

District Convention At Church Of God

A sixth district convention will be held at the Church of God, Elm Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street, Friday night, Saturday and Sunday and several hundred members of the denomination are due to be present from Seminole, Volusia and Lake counties, the Rev. Joe Crews announced today.

Montieth Talks To Presbyterian Group

The satisfaction that comes from taking one's income and "taking God into partnership" in business was outlined last night to members of the Presbyterian Men's Club by Howard Montieith, local insurance agent, following a supper in the church annex last night. Joel Field introduced him.

Mr. Montieith told of a young Chicago business man whose endeavors failed until he prayed to God to be his partner. Today that man, James L. Craft, has the largest type of business of its kind in the world, he pointed out.

Stanley Brumley led in group singing with Harry Wester accompanying. The Rev. A. G. McInnis showed stereoscopic pictures related to the proper use of money and tithing.

Women on the supper committee included Mrs. Charles Morrison, Mrs. S. D. Highleyman, Mrs. W. M. Hoag, Mrs. Dick McLaulin, Mrs. C. B. Dawson and Mrs. W. C. Smith. Mrs. Hoag and Mrs. McLaulin supplied the pleasing floral decorations.

Railroads

(Continued From Page One) The car squirts white paint on the spot. A following crew replaces the rail, and, if the trouble is fundamental, all other rails received in the same lot are traced down and inspected.

The Central does not depend entirely on mechanical gadgets. It attempts, like other railroads, to guard against "human failure" in the train's operation. An engineer must have 20/20 vision and good hearing to get his job. He must not be the slightest bit color blind. Before he goes on duty he fishes through balls of different shades of yarn to prove he can distinguish signal light colors in foggy weather.

But in a summary drawn up before the Woodridge accident, the Pennsylvania described the automatic stop system as "appealing in theory" but as having no practical advantage—in fact, a very definite disadvantage. It continued: "The automatic stop as installed on railroads was accompanied by a forester so that the engine-man could eliminate it at will and indicate to the signal indications and his judgement. Obviously, there again the human element is paramount and the automatic stop is secondary.

"If the automatic stop is installed without the forester, so that the responsibility is practically removed from the engine-man it is only human to expect that with this lessening, if not entire removal of manual control, there will be a dullness, a diminution of alertness and a decreased sense of responsibility on the part of the engine-man."

The Pennsylvania summary said that for fast heavy trains there was "no mechanical device which can be substituted for the engine-man's personal control and judgement in their proper and safe manipulation."

"Anyone who has driven an automobile in heavy traffic can understand what we are talking about."

"He is governed not only by signal indications, which of course is paramount, but also by speed, weight, traffic before and behind, distance and other elements which must be taken into consideration."

The Pennsylvania, relating its effort to prevent "human failure," said: "For example, in 1949 more than 40,000 road checks of train and engine crews were made by supervisory experts of the Pennsylvania Railroad under a wide variety of operating conditions and situations."

"Severe discipline is administered to employes who fail in these tests."

The Pennsylvania said "the current condition of the employe is checked every time he reports for duty."

Salvation Army Meets In Atlanta

Capt. Eva Williams and Lieut. Hazel Frierson of the local Salvation Army Post will leave Thursday for Atlanta, Ga., where workers from posts in 15 states will meet.

Among those who will attend will be National Commander Ernest Pagnine, who has charge of all of the Salvation Army work in the United States, and Col. William Noble. Capt. Williams yesterday was polishing up her big brass horns in preparation to entering the big parade in which bands from 10 districts will participate and later will compete in contests.

"These checks," it said, "cover their general appearance, physical condition, alertness, sobriety, knowledge of the line's current physical and operating conditions and latest changes that affect the movement of trains over the territory in which they are operating."

The ICC reported the total number of railway fatalities in the United States in 1950 was 3,403, compared with 3,507 in 1949.

The total included 1,677 grade crossing deaths. The next highest category, defined as "trespasser," listed 1,167 deaths. This category includes persons who pass closed gates and climb over or under trains.

Of the 173 passenger victims, 149 were killed in wrecks, compared with an all-time low of six in 1949. The other 24 died in what are known as "train service" accidents, such as jumping on or off moving trains, as against 20 the previous year.

The number of passenger deaths was exceeded by the number of railway employes killed—369.

The question of which railroad in the nation has the best safety record is a ticklish one—subject to change.

Little more than a year ago, the Long Island Railroad could point to a record of 24 years without a passenger fatality while carrying 2,000,000,000 fares, more than 10 times the present population of the United States.

Then, last year, came two Long Island wrecks that contributed more than 100 passenger trains to 1950's toll. The other major wreck of 1950 took 33 lives aboard a Pennsylvania railroad troop train at West Lafayette, Ohio.

Among the major railroads, the New York Central unofficially lays claim to the safety championship.

A spokesman for the Central said it had traveled 67,000,000 passenger miles in the past 11 years without a passenger fatality due to a train accident. A passenger mile is one passenger carried one mile.

The last New York Central train accident fatalities came on April 19, 1940, when the Lake Shore limited was derailed on a sharp curve at Little Falls, N. Y., killing 31 persons.

The accident interrupted a previous New York Central record of 51,000,000 passenger miles without a train accident fatality. Since the accident, the curve has been eliminated by diverting the course of the Mohawk River.

The Central says other railroads may have fatality-free records dating back beyond 1940, but doubts their passenger-mile volume would approach the Central's.

"Under the ICC nor the Association of American Railroads has any tabulation showing whether any railroads, however small, have records completely free of fatalities."

An ICC source said there undoubtedly are some. Columbus, a metal, was named after Columbus because it was first discovered in the new world.

Korean War

Maj. General Claude B. Fernbach, commander of the Seventh Division, said the main defenses of the North Korean Third Corps had been broken. He said the Corps' losses "must be pretty close to half of them."

"If they had any strength left they would have counter-attacked yesterday when we went through their main line of resistance," he added.

But the pursuing infantrymen were faced with a tough job in running down the Korean Red remnants. A division regimental commander said the region is uncharted. Its mountains are some of the craziest in Korea.

To the west, the Chinese and Korea Reds were preparing for a stiff battle. From Hoengsong to the outskirts of Red-held Seoul they were busy throwing up defenses.

U. S. First Cavalrymen and the U. S. 24th Division met stiffening resistance on the British right flank. Grenade-tossing Chinese drove a 24th patrol from a high hill northeast of Yangpyong.

A U. S. Third Division patrol entered Seoul during Tuesday night but pulled out after killing six Reds and capturing one.

On the Yellow sea coast northwest of Seoul, South Korean Marines stormed ashore near Ongjin, within five miles of the 38th Parallel. They reported killing a Red brigade commander and 20 other officers and capturing equipment and documents before returning to their ships.

The commando-type raid was made Sunday but not disclosed until Wednesday by South Korean sources.

Off the east coast, a small South Korean landing force captured another island near Wansan, a Red-held port 90 miles north of Parallel 38. Covered by U. S. warships, the South Koreans landed from a minesweeper on the island of Hwangto.

Gamblers Testify (Continued From Page One) He checked Williams about Roque more, the sheriff said "that's the man."

Paul Jennings, Williams' former chief deputy, testified yesterday that two other deputies, Ross Robertson and J. B. Stanley, were dismissed after making arrests of lottery neopoles.

Today, under cross examination, Jennings said he hadn't meant to imply that they were fired for arresting anybody.

Jennings had testified that Robertson arrested a lottery writer employed by gambler P. A. Roundtree and that Stanley had arrested Roundtree himself.

"Didn't you tell Williams you heard Roundtree was paying off Robertson and Robertson was flashing $100 bills?" Shaffer asked Jennings.

"Yes," he replied. "Didn't Williams say 'My God, get the proof of it and we'll get rid of him'?"

"Yes," Jennings also replied in the affirmative when Shaffer asked if he and Williams had discussed Robertson's drinking on duty.

Emmett Caraker, cocksure lottery operator from Mulberry, testified yesterday he helped finance the sheriff's campaign in return for immunity.

Clay Urges

Clay said the Russians will start a war when they feel they are ready, and not before.

By developing forces "which will bring peace even if that peace is an armed truce over the years."

Clay reported a gradual swing away from Communist political influence in Western Europe.

He said Western European nations now "are able to contribute to their own defense economically and physically" and have recognized that they "must contribute."

By congressional approval of the North Atlantic Pact, Clay said, "it would seem that the disposition of our troops in the best interest of collective security has received the approval of Congress."

He praised France for aiding in Korea while she was engaged in a Communist battle in Indo-China, and at the same time increasing her domestic defense budget.

Clay said Great Britain and other European nations also were increasing their troops and modern war equipment.

"Perhaps, they have not moved as far and as fast as we have," he said. "They have moved in the face of many problems."

Any attempt to fix "a mathematical ratio" on troops each nation would supply "is impracticable," Clay said and might undo recent gains in morale and efforts by Europeans.

"Moreover, the time has come to realistically extend assistance to all countries in Europe willing to fight to preserve their independence," he said.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, challenged ex-President Hoover's contention that Western Europe isn't doing enough.

Congress Told Two More Guard Units May Be Called Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—General Lawton Collins said today there is a possibility that it might be necessary to call up two more National Guard divisions this year. The Army chief of staff stressed that it is only a possibility "in the back of my mind" and he has not recommended such a plan to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Army has said, and Collins reiterated, that there are "no present plans" to call into service any more Guard divisions although smaller guard units might be summoned to federal service.

Collins testified before the House Armed Services committee at hearings on legislation to permit the drafting of 18-year olds and set up a long-term universal military training and service program.

A similar bill is now being debated by the Senate. Collins' statements concerning the Guard were made in response to questions from Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.).

The Army chief declined to state in the public hearing his reasons for thinking it might be necessary to call two Guard divisions in addition to the six already in active service. But he told a committee member he would be willing to discuss the matter privately with them.

Collins also gave an emphatic "no" to a question from Rep. Rivers (D-SC) whether the Guard would be "picked in pieces" by calling up units smaller than division size.

"The Guard is in better shape today than in its peacetime history," Collins added.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) asked about equipment that the Army has taken from National Guard units. National Guard leaders have complained of being raided and crippled by loss of equipment to the armed forces.

Collins replied that this equipment consisted of largely trucks and Cub planes. He said the equipment had been taken by friendly arrangement made with the National Guard Bureau and would be replaced shortly.

He said it was a case of taking the equipment from the Guard or not having it for the men on the fighting line.

Across the Capitol, Senator Lyndon Johnson predicted voting may begin this week on the Senate's version of the hotly disputed draft and service bill.

The Senate measure provides for drafting 18-year-olds after other available men in the 19-25 age bracket have been taken. The House version, a compromise drafted by Vinson, provides for the induction of youths at the age of 18 1/2 years of age.

Vinson asked Collins whether he believed the house bill would meet the department's needs for raising an armed force of 3,500,000.

Collins replied he believed it would but added "if we have to go beyond that figure—which is by no means unlikely—we will have to tap the 18 year olds."

He added that this might have to be done in six months.

"If you go beyond 4,000,000 you would have to raise the top draft age," Vinson asked. The top age for service is now 25 years.

Collins replied "I don't know." To this Vinson said "Yes, you would."

Collins repeated previous Pentagon assertions that no 18 year olds would be sent overseas unless absolutely necessary. He added, however, that he hoped no such provision would be written into the bill. He explained that the process of removing 18 year olds from a division's roster overseas would "compromise the secrecy of movement."

Civil Defense

(Continued From Page One) "Footnote" in the budget the cabinet will recommend to the Legislature when it meets here Apr. 3. The footnotes with which the recommended budget is sprinkled are only inserted to advise the lawmakers certain fund requests have been made. The Cabinet is neither for nor against them. It has recommended expenditures of $207,000 on civilian defense for the next two years.

The State Civilian Defense Council made plans last month to ask for the $5,000,000 appropriation it thought at the time the sum would be matched by federal funds, making $10,000,000 available for Florida for air raid needs as medical supplies, shelters and such civilian defense preparation for emergency squads and communications, and hospital equipment.

However, since then, U. S. Civil Defense Administrator Millard Caldwell has announced the federal government will not aid in financing large community raid shelters because their construction would cost $300,000,000,000 take too long and soak up too much manpower and materials.

Caldwell, former governor of Florida, said civilians will have to depend chiefly on present buildings. These can be strengthened or adapted for use as shelters, he pointed out.

Florida civilian defense authorities are surveying the state now to find out what buildings will be suitable as shelters. An inventory is being made of such structures as reinforced concrete buildings several stories high. Also being listed are buildings which could serve as shelters if reinforced or sandbagged.

This announcement of Caldwell's undoubtedly will be taken into consideration by such lawmakers as Senator John Branch of Hillsborough county who said he would have to know the appropriation "is practical and will serve our security."

Other said they'd be governed by nation wide civilian defense plans or commented the need for the shelters would have to be proved to them.

THURSDAY, MAR. 1, 1951 TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

True religion does not just fail to do it in an utter denial of all religion. God meant that all his children should have a fair chance. I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.—John 9:15.

The best way to make a friend is to be one.

We hope you have noticed how beautiful the area has been during the past few weeks, and appreciate what things like that mean to a community.

We're where for the first time in the history of this country there are more women than there are men. Which seems to be just another good way of avoiding the draft.

If Sanford is not a good moral community, it is not because the ministers and churches are not trying. Almost everyone of them is conducting special services, bringing in special mission preachers, choral singers and evangelists in an effort to interest the unchurched as well as church members in matters of spiritual progress. If you are having trouble adjusting yourself to a changing world, or to the perplexities of a confused and muddled life, we will attend some of these church sessions and see if they can't help you?

Drinking eight glasses of water a day will neither cure your cold nor put up your liver, according to our latest advice. The notion that it will is just a superstition common to persons suffering from psychosomatic ailments. In fact, drinking too much water, especially cold water, may be as bad for you as not drinking any water at all. People have been known to suffer from dizzy spells, faintness and attacks of acute indigestion just from drinking water. And according to the best medical authorities, all the water you really need to drink is three or four glasses a day and this may be in your milk, coffee, or lemonade.

Florida has received many kinds of publicity in the last few years, some good and some bad, but the worst that it has ever received is that now appearing in headlines all over the country linking its governor with the underworld activities of Chicago's Capone mob and the international crime syndicate of "Lucky" Luciano. Not only did one of the Capone gang contribute $100,000 to Warren's campaign for governor, but after he was elected Warren appointed a henchman of the Capone gang to enforce the gambling laws in Florida. This incident was singled out by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee as one of the most sordid examples of public corruption in the United States.

Governor Warren of California says the troops-in-Europe question is largely a military matter and should be left to the generals to decide. And on this the California Governor is of course absolutely right. Who could possibly be in a better position to decide upon the best means of defending this country than the professionals who have made it a lifetime study? Certainly not the politicians. However, such is the prejudice which has been generated in this country against the Army brass that almost no general dares to speak his own mind, and when he does, he is immediately so besmirched with vilification and derision that his words are meaningless, and he wishes he had kept his mouth shut. Those who are called to testify before Senate committees must voice the decisions of their

Revival Of Turkey

A Turk with a knowledge of his country's past greatness would be gratified to find that his nation is once more regarded as an important international factor. The virile, hard-working Turkish peasantry is wonderful material for an army. Well drilled, to be formidable it needs only the equipment which it looks to the United States to supply. Lying south of Russia and within easy striking distance of the Russian granary, the Ukraine, Turkey must be regarded by the Russians as an adversary worth considering in the event of a general war.

Turkey and Russia are old enemies. Their first war took place in 1683, when Turkey was at the height of her power, with an empire reaching from the Persian boundary to the halfway mark in Hungary, and including North Africa. Those were the days when some church litanies contained the prayer, "From the fury of the Turk, good Lord, deliver us."

Ever since those days enemies, chiefly the Russians, have been lopping off the Turkish conquests. The last Russian war, in 1878, nearly resulted in the loss of Constantinople, at which point the Western powers stepped in and forced the Russians to disgorge their gains. These constant wars have left their traces on the people in Turkey, where a war with Russia is regarded almost as a national tradition.

By itself Turkey would be powerless against Russia. In conjunction with the United States, it could be a power which even the Kremlin ought to be slow to provoke.

Schooling For Veterans

A House committee is now investigating the question of whether or not a new "G. I. Bill" to provide for education of veterans at government expense should be enacted when the existing law expires in July of this year. Two or three years hence the men now being inducted into the armed services presumably will be returning to take up their interrupted tasks of education or employment.

The problem is complicated by the fact that if all physically fit men of 18 or over should be drafted, such a bill would cover every able-bodied man in the country. This would mean government subsidy of higher education for most college men for the indefinite future. Without such provision, many veterans would not return to college and a serious lack of trained men for key positions might soon be felt. The sprawling size of such a project with its attendant government forms and red tape also forms one argument against it.

If, as seems likely, some such bill is brought before the Congress, the task of outlining it will be very important. It will affect the future of both colleges and students for years to come.

Hope Springs Eternal

A private research laboratory has announced that technicians have succeeded in starting a new crop of hair on the pates of two men who had been bald for five years. The laboratory says it was done with a cream containing a new hormone it has discovered.

Not long ago, after considerable research into the matter, some eminent medical authorities declared that there is absolutely no way to grow new hair or prevent the onset of baldness for a man who was destined by nature to be bald. The new announcement does not dispute or mention this declaration, and it is easy to infer that the theory of inevitable predestined baldness is in question.

Perhaps this merely bears out what has been said so often: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," especially about signs of approaching autumn.

Congressman Herlong Reports

My report this week is written by William H. (Bill) Hyrd, who, I told you, joined us the first of February, he says: As the new member of his staff, Congressman Herlong has asked me to write the news letter this week. I will try to tell you something about my job, and I will relate some items that I think will be of interest to all of you in the District. Those of you who know Jimmie Golden, my predecessor in this job, know that I have some big shoes to fill. Jimmie was not only very efficient, but he was one of the most popular men on the Hill. His friends in Washington were surprised when he was selected for the sought-after position as a civilian attorney in the legislative and liaison division of the House. Unfortunately for me, Jimmie had to leave to take over his new duties before I came in Washington so the job of training me has fallen on Congressman Herlong and the two different secretaries in the office, Miss Marion Gardner of Deland and Mrs. Audrey Williamson of Leesburg. For the past three weeks they have had to teach me my job as well as perform their usual duties. It would be impossible to express

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—A lower law can raise the pay of his employees—generally—10 percent above their pay on Jan. 15, 1950.

Permission to do this was given last night by the government in enforcing just a bit more the big freeze it slapped on all wages last January.

This government ruling doesn't mean a loss has to raise his employees. It didn't say a boss has to raise 10 percent increase explained. All it means is that if a boss wants to—or if a union of his workers can persuade him to—then:

He can raise them up to 10 percent above what their pay was on Jan. 15, 1950.

Officials here have estimated only 3,000,000 workers have had wage increases of 10 percent or more since Jan. 15, 1950.

So another 40,000,000 or so can get 10 percent more than they were making on Jan. 15, 1950—if the boss wants to give it to them.

What does the ruling mean for you across-the-board or general increases is a plant or unit or industry. For example:

James has 100 machinists working in his plant. Last June he raised their pay 10 percent over what they were getting Jan. 15, 1950. They've had no raise since.

Now if Jones wants to give them a further raise all he can give is another 2 percent over what they were making Jan. 15, 1950, making a total increase of 10 percent since that date.

This ruling was announced last night by Eric Johnston, boss of the Economic Stabilization Agency, which means boss of wages and prices. He said it has the effect of law, as of last night.

No man boss who wants to give his workers a raise can do so without asking permission of the Wage Stabilization Board, which is part of Johnston's setup. Until last night no general increase of any amount could be given.

But what does it mean: 10 percent increase over the pay a man was getting Jan. 15, 1950? For example: does it mean the total pay for a man who was getting $100 a week ending Jan. 15, 1950?

No, for that paycheck may have contained overtime pay. The ruling means, in brief, an employer's regular pay for doing a job. Overtime would not be covered by the ruling. The regular pay. Not with an employer's contributions to a pension, welfare or insurance fund be considered regular pay on Jan. 15, 1950.

But right here another question comes to mind: can a boss who gives his employees this general 10 percent increase, now allowed, also give some of those same employees an additional increase in the form of a merit raise?

For example: Jones might give 100 machinists a total 18 percent boost over their pay for Jan. 15, 1950. But because he particularly prizes three or four of them, he'd like to give them in addition, a merit raise.

For those three or four the net result might be a total increase of 15 or even 25 percent over what they were paid Jan. 15, 1950. Can Jones do it?

The best single answer, if this involves you, is this: you'd better ask the Wage Stabilization Board before you try to pile a merit raise on top of the permitted 10 percent general increase.

If you don't first check with the Board, you may discover later that you've violated the law without realizing it. This will try to explain why.

On Feb. 2, 1951 the WSB, in increasing up on the age freeze, set the light for a boss to grant merit raises.

But—the boss couldn't just start handing out merit raises all over the place. Not by a long night. The Wage Stabilization Board had to set down a list of rules under which such merit raises could be given.

And if you, an employer, didn't fit those rules, you couldn't start handing out merit raises.

These rules laid down by WSB were a yardstick too complicated to be explained in the brief space here. And if you try to interpret that yardstick without expert advice such as WSB can best give, you may be wrong and violate the law.

For example: if you hadn't in the past given merit raises but now suddenly decided you wanted to, WSB undoubtedly would say no. What you did about merit raises in the past is a big part of WSB's rules and a guide for what you can do in the future.

Since this is a general story on the 10 percent increase, it hasn't death with such things as "fringe benefits," meaning things like pensions and welfare plans which aren't wages. It's into contracts with unions.

That's a problem which Johnston asked WSB to iron out quickly. At the moment this was written, what today is possible that WSB itself might fall apart because of discussion among its members. But that's something else again, a problem to be ironed out by the government.

Johnston's rule goes back to raise wages 10 percent above Jan. 15, 1950 stands.

Without elaborating, the President and most representatives have reacted from both the voluntary action of the general government, administrative, judicial and legislative.

Rail Settlement

roads last fall. Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman announced today's settlement at an early-morning news conference.

Steelman's announcement came after a night-long session at the White House (closing negotiations which had begun last Oct. 25).

The 16 unions originally had asked for a 25 cent hourly wage increase for their members, including shop employees, machinists, clerks and others who do not actually run the trains.

The carriers estimated that the 12 1/2 cent increase will cost them $280,000,000 annually.

Another increase, estimated at four to five cents an hour, will be added to the 12 1/2 cents around Apr. 1, based on the government's cost-of-living index of Feb. 15.

A still further boost in the hourly wage rate will be permitted next summer if the government's stabilization program permits the kind of productivity allowance called for by the CIO-auto workers contract in the automobile industry.

That is supposed to allow an other four cents an hour to compensate for improved productivity over the past year, effective May 29.

The union chiefs, speaking through George E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association, said no further ratification by the unions is necessary.

He told a news conference the agreement was sealed and delivered on the spot after the all-night session.

This explanation was significant because a similar agreement was announced under parallel circumstances in the White House last Dec. 21 for the four operating rail unions. That settlement was later rejected by local chairmen of the operating unions.

The new agreement specifies that no further wage increase will be sought until Oct. 1, 1951.

The cost of living provisions call for quarterly pay adjustments keeping pace with the government's cost of living index.

For the Dec. 15 index, the carriers will be asked to take off the pay for each percentage point rise or fall in the index.

The agreement starts off with an index base of 178 percent of the 1936-39 average. That is the figure for the Dec. 15 index, the date announced. The first cost of living adjustment will be due Apr. 1.

Steelman said this was the first settlement negotiated between the railroad and the non-operating unions without an emergency board since 1937.

George M. Harrison, head of the railway clerks, largest of the non-operating unions, joined with Leighty in praising the settlement.

The National Mediation Board's three members for their patience in keeping the parties together until a settlement was reached.

Negotiators for the railroads, who joined in the news conference, were L. W. Horning for the carriers' eastern conference, Daniel P. Loomis of the western conference and Charles D. MacKay of the southeastern conference.

BY a still being made to settle the dispute between the carriers and the operating unions.

Last Sunday, the trainmen's union broke away from the three other operating unions and almost announced an agreement with the roads.

The other unions are the firemen, conductors and engineers, all of which are seeking wage increases. Their memberships ballooned at the Dec. 31 agreement calling for a 25-cent hourly boost for yard workers and 10 cents an hour for road employees.

Truman Declares

Mr. Truman said he was not "among those who take the view that in times of stress we must shelve all efforts and programs for the betterment of our people."

He said the nation's "first things first" is "entitled to its due; but it cannot stay the inexorable drive and the inevitable progress of humanity in riding itself of the inequalities and imperfections of our social and economic life."

Mr. Truman said "It is important to note the tremendous gains for civil rights that have been achieved in the past three difficult years."

These gains, he added, have been made "in our educational systems, in employment, in housing, in the use of public accommodations, in recreation and in the exercise of the attributes of citizenship."

"Without elaborating, the President and most representatives have reacted from both the voluntary action of the general government, administrative, judicial and legislative."

Mr. Truman's letter was addressed to E. Raymond Wilson, chairman of the Civil Liberties organization which opened its fourth annual conference here to discuss the Truman program of government organizations connected with the Communist Party.

than those designated by Congress first he must find that defense of such a country serves American security.

In the new economic and military aid program, a similar 10 per cent ceiling would permit the President to divert no more than about $1,000,000,000.

Officials concerned with mapping out the aid plans for the fiscal year starting July 1 doubt that this sum is large enough. They say that in the light of present international conditions the total which should be available to meet contingencies may exceed $2,000,000,000.

How to obtain such leeway on spending in the face of the fact that Congress likes to nail down requirements on where and how the money is to be spent is a difficult problem, yet to be solved in talks being held by the State Department, Treasury, White House and other government branches, at least two methods are under discussion.

1. A proposal that Congress include in the foreign aid bill a fund of $2,000,000,000, or whatever final studies show to be advisable, which the President could allocate as he sees fit in the interest of American security.

2. A request that the limit on back of Station WTRR. Mayor Fred Dwyan had a chance to welcome visiting Mayor Britt of St. Augustine and Mayor Vought of Kustis.

The law really descended upon Sanford for present at the meeting and barbecue were police chiefs, sheriffs, deputies and constables, police officers, State Highway Patrolmen, members of the F.B.I., and members of the Federal Narcotics Bureau.

Of prime interest at the meeting was the presentation of a bill that would enable local police departments to conduct semi-annual safety inspections of cars. Fees from these inspections would be devoted to the police officers' retirement pension fund.

According to Virgil Stuart, secretary of the association, a bill advocating car inspections will be introduced to the 1951 legislature at Tallahassee.

The business meeting was conducted by Police Chief James Dickerson, Kustis, with Detective Chief L. E. Ross, Orlando, fifth district director, presiding.

At a meeting of the auxiliary of the association at which Mrs. E. L. Troutman, Orlando, district state representative, presided, support was urged the passage of Senate Bill S 3052 to enable authorities to return to Florida anyone who had left children without support and had gone to another state.

As range officer at the pistol shoot, Byrd J. Goode, honorary member of the local police force and president of the Reminable Gun Club, had about the busiest time since he served as chief range officer of International Police shoots during a 12 year period at Teaneck, N. J. under auspices of the New York Mirror. Mr. Goode was also former police instructor of the New York Police Academy.

The police course shooting event, including slow, timed and rapid shooting was won by B. A. Martin, St. Augustine with a score of 279 out of 300. W. W. Anderson, Jacksonville, was second at 258 and Geoffrey Pomeroy, St. Augustine, third at 233. More than 50 officers participated.

Chief Williams today commended the members of his force who helped make the barbecue a big success. He also thanked Deputy Sheriff Charles Beck who aided in meat cutting of the tasty pork, beef and lamb which had been prepared by Carl Williams.

Members of the police force who aided in the set-up were Capt. Roy Tillie, committee head, Lieut. Max Bass, W. M. Horne, J. R. Patterson, E. M. Brown, J. H. French and the remaining members of the force. Desk Sgt. Kettle Janabara, who baked the beans and prepared many of the fresh vegetables served with the assistance of her sister, Mrs. L. P. Poynter, Cecil Beach, a former member of the force, assisted in the serving.

Harry Wester with his accordion and W. R. Connolly, banjo, played melodies at the barbecue.

Daughter Is Killed By Father Worried Over Her Virtue

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 1.—(AP)—A part-time chef, fearful his pretty 21-year-old waitress daughter "wouldn't remain a good girl," shot her to death last night. He then pumped a bullet into his chest.

The father, 46-year-old Joseph Carbone, was found several hours later on a church rectory steps moaning for a priest. Placed under police guard at Atlantic City Hospital, he was expected to live.

Assistant Atlantic county prosecutor Emory Kieas said Carbone admitted shooting his daughter, Kathryn, and himself "because the girl wouldn't come home and he was afraid she wouldn't remain a good girl." He said Carbone would be charged with murder.

Following a preliminary autopsy last night, Dr. Thomas J. Petinga, assistant county physician, said the girl died "almost instantly with a .22 caliber slug in her heart. He said the apparently had been in "four times at close range—one bullet ripping through her hand as she tried to protect herself.

The shooting took place in the living room of the girl's shabby basement apartment where, Kieas said her father had gone to beg her to return home.

According to Kieas, Carbone left the apartment after the shooting and drove around the streets for four hours, a bullet wound in his chest. He lurked around the Atlantic City hospital for a short time trying to see if his daughter would be brought there and then stumbled five blocks to the rectory of St. Nicholas' Catholic Church.

When found by a rectory priest, he was lying on the steps moaning repeatedly, "I want a priest, I want a priest." She called police and they took him to the hospital.

Detective Jerry Sullivan of the homicide squad said police were led to Kathryn's body by an anonymous phone call. She was dead on arrival at Atlantic City Hospital.

The site of a small French colony established in 1654 near Jacksonville, Fla., may have been submerged when Army engineers altered the course of the St. Johns River 40 years ago.

21st Annual Edition Of Animated Magazine Stresses Vital Place Of Home In Democracy

The vital place of the home in American democracy was the theme of the Animated Magazine, presented yesterday afternoon in its 21st edition to members of the Sanford Women's Club and guests at the Club House. More than 115 persons attended.

This theme was keynoteed in the initial talk by Mrs. T. N. Dillard, who pointed out that it is not the location, architecture or size of an abode that makes it a home, but the sense of comfort, trust in members of the family and loving relationships that produce the feeling of security vital to a real home.

It is this sense of security that makes men ready to fight or die for the preservation of their home, she stated. The home, said Mrs. Dillard, is the basis of training in human relations.

"The foundation of a home," she declared, "is love for one another. This is the cement that holds the family together. As long as homes are governed by the spirit of love, we are safe and America is safe."

Mrs. Brownee, who came back to Sanford from Inverness to serve as a visiting editor of the Magazine, had been present when the program was initiated by Mrs. B. C. Moore, editor-in-chief, who was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Dawson, other editors were Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. J. E. Spencer and Mrs. Roy Tills. Jane Boyle did the art work and lettering on the magazine replica on the platform.

The tender mood of recollection of home, produced by Mrs. Brownee's talk, was continued by Dick Aiken, local tenor, who accompanied by Mrs. George T. Spence and Mrs. Roy Tills. Jane Boyle did the art work and lettering on the magazine replica on the platform.

How pictures and paintings beautifully the home was aptly demonstrated by Mrs. W. M. Scott, one of Sanford's best known artists. Among the paintings she displayed was a recently completed one of Holy Cross Episcopal Church. Among other interesting scenes, the background of which she described, was that of a boat, and a tropical garden. The cover of the Animated Magazine, a view of the Sanford lake front and boat dock, was also shown.

Mrs. L. E. Spencer, president of the Sanford Garden Club, demonstrated artistic arrangements of flowers in bowls and containers, including a display of the small container included mirrors to produce the illusion of a small pond in a garden. Mrs. Spencer also told of methods of prolonging the life of flowers after picking.

Music in the home was the next theme, with Mrs. George McCall at the grand piano. She showed the technique and tonal emphasis, especially in a popular Chopin number.

A demonstration of modern china and crystals was made by Mrs. Gordon Sweeney, who banded plates and glasses together to show durability. She pointed out the passing of the "old-fashioned dining room" and its "company china" and pointed out that modern eating requires china that can be used for any occasion. Men like big cups that do not have to be refilled so often and tall ice tea glasses, she said.
Mrs. S. C. Dickerson told of the enjoyment to be derived from the seeing of many birds in the garden, and of the efforts of the Audubon Society to establish a local bird sanctuary. Among the birds listed were the field canaries, and the Florida nightingale. "We have recognized more than 87 kinds of birds in this part of Florida," she said. She urged more teaching about birds in the schools so that small boys will not shoot so many of them.

Mrs. Clarence Welsh recited a humorous tale about a father, who during the illness of his wife, amply took to raise three small children and who found out that this was not the small undertaking he had generally supposed. One of the high points of the story was the scene where the father, lost at a little birthday party, had to explain to irate mothers why their children got so smeared with colored cake frosting.

Presenting of fashions and homecraft by members of the County Home Demonstration Clubs climaxed the program, and judging by the applause, was a source of deep interest to the women present. Mrs. Roy Tills introduced the exhibitors.

Mrs. Frank Barlow of Lake Mary played a "snappy" boogie woogie that she had made. A large metal tray was shown by Mrs. J. B. Crawford. Mrs. Al Wallace displayed a plastic bag and a bon bon dish. Little Mary Barsby, a future 4-H Club girl was a charming exhibit No. 1.

Mrs. Al Coe wore a dress she had made, including a plastic corsage. Coeur's and pottery making was the exhibit of Mrs. Carl Williams, president of the Sanford Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Lucile Norton, Geneva, wearing her own cotton dress, showed the big colored hat band and decorated. Barbara Ann Oldham, another future 4-H Club girl, took a bow.

Mrs. J. E. Robinson, Lake Mary 4-H Club leader and county chairman of 4-H clubs, was presented.

Petersburg, arrived Sunday to visit their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Thorne, Jr.

Oklahoma Athletes May Be Barred From Competition For Making Bets

NORMAN, Okla., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Dr. George L. Cross, University of Oklahoma president, today promised a rigid crackdown on Sooner athletes caught betting on sporting events.

Dr. Cross threatened to bar the athletes from future university competition after seeing published reports that parlay cards had been displayed in the athletic dormitory and players openly discuss betting both on basketball and football games.

"I don't know to what extent athletes bet on contests," the president said, "but I am going to suggest to Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson that any athlete caught betting on athletic events or using parlay cards be barred from future competition."

Wilkinson was out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

The Daily Oklahoman said today in a story by reporter Glenn Wilson that betting among Oklahoma athletes is commonplace. The newspaper said a prominent Sooner football player distributed parlay cards in the athletic dormitory during the 1950 season. He also has been placed by many players on big games, the paper said.

"Sometimes the side bets are between squad members but on big games—both basketball and football—bets with outsiders also have been placed," the Daily Oklahoman story continued.

"Usually the bets aren't too much, ranging from $5 to $25, although at times someone will bet $100 on an important game."

"The football team of 1948 probably made the most money betting when it upset Missouri at Norman and North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl, entering both games as the underdog."

The newspaper quoted an unnamed athlete as saying betting isn't restricted to Oklahoma athletes "because many college athletes bet on games, including their own."

Cross's crackdown on betting came only a few hours after he officially cleared six Oklahoma basketball players of any connection with the eastern basketball fix scandal.

The president in a statement said there was no evidence a bribe was offered or accepted. He said Salvatore Solazzo, accused of giving bribes to New York basketball players, apparently only made social overtures to four Oklahoma players.

Training Camp News

BRADENTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—With outfielder Willard Marshall, last of the holdouts, in line, manager Billy Southworth will have most of his Boston Braves squad available for today's pair of workouts.

CLEARWATER, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Pitcher Bubba Church is the lone important holdout in the Philadelphia camp, but President Bob Carpenter thinks he'll have the young right-hander signed up today.

Church was paid $7,500 last year when he won eight games and lost six. It is understood he has been asking quite a lot more than that.

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 1.—(AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey will greet the 1951 Pittsburgh Pirates aggregation today with a lecture—"why finish in last place?"

Rickey's program calls for a fast-paced game and it excludes newsmen.

TUCSON, Ariz., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Outfielder Dale Mitchell appeared today to be about the only holdout in the regular with a problem seriously challenging his training.

The rookie is San Diego's Harry Simpson, but Mitchell, a well-respected 300-hitter, says: "I wish I had to worry about it, but Simpson beat me out."

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Al Brazle of the St. Louis Cardinals has something new—a baseball.

"You've got to come up with something new to stay in this game," Al said yesterday.

He said he didn't use the fabled because he didn't feel he could trust it. The 35-year-old infielder has been working on his new pitch for a year and a half.

BURBANK, Calif., Mar. 1.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns open training today and early talk from manager Zack Taylor indicates outfielder Roy Sievers will play third base.

PHOENIX, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Third catcher Billy Johnson plans to hold down the hot corner for the world champion New York Yankees all by himself this season.

Looking slimmer than in previous years, he plans to demonstrate to manager Casey Stengel that he can catch right and left-hand pitching.

VENO BEACH, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Shoreway Pee Wee Reese who got off to a poor start with the Brooklyn Dodgers a year ago, has improved in god shape. He is confident he will get away with this season.

AVALON, Calif., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Manager Paul Richards has a number of players on hand.

PARADENA, Calif., Mar. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox have moved from their winter training camp at Palm Springs to their old base at Stockton, Calif.

Straight from the Horse's Mouth

By ED HARPER

It was a rough season all the way around for the Seminole High School Ceryfeds. Winning only three games of 20, the local squad never lived up to the promise of an opening victory over Eustis.

Any number of excuses could be made for them and this writer used a good many in this column throughout the season—the bitter amnesia of Coach Ganas and his realistic players.

Actually the excuses are not called for from the team, but from the people who are in control of athletics in Seminole County. Everybody wants a winning ball club and the grumbling at continued losses is all too audible.

An example of an enlightened sports program is to be found at Daytona Beach's Seabreeze High School. Their basketball team has won consistently during the past two seasons. Why? Because of a carefully designed plan to train kids from kindergarten on up.

Last week the Associated Press carried a story which related the fabulous 73 game winning streak piled up by the Seabreeze Junior High School five. With a backlog such as that to draw on is it wonder that Sanford was battered by the humiliating 35-10 in a game with this team?

Fortunately a beginning has been made by Howard Gordie, Junior High coach, who has devoted considerable time and energy to building a young team.

But with the coaches at the school made of dirt and pockmarked with rain holes it's asking a lot to expect him to develop much latent basketball talent.

Coach Fred Ganas' team has considerable latent talent, but he has been forced to devote so much time to fundamentals that the squad has lacked the smoothness and polish necessary to win games.

He gets the boys as fresh as a daisy and never handles a basketball. During their first year they practice whenever the varsity is not non-playing.

Only after graduating to the varsity in their sophomore year do the intensive drills needed to produce smoothness and confidence.

Finesse is usually lacking in youngsters until their last year in school, but it is not to be gotten over 6th graders accustomed to handling a basketball and to develop in them a certain poise on the court.

All this Coach Ganas is forced to cram into his players in the short space of two years when the boys should be ready to concentrate on the complex court strategy which makes up modern basketball.

The Ceryfeds have never been fooled twice by the same system, but they have faced a bewildering variety this season.

Time after time this reporter has ridden with them on and seen the sincerity with which they play. The common complaint that "the kids don't play as hard now as they used to" is emphatically not applicable to this team.

Seniors Clarence Claus, Garnett White and Lefty Reynolds—who might be ordinarily considered the ones most likely to play without spirit—have driven themselves into the ground in game after game. And Denny Stafford, who improved terrifically last season, deserves even more praise for doggedly handling every position on the squad as Coach Ganas searched desperately for a winning combination.

Jimmy Smith, probably the most promising player on the team was disappointing early in the season, but after recovering from mid-season illness came into his own in the last games—he even learned to mix it up and was twice thrown out on fouls.

Gerald Covington and Wlad Hardin—long and lanky rebounders of the squad—should have given the Ceryfeds command of the backboards against any team in the league, but again the lack of experience was too great.

Covington improved tremendously and Hardin showed signs of development in the last games—he even learned to mix it up and was twice thrown out on fouls.

Two sophomores who joined the squad in mid-season—Ray Ders and Junior Motz—contributed something the squad needed badly—a lanky, slim bang style which would pile up opponents. Only trouble with Coach Ganas wrecking Ders was his inability to do much after he was wrecked.

Both Motz and Ders developed rarer sharp reflexes which may complement the rangy playfulness of Covington and Hardin next year.

The local squad plays its final game—barring a win—against Apopka in the District Tournament tonight. Perhaps they will hear out the promise they have heard all season—in spite of the odds.

Television has been found useful in training recent days in Sanford.

Tough Flyweight Is Top Batter In Golden Gloves

Sharkey Lewis Bows Over Opponent In Second Round Kayo

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The flyweight division hasn't enjoyed popularity in the United States prize ring since Midget Wagaist and Small Montana were bowling over the little guys back in the nickel-hamburger days of the early 30s.

A pocket-size youngster who might be capable of regenerating interest in the division is Sharkey Lewis, a snewy little potter from Pittsburgh.

Lewis won his second straight eastern golden gloves championship last night at Madison Square Garden, leaving a string of unconscious or nearly unconscious victims in his wake.

The tiny Negro with the dynamite-enraged knuckles zoomed through the 112-pound division on a wave of knockouts, three all together. He was the only competitor in the tournament of champions to store every foe away before schedule.

Now 21, the Pittsburgh slasher is ripe for pro ranks, if he chooses to enter a class that has been a notoriously poor money-maker.

Pound for pound, he was the most impressive of the gladiators from nearly a dozen states paraded before the eyes of 4,827 fans in the gloves semifinals and finals.

He'll get his big chance against the western champ from Chicago in the inter-city bouts at the garden Mar. 19.

In the semifinals Lewis stopped Guido Capri of Charlotte in 1:50 of the second round. In the finals he knocked out Puerto Rico's Prudencio Castro in 2:55 of the second.

The present 112-pound king of the press in Dado Marino, the Hawaiian, before that were Terry Allen, Rinty Monaghan and Jackie Peterson, all of the British Isles.

The United States hasn't done much for the west ones. But Young Lewis was one of two defending champions crowned.

The other was machinist Frank Ruff, New York featherweight, who outpointed rangy Tommy Maddox of Buffalo, N. Y., in an unpopular decision.

The heavyweights raved 6,457 a good show when Mike Maye of New York, his features blood-strewn, fought back from near defeat to stop Don Lee, a big southerly sailor from Lowell, Mass., in 62 seconds of the third round. Maye is a roofer by trade.

Other winners were: 118 pounds—Lou Perez, Hempstead, N. Y., air plant riveter. 135 pounds—Just Caret, Puerto Rico electrician.

147 pounds—Randolph Sandy, New York vocational student. 160 pounds—Floyd Patterson, New York student.

175 pounds—Eldredge Thompson, Marine corporal representing Washington, D. C.

Mercer Wins Dixie Conference Title In Rugged Contest

MACON, Ga., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Seven of the 10 starting players in the Dixie Conference basketball tournament championship game fouled out last night before Mercer University claimed the title with a 69-65 victory over Florida State University.

The fast, rugged championship scrap saw four of the five FSU starters take a walk via the foul route. Mercer lost three starters in the same manner. A total of 51 personal fouls were called.

Mercer's victory and the resulting conference crown—the Macon school's first—was especially pleasing to coach Jim Cowan, who has been ordered to report for active duty as a naval officer at the end of this school year.

Millapsa College of Jackson, Miss., won the consolation title handily with a walk-away 72-48 victory over Oglethorpe University of Atlanta.

Mercer captain-center Lamar Clements had a fine night at the hoop, swishing through 11 field goals and 12 free throws for a 34-point total. Bob Hartman, a guard, was top man for FSU with 21 points. Both Clements and Hartman were among those who fouled out. Others were Wilson and Cassell for Mercer and Scott, McLaughlin, and Trobaugh for FSU.

Trophies to the championship team and runner-up were presented by Major George B. Connel, vice president of Mercer and president of the Dixie Conference all-star team selected by the coaches.

The all star squad: Lamar Clements, center, and Richard Heid and Glenn Cassell, guards; Mercer; Fred Lapper and Bill Valentine, forwards. Florida Southern; Bob Hartman and Bob Whitmer, guards, Florida State; Phil Wallace, center, and Robert Pruitt, guard, Millapsa; and Harold Parks, guard, Howard College of Birmingham.

Hartman, Clements, Parks and Cassell were unanimous choices.

ATLANTA, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Bill Spivey, seven-foot Kentucky center, easily topped the Southeastern Conference basketball scoring race, but failed by 30 points to set a new record.

In 25 games the lanky ace amassed 479 points. He needed 62 points in the last two games against Vanderbilt and Georgia to better the mark of 508 points set by Kentucky's Alex Groza in 1947. He got only 32 in failing even to match the 504 points racked up by Bonnie Graham of Mississippi in 1938.

Mel Payton of Tulane was second this year with 359 points. An All-Southeastern like Spivey, Payton was the leader during the first part of the season when Tulane's games were more frequent than the others. Spivey moved out in front in January and was never headed. The Kentucky giant played in three more games than Payton.

Florida's Harry Hamilton played in 21 games and scored 349 points for third place. In fourth place, but with an excellent points per game average was Herbert Hargett of Mississippi State. He tallied 339 points in 18 games. Hargett averaged 18 and 15.7 points per game while Spivey averaged 19.15.

Don Holt of Tulane completed the top five scorers with 337 points in 21 games. Others with 276 or more points, their schools, points, their schools, points and number of games: Paul Sullivan, Alabama, 329; Joe Dean, L.S.U., 325, 23; Al Weis, Vandy, 310, 22; Pete Siles, Ga. Tech, 291, 25; Bob Garrison, Tennessee, 289, 22; Bobby Watson, Kentucky, 277, 25; and Bob Meador, L.S.U., 272, 12.

Argentine Team Takes Lead Over United States In Latin Olympics

By TED SMITH

BUENOS AIRES, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Surprising Argentina held what may be an insurmountable lead over the United States going into the third day of the Pan American games.

Prospects that the North Americans will show their usual supremacy are dimming at least so far as this sports carnival is concerned. Maybe this 128-man team is not the biggest or the best the U. S. could assemble, nor in the best condition because of a winter up north compared to midsummer weather here. But the Argentines have tremendous strides in all branches of sports in recent years.

Argentina always has been red hot for sports and President Juan Peron has urged his athletes to make these games a home town triumph.

Of nine championships won yesterday, Argentina took four, the U. S. two and Cuba, Colombia and Mexico one each.

The unofficial point standings on the customary basis of 10, 3-2-1 for six places now give Argentina 111; U. S. 97; Mexico 39; Brazil 27; Peru 24; Chile 23; Cuba 15; Colombia 11; Trinidad 5; Ecuador 5; Jamaica 3; Panama 3 and Guatemala 2.

Newly-crowned game champions are: 100-meter dash—Rafael Fortun, Cuba, :10.6. 400-meter hurdles—Jaime Aparicio, Colombia, :54. Women's javelin—Hortencia Lopez Garcia, Mexico, 129 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Hammer throw—Emilio Ortiz, Argentina, 167 feet 7 3/4 inches. Broad jump—Gay Bryan, U. S., 23 feet 7 inches. 50,000-meter walk—Sisto Ibanez, Argentina, 5 hours, 6 minutes, 4.88 seconds.

Free fencing—Fulvio Galimi, Argentina. Small bore rifle—Arthur Jackson, U. S. Small bore rifle, team—Argentina.

In baseball, rain cancelled the competition and coach Taylor Sanford of Wake Forest college's squad shifted John Liptak from third base to catcher to replace Alton Brooks, whose thumb was broken by a pitched ball in the first game.

Mima was chosen as Ray's foe because he is not only a powerful puncher, but able to take a jolting wallop and come back strong with his own heavy artillery. The young Bahama Negro is expected to weigh a little over 160 pounds for the scrap.

The champion in making his third appearance in Miami. He knocked out Bernie Moore here in 1947 and then stopped Al Mobley last year. The March 8 fight will probably be Robinson's last engagement in this country before he returns to Europe. He is scheduled to defend his title against the French champion Kid Marcel in May in Paris.

With Robinson due in Miami Thursday and ex-champion Jake LaMotta already here, it is very likely that the date for a return fight between these two will be decided upon within the next two weeks.

Robinson will probably train at the Magic City gym.

In its report, the Senate Committee said William Johnston—whom it described as an associate of Capone mobsters—contributed $100,000 to Warren's political campaign.

The Big Four foreign ministers, announced they would send a delegation of 20 persons, a number of them top-ranking experts.

The United States, immediately after studying the text, arranged for quick consultation with its Western Allies, French Ambassador Henri Bonnet and British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks.

At a news conference, State Department press officer Michael J. McDermott was asked whether he doubted that the conference would take place.

It was learned a first study of Russia's note indicated it made two main points:
1. The United States (and other Western) charges against Russia's military strength and conduct in the world are baseless and the Soviet Union rejected them as it has before.

The question obviously left open, according to this information, is that of the terms and conditions of the Paris meeting.

Younger told the Governor in his February, 1950, telegram that "we are deeply grateful to you for giving the word which caused the instantaneous close down of numerous notorious illegal gambling establishments which had previously been running wide open and about which our local officials did nothing."

Warren said Croby was not the only special investigator assigned to Dade county. His statement, dated a copy of a Feb. 27, 1950 telegram from the Crime Commission of Greater Miami thanking him for sending E. A. Garner to the area.

Garner's assignment to Dade county that time came after the Governor and another principal campaign backer, C. V. Griffin, broke off relations in a sensational exchange of public statements.

Garner died several months ago—a heart attack, Croby resigned his position as special investigator recently and returned to his post with the Jacksonville police department.

As a result of the work done by our investigators in Dade county, numerous gambling establishments were raided and closed.

Fascinating How-To-Do-It Pamphlets Endanger Printing Office Reporter

By ED CREAUGH (For HAL BOYLE)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—What's the most dangerous place in Washington?

You could get a lot of answers, serious and not serious, to that question. But as far as this danger-seeker is concerned, there's only one possible answer. The most dangerous place in Washington for me is the government printing office.

This may surprise the people who work there. Probably it doesn't seem a hazardous sort of place to them. It—the part I'm talking about, anyway—is a big, bright room with a counter in the middle and rows after rows of government publications neatly displayed on all sides.

Dangerous? Well, it may look to some like the lobby of a religious publishing house. But for me it's about as safe as there is about to enter a Chinese Communist opium den waving the stars and stripes while disguised as General Douglas MacArthur.

I have to go there three or four times a year to pick up or come such fascinating piece of literature as the Statistical Abstract of the United States and I never get out of the place without having put my bank account, my wife's security and what is humorously called my career into serious danger.

If those danged books that do it. Sometimes I wish I'd never learned to read.

You see, the government puts all sorts of little books out all manner of big subjects, from foreign policy to the best way of cooking corn. Most of these, I can take out or leave alone. But the how-to-do-it books get me. I'm their slave. One look at them and away the dreamboat goes, with myself asleep at the tiller.

"How to raise Chinchillas," for example. I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up.

I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up.

I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up. I know I shouldn't pick it up.

Park To Be Opened Honoring Founders Of Jacksonville

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1.—(Special)—As Jacksonville prepares to celebrate 50 years of progress in this century, the Florida Park Service is getting ready to open a new state park to honor Huguenots seeking religious freedom, probably the first white men to walk where Jacksonville now stands.

Nearly 100 years ago, Jean Ribault and France led his fleet into the mouth of the St. Johns River, perhaps pausing briefly where Little Talbot Island state park is beginning to take form on the new St. Johns Trail, the highway between Jacksonville and Fernandina. Those Huguenots were the forerunners of hundreds more who set up Fort Caroline on what was then called the River of May, at about the spot where Jacksonville now presides over the St. Johns River.

The park service and the State Dept. are now working hard to create a state park along the ocean, with some of the last remaining ocean frontage still open to the public. There they will dedicate to the public a place where those seeking freedom from religious persecution first looked on this land long before the Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth Rock. And in time, with the help of the historians, the park service hopes to give better definition to the places and the circumstances of Fort Caroline, began Florida history.

For it was because of Frenchmen on the coast of Florida that Spain became interested in colonizing the east coast of Florida. Spain was sending its gold-laden ships from Mexico through the Straits of Florida and the Gulf Stream within sight of lookouts on the Florida shore. Pirates lurked in the coves and inside the mouths of rivers along the Florida shore, waiting for the fat prizes of the Spanish galleons. Some of these pirates may have been Frenchmen. They were suspected of having their stronghold in Fort Caroline, built with the help of the friendly Timucuan Indians high on the banks of the River of May.

Recognizing this threat to their golden stream, the Spaniards one day filled the St. Johns River with warships, but when French escaped the trap, the Spaniards returned to the spot where they were to build St. Augustine. There, as the Spanish fleet lay becalmed, Jean Ribault prepared for attack. But a storm uped his plans and smashed his fleet. The Spanish took advantage of the presidential help, and marched a force overland to destroy the garrison at Fort Caroline, which Ribault was battling the element. The Spaniards succeeded at Fort Caroline, and turning southward, caught Ribault and his weary band of survivors, plodding along the shore toward what they hoped from one of the attendant, straggled back to reality. The Chinchilla ranch lady, the wife of the dream-pitcher, drops. I'm just newspaper guy again, goofing off on an assignment.

But someday—? I've got to keep away from that government printing office. Or someday I will kick over the traces. And I don't think my wife would like living on a Chinchilla ranch, even if I promised to bring her a new coat every Christmas.

But someday—? I've got to keep away from that government printing office. Or someday I will kick over the traces. And I don't think my wife would like living on a Chinchilla ranch, even if I promised to bring her a new coat every Christmas.

Rehabilitation Is Enlightened Plan In Modern Prison

By ANDY ANDERSON

AP Newsmasters. RAIFORD, Fla.—A prison with out walls seems to be paving off on a 15-year experiment in human rehabilitation.

It has been an attempt to help cure inmates spiritually, rather than by force, to help the soul escape even though the body cannot.

All prison atmosphere possible is done away with. Effort is made to make the prisoners feel as if they are not so far from home-like surroundings.

The institution in Florida State Prison about 10 miles southwest of Jacksonville, has a population fluctuating between 1,500 and 2,000. The inmates wear no uniforms, and are free to go about with a few dollars and a few cents in their pockets.

Prisoners are allowed to buy and sell their own goods, and are free to go about with a few dollars and a few cents in their pockets.

Influence On RFC Claimed By Industrialist

Lawyer Said To Have Boasted Of Having Two Directors In "His Hip Pocket"

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2—(AP)—Roy Fruehauf, Detroit industrialist, swore today that Joseph H. Rosenbaum, Washington lawyer, told him in 1949 he had two RFC directors "in his hip pocket."

He said Rosenbaum named directors Walter L. Dunham and William E. Willett.

Fruehauf testified before a Senate Banking subcommittee which is investigating charges the reconstruction finance corporation, government lending agency, has yielded to influence in making loans.

Rosenbaum, in an earlier appearance before the group, denied he had ever made the "hip pocket" statement.

Fruehauf told the senators that Dunham blocked efforts to rescue Carl G. Strandlund's Lastron Corporation from financial collapse only a few hours after a negotiator had withdrawn a $10,000 loan to Rosenbaum.

Strandlund charges from the witness chair yesterday that Dunham was involved deeply with "financial wolves" he accused of having conspired to strip him of control of Lastron, big prefabricated housing plant at Columbus, Ohio. The plant was financed almost entirely by the $37,500,000 borrowed from the RFC.

Strandlund charged the RFC disclosed the mortgage on the bankrupt firm because he related efforts of "an influence ring" involving RFC officials, to enrich themselves from it and, finally, to take control.

Fruehauf, who said his Fruehauf Trailer Co. had a big financial interest in Lastron's success, testified Dunham told him on the morning of Feb. 10, 1950, that the RFC had announced plans to foreclose on Lastron's mortgage unless Rosenbaum arranged to make a $100,000 loan to Rosenbaum.

He quoted Dunham as assuring him, there was "encouraging" prospects for reaching some settlement which would avert Lastron's collapse.

The subcommittee developed evidence yesterday that the RFC got Rex Jacobs, a Detroit industrialist, to make a survey of Lastron for it and that Jacobs recommended that Strandlund should step out of the management.

Decision Reached In Washington On Sanford Hospital

No joint occupation of Vernaldough Memorial Hospital by military and Navy personnel will be permitted, a decision was announced today.

The decision, according to Ralph Davis, secretary to Senator Holland, was made at a conference with Senator Holland attended by George Young, representing Senator Bennett, Rep. A. S. Herlong, Rear Admiral Bertram Grosbeck, Jr., of the Navy Medical Corps and Comdr. K. J. Sander, representing the Navy Department's Navy Operations for Air.

Although there cannot be any joint civilian use with the Navy of the hospital, the present hospital will be allowed to remain in operation until the new hospital is ready for occupancy on May 1, it was ruled. As of that date, there must be a complete removal of all patients and all equipment from the hospital.

There must be no request for extension of time after that date," said Mr. Davis, "and there must be an orderly reduction of patients after Apr. 1."

Between Apr. 1 and May 1, he added, the Navy will have the right to go into the Dispensary Building to install equipment and to renovate the building.

These terms are conditioned on the fact that in no way shall the program represent the operation of the hospital or slow down the reactivation set for May 1, it was stated.

Common Front Is Proposed By Reds In East Germany

BERLIN, Mar. 2—(AP)—Soviet occupied East Germany's Communist parliament urged the West Germans today to join them in a solid front on proposals to be presented to the Big Four in the name of all Germany. Big Four deputies met Monday in Paris on an agenda for a possible foreign ministers meeting with Germany a top subject.

The Communists, playing on the hopes of West Germans that unity will come again some day, have been stressing the "common front" for some time now as a propaganda device.

The Eastern Volkskammer proposed in the eastern Hunfstadt front" declaration call for a treaty between Germany and the four powers this year, reunification of the divided nation, opposition to rearmament and withdrawal of all occupation troops within a year after the signing of a treaty.

Western Germans fear that the United States, Britain and France, anxious for an end to the tension between them and the Soviet Union, might agree to pull out and leave Germany "neutralized." A retired Atlantic Coast Line Chancellor Konrad Adenauer fretted over the proposal.

Harry Robson has agreed to an extension of Florida Fashions' lease on Factory Building No. 6 on First Street July 15, 1952. Ed Whitney, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, announced today, following a meeting between Mr. Robson and Henry Simpson and Don Harper of the Chamber's industrial committee.

A letter received from Frank Robson, president of Florida Fashions, stated that this is not the time to extend the lease building and that he is seeking assistance in securing an extension of his lease. Through the cooperation of the Industrial Committee and Mr. Robson, the extension was granted.

Revision Of Air Force Strategy Is Revealed In Two New Jet Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY
ASSOCIATED PRESS MILITARY AFFAIRS REPORTER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2—(AP)—Two new heavy jet bomber types, able to carry atomic bombs speedily to distant targets, are part of an unfolding picture of revised American air strategy.

The Air Force has disclosed it is hastening into the building of B-52, short-cutting the usual practice of trying experimental models before production line. First of these big jets is expected to be delivered this year.

It is expected to be delivered this year. At the same time, it has ordered construction of two all-jet versions of the giant B-36, these to have the swept-back wings which give airplanes greater speed.

Out of a new conference by Air Secretary Thomas C. Finlet, Jr. yesterday also emerged an outline of the air war planes into which the new bombers will be fitted. In answer to questions, Finlet said:

"The United States is interested in getting bases for its aircraft within the North Atlantic treaty organization area. North Africa is considered as being in this area."

Florida Witness Is Questioned On Basketball Fixes

NEW YORK, Mar. 2—(AP)—Another former college basketball star arrested today in the big game-rigging scandal, Louis Lipman, 26-year-old former Long Island University cage player, was charged with accepting a bribe. He is the 15th player or former player to be involved. He was accused of having helped fix the outcome of a game between Lill and Duquesne University of Pittsburgh Jan. 1, 1949. Lipman's arrest was announced one day after he was returned here from Florida for questioning.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said that Lou Lipman, onetime Long Island University cage player, was being interviewed after he was returned to New York from Florida last night. Hogan said that Lipman had been arrested in Florida.

Senate Schedules Test Vote On 18-Year-Old Draft Law; Marines Stab At Red Lines

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2—(AP)—The Senate agreed today to a test vote Monday on the controversial issue of lowering the draft age to 18 years and 6 months.

The present Selective Service Act allows induction at age 19.

A pending bill approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee would allow calling up of 18 year olds.

The test will come on an amendment by Senator Morse (R-Ore) to make the minimum age 18½ years.

The Committee bill would require local draft boards to take older men in the present 19 to 26 draft manpower pool before calling any 18 year olds. It also would require that the 18 year olds nearest 19 be inducted first.

The Morse proposal would eliminate both these restrictions, allowing boys 18½ years of age or older as long as they are taken at the same time.

Morse said he would also allow boys between 18 to 18½ to volunteer.

The test will be the first on a series of amendments proposed by the broad universal military training and service bill. It has been debated intermittently this week and the voting agreement was by unanimous consent.

Senator Cain (R-Wash) urged today that the nation draft 18 year olds because "we need every man we can get in Korea." Cain had sharp criticism for Morse's proposal.

Meanwhile Price Director Michael V. Disalle, who has just allowed auto makers to raise their prices 3½ percent on new cars, has put his staff to work on a new order concerning used cars.

The rise in auto ceilings, announced last night and effective today, is expected to cause a boost of a little more than 2½ percent in retail car prices. It is the highest-priced cars begin arriving in show windows.

Disalle told of the used car price plans at his appearance to the Senate today.

Fraudulent Duval Contracts Termed Subject To Voiding

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2—(AP)—Attorney General Hugh B. Evin said today the Duval county school board has authority to suspend architectural contracts involved in its school brick masonry case.

However, he said such suspension would not be binding on the board and it could enforce the contract regardless of the fact it was obtained by fraud or bribery. If it would be to the advantage of the school system.

Seven persons, including a member of the Duval county school board, were indicted for conspiracy to accept bribes or unlawful competition in the awarding of contracts in the county's $14,500,000 school construction program.

They will be tried Mar. 19.

The Attorney General said in his opinion, the school board is authorized to suspend the contract pending judicial determination of the charges.

"Even if the charges are substantiated, however, it would not necessarily have the effect of voiding the contract with respect to the contractor who obtained the contract by bribes or fraud."

"If it appeared that a better price could be secured or that the existing contract was not advantageous to the school board, the contract could be voided at the discretion of the board upon proof that it was obtained through fraudulent means. The school board is authorized to suspend the contract pending judicial determination of the charges."

Johnston, Crosby Called Honest By Governor Warren

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2—(AP)—Governor Warren today dismissed suspension charges against Justice of the Peace J. C. Beach and Constable W. H. Hogan of Daytona Beach. At the close of a two-day hearing, the Governor said the "evidence does not prove" there are any "fixes" on these men.

Disbelief Expressed In Plan To Muscle In On S. And G. Group

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2—(AP)—An assistant attorney general today said the practice of two Volusia county officers in collecting fines and costs on an installment plan without official records, "is one of the finest grounds for a racket that I can conceive of."

Reverend Herman told Governor Warren the intentions of Justice of the Peace J. C. Beach and Constable W. H. Hogan "might be fine," but their "policy" leaves room to suspect a racket is either being operated, or could be operated.

Resistance Stiffens On Central Front As Allied Assault Gains Momentum

TOKYO, Mar. 2—(AP)—U. S. Marines swept through abandoned Hoengsong today and stabbed deeper into the heart of Red defenses on the central Korean front. Communist resistance stiffened all along the Allied line. On the east-central front, Korean Red-wearing South Korean uniforms knifed into American positions and fought the doughboys hand-to-hand.

Red jets again challenged U. S. jets near the Manchurian border. Tank-led Marines of the First Division drove into Hoengsong, unsmiling Chinese Reds in a two-day battle on dominating ridges nearby. Infantrymen followed the lead.

Field dispatches said they found the rubble highway hub littered with the frozen bodies of earlier Allied casualties and scores of Hoengsong army trucks and jeeps. Only a few South Koreans remained—and those had escaped the Chinese.

Hoengsong, 50 air miles east of Seoul, is in the middle of the mountainous central front. It fell to the Chinese Feb. 12 during the Red counter offensive that failed to crack the Allied line.

That counter-drive had cost the Chinese heavily. But an ambush inside Hoengsong took a heavy toll of Dutch troops, including their commander, Lt. Col. Marinus P. A. Den Ouden.

To retake Hoengsong Friday, the Marines stormed a series of hills and ridges to the south and west—sometimes at bayonet point. By noon Friday they had won a sea-saw battle for a 1,500-foot barren ridge after being stopped on its steep slopes Thursday.

With that ridge taken, the Marines—strongly supported by aerial and artillery bombardment—took lower hills near the town. Then they swept through Hoengsong toward high ground to the north.

The Leathernecks were on the approach to Hoengsong, Chinese stronghold 15 miles to the north-west. It is regarded as the key stone of Red defenses along the winding 60-mile central front.

Vegetables Sales Growers Approve Exceed $1 Million During February At Local Market

Vegetable sales, spurred by acute shortages due to a freeze in Texas, soared to a new high at the Sanford State Farmers Market during February with 283,893 units bringing a huge total of $1,084,712, Sandy Anderson, market manager, announced this morning.

This was nearly $300,000 more return than in February, 1950 when vegetable sales brought approximately $800,000.

Cabbage was king in sales during the past month, accounting for more than two thirds of the total February sales or $641,264, said Mr. Anderson.

This humble vegetable, which last year brought only about 50 cents a bag of 50 pounds at the market, brought prices up to $6.50 this year due to acute shortages.

Last month more than 125,533 bags of cabbage, valued at $624,267 and 3,227 crates, valued at $16,296, were sold on the market platform. Much of the cabbage was grown in the Sanford area.

The jam of big semi-trailers from all parts of the nation was so great in the market area that Market Manager Sandy Anderson had to spend considerable time as a "traffic cop" to straighten it out.

One reason for the popularity of the market with produce shippers, it was recently pointed out (Continued On Page Two)

Lieut. O. F. Nicholson, USN, announced today that his headquarters at the Sanford Naval Air Station that plans had been made to open bids at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon on the demolition of partitions in the Mess Hall and the barracks which had been taken over from the Fellowship Foundation.

Bids will be opened in Jacksonville on Mar. 15 for the rehabilitation of runways and roads at the Sanford Station, which is being reopened to help meet the requirements of the expanded military program.

On Mar. 8 at Jacksonville, bids were received for the painting and inspecting of 11 underground gasoline tanks, according to Comdr. E. J. Pettler, officer in charge of construction at NAS, Jacksonville.

New Houses Menaced By Large Grass Fire

New houses under construction, as well as many completed houses in the Dreamworld section, were menaced last night by a grass fire that covered a large area just outside of the city limits.

Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland personally directed the efforts of Fireman C. L. Keller and H. C. Crissey, who by skillful backfiring kept the flames from spreading in such a manner as to damage property. They worked on the fire from 7:30 P. M. to after 11:00 P. M.

Residents estimated the firemen as much as possible. Among these was Roger Ingram, a printer at The Herald, who today estimated that more than $500 worth of lumber which he had placed in the area for the building of a new home, had been saved by the firemen.

The fire was centered mostly west of Mohawk Street and south of Twenty-fifth Street.

Squeaky Was Nervous

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 2—(AP)—"Squeaky" is en route by railway express to be with his master, Pfc. Traub, at Fort Campbell, Ky.

The soldier's father, A. A. Traub, explains, "Since Baron left, Squeaky has been an nervous little fellow. He is nearly gone."

Pfc. Traub's superior officers are apt to be a bit nervous too when Squeaky arrives. The pet is a bulky 11-month-old mountain lion.

Argentine Crises Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Mar. 2—(AP)—U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller, Jr., arrived here today amid growing uneasiness about relations between the United States and Argentina.

This tension stems from the 26-day shut-down of the big independent newspaper La Prensa, outspoken critic of President Juan D. Peron's regime, and evidence that the pro-government press may be building up new charges of U. S. intervention in Peron's bid for reelection next February.

Vegetable sales, spurred by acute shortages due to a freeze in Texas, soared to a new high at the Sanford State Farmers Market during February with 283,893 units bringing a huge total of $1,084,712, Sandy Anderson, market manager, announced this morning.

This was nearly $300,000 more return than in February, 1950 when vegetable sales brought approximately $800,000.

This humble vegetable, which last year brought only about 50 cents a bag of 50 pounds at the market, brought prices up to $6.50 this year due to acute shortages.

Last month more than 125,533 bags of cabbage, valued at $624,267 and 3,227 crates, valued at $16,296, were sold on the market platform. Much of the cabbage was grown in the Sanford area.

The jam of big semi-trailers from all parts of the nation was so great in the market area that Market Manager Sandy Anderson had to spend considerable time as a "traffic cop" to straighten it out.

One reason for the popularity of the market with produce shippers, it was recently pointed out (Continued On Page Two)

This tension stems from the 26-day shut-down of the big independent newspaper La Prensa, outspoken critic of President Juan D. Peron's regime, and evidence that the pro-government press may be building up new charges of U. S. intervention in Peron's bid for reelection next February.

Senate Will Pass On Morse Amendment To Hold Minimum Draft Age At 18½

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2—(AP)—The Senate agreed today to a test vote Monday on the controversial issue of lowering the draft age to 18 years and 6 months.

The present Selective Service Act allows induction at age 19.

A pending bill approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee would allow calling up of 18 year olds.

The test will come on an amendment by Senator Morse (R-Ore) to make the minimum age 18½ years.

The Committee bill would require local draft boards to take older men in the present 19 to 26 draft manpower pool before calling any 18 year olds. It also would require that the 18 year olds nearest 19 be inducted first.

The Morse proposal would eliminate both these restrictions, allowing boys 18½ years of age or older as long as they are taken at the same time.

Morse said he would also allow boys between 18 to 18½ to volunteer.

The test will be the first on a series of amendments proposed by the broad universal military training and service bill. It has been debated intermittently this week and the voting agreement was by unanimous consent.

Fraudulent Duval Contracts Termed Subject To Voiding

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2—(AP)—Attorney General Hugh B. Evin said today the Duval county school board has authority to suspend architectural contracts involved in its school brick masonry case.

However, he said such suspension would not be binding on the board and it could enforce the contract regardless of the fact it was obtained by fraud or bribery. If it would be to the advantage of the school system.

Seven persons, including a member of the Duval county school board, were indicted for conspiracy to accept bribes or unlawful competition in the awarding of contracts in the county's $14,500,000 school construction program.

They will be tried Mar. 19.

The Attorney General said in his opinion, the school board is authorized to suspend the contract pending judicial determination of the charges.

"Even if the charges are substantiated, however, it would not necessarily have the effect of voiding the contract with respect to the contractor who obtained the contract by bribes or fraud."

"If it appeared that a better price could be secured or that the existing contract was not advantageous to the school board, the contract could be voided at the discretion of the board upon proof that it was obtained through fraudulent means. The school board is authorized to suspend the contract pending judicial determination of the charges."
