a day. Since those are exceedingly "active" callings, the rest of us can't be more active.

Originally Used Rats
The American physiologist, Dr. J. Mayer, originated the hypothesis back in 1934 with experiments with rats which science now considers "classical." His rats were required to walk a treadmill for one to six hours a day. For rats that is light to heavy exercise. And these rats automatically and presumably unthinkingly adjusted the amounts they ate to the amounts of exercise they had had. As the result, their weights remained constant—there were no overweight problems among them. But when they were allowed to walk the treadmill for less than an hour a day, they didn't eat less. In fact, they ate more and fat rats were the result. This would indicate that exercise is needed in order to trigger appetite chemistry which, once triggered, adjusts the amounts needed to the amounts actually needed. These simple, clear-cut facts about rats have stimulated physiologists around the world, giving many the yen to repeat the experiment in people — if only it could be done somehow. So far

THE OLD HOME TOWN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—The American printing house for the blind, celebrating its 100th anniversary this week, has announced development of a new process that will allow much faster and cheaper printing of books in braille. The new process will enable blind children now going to public schools a growing trend to have and use the same textbooks as the sighted children in their classes, instead of being confined to those textbooks already available in braille. Finis E. Davis, superintendent of the printing house, said researchers at the printing house took a vacuum-forming machine now in wide use in the plastic industry, and experimented with various plastic until they found one that would hold the raised dots of the braille system, which enable a blind person to read through his fingertips. Marjorie Hooper, braille and large-type editor for the printing house, explained that under the system now in use, it cost about 600 dollars to emboss plates that will print about 150 copies of a 150-page volume. This has been reduced under the new system to about 10 dollars, making it economically feasible for a school board to order specific text books for the one or two blind children it may have in its school system. Miss Hooper said this was an especially significant advance at this time because of the vast growth in the number of blind children being educated. She said there are now about 11,000 blind children being educated in this country, compared with 6,000 just 10 years ago.

Rayburn Says U. S. Lacks Leadership

Rayburn—First of six interviews with prominent Americans by LOUIS CASSELS United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON — Speaker Sam Rayburn doesn't beat around the bush. When you ask him what's wrong with America, he has a quick, three-word answer: "Lack of leadership." That may sound like a Democrat's political jibe at a Republican president. But "Mr. Sam," although a Democratic leader, made his reply cover both parties and beyond government to business and other areas. He had been asked, as a statesman, to answer a question which the United Press put to six prominent Americans representing government, the military, business, labor, science and the church. The question was: "What troubles you most as you look at America today?" The man who has served as speaker longer than anyone else in history emphasized that his indictment of timid leadership was not aimed solely at the White House. People Underestimated "I think," he said, peering over his pince-nez glasses, "that the entire political leadership of the country — Congress and the administration, Democrats and Republicans — is guilty of underestimating the American people."

Rayburn said he is convinced that Americans "want to know the cold, hard facts, of where we stand in the arms race with Russia. "I believe the people are ready to work hard, to have stern demands made on them," he said. "They are ready to make whatever contributions are necessary to keep this country strong and free." But Rayburn said political leaders — and again he included Congress along with the administration — have been reluctant to ask Americans to make heroic contributions. "There has been a tendency to shield the people from bad news, to withhold essential facts that they need to know. There has been a hesitancy to impose burdens on them — even necessary burdens."

Dignity Stands Out Everyone has seen pictures of Rayburn. But the bald head and the scowl which are so prominent in his photographs are not what you notice when you talk to him. It is dignity that impresses you — a dignity that flows from the man rather than the trappings of his office, and which remains unruffled even when Mr. Sam reaches back to his boyhood in Bonham, Tex., for an earthy anecdote to illustrate his point. Rayburn, 76, has served in Congress for 45 of those years. He jokes about being "an old man." But he doesn't talk like one.

He opened the interview by saying he wanted to "get on the record one thing that I'm not worried about." "I'm not worried about our young people. It makes me tired to hear all this talk about the young generation going to hell in a hick. Every spring I talk to hundreds of these high school seniors on their visits to the Capitol, and I tell you they are a lot smarter than I was at their age." The interview was held in the speaker's office, just off the House floor in the Capitol. Mr. Speaker, do you believe the American people are frightened by Russia's successes in missiles and space vehicles? "No, I don't think they are scared. But they are very troubled and humiliated to find out that we are behind the Russians in some things. I think they'd like to get to work remedying the situation if somebody would lay down a program for them to work at."

While Rayburn carefully refrained from direct criticism of President Eisenhower, it was clear throughout the interview that he does not regard the administration's program as anything like an adequate national response to the present emergency. Time and again, he spoke of the need for bolder leadership in government "starting at the top." And he said this need for bolder leadership extends beyond government — into business and every other segment of our society.

Lake Mary News

By ETTIE JANE KEOGH LAKE MARY—Mrs. Donald Kirkner reported an interesting meeting last week at the Community Presbyterian Church when Miss Carolyn O. Mathews, Eastern Area Secretary for the Women's Work of the Board of National Missions, was guest speaker. Miss Williams gave a short talk, this was followed by a question and answer period. Mrs. James M. Thompson, Synodical president for the Synod of Florida and also the local PWO president, introduced Miss Mathews. Mrs. Ed Zimmerman and Mrs. LuVera Harrison served as hostesses during the social hour following the meeting. Sunday at 7:30 p. m. was scheduled a gospel sing at the Community Presbyterian Church. The service was about an hour long. The Rev. Alexander Linn led the singing; there were special numbers by the choir, solos and duets plus group singing. A good crowd enjoyed this worship service of music and song. Mrs. Ethel Knight from Texas is spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Lula Cox Franklin at her home on South Third St. Mrs. Roby Steiner arrived Friday to spend the week with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Morris Steiner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gleason, Ocala, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gleason and attended the funeral of Mrs. Gleason's father A. R. Hunkins. Everyone has been so kind to all of us during the illness of my grandfather, Mr. Hunkins, and since his death. At a time like this you really find out how many good friends you have. I don't think better people live than we have right here in Lake Mary. Mrs. Ida Keogh received a nice note this week from Mrs. Hoyt, who used to live on the street back of the Chamber of Commerce Bldg. Mrs. Hoyt said that she is 83 years old and in ill health. Many of the Lake Mary residents will remember Mrs. Hoyt and be glad to hear from her again.

Boyer Disclaims Lady-Killer Title

By VERNON SCOTT United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — Charles Boyer today abdicated the title of "the Great Lover," with no takers in sight to claim the dubious distinction. Twenty years ago Boyer was credited with murmuring "Come with me to see Casbah" to Hedy Lamarr for a love scene in "Algiers." Since then, casting, hisset-frenched Boyer has epitomized French loveliness to Americans. He has waged a 20-year battle denying it. "I never spoke that line in my life," the actor railed. "Nor has anyone else to my knowledge except for people impersonating me. For a while the fiction existed that Peter Lorre spoke the line in the musical version of 'Algiers.' He is not the type."

Disclaims Lady-Killer Title A veteran of 40 television shows currently for NBC-TV's "Alcoa Yearbook Theater" and 70 movies, Boyer maintains he has played romantic roles in only a handful of his performances. "I absolutely abdicate the great lover title," he said. "It is something I never earned nor wanted. I am not a lady-killer on screen nor off. I am happy to say I've been married to the same girl Pat Patterson for 24 years. "And in the 25 years I have lived in this country there have been no sensation stories about me — which means either I am very good or very clever."

"Faith Of Our Fathers, Living Still" -- For Fearless Future!

In these days of uncertainty, doubt, frustration and even fear, we would do well to repeat to ourselves the first line of a great old hymn which reads, "Faith of our fathers, living still."

Must we place a question mark at the end of this line? The probable answer is that we must, because if we had the faith of our fathers, if it were living still, we would not be undergoing the worry that seems to be a normal part of our lives these days.

For this attitude on our part, which seems to permeate us from the highest to the lowest, we should be ashamed. Doubting and fearful, we are not worthy the heritage left us.

In the early days of our nation, there was plenty of cause for doubt and worry and fear, but our fathers were sustained by a clear and ever-present faith that their cause was right and that they must therefore win out in the end. They supported their faith by their work, and their cause did prevail.

Now that we have become rich, now that we have become the most powerful nation in the world, have lost this faith, have become soft, are we apathetic and have we lost our courage? We had better stop and ask ourselves these questions, because history tells us that it has been the traditional cycle of great nations to go from bondage to faith, from faith to courage, from courage to freedom, from freedom to abundance, from abundance to anarchy, and from anarchy back to bondage again.

Are we to go like other great nations before us, are we to reach the peak only to decline into oblivion on the other side?

As we look ahead into 1958 from the beginning of this second month of the year, and to the other years to follow, the greatest need of this nation is to recapture the faith that surrounded its founding. By doing so, fear would be replaced by courage, doubt by faith, and uncertainty by clear vision. We would then know that the "faith of our fathers" is "living still," and we would face the future unafraid.

There is a further line in this great old hymn that reads, "Faith of our Fathers, Hold Faith." That is another realization we must recapture, for the faith of our fathers was a "holy faith."

This nation was certainly founded on the fundamental Christian principle of individual freedom, the right of the individual to carve out his own destiny and choose his own future.

If, by maintaining this faith ourselves, we could impart it to other peoples and than all the foreign aid we could possibly send them in a material way. The very secret of our success as a nation, if it can be called a secret, is this principle of individual freedom which is the basis of our traditional American free enterprise system.

American Free Enterprise, it would seem to us, is actually American Faith in action. It has produced for the American American people the greatest productive capacity and the highest standard of living the world has ever known. Is it not strange that we should now have our doubts about this system that we should become fearful, that we should be tempted sometimes to throw overboard this proven system for a "Government'll-take-care-of-you" system, a "something-for-nothing" system, a "planned economy" system that has never yet worked in the history of the world and can only bring degeneration and ruin to all who try it? Yet, as we all know, we have been tempted, we are being tempted, and we shall perhaps always be tempted.

It is completely disgusting to hear it said, as we sometimes do, that the American Way of Life is on trial at the present time. Of course, we may suppose in one sense of the word that everything in this world is on trial—but if the American Way of Life is on trial we ought to be pretty well satisfied with the results.

Our system may not be perfect but it has brought the greatest good to the most people of any system yet devised by man. Must we destroy it by doubt from within?

That is the only way it can be destroyed—by losing the "faith of our fathers."

FATHER'S TRIBUTE

"So he died, according to the word of the Lord."

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK — I don't know where you were the other day when the snow was dragging its mantle of white over the mighty city (a little free verse today, no extra charge) but I was sitting in a saloon with Shirley McLaine — so wherever you were, I was one up on you.

Miss McLaine, it seems reasonable to suggest, is this year's show-business personality, just like this year's hotel in Miami Beach. She's been making one movie after another (there still are three unglazed ones in the wings) and she just signed a fabulous contract, the ramifications of which she doesn't understand but for which she is thankful.

More to the point, Miss McLaine is, in the patois, a livin', breathin' doll. She has light red hair, skillfully arranged architecture, the best legs in the United States of America (there goes Debra Page, limping away disconsolately) a quick wit and by no means superficial mind — and she is nutty. Any man who can't make a lassy French 75 out of those ingredients isn't trying.

Miss MacL, was talking about the old days in New York. Still in her early 20s, she was not being asinine. She's been hamming it up in public — the words are hers — since she was two, and she was a chorus girl around these parts when she was 15.

"I had 12 different roommates one year while I lived here," she told me, spooning her lemon ice thoughtfully. "I wonder if I was difficult to live with or whether the cockroaches drove them out?"

A native of Richmond, Va., Shirley came here in 1950 and got a job in a revival of Oahama. Later the same summer she did some musicals in St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville, N. J. That Autumn Shirley signed and went back to Virginia, where she finished her studies at Washington and Lee high school in Arlington. I suggested she must have been looked on as a pretty fast number, as an ex-chorine. "No," she said, "I was just another cheerleader."

When she finally blew back into Manhattan like Dick Whittington advancing on London, Shirley began making the rounds of producer's offices — and learning the tricks of the trade. I was interested to note that she often practiced one of the oldest — the free lemonade at the Automat.

"Lunch was a dime," she said. "That was for a peanut-butter sandwich. Then you went around gathering up ice water, free lemon slices and sugar out of the bowls on the tables . . . and there you were."

Hard work and talent were, of course, the reasons why she finally hit it big, as they are with virtually everyone but Elvis (and even he labors hard) in show business.

For instance, she went back to audition a half dozen time for Me and Juliet, using different names each time, until Rogers finally sighed wearily and said "O. K., you with the legs." However, Miss Shirley explains her success differently.

"Carol Hanay's ankles," she sums up succinctly.

It was when Carol busted an ankle three days after the opening of Pajama Game on Broadway that Miss McLaine, her understudy, went on and floored one and all.

However, it wasn't coincidence that people like movie producer Hal Wallis (who went backstage and signed her) and Alfred Hitchcock were in the audiences during the month she played the part.

"I spent my whole month's salary buying tickets for talent scouts and the like, to get them to come and see me," Shirley declared blithely. Like Salvador Dali, Miss McLaine is about as crazy as a two-headed fox.

It is possible movie-goers will be startled when they see her in Hot Spell, which she made under Danny Mann's direction, with Shirley Booth. It's a serious role and she plays it to the hilt, crying all over the place.

"In fact," Shirley said, "I cried all over the place when I went to see the picture. I thought I was very good." If she says so, she probably was. Of her performance in Around the World in 80 Days, she said merely "I stank."

Miss McLaine wants everyone to know that when she made her historic appearance on Steve Allen's television show, months ago, in the split-screen telecast from a Hollywood movie premiere — funniest five minutes television ever has offered — she was not drunk. Any girl that can be that funny sober should be snapped up by the nearest man.

She was. His name's Sieve Parker. Movie producer. Ratist.

FOUR MISTAKES
AUGUSTA, Me. — (UP) The "deer kill" during Maine's 1957 hunting season claimed nine lives, four more than the 1956 season. Three of this year's victims died due to careless gun handling. One victim was mistaken for a bear, another for a deer. Three more died from wounds inflicted from shots by hunting companions, while a stray bullet resulted in the death of one. Five teenagers were among the nine victims.

Inside Washington

BY HENRY CATHCART

WASHINGTON — Far Eastern experts here are keeping a sharp eye on the explosive situation in Indonesia and some fear it could turn into another Korea.

A worsening economic crisis due in part to the crackdown on Dutch business interests in the island republic has put the Sukarno administration in a shaky position. There is a possibility that other islands may attempt a political break from Java, where the republic's capital, Jakarta, is located.

This, some fear, might provoke civil war, with the Chinese Communists sending "volunteers" to help President Achmed Sukarno. The Soviets have already announced plans for sea "maneuvers" in the South seas.

The United States in the middle of the Dutch-Indonesian dispute, could not allow an actual Red invasion of the islands, which are rich in natural resources. The U. S. is taking a "new look" at its policy toward Indonesia, having recalled Ambassador John M. Allison and replacing him with Howard P. Jones, the deputy asstant secretary of state for far eastern affairs.

TIKE'S PROBLEMS—The difficulties that President Eisenhower faces in getting some of his key legislative proposals through Congress were pointed up in the case of his farm and reciprocal trade recommendations. The administration had a lot of trouble getting any Republican legislator to sponsor its legislation in both fields.

In the case of the farm measure, Senator George Aiken (R), Vermont, ranking GOP member of the Senate agriculture committee, flatly refused to offer the administration bill.

As a result, the administration had to go down the list of Republican committee members to the fourth-ranking member to find a sponsor. Senator Burke Hickenlooper of Iowa finally agreed.

The administration's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade law for five years likewise will be offered by a fourth-ranking committee member, Rep. Robert W. Kean (R), New Jersey, of the House ways and means committee.

TAX CUT CHANCE—Despite pleas from big corporations and small taxpayers, there appears to be little chance for income tax reductions this year.

Ironically, it probably would take a serious and continuing business recession to prompt Congress to vote tax reductions. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D), Arkansas, chairman of the House ways and means committee which is considering proposals for tax revision, said in this circumstance, a tax reduction would have to be considered as a way of reviving the national economy.

Mills emphasized that any tax cut that may come about should give taxpayers in the lowest income bracket top priority. This proposition has the endorsement of the AFL-CIO, which has called for an immediate reduction. However, Mills' position brought howls of protest from corporations and businessmen alike.

The way it stands, Congress is not likely to do anything on taxes until very late in the current session, if at all. By then, it should be apparent whether President Eisenhower's prediction the business will start on the upturn again is going to come true.

'New Adams' Newest Thing In Town

BY LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Newest thing in town is what some of the political pros are calling "the new Adams."

Newer, even, than the new Nixon, the new Adams is comfortably warming the Republican political community like a summer sun.

"Oh Sherman," the old pros are saying, "mighty nice fellow. Understanding, too."

That's a switch. Anyone in Washington can remember when Adams was the bad guy in any dramatic tale you might hear from the good boys in the Republican Party who were trying to argue the White House into playing the game of politics as they knew it should be played: the way Harry S. Truman plays it, for example.

Perhaps it is too much to suggest that Sherman Adams is playing politics now with HIS* rule book. More than a book of rules with rubrics is necessary to field a Truman in any kind of game.

Truce Has Taken Place
However that may be, a truce is here and perhaps a love affair is in prospect between President Eisenhower's chief of White House staff and the party politicians. The word began to get around town some little time ago in the casual remarks of Republican politicians. Less often was Adams held guilty of political misplays large and small which perplexed the politicians.

More in sorrow than anger, the politician might say that Adams might have presented the fumble but fewer were the accusations that he had planned it that way. Some of the complaints about Adams had been discounted by the oldtimers around town long before they began to diminish.

Sherman Says "No"

Adams is a Republican. St. Peter in charge of the party gate which leads to the President's office. It's the telephone go-between as well. The combination of jobs make him the White House "No" man. That is not a spot from which to enter a popularity contest and Adams didn't.

Any front man at the White House is a candidate for the dog house. Back there in the Hoover administration when the new president brought an engineer's efficiency to the office—even installing a telephone on the presidential desk—the White House aides took an awful drubbing.

Herbert Hoover inherited a White House ill-equipped to deal with the politician, with the press and with a mountain of correspondence. So, he created some new secretarial jobs, three of them: a press secretary, an appointments secretary and a correspondence secretary. That is substantially the setup of today.

But it was new then, and the town took unkindly to innovations. Hoover's three-man team scornfully was dubbed "the secretariat" and whatever mislaid at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue was charged to them. So it has been with Adams. His official discharge as White House whipping boy came at last week's closed meeting here of the Republican National Committee.

Two Republican old pros spoke before that assembly and for no other possible reason than that they meant it, led the cheers for Sherman Adams. The old pros were Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel R-Kan. and Rep. Richard M. Simpson R-Ta. chairman, respectively, of the Republican senatorial and congressional campaign committees.

Maybe things are looking up for the GOP.

Your Girl Scouts

By Ruth Tully

On Thursday, February 6, there will be a Troop Committee Member Training Course and Song & Dance Workshop from 10:00 until 2:30 at the Presbyterian Educational Building. All leaders and troop committee members are urged to attend. Please bring a lap lunch.

Brownie Troop 318 from the Pinecrest School invited two girls into their troop on January 14. The two new members receiving their pins were Mary Rae Hite and Diane Huskin. Mrs. Marie Lewis, Troop Leader, placed the pins on the girls' collars up-side-down, to be placed right side up after they have done a good deed for someone. Besides the Investiture the Troop had a busy month. They have made Brownie calendars, napkins, nut cups, hiked, and learned a new Brownie song.

Last Monday Brownie Troop 296 invited Troop 321 to a skating party at the Singing Wheels Rink. Attending from 296 were Linda Conn, Ann Steinyer, Joan Dobne, Debbie Howe, Nancy Rogers, Janet Blair, Molly McInnis, Pat Howard, Margie Wilson, Melaine Poulton, Ethel Walters, Janet Oliver and May Stogor. Guests from 321 consisted of Barbara Bowles, Pamela Atkinson, Linda Donahue, Gloria Crandall, Jane Harts, Sheryl Jones, Jan Michael, Susan McCall, Sally McCall, Claire Rosman, Bonnie Todd and Diana Watson. Leaders and Assistants who accompanied the girls were Mrs. Sally McInnis, Mrs. Ann Oliver, Mrs. Claire Fite and Mrs. Marie Atkinson.

Troop 233 with their leader Mrs. Betty Linker, spent a recent Saturday at the Carraway Ranch. This was the troop's first cookout and the morning was spent cutting and gathering wood as well as observing the livestock around. The afternoon was devoted to fly-up work which included trail work, mapmaking and firemaking. On hand to aid and supervise were Mrs. Irene Harris, Mrs. Willie Mae Prokosh, "Doc" Linker and Mr. Carraway. This troop is planning a trip to DeLand on February 8 to attend the matinee performance of the Lottie Goster Pantomime Circus.

February 1 was the first birthday of Brownie Troop 135 of the All Souls School and the girls will celebrate it at their regular meeting on February 8. Mrs. Margaret Faile presents one-year pins to her Brownies.

The new Brownie Troop, as yet unnumbered, of second grade girls from All Souls School will hold an investiture ceremony on Friday, Feb. 7. Leader Mrs. Loraine Deane will invest 16 girls into her new troop.

Last Thursday Brownie Troop 289 went on an outing to the Sanford Zoo. They were accompanied by Leader Mrs. Hilton and Assistant Mrs. Rogers.

The Neighborhood Association of Girl Scouts met Thursday evening, Jan. 30, at the Episcopal Parish House. The opening devotion was led by Rev. David S. Carnrick of the Christian and Alliance Church. Neighborhood Chairman Mrs. Julie Chase presided and pointed out the tremendous growth of the Scout organization in the County. A year ago there were around 100 girls participating. Since then a number of new troops have been organized and there are now more than 400 Brownies and Girl Scouts. She urged that the quality of leadership, organization and programming be kept abreast with this expansion.

Mrs. Alta Bauer outlined final plans for the Juliette Low International Friendship Program which will be held Sunday, Feb. 23 at the High School Auditorium from 3 to 5 p. m. All troops will participate and are requested to attend rehearsal at the Auditorium Saturday morning, Feb. 22, from 9:00 until 12:00.

Mrs. E. S. Higginbotham Jr., chairman of the Girl Scout Cookie Sale, met Thursday evening with representatives from each of the troops and mapped plan for the cookie sale which will be held February 10 through 22.

All the news is about the weather and none of this is good. Shall we all go south for the winter? Gone seem to be our balmy Januaries and Februaries, where there was a nip in the air in the morning and a burning warmth in the afternoon. Next year I shall get a larger oil tank—that should insure warmer breezes.

On the sixth of February members of the Hospital Auxiliary will don one red stocking to plug the High Fever Follies. Those not wearing the stockings will be fined. Those who may have seen me today downtown in a pair of red stockings should not get the wrong idea. I am simply cold.

By the way, those High Fever Follies tickets are on sale from all Auxiliary members. Also the box office will be open for three nights during the performance of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth. All tickets are for two dollars, except for Patron tickets, of course.

Dropped in at Polly Brubaker's last night where rehearsal was going on around the piano. There was a grand spirit of camaraderie hanging over the group. The director Chris Carter seemed enthused with his cast. He is determined to make this year's show even better than last.

He too came out from his busy schedule last Friday to attend Career Day at Seminole High School, where business men and women and professionals tell the boys and girls about their careers.

Hear that Dave Canning accepted a plaque for the Navy from the United States Navy? He is at Mt. Plymouth Saturday night, when a huge crowd attended the benefit cancer fund banquet. Understand that Mick is not as eloquent as he is handsome, but there should be shortcomings to every hero.

Must run now, as it is very late and the fire will need considerable building if it is to get as cold as every one says it will. How about calling me with your news down here at the office. I'm mighty good at listening, but my talker is doing poorly.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce of Live Oak announce the birth of a daughter, Leslie Marie, on Thursday, January 23 in the Suwannee County Hospital. Mrs. Bruce is the former Miss Louise Hires of Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Drew of Wagner announce the birth of a son, Jupiter C., who was born at 3:23 A. M. in the Seminole Memorial Hospital February 1. The baby was named for the Jupiter, which had been launched only four hours before. He weighed 7 lbs., 5 oz.

NEW YORK—The big boys who turn to pro football are missing the financial post, former light heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich said today, because they could hit the boxing jackpot in two or six years without getting hurt.

"I'd rather see my son go into boxing than football," Lesnevich insisted. "In football they get all busted up for nothing, in baseball the physical strain is murder and in baseball only the real top stars make the big money."

But in boxing, Gus argues, talent is so scarce that anyone with the ability and desire can hit the top swiftly.

"And they won't get hurt doing it, either," he said. "In my day, when I was getting started, they never stopped a bout for a cut or anything like that. They wanted to see you get killed. But now they are cautious and a man who keeps himself in condition and learns properly is in no danger at all."

Not Hungry
The trouble now, he says, is that the kids aren't hungry. "My family had no money," he explained. "We were poor folks. So when I'm 15 years old I go down to the amateurs and start fighting. I guess I made more than $500,000 and, while I fought 19 years, I'm not walking on my heels because I trained hard and took care of myself."

But even his 15-year-old son isn't interested in boxing.

"He's not hungry," Gus laughed. "When he needs a few bucks he comes to the old man. I never did it, so I'm easy with him. And if he needs a few extra dollars he can always pick it up carding."

"Naturally, I want to see him get an education, because that's something they can't ever take away from you," Gus added. "But if he had the talent, I'd like to see him box. As it is, he's crazy for football."

Gus rubbed a taped ankle as he mentioned the word. He sprained it a while back catching football passes with his boy.

Dying, But Not Extinct
Now a traffic representative for a trucking concern, Lesnevich mourns the fact that boxing is "dying" but doesn't see the day when it will become extinct.

Spring Training Officially Opens In Four Weeks

NEW YORK—American and National League teams will play each other in a total of 147 exhibition games during spring training, which officially opens less than four weeks from today.

American League teams will play a total of 221 exhibition games and National League teams will play 217, it has been announced.

Two traditional spring rivalries will be missing this year — one between the Dodgers and Yankees and the other between the White Sox and the Cubs.

Instead of the Dodgers, the Philadelphia Phillies will wind up as the "Yankees" home-and-home rivals on the last day of the exhibition season.

The San Francisco Giants, who will continue to train at Phoenix, Ariz., also will continue their spring series with the Cleveland Indians. The Los Angeles Dodgers also are remaining at Vero Beach, Fla., for this year's training chores.

Players may not be ordered to report for spring training until Feb. 28, but any of them wishing to report earlier may do so. As a result, the Phillies will be the first team to start gathering when their first contingent reports at Clearwater, Fla., next Friday.

In addition to $13,600 in cash prizes, the overall winning team will receive the coveted Amoco trophy, one of the most valuable awards in racing history.

AMERICANS LOSE

That's why he thinks the burly collegiate footballers who turn to the pro gridiron and other sports as a profession are making a mistake.

"Pro boxers are born with the talent," he cautions. "But some of these big guys must have it. As college guys they can spell psychiatrist. They ought to go see one."

Track Is Being Built At Uoff

GAINESVILLE, The nation's most unique and practical running track is currently being constructed at the University of Florida.

Running surface of the new track, which will be completed within a month, is an asphalt preparation — a mixture of asphalt and shredded fibre — which will be about a quarter-inch thick. This will cover an asphalt base similar to that used in construction of highways.

The revolutionary track is the brainchild of Florida's Track Coach Percy Beard, former world record and Olympics hurdler, who is also originator of the concrete shot and discus ring, used in the 1956 Olympics and adopted by the NCAA for championship meets.

Beard has been interested for several years now in developing an all-weather running surface, a surface that no amount of rain would hamper. In recent years he has corresponded with large chemical and asphalt companies, searching for the one most practical surface.

He has tested numerous ideas, including a combination of shredded rubber and asphalt and a concrete surface.

Beard sent questionnaires to 100 track coaches throughout the nation, asking their opinions on the type of track he wanted to build. The majority felt the asphalt idea a practical one.

Besides the all-weather feature of the new track, it is expected to have a good bit of resilience to it. It will also eliminate maintenance problems found with the conventional cinder track.

Runners will use the short, quarter-inch, spike on their shoes, and no loss of traction at the starts is expected.

Beard will not be at all surprised if others follow this new idea for track construction in the future.

The first meet to be held on the Florida track will be the Florida Relays, March 29, when more than 1,000 athletes from over the country will be present.

Fans are going to be pleased with the new track and field layout, too. Steel stands for 4,000 will be placed on the west side, and parking facilities for 180 cars will be available. When more parking is needed, adjacent fields will be used. Rest room facilities, and eventually dressing rooms for the athletes, are being constructed at the new field, which is located on the west side of the campus, just behind the baseball field.

All races run will finish at the same spot, and officials will be seated in a straight row, up the stands. Behind the timer and finish judges will be the scorer and announcer, behind them the press.

The fans at the Florida track will enjoy field events more now, too. Conduits are being laid, and field phones will be located at each of the points where such events as the shot put, discus, broad jump, high jump, javelin, and pole vault are being conducted. A man will be stationed at these locations, who will keep the public address announcer informed of progress in the field events.

Golf Clubs Show Steady Increase
CHICAGO—A record total of 185 new golf courses was opened in 1957, but there still weren't enough to handle the week-end jam between fairways.

In a year-end review the National Golf Foundation said the figure marked a new high for the fifth consecutive year. Next year promises to be even better from the golfer's viewpoint, pointing to a total of 320 courses and additions now under construction, plus another 833 courses in the planning stage.

"Experience has shown that a good many of those on the planning list may never take physical form," said Rex McMorris, executive director of the foundation. "But they represent a steadily growing number of groups and individuals actively considering the possibilities of golf in their areas."

Major League Stars Enter Tourney

Two Top State Drivers Enter Sports Car Race

NEW SMYRNA BEACH—Florida's two top drivers of the 1957 feature race are among the first group of entries for the second annual New Smyrna Beach sports car races scheduled for the 2.4 mile black top airport course here Sunday, Feb. 16.

Rees T. Makins of Ft. Lauderdale, who finished eighth in the 40-lap Paul Whitman Trophy feature race here last season, and Duncan Forlong of Tampa, who finished seventh in the same event, are slated to return again.

Makins, who finished in a tie for ninth place in the SCCA Class C production division national standings last season, will be driving a Corvette this year rather than a Mercedes, while Forlong is slated to pilot his A. C. Bristol.

Carroll Shelby of Dallas, Tex., winner of the 40-lap feature last season, ranks again as the driver to beat in the 40-lap Paul Whitman trophy race heading the six-event program, but Race Chairman Dick Dunagan of Palmetto expects a field equal to the 1957 star-studded pack to compete this season.

Among the entries of the various classes for the New Smyrna Beach race are the following: Class C modified: Jack Enslley, Indianapolis, Ind.; D Jaguar; E. D. Martin, Columbus, Ga.; Ferrari Monza, and H. E. Rollings, Savannah, Ga.; D Jaguar.

Class C production: Richard Shaddadde, Lakeland, D. Jaguar. Class D production: Pete Harrison, Atlanta, Ga.; Austin-Healey. Class E modified: Logan Lewis, Macon, Ga.; Messerli, and Joe Sheppard, Tampa, Mass.

Class E production: Duncan Forlong, Tampa, A. C. Bristol; W. G. Dunn, Orlando, A. C. Bristol; William Kimberley, Pensacola, Triumph.

Class F modified: Jim Hareum, Jacksonville, John Cuevas, Miami, Porsche R. S. Spyder.

Class G modified: Roy Schechter, Miami, Lotus; Peter Laife, Jacksonville, Cooper Climax; William Bowman, Palm Beach, Lotus.

Class G production: Forrest W. Duda, West Palm Beach, Alfa Romeo; Raymond L. Anderson, Riverdale, N. Y., Alfa Romeo.

Class H modified: Harry Fry, Miami, Abarth Fiat.

The artist Renault would hire no household servants unless they were capable of doubling as models for him.

MIAMI—The cream of major league diamond talent is represented on the 34-man entry list for the 18th annual Baseball Players' Golf Tournament to be held Feb. 13-16 at Miami (Springs) Country Club.

St. Louis Cardinal shortstop Alvin Dark, defending champion, will be out after his fourth title in the event.

And, according to tournament director George Jacobus, this year's tourney could be a renewal of the rivalry between Dark and Chicago White Sox manager Al Lopez.

Lopez was runner-up to Dark in 1955 and 1957 and has shown tremendous improvement, according to Jacobus.

"But anything can happen in this tournament—baseball players are natural competitors and they really like to win," he added.

Qualifying round in the event is set for Feb. 13 followed by three days of match play. The 36-hole finals will be held Feb. 16.

The tournament is free to the public. The entries: MAJOR LEAGUE FLIGHT: Don Bessent, Roger Craig, Gil Hodges, Clem Labine, and Don Newcombe, Dodgers; Billy Herman, Joe Taylor, and Del Rice, Braves; Roy Cullenbine, Ray Boone, and Bob Shaw, Tigers; Rudy Laskowski, Virgil Trucks, Billy Martin, and Ralph Terry, Athletics; Mickey Mantle, Bob Grim, Yogi Berra, Whiskey Ford, Darrell Johnson and Joe Collins, Yankees; Roy McMillan, Johnny Temple, Jack Sewell and Johnny Dell, Redlegs; Bob G. Friend and Gene Freese, Pirates; Walt Dropo and Al Lopez, White Sox, Milwaukee and Lee Walls, Cubs; Ing, Senators; Ken Shabert, Philadelphia Phillies; Albin Pearson, Red Sox, and Ewell Blackwell, Yankees.

PRESS FLIGHT: Jimmy Powers, New York Daily News; Gene Kessler, Chicago Sun Times; Francis Stann, Washington Star; Norris Anderson, Miami News; Jimmy Burns, Miami Herald, and Lew Price, City of Miami Public-Intelligence Director.

RADIO AND TV FLIGHT: George Bryson, Ed Little, Joseph Stewart and Lew Fosses. GUEST FLIGHT: Dick Fincher, Dr. Farancia A. Glen, Fred B. Sulte, William B. MacDonald, William M. Kennedy, Joe Taylor, Dr. Francis Cook, Alan Gale, Wallace MacCory and Ken Shabert. INACTIVE MAJOR LEAGUE FLIGHT: Jack Russell, Phil Rizzuto, Joseph Monahan and Augie Bergamo. MINOR LEAGUE FLIGHT: Jack Langer, Don Petrizzi and George Saab.

Jinxed Vanguard Fails Again Today

CAPE CANAVERAL (UP) — The Vanguard rocket finally struggled into the sky early today but it faltered and broke in two after a one-minute flight and had to be destroyed. The new Navy failure sent several million dollars worth of ordnance tumbling into the Atlantic. It left the freshly launched Army Explorer riding lone among the stars with the second Russian Sputnik. There was no indication when the Navy tried again to get a vest-pocket satellite into orbit aboard the Vanguard. Another rocket is ready. But the study of what happened to today's will undoubtedly delay it. Dr. John Hagen, director of the Vanguard project, exclaimed "Oh, no!" when informed in Washington of the full rocket assembly. The Vanguard rose laboriously almost enveloped in its ground exhaust and climbed very slowly into the clear but almost freezing Florida pre-dawn. It seemed to hang for a moment at a modest altitude, broke into two fiery

2 Lions Cubs Arrive Today Amid Fanfare

Two lion cubs arrived in Sanford this morning accompanied by screaming sirens and a motorcade of city officials and dignitaries. Arriving by Riddle Airlines, the cubs were in separate cages, and were treated royally at the airport after their long flight from Cleveland, O. George A. Wimberly Jr., Central Florida manager for Riddle Airlines, said the two cubs arrived "in good shape." He turned the two regal beauties over to Mervin Crandall representing the Florida State Bank which presented the male lion cub to the city for the Municipal Zoo. A battery of photographers for newspapers and television was on hand, too, to record the arrival of the two cubs from the Cleveland, O. Zoo. The cubs were brought to Sanford in two city trucks accompanied by a motorcade which was led out of Orlando and Winter Park by screaming sirens. Immediately on their arrival in Sanford, after stopping the motorcade at First St. and Park Ave. (Continued on Page 10)

Ike Schedules Much Work Despite Cold

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower, refusing to give in to a cold, scheduled a heavy work load today topped by a news conference and an important foreign policy huddle. The President, who thought for a while Tuesday he would "have to quit and go to bed," stayed up long past his usual bedtime to play host at a glittering White House Soiree for 50 top scientists and military leaders. He confessed there that he might have caught his cold at a breakfast meeting with Republican leaders last Friday morning. He said that was the last time he was "grounded" by a cold. At a morning news conference Eisenhower faced a battery of reporters armed with questions ranging from plans for negotiating with the Russians on outer space controls and a "summit"

National Service Project Launched By Boy Scouts

The 4,700,000 boys and leaders of the Boy Scouts of America will launch a yearlong National Safety Good Turn during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13. The Scouts' national service project was suggested by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Honorary President of the Boy Scouts. In a White House message, President Eisenhower told the Scouts: "In our land each individual is of inestimable worth, yet in no other land do accidents cause a more terrible loss of human life and limb. This fact cannot be passively accepted. We must work now to save the basic resources of our Nation; its people. Encouraged by the splendid results of your Conservation Good Turn four years ago, I now urge you to adopt Safety as your service project for 1958. Through the concerted action of your members, and in cooperation with other organizations, you can alert the public to the urgent need for reducing the tragic toll of accidents. This is an opportunity for service to your country in the highest tradition of the Boy Scouts of America." The Scouts' National Safety Good Turn is being coordinated nationally and locally with other safety programs and campaigns. National safety organizations have advised and assisted Scout leaders in developing plans and projects. During March, April, and May, the projects will involve traffic safety, outdoor safety projects will keep Scouts busy in June, July, and August. Home safety will be featured in September, October, and November.

DeBary Seeks 35 MPH Speed Limit Throughout Town

The DeBary Planning Board has requested that the State Road Department set a 35 mile per hour speed limit on U. S. 17-92 throughout the entire length of DeBary. For the safety of DeBary residents and the traveling public this is felt to be necessary, a release from the Planning Board said this morning. "Many drivers of vehicles passing through DeBary exceed the 43 mile limit, especially on the north and south ends of DeBary and pay little attention to the 35 mile limit in the center section," the release stated. "With a great deal of DeBary local traffic turning left off the highway at the post office, many accidents have occurred which a 35 mile enforcement speed limit might have prevented, the request stated. "The State Road Department has agreed to make a traffic survey to determine whether or not a 35 mile speed limit is justified. During the survey they will also check violations of stop signs by drivers entering or crossing the highway, it was disclosed. Their last survey showed a large number of such violations by local residents, said the DeBary Planning Board. The State Road Department has advised the board that if they grant a 35 mile speed limit throughout DeBary they will expect enforcement of the limit as well as compliance with stop signs. The Planning Board has expressed its gratification over the "excellent job of financing U. S. 17-92 on the hill just south of DeBary and north of the Henson Junction railroad crossing." This has provided a passing lane on the hill which has reduced the possibility of accidents due to impatient drivers passing slow moving trucks on the hill, said the board. The three left-turn lanes have been completed on U. S. 17-92 in DeBary and these will be additional help towards traffic safety, the board spokesman reported this morning. "Crossing the double yellow lines in these lanes must be stopped," the spokesman said, "in order that the turn-out lanes can fulfill their safety function."

Davis Will Speak Tomorrow Night

The Seminole County Board of Commissioners will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow night at 7 p. m. The dinner meeting will be held at Pinescrest Inn. Speaker for the occasion will be Attorney Joe Davis who is expected to speak on the legal technicalities involved in the sale and transfer of property.

Portion Of SR-44 Is Designated For New Highway

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners yesterday approved a resolution designating a portion of State Road 44 a part of the Interstate Highway System. The request that a section of the highway be designated for the new highway came from Hrsan Henry, attorney for the State Road Department in Tallahassee.

Workers Released Without Notice

Three former employees of the Seminole County road department appealed to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday for "a reason why each one was let go." The three men, two truck drivers, and a shop foreman were released without notice last Friday as they were handed their regular pay checks. J. C. Pearson told commissioners "I was handed a letter which read 'due to the reorganization of the road department your services are not required.' Pearson said he had been employed by the county for nearly eight years. Henry Deas, the shop foreman said "Why I was let go I do not know. He said I didn't cooperate—

Local Baseball Fans To Gather At City Hall Tonite

Year's winteriest weather notwithstanding, most of the city's most rabid baseball fans are expected at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock for an exploratory meeting out of which may come word that Sanford will return to the Class D Florida State League this summer after a two year absence. Chamber of Commerce secretary John Knider's office staff was busy today calling all sports committee members and others believed interested in seeing the city back in the league it helped organize in 1936. That the meeting will be the most unusual ever held for a similar purpose here is certain in that local sponsors can have their choice of three full working agreements with major league clubs. The Pittsburgh Pirates, the San Francisco Giants, and the Baltimore Orioles have all announced thru league headquarters that they have players and money for "irresponsible" Sanford operators. According to league secretary Peter Schaal, the "money" is actually a gift valued at from $50,000 to $150,000, all of it required by baseball rules whenever a major league club "works" with a Class D sponsor. There is a good possibility, he added, that before the April 12 opening game date the major league's will raise from $3,000 to $4,000 the cash they will pay to a local sponsor for the opportunity to locate a squad of handpicked players, many of them bona paid, in a community for the summer. Knider will be chairman of the session, and a special guest will be Fred Hering, field representative of the Pirates. Hering will be (Continued on Page 10)

Mayor Proclaims High Fever Follies Week Feb. 9-15

Mayor Merle Warner set aside the week of Feb. 9-15 as "High Fever Follies Week" yesterday in a proclamation signed at Seminole Memorial Hospital. Mayor Warner pointed out in his proclamation that the High Fever Follies presentation will mean "that additional essential equipment can be provided to implement the facilities at the Seminole Memorial Hospital." The proclamation was signed while officials of the hospital, officers of the Womens Auxiliary, and officials of the High Fever Follies committee looked on. The Mayor also emphasized in the proclamation that calls attention to the coming attractions to be presented at the Seminole High School auditorium that the "Womens Auxiliary is now engaged in making preparations for the annual presentation of the High Fever Follies using the talents of local civilian and military citizens." Concluding the proclamation, Mayor Warner said "I urgently request the people of Sanford to cooperate in every manner possible in making this endeavor on the part of the Womens Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital a splendid and significant success."

Sketches Of New Jail, Addition Are Underway

Preliminary sketches for the new Seminole County Jail and addition to the present court house will be in the hands of the commissioners before their next meeting. Architect John Burton IV told the board of county commissioners yesterday. "Things are pretty well wrapped up so that we can have a report in the hands of commissioners before next meeting," he said. However, in order to complete the report, Burton asked for a complete list of all agencies housed in the court house and outside of the court house. "Not that we will include space in the new structure plans but so that we will be able to make recommendations to the board," said Burton. The proposed new county jail will include three stories and house the court room, jail, sheriff's offices, judges chambers and juvenile detention quarters as well as a womens detention area. Plans proposed also call for the remodeling of the present court house to provide additional space for departments and agencies of the county government.

Workers Released Without Notice

but I didn't have a chance with two bosses." Deas had been employed for nearly 10 years. Cecil Brooks, employed as a truck driver for 20 months, complained "I'd like to have an honest reason why my work wasn't satisfactory." Commissioner Fred Dyson told the board "I have to agree this was wrong — I think they should have a notice that they are fired." However, the board of commissioners agreed that they would support the new Road Superintendent, Fred Stogher, 100 per cent. Commissioner Chairman John Knider explained that "We are looking to our Road Superintendent to operate the road department and
