Eight Million Tons a Year

United States production of merchant shipping will reach a record total of more than 8,000,000 tons a month this summer, according to Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission...

It is hard for the public to grasp the magnitude of these figures, Admiral Land points out. Consider just the 8,000,000 tons. That would amount to 800 big ships of 10,000 tons each...

The Maritime Commission lets the contracts for these ships, he writes, "and supervises their construction. But the actual building is done by private companies..."

Admiral Land reveals that of all the ships built during '42 and '43, more than half will be of the Liberty Ship type—10,500 deadweight tons, 441 feet long, with a speed of better than 11 knots...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Phyllis Jennette Allen
Phillip Allen Byrd
Glen Allen, Sr.
Mrs. W. W. Warner

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

A few weeks ago I had occasion to read a book of mine in Florida. Notwithstanding the fact that I was in Florida, I was surprised to find that my book was not known to many of my friends.

It is a sad thing to find that a book of yours is not known to your friends. It is a sad thing to find that a book of yours is not known to your friends.

That program is now operating in many cities — and with the Nation at war, having industry, commerce and military production, it is essential to have citizens who are alert and active.

A special service will be held Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. This service is being held for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a new building for the church.

Lieut. Louis Bills Weds Betsy Northrup

A wedding creating much interest in this city, Miss Betsy Northrup, daughter of Col. and Mrs. A. B. Lewis of Long Beach, Calif., and Lieut. Louis Bills, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bills, Jr., of Geneva, which was performed on Apr. 17.

An account of the wedding taken from the Long Beach Press-Telegram follows: "One of the most colorful and outstanding of military weddings of the season was that of Miss Betsy Northrup and Lieut. Louis Bills, Friday evening at the chapel of the Normandy Wedding Manor, with Rev. Perry G. M. Austin officiating in the presence of 75 guests, including high ranking Army officers and their wives.

Lieut. Bills stationed here with the Ferry Command.

The former Miss Northrup was charming in a white crepe ensemble with fuchsia hat and muffs or matching sash. She was attended by Mrs. John Morry, who wore blue crepe and carried a bouquet of Dutch iris, camellias and lilacs. Bridesmaids were Misses Billie Neale and Laddie Eckles, who wore lighter blue crepe and carried Colonial bouquets of blending daisies. The best girls of all three attendants matched the bouquets. Lieut. Bills was served by fellow officers, Lieut. Ernest Proett, H. McIntyre and Fred Cummins. All were in full dress uniform.

Tall lighted candelabra tapers, altar banked with white gladioli, stock, larkspur and sweet peas and the distinguished appearance of Army officers in uniform marked the unusually impressive ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Col. William F. Lewis, hostess at the reception that followed was Mrs. Walter Blackmer, mother of the motion picture star, Sidney Blackmer. Mrs. Charles Wilkes presided at the punch bowl. The bride's table was beautiful in its display of white taffeta, Victorian style with huge bouquets of flowers and adornment of tapers. The three-armed wedding cake was decorated with wisteria and topped by a miniature bride and aviator. It was cut by the couple with the bridegroom's sword. Mr. Blackmer, who carried the bride, and Mrs. Blackmer, who carried the bride, were the first to taste in the newly-weds.

Lieut. Bills and Mrs. Bills will reside at the Gayton. Mrs. Bills is a graduate of Wilson, Long Beach, Junior College and the University of California. She is affiliated with the chapters of Kappa Alpha and Kappa Alpha fraternities.

An interesting program on "Mothers Day" was conducted by Mrs. R. W. Turner, who gave several readings pertaining to "Mothers Day." The singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" concluded the meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses including Mrs. J. H. Williams, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. M. E. Moye, Mrs. R. L. Hincholter and Mrs. M. M. Mason, Sr.

Those present in addition to the hostesses were: Mrs. Mable Blount, Mrs. W. P. Fields, Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, Mrs. J. G. Watta, Mrs. J. L. Emmonson, Mrs. E. Moye, Mrs. Orpha M. Hughey, Mrs. W. P. Chapman, Mrs. I. D. Martin, Mrs. L. Went, Mrs. U. G. Swingle, Mrs. Hilmer Landquist and Mrs. Agnes Smith.

MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK, Apr. 22 (VWS) — Joe E. Lewis is nothing if not unprompted. When something pops into his head, he says it.

Not inadvertently, for that is Joe's way. But nothing is for fun. Anything to get a laugh.

Joe's last night in town was at the Metropolitan. His engagement ended on a little unprogrammed note that was funny. Power playing for the boys, too.

Joe saw the outline of a young man about 100 lbs. tall, wearing the pants he had made. The play was beginning to back him. It had elastic walls. All though it was stretched still the waters found space for additional tables.

Then Tyrone Power and some friends came in. As I mentioned Joe was sitting by the grand piano to the faces, singing his famous song about "Sammy." It made the pants too tight.

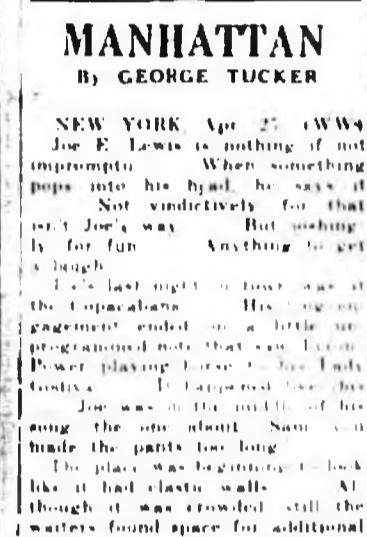

In the middle of the song right in the middle of the line that goes "Sammy, you made the best of all things," he stopped. Some of the people weren't listening to him. They were tugging their necks and saying "There's Tyrone Power. Right over there."

When Joe stopped singing the silence sort of reached out and tapped Joe on the head and said "They looked back at Joe, who grinned.

"I been thinking," said Joe. "That you ought to get a new name. You ought to be called 'Joe E. Lewis'."

Joe E. Lewis has seldom played to more applause than greeted this silly New Yorker's love to be lectured by the right guy, and Joe is that guy. They laughed and they cheered and wished him well for that was Joe's last track, and by now he is in Hollywood, for his first picture.

I forgot to add that the guy who laughed loudest of all was Tyrone Power.

Timothy Baskin

Standing 6 feet, 7 1/2 inches tall, and weighing 241 pounds, Timothy "Tiny Tim" Baskin went to Washington to see about getting into the service. Because of his height, every recruiting board in Chicago, army, navy and marine corps — turned him down because of his size.

I been talking to you like this about fifteen minutes and it's only you two bucks and a half. Isn't that silly, now, to waste all that money when you can get Tyrone Power for 35 cents with the March of Time and Donald Duck thrown in.

And all the time you can go home sitting here spending all that money by making me talk like this. You're a smart guy, aren't you?

Joe E. Lewis has seldom played to more applause than greeted this silly New Yorker's love to be lectured by the right guy, and Joe is that guy. They laughed and they cheered and wished him well for that was Joe's last track, and by now he is in Hollywood, for his first picture.

I forgot to add that the guy who laughed loudest of all was Tyrone Power.

30,000 Men Are Now Building U.S. - Alaska Road

By SAM JACKSON
SEATTLE, Apr. 22 (VWS) — In the spring thaws of the Canadian forest some 10,000 men are desperately pushing a road—the only road connecting the United States with its vast, rich and supremely strategic territory of Alaska.

Like many other things, the Alaska highway looks much different from Pearl Harbor than it looked before.

When I visited Alaska just before the war with Japan it was almost impossible to be a newcomer. For the road had not already been built.

Shipping already was badly strained. A newspaper publisher on Ketchikan had had printers ink brought up in a barrel of water. Gasoline stocks were extremely low. Worry was expressed over the road. Freight paid out of pocket in a hurry.

The territory wanted air connections, and offering a 14-day blackout owing to fogs. These suspensions were frequent.

Such a heavy transportation difficulty was apparent to any road builder. A number of auto roads had been built in the home States, but the Alaska road was a different matter. It was a highway.

At the time it was that the public had no idea of the road and like the Alaska road, it was a main line.

The road was a main line. It was a highway. It was a main line. It was a highway. It was a main line. It was a highway.

The road was a main line. It was a highway. It was a main line. It was a highway. It was a main line. It was a highway.

Braves Score 4 Runs In 4th To Defeat Chicago

CHICAGO, Apr. 24. (AP)—The Boston Braves rans up on Big Bill Lee for four runs in the fourth inning Tuesday to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 3, on a total of 12 hits against three pitchers.

The Braves made 10 of their 12 hits off Lee, four of which came in the fourth inning when Lee tossed in two walks to start the Boston cause. One other Boston hit was a homer in the ninth by Tommy Holmes, rookie outfielder. Froilan Fernandez, rookie third baseman, paced the Braves' attack with a double and three singles.

Dodgers Hit Riddle To Lick Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Apr. 24. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers showed their wrath to the West yesterday for the first time this season and routed Elmer Riddle in less than two innings to beat the Cincinnati Reds 7 to 2.

All of Cincinnati's runs came off Whitlow Wyatt in the first inning on Frank McCormick's double with the bases loaded and although they were unearned they convinced both Wyatt and Manager Leo Durocher that the Dodgers were not yet in shape and he retired for a pinch-hitter in the second stanza.

Auker Beats Ruffing As St. Louis Wins

NEW YORK, Apr. 24. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns bounced off the floor of a nine-game losing streak yesterday to trip the world champion New York Yankees 3 to 1 and knock them out of their tie for first place in the American League.

The struggle was a sparkling hurling duel between Elden Auker and Charley (Red) Ruffing with the St. Louis submarine ball expert holding the Yanks to six hits, one of which was a home run by Tom Henrich in the fourth inning for New York's only score.

Red Sox Figure To Trouble New York Yankees

By DILLON GRAMAM
 NEW YORK, Apr. 24. (AP)—It's a long way to the end of the chase in late September but if early developments are indicative Boston's Red Sox may give the Yankees quite a race.

The Red Sox, runners-up for several years, knocked a bit of confidence out of the Yanks when they took the first series, two out of three games. And they might easily have made it a clean sweep, as the Yankees' win came in a narrow 1-0 affair. In case you don't know it, that was something of a feat. The Yanks lost fewer series and almost never drop the opening set at home.

The Bostonians had more power than New York last year. Ted Williams, Jimmy Fox and Joe Cronin knocked in more runs than the Yankees' top trio. But pitching weakness and a sloppy defense handcuffed the Sox. Their pitching is locking up now and the defense is tighter, too, with young John Pesky patrolling the short field in place of the veteran Cronin.

Tabor is a good third-sacker but he'll lose every game—except as he did the one against the Yankees—with erratic throws to first. Cronin has made good his Spring promise to become a bench manager. He said he had a wizard in Pesky, the kid from Louisville, and Johnny seems to be a ground find. He'll cover more field than Joe did and, unless his hitting falls off to nothing, he'll remain at short.

However, he takes a daily warm-up in the infield. He wants to be in shape in case the army changes his mind and calls Ted Williams into service. In that case, Cronin probably would go to third base and put Tabor in the outfield.

The Sox are well-fixed with infield reserves; besides Cronin, there are Tom Carey, Paul Campbell, who can also double in the outfield, and Skeeter Newsome, who started the season at second in place of Bobby Doerr who is bothered with a back ailment. Cronin has five starting pitchers—Hiber Newsome, the young ace of last year; Charles Wagner, Joe Deason, Oscar Judd and the rookie Yank Terry. Their early performances have given Manager Cronin encouragement.
