Whistle Stop

Former Vice President Walter Mondale, center, Democratic presidential candidate, on a trip through Florida Tuesday, explains his belief that President Reagan's policies have hurt the economy as he inspects freeze damage from the December cold snap at the grove owned by Edward Rogers, left, at Lancaster Avenue-S. Orange Avenue, Orlando. Part of the nation's economic problems can be traced to too many imports and not enough exports, he said.

For Hart?

Support Blossoming, But Only 1 5th District Delegate So Far

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

If you want to vote for convention delegates for Colorado Sen. Gary Hart in Tuesday's Democratic presidential preference primary in Seminole County, you have only one choice — Fred Donnelly of Casselberry.

Donnelly is the only committed delegate for Hart on the primary ballot for the 5th congressional district, which includes all of Seminole and parts of Orange and Lake counties.

And while Donnelly says a number of former Gov. Reubin Askew's supporters have come over to the Hart campaign, Seminole County School Board member Roland Williams, an Askew alternate delegate, and state Reps. Alzo Reddick and Fran Carlton, both Askew delegates from Orlando, said today they are uncommitted at this point to any other presidential candidate.

However, Askew campaign coordinator Terry Beckett of Orange County is already on the Hart campaign payroll and the former Askew headquarters at 392 N. Orange Ave., Orlando, is being readied for reopening as a Hart headquarters, Donnelly said.

Meanwhile, presidential candidates are recognizing the importance of Central Florida to their campaigns and are visiting the area in the few days remaining before Tuesday's primary.

Former Vice President Walter Mondale inspected freeze damaged orange trees at a grove at Lancaster Avenue and S. Orange Avenue in Orange County Tuesday.

Ohio Sen. John Glenn was scheduled to be at the Howard Johnson's on Colonial Drive at noontime today.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson is slated to be in the Central Florida area Friday.

Vice President George Bush was to be in Tampa later today. President Reagan is running unopposed on the Florida Republican ballot for his party's nomination.

Hart supporters were preparing today to meet their candidate at a press conference 4:30 p.m. Thursday at Orlando International Airport.

Donnelly, expressing delight at Hart's victory in Vermont Tuesday, said the Hart campaign workers are preparing signs for their candidate's local appearance and mobilizing people to have a good crowd at the airport.

He said the Hart campaign has great momentum, pointing to the candidate's three primary and caucus victories in a row, and predicted Hart will win Florida as well.

Admitting that Hart's campaign is not well organized in Central Florida, Donnelly said many Askew supporters are coming over to the Hart cause and that delegates pledged to California Sen. Alan Cranston, may be joining the effort as well.

But Seminole school board's Williams said, while he has been contacted by Hart campaign workers and by some former-Askew coordinators urging that he support Hart, he has not made up his mind.

School Board Tackles Attendance Zoning

A special one-item agenda on a controversial subject — the setting of attendance zones for the 3,650 elementary school students in the Sanford-Lake Mary area — faces the Seminole County School Board at its 7:30 p.m. meeting today.

Parents of students involved have been invited to attend the meeting to give their opinions and recommendations at the school administration office auditorium, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes is to recommend attendance boundaries for the six elementary schools in Sanford-Lake Mary — the new Hamilton school, Pine Crest, Goldsboro, Lake Mary, Idyllwild and Wilson.

To be closed as elementary schools at the end of this school year are South Side, Sanford Grammar and Hopper. Students who have attended these schools will be transferred to other facilities.

Goldsboro, which has housed kindergarten, fourth and fifth grades, and Pine Crest, which has housed kindergarten through third grade, each will become full kindergarten through fifth grade schools.

A special committee comprised of school teachers and administrators, School Board member Jean Bryant and County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff and parents submitted two different plans.

Their task was to keep the schools equal in population and provide for black-white ratios as equal as possible to fit federal district court desegregation requirements.

Of the 3,650 students effected, 1,506 are black and 2,144 are white.

Mayor Suggests Peace Offering To End Water Squabbles

A mutual agreement between Sanford and Lake Mary to solve the water problems of both cities may be in the offing.

And a first step toward the agreement could be Sanford lifting the pressure from Lake Mary about drilling its own wells and building a water plant immediately.

This could be done, said Mayor Lee P. Moore, by Sanford agreeing to continue supplying water to meet Lake Mary's needs for the next two-to-three years while that city plans and constructs its wells, a water plant and main distribution lines.

Moore talked persuasively to his colleagues on the Sanford City Commission Tuesday about a joint meeting of both cities' elected officials to thrash out their squabbles to get headed in a mode of progress to provide an ample supply of water for the populations of the two cities today and in the future.

Noting that Sanford is in process of acquiring property now within the city of Lake Mary for a new well field, Moore said, "Other future Sanford well fields will be right in the middle of Lake Mary."

However, Moore stopped the three members of the city commission present — David Farr, Milton Smith and Ned Yancey — from coming to any decision until next Monday's regular 7 p.m. commission meeting when Commissioner Eddie Keith and City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, both ill with the flu, can participate in the discussion.

Moore made it clear he is looking toward a joint meeting of the city commissioners of the two cities, rather than one between the two city managers, since ultimately the elected officials will make the decisions required.

To a suggestion that Moore and Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson meet, Moore said that he and Sorenson are in constant communication, but that Sorenson does not have any more control over the Lake Mary Commission than he (Moore) has over the Sanford Commission.

Moore said it would be in Sanford's best interests to make sure when Lake Mary builds a water plant that it is designed in a fashion to benefit Sanford as well as Lake Mary.

Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett urged the commissioners to look at Lake Mary's potential for growth. "If they are locked into our system, that will be our obligation," Harriett said.

Harriett said one of Sanford's objectives over the past months has been to push Lake Mary into developing its own complete water system. "But, we know they do not respond to suggestions," Harriett said, "and we had to do something to force the issue. They need to develop a system."

Meanwhile, the city has received a letter from Lake Mary City Manager Kathy Rice advising that Sanford plans to create a well field on a 24-acre site within the Lake Mary city limits must be approved by the Lake Mary Board of Adjustment before well drilling can begin.

Moore's response Tuesday was, "In my opinion nothing is going to keep us from drilling those wells."

While Yancey and Smith discussed cooperation between the two cities, Farr didn't agree the cities have a mutual problem when one — Lake Mary — is dependent upon the other — Sanford.

"The only mutual problem is that each has in the need for water," Farr said. "I can see Lake Mary benefiting, but no benefit for Sanford."

Farr said Sanford could do what someone suggested to him and that is to shut Lake Mary off the city's water system.

Yancey said, "I would like to put down the animosity between the two city governments," Yancey said, "and I don't know whether Lake Mary can help Sanford or not."

Two Of Five Escapees Still At Large

Fugitive Dies In Hail Of Gunfire

MARION, N.C. (UPI) — One of two killer fugitives from a Tennessee prison was slain today in a gunbattle with officers who found him hiding in a vacant house on the edge of a junkyard.

Capt. Don Ramsey of the McDowell County Sheriff's Department said officers making a house-to-house search around the junkyard found Ronald L. Freeman, already bleeding from a shootout with a state trooper Tuesday, hiding in a vacant house.

Armed with two pistols, Freeman had fled across the 2-acre junkyard strewn with the remains of cars and trucks from another house, where he had burst in on a blind woman and caused her to have a heart attack.

He opened fire on the officers, Ramsey said, wounding a state trooper, and then died in a barrage of gunfire.

Still at large somewhere in the rugged Blue Ridge mountain area was James Clegg, 30, who, like Freeman, had vowed never to be taken alive.

More than 100 state troopers and officers from police and sheriff's departments in the area sealed off a five-block area around Sam Frady's junkyard and the adjacent Oak Grove cemetery. A helicopter hovered over the area in the early morning chill.

Tyre and past presidents Bill Fraasa and Fred Wilson. The pancakes and sausage, orange drink and coffee will be served 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center. The auction will begin at 5 p.m. There will also be home baked items on sale.

Deltona 'Little League' Killer Gets 7 Years

A Deltona man and former cop who pleaded guilty to second degree murder Nov. 2 has been sentenced to seven years in prison, the lightest sentence possible for the crime.

Daniel Alphonse Fleming could have received life.

Fleming, 41, pleaded guilty to killing Thomas J. "Pudgy" Dunn, 22, of Deltona, after an argument about parking during a Little League baseball game.

Fleming was sentenced by Circuit Judge Ed Sanders who said he imposed the most lenient sentence he could because Fleming, a New York City police officer for 17 years, had a spotless background and apparently did not intend to murder Dunn.

According to eyewitnesses, Fleming, driving a van, wanted to leave the baseball park but Dunn's car was blocking the exit.

When Fleming asked Dunn, sitting in his car, to move the car an argument followed, according to witnesses. After Dunn moved the car, Fleming returned to his van but instead of driving away, got a .38-caliber revolver from the vehicle and approached Dunn.

Dunn's younger brother, Michael, said Fleming grabbed the older Dunn by the chin and shot him.

Dunn, wounded in the temple, died several hours later at an Orlando hospital.

Fleming maintained he got the gun only to scare Dunn and that he stumbled on the way back to the car, causing the gun to discharge.

At a sentencing hearing Jan. 19 which was monitored by four armed guards who searched those attending with a metal detector, a psychologist and a psychiatrist testified they believed Fleming's assertion that the shooting was an accident.

Three career police officers from New York, all of whom knew Fleming for more than 20 years, testified to his character at the sentencing hearing.

Amtrak Fatal Derailment: 70mph Should've Been 10

MARSHALL, Texas (UPI) — A fast-moving Amtrak train that derailed on a newly repaired section of track and killed four people should have been moving at only 10 mph, witnesses at a National Transportation Safety Board hearing said.

The NTSB opened a hearing Tuesday on the Nov. 12 accident in which seven cars of the Amtrak Eagle, traveling at 70 mph en route from Chicago to San Antonio, Texas, left the rails just north of Marshall in northeast Texas.

Mardi Gras Fatality

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UPI) — A woman was crushed to death between a parade float and a decorated float during Mardi Gras.

Authorities said Jerry Tate, 52, was pronounced dead late Tuesday at St. Patrick's Hospital about an hour after the accident behind the Civic Center.

According to police, the woman was standing in front of the pickup as crews tried to jump-start it after discovering it had a faulty battery. The truck suddenly lurched forward, crushing her against the float.

870,000 To Get Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cancer will strike a record 870,000 Americans this year and 450,000 people will die from the disease, the American Cancer Society reports. About one-third of the deaths can be linked to cigarette smoking.

The report also offered encouraging news on cancer treatment research.

Air Florida Sets Layoffs, Pay Cuts

MIAMI (UPI) — Air Florida is laying off at least 180 employees and cutting worker salaries 10 percent in exchange for company stock in a bid to make the financially troubled carrier profitable.

Air Florida President Donald Lloyd-Jones, who met with employee groups Tuesday, said the wage concessions and layoffs would ensure the Miami-based airline's "return to profitability in 1984."

The 12-year-old carrier is a former commuter airline that made it big with cheap flights between Florida and the Northeast. But fierce competition from the major carriers has caused Air Florida to lose money since 1981.

Hart Claims His Biggest Victory Yet

By Laurence McGullian
UPI Political Reporter

Gary Hart, turning Vermont's non-binding presidential primary into his third and biggest rout of Walter Mondale, says his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination is expanding the party's base and luring Republicans to his side.

Hart, whose underdog bid for the White House seemed hopeless some two weeks ago, trounced all opponents in the Vermont contest and took his campaign South where he hopes to wrest the title of front-runner from Mondale on "Super Tuesday" next week. With 100 percent of the 264 precincts reporting, Hart had 51,703 votes or 71 percent. Mondale 14,896 or 20 percent and Jesse Jackson 5,677 or 8 percent. Former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, who withdrew from the race last week, received 433 votes, or 1 percent. Hart's latest victory reflects his ability to build on the groundswell of political momentum he created with a distant second place finish in the Iowa precinct caucuses on Feb. 20 over which he used to offer himself as a viable alternative to the former vice president.

The Colorado senator played that finish into a stunning upset of Mondale in last week's New Hampshire primary and repeated the surprise in Sunday's Maine caucuses, which Mondale had expected to win handily. If momentum of the Hart attack continues through next week's Super Tuesday collection of primaries and caucuses — and the signs appear to favor that — Hart almost certainly would emerge as the Democratic front-runner.

Campaigning Tuesday night in Florida, Hart pointed out that in Vermont a lot of Republicans apparently crossed over to vote for him, a practice the state condones. He said it shows he can pull GOP voters into the Democratic fold come November.

"I believe the result in Vermont shows this campaign does have a chance to reach out beyond the Democratic Party to expand the frontiers of our party and to expand the electoral base of our party," Hart said. "I intend to defeat Ronald Reagan."

The preference primary in Vermont has no bearing on the delegate selection process. Town and city caucuses April 24 will select delegates for the May state convention, which will pick the 17-member national delegation that will represent the state in San Francisco in July.

Hart now is rated as the favorite to capture Saturday's caucus voting in Wyoming — to set the stage for Tuesday's crucial voting when nine states hold primaries or caucuses.

Mondale told a rally in Tampa Tuesday that he is in the presidential race "to the finish" and used the forum to alternate attacks on Hart and President Reagan.

"I am what I am," Mondale said. "What you see is what you get."

"This is not a horse race," said Mondale. "This has become a battle for the soul of the Democratic Party and the future of our nation."

He tried to downplay his latest in a string of defeats. "New Hampshire, Maine has hurt. I suppose Vermont will hurt."

"And the question of momentum I suppose is there," he acknowledged. "But you can't elect momentum to the White House. You elect a human being who stands for something."

Jesse Jackson potentially may suffer the most from the Vermont outcome, even though he finished third. He may be declared ineligible for federal matching funds because he failed to get 10 percent of the vote.

Under Federal Elections Commission rules, a candidate loses funding by failing to get at least 10 percent of the vote in two consecutive primaries. The black civil rights leader fell below that minimum in the New Hampshire.

Jackson's deputy campaign manager, Preston Love, said the campaign was "not concerned" because Jackson expects to attract 20 percent of the vote in at least one primary on "Super Tuesday," thereby becoming eligible to receive federal

Student, 18, Reports Rape

An 18-year-old Rollins College student reported to sheriff's deputies that she was raped by a man with whom she left a Casselberry bar.

The Winter Park woman told deputies that she left Roscoe's, State Road 436, Casselberry, at about 10:45 p.m. Tuesday, with a man called "Steve" whom she had just met at that bar, a sheriff's report said.

The woman said that the man drove his car west on Interstate 4 and pulled off the highway and under a bridge at a Sanford exit.

The man stepped from the car and then returned and asked the woman to have sex with him. She said she refused and the man said, "Do I have to raise my hand to you?" He put his hands around her neck and the sheriff's report said the woman feared for her life.

The rapist pushed down the front seat of the car and forced the woman to have sex. He drove her back to Roscoe's and as she got out of his car she noted his license plate number.

After the woman reported the assault she was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, and the case was turned over to sheriff's investigators, the report said.

AUTO THEFT

A 50-year-old man who allegedly stole his girlfriend's car is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond, charged with grand theft auto.

Joyce Lyn Quinn, 37, of 1549 Tuscawilla Road, Oviedo reported her 1971 Dodge, worth $500, stolen and she named a suspect in the case, according to a sheriff's report.

Deputies contacted the suspect and arranged to meet him at the Shop and Go, Howell Branch Road, Casselberry. There the man denied stealing the car, saying it was his but he could not prove ownership. The car, which was found about 150 yards from the convenience store, was returned to Ms. Quinn.

Willie E. Smith was charged with grand theft auto at 4:15 p.m. Sunday.

FALSE NAME

A 47-year-old Sanford man who allegedly gave Sanford police a phony name when he was being charged with aggravated assault faces an additional charge of obstruction by disguise.

At about 7:35 p.m. Friday, a Sanford policeman reported disarming a knife-wielding man who was allegedly threatening another man at the Handy Way convenience store on Celery at Elliott avenues. When asked to identify himself the suspect allegedly gave the name of his brother, David Pringle, a police report said.

A.C. Pringle of 137 Scott Drive, Sanford, is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

FLEA MARKET ROBBERY

A vendor at Flea World, U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that someone stole three gold rings with a total value of $175 from her booth at the market around 3:15 p.m. Sunday.

Betsy Louise Winsboro, 33, of 117-D Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, said that three women who distracted her may have worked together to take the rings, the sheriff's report said.

THEFT

Laudin M. Philpot, 52, of Route 1, Box 58A Goldenrod Drive, Winter Park, reported that a thief took an extension ladder and a patio table, with a combined value of $450, from the patio of her home between noon and 3 p.m. Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

"I am looking at all the candidates' position papers on the economy, civil rights, defense, science and how they would attack the deficit problem," Williams said.

Reddick, an Askew delegate, said he has also been contacted, but will remain uncommitted until he determines which candidate has the best chance of defeating President Ronald Reagan.

"Because many people in my community are looking to me for leadership, it would be wrong on my part to suddenly switch to another candidate," Reddick said.

"A great deal of Askew support is going to Hart," Reddick said, "and I expect a lot of Askew supporters will be voting for him."

Ms. Carlton, in Tallahassee in House committee meetings, said she will remain uncommitted.

Donnelly will have his first opportunity to meet Hart at the airport stop Thursday. A member of the Central Florida Nuclear Freeze Committee, Donnelly, 45, said he choose Hart early as his candidate and placed his own name in the delegate selection pot. Hart ultimately approved Donnelly's candidacy for inclusion on Tuesday's ballot.

Donnelly, who has been involved in presidential campaigns beginning with the John F. Kennedy effort in 1960 in Illinois, said Hart has charisma much like JFK.

"Hart supported Kennedy, too," Donnelly said.

Donnelly also noted that Theodore Sorenson, a former Kennedy aide and speech-writer has joined the Hart campaign.

...Escape

After shooting the state trooper on a highway Clegg and Freeman, 41, split up. About 3 a.m. Freeman burst into the home of Molly Harvey, 62, giving her a heart attack. He hid in her house while an ambulance came for her but when police arrived after being tipped off by Mrs. Harvey's son-in-law, he fled in a hail of gunfire into the junkyard to make his last stand.

At 7:07 a.m., just after daybreak, shots rang out from a green house on a hill overlooking the junkyard. About 20 patrol cars, sirens blaring, roared into the front yard and a SWAT team stormed into the house.

Authorities said when officers turned Freeman's body over they found he was using two handguns. State trooper Larry Carver was wounded in the shoulder but hospital authorities said the injury was superficial.

Freeman and Clegg were among five inmates who shot their way out of Fort Pillow prison Feb. 18 with guns left for them in a work feed. Three days later, the pair killed a Sunday school teacher near the West Tennessee prison, abducted his wife and fled across the state to Knoxville, where they left her unharmed and disappeared.

Another two of the five escapees were arrested within a few days after the breakout. The fifth, Sylvester Alexander, 33, stole a Cadillac and fled to Illinois, where he disappeared.

Stanford's Boondoggle

After three years of haggling, Stanford University's "agreement in principle" to accept the Ronald Reagan presidential library and museum hardly seems worth celebrating. The Ronald Reagan Center for Public Affairs that was to accompany the library and museum has been placed in limbo. And Stanford's reputation has been sullied somewhat.

A big reason Stanford University was offered the presidential library is that it shelters the Hoover Institution — a highly regarded public policy think tank. President Reagan is an honorary fellow of the institution, which already houses his gubernatorial papers, his presidential campaign papers and his presidential transition papers.

Initially, Stanford University President Donald Kennedy was eager to have the Reagan library on campus. But an uprising of left-wing professors made him have second thoughts. Ironically, the Stanford liberals who have resisted the Ronald Reagan library because they said it would politicize the University have themselves done just that.

Actually, the professors were less concerned with preserving Stanford's political neutrality than with exhorting Ronald Reagan. Assistant Professor of Classics John Winkler complained the library would "promote the education of schoolchildren in cold-war cowboyism." Professor Barry Sharp of the Medical School thought Stanford University should not "in any way associate itself with an administration that has such an abysmal record on human rights, women, minorities and General America." And English Professor Denise Evertov said: "Since I feel contempt, fear and rage in respect to President Reagan, I would be very sorry to see this collection come to Stanford, whatever its historical value ... If Reagan continues his usual course, it is, in fact, unlikely that there will be a future in which history can be recalled and studied."

To pacify the professors, Stanford's Board of Trustees refused to accept the presidential library and museum unless the Ronald Reagan Center for Public Affairs was organized "within the normal academic structure of the University" and not placed under the authority of the conservative Hoover Institution, as was originally planned.

The center for public affairs, however, was designed to be a national research institution, ensuring effective use of the library. It was not designed to be an adjunct to Stanford's teaching or departmental research. Indeed, before the library became controversial, Kennedy agreed that the privately funded center was "an integral part of the library." The Hoover Institution was chosen to administer the center because of its ties with President Reagan and because it too is a privately funded research institution. Such considerations are largely diluted by placing the center under Stanford's "academic structure."

As a compromise, the White House offered to make the center entirely independent — modeled on the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences and the National Bureau of Economic Research, both of which are based at Stanford. But the University found this unacceptable also. The White House finally gave in, assuring Stanford the presidential library and museum regardless of the fate of the center for public affairs, which will be decided later.

Kennedy has tried to pacify his faculty, even though he is not a captive of its vocal extremists. The result is that the center for public affairs faces an uncertain future at best and an outright veto of its independent status at worst.

We make the point again: The center for public affairs should not be part of the University's "degree-granting process." It should be what President Reagan wants it to be — an independent research institution.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Deane Jordan

Some people are haunted by the past. Kim Swartz, 16, of 100 E. Coleman Circle, Sanford, is one of those people. At 6:20 p.m. Nov. 4, the Seminole High School student, returning from an all day field trip to Disney World, was struck and injured by a hit-and-run vehicle at the intersection of 25th St. and French Ave.

According to the investigating officer's report and eyewitness accounts, a late-model, gray or light blue Chevrolet or GMC-make car with Florida registration was westbound on 25th Street when it ran a red light at French Avenue. Miss Swartz, daughter of Richard and Joanne Swartz, was crossing the intersection southbound in the crosswalk with friends at the time.

As the car, driven by a man in his mid-20s with medium brown hair, accelerated through the intersection, gaining speed for half a block, Miss Swartz was struck by the driver's side of the car, near the headlight, according to eyewitness Gloria Melotte of Jacksonville. Miss Swartz was thrown onto the hood of the unserving car that was traveling an estimated 40 to 50 mph, then to the roof and carried 300 feet before she fell off onto a curb, according to the police report.

The car, which may have had rectangular headlight frames, continued to accelerate and headed westbound on 25th Street. Miss Swartz received two compound fractures of the left leg, multiple contusions and abrasions, a scalp laceration requiring an operation to repair and a fracture to her pelvis.

After 12 days in the hospital and three operations, Miss Swartz went home on crutches and is still on crutches, according to her father.

He said his daughter has an open lesion near her ankle and suffers from daily swelling of the injured leg.

The cast was removed a week ago. To date, no one has been arrested in the case.

James Provencher, Miss Swartz' attorney who said the driver of the car is clearly liable in the accident, said he was told by the investigating Sanford officer that there is little hope the driver of the car will be found.

Provencher asked the Herald to run Miss Swartz' story in the hopes that either the driver of the vehicle may admit to the accident or that someone who knows the driver — who may live in the West Sanford area — may recognize the description of the driver and car and contact the police so they can investigate.

WASHINGTON WORLD Hart Forces Looking For Volunteers

By Gordon Schultz

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Backers of Gary Hart's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination hope increased volunteers will be able to shake loose more delegate votes in Washington's "Super Tuesday" precinct caucuses.

Hart's success in Iowa, New Hampshire and Maine has galvanized campaign workers who were staying on the sidelines because they found Walter Mondale uninspiring, said Hart field organizer Jonathan Miller.

"These people are now going to become involved and they're going to become involved for Gary Hart," said Miller, who moved into Washington after the Iowa caucuses.

Rose Kapocynski, the Colorado senator's Washington state coordinator, said Hart's strong showing in Iowa brought the first sign of increasing volunteer support and campaign contributions.

In Washington, there are now nine paid workers in the Hart campaign compared with 10 hired staffers in Mondale's state headquarters.

Steve Duncan, Mondale's coordinator, compared Mondale's New Hampshire defeat to a cold shower and said it should wake up the troops and make Washington's March 13 precinct caucuses results even more important.

Mondale and Hart have made several stops in the state during the past year but neither is expected to show up again before the caucuses.

State Democratic Chairman Karen Marchloro said she still believes Mondale will come through the caucuses with most of the state's 70 delegates.

She said California Sen. Alan Cranston's withdrawal from the race will probably result in his supporters splitting evenly between Mondale and Hart.

"Some of the peace people aren't comfortable with Hart but some of Cranston's supporters were latent Mondale people who were there to keep the nuclear freeze issue out front," she said.

The first circuit riders for Mondale showed up in Washington a year ago and party leaders predict the extra time rounding up friendly forces will pay off.

"They've got everybody else so out-organized that nobody is even close," says state House Majority Leader Dennis Heck, a Vancouver Democrat and Mondale backer.

He said the former vice president can expect to pick up from 36 to 50 of the state's 61 pledged delegates to the national convention, notwithstanding Hart's Iowa and New Hampshire showings.

Mondale also benefits the most from rules that give a greater voice in the selection process to elected Democratic congressmen.

Both parties hold precinct caucuses on March 13 but the first actual delegate selection comes at the congressional district caucuses for Democrats on June 2.

Those caucuses will tie down 41 delegates.

JACK ANDERSON

He's Muzzled For Nipping Superiors

WASHINGTON — Conscientious Pentagon employees trying to save the taxpayers a few million dollars often wind up cutting their own throats instead of costs. That's what happened to David Lambert, a Defense Logistics Agency watchdog at the IBM plant in Manassas, Va.

Lambert's job is to keep an eye on the tax dollars that flow into the plant. But when he blew the whistle on what he thought was waste and mismanagement in handling hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of defense contracts, he was slapped down by his Pentagon bosses.

In fact, my associates Indy Badwar and Donald Goldberg have learned that Navy Cmdr. Hugh D. Ames is proposing to fire Lambert for being openly critical of higher authorities — specifically Ames himself and Lambert's supervisor, John Stumpf — in a letter he sent to Ames.

The commander has accused Lambert

WITH LESS THAN 1% OF THE VOTE COUNTED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE, THIS NETWORK PROJECTS WALTER MONDALE TO WIN THE MAINE PRIMARY, WITH HART TAKING WYOMING, GLENN DROPPING OUT AFTER THE SOUTHERN PRIMARIES, AND MONDALE WINNING THE NOMINATION BUT LOSING TO RONALD REAGAN IN NOVEMBER.

Judging Jesse Jackson

How will the Rev. Jesse Jackson and his campaign be judged?

How will history and more contemporary critics — who never hesitate to rush to judgment — weigh Jackson's race?

What standard will be used to decide whether his effort has succeeded or failed, or whether a similar effort should be tried again?

The charismatic minister has charged that he is being held to a harsher standard than that imposed on the other men — all white — who seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Many of his critics agree that Jackson is indeed measured by a different set of rules. But they say he is less rigidly scrutinized than Walter Mondale, John Glenn or, now, Gary Hart.

Jackson, who used offensive language to refer to Jews, has complained since his campaign began that he has been unfairly chastised because of his Middle East position and his highly publicized embrace of PLO leader Yasser Arafat.

But Jackson's critics contend that a white office seeker who used ethnically insensitive words would have already been asked to withdraw from the race. They cite James Watt and Earl Butz as recent examples of whites forced to resign from government after their comments about blacks and handicapped people.

The Arafat embrace, Jackson maintains, didn't mean he had embraced the PLO's tactic or policies.

His statements about Jews, Jackson said, didn't mean he was anti-Semitic.

But however he recovers from the verbal wound he inflicted on himself, Jackson must face a judgment separate from his fellow competitors.

After every primary or caucus, Jackson will have his finish compared with the vote and delegate totals of Mondale, Hart, Glenn and the others.

He'll find himself placed, at least for a day, on the sliding scale that presently shows Mondale ahead, Hart gaining,

Glenn treading water, and the others arguing about who should withdraw next.

Jackson's totals will be compared with everyone else's. The money he raises will be set side by side with the totals of his rivals and his weekly poll position will be charted.

His every up and down will be measured for seismographic significance. His words — public and private, past and present — will be considered and weighed. His public and private life will be subjected to microscopic examination.

And like every other candidate, he'll be held accountable for the actions of his relatives and friends. That kind of analysis is standard. Anyone who seeks the presidency ought to expect it.

But Jackson will find his attempt to put together his "rainbow coalition" judged another way as well.

He'll be judged in comparison to other black candidates stretching back to Frederick Douglass in 1888. The votes the abolitionist received at that year's Republican convention marked him as the first black candidate to gather support for the nation's highest office.

Until Jesse Jackson in 1984 the most notable effort had been Rep. Shirley Chisholm's race in 1972. Her 28 delegates and 151.28 convention votes will be compared with the number Jackson gets at the Democratic convention in San Francisco.

But Jackson will be finally judged by his ability to reach the goals he set for himself when his campaign began.

He said then he hoped to increase the number of black voters, to raise issues no other candidate would raise, and to serve as a catalyst for the election of hundreds of minority candidates throughout the country.

The final judgment of those goals won't come until Nov. 6. That will be Ronald Reagan's judgment day as well.

ROBERT WALTERS

Where All The Votes Were

MERRIMACK, N.H. (NEA) — Organized labor's highly publicized campaign to produce rank-and-file votes for former Vice President Walter Mondale apparently was a dismal failure in New Hampshire's Democratic presidential primary.

Two television networks which conducted elaborate "exit polls" of voters as they left balloting locations concluded that only about one-third of all voters living in a household with a union member voted for Mondale.

NBC News, which surveyed more than 2,100 voters, found that 34 percent of union households voted for Mondale, while 32 percent voted for the winner, Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado.

ABC News, which interviewed almost 1,000 voters, found that 32 percent of the members of union households surveyed by the network voted for Mondale — but 37 percent gave their support to Hart.

The AFL-CIO's endorsement of Mondale not only failed to produce significant voter support but also apparently hurt the former vice president among voters who perceive organized labor as a special interest group and Mondale as its captive.

Among the voters who told ABC News that a candidate's "independence of special interests" was an important factor in making their choice, 59 percent cast their ballots for Hart. Only 2 percent supported Mondale.

While Mondale was failing to capture the support of union households, Hart was fashioning his upset victory with a diverse coalition of political independents, "up-scale" voters, young people and relative newcomers to the state.

The ABC News exit poll produced this intriguing portrait of New Hampshire's voters and their preferences:

Hart received more than half of all ballots cast by voters under 30 and almost as large a proportion of votes from those in the 30-to-40 age group.

Mondale, however, failed to receive the backing of more than 30 percent of the voters in any age group except those over 60. They cast almost half of their ballots for him.

Hart's popularity cut across traditional ideological lines. He received substantial support from those who voted in 1980 for Democrat Jimmy Carter, Republican Ronald Reagan and independent John B. Anderson as well as from those who classified themselves as liberals, conservatives and moderates.

Mondale, on the other hand, attracted significant backing only from those who said they voted for Carter or who identified themselves as Democrats.

This may mean that Hart has a unique ability to appeal to voters all across the political spectrum — or it may indicate that many voters supported him without knowing much about his political philosophy.

When voters ranked themselves by socioeconomic status, Hart dominated the upper end of the scale. He received 49 percent of the votes from those whose annual household income is $40,000 to $50,000 and 46 percent of the votes from those whose yearly household income exceeds $50,000.

Force's deputy for management systems, has reviewed Lambert's documentation and believes Lambert is right.

Fitzgerald said he is "outraged" over the proposal to fire Lambert, whom he considers a conscientious auditor.

Here are some of the issues Lambert has raised:

— He signed a complaint to the Pentagon charging that Stumpf had ordered him to use a rubber-stamp auditing technique instead of forcing the contractor to justify expenditures in detail. He charged that this resulted in excessive costs. Fitzgerald says he is ready to back Lambert on this issue. And an initial investigation of this charge by engineering supervisor Maj. George Olson substantiated Lambert's concern on this issue.

— Lambert signed a complaint that Stumpf had recommended labor costs that were roughly $100,000 higher than the contractor deserved. This is one of several charges under investigation by the inspector general, Fitzgerald said. "On a prima facie basis, Lambert is accurate on this issue."

— In a letter to Ames — and a report to Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md. — Lambert suggested that Ames had known about a serious backlog in un-negotiated contracts, but had done nothing to clear it up. The Pentagon routinely allows contractors to go ahead with expenditures pending final negotiations.

But, as Lambert pointed out, when a contract goes six months without final action, the contractor may have spent as much as 70 percent of the total contract budget. In effect, this means that only 30 percent of the contract is negotiable.

"He's absolutely right," Fitzgerald said. "It's a big problem."

— In his letter to Long, Lambert also accused his supervisors of poor management, which he said caused low morale and high turnover. His charge is supported by an official document known as the "Gatewood Report."

Delegates Are The Real Story On Super Tuesday

By Bessie Ford
 MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The media focuses on exit polls and votes and in what position the candidates run, but the real story of primaries — Super Tuesday included — is delegates.
 Two weeks before the Southern primaries, Walter Mondale leads in the race for delegates with 146, a commanding gap over his next two challengers, John Glenn and Gary Hart, who, according to United Press International's count, had only 17 each. Jesse Jackson had 10, George McGovern none and 42 were uncommitted.
 For all the publicity Hart received for his dramatic win in New Hampshire, the actual impact was just 10 delegates. It takes 1,967 to win the nomination.
 The 289 delegates at stake in Alabama, Florida and Georgia could turn the election. The Southern states have more delegates this time than ever before. There's been a 39 percent increase in the delegate size of 208 since 1980.
 The eight Southern states were re-warded under the new convention rules with more clout than any other region as a result of a population boom and support for Jimmy Carter.

 Alabama's delegate total went from 45 to 62, Florida from 100 to 143, and Georgia from 63 to 84.
 No Democratic contender is guaranteed a sweep of the 289 delegates, and some of the hopefuls, including Jesse Jackson, can use whatever Southern delegates they win as convention mouthpieces.
 The Democratic Convention in San Francisco may be anti-climatic, some Democrats concede, because the candidates' Southern strength and weaknesses will be tested March 13. Even though the race heated up in New Hampshire and Maine, there's very little chance for a brokered convention this summer.
 Meanwhile, Southern Republicans are worried that their party is united and not the least bit concerned that their convention may be dull. They say confusion about the party and hurts its ticket.
 The Democrats are concentrating on the Super Tuesday primaries and don't seem concerned about their convention strategy.

Crooked Deputies: 'It Couldn't Happen Here'

There's little or no chance that a person with a criminal history could turn up on the payroll of the Seminole County sheriff's department, according to Capt. Jay Leman.
 The dismissal last week of three Pasco County sheriff's deputies who did not reveal their arrest records when they were hired puts law enforcement in a bad light, Leman said.
 Florida law requires applicants for law enforcement positions to reveal any prior arrests where they faced criminal charges even if they were later cleared.
 "We prevent that sort of thing by doing a complete background check on anyone we consider hiring," Leman said. "This is done before they are hired. In addition to sending their fingerprints to the FBI, we even run a driver's license check because we don't want someone who has even a bad driving record."
 "They are asked to clarify any questions about their background," he said. "They are also screened before they go through police school and they have to have gone through police school before they're hired here."
 "I'm not aware of any problem in Seminole County," Sheriff John Polk said. "They can have a misdemeanor on their record, but no felony."
 "If they try to conceal something on their record, even a misdemeanor," Leman said, "then that would be a different story, because then they would have lied on their application. Over the years we have had to confront a few people on that and that's it. We say good-bye and they don't get in the door. We have a very good screening process."
 An investigation into the Pasco County sheriff's department was begun 10 months ago after a newspaper reported that 25 of that department's deputies had been arrested on charges including gambling, aggravated battery, petty larceny and armed robbery. None of the 195 members of that force had been convicted of a felony, but more than half of the 25 with records did not reveal their criminal arrest records when they were hired, according to the St. Petersburg Times.
 Pasco County sheriff John Short has asked all of his deputies to give a full, sworn account of any case where they had been arrested.
 Deputy Ronald Roppolo, who had been convicted of petty theft in 1975 and for failure to register to work as a builder in 1980 was dismissed. Deputies Whitman Luter and Joseph Perez were also fired. Luter was charged with grand theft in 1980 and Perez had reportedly resigned rather than face an internal investigation of his conduct at the scene of a Key West accident when he was a deputy in that district, according to the Times report.
 Short is investigating another deputy and State Attorney James T. Russell is examining deputies' personnel records. The Times said that two of Russell's investigators were seen examining files of deputies known to have arrest records. Russell was unavailable for comment on the case.
 Although a Pasco County sheriff's department spokeswoman said she would distribute copies of the deputies sworn statements on their arrest histories, Short later said he was withholding them as part of an internal investigation not covered by Florida's open records law.

Your Passport to Savings & Adventure on Air Florida

Buy 1 ticket
Get 1 FREE! on Air Florida with purchases totaling $100 at Scotty's

Air Florida flies to the following cities:

It's Easy Everybody Wins!

Here's how you qualify:

- 1 When you shop at Scotty's during March 1984, save your receipts in your handy "passport". The cashier will note your purchase amounts and dates on the chart on the inside front of the "passport."
- 2 When your purchases have added up to $100 or more, present your "passport" to your local Scotty's store manager no later than April 14, 1984.
- 3 Your store manager will give you a certificate that will entitle you to one free ticket on any Air Florida flight when you buy a "Q, Y, P, or J Class" fare priced ticket (where applicable) on the same flight. You will also receive a certificate from Alamo Car Rental good for one day free rental—all you pay is tax, insurance and gas.
- 4 Purchases in multiples of $100 continue to earn two-for-one tickets throughout March. For example, if your purchases add up to $250, you have the option of turning in your purchase verification and buying two tickets and getting two free... or you may continue to accumulate purchases until you have $300, at which time you can buy three tickets and get three free. There is no limit to the number of tickets for which you may qualify.
- 5 Tickets for this two-for-one program must be purchased from an Air Florida ticket counter or city ticket office. All travel must originate in the U.S. All tickets are good for travel on Air Florida only.
- 6 You will need to purchase your tickets and complete your trip by December 31, 1984.
- 7 Two-For-One tickets are not available for certain holidays; the exact restricted dates are listed on the certificate you will receive from your store manager.
- 8 Your free ticket must be issued at the same time as the original paid ticket is purchased, and must bear the passenger's name.
- 9 The purchased ticket may be refunded only at an Air Florida office or ticket counter and must be submitted together with the free ticket for the identical segment being claimed for refund.

Plus... FREE use of a car for one day from

Alamo also features Ford G.M. cars such as the Chevrolet Camaro

HOW TO OBTAIN YOUR TICKETS: When you get your certificate from your Scotty's store manager, call Air Florida at the number indicated on the certificate and make the desired booking. The tickets must be issued at the Air Florida ticket counter at the point of departure; be sure to take your certificate with you. Also, be sure to allow enough time for your ticket to be written.

Car Dealer Pleads Guilty In Drug Probe

A Sanford used car dealer who sold 115 pounds of marijuana to undercover agents and was arrested after a five-month probe by the U.S. Treasury Department and Seminole County sheriff's investigators has pleaded guilty to five felony charges.

Roger Hunt, 39, of 109 Briarwood Court, pleaded guilty Friday to the sale of marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to sell, possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana, trafficking in stolen property and engaging in a criminal offense while having a weapon.

Hunt, his wife Beverly, also of Sanford, Charles Wayne Lambert, 53, of Indianapolis, Kenneth Eugene Metcalf, 46, of 720 Haywood Drive, Sanford, and Bernie Ball, 68, of 510 Pasadena Ave., Longwood, were arrested March 26 after an investigation into suspected illegal activities that spread from Seminole County into Orlando, Orange County, Brevard, and as far south as Indian River County.

Hunt is scheduled to be sentenced May 2. The charges against Mrs. Hunt will be dropped for lack of evidence, according to Assistant State Attorney Howard Swerblow.

On Sept. 7, Lambert received two years probation for his involvement in the case.

Metcalf failed to appear on two charges of selling marijuana. A fugitive warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Ball was convicted in federal court of selling firearms without a license and was sentenced June 24 to five years probation and fined $4,000. Afterwards, a charge of selling stolen property was dropped July 8 in Seminole County.

Mechanic Sentenced For Battery

A Longwood man originally charged with two counts of aggravated battery has been sentenced after pleading guilty to the lesser charge of battery.

Stanley Newton, 47, of 804 Raven Ave., Longwood, pleaded guilty Jan. 10 to the battery of George K. Acker, 41, of 362 Hidden Pines St., Casselberry, then service manager at Don Reid Ford.

Circuit Judge Robert McGregor sentenced Newton Monday to 15 years of probation with the stipulation that he not drink any alcoholic beverage during that period and pay $2,225 to Central Florida Regional Hospital or to Thomas R. Roberts, 350 Hidden Pines Circle, Casselberry, who was originally mentioned in the second charge against Newton.

In his hand-written sentencing plea, Newton said:

On Aug. 28, 1983, at a Don Reid Ford company picnic, held at Lake Golden, Sanford, my service manager, George Acker, did in a drunken state, impune my reputation as a professional mechanic. In an altercation that ensued after confronting him with the knowledge of the accusation, I did strike him in the face with my right hand (and) knocked him down. There upon I knelt upon his chest and struck him in the face three more times with my right hand. I stood up and started to walk away. At this time an individual, Thomas Roberts, unknown to me at the time, ran up to me and grabbed my arm and hollered at me. In the heat of the moment, I struck Roberts in the face with my right hand. I started backing, he recovered and lunged at me whereupon I struck him again with my hand and consequently knocked him down. I understand that Acker sustained a cracked facial bone and ribs and a facial cut and Roberts sustained a broken nose.

Newton, who stands 6-foot 8-inches and weighs 250 pounds, could have received up to 16 years for the batteries.

Temporary Trip Into 'The Zone' Had Fitzhugh Worried

Ed Fitzhugh was ranked #1 in the state in men's 35 and over singles, but Ed Fitzhugh was worried while facing a "young" upstart one day.

Ed was in Sanford a few years ago to play in the Annual Bayhead Classic, perhaps the foremost Junior Vet Tournament in the state.

In the second round, I had the awesome task of playing this tennis machine. I had played Ed twice before, losing rather easily on both occasions.

Today, however, seemed to be different. As we warmed up I had felt all my nervousness and doubts vanish. I was starting to enter what the pros call "the zone" or "playing in the zone." That delightful state of mind where self-discipline and patience, concentration, optimism, relaxation and enjoyment are at peak levels and the ability you possess flows effortlessly to the surface.

From the warm up, I had streaked off to a 4-1 lead in the first set. Service aces. Backhand winners. Delicate angle volleys. They were all there. The great and legendary Fitzhugh was about to disappear.

When we swapped sides at 4-1 and stopped to towel off, Ed in a good natured way said, "When did you start playing like that? I've never seen you play that way before."

As I walked to my court for the next game I realized that I had been in "the zone." The trouble is that as soon as you realize you are in the "zone," you're not.

Larry Castle
SCC Tennis Instructor

Instead of having fun and being relaxed, suddenly I was playing the best junior vet player in the state. Exit my relaxation, goodbye concentration, hello pressure. Enter impatience.

The next thing I remember about the match was sitting next to my friend Phil Logan on the steps at Bayhead and asking him how I could have let that match get away from me. From the 4-1 up in the first set I went on to lose 6-4, 6-2.

What happened to me has probably happened to you more times than you care to think about. Being in the "zone" for awhile, when you feel that you can make any shot, move your feet with little effort, hit McEnroe-type serves.

It's a grand and glorious state. When we slip ingloriously from the "zone" back into upright reality we begin to rush ourselves. Press, lose confidence and concentration and simply stop enjoying what we are doing.

That great set or match we have going, that astonishing upset in the making, disappears ... we have come down from our high, we've come out of the "zone."

I always ask myself as you're probably asking now ... How can I stay in the "zone?" You can't ... not even the pros can. The "zone" is a relative state. McEnroe is #1 in the world when he is not in the "zone."

He is good enough through hard work, experience and ability to beat anyone, but even now and then he goes into his "zone," and beats Borg 6-1, 6-0, instead of 7-5 in the third.

Just work as hard as you can on your game and enjoy and appreciate the "zone" when it happens to you — but don't expect to stay very long — after all we are only human.

Barnes, Howell, Sams, Top Girls

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Girls soccer stepped out of obscurity and into the spotlight in Seminole County in the 1983-84 season led by Lyman's Lady Greyhounds who finished with an impressive 22-1 record and second in the state.

There is a lot of young talent in the county so girls soccer has a promising future. That young talent is well displayed on the Evening Herald All-County Soccer Team. Alyson Barnes of Lyman and Katie Sams of Trinity Prep, both just freshman, along with Debbie Howell of Lake Mary were unanimous choices for the All-County team thus making them players of the year.

Barnes was one of three high scoring players for the Lady Greyhounds as she scored 22 goals and added 15 assists during the regular season (17 games). She was also selected the Offensive MVP of the Lake Mary-Burger King Tournament.

Sams, also an all-state performer in cross country, led Trinity Prep's Lady Saints with 13 goals and four assists.

Howell, the Lady Rams' goalkeeper, was also selected to the Florida Athletic Coaches Association All-State team for the 1983-84 season. She had four shutouts and allowed just 1.8 goals per season while making 338 saves. She was also named the Defensive MVP at the Burger King Tourney.

The remainder of the All-County first team includes Traci Rowland, Jennifer Josephs, Pam Anderson and Michelle Schroth of Lake Brantley; Sheila Mandy and Karen Abernethy of Lyman and Marianne DiTucci and Kelly Broen of Lake Mary.

Rowland, a senior forward, was the offensive MVP for Lake Brantley as she led the Lady Patriots to a second place finish in the district with 12 goals and five assists. Josephs was a fine all around player at midfield where she scored seven goals and added three assists. Anderson was one of the best defenders around in 1983-84 and she also added three goals and one assist for the Lady Patriots. Schroth started the season as a forward and scored 11 goals, she finished the season as a defender and made the All-County team as a defender.

Mandy was the leader of the Lady Greyhounds scoring machine as she scored 24 goals and had 15 assists during the regular season (17 games). Abernethy is one of the most talented defenders in the state and she also added eight goals and five assists for the Lady Greyhounds this season.

DiTucci was the toughest defender for Lake Mary during the 1983-84 season. Broen scored 10 goals and added eight assists from her forward position.

The All-County second team included Diana Boyesen, Kim Mitchell, Stacy Roy, Nancy VanVoorhis and Dawn Boyesen of Lyman; Michele Winder and Kim VanVliet of Lake Mary; Beth Russi and Lisa Myers of Seminole; Susan Toepfer of Lake Brantley and Leah Ferris of Trinity Prep.

Dawn Boyesen was the third leading scorer for the Greyhounds with 19 goals and six assists. Diana Boyesen, Mitchell, Roy, and VanVoorhis helped make the Lyman defense, which gave up only 10 goals during the regular season, one of the toughest in the state and also contributed to the offense.

Winder and VanVliet were two of the Lady Rams' top performers in 1983-84 and were consistent throughout the year.

Russi, a senior defender, was outstanding in the goal area and gave strong support to Seminole's goalkeeper. Myers, a senior defender and team captain, along with Russi made up the nucleus of the Lady Tribe's defense. Myers moved to forward late in the season where she scored two goals in her first game at forward.

Toepfer displayed excellent fundamentals and techniques in helping strengthen Lake Brantley's defense. Ferris was switched to defender and was one of the keys to Trinity Prep's success. The Lady Saints won 7 of their last 10 games.

All-County Girls Soccer

All-County Boys Soccer

Serino, Ocasek Are Unanimous

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell junior Mike Serino and Lyman sophomore Brian Ocasek were selected co-players of the year on the Evening Herald All-County Soccer Team selected by the county coaches.

Serino, a forward for the Silver Hawks, scored 16 goals for the season, including two hat tricks. Ocasek, a forward who helped lead the Greyhounds to the district title, scored nine goals and had seven assists for the season. Serino and Ocasek were the only unanimous selections to the All-County team.

The remainder of the All-County first team includes Joe Dalton, Don Kelly and Marcus Siebmann of Lake Mary; Jim Morrissey and James Phillips of Lake Howell; Mo Moghaddam, Mike Shanahan and Scan Putegnat of Lake Brantley and Carter Mays of Lyman.

Dalton the Rams' senior goalkeeper, was also selected to the Florida Athletic Coaches Association All-State Team for the 1983-84 season and he was the Most Valuable Player for Lake Mary this season. Dalton allowed just 1.2 goals per game, had seven shutouts and 254 saves in 23 games.

Siebmann, a 3A All-State selection as a junior, had nine goals and 11 assists in his senior year at Lake Mary. Kelly, a junior forward, tied for the team lead with 18 goals and added two assists while playing in only 15 games because of an injury.

Morrissey, a junior midfielder for Lake Howell, helped the Silver Hawks to a fine season. Phillips, also a junior midfielder, scored four goals for the Hawks this season.

Moghaddam, a junior forward, played half the season as a defender to give the Patriots some experience on defense. He scored seven goals in half a season playing forward. Shanahan, a junior fullback, played very well in tight games for Brantley and helped its young defense with intelligent, aggressive play. Putegnat, also a junior fullback, is extremely adept at taking the ball away and making a run to the goal. He scored several times from his sweeper position.

Mays, a junior midfielder, contributed consistent play to Lyman's district champion team. He scored three goals and added one assist.

The All-County second team included Andre Sanders, Mike Dunlap and Eric Zimmerman of Lake Mary; Rob Moody, Gordon King, Pete Kinsley and Mark Amrhein of Oviedo; Kevin Ryter and John Phillips of Lake Howell and Chad Marlen and Joe Pledger of Lake Brantley.

Sanders, a junior forward, scored 18 goals and added five assists to help the Rams to a 16-7 record. Dunlap, a senior fullback, was a hardworking defender for Lake Mary this past season. Zimmerman, a junior sweeperback, helped stabilize a defense that was weak at the beginning of the season.

Moody, a senior forward, scored nine of Oviedo's 17 goals on the season. King, a freshman goalkeeper, allowed 1.64 goals per game, had eight shutouts and was the keeper of record in 4 of 5 shootout victories. Kinsley, a freshman midfielder, is one of the most skilled players for the Lions. He led the team in assists and played outstanding defense. Amrhein, a junior fullback, consistently improved over the season to become a team leader for the Lions.

Marlen, a freshman fullback, came through with some clutch defensive performances for the Patriots in 1983-84 as he shut down many of the counties top scorers. Pledger, a sophomore midfielder, was Lake Brantley's most improved player for the season.

Colonial Edges Lady Rams

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Although Lake Mary came out on the short end of a 4-3, nine-inning game against Orlando Colonial Tuesday at Seminole Community College, the Lady Rams showed some signs that they will be a team to contend with this season.

Lake Mary played impressively on defense Tuesday, holding Colonial to just one run on five hits through eight innings. Offensively Lake Mary took a while to get on track. The Rams had nine hits in the game, but six of those came in the last three innings.

Lake Mary tied the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the seventh to send it into extra innings, but a two-run triple off the bat of Sheryl Schmidt and a RBI sacrifice fly by Stacy Woodward lifted Colonial to a three-run ninth inning and the victory.

"I'm proud of the way the girls played tonight," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "It's the first game we've had the whole team playing together. We learned a little bit today and I think we'll be alright as the season goes on."

Kim Averill and Lisa Gregory led Lake Mary with two hits each while Lisa Santull was 1 for 4 with two RBI and Melinda Kidd, Beth Watkins, Lisa Simkins and Karen DeShetler had one hit each.

Lake Mary tied it at 1-1 in the bottom of the seventh. Simkins led off with a single and Debbie Howell reached on an error to put runners on first and second. One out later, Watkins singled to left to load the bases. Santull then drilled a shot to the pitcher who thought she caught the ball on the fly and threw to first for a double play. However, the pitcher actually trapped the ball and pinch runner Liz Stone scampered home with the tying run.

Neither team threatened in the eighth inning. In the top of the ninth, Brandy Mifflin and Stewart both singled and Schmidt followed with her booming triple to right center. Woodward followed with a sacrifice fly to left to chase home the third run of the inning. Colonial then loaded the bases with two outs, but Watkins, who went the distance on the mound for the Lady Rams, got out of the jam on a grounder back to the mound.

Lake Mary came back with everything it had in the bottom of the ninth and scored two runs before bowing out. With one out, Howell reached on an error and Gregory followed with a single. Watkins reached on a fielder's choice to put runners on first and third with two outs and Santull followed with a RBI single up the middle to drive home Howell. Kidd then singled to drive in Watkins and make it 4-3, but Terri Blayney grounded back to the mound for the third out.

Gordons Lead Lady Rams Past Lake Brantley

Lake Mary's Anquenne Whack soars in the long jump. The Lady Rams rolled to a 94 1/2-28 1/2 victory over Lake Brantley in a dual meet Tuesday.

Tanya Gordon won three events and Fran Gordon won a pair of events to lead the way for Lake Mary's 94 1/2-28 1/2 dual meet victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots Tuesday at Lake Brantley High.

Fran Gordon won the 440 dash with a time of 60.9 and the 880 run with a 2:26.7 clocking, she was also second in the shot put at 27-3/4. Tanya Gordon won the 100 yard dash at 11.8, the long jump with a leap of 15-4 and the 330 hurdles with a time of 48.7.

Andrea Johnson also picked up a pair of first places for the Lady Rams as she won the shot put (33-9) and the discus (103-4). Other first place finishers for Lake Mary included Tracy Blakely's 5:53.4 in the mile, Sonja Walker's 27.6 in the 220 dash and Sue Kingsbury's 12:17.7 in the two mile. Kingsbury was also second in the 880 at 2:30.3.

Lake Mary also won all three relays. The team of Walker, Shannon Weger, Blakely and Fran Gordon set a new school record in the mile relay with a first place time of 4:21.3. The team of Anquenne Whack, Johnson, Mary Buggs and Walker won the 440 relay at 53.5.

Lake Brantley only took two first places in the meet as Cathy Wild won the 110 hurdles with a time of 18.3 and Taleena Smith won the high jump as she cleared 5-0.

Second places for Lake Mary included, Whack in the 100 yard dash (12.4), the high jump (4-6) and the long jump (14-10 1/4). Buggs in the 110 hurdles (20.5), Nikki Hays in the mile (6:06.2) and Freda Jackson in the 220 (28.6).

Second place finishers for Lake Brantley included Wild in the 330 hurdles (49.8), Barbara Holmes in the 440 (65.8), Ann Wannerstrom in the two mile (13:18.8) and Debbie Lovelace in the discus (103-2).

While Lake Mary's girls soared to victory Tuesday, the boys suffered a 76-59 loss to Lake Brantley.

The Patriots used their strength in the field events to build a big lead and then relied on the strong running performances of John Mondo and Steve Emmons to clinch the victory.

In the field events, Lake Brantley's Carlos Ince heaved the shot 46-7 to take first place; Pat James took first in the discus with a throw of 140-5. Ricky Phillips turned in an impressive 13-2 in the pole vault and Mark Napier won both the high jump (6-6) and the triple jump (46-6). Lake Mary's only first place in the field events was Pat Murray's 21-4 in the long jump.

Emmons strengthened Lake Brantley's grip on the lead as he won both the 220 dash (23.1) and the 440 dash (51.0). Mondo came in first in the 880 run with a time of 2:03.0.

Derek Tangeman took two first places for the Rams as he won the mile (4:37.7) and the two mile (10:16.0). Other first places for Lake Mary included, Mike Rouse's 15.4 in the 120 hurdles, Murray's blazing 10.0 in the 100 yard dash and Derek Turney's 43.0 in the 330 hurdles.

Tribe Track Teams Sweep Metro Foes

Seminole High's boys and girls track teams continued to roll Tuesday in a tri meet against Metro Conference teams Oak Ridge and Edgewater. The boys breezed to an easy victory with 101 points, compared to 61 for Oak Ridge and 15 for Edgewater. The girls beat Oak Ridge for the second time in three meetings this season with 76 points, compared to 61 for Oak Ridge and 19 for Edgewater.

In the boys meet, things were pretty even after the shot, discus, high jump and long jump, but Seminole went 1-2-3 in the triple jump, then swept the pole vault to take a comfortable lead into the running events.

In the field events, Seminole's Anthony Hall took a first place in the shot put with a 47-9 and Deron Thompson was first in the long jump at 21-3. Grady Caldwell took second in the discus (119-11) and third in the shot (46-3 1/4). Oak Ridge took first in the discus and high jump to even things up. However, Dexter Jones turned in a 44-7 to win the triple jump followed by teammate Leo Peterson (43-7) in second place and Alvin Jones (43-2 1/4) in third. Seminole took the first four places in the pole vault led by Willie Bass' first place vault of 8-0.

Franklin Barnett kept the Tribe's momentum going in the running events as he won the 120 hurdles with a time of 14.4. Barnett later won the 330 hurdles with a time of 41.8. Andre Jackson was second in the 330 hurdles at 42.9 and third in the 120 hurdles at 15.5.

Seminole then started to pull away as it swept the 100 yard dash with Thompson's 10.3 taking first, Louis Brown second at 10.3, Dexter Jones third at 10.4 and Pat Davis fourth at 10.4.

Cliff Campbell continued to perform well for Seminole as he took first places in both the 440 dash (50.3) and the 220 dash (22.5). Eric Martin took third in the 440 at 52.3 and Davis was third in the 220 at 23.6 followed by Charles Calloway in fourth at 24.1.

Seminole took two of the three relays as the team of Brown, Bass, Thompson and Barnett won the 440 relay at 43.8 and the team of Thompson, Brown, Martin and Campbell won the mile relay with a time of 3:21.8.

In the girls meet, Seminole placed among the top two in almost every event and won two of the three relays to edge out Oak Ridge for first place.

Seminole got off to a good start in the field events as Catherine Anderson won the high jump as she cleared 4-4. Dieldre Hillery was second in the shot put at 36-9 and Charita Medlock was second in the long jump at 16-9.

The Lady Seminole went 1-2 in the 110 hurdles as Jackie Johnson took first place with a time of 15.5 and Medlock was second at 16.4. Johnson had an outstanding day for Seminole as she was also second in the 330 hurdles at 48.3 and second in the high jump at 4-2.

Crystal Caldwell continued to perform well as she won the 440 dash (60.4) and was second in the 220 (25.7). Other top performances in the sprints included

Linda Bass who was second in the 100 yard dash at 11.7 and Sharon Jenkins who was second in the 440 at 60.7.

Debbie Coleman made a fine showing in the distance events as she placed second in the mile (5:58.1) and second in the two mile (13:27.0).

Intermediates Second In State

The Sanford Recreation Intermediate League All Stars won two games and lost one en route to a second place finish in the Intermediate State Tournament this past weekend in Orlando.

In Sanford's opening game, Horace Knight hit a jumper at the buzzer to tie the game at 66-66 and send it into overtime and Sanford went on to win, 80-70, over Lake Vista. Knight ended up with a game-high 26 points while Darrell Lee added 17 for Sanford and Albert Armstrong tossed in 16.

In the second game Armstrong poured in a game-high 28 points to lead Sanford while Craig Dixon tossed in 18 and Knight clipped in with 15 as the Intermediates claimed a 85-73 victory over Daytona Beach 2.

In the championship game, Sanford couldn't overcome a nine-point halftime deficit and dropped a 65-57 decision to Daytona Beach 1.

Armstrong led Sanford with 20 points and Knight added 15. Johnny Bell led Daytona Beach with a game-high 24 points.

Armstrong and Lee were named to the All Tournament team for their outstanding play.

Howell's Munson Is Early Phenom

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Every year about this time, whether it be the majors, minors, preps or youth leagues, some phenom starts tearing the cover off the ball and makes baseball fans think he is the second coming of Rod Carew.

Usually no one has heard of the guy. Well, has anyone ever heard of Scott Munson? There was a Thurman Munson who was a pretty good hitter with the Yankees, but, unfortunately, he met his death some years ago in a plane crash.

Incidentally, Munson's demise came after he twice refused my cousin an autograph just days before in Milwaukee. Keep that in mind when someone asks for yours.

Scott Munson, however, is very much alive. Pitchers facing the Lake Howell Silver Hawks will attest to that. The junior is a catcher-designated hitter, like Thurman Munson, and is built similarly. He is definitely one of the most pleasant surprises of the year in the county.

The 5-9, 200-pounder is hitting the ball at a .458 clip with 11 hits in 24 at bats. Monday, he further strengthened his legitimacy with a 1 for 3 against Apopka ace Rodney Prewer. Munson also has nine runs batted in.

While Munson's hitting prowess is the surprise of the year, Seminole's Steve Dennis is also off to a flying start. The Tribe's gritty catcher is leading the county in hitting (along with Oviedo's Darrin Reichle) with nine hits in 18 at bats.

More impressively, he has stolen 14 bases in as many attempts. If Dennis continues his early pace, he will erase Tim Raines' names from the Sanford record books. Raines stole 25 without being thrown out his senior year.

Reichle, who came out late because of basketball, has been a terror at the plate, considering his little preparation time. He just came out swinging against Lake Mary his first day — and hasn't stopped. Reichle has six hits in 12 trips.

The power is being supplied by Lake Mary's Mike Schmit, Oviedo's Jeff Greene and Mark Hofmann and Lake Howell's Bill Lang. Each has two homers. Greene popped six last year, so there's no surprise there. Schmit is a smart sophomore hitter who is gathering power as he grows older. Hofmann is a junior with good pop, but he must cut down on his whiffs. Lang, who will play football at Florida next year, is also on the Hawk weightlifting team, which should answer any questions.

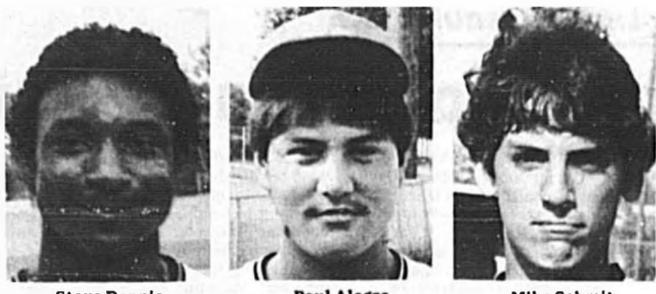

Lang is leading the way with 11 runs batted in with teammate Van Gilmont right behind with 10.

Today's prep action has two county teams at home and two on the road. Lake Mary, 6-3 and 1-0, takes on Spruce Creek at Port Orange while Lyman hosts Apopka at home at 7 p.m.

A Lake Mary win and an Apopka loss would be the Rams in good shape for the Five Star race. Apopka is 9-0-1 with the one tie coming to Spruce Creek. "They're better than you think they are," said Apopka pitcher Brewer who was brought in to stop the Hawks in extra innings but could only salvage a tie. "I still think Lake Howell is the best team we faced, though. Even though we beat them badly (17-4), they have some good hitters."

Lyman will second its ace Derek Livernois (1-2) against the Blue Devils who will probably counter with Steve Thomason since Brewer pitched Monday.

Elsewhere, Lake Brantley hosts Mainland at 4 p.m. while Lake Howell goes to Seabreeze for a 7 p.m. game. Seminole, 4-4, travels to DeLand Thursday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Parker Steamed By Stargell's Charges

TAMPA (UPI) — Dave Parker was red-hot Tuesday, but it was nothing a pitcher had to worry about. Parker reacted angrily to charges by Willie Stargell that he played baseball "out of hate and revenge instead of love," saying he "resented" the accusation and threatened legal action against his former Pittsburgh teammate.

"I never played the game out of hate," said Parker, speaking before an exhibition game with Houston at Al Lopez Field. "I would have killed for the man (Stargell) until last night. I have yet to talk to Willie. I think he did it to push the book. I played the game because of my family and it was a good way to make money. Never out of hate."

The remarks by Stargell, a former star with the Pirates and now an assistant to the team's general manager, stemmed from his newly published book, "Willie Stargell, An Autobiography." "I tried to call him in Pittsburgh. I'll answer the whole thing with my legal people. I'm not going to hesitate going after him. If all this is true — even though I love him, if I feel portrayed as someone I shouldn't be — there will be a recourse."

Stargell, in Pittsburgh Monday for a news conference at Three Rivers Stadium, said of Parker in his book: "He played the game out of hate and revenge instead of love. He was under a tremendous amount of pressure. But instead of leaning on a friend when he needed help, he withdrew into a shell. As a result he had no one to turn to for help."

In exhibition play, Boston downed Detroit 8-4. Cincinnati topped Houston 6-5. Toronto edged Philadelphia 2-1, the New York Yankees beat Montreal 7-3, the Chicago White Sox defeated Baltimore 4-1, Atlanta edged Los Angeles 1-0, and Oakland nipped Milwaukee 6-5.

At Lakeland, Fla., Wade Boggs and Jim Rice each hit first-inning triples to ignite the Red Sox in the spring training opener for both teams.

Barker: Dead-Horse Story Is Just A Bunch Of Manure

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Go over and ask Joe Torre who's going to open the season for him when his Atlanta Braves get underway against the Philadelphia Phillies, and he doesn't go into a long song and dance or a lot of other qualifications. He just says Len Barker.

On some things, Joe Torre doesn't take too long making up his mind. The word that he's very likely to draw the opening assignment doesn't faze Barker as much as it takes him a bit unawares.

"It does surprise me," confesses the big, hard-throwing right-hander who was involved in baseball's most publicized leak last year. "There are a lot of other guys who are pitching real good down here."

Barker came to the Braves from Cleveland last Aug. 29 for three players. Only one of those three, right-handed pitcher Rick Behenna, went from the Braves to the Indians immediately; other two were to be named later.

That was when Barker became the innocent bystander in The Big Leak.

To begin with, some of the more investigative-minded members of the press did some digging, which is what they're supposed to do to get all the news, and came up with the information that outfielder Brett Butler and infielder Bruce Jacoby probably would be the players going to Cleveland later on.

Jacoby's prospective departure caused little, if any, reaction, especially since he was in Richmond at the time, but it was an entirely different story with Butler, who had become a prime favorite with Atlanta fans because of his style, his hustle and his desire. What's more, when Butler heard he was bound for Cleveland, it was as if his whole world had collapsed.

He was happy playing for the Braves, and didn't want to leave them.

In no time at all, baseball had a problem on its hands. The season still had more than a month to go and here was Butler giving all he had for Atlanta, with his heart still there, and his travel orders already cut for Cleveland. That wasn't right, was it?

But what about Barker? He had pitched a perfect game against the Toronto Blue Jays on May 15, 1981, and been the Indians' top pitcher. No more, though. He was 8-13 and had a 5.11 ERA with them when the trade with Atlanta was made.

"I was ecstatic," he says. "I always wanted to be with a team that was a contender instead of one that was no better than .500 all the time. Ever since I was a little kid, I dreamed of being in a World Series. By going to the Braves, I knew I had a chance to be with a World Series winner. That's the only reason I'm playing this game. Just for a chance to be in a World Series and to be part of the best team in baseball for at least one year. It would mean more to me than anything I ever achieved in baseball. I'd give up the perfect game for it. To be in a World Series, and not lose, but win, I mean."

anything I ever achieved in baseball. I'd give up the perfect game for it. To be in a World Series, and not lose, but win, I mean."

Barker was with the Indians in Seattle when he was told of the trade. He caught the next plane to Atlanta. Guess who the first player was to come over to him as soon as he dropped his bag in front of his locker in Atlanta. Brett Butler, who else? The popular little outfielder introduced himself and shook hands. His first question was:

"Am I going?"

"I don't know," Barker told him honestly.

Butler had some more questions, and Barker did his best to answer them. His knowledge about the deal was largely limited to what he had heard from the Cleveland writers before leaving the Indians.

Barker told Butler he wasn't the one who had made the trade and he had no control over it. Later, Butler went right to the source, Braves' owner Ted Turner, and asked him if the rumors he was hearing were true. Turner has some faults, but he doesn't lie. He told Butler the truth, for which he subsequently was fined by Bowie Kuhn.

Barker has some things to say about the trade and about Butler.

"I thought Atlanta gave up too much for me," he says. "The Indians got three quality ballplayers for me."

"As far as Brett is concerned, playing with him for a month last season I got to like him as a person and as a ballplayer. He did an excellent job leading off and in the field and he hustled his butt off on the bases, especially knowing that he was going."

Some said the Indians dealt the Braves a dead horse in the 6-foot-5, 28-year-old Barker. Stories were circulated that he had chronic arm trouble and those stories tended to be supported by the relatively poor showing he made in finishing the season 1-3 with the Braves.

Barker denies the stories. He says his arm is fine and wonders about those who originated the reports about his arm.

"What are they, doctors?" he wants to know. "The only time I really had any arm trouble was last year. What I should have done was go on the disabled list instead of continuing to pitch. Before last year, I never had any problem at all. From 1980, I missed only one start in 150 games and that was because I had the flu."

Tisdale Lifts Oklahoma

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — For Billy Tubbs, it was a real pain in the neck watching Missouri wear the Big Eight crown four straight seasons. So when Oklahoma eliminated the Tigers Tuesday night, it was better than aspirin.

"Playing Missouri is like having a bad headache," said Tubbs. "I'm glad we don't have to play them anymore. It wasn't a thing of beauty — we'll take it, though."

Wayman Tisdale scored 31 points as No. 6 Oklahoma posted a 72-66 victory in the opening round of the Big Eight Tournament.

The Sooners, 28-3, took a 37-28 halftime lead and built it to 12 points with 15:14 left. But Tisdale drew his fourth foul with 9:06 remaining and while he warmed the bench, Missouri pulled to within a basket with 6:14 remaining.

Basketball

After two free throws by Tim McCallister, Tisdale returned to block a shot and score for a 60-54 lead, and the Sooners hit 10-of-12 free throws to pull away.

In another Big Eight opener, Carl Henry scored 23 points to carry Kansas to a 75-58 victory over Oklahoma State.

In the Missouri Valley Conference tournament, Ricky Ross and Steve Harris combined for 58 points to lift No. 13 Tulsa to a 110-99 victory over Indiana State. No. 16 Illinois State also advanced, with a 91-62 thrashing of Drake on the strength of Mark Zwart's 21 points.

In other first-round MVC games, Gregory Brandon scored 14 points and Reggie Morris added 11 to lead Creighton to a 50-40 triumph over Bradley, and Wichita State thrashed Southern Illinois 107-77 behind Xavier McDaniel's 28 points.

Randy Worster scored 23 points to guide No. 19 Weber State to their 10th straight victory, a 67-58 win over Idaho in the opener of the Big Sky Tournament.

Also in the Big Sky, Phil Laylor's last-second jumper lifted Montana State past Boise State, 65-64; Larry Krystkowiak had 29 points and Marc Glass added 17 to fire Montana to a 69-54 triumph over Northern Arizona; and Tony Sommers had 19 points to lift Nevada-Reno to a 64-59 victory over Idaho State.

The IRA you wanted versus the IRA you got

The tax break you get by putting up to $2,000 in an IRA or up to $4,000 if you're married and filing a joint return has a lot of appeal.

So does the idea of getting a small fortune on the payout date.

Sad to report, it might not work out that way.

What if you become disabled and can't make your IRA contribution?

You probably never thought about it, but the Big E did.

We've arranged for the experts from the Shelton Square Agency to show you how you can get low-cost Life and Disability insurance that assures that your retirement contributions will be made if you can't because of disability. Your IRA will continue to grow, continue to earn interest. You will still receive the full IRA you had planned on.

Seeing that you get the IRA you wanted is another idea from the Big E.

Number one with ideas you can bank on.

Hijacker Releases Hostages, Surrenders

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — A hijacker held 68 passengers and crew hostage on an Air France jet for 4 1/2 hours today, demanding to go to Libya, and then surrendered to police after releasing all his hostages unharmed.

Geneva city spokesman Robert Vieux said the hijacking ended at around 1:45 p.m. (7:45 a.m. EST) with the arrest of the hijacker and the freeing of all passengers and crew.

The Boeing 737 was hijacked en route from Frankfurt, West Germany, to Paris and the pilot forced to land at Geneva where the hijacker demanded the plane be refueled and then fly to Libya. Geneva state justice and police minister Guy Fontanet conducted negotiations with the air pirate, described by two of the released women passengers as about 30 years old with dark hair and of European and Arab descent.

Rebels Kill Four

United Press International

Leftist Salvadoran guerrillas killed two civil defense men and two Red Cross workers in attacks on three towns in San Vicente province, the showcase of a U.S.-designed pacification program, military officials said.

In Nicaragua, the Foreign Ministry said U.S.-backed rebels launched three attacks from bases in Honduras in as many days, killing a 1-year-old girl Tuesday in a raid on the town of Santo Tomas del Norte.

In San Salvador, gunmen of a right-wing death squad strafed the offices of an advertising agency handling the campaign of the centrist Christian Democratic presidential candidate, Jose Napoleon Duarte, authorities said.

Guerrillas Raid Airport

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Khmer Rouge guerrillas fighting Vietnamese forces in Cambodia said today they killed a Soviet military adviser and 40 Vietnamese troops in a raid on a key airport.

The clandestine Khmer army radio report said the Soviet was a radar technician and that 40 Vietnamese were killed in the attack in Western Cambodia last week. The report could not be independently verified.

Sanford Man Pleads Guilty To Rape

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man who threatened his rape victims by telling them he was in the Mafia and would kill them and their families if they did not cooperate pleaded guilty to rape.

Gregory Rios, 20, of 134 Lakeside Drive, pleaded guilty Tuesday to the Aug. 17 rape of an Altamonte Springs woman after the state attorney's office agreed to drop a charge of kidnapping in exchange. Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis is scheduled to sentence Rios May 2. He faces a maximum of 15 years in prison. If he had been found guilty of the kidnapping charge as well he could have received a life sentence.

Rios is further scheduled to be sentenced in Orange County Tuesday for the rape of another woman in that county.

Rios entered the guilty plea immediately after Davis ruled at 2 p.m. that the testimony of the Orange County rape victim could be introduced as evidence in the Seminole County trial, according to state attorney Joe Flood who prosecuted the case.

Flood said there were several incriminating similarities in the two cases including the Mafia threat, threat of physical violence, threatened use of a weapon, and specific demands he made during the acts.

According to sheriff's investigators, Rios' Altamonte Springs' victim said she was at the Why Not Lounge at Wymore Road and state Road 436 in Altamonte Springs with her boss around 8:30 p.m. Aug. 17. She said they were invited by Rios, who she knew slightly, to go to a party at another location.

The woman left with the Rios in his white 1980 Toyota car while her employer drove in his own vehicle.

On the way to the party site, Rios stopped at his house telling the woman he had to pick up a few items for the party. Inside the house, however, the Rios said he would get what he wanted from the woman or he would get his gun and kill her.

She said Rios repeatedly struck her with his hands several times in the face, forcibly removed her clothes, and raped her.

The woman identified Rios from a photo line up and Rios was arrested at 10:05 a.m. Aug. 18 at his home.

Seminole County: Leave OSOTA As Is

Seminole County likes the way the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority is set up just fine, thank you. And it refuses to be railroaded into going along with a reorganization just to give Orange County a better chance of getting its plan for a mass transit rail system off the ground.

That was the consensus of the Seminole County Commission Monday in directing commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who also is one of Seminole's two representatives on the OSOTA, how to vote on the reorganization proposal should it come up at the authority's March 14 meeting.

And because the OSOTA board was created by an interlocal agreement, any change in the body must be approved by each member government. That gives any of the three counties a veto power over any reorganizational effort.

The realignment, suggested by Orange County commissioner and OSOTA chairman Lou Treadway, would have reduced the OSOTA board from 10 to seven members. Currently, Orange County has five members on the board, Seminole two, and Osceola County, the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and the state Department of Transportation have one each.

Under Treadway's plan, the breakdown would be: four from Orange, two from Seminole, and one from Osceola. DOT would be a non-voting member and the ECFRPC would be off the board altogether.

That would supposedly make it easier for the Orange County contingent to win approval for a proposed multi-million dollar rail system linking downtown Orlando, Walt Disney World and Orlando International Airport.

It's not that Seminole is opposing its larger neighbor on the idea of a rail system (Seminole has contributed $17,000 to a consultant's study on where the line could enter the county). It's just that if the system is one day extended into Seminole, "We need some planners and people with those kinds of abilities on the board to see this thing through," Kirchhoff said.

Cosmetic Restorative Dentistry

Today, dentists treat the patient as a total personality. The psychology of the individual is important and a mouth that is merely healthy without being attractive, may be unsuited to the patient's urgent psychological need.

An attractive, comfortable, properly-functioning, healthy mouth is required if one is to enjoy a thoroughly happy and productive life. Every face to face contact one has in business, social and home life, is affected to the benefit or detriment of the individual by the appearance of the teeth. Frequently, beautiful effects can be obtained without the loss of healthy teeth. Proper preventive and reparative dental care is worth many times the investment required. ## Cook Of The Week

BSP's Queen Of Hearts: 'I Love To Entertain'

Linda Keeling of Sanford wears the sparkling crown of Beta Sigma Phi's 1984-85 Valentine Queen. She was selected by members of the executive board of Daytona Beach Beta Sigma Phi City Council at the Annual Valentine Ball in February when she was crowned.

Her challenging competition included Valentine Girls representing the seven Sanford BSP chapters and Sanford BSP City Council.

Linda says she is honored. Her part in the sorority and her sorority sisters "mean a lot to me — the girls and all they have done for me through the years."

Queen Linda has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for 14 years. She is the daughter of Andy Adcock of Sanford, and the late Mrs. Adcock. Her family moved to Sanford in 1961 when her father retired from the U.S. Navy.

Linda is married to Wayne Keeling, manager of Flagship Bank of Seminole, Downtown office, and they have two children, Kristy, 14, and Rusty, 10.

Linda bubbles when she talks about her sorority. "Over the years, I have held just about every office and chairmanship," she said.

A graduate of Seminole High School, Linda is chairman of her 20th class reunion scheduled in August. She is brushing up on real estate before taking the state examination for a Florida Real Estate salesman's license.

Linda is a member of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., president of the Sanford Middle School PTA, past member of Volusia County United Way Person to Person committee, a member of Sanford Toastmaster's Club and also a member of Home Builders' Auxiliary.

Speaking of her family, Linda says, "We are outdoor people." The family likes beach and mountain activities, she adds. She plays golf and is an avid antique buff.

"I love to entertain," Linda said. And when she entertains, it is with taste and style in elegant surroundings. She says she likes to cook and set a lovely table — the works.

The following recipes are from Linda's collection. "I've used these recipes at different sorority parties and they were all given to me by my sorority sisters."

SCALLOPED CHICKEN

(Great For a Luncheon)

- 1 8-oz. pkg. or 3 1/2 cups Herb Stuffing Mix
- 3 cups cubed cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1/4 cup flour
- 4 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 6 slightly beaten eggs

Prepare stuffing according to package directions. Spread over bottom of 9x13x2 inch baking dish. Top stuffing evenly with cubed chicken. Put margarine, flour, broth, salt and pepper in sauce pan. Stir over medium heat until mixed well. Cool slightly. Stir a small amount of broth mix into the eggs and blend well. Pour back into remaining broth and mix well. Pour mixture over chicken in the baking dish. Bake 325 degrees 45 minutes. Remove from oven, let stand five minutes. Cut into squares. Yield 12 servings.

SAUCE FOR CHICKEN SQUARES

- 1 can undiluted cream of mushroom soup
  - 1/4 cup chopped pimientos
  - 1 pint sour cream
- Place ingredients in saucepan and stir over medium heat. DO NOT BOIL. When bubbly remove from heat and top each chicken square generously. Garnish with paprika or parsley.

After the "Ball" breakfast or an early Brunch.

BREAKFAST HAM AND EGG CASSEROLE

(For after the Ball or Brunch)

- softened butter or margarine
  - 14 or 15 slices bread
  - 3 cups diced cooked ham
  - 2 cups (1/2 lb.) shredded Cheddar cheese
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 6 eggs
  - 3 cups milk
- Spread butter on both sides of bread slices; cut bread into small cubes. Combine bread cubes, ham, cheese, salt and pepper. Stir well.

Beat eggs until foamy; stir in milk. Add egg mixture to ham mixture, stirring well. Pour into a lightly greased 13x9x2-inch baking pan; cover and refrigerate overnight.

Bake, uncovered, at 350° for one hour or until golden brown. Serve immediately. Yield 10-12 servings. Something different for a covered dish supper!

STEWED TOMATOES

(Something Different for a Covered Dish Supper)

- 1/2 stick of butter
  - 1 onion sauteed in butter
  - 1/4 cup brown sugar
  - 1 1/2 cup bread cubed
  - 1 can tomatoes
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Stir in iron skillet and dump in buttered dish. Bake 45 minutes at 350° uncovered.

CRAB COCKTAIL

(Great Hors d'oeuvres)

- 1 lb. cooked crab meat or can drained
  - 2 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
  - 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
  - 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
  - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
  - 3 or 4 dashes tabasco sauce
- Mix cream cheese and all above ingredients except crab. Form ball on wax paper. Refrigerate until firm (approximately 1 hr.). Then roll out 12" or 15" round, 1/4" to 1/2" thick on platter.

Linda Keeling is a gracious hostess in her Sanford home. She has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for 14 years and chooses her association with her sorority sisters. Her 'Cook of the Week' recipes have been thoroughly kitchen-tested by the sorority sisters who gave them to Linda.

Something sweet and light for the girls.

CHOCOLATE DESSERT

(Something Sweet and Light for the Girls)

- First Layer:
- 1 1/2 sticks margarine
  - 1 1/2 cups plain flour
  - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- Blend together. Put in 9x13x2 pan. Bake 350°, 25 minutes.

- Second Layer:
- 1 large cream cheese
  - 1 cup confectioners sugar
  - 1/2 large Cool Whip
- Cream together and put on first layer.

- Third Layer:
- 2 small pkgs instant chocolate pudding
  - 3 cups milk
- Top with other 1/2 Cool Whip. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

- 1 package white, strawberry, confetti or lemon custard angel food cake mix

Grated peel of 2 medium oranges (about 2 tablespoons), if desired

- 1 1/2 quarts strawberries, sliced
- 1 to 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 2 cups chilled whipping cream
- 1/4 cup granulated or powdered sugar

Heat oven to 350°. Prepare cake mix as directed on package except — fold orange peel into batter. Pour into pan. Bake and cool as directed. Toss strawberries and 1 cup sugar; let stand 1 hour.

Beat whipping cream and 1/4 cup sugar in chilled bowl until stiff. Cut cake into slices. Top each slice with sweetened strawberries and sweetened whipped cream. 12 servings.

Turnips: Healthy, Tasty Treat

Turnips are finding their way back into the American diet, as consumers continue to add healthier foods to their menus. This often means daily consumption of more fruits and vegetables, with little or no cooking.

Turnips and turnip greens (the fresh, young tops) have been favorites in European kitchens for centuries. They are also staples in many gardens, large and small, in the United States. Young turnips are delightfully crunchy and tasteful eaten raw. At other times, the turnip makes a tasty side dish, such as a turnip puff, to go with a meat or fish dish.

- FRESH TURNIP PUFF
- 1 large or 2 medium yellow turnips
  - 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, divided
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1/2 cup chopped fresh onion
  - 3/4 teaspoon salt

- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
  - 4 eggs, separated
- Quarter turnips and place in saucepan, add lightly salted water to cover and boil 40 to 50 minutes or until tender. Drain, cool slightly and remove peel. Place turnips in large mixing bowl, add 1/4 cup butter and milk and beat with electric mixer on low speed until smooth. In small skillet, melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter, add onion and cook until tender; add to turnips with salt, pepper and tarragon. Beat in egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into turnip mixture. Turn into a greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake in 375-degree oven 50 minutes or until mixture puffs and is lightly browned. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Pet Adoption Fund Pays For Protection Of Pooch

DEAR READERS: If you're not an animal lover, skip this letter.

Every year, millions of dogs and cats are abandoned because they're either too expensive (or too much trouble) to keep. A few of the more appealing strays are taken in by kindhearted strangers; the rest are picked up by local animal shelters, or the city or county animal regulation department, and taken to the pound where they are eventually destroyed.

I recently learned about the Pet Adoption Fund, a charitable non-profit California organization that takes in homeless dogs, cats, puppies and kittens, and cares for them until someone adopts them. It never puts an animal "to sleep," and many animals have been rescued from shelters and pounds.

Everyone who adopts a pet must sign an agreement stating that if, for any reason, he can't keep it, he will not give it to another party, take it to the pound or offer it for medical research — he will return it to Pat Adoption.

All Pet Adoption animals will have been spayed or neutered, and they leave with collars, identification tags, and specific instructions for care and feeding. Although some animals are purebred, none have price tags, but any size donation is gratefully accepted.

This organization is staffed entirely by dedicated volunteers: every dollar contributed goes for caring for the animals.

If you live in the Los Angeles area and want to adopt a pet, visit: Pet Adoption Fund, 7515 Deering Ave., Canoga Park, Calif. 91303.

If you live elsewhere and want to start a similar humanitarian agency (every city should have one), write to the above address for the fund's booklet. It's free, but please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. And when your ship (or your horse) comes in, be a sport and send a few dollars to this wonderful agency. Like the animals whose lives it saves, it can't live without people who care.

DEAR ABBY: Assuming you were correct in stating that a pet takes on its owner's religion you advised a cat owner who was half-Christian and half-Jewish to have her cat cremated, then divide the remains equally, giving one half a Jewish funeral and the other half a Christian funeral.

Abby, you should know that cremation is prohibited by Jewish law.

LIVING AND WELL IN INDIAN WELLS, CALIF.

DEAR LIVING: Although Jewish law prohibits cremation, only Orthodox Jews (who constitute a very small percentage of the Jewish population in this country) adhere to that law.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the man who didn't know how to handle his bigoted father-in-law who enjoyed telling "jokes" that put down some ethnic group:

Whenever I hear an ethnic "joke," I say, "That's very funny. I heard the same joke, only the person was (I)" then I insert the ethnic background of the person who told it.

It works every time.

C.G. IN HARTLAND, MICH.

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Community Turns Out For Firemen's Feed

Lake Mary Woman's Club members Marilouise Gaunt, from left, Alice Moughton and DeLore Lash were among the volunteers helping to serve the throngs attending the annual Lake Mary Fire Volunteer Department's Benefit Barbecue. During the appointed hours, 3,000 pounds of chicken, 2,000 ears of corn and 60 gallons of baked beans were served.

NEW ARRIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jessup (Nita) Barks of Sanford, announce the birth of a daughter, Kristen Danielle, on March 1, at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford. She weighed 6 lbs., 1 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Crane, Warrior, AL. Paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Orville Barks, Sanford.

Challenge Common Allergens

Meal planning for family members who are sensitive to one or more foods can be challenging, especially if the sensitivity is to fairly common foods like wheat, milk and eggs.

Not only must you eliminate the obvious sources of the food allergen, you must become familiar with the packaged foods you buy as well. Most manufacturers list ingredients on the package label, so you should be able to spot the products to avoid. But, if you have any questions about an ingredient, write to the food manufacturer directly.

Here are two recipes to help take the frustration from family meal planning. The whole family will enjoy them even though they're both wheat, milk and egg free.

Crispy Oven-fried Chicken uses seasoned corn meal for its crunchy coating. The corn meal coating seals in juices for moist flavor, and oven-frying keeps the spatters off your range top.

For a tasty family dessert, Apple Cinnamon Crisp fills the bill nicely using quick or old fashioned oats instead of flour.

CRISPY OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN

- 1/4 cup Quaker or Aunt Jemima Enriched Corn Meal
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dill
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon onion powder
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 2 1/2-3 lb. broiler-fryer, cut-up

Water
Heat oven to 375°F. Grease 13x9-inch pan. Combine corn meal, dill, salt, onion and garlic powder, and pepper. Dip chicken into water; coat thoroughly with corn meal mixture. Place chicken, skin side down, in prepared pan. Bake for 30 minutes. Turn chicken pieces over; continue baking about 30 minutes or until chicken is tender and golden brown. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
note: May be served cold, if desired.

APPLE-CINNAMON CRISP

- 6 cups thin, peeled apple slices
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 cup Quaker Oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted.

Heat oven to 375°F. In large bowl, combine apples, sugar, water, lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon; mix well. Place in ungreased 8-inch square baking dish. In medium bowl, combine remaining 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon with remaining ingredients, mixing well. Crumble over fruit mixture. Bake about 30 minutes or until fruit is tender and topping is golden brown. Cool slightly. Serve with whipped topping, ice cream or yogurt if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Variations: Substitute two 20-oz. cans apple slices, well drained, for fresh apples. Proceed as recipe directs.

The Quaker Oats Company has more wheat, milk and egg free recipes. Write for your free copy (while supply lasts) to: The Quaker Oats Allergy Cookbook, Consumer Communications Group, The Quaker Oats Company, Merchandise Mart Plaza, Chicago, IL 60654.

Leisure Time Classes To Start At SCC

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, March 7, 1984-3B

Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College announces that the following classes will begin the week of March 12, 1984. "These classes are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer," according to Fay C. Brake, Coordinator of the Program. Registrations are being accepted in the Registrars Office at SCC.

HERBS/HOW TO USE THEM (evening class) — Enjoy the folklore, history of the world of herbs. Learn how to grow, harvest and preserve your own herbs. Tour herb gardens through slides, share in the experience of cooking with herbs, creating potpourri and perfume in an herb wreath workshop.

QUILTING/BEGINNERS THROUGH

ADVANCED (evening class) — The course will teach a variety of patterns. The patterns may be used to make pillow shams, wall hangings, and full size quilts. Students are asked to bring scraps of cotton fabric, needles, thread, thimble and scissors to the first class meeting.

ORGAN DISCOVERY/ A MUSICAL ADVENTURE/ LEVEL I (afternoon class) — Designed for the adult beginner and those interested in learning to play the organ as a hobby. The basics of organ music and electronic organs will be examined.

ORGAN DISCOVERY/ A MUSICAL ADVENTURE/ LEVEL II (morning class) — Designed for the advanced beginner and those who have completed Level I. A continuing study of the basics of music and organ registration (how to operate your organ) will be the main topics.

ORGAN DISCOVERY/ A MUSICAL ADVENTURE/ LEVEL IV (morning class) — Designed for the experienced organ

hobbyist and those who have completed Level III. "Giving an old song a new life" will be the theme for the study base. Subjects will be selected from the following areas: chord structure; arranging; circle of fifths; beginnings and endings; embellishment of the melody lines; and pedal movement. Also, organ registration (how to get the most out of your organ), authenticity of sound, special effects, and creative tone building.

DRAWING & SKETCHING (evening class) — Emphasis on fundamentals of charcoal sketching in preparation for painting and working in color. Students will work from still life and landscapes. Students will furnish their own supplies.

CLIMB YOUR FAMILY TREE/ GENEALOGY RESEARCH (evening class) — This is a basic course in genealogy and research in American ancestry. Designed for beginners but may be helpful to researchers who wish to sharpen skills and increase knowledge in the field.

Units treat finding and searching genealogical source records at home, in libraries, and in record repositories; extracting and documenting genealogical evidence; interpreting and evaluating evidence; and maintaining orderly family records.

ART OF CREATING A COMIC STRIP (evening class) — This course will take the student through the various steps in the creation of a comic strip from the conception of the idea to marketing and syndication. The difference between a comic strip, panel and editorial cartoon will be defined. Professional materials will be used and instruction regarding methods provided. Ample attention will be given to development of characters.

Sources of inspiration for both story line and humor will be explored. A book and a list will be distributed as well as information regarding syndicate directories.

Volunteers Gear Up For ACS Crusade

During a regularly scheduled meeting of the Sanford-Lake Mary Unit, American Cancer Society, unit president Vivian Buck introduced Judith Smart, new executive director for ACS in Seminole, Osceola and Lake counties.

Smart, born in Jamaica, West Indies, has lived most of her life in New York and Boston and holds a BA Degree from Tufts University. Prior to coming to Sanford, Smart was program director for 3 1/2 years in Miami for the ACS.

The Forest was the setting for an ACS Wine and Cheese Party held to inform residents concerning the services available through the local unit. Local volunteers were on hand to explain the many exhibits and to answer questions.

Upcoming events sponsored by the Sanford-Lake Mary Unit are a Ladies Golf Tournament scheduled for May 11 at the Mayfair Country Club and the ACS 125, an elaborate cocktail party with a Roaring 20's theme to be held April 26 at the home of Don and Jan Bauerle.

Other events planned but not scheduled include a Men's Golf Tournament and a Bike-A-Thon. Dates will be announced for these two events shortly.

Members of the ACS, Sanford-Lake Mary Unit, attending a statewide Crusade kickoff in Orlando were Pat Sentell, residential Crusade chairman, Bettye Smith, chairman of the Crusade, Vivian Buck and Irene Brown.

The local unit's Crusade will be held April 1-15, during which time a concentrated effort will be made by volunteers to reach every household with life-saving literature. Volunteers are needed.

Information on volunteers, ACS services and the special events listed is available by calling the local office, 322-0849, between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Indulge In Delectable Temptations From Vienna

Indulge in a taste of Vienna with glorious desserts and pastries. Desserts are a treat for family and friends, especially when they include the luscious sweets made with nuts, sweet cream butter, fresh fruit, chocolate, and sweetened whipped cream. These ingredients give Viennese desserts and pastries their mouth-watering goodness.

Share the adventure of the pastry shops of Vienna and prepare a variety of desserts and pastries for a dessert party. This is a fun way to celebrate and satisfy "sweet-tooths." Create a tableful of confections that are rich in taste and beautiful to look at. Land O'Lakes Test Kitchens invite you to create a Ginger Peach Torte for one Viennese dessert temptation. Ginger Peach Torte is rich with ground almonds and sweet cream butter. This torte is simple to prepare because there's no rolling of the dough, just press it in the pan. Ginger Peach Torte can be created successfully every time. Explore cookbooks and magazines for other delights like Apple Strudel with Whipped Cream, Sachertorte, Viennese Jam Packets, Salzburg Souffles with Raspberry Sauce.

Provide a setting of Vienna by serving the desserts on linen or a country print cloth. Surround the desserts with fresh fruits and a gathering of wild flowers. Brew a pot of freshly ground coffee and you'll be ready to indulge in a taste of Vienna.

GINGER PEACH TORTE

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup finely ground blanched almonds
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ginger

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sweet cream butter, cold
1 egg, slightly beaten
10 oz. jar peach preserves
In small bowl combine flour, almonds, sugar, ginger and salt. Cut in butter until crumbly. Stir in egg until dough forms a ball. Chill 2 hr. Heat oven to 400°. Press 3/4 of dough in bottom and up sides of 9" round cake pan. Fill with preserves. With floured hands crumble remaining dough on top. Bake for 25 to 30 min. or until preserves are bubbly and crust is lightly browned. Yield: 12 servings.

Women Voters To Host Presidential Debate

The League of Women Voters will host a debate among the seven leading contenders for the Democratic nomination for president on Sunday, March 11.

The debate, broadcast live from Atlanta at 5 p.m. on Cable News Network, will be moderated by John Chancellor of NBC News. Of special interest to Florida voters, the debate will take place just two days before "Super Tuesday" primaries.

Viewers without cable service will be able to see a delayed broadcast on WMFE-TV Channel 24 on Monday, March 12 at 1 p.m.

The League of Women Voters is offering a free, easy-to-use voters' guide to help viewers compare candidates, issues and tactics. To obtain a copy of "Pick a Candidate" write to the League of Women Voters, P.O. Box 2141, Washington D.C., 20013.

Penny-Wise Main Dish For Supper

If your repertoire of menus is becoming repetitious, take heart. New combinations of meats and wholesome grains or dairy products can liven up main dishes without depressing your wallet.

Try this recipe for colorful Calico Bread. Pork sausage, Cheddar cheese, green pepper and onions make a tasty topping for an old fashioned corn bread. Enriched corn meal supplies important B vitamins and iron, while cream style corn adds moistness.

Because this entree is almost a meal in itself, it's perfect for a change-of-pace soup and salad supper. For starters, try steaming bowls of a soul-satisfying soup like beef barley. Then, raid the vegetable crisper for salad fixin's. Apples, celery, carrots, winter pears and some citrus are in good supply right now, making them among the best buys in the produce section. Slice into sticks or wedges and serve with or without a tangy yogurt dip. Or, toss with a salad greens and a homemade vinaigrette dressing.

If keeping the food budget on line without sacrificing good taste, variety or nutrition is important, look no further. "Stretching Food Dollars," an information-packed booklet developed by The Quaker Oats Company, gives commonsense tips on saving money at home and at the supermarket. Handy charts keep weights and measures, cooking terms and other frequently used information at your fingertips. If you're wondering how long ground beef can be stored in the freezer, or how to interpret food labels, "Stretching Food Dollars" has the answers.

CALICO BREAD

- 1/2 lb. bulk pork sausage
- 3/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup enriched corn meal
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt

- 1 can (8 oz.) cream style corn
- 3/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- Brown meat, 1/2 cup green pepper and onion in 10-inch skillet; drain. Combine flour, corn meal, baking powder, sugar and salt; add combined remaining green pepper, corn, milk, eggs and oil, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Spread into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle meat mixture evenly over batter. Bake at 425°F about 30 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Sprinkle cheese evenly over top; continue baking about 5 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve warm. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Busy Bodies Require Calcium

One day in the life of a normal, average-size adult body is a busy one! Our bodies burn calories for fuel much like an automobile burns gasoline. But unlike a car that has an ignition and can be switched off, our bodies run constantly.

In the next 24 hours, your heart will beat over 100,000 times and the blood within your veins and arteries will travel the equivalent of 168,000 miles. Even though you probably won't stop to think about it too much, you'll breathe 23,000 times and speak 48,000 words. In doing normal activities, you will move 750 major muscles and will exercise seven million brain cells.

All of this movement and much more takes place constantly, night and day, and requires a high-quality fuel. A well-balanced diet provides the calories that are needed to maintain active bodies, but even more than just calories, balanced foods provide nutrients.

The scientific community is beginning to realize that the total wellness of our bodies is very dependent on a variety of nutrients, but recently calcium has begun to stand out among all the rest.

Calcium, a mineral readily available through dairy foods, is often found lacking in the diets of both men and women as they reach the mid-life years. While we worry that too much sodium and cholesterol may lead to high blood pressure and heart disease, new research findings indicate that a diet low in calcium can be just as serious.

Research has concluded that a person consuming a balanced diet containing calcium-rich foods can reduce the risk of high blood pressure and cardiovascular disease by 75 percent.

Too much sodium, too much cholesterol, not enough calcium. What does all of this mean? It means that what we need is balance!

A balanced diet containing milk, cheese, yogurt, and other dairy foods; meats; vegetables and fruits; and grains will give our busy body what it needs. Nothing more, nothing less.

Potpourri

Frankly, Chowder Is Corny, Rich, Satisfying And Affordable

Hot and hearty Corny Frank Chowder is rich, satisfying and affordable fare. The one dish dinner — made with franks, onions, green peppers and canned cream style corn — is easily and quickly prepared with the (almost) magic two-step process cheese sauce. You simply add milk and process cheese cubes to the other ingredients, then heat and stir until steaming hot.

CORNY FRANK CHOWDER

- 1 lb. frankfurters, cut into 1-inch pieces
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 17-oz. can cream style corn
- 1 cup milk

- ¾ lb. pasteurized process cheese spread, cubed
- Dash of pepper

Microwave frankfurters, green pepper, onion and margarine in 3-quart bowl or casserole on High 6 minutes or until vegetables are tender, stirring every three minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Microwave six minutes or until hot, stirring after four minutes.

Conventional Preparation

Saute frankfurters, green pepper and onion in margarine in 3-quart saucepan. Add remaining ingredients, stir until process cheese spread is melted.

FRENCH COUNTRY STEW

- 1 whole chicken (approximately 2 pounds)

- 4 medium potatoes, with skins, cut in quarters
- 3 medium carrots, scraped and cut in 1-inch lengths
- 2 large onions, cut in eighths
- 2 cups fresh brussels sprouts, stems removed
- 3 tablespoons unbleached flour
- 1 teaspoon fresh tarragon or ¼ tsp. dried
- 1 teaspoon fresh rosemary or ½ tsp. dried
- 1 teaspoon fresh thyme or ½ tsp. dried
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 medium garlic cloves, crushed
- 1 tablespoon gravy enhancer or 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- ¼ cup white wine

Early in the day, wash chicken and place in a 4-quart cooking pot. Add 4 cups of water and simmer, covered, until tender. Remove chicken from stock and allow to cool. Refrigerate stock until chilled and remove fat. Remove chicken from bones and cut into bite-sized pieces. Refrigerate.

About one hour before serving time, place chicken stock in cooking pot, bring to a boil and add prepared vegetables. Cover and cook over medium heat about 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Mix flour, herbs, and pepper with ¼ cup cold water until well blended and add to stock. Add garlic and gravy enhancer and stir over medium heat until thickened. Add chicken pieces and wine and heat through but do not boil. Serve with sourdough or French bread. Serves 6.

QUICHE O'BRIEN

- 1 (9-inch) baked pie shell*
- 1 can (13 oz.) evaporated milk

- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt

- 8 ounces American cheese, cubed
- 6 eggs, beaten
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

In 1-quart liquid measure or bowl combine milk, onion and salt. Cook on High 3 minutes. Stir in cheese and cook 1 minute more. Stir again and let stand until cheese melts, about 1 minute. Slowly stir hot mixture into beaten eggs. Add green pepper and pimiento. Pour into pie shell. Cook 5 minutes on High, rotating ½ turn after 2½ minutes. Reduce power to 50% or 30% and cook 8 to 12 minutes, rotating ¼ turn two or three times to assure even cooking. Quiche is done when knife inserted halfway between center and outer edge comes out clean. Center will appear set but still slightly shaky. Let stand, uncovered, 10 minutes.

FLOATING ISLAND

A reduced power setting is important in producing the delicate texture characteristic of this delightful pudding. And, it's so easy to do in the microwave, you'll serve it often!

- 1¾ cups milk
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- 1 egg, separated*
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

2 tablespoons sugar

In 1-quart liquid measure or bowl combine milk, ¼ cup sugar and salt. Cook 4½ minutes on High. In small bowl beat together eggs, egg yolk and vanilla. Slowly stir about half the hot milk mixture into the egg mixture. Return yolk mixture to 1-quart measure. Reduce power to 50% or 30% and cook 3 to 5 minutes, stirring every minute, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Let stand 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into 4 (6-oz.) custard cups or dishes. Beat egg white with cream of tartar at high speed until foamy. Add 2 tablespoons sugar slowly, beating constantly until sugar is dissolved** and white is glossy and stands in soft peaks. Using two tablespoons, drop about ¼ meringue gently onto custard in each cup. Cook on High 1½ to 2 minutes. Meringues are done when point of knife inserted horizontally into their sides comes out clean.

2 tablespoons sugar

FISH FILLETS PENSACOLA

- 1½ pounds skinless, boneless, flounder filets or other fish filets, fresh or frozen
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon onion powder
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- Juice of ¼ fresh lime
- ½ lime peeled, seeded, and diced
- 1 large orange peeled, seeded, and diced
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh parsley
- Thaw filets if frozen. Cut into 4 serving-size portions. Sprinkle both sides of fish with salt, onion powder, pepper and paprika. Roll filets and secure with wooden picks. Place in a non-stick baking pan. Squeeze juice of ½ lime over seasoned fish. Sprinkle with diced lime, orange pieces and parsley. Bake at 375°F., for 15 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Bacteria Cause Of Unusual Body Odor

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Since I delivered my second child six years ago, I've had a terrible problem with underarm body odor. I've gone from doctor to doctor trying to find a cure. They prescribe different medicines and deodorants, but nothing seems to work. It's not as if I don't keep clean. I take a shower every morning before going to work. It has gotten to the point that I hate going to work, see my fellow workers turn up their noses and hear the sly talk and laughing. It really hurts. Please help me.

DEAR READER — Such body odors are not related to sweating too much or to cleanliness. Usually they're caused by bacteria that live just under the skin. Most soaps don't penetrate the skin deep enough to kill these bacteria, and they can't be removed by simply washing the surface of your skin. You need something that will kill bacteria and penetrate the skin. You're an ideal candidate for hexachlorophene. You can't buy it yourself anymore, but your doctor can give you a prescription for a 3 percent emulsion of hexachlorophene. There have been some objections about its use in infants. You only need it in localized areas. After using it, don't use anything else, especially a solution that contains alcohol. The hexachlorophene will penetrate the surface of the skin and kill the bacteria. In many people, this solves the odor problem. It's worth a try.

envelope for it to me. In care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My thyroid scan showed I had a colloid cyst. What causes this? Is it inherited? Can it be treated medically? Is surgery indicated? How serious is it?

My sister had surgery for the same thing last year. She's on some kind of medication for the rest of her life. I'd like to avoid medication if possible. I'm 51 and take no medicines. DEAR READER — I suspect that your doctor was trying to tell you that you have an enlargement of the thyroid. The normal thyroid gland consists of little lobules filled with a gelatinous material called colloid. These can enlarge and cause a colloid goiter. When they're small and the thyroid function is normal, the doctor may elect to do nothing. It really depends on the rest of his studies. If there's an indication of thyroid overactivity, he may wish to treat it medically or he may recommend surgery. I suspect your sister is either taking medication to replace her thyroid function following surgery or to suppress the development of additional colloid material. The colloid material is a gelatinous substance normally produced by the thyroid. If you have too much, it could be thought of as a cyst or nodule filled with the soft colloid material. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 8, 1984
Your desire for travel will be considerably heightened this coming year. Ways will present themselves for you to go where you want. There's a possibility you may take a long trip about which you've dreamed.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your powers of observation are keen today, but there's a chance you'll only see the undesirable characteristics in others rather than their good qualities. The Matchmaker set tells you your compatibility to all signs as well as shows you to which signs you are best suited romantically. Get yours by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send an additional $1 plus your zodiac sign for your year-ahead predictions.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extremely careful where money is concerned today. Do nothing impulsively. If you make a mistake, it could be a lulu.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't be self-serving today. If others think you are looking out only for yourself, they may deliberately put obstacles in your path.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Any mistakes you make today should be corrected promptly, rather than being swept under the rug. What you ignore could cause you greater complications later.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Walk the narrow line today and don't side with one pal against another. If you take sides, there's a chance you end up alienating both.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your image is extremely fragile today, so be careful how you conduct yourself. A poor impression will be hard to eradicate.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Normally you're an orderly person who knows how to effectively follow a set routine, but today you may do things in ways which will accomplish little.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Joint ventures could be more complicated than usual today. Don't get yourself involved in a situation where all the burdens fall on you.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is not the right day to harp on your mate's shortcomings. He or she desperately needs bolstering-up, not reminders from you of weaknesses.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Guard against temptations to push yourself beyond your limits today. If you burn the candle at both ends, you'll have to pay the price.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to avoid companions today who, you know from experience, are takers who never give back anything in return. You'll find their actions intolerable.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Every now and then the world doesn't treat us the way we think it should. If this happens to you today, don't take your frustrations out on the family.

WIN AT BRIDGE

West's led the spade queen, ducked in dummy. At table one, East sleepily signaled come-on. West came on, but the boat had sailed. South won that second spade in dummy, drew trumps and played ace and 10 of clubs. West could score only one diamond, one club and one spade, and game was made. At the other table East was wide-awake. He put his king of spades on West's queen and returned a diamond. West took two quick diamond tricks and waited to score the setting trick with his king of clubs. I like Kelsey's title even though Rip Van Winkle is a New York state character and Hugh Kelsey is a Scot who probably has never been in the Catskill Mountains. East should have seen exactly what would be coming if he ducked that first spade and also that there was no danger in playing his king. West clearly needed the Q-J of spades for his double of one heart.

State Sets CLAST Scores As Diploma Requirement

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — No sooner have state officials set a passing score on a sophomore-level standardized test for college students than they have begun to look at yet another test now in the works for college students.

Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet approved the recommended passing scores for the four-part College Level Academic Skills Test Tuesday. Somewhat surprisingly, no one appeared to speak in opposition.

"The fact that there's not any more question about it this morning reflects the thorough job that was done," Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said of the long process that led to the adoption of the passing scores.

The CLAST test has been given to students on an experimental basis in the past but will become a diploma requirement for community college students after Aug. 1. It will also be a prerequisite for university students hoping to advance into upper division university work.

The test has been criticized by some black educators as another step in the direction of excluding blacks from higher education.

The passing scores are 260 in reading and computation, 265 in writing and 4.0 in essay in 1985. The following year the scores increase to 270 in reading and writing and 275 in computation but remain at 4.0 in essay.

In October, more than 20 percent of the blacks who took the test would have failed at least one part of the test, compared to less than 13 percent for white students.

Meanwhile, Shelley Boone, deputy education commissioner for special programs, said work was nearly done on a test for incoming college students intended to help administrators determine how much students learn in colleges and universities.

He said the department had tried to meet both Graham's desire for a "value-added" method of evaluating learning and a legislative directive to find a test that would help determine which students need remedial help.

"We are prepared to send to the printer a test for entering freshmen. We will also be able to give you a choice of tests now in existence to detail the needs for remediation hopefully no later than April," Boone said.

On another subject, Secretary of State George Firestone tried again — and failed — to get the governor and Cabinet to take a stand against the controversial unitary tax on corporations.

The issue arose when the Revenue Department sought approval of its 1984 legislative package. It included three technical amendments dealing with the state's corporate income tax law.

Firestone made a motion to withdraw the request, saying to approve it would be to indicate further support of the unitary tax. His motion died for lack of a second.

SUMMONS TO APPEAR AND NOTICE OF PUBLIC NUISANCE
IN RE: Lot 16, PARCEL 137 ADDITION TO Midway Subdivision, Plat Book 2, Page 104, recorded in the Public Records of Seminole County, Florida, presently shown as being owned by Nomach Smith, and all parties having or claiming to have any right, title or interest in the property described above.

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, did on the 27th day of November, 1983, find and declare a structure located in Seminole County, Florida, to be unsafe, unsanitary and a public nuisance; that the owner of the property according to the property records in the Seminole County Property Appraiser's Office on which the structure is located is Nomach Smith of Post Office Box 1644, Sanford, Florida 32771; that the public nuisance is a residential structure severely destroyed by fire located on Broadway Street, Sanford, Florida and further described as set forth above, an that corrective action is required to abate the public nuisance; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, did on the 27th day of November, 1983, find and declare a structure located in Seminole County, Florida, to be unsafe, unsanitary and a public nuisance; that the owner of the property according to the property records in the Seminole County Property Appraiser's Office on which the structure is located is Nomach Smith of Post Office Box 1644, Sanford, Florida 32771; that the public nuisance is a residential structure severely destroyed by fire located on Broadway Street, Sanford, Florida and further described as set forth above, an that corrective action is required to abate the public nuisance; and

NOW THEREFORE, you are hereby commanded to summon the said Nomach Smith to appear before the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, at 10:00 a.m. at its regular meeting on the 10th day of April, 1984, at the Seminole County Courthouse, Room 200, North Park Avenue, Sanford, Florida, or in the event he is deceased or cannot be located, to attach a copy of the Summons and Notice of Public Nuisance to some conspicuous place on the property described above, to show cause, if any, why such structure should not be declared a public nuisance and the corrective action of abatement specified in the Notice of Public Nuisance should not be taken; or cause, if any, why the cost of the corrective action of abatement specified in the Notice of Public Nuisance should not be paid for by Nomach Smith, his heirs or assigns; or cause, if any, why said cost should not be assessed against the property.

WITNESS my hand and seal this 24th day of Feb.

Marinade Adds Zest To Microwaved Pork

Microwave cookery is a convenient way to prepare satisfying meals quickly, particularly for singles and families using a staggered meal schedule.

Cooking can be not only fast with a microwave, but fabulous when you are armed with a bit of knowledge about how to best use the oven.

For example, the shape of the food should be considered when you're arranging it in the oven. Microwaves work from the outside in towards the center. Place the thicker part towards the outside edge of the plate and the thinner part of the foods towards the center of the dish.

In Made-In-Minutes Pork Chops, the meat is marinated in coconut-rum, pineapple juice and several spices. Acids from the pineapple juice tenderize the chops even before they start to cook. The technique of marinating before cooking also is used in the CocoRibe Fruit Bake to allow the rum's flavor to permeate the crumb-topped pear and apricot dessert.

Remember, too, if the food is at room temperature, it will cook more quickly than if frozen. Density is important as well. A slice of meat will take longer to cook than an equal-sized slice of bread.

Some foods are better from a nutritional standpoint when cooked in a microwave. Vegetables cook quickly in a small amount of water and retain more nutrients than when prepared on the stovetop.

Frequent use — and experimentation — along with tips such as these will help the microwave cook come up with a wonderful repertoire of quick and delicious dishes.

MADE-IN-MINUTES PORK CHOPS

- 4 pork chops, about 1/2-inch thick (completely thawed)
- 1/2 cup coconut rum
- 1 can (5 1/4 ounces) sliced pineapple in its own juice, drained, reserve juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh ginger or 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- Bottled browning and seasoning sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch

In a 9-inch glass pie plate or shallow microwave dish, arrange pork chops in a single layer. Combine coconut rum, 2 tablespoons juice from pineapple, soy sauce, mustard, garlic and ginger; mix well. Pour over chops; let stand at room temperature 1 hour. Remove chops from marinade and brush on both sides with browning and seasoning sauce. Return to marinade; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on high 3 1/2 minutes. Turn chops over. Place one pineapple slice on each chop; cover and microwave on high 4 minutes longer. Remove chops and pineapple to a serving platter. Combine cornstarch and 2 tablespoons pineapple juice; stir into cooking liquid. Microwave on high 1 1/2 minutes; stir sauce. If it is not thickened, microwave 30 seconds longer. Spoon sauce over chops. (NOTE: Pork must be thoroughly cooked. If any pinkness appears, even near the bone, cook longer.) Yield: 4 servings.

COCORIBE FRUIT BAKE

- 3 large, ripe pears, cored, pared, sliced
- 1/2 cup cut-up dried apricots
- 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon coconut rum, divided
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup heavy cream

In a 9-inch glass pie plate or shallow microwave dish combine pears, apricots and 1/2 cup coconut rum. Let stand 1/2 hour, stirring occasionally. In a small bowl combine sugar, flour and cinnamon; cut in butter until mixture is well blended. Stir in pecans. Sprinkle mixture over fruit. Place in microwave oven and cook, uncovered, on high 8 minutes. Whip cream with remaining 1 tablespoon coconut rum. Serve fruit warm or cold with whipped cream. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Grapefruit Perfect End To Dinner

It often seems that many Americans eat dinner only so they can have dessert. In fact, dessert may be the course most in demand. As a result, the cook can never have too many dessert recipes.

The trick is to provide a dessert that contains some good nutrition within its sweet deliciousness.

Fruit is a wholesome way to add vitamins, minerals and taste to the final course. Yet dessert doesn't have to be another ho-hum, open-a-can, heavy syrup concoction. The grocers' bins are full of fresh cold weather fruit, especially the snappy citrus crop coming up from Florida that will give desserts a lift.

This year's huge Florida grapefruit harvest has been so good that you'll want to make the most of this tasty fruit. Whether pink or white, it adds zest and lots of vitamin C to a dish. To get the juiciest grapefruit, choose firm, heavy fruit with unblemished, shiny and thin skins.

The unusual Jellied Grapefruit Cups add honey, chopped dates and nuts to the lively flavor of grapefruit sections, all of which are jelled right in the grapefruit shells to make a lovely presentation for company. Frozen Fruit Loaf combines grapefruit and raspberries, which add their delicious flavors to eggs, sugar and cream, resulting in a dessert luscious enough to tempt anyone off a diet.

Both of these are make-ahead desserts, saving you time during the busy holidays, yet securing your reputation as a gourmet chef.

JELLIED GRAPEFRUIT CUPS

- 2 small Florida grapefruit
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup pitted chopped dates
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts
- 1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped

Cut grapefruit in half; scoop out sections; dice sections. Set grapefruit shells aside. In small bowl soften gelatin in 1/4 cup grapefruit juice. Add boiling water and honey; stir until gelatin dissolves. Add remaining 1/4 cup grapefruit juice. Chill until mixture thickens. Fold in dates, nuts and diced grapefruit sections. Spoon mixture into reserved grapefruit shells. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream. Yield: 4 servings.

FROZEN FRUIT LOAF

- 4 large eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar, divided
- 1/4 cup Florida grapefruit juice

- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries defrosted
- 4 Florida grapefruit, sectioned and cut into pieces
- Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler; add 1/4 cup sugar and grapefruit juice. Stir over boiling water until thickened, about 3 minutes. Cool to room temperature. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar until stiff peaks form. Fold beaten egg whites into cooled grapefruit mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Puree raspberries in a blender or food processor. Fold pureed raspberries into 1/2 of the grapefruit mixture. Refrigerate. Add grapefruit pieces to remaining mixture. Pour half the grapefruit mixture with grapefruit sections into a 9x5-inch loaf pan. Freeze until firm about 1 hour. Spoon raspberry mixture over frozen layer. Freeze 1 hour until firm. Add remaining grapefruit mixture; freeze until set. Remove from freezer and let stand 5 minutes. Unmold. If desired, garnish with additional grapefruit sections and mint leaves. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

Interesting Meals At Home

After A Long Day At Work

If you're a busy single person, or one-half of a working couple, you already know how difficult it is to cook a meal for one or two persons. In fact, you may be finding that evening meals are eaten from a takeout container or at a fast food establishment, just to save time.

Now, busy one- and two-person householders can fix interesting, nutritious meals at home without facing a time-consuming chore after a long day at work. All you need are easy recipes that make just one or two servings, use convenient ingredients and take just a few minutes to prepare.

One way to get a head start on tonight's dinner is to keep the right kind of foods in the pantry or freezer — foods that go together almost instantly to make a great meal. A handy box of Minute rice, for instance, is the kind of staple item that small householders need. With this pre-cooked long grain rice, you have the flexibility to fix as few servings as you need, yet it takes only minutes to prepare. Add a protein source, such as chicken or ground beef which you keep stocked in the freezer, and you have almost everything you need to put supper on the table practically as soon as you get home.

Another boon for small householders on the go is the microwave oven. With its' quick-thawing and quick-cooking capabilities, microwave puts homecooked meals within the schedule of those for whom overtime at work is the rule rather than the exception.

ORANGE CHICKEN AND CARROTS

- For One
- 1 tablespoon oil
  - ¼ pound slivered raw chicken
  - ½ cup thinly sliced carrots
  - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
  - ½ cup chicken broth
  - ½ teaspoon grated orange rind
  - ¼ teaspoon tarragon or poultry seasoning
  - ½ cup Minute rice

- For Two

Microwave Magic

Sauces Add Versatility To Chicken

Chicken, especially the breast (white meat) is one of the most versatile of foods. It can be treated with so many different sauces and seasonings that you could have it every week without becoming bored.

Chicken breasts are moderately priced with the bone in; if you have the butcher remove the bone, it is about ten cents more a pound. I find it is easy to debone the breast. Run a sharp boning knife from the rib cage down to the end of the bone and the meat will tear into a whole piece. Each breast will provide two chicken filets. The meat of the breast will cook quickly and is low in calories.

One recipe that is particularly easy to prepare is Lemon Seasoned Chicken Breasts.

LEMON SEASONED CHICKEN BREASTS

- 1 tablespoon water
- 1/2 teaspoon bouquet sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon red hot pepper
- 2 whole bone-in chicken breasts, halved and skin removed
- 2 teaspoons parsley

In a small dish, combine all ingredients except chicken and parsley. Arrange chicken breasts bone-side up on microwave roasting rack with 1 portion to outside of dish. Brush with half of the seasoned mixture. Microwave at 100% power for 5 minutes. Turn pieces over and brush with remaining mixture. Microwave at 100% power for 10-15 minutes or until meat near bone is no longer pink. Sprinkle with fresh chopped parsley.

Chicken Cacciatore traditionally uses the whole chicken. This recipe uses the breasts only, which lowers the calorie count.

CHICKEN BREAST CACCIATORE

- 1 can (16 oz.) whole tomatoes, cut up
- 1/2 medium green pepper, cut into thin strips
- 1 medium onion, sliced and separated into rings
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1/2 teaspoon parsley flakes
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

2 whole bone-in chicken breasts, halved and skin removed
1 package vermicelli (7 oz.)
2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
Combine tomatoes, green pepper, onion, wine and seasonings in a 2-quart casserole. Cover, microwave at 100% power for 5-7 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

Arrange chicken in a 12x8" baking dish with meatiest portion to the outside of dish. Pour sauce and vegetables over chicken. Cover with wax paper. Microwave at 100% power for 14-18 minutes or until chicken is tender and no longer pink. Rearrange and spoon sauce over chicken twice during the cooking time. Serve chicken over vermicelli (spaghetti) or spaghetti squash that has been sprinkled with cheese.

CHICKEN A LA ORANGE

- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- Dash of pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 2 whole bone-in chicken breasts, halved and skin removed
- 4 slices of orange
- fresh chopped parsley

In a 2-cup measure, combine lemon juice, soy sauce, water, pepper, garlic powder, and orange peel to make marinade. Microwave at 200% power for 1-2 minutes or until hot. Place chicken and marinade in a plastic bag. Refrigerate for 1-2 hours.

Arrange chicken in a 12x8" baking dish with meatiest portions to outside. Top with orange slices. Pour marinade over chicken. Cover with wax paper. Microwave at 100% power for 13-18 minutes or until meat is tender and no longer pink. Rearrange and baste twice during the cooking. Garnish with the chopped parsley. Serve with fluffy rice and a green vegetable.

Deadline Nears For County Beef Cook-Off

If you have a beef dish that you are particularly proud of, now is the time to enter it in the Florida Beef Cook-Off. You could win $200 first prize and go on to compete for $10,000 in national prize money.

To enter send a typed copy of your best beef recipe (using only chuck, round, rump, fresh brisket, plate, shank, or ground beef) to: Imogene Yarborough, Box 65, Geneva, 32732.

Include your name, address, telephone number, and a brief statement about the origin of your recipe. Send this in triplicate. Entries must be postmarked by March 13 which is the deadline. The top five (5) Seminole County finalists will be notified by March 19 to be in the actual cook-off which will take place on March 21 at the Agricultural Center.

Prizes are: first place, county, $50; second place, county, $25 and third place, county, $15.

Seminole County's top winner will compete against top winners from each county for the State Cook-Off. The five finalists from the state will compete in Fort Pierce on April 7.

In addition the first place state winner will compete against top winners from other states at the National Beef Cook-Off on Sept. 9-11 in Albuquerque, N.M.

Prizes are: first place, national, $5,000; second place, national, $2,500; third place, national, $1,000 and five honorable mentions, $300 each.

All recipes must contain a minimum of one pound beef and not more than five pounds and each serving must contain at least 3 oz. of cooked beef. The meat must be exclusively beef. Cooking time cannot exceed four hours. The recipe must be specific with no use of brand names and must state the number of servings and the approximate preparation time. All entries must be submitted in triplicate.

Entries become the property of the Florida CowBelles Association. Contestants must be 18 years of age or older with non-professional food status. Any person who has owned one or more head of beef or dairy cattle in the twelve (12) months preceding Oct. 1, 1984, is ineligible.

Recipes are judged according to taste, ease of preparation, practicality, originality and appearance.

Pepperpot An Old-Time Favorite

Pepperpot is a highly spiced soup that is a favorite of West Indians, Jamaicans, Germans and the Chinese.

This version offers a dish that is lower in cholesterol, sodium and calories. For further low-sodium benefits, use a low-sodium beef broth and add additional spices to taste. Freeze in small portions for a quick pick-me-up soup snack.

PHILADELPHIA PEPPER POT

- 2 pounds beef chuck, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
  - 2 leeks, chopped
  - 2 medium onions, chopped
  - 2 potatoes, pared and finely diced
  - 1 carrot, finely diced
  - 3 quarts beef broth
  - 1 bay leaf
  - 1 teaspoon thyme
  - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
  - 1 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- Heat large soup pot over medium heat. Spray with no-stick cooking spray. Add meat, a little at a time, and brown well. Remove meat with slotted spoon and set aside. Pour off all fat. Spray pot with no-stick cooking spray again. Add leeks and onions and saute until tender. Return meat to pot. Add potatoes, carrot, beef broth, bay leaf and thyme. Bring to a boil, reduce heat; cover and simmer 2 1/2 hours. Add parsley and hot pepper sauce. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Serve with additional hot pepper sauce, as desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 20 1-cup servings. Calories per serving: 132.

Remodeling

Financially, It's Not Always A Good Idea

Is remodeling a home a good investment? Sometimes. If you and your family want it badly enough, it's usually worth doing. After all, you're investing in your family's comfort, convenience and enjoyment.

Remember, however, that when it comes time to sell your home, you may or may not recoup the cost of that investment. Not all alterations increase a home's market value; some may actually make your home more difficult to sell. Deciding whether to remodel, therefore, should be a matter of carefully weighing both the pros and the cons.

On the pro side, says a leading manufacturer of windows and gliding patio doors, is the fact that remodeling is often an attractive alternative to moving. That's because remodeling is usually cheaper than relocating and less disruptive to family life as well. An extra bath, another bedroom, or an updated kitchen can transform an ordinary house into a "dream house" and raise its market value at the same time.

Keep It Simple

But, say the experts, some projects are more likely to attract prospective buyers than others. Specialized alterations may appeal only to a narrow group of prospective buyers. A swimming pool or a tennis court, for example, may be a selling point only to those who like to swim or play tennis. Other improvements such as saunas and high-tech video rooms may be less desirable to the average buyer than a modernized kitchen or an extra bath.

Energy-saving improvements are always a sound investment.

That's because you and the next owner will reap the financial benefits of reduced energy costs.

Projects that increase energy efficiency include installing insulation and replacing old, worn-out windows with modern, weathertight units. Many windows and gliding patio doors, for example, have double-pane insulating glass to reduce heat loss through the glass area. Triple glazing is available as an option on most units and provides exceptional thermal protection, even in unusually cold climates.

Materials Count

Many of these windows and gliding patio doors also have a preservative-treated, wood-core sash and frame sheathed in rigid vinyl. Wood is a natural insulator. The vinyl provides an extra thermal barrier and offers the added benefit of low maintenance. The factory-applied weatherstripping is at least twice as weathertight as industry standards for allowable air infiltration.

Other remodeling do's and don'ts the experts suggest:

- Before building an addition, consider putting unused space to work. Converting an attic, basement or porch into an extra room is usually less costly than building a new room.
- Try to tailor your project to complement the neighborhood's housing profile. If three-bedroom houses and moderate pricetags are the norm, a four-bedroom house or one with costly improvements may be out of place and difficult to sell.
- Avoid spending too much to make a showcase out of a house in a deteriorating neighborhood.

When you're remodeling your home, remember that specialty improvements such as a tennis court or high-tech video room will make your house tough to sell except to people interested in those particular activities. General remodeling — an extra bathroom, an updated kitchen, or even skylights — will make selling easier.

Author: Some Plants Beat Vitamin Pills For Nutrition

By William E. Hauda
MADISON, Wis. (UPI)

— Gardener-author Jerry Minnich believes you get good nutrition by planting amaranth and adzuki beans, not by popping vitamin pills.

"The more nutrients you get from the food you eat, the better off you're going to be," Minnich said, echoing the views of such prestigious professional groups as the American Dietetic Association.

"You don't have to take vitamin pills. You can get your nutrition from the foods you eat," he said in an interview.

Minnich, 50, has been cultivating a plot since he was 20. His new and fourth gardening book, "Gardening for Maximum Nutrition" tells how to boost the nutritional yield of a backyard garden.

He said amaranth, a quick-growing, leafy plant used in salads, is the richest of all vegetables in calcium, has twice the iron of spinach, and is topped only by broccoli in Vitamin C.

"Although amaranth has been grown for human food for more than 4,000 years, it has only recently received renewed attention as a crop for North American gardens," Minnich said.

Like amaranth, adzuki beans are high in nutrition. Imported Japanese adzuki beans contain about 25 percent high quality protein and can be used in everything from soups to soft drinks, he said.

Minnich, marketing director for the University of Wisconsin Press, said vegetables sold in supermarkets are not as fresh as you might think.

They begin losing nutrients as soon as they are picked, a loss that continues slowly during packing and shipping and display in stores.

Because his back yard is small, Minnich rents a garden plot, 30 by 50 feet, capable of providing about 80 percent of the total vegetable needs for a family of four.

He said his interest in the nutritional aspects of gardening was generated by reading about crops that are high in different vitamins.

"I kept getting bits and pieces, but could not find any book that attacked this whole thing in a coordinated way," he said.

"Once I began to research, I found plenty of information that really hadn't been published at all. I ended up with four cartons of data. I spent months just sorting it out and boiling it down as far as possible and writing it in a way that would appeal to the average backyard hacker."

Minnich's book describes the effect soil has on the nutritional value of the produce. He recommends a soil test, usually performed for a couple of dollars by a county cooperative extension agent, and steps to take to make sure important nutrients are in the garden soil.

The book also tells how to choose the most nutritious crops, plan for their inclusion in a garden, and how to harvest, prepare and store homegrown food to retain the most nutrients.

For example, simply waiting for a sunny day to harvest cabbage can boost the Vitamin C content 20 percent or more, he writes.

As for uncommon plants like amaranth, Minnich said they are really not all that hard to find. His book contains a list of seed sources.

Not everyone in Minnich's family of four was immediately receptive to his gardening views.

He said his daughter originally thought waiting about gardening was "a dumb idea."

'Tis The Season To Convert Lawn

March through early April is the best time to begin converting unsatisfactory lawns to Centipede grass, which is generally recognized as the best all around lawn grass for most of the lower South.

Many lawns originally seeded to Fescue, Bermuda and mixtures of several grasses have declined in quality. Fescue thins out in hot, dry weather and Bermudas yield to shade, whether from weeds or trees. Both conditions permit weed invasion and unsightly turf and increase the frequency of mowing needed to maintain an attractive appearance.

Centipede is slow but relentless in choking out weeds and other grasses, but in time (one to three years) it produces a dense, relatively weed-free turf which does not require frequent cutting.

The secret to successful conversion is getting the tiny Centipede seed in contact with the soil or better still, covered by a small amount of soil. Only lawns that are reasonably smooth and which drain well are good candidates for conversion. If the surface is rough and uneven or drains poorly, these problems should be corrected by tillage and other means before seeding with Centipede.

The first step in converting a lawn without complete renovation is to mow as closely as possible and remove all clippings and dead vegetation by raking or sweeping. Follow with any type implement that will expose and loosen the surface of the soil. Vertical thinning and aerating tools do a good job. A steeltoothed rake can do the same thing, but is very laborious.

After exposing bare soil, uniformly scatter a quarter to a half pound of Centipede seed per 1,000 sq. ft. (each 20 ft. by 50 ft.

area) and then rake, vertically thin or aerate again so as to mix the seed with some soil.

Keep the lawn cut closely, water during droughts and fertilize sparingly. Don't expect to see any results before late summer, and don't despair if you don't see any Centipede the first year. It's slow, but amongst the most certain of all lawn grasses.

Two notes of caution: Don't use any weed control chemicals or weed-and-feed fertilizers before planting or afterwards for the first year, or the Centipede seed and seedlings may be destroyed.

And, don't try a conversion in heavy shade where other grasses and few weeds grow. The problem is inadequate light and such areas will not grow grass successfully and thus require special treatment using ground covers such as ivy, lertope or pine straw.

Proportion A Key To Interior Design

Proportion is how parts of a unit relate to each other in size and amount. Your eyes will tell you immediately whether things are in or out of proportion. For example, if you are a very short woman and wear a very big loose dress with padded shoulders, long sleeves and a long hemline, one look in the mirror should tell you that the outfit is not right for your figure or proportions.

The furnishings in a room can also be considered as units. To look right, furnishings should be in proportion. Two 10-inch square pillows would look lost if paired with an 80-inch-long sofa. Or, a lamp with a too small or too big shade will appear not as a harmonious unit, but as two objects that don't belong together.

Scale refers to the way different objects relate to one another. Every piece of furniture in a room should relate in scale to the other pieces, although that does not mean that they must all be the same

At Last, An Easy Way To Put Up Ceiling Tile

If you've been putting off a ceiling fix-up for fear it's too much hassle, lay your fears aside. Along with the staple gun, adhesive and wood furring strips.

There's a new method of putting up ceiling tile that eliminates those installation paraphernalia. It's called Easy Up and was invented specifically for do-it-yourselfers.

Ceiling tile does a nice job of resurfacing an old ceiling blemished by cracks, chipping or water stains. Where there's no ceiling at all — just exposed joists in a basement, attic or addition — tile offers a wide range of ceiling designs.

In the past, however, you first had to nail long (8-foot to 12-foot) wood furring strips to the joists or existing ceiling. Then you had to staple the tiles to the strips.

Accurately positioning the unwieldy, often-crooked furring strips was a pain. Working the staple gun overhead was a bigger pain — chiefly in the elbow and shoulder.

If the existing ceiling wasn't too far gone, you could cement the new tiles to it. You had to be extra careful, though, or the adhesive brush turned into a sticky wicket.

The new Easy Up system avoids all that rigmarole. It makes ceiling tile a snap to install — literally.

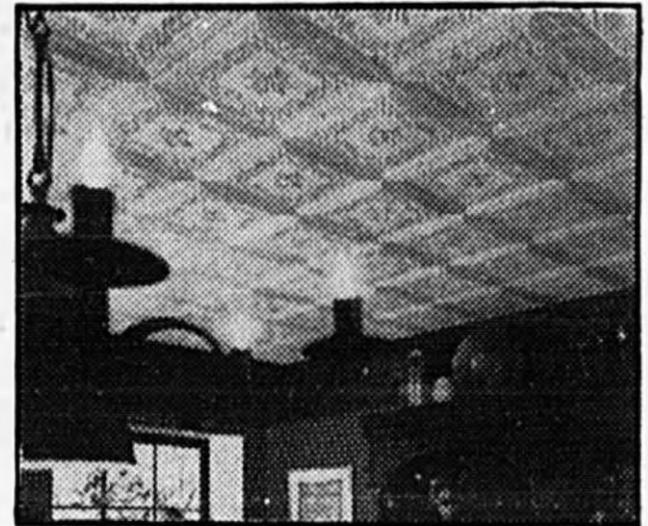

The long wood furring strips are discarded in favor of 4-foot metal tracks which are warp-resistant and easy to handle. Special clips snap onto the tracks and slide over the lips of the tiles to hold them in place.

Any standard tile or plank (an oblong tile) can be installed in this way.

The tracks, nails and clips come in one convenient kit usually sold near the tile. So you shouldn't have to search all over the store — or several different stores — to find the necessary

Installation entails three basic steps:

- 1) Nailing the metal tracks (which come with pre-drilled holes) to the old ceiling or exposed joists on 12-inch centers.
- 2) Positioning the tile flush against the track.
- 3) Snapping a clip onto the track and sliding it over the tile lip. Securing the tile firmly, the lip is in turn hidden by the overlapping lip of the next tile.

Because the tracks are nailed directly to the old ceiling or joists, there's a headroom loss of only about an inch and a quarter. The space saved comes in handy in low basements.

The clips make it possible to remove tiles without damaging them — to correct a minor mistake, to insert a light fixture or to reach wiring and pipes between joists. You merely slide the clip back along the track to release the tile.

The new system offers other advantages over the old furring-strip method. It reduces nailing by almost two-thirds. It gives do-it-yourselfers more margin for error, since the tracks don't have to be spaced precisely 12 inches apart as do furring strips. And it doesn't require any sawing of tracks; they can simply be overlapped at the end wall.

One kit contains enough tracks, nails and clips for 20-24 square feet of tile. Step-by-step instructions also come inside. An estimating guide on the back tells how many kits it takes to do various size rooms. The kits can be found at most building supply stores and home centers.

Thinking Of Decorating? Develop A Plan

No matter how large or small the project you are tackling, your first step in decorating is to consider your family's activities, hobbies, collections, favorite colors, style of entertaining and other needs. No matter how well you have mastered the lessons of color, texture, pattern, elements of design and space, if the room or rooms you create do not suit your family's specific needs, your "successful" room will be missing a major ingredient.

The second step to get you away from the theoretical and into the practical realm of decorating is to measure carefully all surfaces in every room you're going to furnish or decorate. (Be sure to use a yardstick or metal — not a cloth-tape measure.)

You should measure the floors, walls, doorways, windows and any fireplaces and built-in bookshelves. This way you will have all the information you need to get accurate estimates of the amount of paint and wallcoverings necessary for a particular room. In addition, accurate measurements are very important if you are adding new window treatments, wall-to-wall carpeting or other types of flooring.

Then, using that information, make a floor plan of each room to be decorated. Use graph paper and draw the room in the scale of 1/4 inch equals one foot. You will have a tiny rendering of each room to take with you when you shop.

Next make templates, also to scale of all the furniture you presently have or plan to add to the room. Cut out the templates so that you can move them around on the plan, grouping furniture for the most comfort, the best light and a good traffic plan. Completing this exercise will save you time and help you avoid costly mistakes, such as ordering the wrong size furniture, and perhaps, even too much furniture.

Now you are ready to collect swatches of the "givens" in each room that you do not plan to change, such as carpeting, and fabrics from upholstered furniture or draperies.

Make a file of these swatches, the floor plans and measurements you have made, and any room settings you may have clipped from magazines that show colors or other decorating ideas you wish to consider for your project.

After you have worked out at least a tentative budget, you're ready to shop for the paint, wallcoverings, window treatments or floorcoverings you may need for your project. If you're budget conscious, it is always wise to watch for sales, but be sure to shop at stores offering a combination of quality products and knowledgeable sales

There, you will not only find the products you need for your decorating project, you will also receive whatever help you'll need to make wise choices as you select colors, patterns and fabrics that will turn your ideas into reality. In addition, decorating products retailers can also use the information you provide them to accurately estimate the quantities of paint and wallcoverings you need, and provide you with professional advice on how to do your own painting or hang your own wallcoverings.

By keeping in mind the basic principles of decorating outlined, using the "formula" for planning your project that we have just covered, and by taking advantage of the services available at your local decorating products store, you will, indeed, be able to decorate with confidence.

Edible 'Scapes

MASSAPEQUA PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — One of the most sensible gardening fads of the 1980s is edible landscaping, said Ann Reilly, of the Mailorder Association of Nurserymen.

Several factors are leading home gardeners to incorporate food plants into landscaping designs, she said, including the high cost of food, the good taste of fresh fruit and vegetables, limited space for vegetable growing or orchards and the development of dwarf varieties.

Ms. Reilly's suggestions include:

—Green, yellow and bronze-leaf lettuce make attractive trims in rose gardens.

—Clumps of chives and low-growing herbs make good edges for perennial borders.

—Eggplant and pepper plants in sunny spots add color to any garden.

—For the front lawn, try a fruit tree, which will provide flowers first, and then, food.

—Against a wall or trellis, train vines of tomatoes, cucumbers or peas.

—The lacy, fern-like foliage of carrots, parsnips and asparagus makes attractive filler or edging in a flower or shrub border.

—For color, consider leaves of beets, Swiss chard or rhubarb, which contrast well with most shrubs and flowers.

—Strawberries, equally delicious, make a pretty ground cover.

Garden Machinery Needs Regular Maintenance

By Jeannine E. Klein
 PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (UPI)— Upkeep of powered garden equipment is much like that for the family car, says the president of the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute trade association.
 "We're talking about something very similar to an automobile. It's got an engine. It's got generally some type of transmission ... and you have a fuel system," Warner Frazier said in an interview.

 Care and maintenance of garden equipment gets into a lot of common sense things, he said.
 "You don't go out and fire up a car first thing in the morning without letting it warm up. You do the same with a garden tractor."

 Frazier heads a lawn and garden equipment firm in Port Washington, Wis. He offered some advice recently on keeping power and manual garden tools in good shape and using them safely.
 He recommends having a local dealer maintain and replace parts. He said many also offer a seasonal storage service, including routine maintenance.

 Most people store such equipment in their garage or basement over the winter, however, and Frazier said basic service checks should be made before using the equipment for another season.

 "You don't want to let fuel sit in a fuel tank for months and months because impurities could come up in the fuel line. The battery could run down. Spark plugs and points can lose their gap."
 Check for rodent nests in lawnmower chutes, he said, and sharpen the blades before the season starts.

 Summer month maintenance covers the three Bs — battery, belts and blades.
 "Be sure the battery is continuing to charge. Watch belts so that they're wearing evenly," Frazier said. "Sixty to 80 percent of garden pro-"

Caution Needed When Vegetables Grown In Soil Contaminated With Lead

By David Armon
 United Press International

Inner-city gardeners who work the soil of rubble-strewn lots or plots next to busy roadways should take extra precautions in selecting vegetables to avoid lead contamination, says an associate professor of horticultural physiology.

Nina Bassuk, director of the Urban Horticulture Institute at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., says the leaves and roots of vegetable plants absorb much more lead from contaminated soil and automobile exhaust than do the fruiting parts.

To avoid pollution of above-ground crops by airborne lead particles from automobiles, she advises erecting either a plant barrier or a fence between the street and the garden.

Careful washing of the vegetables with water and vinegar is also recommended.

Ms. Bassuk's comments are based on Cornell research and other urban horticulture studies in major American cities, including Baltimore, Boston and New York.

She said home gardeners have reason to be concerned about the risk of lead poisoning since it is known to cause anemia, colic, paralysis, muscular cramps or, in the case of children, even brain damage.

Depending on the amount of space a gardener has, she said, safer fruiting plants include tomatoes, corn, peas, beans, squash, peppers, cucumbers, eggplant and pumpkins.

"Those (fruit) parts of the plant seem to exclude lead, while other parts eat it up," she said. "So it would be perfectly fine to eat those in an area that is heavily contaminated with lead."

Ms. Bassuk cautioned that washing the fruit is vital to rid it of external lead particles from automobile exhaust.

"Put a little vinegar in the water to acidify it lightly and loosen the particles," she said.

She said most lead in root vegetables — potatoes, carrots and onions, for example — is concentrated in the peel, so peeling them is very important.

Leafy vegetables, such as lettuce, grown in a lead-contaminated environment should not be eaten unless proper measures are taken to minimize lead levels.

She said urban gardeners can determine the lead content of their soil by having it checked by their County Cooperative Extension service, for a small charge.

"If lead has been found, for every square yard of soil add 1 square foot of organic matter." She said well-rotted compost, leaves or manure work well.

"The organic matter seems to tie up the lead particles so they're not absorbed into the roots."

If the soil test shows excessive acid levels, Ms. Bassuk said, adding lime will bring the pH to neutral levels, slowing the absorption of lead.

The remedy also keeps out cadmium, a heavy metal highly toxic to animals and humans.

Washer Will Remedy Faucet

By UPI-Popular Mechanics

Q. We have a faucet that squeals when it is turned on partially. The squeal stops when the faucet is turned past a critical point. What causes the squeal and what can I do to remedy it?

A. A squealing water faucet is usually the result of a worn washer. When the stem is backed out (someone turned on the water) and the clearance between the frayed washer and the valve seat reaches a certain distance, the washer will vibrate and squeal like the reed in a wind instrument. As the valve is opened more, the space becomes greater and the reed effect — and noise — cease. To prevent this annoying squeal, simply replace the washer.

Q. We want to install a humidifier in our home, since we've heard that moist air requires less energy to heat, is good for plants and might even keep the family from getting so many colds. We talked to our furnace repairman about installing a unit and he was adamantly opposed to the idea. He says he's had to replace many $1,000 furnaces because of a $100 humidifier. He claims that small leaks develop in the humidifiers and water leaks into the furnaces, causing them to rust. What are your thoughts on this?

A. A humidifier is practically a must with warm-air heat. I'm afraid I can't agree with your repairman. In one company's humidifier, for example, the tank or pan is on the outside of the duct. An overflow tube pipes any water overflow away from the furnace. The squirrel cage or paddle wheel is wired into the furnace blower, so it's almost impossible for water to be induced into the system and cause flooding.

That company, like many other manufacturers, has two models. One introduces vapor into the return air duct. The other introduces the vapor into the discharge side.

I prefer the discharge-side unit because the heated air can absorb more moisture. Although the installation is geared toward a do-it-yourselfer, some companies will install it for a service charge. Remember, though, the humidistat (which turns the unit on and off to preset humidity requirements) must be fastened on the duct's return-air side

Q. I'm renovating the interior of a 40-year-old house using a belt sander to remove paint and finish off door facings. The original lead-based paint adheres to the medium-grade sandpaper I'm using. After several minutes of use, the paper becomes clogged and unusable; I'm using 82 sanding belts at an alarming rate. I prefer not to use a stripper or heat gun. What do you suggest?

A. In an excellent book that may answer your question, "Getting the Most Out of Your Abrasive Tools," they mention that tungsten carbide abrasive discs with widely spaced grains are good for removing old paint. In any case, use a coarse — not medium — grit.

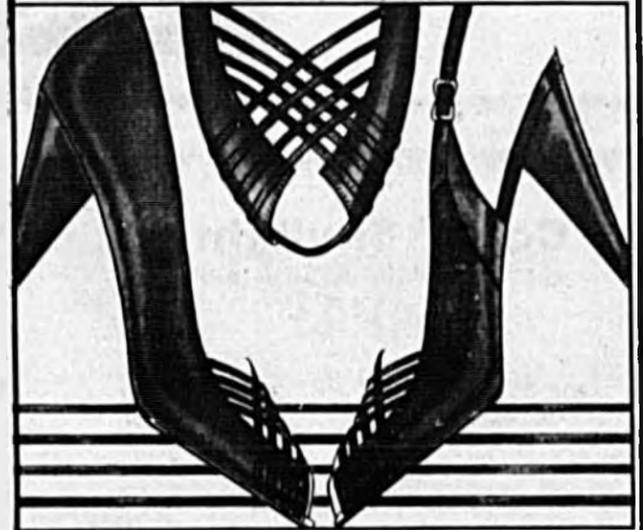

One company makes a portable paint remover which, in essence, is a disc sander with special guides to keep the discs from gouging the work. According to a company spokesman, belts that accumulate sawdust may be restored by scrubbing with a brush in luke-warm water and laundry soap. Use a stiff brush to work the dust from between the grains, then use a cloth to mop off the excess moisture. Place the sandpaper back on the machine to dry.

To remove accumulations of pitch, which is similar to your paint problem, the company suggests: Rub the abrasive with turpentine. Use a circular motion, then stroke the abrasive in one direction to remove dust and turpentine. Quickly air-dry the abrasive paper before the solvent penetrates the backing."

Personally, I would never subject my belt sander to the heat and motor strain of sanding paint.

Don't Sell Rooms Short

Make Ceilings, Wall Tops Part Of The Room

If you have a room whose decor just doesn't click, try this. Stand at the entrance and, keeping a wide perspective, slowly work your gaze from floor to ceiling. You might discover that the problem stems from the "Pyramid Principle" of interior decoration: the higher you go, the less there is.

The law of gravity dictates that functional furnishings be located at our level. But there's no earthly reason why the upper reaches of a room can't be used for decoration. In times past, an attractive room wasn't considered complete without embellishment on the ceiling and tops of walls. Today's interior decorators — both professional and do-it-yourself — are once again stressing these surface areas in the room scheme of things.

The ceiling can make or break a room. A beautiful decor with a drab ceiling is like a shiny Rolls Royce with a tattered convertible top. Yet when fix-up or fancy-up time comes, the ceiling often winds up in the "Can Wait Till Later" column of things to do.

This is probably a throwback to the time when ceiling materials that yielded a nice decorative effect were troublesome to apply (plaster, wallpaper, etc.), while those that were easy to install were style ciphers (plain white acoustical tiles, for instance).

Times have changed, though. Nowadays acoustical tiles (12"x12") and lay-in panels (2'x4') come in all manner of designs. Some bear uncanny resemblance to sculptured plaster; others to inlaid wood parquet; still others have a rich, deeply textured surface. Whatever the room motif, there's an acoustical ceiling pattern to match.

Made of lightweight mineral fiber or wood fiber, these squares or planks (oblong tiles) are easy for the do-it-yourselfer to put up. The tiles are either cemented, stapled or more easily clipped to the old ceiling; the panels are inserted in a grid hung from above by wires. The savings on installation labor can be applied to the 40¢-90¢ a square foot cost of the material.

Once the ceiling is shipshape, it can be shown off — "accessorized" much as a lovely occasional table is accented with a fine figurine or vase of flowers.

Ceiling beams are an excellent way to do this and give the entire room a cozy, casual aura at the same time. They needn't be heavy, rafter-like members requiring massive structural support. Natural-looking, fake ceiling beams can be made by wrapping a single 2x4 (or 4x4 or two 2x4s for a double-thickness effect) in self-sticking, wood-grain vinyl sheeting. This paper can be bought in home centers and wallpaper stores.

The beams are especially easy to attach to a suspended ceiling by screwing them to the main runners of the system. A washer overlaps the runner's flange and anchors the beam. The grid isn't marred or altered in any way, and the lightweight beams can be removed easily as they are put up.

Ceiling chandeliers, pendant lamps and old-fashioned wooden-blade fans provide similar overhead focal points in a room, as do plants hung from the ceiling or upper walls. The shadows and silhouettes they create add a good deal of charm to a room and help soften the starkness of some modern decors.

The wall frieze — an ornamental band across the top of the wall — is a classic decorative treatment which has come back into vogue. The ancient Greeks carved them in the temples; the Victorians stenciled them around their drawing rooms. Today, adhesive vinyl paper and glued fabric do nicely (and are easier to remove).

The frieze can be used either to complement or to contrast with the ceiling or wallpaper patterns. The balance and symmetry, line and form imparted by a wall frieze can divert attention from any irregularities in a room's layout.

Tall furnishings such as etageres, china closets and bookshelves also generate topside interest. Lining their top compartments with baskets of dried flowers, bottles of spices, silver trays and similar items will catch the eye and make its upward journey pleasurable.

The Joy Of Gardening

A New Gardening Series

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The 1984 Joy of Gardening television series has gone to a magazine format, with special cooking segments featuring author Janet Ballantyne.

Host David Schaefer says special emphasis is given to gardening in small spaces.

The half-hour, 26-week commercial TV series began airing nationwide in January.

Schaefer also says a new division, Garden Way Broadcasting, has been formed to produce enough material to keep the show on the air year round. Shooting of a new series is scheduled this spring.

A cookbook based on the show is scheduled for May publication.

In addition to Schaefer and Ballantyne, the new series features Mark Hebert as an on-camera gardener, along with gardener-author Dick Raymond, star of the original series and author of a monthly question-and-answer column for UPI.

Here're Some Seed-Shopping Tips

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — A savvy garden seed shopper orders early and keeps a record of the order in case of errors, says horticulturist Deborah Brown.

The University of Minnesota's Agricultural Extension Service expert also recommends buying from reputable firms whose names and service policies are familiar to you, and being wary of fantastic claims, such as promises of miracle growth or unbelievably low prices.

Read catalog descriptions carefully before ordering, she said. Be sure you understand the merchant's guarantee policy, in case you need to take advantage of it.

Also, follow the mail order company's directions for filling out its order form — include item numbers, price per item, shipping charges, any applicable taxes and your name and address.

If you will not accept substitutes, be sure to say so on your order form.

Interested In A Visit To Biblical Gardens?

NEW YORK (UPI) — A small garden on the grounds of the world's largest cathedral contains only plants mentioned in the bible. About 70 different varieties are planted, some of which vary from year to year.

The 10-year-old Biblical Garden of The Cathedral of St. John the Divine is open to the public year round, from sunrise to sunset. Special guided tours are available during June, July and August. For days and times of the 1984 tours, telephone (212) 222-7200 after May 1.

Decorating Aids, Energy Savers

Mini Blinds: Maximum Appeal But Only A Minimal Expense

"There's always room for improvement" ... if you can afford it.

Many people would agree, especially about their homes. But, major home improvements can be expensive and time consuming. A better idea is a major home improvement at minor expense.

A good place to start, says the U.S. Venetian Blind Association, is with your windows. Bring focus to them with mini blinds — modern versions of traditional venetian blinds.

Work Everywhere
Appropriate for any decorating scheme, mini blinds can be customized to fit almost any shape or size window and come in over 100 decorator colors. They are a sleek, sophisticated way to improve a room's appearance and atmosphere. They can blend harmoniously with the room's decor, or provide the vivid contrast some homeowners enjoy.

Mini blinds are easy to install, operate and clean. Just a flick of the wrist opens the narrow slats to let in light, or closes them for privacy.

Mini blinds are also versatile. They can be used as room dividers to separate a laundry from the kitchen; a dining area from the living room; or a study area from the sleeping area. This is an inexpensive attractive way to utilize space more effectively.

In addition to their utility as decorating aids, mini blinds can save energy. They prevent drafts from entering in winter and shield a room from hot summer sun.

Booklet Available

For more information, send 50 cents to the U.S. Venetian Blind Association, 355 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017, for a copy of the booklet, "Thoroughly Modern Minis."

Here's a way to turn a mundane, antiseptic kitchen into a stylish, attractive one. Mini blinds can add focus and visual interest by giving the kitchen added dimension. Mini blinds are simple to operate and come in more than 100 decorator colors.

Keeping Plants Alive When Drought Strikes

By Beth McCorkle
 PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Home gardeners can keep their plants going through periods of drought without putting a water hose to them.

"There are certain things you can do that will save your plant when the drought's over," says Steve Priebe, superintendent of Arizona's Desert Botanical Garden in Phoenix.

"If a drought is expected, 'hardening off' or weaning your plant off of water works pretty well."

This is accomplished by decreasing the amount of water the plant receives over several weeks until the water equals the amount expected to be available during the drought.

"Of course, the plant will lose some of its foliage when you harden it off," Priebe said.

a plant also helps it prepare for a drought.

A primary aim is achieving a state of dormancy.

"Hold back on the fertilizer," Priebe said. If a plant is fertilized when water is scarce, it doesn't go dormant, it dies.

He said several plants in desert climates are semi-dormant, especially during summer months when temperatures can exceed 120 degrees.

To protect plants from the evaporative effects of the sun, Priebe recommends a shade cloth of fine mesh nylon. He said this can block as much as 60 percent of the sun's rays.

Other techniques to minimize evaporation include mulching the surface of the soil around the plant.

"It can be straw, wood chips, sawdust and even plastic," Priebe said. "Plastic also is a good weed deterrent because it cuts out all of the sunlight. You want to reduce the competition for water, so you need to keep weeds under control."

He said plants in a vegetable garden should be thinned as much as possible for the same reason, although thinning also allows root systems to expand to reach more water.

"Desert plants have far more extensive rooting systems than Midwest plants," Priebe said. "A mesquite tree, for example, may have roots that extend for 200 feet."

Mesquite trees are native to the southwestern deserts of North America and generally achieve a height above the soil of 6 to 10 feet.

Priebe said the best way of getting a healthy root system in any plant is to let the soil dry out completely between waterings.

...Proportion, Scale Make Things In A Room Look Right

size. Also, all of the furnishings should be in scale with the dimensions of the room. Many small objects will appear lost in a large room, and a baby grand piano in a small room will occupy too much space and dwarf everything else.

You can find the right scale by starting with some of the most important elements you want in a room or with your givens — such as a sofa, two club chairs or built-in bookshelves. Then add from there. Choose a lamp the right size for an end table. Use a coffee table that is close in scale to the sofa it fronts.

Rules of scale also apply to wallcoverings and floor coverings and to window treatments. Choose window treatments, for instance, that are in scale for the windows they are covering. A tiny window will look mismatched with elaborate formal draperies. Instead, you could use cafe curtains or shades. Big stretches of glass in a contemporary house will look wrong if paired with fancy balloon shades. Instead, leave windows bare or use vertical blinds.

Remember that, in working with scale, you can play up or down the dimensions of a room. Plain white ceramic tiles can make a space seem larger as does solid colored wall-to-wall carpeting. Heavily patterned area rugs, however, bring in the walls of a room as do dark wood panelled walls and large, busy wallcoverings.

Balance gives a feeling of permanence to a room, so that objects and furnishings look like they firmly belong where they are. There are two primary ways to achieve a balanced look.

With formal balance, there is symmetry. But, if not handled correctly, formal balance can appear stale and static.

In informal balance, movement is inherent in the design because one side of the room or grouping does not mirror the other. Equilibrium is achieved in this type of balance by using visual weight of an object.

what is THATCH?

One lawn expert labeled it: "The accumulation of a dense mat of undecomposed roots, stems and grass clippings between the soil surface and the visible green vegetation." He went on to say that this mat often was several inches thick. Yet this build-up can easily go unnoticed.

With a severe thatch build-up, fertilizers could not penetrate and do their job. Water could not easily be absorbed into the soil. Thatch also creates a breeding ground for insects that destroy the lawn, as well as offering an excellent place for fungus to reproduce.

Fertilizer manufacturers found that for the best results, thatch must be removed prior to application.

HOW CAN WE GET RID OF IT?

Using a hand rake is not only back-breaking work, but impossible from a time and labor standpoint, and the result is disappointing. This is why the "Thatch" Lawn Comber was developed. A compact yet tugged machine with sufficient power to remove virtually all the thatch in a lawn with one pass. Nothing can match the performance, thoroughness and dependability of the Lawn Comber.

Books: Working With Wood

By Jack Warner

ATLANTA (UPI) — The woodworker looks to his books for inspiration as well as instruction, and it is rare to find both qualities in a single volume.

The literature can roughly be divided into three categories — general instruction, plans and particular instruction, and autobiography-inspiration.

The finest of the inspirational books remain the four volumes by James Krenov — "A Cabinetmaker's Notebook," "The Fine Art of Cabinetmaking," "The Impractical Cabinetmaker" and "Worker in Wood," all from Van Nostrand Reinhold. These books, especially "Fine Art," also contain a fair amount of advanced instruction.

Last fall there appeared a stunning book called "Sam Maloof's Woodworker," published by Kodansha, the Japanese firm that also brought out a few years ago George Nakashima's "The Soul of a Tree."

Maloof's story is the dream, I suppose, of every amateur — the untrained home craftsman who made it big. He works in his own peculiar way, using methods you won't find in any of the how-to books. He has accumulated a large room of bench tools, many of which he appears to use as workbenches. The only workbench shown in the hundreds of photographs in the book looks as though it was rescued from a beaver dam.

The book belongs on the shelf of every serious woodworker.

I can heartily recommend a little book called "The Nature and Art of Workmanship" by the British woodworker and aesthete David Pye, published by Cambridge University Press. Pye looks at all major crafts, not just woodworking, in a modern context.

...Garden Machinery Maintenance

ducts are for grass cutting and there you want your blade to be always sharp and in balance.

"Basically, summer maintenance is just normal good sense and visual checks."

He said the average life of power garden equipment is seven to 10 years, but it is not unusual for good maintenance to extend it to 20 years.

"It's amazing the number of people who keep these things in better shape than their automobiles," he said. "People do trade in powered garden equipment like cars. They have a resale potential close to the new price."

New products are also being designed for comfort, convenience and easy care, such as a lifetime lubrication system.

Frazier's safety tips include:

—Read the owner's manual carefully and refer to it often.

—Pay attention to the safety decals and warnings on the equip-

—Don't operate equipment barefoot. Wear shoes that protect the feet and provide traction in wet grass.

—Wipe spills.

—Don't smoke while handling gasoline.

—Don't let more than one person on a tractor.

—Familiarize yourself with the controls and how to stop equipment quickly.
