Texas Guinan Takes Shot At Committee Of Fourteen For Attack On Night Clubs

NEW YORK, July 16.—(INS)—Texas Guinan does not care much for Mr. Worthington, the man who leaped to prominence by calling night clubs and their hostesses bad names.

"I'll say to him what they say in Texas," she told me today. Either use that gun or put it away. His gun didn't even smoke. He's yellow. Why won't he come out in the open and name the places he found immoral? his investigation was probably conducted in Sixth Avenue soda fountains. That committee of 14 don't know vice when they see it. If they should see it they'd probably hug it to death.

"There are plenty of shabby little speakeasies which deserve all he said but that's no excuse for him to blanket every night club in town in his criticism.

I know a couple of quack doctors. But I don't class all doctors as crooks. What if I came out and said all newspapermen were bums, just because I knew a couple of rotters in the profession?"

Worthington's leap into fame landed him simultaneously in the high places of Texas' scorn. In her little apartment on 8th Street where she wants everybody to know she has lived for 18 years, she exploded in her usual brilliant wise-cracking style on the uselessness of people like Worthington.

"If my club can be called anything it should be called a school," she said. "That's what my girls get, education, training. It's just a training school for the stage. When George White or Von Stroheim or any other stage or screen producer wants new material he comes to a night club. My girls get training they couldn't buy. Geez, they meet every body from the Prince of Wales and the governor of Rome on down.

"I've graduated a lot of lovely girls and Worthington's cracks include them in his blue' indictment. Irene Delroy, Alice Buldon, Doris Vinton, Ruby Keefer, Claire Luce, Eleanor Brooks, Lina Easton, Peggy Cortez, Pearl Eaton, Margaret Quinby. What right has Worthington to imply that those kids are 'women of the streets' just because they worked in a night club?"

"That's why I'm sore," Tex went on. "His remarks don't hurt me; but I'm not going to have my girls considered shady just because they work in my club.

"No longer ago the mother of one of my girls came to me and said her daughter was not behaving properly—never came home. 'Take her away' I said I can't have a girl like that in my gang." I fired that youngster at once.

"You see I pay my girls plenty. I try to set a good example, I never drink. There has never been a breath of scandal about me. I've never been a correspondent. I've lived here with my mother and father for 18 years. If Mr. Worthington should call he'd be uncomfortable on account of the respectability."

GENE SUCKER FOR RIGHT HAND BLOW DECLARES WALSH

And Right Hand Punching Is Heeney's Biggest Asset In Ring, Sport Writer Thinks; Dempsey's Right Was Poor

SPECULATOR, N. Y., July 13.—Tom Heeney won't answer the bell for the fifth round.

Perhaps I should have finished that one on an interjection, for the opinion expressed is not mine, at least not yet, and is only alleged to be that of our champion and boon associate of men of the better and finer sort, Gene Tunney himself.

Gene is supposed to have boughed up from the quilts this morning to greet the day with a glad cry, as is his wont, and since this is an accepted part of the act, there is no reason to disbelieve it in the slightest particular. He then is supposed to have retired to a neutral corner and delivered himself of the above statement. This one I adjure you to believe strictly at your own risk, merely passing it along for what it may be worth with the remark that it was sponsored by the fount of knowledge and information, William Gibson, the champion's manager at such times as he, William, is not caught at it.

All the writers can venture on this subject is two pertinent observations. First, that brother Tunney at this moment looks the exact part of a fighter who might feel that he was going to knock somebody somewhere at some time more or less distant. Second, that our champion deftly backed the writer into the clothes press or somewhere and confided in him alone the great secret of his punch and it isn't your turn to tell one yet.

Brother Tunney, it seems, doesn't concentrate upon the stomach or chin. He contents himself with belaboring the hat rack or temple plenty. He admits this is a swell idea, perhaps for one very sufficient reason. It isn't exactly his own.

From what I gathered, those deluded persons who went about fighting one another in olden times for the implied fun of the thing didn't know that the jaw was more vulnerable—that's brother Tunney's own—and centered their punches upon the temple.

This, I gathered, proved a bit severe on the ungloved hands and so these primitive souls used this punch only when it was due to mean something. In brief, when the victim was deemed ready for the coup de grace—this one is mine—they popped him upon the balustrade with everything they didn't have in the wife's name and stood back to let him fall. That, it seems, is brother Tunney all over.

"Let the mugs keep shooting at the jaw," said he, "forgetting himself in his excitement. I'm content to take the best target offered me and give it the best I have. It was punches of this sort, constantly and relentlessly applied, that wore Tom Gibbons down and made him collapse from a final fallside to the temple. It was punches like those that beat Dempsey off balance and ultimately by all but exhausted him in our fight."

Let them bury their chin down their chests and think they

BROOKLYN TRIMS CARDINALS AGAIN TO REDUCE LEAD

Bisonette's Heavy Hitting Again Subdues Leaders; Giants Nose Out Redlegs While Yankees Take Two

NEW YORK, July 15.—(INS)—Just as a big cave man named St. Louis was about to kidnap the fair Miss Pennant, he was socked twice by a slugger Brooklyn policeman Yelpe Del Bissouette and held until suitors from New York, Chicago, and Cincinnati could get close enough to present their claims to the fair damsel's hand.

Which is to say that the dizzy pace set by the Cardinals has at last been checked by Bissouette and his Brooklyn cohorts. His homer and triple stopped the league leaders Saturday, and he drove in two runs as the Dodgers trimmed them again yesterday 3 to 1. Buzz McWeeney outpitched Clarence Mitchell, Brooklyn's cratwhile jinx.

Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and Chicago are now playing better ball than St. Louis. The Dodgers have copped five of their last six starts and the Pirates and Cubs each have won six straight. St. Louis is only four games ahead of the third place Cubs.

The Giants held on to second place by nosing out the Reds again yesterday, 2 to 1. Fitzsimmons won his game with a double in the eight. Red Lucas, starting his first game in seven weeks, couldn't quite make the grade.

The Phillies, who have contributed absolutely nothing to "the winning of the west" just went through the motions again and succumbed to the Cubs, 6 to 3.

The Yankees have braced after a bad slump. Herb Pennock blanketed Cleveland 3 to 0, and Ruth-Gehrig home run combination beat the Indians in the nightcap 6 to 4. Myles Thomas started his first game of the season for the champs in the nightcap and won it, although he didn't go the route.

The St. Louis Browns, now playing the best ball in the American League, made it seven wins in nine starts by nosing out Washington in the twelfth, 6 to 4. Other teams did not play.

BABE HITS ANOTHER

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, July 16.—(INS)—The belting Babe continued his gallop toward another home-run record today. With the left-handed Phil Hayne on the mound for Cleveland, the Babe hit his 35th home run of the season into the right field bleachers in the third inning of the first game today scoring Earl Combs ahead of him. Ruth is now 22 games, 20 days and five home runs ahead of his 1927 home run record. His 35th home run last year was not made until August 5. When he smacked Smith of Detroit for the circuit, with nose on.

ORLANDO—Yates Avenue widening sought.

are getting away with something by stopping these punches with the tops of their heads. This spot may not be as vulnerable as the jaw but they will find it is susceptible enough particularly after

AN OPEN MESSAGE To The Public About COMMUNITY DOLLAR DAY - WEDNESDAY

It is now almost a month since the June Community Dollar Day...its success was so outstanding—the public responded so heartily to the offerings of the merchants who participated, that another City-Wide event was planned for this month.

Unique advertising is being used to reach the people of Seminole, Volusia, Orange and Lake Counties in an endeavor to bring to Sanford the largest throng of shoppers in the city's history. Several stores who did not participate in June have joined the ranks.

Elaborate plans have been made for the event next Wednesday. Almost a month has been spent in preparation. Merchants have ordered special merchandise by wire and letter—each parcel post, the express and freight brings merchandise for Dollar Day.

Merchants have shown a commendable spirit of co-operation in staging this event. No expense or labor has been spared to make this Dollar Day the greatest ever conducted in Sanford. Mindful of the public's response to the June Dollar Day and having made every possible preparation for Wednesday, Sanford merchants anticipate a record-breaking crowd for a record-breaking Day of Bargains.
