Heroic Platoon

of Chunchon they attacked in pre-dawn darkness in estimated regimental strength. The assault raged throughout the day and continued into the night.

"We fired about 300 rounds of 75 mm. shells and about 15,000 rounds of machinegun ammunition at the Chinese," a tank officer told a correspondent.

Tom Lambert, after his forces tried to rescue the lost platoon, "I couldn't begin to estimate how many we killed."

Correspondent Lambert, with the U. S. Third Division, reported the Chinese broke through the outlying mountain barrier onto the plains.

The cut-off Third Division platoon, directed artillery fire into the Red ranks. Communications with the 40 doughboys blocked out shortly after tanks failed to reach them. The platoon men were presumed all dead.

May Samuel G. Kail of Dallas said they still were battling when last heard from a noon Friday.

Lambert said the Red "advance on the hillside" that platoon cut serious threat to Allied forces backed against the sea.

A security blackout shrouded Allied activities elsewhere within the zone.

The U. S. First Marine and Third and Seventh Infantry Divisions and elements of two South Korean Divisions, a few British Commandos and Puerto Rican Commandos, and other units retreated into the beachhead last weekend.

Friday's major attack came after two lighter, probing thrusts were beaten off Thursday.

Reinforcing Chinese still were swarming down the valley.

American artillery and planes pounded at the Red forces.

The Chinese warned up for battle in a drumbeating, bugle-blowing and singing mass rally at 100, a town six miles north of Chunchon.

Truman Speech

Chairman Gordon Dean said this will be a dual purpose project "because we do not know as to the feasibility of the H-bomb project."

The South Carolina plant has been reported designed to produce fuel for the hydrogen bomb.

As for the Kentucky plant, Rep. Gregory (D-Ky.) said last night work will start as soon as Congress votes the money.

To direct industrial mobilization, the government called in Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Co., who said he will accept.

Wilson will head a new central agency.

Although most speculation was that wage-price controls would be imposed on a gradual basis, Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, senior Republican on the House Banking and Senate-House Economic Committee, said there is talk in administration circles of a price-wage freeze.

"The difficulty there would be enforcing it," he said.

Chairman Taft (Ohio) of the Senate GOP Policy Committee called for a presidential announcement of overall manpower and production on the city said Red evidence of Red intentions to wage an air war.

The latest was a daylight 250-ton jet over Namsi, about 20 miles southeast of Sinju in extreme northwest Korea. One enemy plane was reported hit. No U. S. planes were damaged.

Twenty-four Red jets had flashed into battle Thursday. The action was described by an Air Force spokesman in Washington as the beginning of "an all-out air war."

American B-29s dived through a winter fog Thursday to blast Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital. It was the second raid in two days on the city, said Red.

The bombers also rained 500-pound bombs on railroad marshalling yards at Chongju, Sonchon and Sinanju north of the Red capital.

Allied fighters and night-flying light bombers sought Red troops, but a Far East air forces spokesman said the Communists were becoming more cautious.

Only 375 Reds were reported killed or wounded in contrast to more than a thousand each day for two weeks previously.

U. S. planes destroyed or damaged 11 tanks, 50 vehicles, 40 railroad cars, five bridges and 100 buildings sheltering Red troops.

The Chinese hit first last night and apparently hoped to make a breakthrough in the night hours. However, the heroic platoon failed to break through.

AP correspondent William Waugh said the artillery supported Red attacks were checked.

Elsewhere, the northwest front was comparatively quiet.

General Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army Commander, was keeping mum about the enemy's movements. However, Red patches continued to appear in the center of the peninsula above Parallels 35.

In the north another daylight battle between H-bomb units, fighter jets and four American F-80 Shooting Stars was further flat.

"We cannot save our freedom and also keep our personal comforts and luxuries," Dewey said. "Let us remember that, even though we will have more than any other people in the world."

"The only effective way to deal with inflation is to finance our rearmament program on a pay-you-go basis. Government services—federal, state and local—must be cut in the bone," he said.

"Industry and labor must avoid increasing costs," he said. "Corporation profits must be taxed heavily. An excess profits tax should impose any profits in excess of 10 percent arising out of the defense effort."

"Individual income taxes must be raised up and down the line, remember that the larger incomes and in this connection we must already be raising them up to 91 percent."

"Disagreeable as it may be, the spending power of America is not in the hands of a few rich people but in the hands of all of us."

Dewey advocated an excise tax on luxuries, a crackdown on credit expansion, and added: "But we cannot and must not borrow the savings of our people as we did in the last world war and then pay them back in 57-cent dollars. Inflation must be stopped now and stopped hard."

His proposal, Dewey said, far exceeded "anything they have in mind in Washington."

Anna Rosenberg Is Cleared Of Charge Of Red Sympathies

By EDWIN B. HARRISSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—A 13 to 0 vote the Senate Armed Services Committee decided yesterday that Communist charges against Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg were "completely without foundation."

This cleared the way for Senate confirmation, probably next week, of the New York woman's appointment as Assistant Secretary of Defense.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), acting chairman of the committee, said "exhaustive investigations" had produced no proof that Mrs. Rosenberg ever attended Communist meetings.

These probes, Russell said, included one by the FBI into charges of Ralph DeSola, admitted former Communist, that he had seen Mrs. Rosenberg at meetings of a Communist club in New York 15 years ago.

Mrs. Rosenberg denied this. She said another Anna Rosenberg had been cited by the House Un-American Activities Committee as belonging to the club. Other witnesses on whom DeSola relied to back him up contradicted him instead.

Then Benjamin Freedman, retired New York businessman who said he referred the senators to DeSola, was reported to have offered $10,000 to help clear her by advertising for the "other woman" to identify herself.

Russell said Freedman had informed the committee by telephone yesterday that he was "completely disgusted" with the case and had turned up his files and "flushed them down the toilet."

The New York World-Telegram and Sun quoted Freedman as appealing to the other Anna Rosenberg: "In please come forward and clear Mrs. Rosenberg. Otherwise this terrible charge will be hanging over her head."

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said he believed the charge was an effort by "some anti-Semitic forces in America to smear Anna Rosenberg." Other senators have proposed perjury charges against some of the witnesses.

Mrs. Rosenberg, 40 and a native of Budapest, Hungary, thanked the committee for working "day and night to see that justice was done." She explained there were more than 40 other Anna Rosenbergs in New York City.

Investigators for the House Un-American Activities Committee said several Anna Rosenbergs are listed in their files but none of them is the woman defense official.

recommended a boost in funds for the Selective Service system.

By departments, the new defense funds were allotted this way: Army, $9,211,799,000, including $274,000 for the Alaska Communication Commission.

Navy, $2,979,371,000; this includes the Marine Corps. Air Force, $1,693,011,000.

The committee said it had been unable to give the most careful scrutiny to the defense requests but approved them with the faith that military leaders will exercise the maximum economy consistent with safety.

Resignation

Several meetings but never could agree on a resolution.

Chairman Millikin (Colo.) was reported to be opposed to language as strong as that proposed by Ives.

The upshot was the full policy committee's decision to submit the whole matter to a caucus of all Republican Senators this afternoon.

Tuberculosis May Be Transmitted By Bad Dishwashing

Inefficient methods of dishwashing in public eating places may result in the transmission of such diseases as tuberculosis, septic sore throat, diphtheria, trench mouth and food poisoning, Dr. Frank Quillman, director of the Seminole County Health Unit, warned in his recent monthly bulletin, "The Seminole Chief."

Bacteriological examination of food utensils, more commonly known as the swab test, is a method of determining the efficiency of dishwashing and bactericidal treatments, he pointed out.

He stated also that the State Board of Health has adopted several accepted methods of sanitizing eating utensils in public places. All establishments serving the public are requested to use a recommended method as they have been proven to be effective.

In making a test, a restaurant is visited without prior notice to the operator. A number of utensils are picked at random from the storage shelf, swabbed with a buffer solution and delivered within a short time to the laboratory. From the laboratory reports it can be determined if the utensils were properly sanitized.

Due to the fact that these tests must be examined shortly after collection, Dr. Quillman pointed out, the local unit has been unable to enter into this program until recently. The State Board of Health, however, has opened a branch laboratory in Orlando, and the swab test is now used here in the restaurant sanitation program.

Out of 48 tests made recently in school lunch rooms, 42 were satisfactory and six were not. Plates, silverware and glasses were tested.

After discussing the methods of sanitizing the utensils that were in use, and pointing out the errors, he gave the tests to be satisfactory on retesting, he wrote.

We will work with these until all are showing good results, he added. Then we plan to go on to other places and in time cover all eating places in the county in an effort to assure the "eating-out-public" of safe cooking and eating utensils.

States Who Lose

gain seven House seats, Florida, Texas, Washington and Virginia one each. On the other hand, Pennsylvania is due to lose three seats, New York, Oklahoma and Missouri two each and Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee one each.

The present plan is more or less automatic, Willis said. Under the law the President must submit to Congress by Jan. 10 figures showing how many representatives each is entitled to have under the 1950 census. This becomes effective unless Congress takes some alternate action.

Willis said it is certain that some states, particularly those losing membership, will at least inquire about the possibility of hiking the House total. With this in mind, he said, the committee already has looked into this matter.

The situation, he said, is that if the House membership were increased from 435 to 450 seats, eight of the nine losing states would retain one of the seats they otherwise would lose. But to take care of the ninth loser—Arkansas—it would be necessary to hike the House total to 509. This, he pointed out, would add one or more seats to all other state delegations.

The matter of redistricting the states to take care of the increased or decreased delegations is left up to the states.

However, the federal law provides that if a state gains one or more seats fails to redistrict, then the additional one or more representatives must be elected at large in the state.

On the other hand if a state loses a seat and fails to redistrict, all the remaining seats must be filled in statewide elections.

As an instance of the "serious political implications" involved in failure of a state to act, Willis cited what possibly could happen in a big state such as New York or Pennsylvania. If all the representatives had to make statewide races, he said, it might be possible for one party to sweep all the seats and wipe out the other party. This, in turn, could affect control of Congress. The decision rests with the state legislatures, Willis said.

He noted that Louisiana is not affected by the expected reapportionment but will retain the eight seats it now has.

Three Accidents

Sedan, the driver of which ignored the stop sign while traveling west on Ninth Street, said Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

No one was injured in the collision, but damage to Miss Pratt's 1950 Chevrolet Sedan was estimated at $150. Mack Henry Boatwright, driver of the Dodge, is charged with careless and negligent driving.

Miss Pratt explained that she was on her way to Orlando to visit her mother, Capt. Roy Tillis saw it that she got to the bus station, and aided in unloading suitcase. She was informed that she could not take her small dog on the bus. Captain Tillis solved that problem by finding a temporary home for the pooch at Dr. Raymond Bass's dog hospital.

The commission will discuss Seminole County's road building and repair program for 1951 and close out unfinished business of 1950, said Mr. Herndon.

On Sunday night, Dec. 17, the choir of the Community Methodist Church, presented a Christmas cantata. The presentation, directed by Mrs. Francis MacDowell, was "The Holy Child". This was a Christmas service in story and song, with narrative by Juanita Roseman. Featured soloists were Mrs. Arlene Shaw, soprano, Mrs. Ruth Weaver, contralto, Mrs. Christine Rising, soprano, and Jules Fei, baritone. The narration was by Mrs. C. Howard Taylor, wife of the Pastor.

The annual Christmas party of the church will be held in the church Thursday night, Dec. 21. All children of the community are especially invited to participate. A program of recitations and music is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. Hart Fuller and is expected to be of interest to grownups as well as children.

many credited combined naval and ground force bombardment with breaking up a pre-dawn assault against positions in the west of Hungnam—evidently an attack intended in great force.

However, U. S. Third Infantry Division doughboys rose from their snowy foxholes along the seashore flats to repel charges by wildly-shouting Chinese in company strength Sunday night. Field dispatches said the Chinese screamed "all right, all right." As they attacked by the light of their own green and red flares, the shouts were in high-pitched, sing-song English.

And the riflemen mowed them down. There was a lull in the fighting after daybreak. A 10th Corps spokesman said about 900 Reds were killed Sunday by Marine and Navy air strikes and naval poundings within a 60-mile radius of Hungnam. Far East Air Forces (FEAF) warplanes smashed at Red bases and communications throughout North Korea. By midday, Fifth Air Force pilots reported more than 300 Red troops killed or wounded. Fighter planes strafed and fire-bombed 11 towns.

B-29 superforts, grounded by snowstorms Saturday, hit two major Red communications centers Sunday, Wonsan on the east coast and Chinnampo on the west coast. B-26 light bombers blasted three trains in the Kuma area of northwest Korea Sunday. In all of Sunday's operations, the FEAF reported destroying or damaging nearly 500 buildings, 50 railroad cars, 10 locomotives, two bridges, four tanks, 17 gun positions and 70 vehicles.

But the day's most spectacular aerial action was the first combat test of America's fastest jet fighter. An F-86 Sabre flown by Lt. Col. Bruce H. Hinton of Stockton, Calif., sent a Russian-built MIG-15 spinning to earth in flames near Sinuiju, on extreme northwest Korea. The F-86 was one of a flight of four. The new jets arrived in Korea Friday and flew their first mission on that day without meeting any Red fighters. The Sabre holds the official world speed record of 670.981 miles an hour.

Poles Send British Air Attache To Jail

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 18.—Capt. Claude H. Turner, 44, former British air attache here, was sentenced today to 18 months in jail on a charge for persuading a Polish girl to attempt to leave this country illegally.

in event Mr. Truman does nominate him for the post. The NAACP described Caldwell as "the chief architect of a program of segregation in higher education court decisions."

Under both the House and Senate bills, the Civilian Defense Administrator would have sweeping powers to train civil defense workers, coordinate federal and state defense activities, and work with the states in building bomb shelters and fixing defense procedures in event of attack.

The government would be authorized to match state funds on a 50-50 basis for construction of public bomb shelters.

The House bill contains a ban on the federal contribution to liquidating projects which might be used as bomb shelters.

Rep. Haverner (D-Calif.) urged the committee to include some formula by which cities like San Francisco could get federal money assistance for making local projects useful as bomb shelters.

Rep. Vinson and other committee members said that cities could get the money for the first time through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for loans on sound business ventures which would pay out in 50 years.

Senator McClellan (D-Tenn.) said the Senate bill provides for security investigations of key employees of the Civil Defense Administration.

Meanwhile, veteran Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) chided Republicans today for their attacks on Secretary of State Acheson and called for national unity behind President Truman.

McKellar, who will be 82 years old in January, told the Senate that never in his nearly 40 years in Congress had he seen Americans working at such cross purposes and so critical of one another as they are today.

With obvious reference to Republican demands that Secretary of State Acheson be fired, McKellar reminded his colleagues they had confirmed Acheson's appointment. The Senate must approve all Cabinet appointments.

"We cannot change our government overnight—we cannot change our officials overnight," McKellar said.

Police Search

junior high school teacher and mother of two small children, was killed by a bullet fired through closed venetian blinds of a kitchen while she was washing dishes.

Police said the killer apparently fired from a terrace across the street from the house since the bullet entered the window, 12 feet above the ground, on a level plane.

The said man must have been dim shadows moving about behind the Venetian blinds.

Last night, the dimly lighted Oak Lane area on the northwestern edge of the city, was a deserted region.

Residents of the modest, middle-class neighborhood, stayed inside while 130 policemen and 50 auxiliaries patrolled the streets. At least one policeman was assigned to each block of the area.

Few persons answered knocks on the door or ringing of the doorbell.

Mrs. Ann Fine, who answered the doorbell after repeated rings, said "certainly we are afraid to come to the door. A person is in and in he's own home. My husband and I are not leaving our home unless we must."

Louis Davidoff, who also planned to stay close to home, said "I believe parents in the neighborhood should take their children indoors at night."

Mayor Bernard Samuel directed Samuel Rosenberg, public safety director, to use "every facility at your command" to track down the killer.

And Rosenberg, in ordering nearly 200 police officers to the area, called up the greatest deployment of policemen in an area in this city's history in peacetime.

Police disclosed that shortly before Mrs. Cohen was shot Saturday night, a 17-year-old youth, John Biener, was fired at by a mysterious assailant.

Drone, waiting for a bus with a companion, Rudolph Heller, 18, felt something "whip through" the rear of his topcoat. An examination showed a bullet had ripped through the back of the coat.

The two youths told police they saw a dark coupe speed away in the direction of the house where Mrs. Cohen was shot.

Rosenberg said the description of the car given by Diener and Heller matched reports from some of the other victims of mysterious assaults. A police teletype identified the car as a late model dark-colored car with "slipping back" and "very shiny license plates."

Mrs. Leah Kaufman, mother of the slain Mrs. Cohen, told police she and her daughter were washing the supper dishes shortly before 8 P. M. Saturday when she heard two shots.

"My daughter came screaming and I asked her what was the matter, she said: 'Something burst inside me.'" crippled children by the Shrine, he said that as long as the Shrine keeps that an objective they will have a prosperous organization.

"We of the Christian faith should remember the obligations we have assumed and what it means to be an American citizen," he concluded.

Among the distinguished guests introduced were John Register, Morocco Temple treasurer, Sparks Jones, Emory Turner and their wives, all of Jacksonville, and Vince Seubert and Mrs. Seubert of Orlando.

Retiring Sanford Shrine officers introduced were E. C. Haiper, vice-president, J. F. Tills, second vice-president and William F. Tall, secretary.

Dr. H. Wayne Rucker got a "big hand" for the outstanding program of entertainment that he presented. With Miss Olive Reese White directing, a mixed quartet of the Seminole High School Glee Club sang "Dime Dime Merry" and "Now the Holy Child is Born."

Two talented members of the DuBary School of Dancing, Miss Ann Whitaker, tap dancer and Miss Norma Faye Harvey, were loudly applauded for their routines.

Kenneth Hallinger, robust baritone from Stetson University, was called back for repeated encores for his rendition of "Home on the Range" and "The Desert Song." Miss Ruth Richardson was accompanist.

Dr. William "Bill" Crosby, Jamestown, N. Y. jurist, performed difficult feats with Indian clubs. Harry Kudell played lively piano numbers. Noble Harold Koenig and his committee were complimented for the colorful decorations.

Many wrapped gifts were brought for underprivileged children. Clarence Welsh and A. K. Rosetter had charge of this.

illegitimacy rate and found 19.2 percent of the children illegitimate. Among those receiving state aid, 19 percent of the children were born to unwed mothers.

No immediate action was taken on the board's request for $48,666.250 in state funds for 1951-52.

Smith said he expects increases in the totals of newly blind, aged and dependent children. He wants to increase his staff from its present 950 to 1,050 to handle the extra work and also to reduce the number of welfare recipients for whom each worker is responsible.

His welfare visitors now have about 350 assignments each under their supervision. Smith would like to reduce this total to 325 each.

The commissioner also presented to the Cabinet's information a proposed plan for a program to aid totally and permanently handicapped. The program would call for capped about 4,000 of these in the $2,750,000 in state funds in fiscal funds. Smith said the measure will be submitted to the Legislature.

With the welfare budget as its starting point, the Cabinet has set the limits from 10 agencies, totaling over $80,000,000 to handle today.

Rail Strike

operation on the Birmingham and Southern Railroad which serves U. S. steel mills in the area. Roads still reported affected by work stoppages in Chicago were the Bessemer and Lake Erie; the Elgin Joliet and Eastern; and the Cincinnati and Illinois Midland.

Thirty-one locals and 45 officers of the Brotherhood were summoned to a federal court hearing in Chicago today to show why the union should not be held in contempt of court. The government claims the union showed contempt by ignoring court orders to end the strike.

The post office department threw 12,300 additional workers into the fight to break the mail jam. It said it hopes all Yale packages will be delivered in time despite what appears to be the biggest flood of holiday mail in history.

A two-day embargo had been in effect on packages and other bulk mailing passing through such gateways as St. Louis, Chicago and Washington, where terminals were snarled up by the yardmen's strike.

To handle the crush, the number of post transportation employees has been increased from the normal 24,000 to 37,000, many of them on an overtime basis.

Wyoming Cowboys Planning 19 Days Of Rough Practice

LARAMIE, Wyo., Dec. 18.—Wyoming's Cinderella Cowboys, who pulled themselves from nowhere to national football prominence by their own boot straps, pack their dreams today and lead south.

A late New Year's day in the Gator Bowl with Washington and Lee's Generals is at the end of the trail. And the trail will be well-traveled before them.

Thirty-four players, six of their wives, three coaches and seven others are in the group leaving today. Six other players are making the trip by automobile. Other coaches and university officials will motor down later.

And a special train will zig-zag across the state picking up fans, students and the University band in time to reach Jacksonville for the game they hope will put Wyoming right up in the big time.

To do it, the Cowboys face 10 days of the rough, tough practice that helped make them undefeated champions of the Skyline Conference and make Coach Bowden Wyatt conference coach of the year.

Wyatt, schooled in the hard-slacking Tennessee style of play, was imported four years ago to do something about a Wyoming football record as disheartening as any in the land. Two years didn't produce any effects in the games won column but last year Wyoming won its first league title.

Everything in the book, and a few improvisations, were used in vain attempts to halt the Cowboys this year. So Wyatt departed a bit from his power-driving single-wing system. The result—the cowboys became as effective through the air as along the ground. Meanwhile, Wyoming was rolling up the best defensive statistical record in the nation.

Wyatt is perturbed about the condition of his men. They've had only light workouts and tumor drills, sandwiched around final exams, since the week after Thanksgiving.

Hate Can Kill You

If you want to live to a ripe old age, you'll avoid having temper tantrums or letting off steam by "blowing up." Contrary to common opinion, you don't get anger out of your system that way; instead you pour strong poison into your body.

According to an article in a recent issue of Pageant magazine entitled "Hate Can Kill You," here's what happens to the intricate machine of your body when you get angry. The blood vessels contract violently. Blood leaves your skin and is pumped hard into the muscles where Nature says it is most needed.

Strong chemicals pour into your blood stream and are rushed into your stomach heart and intestines. Your stomach contracts faster than it should and secretes more juice than it should. Your blood pressure goes up and pushes hard on the vessel walls.

Doctors have known for a long time that emotion can affect the various processes of your body. The Pageant article points out that more than 30 years ago Dr. Walter B. Cannon observed that a person's temperature could be made to rise as much as 2.5 degrees just by making him think about his emotional troubles.

Hitler came within an ace of conquering Russia. This is the view of the British military critic, B. H. Liddell Hart, who has had a number of talks with captured German generals. They held the view that the German drives failed by a very narrow margin...

When the war began to turn against Germany, Hitler made it worse by his refusal to authorize any retreat, even if it would have strengthened the Nazi line. The saying was that battalion commanders were afraid to move a sentry from the window to the door...

The educational program carried out in that prison is based on the theory that an educated man should know that crime does not pay. More than two thousand convicts are enrolled in San Quentin's schools, which furnish instruction at all levels.

Sanford Forum

Dear Sir, This crisis in Korea grows more grim daily, and a time when the President should be cool and balanced, he displays a most childlike disposition, typical of the Truman tradition...

The Democratic party in itself may be all right as well as many of the people. It is the "mess deal" fair deal" Democratic party of today whose concepts I find so thoroughly abominable. They have at last admitted that a "mistake" has been made in our foreign policy in Korea...

I believe as do many of our newspapers, that we should let the Asians fight their own war as well as the rest of the European countries. We should not get involved in their wars. It's time the taxpayer became weary of fighting wars for other countries, then rebuilding them and feeding them.

It's also appalling to me that in these grave times we are under the leadership of a president who is apparently more concerned over criticism of his daughter than the welfare of the country. The other day one of our service men overseas wrote to me, "I wish you would tell the people back home that it certainly made a bit with the boys over here to know that while they are fighting and dying and in headlong retreat before the Reds in Korea that the President was enjoying the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia..."

But all this does not make the loss of American boys any more palatable. We should aim to win the war, not to lose it. We should aim to win the war, not to lose it. We should aim to win the war, not to lose it.

I agree with many politicians who say that now the damage is done and there is little use of bitter recriminations. I have heard of petitions being circulated in Orlando calling for the resignation of our secretary of state and impeachment of our president. They're excellent ideas and I would be delighted to sign them, but I seriously doubt that they will be of any effect.

I certainly hope that I have explained my position to the satisfaction of Mrs. Carroll. She may keep a bitter memory of Hoover's depression but I'd like to tell her that I would rather eat crusts of bread in a depression and have my husband and the other American men home than to eat steak at the cost of some young man being killed or maimed for life.

Air Force Plan

Continued from Page One In River, beyond which lie the air bases and assembling points for the masses of Chinese and United Nations ground forces. Under questioning, Vandenberg said the Yalu boundary was made inviolate by decision of the United Nations.

But "if we are now talking about Europe, where there are no borders that we cannot cross," the situation is quite different, he said. And here Vandenberg diplomatically referred to "X nation" as the aggressor. He continued: "The reason the Air Force does not believe that the war can be won solely by the Navy or solely by the Air Force or solely by the Army is this:

"Let us take, for example X country which has overwhelming ground forces. We do not put the ground forces in the field, but we put in a tremendous strategic Air Force. Let us take X country that is relatively poor in its manufacturing capacity. Let us suppose that this movement (by X's ground forces) into a defense line is such that a smaller number of ground forces are going to oppose this great mass of X army. The reason we want a number of ground forces opposing this great mass of X army is to force them, before they can overrun the attacked country, to expend their gasoline, their food, their ammunition."

"The Air Force is not able to have them replaced by X country whose industry has been knocked out (by strategic air attacks), retaining the advantage in that point that X army runs out of these essentials before it can superimpose itself on the industry of the captured country."

"That is the theory of the air-ground-naval team. You put the blockade (naval) in. The Army goes in and causes them to expend these stockpiles and the Air Force knocks out the industrial potential of X country to supply these armies."

"Now, these over-enthusiastic Air people who say the air can do it alone, have ignored that factor."

Another rather general complaint had to do with the deplorable conditions of rest rooms. Far too many are dirty and ill-kept and the courtesans and urged that some sort of a campaign be inaugurated to bring a general clean up.

It was gratifying to learn that praise of the Florida Highway Patrol was practically unanimous. Returning tourists told of help they had received from friendly, courteous patrolmen who provided them with information, assisted in changing a tire or performed some other service that was much appreciated.

On the other hand, there were a number of complaints of treatment received at the hands of

Too Late To Classify

Not long ago I enjoyed the privilege of meeting and talking to a group of travel counselors who were brought to Florida by local motor clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

It was a first trip to this state for many in the party and they were thrilled and enthused. Traveling with them by bus, on the invitation of my good friends Marvin Holloway and Fred Orr of the Tampa Motor Club, I had an opportunity to really get acquainted and, in talking with these folks who make a business of contacting the traveling public, I got some very interesting reactions.

I was not only interested in learning what these counselors themselves thought of Florida, but I questioned them as to what the traveling public had to say about Florida. I asked them what they thought of Florida and what they thought of Florida and what they thought of Florida.

A question frequently asked of travel counselors is "Where do I find comfortable accommodations at modest cost?" It seems that there are a great many folks of limited means who want to spend the winter in Florida but their pension or small income does not permit them to pay $4 or $5 for a tourist cabin or $6 to $10 a night for a hotel room.

Chambers of commerce in our smaller communities where modest accommodations, rooms, cabins or small apartments are available would do well to list such accommodations and supply this information to the various travel agencies. A little folder or pamphlet listing such accommodations and giving prices of meals at local eating establishments would be most welcome, and travel counselors would appreciate having this information, provided it is authentic and dependable.

All agreed that the outlook for Florida travel this season is excellent and felt that in spite of the international situation travel will be heavy unless rigid controls and gas rationing are applied.

B. B. Crumleys Honor Miss Betty Jo Brock

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Crumley honored Miss Betty Jo Brock and her fiance, Gerald Lassing, with a buffet supper Friday night at their home on Silver Lake.

The buffet was centered with a small Christmas tree, made of crocheted branches sprinkled with small gold stars. The guests were served and ate at individual card tables in the living room. Each place was marked with favors of candy Christmas wreaths tied with a red ribbon. A large lighted Christmas tree stood in one corner of the room, and on the table was a beautiful arrangement of intermingled red and silver berries.

After dinner, the waltzes, crocheted, canasta, and other games. Prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker, and Bill Shoemaker.

Miss Brock was presented with a Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book, and Mr. Lassing was given a utility hammer and screw set.

Those present were Mrs. Nancy Brock, Mrs. Ralph Lassing, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raborn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker, Miss Brock, Miss Dillon Baker, Miss Daphne Connelly, Miss Margaret Dingfelder, Mr. Lassing, Bob Crumley, Malcolm MacNeill, and Bill Shoemaker.

Miss Betty Jo Brock Is Guest Of Honor

Honoring Miss Betty Jo Brock, Mrs. Hugh Wiechel and Mrs. W. G. Fleming entertained with a coffee Friday afternoon at the Wheelchair home on Magnolia Avenue.

Miss Catherine Clark poured coffee from a lovely silver service on the dining room table, and the guests were served dainty sandwiches, party mints, and small assorted cakes and cookies. The beautifully appointed table was centered with an unusual arrangement of white candelabras on both sides of which were placed white tapers in silver candleholders. The living room was appropriately decorated for the Christmas season.

Miss Brock was presented with a dinner plate in her chosen pattern of china as a gift from her hostesses.

FARM BUREAU MEET

The Lamplighter

The latest best seller—it will be read! Many Americans feel that they should be up to date, and so discourse on the latest, the newest, the most widely discussed books. If they don't, they are apt to feel they have missed something others have not. Yet the chance of it is that these readers, in their avidity to be contemporary, may have missed some piece of literature from another decade or even century which far outshines their present conquest. And they are unaware of this.

We can imagine a conversation in one of America's little "cup o' date" book clubs. Someone in 1950 says, "Why I've just read Lewis' 'Main Street'." Would probably receive looks ranging in tone from blank astonishment to blue in the face. But he who finished "Main Street" would have read a book probably as important as any by an American author.

"Bring up to date." This attitude tends to enslave us for we carry it to extremes. We might have a revealing feeling of being snubbed or not being thought very bright if we cannot reel off the name of the latest book by the author in current vogue. We pay for our superiority, however.

In the world of books, there is an essential. The important thing is that we read something worth while that will give us something new and lend a form to some of our even unsharpened, undeveloped ideas. However, we must not think, as many obviously do, that today's book is the best. Quite the contrary, for people will be reading Habbitt long after "Captain from Castile" is dead and buried. We're simply saying that we must not go contemporary crazy in books.

Simclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser, Scott Fitzgerald, Sherwood Anderson are worthy names to many but little readers who identify with each something stereotyped. But they do not trouble themselves to read them, for something current is attracting their energies. Look over the "Main Streets" and "Great Gatsby" in any library. You'll see that they haven't taken a trip to anybody's house in quite a while.

It's easy to become little card indexes on which is printed that which is supposed to be important because so and so says so. Don't underestimate me. Much of it is And much of it is trash with a big dollar sign written on it. Let's do a little rediscovering and stop cheating ourselves. Nothing is

Tourist Club Plans Christmas Party

More than 10 members of the Sanford Tourist Club enjoyed a program of games at the Tourist Center Saturday night.

Home made cakes and coffee were served by a committee that included Mrs. William McCarthy of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. J. R. Jones, former resident of Philadelphia, Pa., Mrs. John Reynolds and Mrs. Horace Campbell of Deatur, Ill.

The committee secured a large Christmas tree Friday and decorated it. On Saturday night a covered dish supper and a Christmas party was planned. On Christmas day open house will be held at 4:00 P. M.

Among the new arrivals are Mrs. Margaret Clark and John Turnbull of Boston, Mass., George Mattar and daughter, Mrs. Julia Mattar of Bridgeport, Conn., and Mrs. William Gooding is here from Boston, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Southall are visitors from Woodstock, Conn.

A low-cost menu for lunch 1- one that includes tomato juice, stuffed egg salad, hot biscuits and inn and milk. Mothers, as well as the youngsters in the family, should have a glass of milk at noon.

If you don't want lunch to stick to your iron when wearing clothes, dampen starched clothes carefully so they are not too wet.

Shirley Temple Weds Rich Charles Black

DEL MONTE, Calif., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Actress Shirley Temple and Charles Black, son of a prominent San Francisco family, are eloping honeymooners.

They left after their marriage Saturday at the Monterey peninsula home of Black's parents, and have not been reported since.

Black's mother, Mrs. James H. Black, Sr., would not say where they had gone.

Reports, persistent, however, that the couple are close to the Black mansion. Others unconfirmed, said they had gone to Hawaii, where they met last summer.

Black, son of the president of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., is 31. It is his first marriage. Miss Temple, 22, divorced actor John Agar last year. She has a three-year-old daughter, Linda Sue.

The marriage was performed without any religious publicity. Even Miss Temple's close Hollywood friends knew nothing of the impending union until after the quiet civil ceremony.

Peter Schaal Trophy Is Awarded To Mike Whelchel At SHS Banquet

Guard Mike Whelchel received the Peter Schaal Trophy from the award donor at the annual football banquet held in the high school gymnasium and attended by 150 people.

Jack Schirard was presented with the W. E. Kader award by Mr. Kader as the most improved player on the squad.

Mia Pat Casuar, president of the Tri-Hi-Y, introduced Mr. Schaal who reviewed the history of his award in his presentation speech and told the football players present returning next year that he will take them to the Orange Bowl game in 1952 if they win all their games next season.

In presenting the Lions Club award Mr. Robson pointed out that linemen are often the unsung heroes of football games explaining that it is only fitting that they receive special recognition for their unspectacular but all-important play.

Mr. Kader told the gathering that the difference between good football players and great ones is the ability to grow and improve with the game.

When Michigan's Rose Bowl football team was heading for its game with Ohio State, Coach Glenn "Doc" Robinson was surprised to overhear Leo Koceni teaching Polish words and phrases to Tony Momen.

Coach Bill Fleming expressed his belief that the squad would improve in the 1951 season and he had enjoyed coaching the team.

Herman Morris, principal of Sanford High School, introduced E. E. Cooper, chairman of the board of trustees, and Dennis Bass, chosen as All-Conference end this year.

He pointed out that it is good for a team to lose occasionally since the football boys are unlikely to become arrogant and expect special privileges as might be the case in all-winning schools.

The U. S. Golf Association plans a different gimmick for its annual meeting in January by holding the business session at the Princeton Club, the taking of the delegates over to inspect "golf houses."

Phog Allen, Kansas U. basketball coach, has scored aces on two different holes at the Lawrence, Kas., golf club.

He hasn't suggested raising the two feet. When the basketball meetings ended at St. Petersburg Gabe Paul, Cincinnati Reds vesp, couldn't find anyone to drive the club's station wagon back to Tampa.

Florida's 1950-51 basketball team was crushed by Kentucky last week. The score was 85 to 37. There is no disgrace in losing to Rupp's monotonously successful Southeastern Conference Champions, but whether a team can come back with any heart to play after being beaten that badly is another matter.

Florida has been a basketball weakling for many seasons and it looks as if this one will be no different. Athletic director Herb Woodruff and court coach Sam McAllister have hardly had time to recruit a winning team in one short year.

Three lettermen, including center Hans Taender, were lost by the Gators squad this year and eight will return. Experience is no real problem, but the necessity of a talented and skilful center are too obvious to overlook.

Lawn Tennis Body Names Art Larsen As Best Amateur

Schroeder Is Ranked 4th Behind Flam And Budge Patty

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Lily Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont are the nation's No. 1 amateur tennis players for 1950.

The stormy petrel from the Pacific Coast and the steady matriarch from Wilmington, Del., headed off the ladies' singles and doubles titles.

The top ten in each singles group: 1. Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif.; 2. Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif.; 3. Budge Patty, Los Angeles, Calif.; 4. Ted Schroeder, La Crescenta, Calif.; 5. Gardnar Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.; 6. Billy Talbert, New York, N. Y.; 7. Dick Savitt, Orange, N. J.; 8. Earl Coe, San Francisco, Calif.; 9. Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, Pa.; 10. Tom Brown Jr., San Francisco, Calif.

The first Rose Bowl football game was played in 1902 but there wasn't a second contest until 1916.

Bates College and the University of Maine have met 61 times on the football field.

Mrs. Alice Greene, wife of John Greene, serving his second year as co-captain of the Detroit Lions football team, practices law in Detroit.

Bob Black, son of Army's football coach Earl (Red) Black, has written major letters in football, basketball and hockey at the Academy.

Playing in their own class, which means the rest of the Southeastern conference, the Gators should win a little luck play 750 basketball on their home court—but this is not the year to expect miracles.

Against Kentucky, which played its second string for the entire second half, Hamilton scored 10 points and Wetherington seven—hardly the type of offense to keep up with the fast breaking Wildcat squad.

Hamilton led the team in scoring last year with 327 points. If he can adjust himself to the strangeness of a new position and overcome the handicap of being the shortest center in the Southeastern Conference, Florida may win more than half its games.

Michigan Defeat Of Buckeyes Was Freak Of Season

Wolverines Net Gain Was Only 27 Yards During Frigid Tilt

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—The most amazing thing that occurred on any gridiron during the recent football season took place the frigid afternoon of Nov. 25 at Columbus, Ohio, when Michigan defeated Ohio State, 9-3, and won a trip to the Rose Bowl.

That is the considered opinion of a majority of the nation's sports writers and radio casters who participated in the annual Associated Press poll. No other game or incident can even come close to the grotesque affair in which the players wore gloves to avoid frostbite, a wind-driven snow blinded the spectators and an oil fire kept roasting on the sideline to thaw out the ball.

Michigan won without making a first down and without making a yard through the air. The victors' net gain on the ground was 27 yards. There were 42 punts as each side strove to get rid of the clotted pigskin. Ohio led 3-2 at the end of the first period.

Michigan had thought so little of its chances of going to the Rose Bowl that it had not even bothered to scout California, despite one mid-west observer. It all added up to the oddity of the season.

Running a distance, though diminished, second in the minutiae of the experts was the occasion when the Iowa eleven, led at 14-14 with Notre Dame, went into a huddle with 25 seconds remaining to play. The hawks still were huddling vigorously when the game ended.

West coast observers cast a stout vote for the act of the Washington Huskies in deliberately giving Washington State a teaching lesson in the final 60 seconds so they could get possession of the ball and give All America Don Heinrich a chance to break the record for pass completions in one season. Don made good.

Other oddities recalled by the correspondents included these: Louisville's failure to defeat mix-up, it had only six players on Miami only seconds through a tie line when it kicked what would have been the winning extra point. The game ended in a tie and Miami, undefeated, went into the Orange Bowl. The rule requires seven men on the line.

Oklahoma's tremendous feat of scoring four touchdowns within a many minutes to overcome Kansas and Villanova.

These inter-sectional frays will go a long way to making the national picture sharper. Sectionally this is how the major conferences shape up after about three weeks of mostly non-conference competition.

Southeast—Kentucky, South—North Carolina, Duke and West Virginia also are still unbeaten. Missouri Valley—Bradley, Oklahoma A&M and St. Louis. Big Seven—Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri.

Big Ten—Indiana, Michigan State, Minnesota. Eastern—Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton.

Skyline Six—Wyoming, Brigham Young, Denver. Pacific Coast—UCLA in the South and Washington in the north.

Southwest—Arkansas, Baylor, Rice. Border—Arizona.

Among the independents CCNY, the NCAA and NIT champions, Long Island, Villanova, Canisius, Toledo, Notre Dame, Western Kentucky, Cincinnati, Syracuse and Temple appear strong.

Bradley, Oklahoma A&M, North Carolina State, UCLA and Notre Dame kept pace with Kentucky by winning over the weekend. Bradley dunked Georgia Tech, 85-55; the Aggies took Southern Methodist, 81-45; N. C. State swamped Temple, 83-41; UCLA walloped San Jose State 82-59 and Notre Dame jumped Northwestern, 82-76.

Oklahoma, another unbeaten major team, invaded the east this week along with UCLA and Kentucky. Oklahoma A&M goes to the west coast for games with California and Southern California.

Bradley and N. C. State are at home with the Florida Braves meeting UCLA, Centenary and Duke, and State entertaining

Among the independents CCNY, the NCAA and NIT champions, Long Island, Villanova, Canisius, Toledo, Notre Dame, Western Kentucky, Cincinnati, Syracuse and Temple appear strong.

Bradley, Oklahoma A&M, North Carolina State, UCLA and Notre Dame kept pace with Kentucky by winning over the weekend. Bradley dunked Georgia Tech, 85-55; the Aggies took Southern Methodist, 81-45; N. C. State swamped Temple, 83-41; UCLA walloped San Jose State 82-59 and Notre Dame jumped Northwestern, 82-76.

Oklahoma, another unbeaten major team, invaded the east this week along with UCLA and Kentucky. Oklahoma A&M goes to the west coast for games with California and Southern California.

Bradley and N. C. State are at home with the Florida Braves meeting UCLA, Centenary and Duke, and State entertaining

Michigan and Villanova. These inter-sectional frays will go a long way to making the national picture sharper. Sectionally this is how the major conferences shape up after about three weeks of mostly non-conference competition.

Southeast—Kentucky, South—North Carolina, Duke and West Virginia also are still unbeaten. Missouri Valley—Bradley, Oklahoma A&M and St. Louis. Big Seven—Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri.

Big Ten—Indiana, Michigan State, Minnesota. Eastern—Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton.

Skyline Six—Wyoming, Brigham Young, Denver. Pacific Coast—UCLA in the South and Washington in the north.

Southwest—Arkansas, Baylor, Rice. Border—Arizona.

Kentucky Routs Kansas 68 To 39; Bradley Belabors Georgia Tech

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—What happened to Kansas? They're still asking that question today in college basketball circles following Kentucky's surprising 68 to 39 victory over the Jayhawks Saturday night. Kentucky was an eight-point favorite, but Kansas, with 6-5 Clyde Lovellette was given a very good chance. No one expected a rout.

Phog Allen, Kansas coach, gave the best answer: "Kentucky has a great team." Bill Spivey, Kentucky's seven-foot junior, "wouldn't let us get the ball to Lovellette and when we did he missed," Allen said. "We played terrible, frustrated basketball, but there is some joy, if there is such a thing in defeat, in having a former pupil do it."

Adolph Rupp, Kentucky coach, used to play under Allen. Lovellette was held to 10 points in 13 out after seven minutes of the second half. Rupp then took Spivey, who scored 22 points, out of the game.

Kentucky invades Madison Square Garden this Saturday to play St. Johns of Brooklyn. Eastern cage fans, remembering the $9.50 ticketing Kentucky took from CCNY in the National Invitation tournament last March, are anxious to see how much Rupp's team has improved.

Bradley, Oklahoma A&M, North Carolina State, UCLA and Notre Dame kept pace with Kentucky by winning over the weekend. Bradley dunked Georgia Tech, 85-55; the Aggies took Southern Methodist, 81-45; N. C. State swamped Temple, 83-41; UCLA walloped San Jose State 82-59 and Notre Dame jumped Northwestern, 82-76.

Feverish Seoul Becomes Rumor Factory As Retreat Continues

By HAL BOYLE

SEOUL.—(AP)—The feverish and uncertain capital of Korea has become a rumor capital of the world.

Because the 1,500,000 people who dwell here feel that the advance of the Chinese Communist Army has made the future of Seoul uncertain, they are caught between hope and dread.

This has put them in a mood to listen to any wildly wagging tongue. The wildest wagging

Jim Turnesa Wins Havana Invitation Golf Tournament

HAVANA, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Fashioning a last round 65 with the help of an eagle and five birdies, Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., member of the famed U. S. golfing family, won the Havana Invitation Golf Tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 267.

Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra had a chance to get Turnesa, but had putting difficulty in the last hole and finished second with a 68 and final score of 270. Four of Cooper's putts ringed the cup and failed to drop. One of them actually disappeared from sight then spun out on the green.

Turnesa missed some close putts, too, but he made enough to win the $1,500 first prize.

Defending champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., shot a blistering eight-under-par 64 to lead the last round, but he gained only a tie for third place at 273 with Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. Barron got a 68 in his last round.

Jim Turnesa, E. J. Harrison of St. Andrews, Ill., shot a seven-under-par last round 65, but this gained him only a tie for fifth place with Tommy Bolt of Dunwoody, N. C., at 274. Bolt posted a 65 on his last 18.

Rounding out the first ten are Len Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., at 275; Tony Penna of Cincinnati, Ohio, at 276; Fred Hunter, Jr., Jackie Burke of Houston and Fred Hans, Jr., of New Orleans, tied at 278.

The artillery firing that started this rumor was the first firing of U. S. guns.

"The rumor is always around that we are going back to Japan tomorrow—and leaving this hole in the ground," said Sgt. Richard Ottensmeyer.

None of these three soldiers knew the rumors, but such uncorroborated tidings of hope or gloom are bad for the morale of the army and they haven't helped the morale of the U. S. troops.

A highly placed intelligence field officer just back from the front said:

"The rumor men don't know what they are going to be expected to do. We've had one foot on the boat going home 37 times, and yet we may have to go back and start everything all over again."

Turnesa is disastrous to an army, and every time someone sees a tank being loaded these rumors start again that we are going to leave.

"What we want to know is whether we are going to stay in Korea—whether we are not going to stay in Korea."

"We pride ourselves that we are the best informed army in the world, and each man right now is asking himself what he still must do but we don't know what is going on—and that is a deplorable thing. It hurts your Army—it really does. You just can't go on withdrawing and withdrawing and withdrawing—and not know what finally is going to happen."

But the iron law of military security here forbids an answer to still the big mouth of rumor. All a soldier under discipline can do is wait and take his orders when they come. No army can announce its plans before the right time comes.

To wait and wonder what those orders are—and then try to carry them out in the fog and lonely and necessary duty of a lone soldier.

Sweden Nilsen, 1600 East 25th Street, Houston, Texas, now claims he is the hottest hardware salesman in town. Swede says that in order for a man to do a top-notch job of selling he has to be really good and Swede says he is now taking HADACOL, and believes he has never felt better. He found that by taking HADACOL, he overcame deficiencies in Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron.

Here is Mr. Nilsen's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL, that was a good bit ago, I was just plain lousy. I felt groggy and tired all the time. Swede like it was hard for me even to lift my feet. When a man feels that way he naturally begins to feel good. What really gave me a lot of time was my eating habits—I would go all day sometimes without a square meal. What really was strange was that while I was so listless and sleepy during the day I couldn't sleep at night. Imagine rolling and tossing and cat-napping all night long. But that's all changed since I have been taking HADACOL. I guess I've taken 10 or 12 bottles of HADACOL, and believe you me, there is no comparison now to the way I used to feel. I feel fine! HADACOL certainly is wonderful. I get a wonderful night's sleep and when I wear I eat everything in sight, eat, or HADACOL sure is wonderful. And you can bet your life I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

HADACOL is simply remarkable in the way it has helped folks of all ages—yes thousands of men, women and children who have been plagued with deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron. HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation providing blessed relief for stomach distress, nervousness, etc. caused by an upset stomach, vertigo, aches and pains or a general run-down condition when they are due to such deficiencies.

HADACOL Attacks Real Cause Remember, HADACOL is not a quick-acting product that only attacks the symptoms of the misery, but actually relieves the real cause of pains and aches due to such deficiencies. Yes, and continued use of HADACOL helps prevent the miseries from coming back.

The most important thing about HADACOL is that you get these precious Vitamins in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is scarce) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every body organ, yes, to every part of your body.

HADACOL Can Help You Don't go through life putting up with a stomach that is easily upset, but causes you gas pains, heartburn, sour rising after meals, a stomach that will not digest food properly; yes, if due to lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron, you can overcome the deficiencies which are causing these miseries by taking HADACOL, which contains those precious Vitamins.

Start taking HADACOL right away and if you do not get the results you expect your money will be immediately refunded. HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial size bottle. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. There is only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation providing blessed relief for stomach distress, nervousness, etc. caused by an upset stomach, vertigo, aches and pains or a general run-down condition when they are due to such deficiencies.

HADACOL Attacks Real Cause Remember, HADACOL is not a quick-acting product that only attacks the symptoms of the misery, but actually relieves the real cause of pains and aches due to such deficiencies. Yes, and continued use of HADACOL helps prevent the miseries from coming back.

The most important thing about HADACOL is that you get these precious Vitamins in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is scarce) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every body organ, yes, to every part of your body.

HADACOL Can Help You Don't go through life putting up with a stomach that is easily upset, but causes you gas pains, heartburn, sour rising after meals, a stomach that will not digest food properly; yes, if due to lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron, you can overcome the deficiencies which are causing these miseries by taking HADACOL, which contains those precious Vitamins.

Start taking HADACOL right away and if you do not get the results you expect your money will be immediately refunded. HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial size bottle. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. There is only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Oh, Oh! 'S Wrong Way! WAX In Customers With ADVERTISING (and by Good Service!)

Swede Nilsen, 1600 East 25th Street, Houston, Texas, now claims he is the hottest hardware salesman in town. Swede says that in order for a man to do a top-notch job of selling he has to be really good and Swede says he is now taking HADACOL, and believes he has never felt better. He found that by taking HADACOL, he overcame deficiencies in Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron.

Here is Mr. Nilsen's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL, that was a good bit ago, I was just plain lousy. I felt groggy and tired all the time. Swede like it was hard for me even to lift my feet. When a man feels that way he naturally begins to feel good. What really gave me a lot of time was my eating habits—I would go all day sometimes without a square meal. What really was strange was that while I was so listless and sleepy during the day I couldn't sleep at night. Imagine rolling and tossing and cat-napping all night long. But that's all changed since I have been taking HADACOL. I guess I've taken 10 or 12 bottles of HADACOL, and believe you me, there is no comparison now to the way I used to feel. I feel fine! HADACOL certainly is wonderful. I get a wonderful night's sleep and when I wear I eat everything in sight, eat, or HADACOL sure is wonderful. And you can bet your life I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

HADACOL is simply remarkable in the way it has helped folks of all ages—yes thousands of men, women and children who have been plagued with deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron. HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation providing blessed relief for stomach distress, nervousness, etc. caused by an upset stomach, vertigo, aches and pains or a general run-down condition when they are due to such deficiencies.
