SHOALS MEASURE GETS A SETBACK IN UPPER HOUSE

President Cummins Sustains Objection Offered By Senator Norris That Committee Violated Senate Order Rules WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Muscle Shoals legislation received a setback Friday in the senate. President Cummins sustained the point of order raised against the conference report by Senator Norris (R), Nebraska, on the ground that the conferees had violated senate rules by inserting new matter.

Senator Underwood, (D) Alabama, author of the bill to lease the Tennessee river plant in his state, immediately appealed from this ruling, but debate on the appeal was unfinished when the senate recessed late in the day until noon Saturday.

Should the senate sustain President Cummings, the bill must go back to conference between the senate and house for another re-writing. Proponents of the measure hope this work might be completed within two or three days, but repeat the opponents believe there was brighter prospects for failure of the legislation.

Senator Cummings, in upholding the contention made by Senator Norris when the conference report was taken up early this week, entirely disregarded the text of the house bill which would withdraw the offer to lease Muscle Shoals. He did this, he explained, because it would not be fair to claim that the two houses in their original action "agreed upon any point or upon any thing."

He said that the points of order must depend upon a comparison of the senate bill with the report of the conference committee. There can be no question that the changes made in the senate bill in conference are germane in a broad, general sense to the subject dealt with by the senate bill.

NAVAL BOARD'S REPORT WRONG SAYS MITCHELL

Air Chief Continues Attack Upon Administration's Air Policy Before House Committee at Friday's Session Wants Opportunity To Prove Assertions President Coolidge Is To Be Guided In Matter Solely By Recommendations of Weeks WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Brig. Gen. Mitchell, assistant army air chief, continuing his attack on the administration's air policy before the house aircraft committee Friday, criticized the special navy board report on surface ships, submarines and aircraft, and asserted that the bombing tests against the unfinished battleship Washington had revealed no new information to disprove his statements on the effectiveness of aerial bombing against surface vessels.

The general suggested he be given an opportunity to prove his statements in new bombing tests, and Representative Prall, Democrat, New York, announced he intended within a few days to present to the committee a resolution asking that such tests be arranged if possible. Board Findings Assailed Findings of the special navy board, appointed at the request of President Coolidge to determine the relative values of naval armaments with respect to the effectiveness of anti-aircraft fire on aircraft, were assailed by General Mitchell who reiterated aviators in France had held the utmost "contempt" for "ground fire." Asserting that no bombs were used in the Washington tests, the general said that statements in the report dealing with his subject "lead the people to believe that a battleship can withstand aerial attack, which is most decidedly in error."

Meanwhile, today, the widely advertised report that the general was to be called to the White House for a reprimand because of testimony in conflict with administration aircraft policies, definitely collapsed when it was made known authoritatively that President Coolidge would be guided solely by the recommendations of Secretary Weeks in determining whether the assistant air chief is to be reappointed next month or assigned to some other duty. Mitchell, while conceding that the report would have the effect of reducing him to the rank of colonel, Mr. Coolidge regards the question as one for decision solely by the war department but to any other appointment within that department.

Other witnesses examined before the hearing General Mitchell's committee examined a number of witnesses today including J. A. Roche, an aerodynamic expert from McCook Field, Ohio, who testified regarding certain airplane specifications submitted by J. V. Martin, New York aircraft manufacturer, and rejected by the war departments prior to 1920, which were retested recently by committee order. Questioned by Representative Reid, Republican, Illinois, Mr. Roche said if airplanes could be constructed within the weights given by Mr. Martin, they would be superior to any now used by the army, but he expressed doubt that this condition could be met. Further in a similar line of inquiry, the committee announced late in the day that Representative Bloom, Democrat, New York, had been asked to appear Monday regarding an aerial bombing device said to be so constructed that it will insure great accuracy. Mr. Bloom is not the inventor, it was said, but will appear for him or introduce him to the committee.

Officials Reluctant To Show U. S. Attitude

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Officials are showing reluctance to indicate the attitude of the American government toward plans of French government to seek two new loans from banking interests in this country, which has raised expectations that they will bring in a Sanford bank to place in a savings account. This money, however, was not given to him. The father expressed his fears that the boy had been kidnapped and that the only reason he can attribute to such an act is ill will some person may have for him. No reason other than forcible detention can account for his continued absence from home, the father believes.

Aid Is Asked In Search For Boy Missing From Home Since Monday

According to the father, the boy had never indicated any intention of running away. He always was obedient and apparently cheerful and satisfied with the life he was living with his parents. He was a brilliant student. So far as is known, the boy had no money at all when he left home. He had asked his mother for a small sum that belonged to him, saying that he intended to bring it in a Sanford bank to place in a savings account. This money, however, was not given to him. The father expressed his fears that the boy had been kidnapped and that the only reason he can attribute to such an act is ill will some person may have for him. No reason other than forcible detention can account for his continued absence from home, the father believes.

RAILWAY MERGER INVOLVING FOUR LINES EFFECTED

Southwestern Consolidation Means Joining Roads Having Assets Totalling 4 Billion; Adopt Swedish Plan NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Creation of a new railroad system in the southwest with total assets of close to $1,000,000,000 and total mileage of 15,000 miles, was a preliminary report Friday. Interests which sponsored the Missouri Pacific merger last year were said to be laying plans for the new consolidation embracing the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Louis Southern and Kansas City Southern Railways.

Such an alignment would carry out the tentative grouping proposals of the Interstate Commerce Commission with slight modifications, and would develop a competing line for the greater Missouri system. While no definite steps looking toward a merger have been taken, Wall Street heard that a leading railroad banking house had acquired a substantial interest in the Kansas City Southern and "Katy" either or both of these roads as the nucleus for a new system. Formation of a holding company, which would exchange its shares for those of the other roads, along the lines adopted by the Van Swearingen in their "Nickel Plate" merger, is expected to be one of the first stages in the consolidation plan.

Heavy buying of Frisco shares, which carried the stock up more than 3 points to a record high level today, lent color to reports that this road was being sought as a unit in the suggested new system. Chairman E. N. Brown, however, has denied that Frisco was involved in any definite negotiations although his recent trip over the road was linked with reports that he was studying merger possibilities.

At present, William H. Williams chairman of the Missouri Pacific is making an inspection tour of the Southwestern roads. He is expected to indicate his willingness to have the Kansas City Southern included in another system, although it was originally allotted to the Missouri Pacific. The four railroads which have been mentioned in connection with the consolidation report would have a combined capitalization and funded debt of approximately $800,000,000 more than 15,000 miles of track, including 4,000 miles of yard tracks, and 11,000 miles of first line track.

The possible addition of the Chicago and Alton lines would make an even more comprehensive system, which would serve a large part of the Southwest from Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis, to the Gulf and traverse the states of Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Alabama. STREET CONTRACTS LET OKEECHOBEE, Feb. 21. Contract has been let for the clearing and grading of 10 miles of street here, as part of a program of extension and improvement.

Rescuers Search For Bodies Of 35 Miners Killed In Explosion

Only 16 of 51 Killed In Gas Explosion Friday Have Been Taken From Mine Imprprobable That Missing Are Alive Rescue Work Halted This Morning When Cave In Happens SULLIVAN, Ind., Feb. 21.—A handful of weary, grief-stricken women waited at the top of the City Coal Company mine today for their "boys" while scores of men toiled underground to recover bodies of 35 of the 51 miners entombed in an explosion yesterday.

Mine officials agreed it is improbable that any of the trapped men will be found alive, a cave-in early today halted for several hours rescue work after 16 bodies had been taken out. Throughout the night, rescue squads worked in two-hour shifts timbering up the crumbling roof of the mine. Air was forced into the shaft this morning to clear it of the after-damp. The high pressure used, however, it is said, have cut into slate causing falls which almost blocked entries. Outstanding among heroic rescue efforts was work Earl Cary who disregarding dangers after-damp entered shaft without gas mask in a vain attempt to save his brother Carl.

There were 121 miners in the mine at the time of the explosion which occurred in the third entry, north, where most of men killed were at work. Rescue crews went to work at once and the rescue team of the U. S. Bureau of Mines at Vincennes, Ind., reached the scene by motor truck at 10:45 o'clock this morning, one hour after the explosion.

C. O. Thomas, checkway man at the mine, the officials of the mine and rescue workers all were of the opinion that there is no possible chance of the men being alive. The rescue workers were brought to the surface at once. The work of bringing out the dead proceeded slowly, the bodies being brought singly. Rescue workers were handicapped by gas fumes which flooded the mine immediately after the explosion. Tremendous crowds thronged the scene soon after word of the disaster spread throughout the town and surrounding communities and automobiles were parked along roads leading to the shaft for long distances.

Wives and children of miners employed in the shaft crowded about seeking information and groups of waiting, sobbing women and children clustered about as the news was broken that 51 of the men were known to be dead. A signal to the hoisting engineer was received within three minutes after the explosion but one of the cages was caught on the bottom by wreckage and miners were forced to climb into the shaft and cut away the wreckage before the hoisting engine could be used. But one cage was being used as a result, in the work of bringing the bodies to the surface. A row of waiting ambulances removed the dead to the city. Sheer courage and heroism marked the work of rescuers who braved the deadly fumes of gas and descended bins after time into the mine to bring out the dead. Many overcame and several were carried from the mine. Organizations of women of Sullivan were early on the scene and had established a food station for the relief of rescue workers and others. The Red Cross erected a tent early in the afternoon.

James Russell, of Sullivan, and John Stevley, of Clinton, deputy state mine inspectors, were at the scene soon after the explosion and went into the mine immediately. Albert Dally, chief state mine inspector, left Indianapolis early in the afternoon, it was reported, and his arrival was expected momentarily. Most authentic reports of the disaster were that the explosion occurred when miners either cut into abandoned workings or a slight cave-in opened old entries in which gas had collected, the miners' lamps setting off the pocket of gas. ### PRESBYTERIANS URGE TOLERANCE WITHIN CHURCHES

Appeal Is Made to Members of Church To Allow Ministers Historical Freedom of Teaching Bounds

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 20.—A statement entitled "For Peace and Liberty," signed by 51 members of the Correspondence Committee, composed of Presbyterian ministers from many parts of the country, was issued today by Prof. E. S. Nichols, of Auburn Theological Seminary, secretary of the committee. In giving it out Prof. Nichols emphasized the fact that the statement was not a manifesto of any theological party, but an appeal for liberty within the Presbyterian church for the holding of various forms of evangelical Christian belief, and for subordinating theological differences to united work for the world. The statement and the names of the signers are as follows:

"In view of recent acts which are disturbing the peace of our church and threatening the liberties of its office-bearers, we, the undersigned ministers, make this statement to the thousands of our brethren who may not know all the facts but who, we are assured, agree with us in ardent desire to preserve the unity of the church.

"The affirmation issued in 1924, signed by over 1800 of our ministers, asserted the historic freedoms of teaching, within evangelical bounds, guaranteed to ministers of our communion. The General Assembly of 1924 agreed with the position taken in the affirmation by rejecting as unconstitutional an overture which sought to require of certain officers of the church subscription to particular interpretations of the standards set forth in deliverances of general assemblies.

"In spite of this decision of our highest court, efforts are still being made to impose these doctrinal interpretations upon ministers, and in effect to apply to members of the boards and other church officers the very tests which the assembly declared unconstitutional. A letter has been widely circulated which insinuates dishonesty on the part of some of our ministers and asserts that unbelief is widespread among them, and therefore urges agitation to inform the people of the church of these alleged conditions, for the purpose of securing the election of what are called loyal commissioners to the next general assembly.

"Such actions are fomenting a spirit of division, casting unwarranted suspicion on the loyalty and candor of faithful ministers, threatening the disruption of our church, and hindering that concentration of our energies on Chris-

Growers Warned To Combat Citrus Aphid

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 20.—Entomologists of the Florida Experiment Station here are continuing their warning to citrus growers of the state to adopt control measures for the new citrus aphid at once if an infestation is found in a grove. They point out that at present there are few winged forms among them, and this will tend to prevent the rapid spread and at the same time will help in their control.

Before an infestation becomes general in a grove, it is possible to control the aphid by the spot dusting method. It is stated. This method is to pick out the infested trees and dust thoroughly two or three times a week with a nicotine-sulphate dust containing at least three per cent nicotine. Cyanide dusts also appear to be valuable in spot dusting.

TUNNEL BUILDER OF WASHINGTON "FLASHES CASH"

Rumors Of Bootlegging, Buried Treasure, And Conspiracies Revived When Digger Buys $2,300,000 Apartment

(By Harry B. Hunt.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Wierd tales of buried treasure, of international conspiracies involving former diplomats, of clan-destine romance in high society and of a vast subterranean labyrinth leading to a bootleggers' rendezvous, held Washington breathless for three days last fall following the discovery of an elaborate maze of underground passageways in the heart of the better residence sections of the city.

All sorts of wild stories were started as to the origin and use of the tunnels.

Then the bubble of speculation, which had clothed them with the romance of intrigue and mystery, was burst by an announcement by Dr. Harrison Gray Dyar, custodian of lepidoptera in the National Museum, that he had built the tunnels by way of getting exercise.

Now, however, folks are wondering whether perhaps there was something to the "buried treasure" story after all.

For Dr. Dyar appears as purchaser, for a price of $2,300,000, of one of the largest and most elaborate apartment properties in the capital.

Anyway, all admit that as a digger, Dr. Dyar seems to have hit somewhere.

A celebration of first rank designed to give a rebirth to American ideals and new stimulus to American achievement, is proposed for Washington in 1932. The occasion would be the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Tentative plans for a fitting national celebration of Washington's bi-centennial already have been discussed by President Coolidge with the congressional members of a commission which have the arrangements in charge.

Historical and patriotic organizations, as well as leaders in American progress in art, science, industry and finance, have been given places on the body which will plan the celebration.

General Isaac Sherwood of Toledo, O., who at 90 is the oldest member of congress, sang his "swan song" to the House a few days ago in a speech contrasting Washington today and 52 years ago the life of a congressman in today.

As an index of the comparative cost of government today and then, General Grant was just starting his second term, Sherwood said:

"I remember the appropriation for salaries, clerk, hire and upkeep of the White House that year was $42,800. This year we give our president the tidy sum of $500,000.

"General Grant had no body-guard, no military staff, no White House police. I remember meeting him many times walking down Pennsylvania Avenue alone.

"Members of Congress got $5,000 a year salary. We were allowed no secretary. We had to rent our offices out of our salary and we had to take our pen in hand to answer kicking letters from our constituents.

"We had no Department of Agriculture, hence the farmers were contented and reasonably prosperous."

WOULD CHANGE CODE

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 20.—The Florida Children's Code Commission will make two recommendations to the legislature this spring stated Miss Ruth Eberlshamer, special representative of the Children's Welfare League of America, who has been in this state since November conducting a preliminary survey for the commission. In a talk before local club women she said the legislature would be asked for $10,000 to defray expenses of continuing the commission's investigations, and to adopt a child welfare and parole law identical with that used in North Carolina, Georgia, West Virginia and Virginia. She states institutions are handicapped by not having complete data on cases with which they deal.

Sanford Road Is Third In Usage Of State Highways

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 21.—A greater number of motor vehicles crossed over the line between Broward and Dade counties on State Road No. 4 than passed any point on the cross-state roads during 1924 by the state road department, it is disclosed by calculations made from the census figures. These figures are compiled by the department for a 24-hour period on one day each month during the year for the purpose of arriving at a definite idea as to where the bulk of the traffic may be found.

On a basis of these figures, it is shown that the Dade-Broward line was the most used point on Road No. 4. There 647,500 motor vehicles passed during the year if the complications made on the census-taking days were representative of other days during the 12 month period. Approximately one-tenth of the machines were trucks, State Road No. 5, at Palmetto, where about one-third of the cars were trucks, was the next most frequently used spot in the state's designated road system. Cars numbering 642,400 passed that spot.

Road No. 3 at Sanford with 489,735 came third; No. 2 south of Orlando, and No. 1 at Blackwater Bridge (Milton) was fifth, with 208,416.

No records were kept on road No. 8 between Haines City and Fort Pierce.

Road No. 17 at Lakeland and between Tampa and Oldsmar also was used by large numbers of cars.

Rescuers Search for Bodies of 35 Miners Killed In Explosion

Death by Burns or Suffocation Caused in all instances was caused by burns or suffocation, according to reports.

John M. Lowrey, of Sullivan, president of the City Coal Co., and superintendent of the mine, was on the bottom at the time of the disaster and was overcome by gas, being carried from the mine.

First reports of the tragedy were that several men had been killed and that about 40 were entombed in an entry. Later reports from mine officials disclosed, however, that the entire 51 men working in the immediate vicinity of the explosion were believed to have been killed almost instantly.

Mine bosses from surrounding mines and many volunteer workers from nearby mines descended into the shaft in efforts to bring the dead to the surface. This heroic work, during which several of them were overcome resulted in the early recovery of many bodies.

If a bandit steals your purse, Laugh it off, Many things could be far worse, Laugh it off.

If you've lost your only friend, Laugh it off, All our joys at last must end, Laugh it off.

As your journey down the glide, All our happiness must fade; Life's a game that soon is played; If the poor house looms ahead Laugh it off.

Once you're there you'll soon be dead, Laugh it off, Though you've landed in the rack, Do not ever lose your pluck; Some one's always out of luck, Laugh it off.

Conveniently And Comfortably Mortgaged

Where's the sad-eyed family that sat down to its frugal meal in bleak despair the day Father had to put the mortgage on the farm?

A mortgage on the farm used to be regarded as a dreadful thing, a sort of disgraceful admission of failure and disaster. The folks who went "over the hill to the poorhouse" looked back on the old homestead dismantled by rapacious neighbors who attended a foreclosure sale.

But where's the sad-eyed family today? It's eagerly figuring out how to make the money borrowed at eight per cent earn a good thirty or fifty or a hundred per cent. It borrows the money as a straight business proposition to secure capital needed for the making of more money. And the farmer who makes the greatest success in his business almost invariably has his lands pledged as security for credit at the bank.

So entirely has the viewpoint changed, farm mortgages in the United States increased from $859,000,000 at the end of 1919 to $1,781,000,000 on September 30, 1924. If a farmer acquires new machinery and makes needed improvements in his stock and his general farm equipment he must have more money than he receives from crops and stock raised under poor conditions. He goes to the bank and borrows the money for his improvements just as any other business man does.

And thanks to the broader education of the modern farmer, the farm "business" is just that. System and science are taking the place of guesswork and chance. The modern farmer keeps books. He figures out his "overhead", the interest on his investment, depreciation and increment. He balances his outgo with part of his income, and places a dependable proportion in the sinking fund which is to take care of the mortgage that used to lead to the sheriff's sale.

All of this means that agriculture in all its branches is becoming a recognized business with which bankers can deal with as certain safety as is guaranteed by mercantile or manufacturing or professional concerns. And the farmer trained to study the markets and to keep books as well as to make his land yield him bountiful crops can live like a king on his conveniently mortgaged farm!

It takes money to make money. A mortgage exchanged for wise expenditures is good business. The sad-eyed family of the old melodramas has almost lost its place in real life, where farming has attained the business standing to which it is so rightly entitled. Shocking as it may sound to old fashioned folks that close to two billion dollars in farm loans means better times for American farmers. And there should be some more billions made available for their use.

"Jesus Laughed"

The children attending a certain Sunday school were asked to come to their classes each Sunday prepared to recite a Bible verse when their names were called in the roll. So the first morning that the little girl in the family was to accompany her older brothers and sisters to Sunday school everybody tried to think up a verse brief enough for the child to memorize, with a final selection of "Jesus wept", the shortest verse in the Bible.

All the way to the church, the older children had the little girl repeat the words, and they all waited excitedly for the teacher to reach the end of the roll and the name of the newest pupil. "Margaret Harrison", the teacher called, and promptly the four-year-old stood up and answered: "Jesus laughed!"

The teacher being tactful and the school well-handled, Margaret's verse was accepted at its face value, and the lessons went on as usual. But on the way home, the much-embarrassed older children undertook to show Margaret what a terrible blunder she had made. And again they were amazed to see the child's eyes fill with tears and hear her say, "Then your Jesus isn't my Jesus. My Jesus laughed, and he sung pretty songs."

The Herald has always liked that story. Margaret is a great-grandmother now, and all her life, she has lived in association with the Jesus who "laughed and sang pretty songs." Her religion has always been broadly human. Her hatred for littleness has kept her beautifully generous, and in spite of many sorrows and grievous disappointments she has kept the sunshine in her heart that only faith in the everlasting goodness of God can keep shining through the dark.

"Religion," she will tell you with a smile, "is for everybody use." And she has always made it so. Her piety has been free from any fear of "the wrath to come" but it has been a deep and abiding piety, that has kept her doing what she thought was right because it was right.

With all reverence, she says she can still say that her favorite Bible verse is "Jesus laughed." It merely happened, she will explain with twinkling eyes, the Apostles forgot to write those particular words!

Any why not? Each of us has painted our own pictures of the Man of Galilee. He is supposed to be the Perfect One as each of us understands Perfection. Surely He must have had a rarely keen sense of humor, and a ready smile. Think it out.

WHERE SECURITY IS NEEDED

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL

It was suggested, when Premier Herriot delivered his recent security speech in the Chamber of Deputies and re-echoed the Poincare doctrine regarding the Ruhr, that he had in mind also the security of those nations that look to France for protection. Farfetched as this interpretation may have been, there is good reason for uneasiness both by France and the rest of Europe and in a section of the world that seems to breathe trouble as its natural atmosphere. In that section, Jugoslavia, the pivotal State of the Balkans, is perhaps in a more unstable condition than it was before the general elections some ten days ago. At that time the country was bordering on civil war. Today, or so London and Paris report, the ruling dynasty is in danger, and disintegration threatens. High-handed tactics of Premier Pashich in placing Serbia in control of the country and forcing the election of his favor have shaken the sway of King Alexander, who as occurred in the machinations of the aged Serbian statesman. Big Incomes, Cheer Up. The Franc Goes Up. A City in Danger. A Very Safe Planet. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

GOOD NEWS for the big incomes that pay, some of them, 40 surtax may be cut down as low management by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon, the Government income will be much bigger than the outgo, and the income surtax may be cut down as low as 20 per cent.

Another cut like that and the biggest men will feel able to take some real money out of their corporations instead of ploughing it back into the corporation and getting an occasional stock dividend, mercifully tax free.

THE FRENCH franc continued to recover in value yesterday, showing for two days in succession that it is risky business to sell French money short.

The French are able and above all logical. They do not deceive themselves with inflation nostrums. Those that seek to produce a panic in French money should remember that the French do not indulge in panics easily. Leave the franc alone.

THIS SHOULD interest real estate owners in big cities, also heads of banks and other big corporations. General Mitchell testifies before the Congressional committee that flying machines and destructive chemicals such as are now made in quantity could level New York City in one day, destroying with ease every important building on Manhattan Island.

How big a ransom would the city pay to avoid that? More than the cost of a good fighting air fleet, certainly.

THE FRENCH army has tested and approved a new stabilizing device for airplanes, without the use of a gyroscope. That means one step nearer to absolutely safe flying, safer than any mode of travel on land.

Ten to twenty years should see the end of long distance rail travel and of ocean surface travel. Wise real estate investors will make their plans with the flying machine in mind.

FOGS, FLOODS, extraordinary rains fall in the East, destructive high winds in the West, trains blown down, and gales raging over western Europe seem to justify Mr. Reid's statements that his predictions of the world's end almost came true. In the South many colored people attribute weather phenomena to the recent eclipse.

THE WISE man feels that with an ocean miles deep on both sides of him, absolute zero all around him, only a thin protecting atmosphere, and living on a planet with blazing fire inside of it, sailing around the sun at a speed exceeding 1,500,000 miles a day, he ought to thank heaven for his marvelous safety, and not complain about a little extra rain or wind.

THE PRINCE of Wales, whom Americans recently made very welcome is interested in a plan to send British students to this country. That is common sense, as well as a pleasant compliment. The Rhodes scholarship system, that now sends American boys to British universities, will be reversed in the new plan. The way to establish peace is to increase intelligence. When nations know each other they will compete instead of fighting.

The flying machine, that will soon make travel around the world simple and cheap, ought to help civilize us. To see other nations makes you admire or pity and want to help them, instead of hating them.

A MAN in the Sing Sing death house, sentenced to die next month, hangs himself. Doctors work over him for hours, trying to bring him back to life, without success.

The dead man, who had killed six, burning them to death, for revenge, writes the usual letter, declaring his innocence. But suicide is confession." An innocent man would wait until the last.

THE INTERESTING feature of this death is the death house is the violent effort to resuscitate the man after he had strangled himself. The law said he must die, why not let him die?

He will appear in the other world with bruises on his neck, instead of the burns on head and leg that usually come out of that house.

WHAT DO the higher powers above think of the corpses that we send up from our gallows, electric chairs and lethal chambers? How much better does our civilization seem up there than that of the ancient Mexicans that ripped out the heart of a living human sacrifice, offering that as a welcome gift to their gods?

How do our gifts to the goddess of justice impress real justice? A PRISONER sent to life imprisonment joked and asked the criminal ahead of him to "step on the gas," meaning to walk faster. That man had stolen an automobile. It was his fourth offense, and meant prison for life. Is that the best that human intelligence can do in the way of correction?

The suggestion that such prisoners be allowed to volunteer as subject for experiment in brain surgery might be worth trying.

OUR PENAL institutions for "reforming criminals and teaching them to respect the law" are not a complete success, you read news from the Federal Prison at Atlanta. The chaplain cornered, confessed that he got $10,500 from rich bootleggers divided the money with the prison authorities and thus the bootleggers bought "soft beds" in the prison.

BALKING AGAIN!

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. HOLLY
Sanford is gaining in name and fame these days not only in Florida but throughout the north on account of the wonderful advantages here for the investment of money. If you do not know this just see the reports in the various real estate offices. They are buying Sanford real estate by mail these days—even wiring for it.

My old friend T. A. Eckols who has a nice farm on the east side remembered me one day this week with some fine beets and red ones and all of them made a fine meal and made me bless the Lord that I live in such a favored country—favored by nature and favored by best and biggest hearted citizenship that you will find anywhere on earth.

And speaking about Sanford makes me think that I would not live anywhere else and could not be induced to leave. The proof of this assertion is apparent because I could leave any day and take up residence anywhere in the state and be among friends—but not such good friends and dear old friends as I have in Seminole county—friends made by years of good times and hard times in which we learned to love one another for the many good times we have had together and the struggles that only bound us together more closely.

It makes me sad to think of the many old friends and one young friend who have crossed over on the other side in the past two months. We have so few deaths in Sanford that a half dozen of them in sixty days makes one feel that in a few short years there will be but few of the old faces left in Sanford—reminders of the early days when we were bound together by the struggles for existence, for the many battles we fought and for the many trials and tribulations as were coming up from a village to a big city. We only pass this way once and we should cherish friendships for the best benefit derived from having real friends. And if you cannot do a favor and expect a favor you should have no friends.

Sometimes I think that the general public does not appreciate the service of the telephone company. If you think the girls at central do not have a lot of foul questions to worry about just "sit in" some time and hear the many inquiries, the lengthy chats that hold up the wires for gossip, the hurried calls for long distance, the hold ups all along the line and many trials and tribulations that beset the average day of the telephone girl's life. For my part, I appreciate their work for the community and the work of everyone connected with telephone and other public utility service. Having been a "public servant" in newspaper work for twenty-five years I have come to value the work of all public servants and have more patience with delays and broken service than the average citizen.

Selling some $250,000 worth of the Sanford Hotel Realty property in two days shows how the wind blows when it comes to the value of Sanford property. The fact that much of this was sold to out of town people is what makes me feel good. It shows my dreams of fifteen years ago coming true when I made the statement that Sanford had the best location for a big city in the great state of Florida. We have the real stuff and the real stuff will win out—even if it takes years to realize on it.

Milwaukee was made famous by a certain beverage in the year Unseen Hundred and Sixty B. V. D. (Before Volstead Died). But now Milwaukee will make Sanford famous by training here this spring and Sanford will get some valuable publicity by having Milwaukee in our midst. Let everyone boss the games to be played here and attend all of them for they will be good ones. And make the Milwaukee team feel at home while they are here and they will talk about Sanford wherever they go this summer.

If the weather remains cool Sanford celery growers will make good money here this season. And if the celery growers make good money and the spring crops come along all right there will be several million dollars dumped in here along with the tourist hotel and much other new money for real estate investment. Sanford faces the finest year of her existence since I discovered the town just after Ponce De Leon discovered St. Augustine and it should put the old pep in our people and make them face the future with no misgivings whatsoever.

After many years we are at last taking advantage of our lake front and with the bulkheading east and west on each side of our city our lake front will be a thing of beauty. The new tourist hotel will help this great development and in another year the tourist can walk or ride for miles down the lake front or walk along what is the prettiest lake shore in the state. Some day there will be a boulevard around Lake Monroe in Seminole and Volusia counties with white way lights at night which is another dream of mine fifteen years ago and that was hooted at in the early days when I was talking bulkhead every day in the year.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY MASQUE BALL PROVES DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The carnival spirit reigned supreme Friday evening at the Country Club when the Sanford Golf Club gave its first Washington Birthday Masquerade Ball. This is to be an annual affair of much prominence in the social calendar of Sanford.

Miss Olive Newman as a bewitching gypsy, was awarded the ladies' prize, a lacquer box holding oriental perfume, and Edgerton

Patterson as Mephistopheles, was presented the gentlemen's prize. Mr. DeCottes made the presentations.

Other costumes quite worthy of mention were: Miss Georgia Mobley made a charming little old-fashioned girl with powdered hair and powdered hair; Miss Sarita Lake as "Night," in black stay dotted tulle was most attractive; Miss Ann Earle Farmer was lovely as a Hollywood bathing beauty; G. W. Spencer as a gypsy, Floyd F. Boyle as a convict and Harry Ehle as a farmer were most realistic.

Favors and confetti added to the pleasure of the evening. Punch was served through the evening and at midnight an ice course was served. The music was furnished by the Fort Pitt Collegiate Orchestra.

STATE IS READY TO EXPLORE IN ANCIENT TOWN

Ancient Cliff Dwelling Will Yield Valuable Historical Relics, Archaeologists Say

RENO, Nev., Feb. 20.—The recently discovered ancient cliff dweller city sometimes referred to as Pueblo Grande de Nevada, or Lost City, located along the banks of the Virgin River in southern Nevada, is largely on Federal land and in the opinion of Gov. James Scroggins, should become the property of the state and a separate state department created to govern it and conduct further explorations.

Nevada has several claims against the Federal Government for public lands, and the governor in a recent address at Lovelock, said some sort of compromise agreement may be arranged where by the state will become sole custodian of the buried city area.

Two or more thousands of years ago exploration has developed, people thought to be the ancestors of the Pueblo Indians of today, established the city which, after reaching a high stage of development, was allowed to go to ruin. Whether it was deserted by its residents voluntarily, whether they were slain or captured and carried off by their enemies, or all died of disease, is a matter for speculation. In any event the city was deserted, and in time became buried under sand and debris so that hardly a trace of it remained until recent discoveries.

What is believed an irrigation system has been found, and from this it is presumed the city's inhabitants were agriculturists and made the desert bloom in much the same manner as it does today in certain sections of the west.

Archaeological investigation is expected to go forward rapidly this summer. Many mummies and much pottery from the ruins are now being studied.

Mrs. Budlong Holding Empty Fort At Home

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong, who yesterday broke a six-day hunger strike in the apartment of her husband, Milton J. Budlong, today found herself holding empty fort. Her husband, taking the offensive, late Thursday night sent moving men and stripped the apartment of every stick of furniture including that in the room occupied by Mrs. Budlong. The furnishings were shipped to Newport, where Mr. Budlong declared he will make his home.

The door opened yesterday for the first time since her return from Newport after failure in separation suit there, remained unlocked last night but she said she would not leave the apartment unless forcibly ejected.

Soft Berth Awaits Polar Bear In Zoo

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 20.—An attempt is to be made to capture alive a mate for Ursus Kermodei, a lonely white bear, the only one of its species known to be in captivity, now housed in a new $1,000 home of its own at Beacon Hill Park. A report has been received from Princess Royal Island, on the northwestern British Columbia coast, that herds of the same species are at large there. Smaller than polar bears, they have a limited habitat and, owing to the isolated and rugged character of the islands, it is almost impossible to capture the animals alive.

GRANTS ARRIVE EARLY

SARASOTA, Feb. 21.—Members of the New York Giants baseball squad will begin arriving here next Sunday to take up spring training, says John J. McGraw, president of the club, who is already here spending his time golfing and fishing. A number of pitchers and catchers will be in the first contingent, to be followed a few days later by the full team of old stars and rookies.

"Passion Play" Is Taken As Means To Help Delinquents

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Plans for the production of "The Passion" several times a year in Chicago, the proceeds from which would be turned to the juvenile court to aid in its work of reclaiming boys who have drifted into lawlessness, was announced today by Cornelius C. Craine, superintendent of the Big Brothers Society, the sponsor. This play will be given in five acts and 14 scenes, in the home of the Chicago Civic Opera company. The first performance is announced for March 15. Principals in the cast have been chosen with a view to continuing them in their roles year after year, Mr. Craine said. "Our work in the juvenile and boys courts have noticed an increase in juvenile crime," Mr. Craine asserted. "The Big Brothers, an association of business and professional men here who re-claim boy delinquents, decided to do something to offset the influence. We collected a sum of money with which to hire the proper stage producers, actors and writers who could produce "The Passion Play" in as reverential a manner as possible. We think the play would impress and regenerate thousands of youngsters in the crowds and it would equip the Big Brothers with a sum of money for the expansion of their educational work among delinquent boys. "Every cent of profit is to go to this anti-crime work among the boys who come into Chicago's courts."

This is what a lady told me Just a few days ago Mr. Cramer listened With his eyes and face aglow "The last chicken that I bought from you It was dressed and cleaned all right It was fat and very tender And sharpened our appetite So I want to tell you "Mr. Cramer For custom you sure have won For we eat more chicken now in two days Than we did before in one.

Guarantee Your Income By The Pilot Income Plan

$50.00 A MONTH A $10,000.00 To your wife as long as she lives. This income is guaranteed, and will be increased by whatever excess interest is earned by the Company. This excess interest, while not guaranteed, has amounted to 1 1/2% annually for the past 29 years. On this basis the monthly income would be increased to $62.50, which is equivalent to 7 1/2% interest on a $10,000 estate.

$10,000.00 IN ADDITION (Besides her monthly income) To your wife if your death is caused by an accident before age 65. This amount may be in a lump sum immediately upon receipt of due proof of your death, or in monthly instalments, at your option or that of your wife at your death.

$100.00 A MONTH To you if you are totally and permanently disabled before age 65. Income begins the first month following receipt of due proof of such disability and continues for your lifetime. In case of doubt as to whether or not disability is permanent, the deduction, on account of these disability payments, will be so constructed. It is agreed that the amount to be paid to your secondary beneficiary at the death of your wife, or the amount to be paid to your secondary beneficiary at the death of your wife. During such disability no premium is payable.

Safest Insurance Known The average woman, who has depended always on her husband's judgment in financial matters, is not qualified to step suddenly into the business world and successfully handle large sums of money. Her training has not been such as to enable her to distinguish between safe investments and doubtful ones. She is ambitious to put her money where it will yield the largest income and is likely to fall into some well-laid trap, or, depending on the advice of a relative or friend, she may invest in unwise and lossy securities. This is what happens all too often when life insurance is left in a lump sum. Monthly Income Insurance is the Safest Insurance Known. Your wife cannot lose it in poor investments; she cannot spend the principal unwise; Nobody else can get it. It is here as long as she lives.
