Americans Blast Rangoon Area As British Hit Burma

P-40 Warhawks Destroyed 129 Enemy Aircraft In New Guinea Campaign

(By Associated Press) After Allied airmen of the southwest Pacific command had put the finishing touches to the destruction of the Japanese convoy, British bombers assaulted Jap bases in Burma while the Americans blasted bridges, railroads and docks in the Rangoon area.

A Navy communiqué reported that Liberator heavy bombers struck at four enemy-held areas in the southwestern Solomon Islands Wednesday (last longhairs time) even as the Bismarck sea attack was under way. Bombs were dropped at Kahlia, Bui, Ballala and Vila and every American plane returned.

At the same time Dauntless dive bombers with Wildcat fighter escort raided Munda on New Georgia island for the third time, starting a fire there, and these planes likewise all returned. It was assumed that the Liberators and dive bombers operated out of Guadalcanal.

At Canberra, the reading of the communiqué in the house of representatives by Prime Minister Curtin led to prolonged cheering. Curtin remarked that never before in so many fronts had there been so many successes in so few weeks.

Good news from all fronts also was the keynote of Patterson's press conference which he spoke at after the reading of the communiqué.

"An indication of what aircraft are doing and of the increasingly important part they are going to play in the rest of the war."

R. A. F. Carries Out Aerial Raids For Ninth Night

Sites Not Identified And Only 1 Plane Reported Missing

(By Associated Press) For the ninth successive night the R.A.F. carried on its mighty aerial hammering of western Germany. Targets were not identified and only one plane was reported as missing.

In yesterday's raids, the olive drab precision bombers of the United States began their mission a few hours after British and Canadian bombers had returned from night-raiding Hamburg, Germany's second city and an important submarine building center. That was the eighth British raid in as many nights on the reich and it doubled all previous R.A.F. non-stop runs over that country.

The R.A.F. also hit western Germany and the night operations cost the British 10 bombers. Big Lancaster, Stirling, Halifax and Wellington bombers made the Hamburg raid, and planes of the Royal Air Force and the United States Army Air Corps dropped "tens of thousands of incendiaries" that left the port in flames, the air ministry said. One pilot reported a large fire in the center of the dock area and that 20 minutes after the raid began there was a dense carpet of smoke over the town which was so thick that the fire underneath.

Only one ship of the Rotterdam force, returning pilots said, suffered any damage. It was a merchant ship, unloading many cases of goods, and was piloted by Lieut. C. H. Stiles, 24, Leavenworth, Kan.

18 or 20 Nazi fighters over Rotterdam and those weren't eager to close with the 18-gun Fortresses.

The heaviest fire was sent up by a patrol accompanying a north-bound convoy reported to number between seven and 15 medium-sized merchant ships.

Iowa Sportsman Gives Views On Seining In River

Opposes Commercial Fishing In Inland Waterways Of State

Opposition to commercial fishing in Florida lakes and rivers is expressed in a letter to The Herald by W. J. Snook of Newton, Iowa, chemist, manufacturer and sportsman, now visiting in Orlando, who stated here several weeks ago that he planned soon a rowboat fishing trip up the St. John's River to Jacksonville.

Mr. Snook, a 75 year old bachelor, is president of the Monarch Manufacturing Co. of Newton, Iowa, which produces anti-freeze and other automotive chemicals. His hobby is hunting, fishing, and with life conservation for which purpose, he stated that he had leased a 3,000 acre preserve near Clear Lake, Iowa.

His letter to The Herald states: "Apropos of commercial fishing in Florida waters, I for one, am unambiguously opposed to same. If the State wants the soft or non game fish out, let the populace living in the state and along the lakes and rivers, take them. License nets and traps. Have a game warden or two on every trap or sein haul. Seal the traps and permit no one to fish with same only under strict supervision. Should the seal be broken at the time of putting same into use, revoke the permit.

"Compel a small license fee. Neighborhood game and will pay the fee. Do not allow any traps, nets, or traps that are home homes. Fish must have a home the same as people. It is a conceded fact that fish must have vegetation, and a pull net destroys in part that vegetation.

"Take a look at any pull or drag net used in a haul. Fish injured or mangled in any way or another, or fish that are handled, do not stay in the vicinity long where such takes place. Tagging has proved this. It also has a tendency to retard growth, and fish that are handled by the bare hands seldom live, unless the hands are wet previously. This applies to small and scale fish.

"Personally I could pen many more reasons why commercial fishing should not be allowed, space not permitting."

678 Lives Aboard Ship In Atlantic Lost In Sinking

(By Associated Press) A single torpedo fired in the dead of night from an enemy submarine sent a cargo passenger ship to its grave in the North Atlantic with a loss of 678 lives—the United States' greatest loss of soldiers in their bunk.

Five survivors, the first to reach the United States, the Navy said, reported that the vessel sank within 25 minutes after the torpedo roared into the starboard side, apparently trapping a number of soldiers in their bunk.

Within a few minutes the list of the ship was so terrific that it was almost impossible to walk the decks and a great number of men were cascaded into the freezing water before lifeboats, raft and floats could be launched.

The vessel was one of the United States cargo ships which the Navy announced on February 22 had been sunk within 48 days of each other in the North Atlantic with a total loss of 50 lives.

Several survivors endangered their own lives to rescue wounded lifeboats, survivors said, and some who perished met heroic death in similar efforts.

The survivors said that only 150 of 750 passengers, mostly men of the armed forces, aboard the vessel survived. Twenty-eight members of the merchant crew of 130 and 13 members of the Navy crew of 99 also were rescued.

A number apparently died from exposure in the frigid waters, survivors indicated. At least three who had been dragged through the water for several hours hanging onto jam-packed lifeboats were dead when they reached rescue vessels and at least one perished in a lifeboat while crew members made valiant efforts to fan the spark of life.

The last survivors were not picked up until eight hours after the torpedo struck.

The heroic actions of a member of the New York Police Department—Hugh E. Moffett, 44, of 734 Van Nest Avenue, the Bronx, N. Y.—saved the lives of several persons.

Moffett, who left a sergeantcy on the New York department to join the merchant marine only three weeks before the sinking, helped launch a jammed lifeboat and then endangered his own life to get others aboard, survivors said.

A naval veteran of the first World War, Moffett has a son serving in the Solomons.

With the impact of the torpedo, the lights went out instantly, and the stricken ship began listing almost immediately. Despite the grave danger of being hurled from decks into the choppy sea, crew members went to their posts in a matter of fact way, survivors said, and began lowering boats and rafts. Several died, due to the list of the ship, before they could be released they added.

Effort Made To Put Celery With "A" Vegetables

Chamber of Commerce Launches Move To Help Local Farmers

Efforts are being made by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to have celery put among Class A vegetables where it will be given priority on fertilizer, crate materials, labor and shipping space, instead of among Class B vegetables where it has recently been put by the Department of Agriculture, Secretary Ed Higgins revealed today.

In a letter to James H. Fallon, regional administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Secretary Higgins urged that the matter be taken up with Secretary Claude Wickard, as follows:

"There is a condition that has arisen in regard to vegetables that has fairly certainly set our mind on account of the late freeze that we had in the State of Florida, and this is a matter of the importance of celery.

"Celery is a vegetable of sufficient importance to either destroy or set back vegetables, such as the State one or two during every growing season, and for the time being the market is based on green vegetables, as the cold snaps that come to Florida usually come from the north where they destroy the last of autumn green vegetables. It is very often the case, as it was this year, that celery is the only green vegetable that is available for some time after such a freeze.

"I would like to bring to your attention for your consideration the fact that at such periods celery is essential, as celery is the one green vegetable grown in Florida that will stand even the coldest snaps that we have here.

"I don't think there is a case on record where the celery crop has been destroyed even when it was cold enough to affect not only the orange crop but also the trees.

"As you know, celery is classed as a Class B vegetable by the War Relocation Authority, and the War Relocation Authority, in the way of storage, packaging, fertilizer, etc., that will affect the quantity of the product grown, and I am writing you to bring to your attention the fact that celery is the one green vegetable that will stand even the coldest snaps that we have here.

"I don't think there is a case on record where the celery crop has been destroyed even when it was cold enough to affect not only the orange crop but also the trees.

Police Arrest Boys, Attempting To Steal Cycles

Charged with the theft of four bicycles, yesterday afternoon in front of the Ritz Theatre, four boys of from 12 to 14 years of age were arrested and the bicycles recovered, according to Police Chief Roy E. Williams.

The boys were paroled to their parents pending an investigation this afternoon by Judge R. W. Ware. One of the boys was already on parole among three other boys, for having broken into and entered places of business and schools several weeks ago.

Theft of a bicycle last evening was reported to police by Wesley Wright, a cook at Harvey's Cafe on French Avenue.

"Bicycles are vitally needed for getting around at the present time, and due to the fact that a permit is needed to secure one, it is hard to get," Chief Williams said, and added that theft of a bicycle having a value of $60 or over constitutes grand larceny.

The Shawl of Lincoln (From The Bronxville Village) In a Concord main street window spread out for all to see is the grey shawl that Lincoln wore so conspicuously.

About those gaunt, broad shoulders Of his towering form, But as I gaze I wonder before How this had kept him warm.

When chilled to a shivering silence By the cold, maligning claims Of bitter men who blindly Derided his noble aims.

While with sublime, sad patience He sought to show the gleam That shone beyond their gloom, This shawl... How strange the scheme.

Of things... This fragile relic Still exists, though worn and frayed, While the strong beating of his Great heart is forever stayed. AGNES M'CARTHY HICKEY.

A Michigan representative says that the inland waterways of Florida should be improved before and not after the barge canal across the state is dug.

William McChesney Martin, child prodigy, who took over the New York Stock Exchange, shortly after Roosevelt first became President, is now a major in the Army.

Indications are that President Roosevelt will run for a fourth term and that the White House will run against him, and if the war is still going on, as it will be, and the indications also are that Roosevelt will be re-elected.

An exchange tells of a resident of that community who, the night before coffee rationing went into effect, bought sixty-five pounds of coffee for himself and wife.

Old folks in Florida are being helped by their neighbors. Many are being helped by their neighbors.

The Gandhi Type

Americans have remained rather calm about Mohandas Gandhi and the problems he creates whenever he quits eating. We have a number of other things to worry about, and this is not our job.

They are important, however, to Mr. Gandhi, and no doubt to some hundreds of millions besides. The people of India are mostly not so "practical" as we are.

As far as Gandhi is concerned, at least he doesn't kill people. He doesn't approve of it at all. He's the opposite of Hitler.

Strong Words

"For some strange reason," writes a pastor, "cursing, swearing and using 'naughty' words is considered a mark of a real he-man, especially in time of war."

"I beg to differ with them. From personal contact, as well as from information received from many of our chaplains, I know there are good soldiers who do not use the bad words."

Well, nobody is likely to do much about the strong old "Elizabethan English" that seems to run rampant nowadays, in military and also civilian life.

Offensive profanity, however, often represents merely an inadequate vocabulary. There are plenty of words in the English language to express any ideas or moods, however strong, without using the nasty and indecent ones.

It has been suggested that some sort of a selective service system be used in the selection of jurors. The idea is thoroughly sound but in all probability will be slow of acceptance.

Harry E. Robson was just made a Corporal on Saturday. Fine, we think! That's swell, Harry!

The youngster brought his coupe to a shuddering stop, worn-out tires flapping in the breeze, in front of a neighborhood movie house.

And, great day, here comes Alfred B. Robson, Sr. You see, he has a Jr.!

WHAT ABOUT YOUR SOLDIER?

Dear Soldiers, 'out there,' it is raining slowly and steadily. The trees, the grass, the flowers are gratefully drinking it up.

Every Robson was enlisted there, too, is a compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Robson.

There is no 'panic buying' of anything at our house because we figure that whatever others must do without, we can, too.

Here's some good news of a Sanford Soldier, Nelson A. Yelvington, has won his wings and is now a Lieutenant in the Army.

THE LITTLE MAN WHO WASN'T "ALL THERE"

Nothing doing!

but we hope to do better next week. In the meantime, we wish you Redenbough boys all that is good.

You know, Soldiers? "It takes a heap of livin' in a house to make it home", and, oh, we pray that you all can come back to us soon and that we can have that 'heap of livin' and once more make our houses homes.

Sunshine and shadow are to the eye what happiness and sorrow are to life. But always we must remember that the sun will come out obliterating even the deepest shadows.

We were all so happy last week to have at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon honoring Governor Holland and Comdr. F. Mable Hughes, our Lt. Col. George DeCottas and Major Harry Kanner.

And we, for our part were proud to have our former Sanford men who are now officers in various branches of the service, see what Mr. James Moughlin could do in the way of setting for the Patriotic Rally which preceded the C. of C. Luncheon.

And Mr. and Mrs. Snyder came in all the way from Chuluota to see our Governor and our Commander Mr. Snyder is 56 years old and they drove into Sanford in "forty minutes flat", so he said.

There is much recognition of your dear mothers, but what of you?
