Couple to donate land to Lake Mary

By Michelle Joris
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — A couple's gift to the city of Lake Mary will turn land once planned for a residential development into an undisturbed nature area.
Darrell and Bettye Leidigh announced during Thursday's City Commission meeting their plans to purchase approximately 40 acres of land located on the northwest side of Crystal Lake in the Timucuan Reserve. If all goes according to plan, the Leidighs will eventually give

Gift would remain undeveloped and be preserved in its natural state the land to the city.

"This is a first," Lake Mary Mayor David Meador said. "This is a preservation opportunity that rarely presents itself."
"I think this is one of the most acts of giving I have seen during my 12 years on this board."

However, the possible purchase of the property and its transfer to the city is contingent on several deed restrictions, Lake Mary City Attorney Donna McIntosh said. The property must always remain undeveloped for the benefit of wildlife, native plants and water conservation. It can be used for educational purposes.

The property also can never be sold by the city. A clause in the deed allows for the ownership of the land to revert back to the Leidighs if the city does not adhere to the restrictions.
On Thursday, the commissioners approved the deed restrictions.
Last September, Realvest Partners Inc. submitted a request to rezone the same property from A-1, agricultural, to R-1A, residential. The developers planned on

Development of 100 new homes would adversely affect drainage patterns, critics say

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Michael Greanya's family has lived on Narcissus Avenue for more than three decades. Celery fields surrounded the family home, as did artesian wells.
The celery's long gone, but the wells remain and keep the land soggy, even during the dry season.
"This spring, when we didn't have rain for three or four months, that area was still wet," Greanya said. "That area has always had a lot of water."
It's the water that concerns residents who live along Narcissus, Palm Drive and Riverview Avenue, especially as Sanford's Planning and Zoning Commission considers plans for a new 100-home development adjacent to the Regatta Shores apartment complex.

Residents fear the new development, Venetian Bay, will disrupt drainage patterns and force more water onto their land. In addition, they argue the proposed density is out of line with the surrounding area.
"Not so," said developer Michael Murray, who has proposed the Venetian Bay project. "We're putting slightly over four units per acre. The apartments right next door are at 20 to 25 units per acre, while the homes on the other side are at six per acre."
Rather than create more drainage problems, Murray said the development would be a vast improvement.
"This will totally change the permeability of the land," he said. "We're going to stop that water flow from going to other areas because this development

President Ann McGee is leading the college into the new millennium with innovative programs

By Russ White
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Not every community college can hire a president like E. Ann McGee. For the time being, the privilege belongs solely to Seminole Community College.
If you haven't noticed, SCC is about to expand with a $30 million campus in Oviedo in addition to its main campus in Lake Mary/Sanford and a Hunt Club Center.
McGee says enrollment for 2000/2001 is more than 30,000. A couple of years ago, SCC had a 94-year-old student and a 1-year-old (don't ask). The median age was 29.
McGee, a stylish woman who keeps fit by working out regularly in the school gymnasium, was walking like a schoolgirl on Thursday.
In one of her recent visits to the gym, at 8:30 on a Saturday morning, McGee met a woman who had recently graduated from SCC's high school honor program.
"The woman told me that her

County receives $600,000 for more deputies

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

The U.S. Department of Justice's office of Community Oriented Policing Services, (COPS) has announced grants totaling $600,000 to add eight new officers to the beat on Seminole County streets.
Chief Deputy Steve Harriett said the money was anticipated and has been regularly put in the sheriff's operating budget.
"These grants have been very significant in enhancing the community policing and allow us to enhance our partnership and problem solving initiatives with law enforcement and the community," he said. "There is no doubt these grants are going a long way in helping improve community partnership."

The grant was awarded under the COPS Universal Hiring Program (UHP) which provides funding for 75 percent of the total salary and benefits of each officer hired for a three-year period, up to a maximum of $75,000 per officer.
Penny Fleming, Director of Staff Services with the sheriff's department said the UHP grants started being received by Seminole County in the 1996-97 budget. Thus far, the county has received grants enabling the hiring of 19 new officers.

According to Jolene Schulte, Grant Coordinator for the sheriff's department, there is a possibility the county will only ask for four new officers under the grant, which would drop the amount to $300,000.
"Prior to preparing our budget," she said, "it was determined that probably at the present time, the department could only afford to add four officers rather than eight. But the budget isn't prepared yet, and even if we add only four right now,

Businesses encouraged to prepare for possible damage from hurricanes

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

Business owners eyeing stock market swings and fluctuating interest rates may be overlooking another, even greater threat to their economic well-being — potential losses from flooding during the 2000 hurricane season.
"Businesses can't afford to get caught off-guard by flood damage," said Senior vice-president Steve Murry of Bankers Insurance Group. "Flooding is the number one risk associated with the hurricane season but most commercial insurance policies don't cover flood damage or losses. So the first step in being prepared is to review business coverage and make sure you have adequate flood insurance in place."

The risk of flooding is worse now than it has been in the past. This is due to changing weather patterns (blame it on El Nino if you will) and the increase in development of property that affects the land's natural drainage.

Murry suggests the following approach, to be made now, rather than later when there is an impending threat.

Woman asks how old is too old when choosing a mate

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a wonderful man who meets all my specifications for a lifetime mate, except one.

Dear Abby

He is honest, healthy, good-looking (could pass for 58 to 60), financially secure, generous, very active socially, has a great attitude on life, a great set of friends, we are sexually compatible, and he loves my family and me more than any man ever has.

mistake of my life? CONFUSED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR CONFUSED: I don't know if it's the biggest — but it's certainly in the top 2 percent. You say he's healthy and vigorous — what could be your fear? If it's that you might be a young widow, consider this: You could marry a younger man with whom you have less in common, but he could keel over tomorrow. None of us has a contract with God.

DEAR ABBY: I know my question is probably one that you have answered many times, but it is still on my mind.

I have met the most amazing guy — and he's just indescribably delicious. I love him more than anything. From the first moment I saw him, it's been like

I need to know: Is it possible to find true love in your teenage years? What are the odds? And if so, what is the chance it will last?
LIZ IN LONG VALLEY, N.J.

DEAR LIZ: Yes, it's possible to find true love in your teenage years. I did. I was 16 when I met my husband-to-be, Morton Phillips, who was in his freshman year of college. (I didn't find out until later that he was 6 weeks younger than me!) Of course, we waited until we were 21 to be married, and people married younger back then. We've been married 62 years.

Today I advise couples to wait to marry until they have both completed their education. People grow as they mature, and sometimes they grow in different directions. I also urge young women to refrain from marriage until they have acquired enough education to support themselves and their children should they have to, because unfortunately, they often have to.

DEAR ABBY: When my child-

They who cannot, teach in August

School will be open in a few days, and I'm sure glad about not being a kid. No one should have to go to school in August.

We used to go back to school the day after Labor Day.

Whoever changed the reporting date should hang his or her head in shame. Of all the things that didn't need changing was the opening of schools the day after Labor Day.

What's the big hurry? Who's going to learn anything in the dog days of August?

September is a month of learning, reaching new horizons. Education should begin in September and end in June.

No one learns squat in August.

Let me tell you about the Augusts of my youth. I spent them in a canoe not in a classroom. August was part of the good old summertime.

School began in September.

School days in August have got to be the unhappiest days of a kid's life — full of dull, unintelligible tasks, new and unpleasant ordinances. It's too hot, too early — just plain disgusting to be thrown into school in August.

It's a barbaric punishment.

I'm all for education. Some of the smartest people I know have been educated. September is a wonderful month for being educated. October, November and December are good, too. January, February, March, April and May aren't bad, either.

June, July and August should be summer vacation.

That's why men like Dick Cheney were allowed to succeed: No school in August. Do you think for one second George W. Bush would have hand-picked a vice president who had gone to school in the summer?

No chance.

By September, we cherished what we had done all summer long and returned to the classrooms where we belonged. We were eager to see and to please our teachers. Let me tell you this, I almost flipped when I first met my French teacher, Jane Knox.

It was the day after Labor Day, September 1956.

Oh boy, I would not have been ready for Miss Knox in August, and she might not have been ready for me. She had just graduated from Lenoir Rhine College, where she was the homecoming queen.

Obviously, she needed the summer off before her first teaching job.

I appreciated the fact Miss Knox breathlessly wanted to teach me to parlez vous Francais. She succeeded beyond my wildest dreams. But I doubt if it would have happened had we begun in August. Ask any Frenchman, September is the month for French.

History is better suited for September, also. Nothing worthwhile ever happened in August. We save the big stuff for September. Football starts in September. So should school.

The educators aren't going to like what's been said here. It's never easy teaching a teacher. George Bernard Shaw once said that he who can, does. He who cannot, teaches.

I am positive that George Bernard Shaw would abhor school opening in August. They who cannot, teach in August.

Shooting for a spot in a higher league

*Whoever loves money never has money enough.
Whoever loves wealth is never satisfied with his income.*
Ecclesiastes 5:10

What good is accumulating what you cannot take from this world to surrender what no one can take from you in the next?

Pastors have been trying to preach why greater wealth does not bring satisfaction, frequently citing the passages written in Ecclesiastes. The writer's name is not mentioned but scholars believe the words come from King Solomon.

We are taught that life not centered on God is purposeless and meaningless. Without Him, nothing else will satisfy.

As we reach the September of our years, I believe it is easier to heed the message in the Bible. While we are concerned about our health and well-being, we are aware of the blessings that we enjoyed in life's journey.

I imagine it's tougher for young people just getting started in their schooling and careers. There seems to be more distractions and more financial woes than before — except for those who endured the Great Depression period. Battling, too, are the millions of dollars being given to professional athletes and entertainers. A fellow making minimum wage has to wonder how fair life can be with the discrepancies in pay.

But are those million-dollar athletes or entertainers any happier than the rest of us?

I've met the rich and famous, and some of them are very happy and content. I've met a few who definitely were not.

The people we see everyday enjoy advantages of not being rich and famous. They have more privacy and more freedom. They aren't being watched every second everywhere they go. We don't read about them in the newspapers or see them on television.

They're everyday people with everyday jobs and everyday responsibilities.

Some of them are very kind and content. Some are angry and mean-spirited.

My guess is that the ones who are kind and content are spiritually driven while the others — no matter how they have tried, are struggling to know and serve God. Perhaps this anger is out of pure frustration.

Those $10 million a year contracts may sound inviting. But any of us can do better in a higher league.

Harry Potter should make way for Joseph

Like many other downtown churches, King St. Chapel in Boston attracts to its Sunday services many transient and out-of-towners, the pastor will probably never see again.

But this visitor sitting in the last row had been coming faithfully for several weeks. He always slipped out the door during the singing of the final hymn, so it was some time before I learned the reason he came again the following Sunday to hear the continuation. By the third Sunday, he was so gripped by the suspense that he kept returning week after week.

There are many other stories in the Bible that are as riveting as a Harry Potter book. The problem is that they are often so long that ministers don't read them on Sundays.

This gave me the idea to make a serial out of some of the great Bible stories. Told in this fashion, the Joseph story took up the better part of the summer Bible reading in church presents the minister with some dilemmas. How many Bible verses is too many? At a mass I attended recently, there were 50 Bible verses read. Was the congregation paying attention to all of them? Were the people absorbing what they were hearing?

In some liturgical churches, there are readings from the Old Testament, the Psalms, Paul's epistles and the day's gospel — all at one service.

Contrast this with the length of the scripture readings at a Billy Graham crusade. At many crusade services, there may be only one Bible verse read, and on other occasions, none. Is Billy neglecting the Bible in his ministry? Hardly.

He preaches from the Bible. He believes every word in there. He often holds the open Bible in his hand while he is preaching. He exhorts his listeners to read their Bibles.

But do scripture readings in the average church edify the congregation? They are often read without explanation, illumination or inspiration. More times than not, they are not read well, leaving the impression that the reader did not rehearse beforehand.

If you think it's hard to put down the Harry Potter books, once you've picked them up, you should sample some of the adventure stories in the Bible. There is not a more touching story in all of literature than the story of Abraham going out to sacrifice his only son, Isaac. For paths, read the opening chapters of the book of Job.

Or, you may want to start, as I did, with Joseph and his brothers. Move over, Harry Potter.

Main course salads aren't just for lunch anymore

The idea of a salad as a main course seems so dainty, so diet-ish, so ladies-who-lunch-ish, so ... unsatisfying. But the good news is that there are some great, big salads out there, packed with flavor and waiting to be served not just as an appetizer, but also as a main course. Ray Overton's cookbook, "Main Course Salads," has shown us that salads are not for the faint-hearted. Some of the recipes don't even have lettuce in them.

Marialisa Calta

And speaking of lettuce, I've noticed recently a lot of faux "nostalgia" for iceberg lettuce. The food magazines glorify it as a "retro" dish, as if it were a thing of the past — which it may be in trendy restaurants, but not in American homes. Most of the lettuce sold in this country is iceberg. I feel about iceberg lettuce the way the humorist Ogden Nash did. I quote from his poem "Iceberg Lettuce," from the collection titled "Food" (Stewart, Tabori & Chang, 1989): "I cheerfully forgive my debtors / But I'll never pardon iceberg lettuce / A pallid package of rigidity / A globe of frozen insipidity /

If you like food, and have been eating iceberg lettuce most of your life, you owe yourself a change. There is a wonderful variety of greens out there, and your taste buds will applaud if you try watercress, arugula, radicchio, frisee, mache or mizuna. If you're feeling rich, pony up several bucks a pound for "mesclun" — the name of which simply means a mixture of several different kinds of greens.

Summer is the time for main-course salads. For the most part, they can be made without heating up the kitchen. They can be messy, but summer is also the time for messy foods such as corn on the cob, watermelon, ribs and lobster.

And now, to the recipes. These are all large, robust salads that pack a punch, and all are from Overton's book. They call for lots of ingredients. Some of the ingredients sound exotic, but they all should be available at most supermarkets. And once the ingredients are assembled, they don't take much time to throw together. They will please your taste buds and will not leave you feeling "diet-ish" in the least. So much for the "ladies-who-lunch."

servings (optional)

Put the seeds in a hot, dry skillet over medium heat. Cook, shaking the skillet, until they are slightly browned and fragrant (the pumpkin seeds will pop). This will only take a few minutes. Remove from the skillet and set aside.

In a large bowl (preferably glass), layer the beans, tomatillos, tomatoes, red onion, green onions, garlic, corn, cucumber, jalapenos, tortilla chips and cheese.

In a small bowl, whisk together the lime juice, chili powder, cumin, coriander and cilantro. Whisk in the peanut oil in a thin, steady stream and add salt and pepper to taste.

Just before serving, dress the salad and toss to coat completely. Garnish with the toasted seeds. Serve at once, plain or with tortillas. (The tortillas can be eaten as bread on the side, or can serve as a "wrap" for the salad.) Yield: serves 6.

— Recipe slightly adapted from "Main-Course Salads," by Ray Overton (Longstreet Press, 1999)

SMOKED TROUT AND APPLE SALAD WITH SPICY PECAN VINAIGRETTE
 2/3 cup chopped pecans
 2 Granny Smith apples, halved, cored and thinly sliced
 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lemon juice
 2 pounds smoked trout, bones and skin removed

 1 red onion, peeled and thinly sliced
 1 red bell pepper, stemmed, seeded and thinly sliced
 1 yellow bell pepper, stemmed, seeded and thinly sliced

1 green bell pepper, stemmed, seeded and thinly sliced
 1/4 cup pepper-flavored vodka
 1 tablespoon coarse-grained Dijon mustard

2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
 2 garlic cloves, peeled and chopped
 1 tablespoon capers, rinsed and drained
 1 teaspoon Tabasco, or to taste

1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 1 teaspoon sugar
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Put the nuts on a skillet or baking sheet and toast until browned and fragrant, 5 to 10 minutes. Stir occasionally and watch closely, because they burn easily. Remove pan from oven, remove nuts from pan, and set aside.

Toss the apples with 1 tablespoon of the lemon juice. Pick though the trout for any small bones. Flake the fish until it is broken up into bite-sized pieces. In a large bowl, combine the trout, red onion, bell peppers and apples.

Make the vinaigrette: In a small bowl mix together the vodka, the remaining 1/4 cup lemon juice, the mustard, horseradish, garlic, capers and Tabasco. Whisk in the olive oil until the mixture is thoroughly combined. Add the salt, pepper, sugar and toasted pecans. Taste and adjust seasonings with additional salt and pepper. Pour the vinaigrette over the salad and let sit at room temperature for 30 minutes. Just before serving, toss once more and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Project

will keep it self contained. If the water from this land is contained, that solves a lot of these folks problems."

Not everyone in the area is against the project. Bruce Rhea is a member of St. Thomas Moore Catholic Church, which plans to build a Spanish mission-style facility on the corner of Riverview and Narcissus.

"I'm in favor of the project because it brings utilities to the area," Rhea said during a public hearing on the rezoning for the proposed development. "There's a lot of septic tanks in that area that are in terrible condition. City sewer will be a big help."

And Greanya said he is not against developing the land. "It's nice living out there with the cows, but I'm not against putting new homes there," Greanya said. "We just want to know how they're going to deal with all the water."

and Zoning Commission will have to take up when Murray presents a site plan for approval. During Thursday night's meeting, the commission considered a zoning request that would change the land classification from A-1 agriculture to PD plan development for single-family residential. The board approved the rezoning, but stipulated the development must have 60-foot wide lots adjacent to the Palm Drive residents, rather than the 50-foot lots Murray was proposing.

"That will make the density less than four units per acre," said Jay Marder, director of engineering and planning for the city.

Greanya and his family will continue to monitor the situation and hope for the best.

"My mom has spent twice as much to stop the water as she did for the original house," Greanya said. "I hope she doesn't have to spend much more."

policing nationwide by providing funding to communities to hire community policing officers.

The award is given in 26 separate states, which, this year, will amount to approximately 1,905 new officers. Since the program's inception, funding has been supplies for over 100,000 new officers nationwide, including 6,540 in Florida.

for key services involving computers, office equipment and others, remembering that flooding may also affect them.

Assemble disaster supplies at the business including a radio with battery back-up, heavy-gauge plastic, sandbags, pre-cut plywood for windows and doors, portable lights, generators and cell phones.

"Storm season is like taxes," Murray said. "We know it's coming every year and we know that flooding is the greatest threat it brings. It's just good business sense to be prepared."

Although there is a requirement for adequate retention ponds around business developments and residential areas, and there is generally sufficient drainage, over the past years we have seen the large amount of rainfall associated with hurricanes or tropical storms which could not be handled by the ponds and sewers at the rate the rain is falling.

While it is always hoped the danger of flooding does not pertain to a particular business or location, there is always the possibility.

The best way to cope with this is to be sure you have flood insurance, which is generally not contained in regular insurance, and undertake preparations now, while you are still high and dry.

offered at the school. It stressed the point that an employee's market exists today. Many employers are offering bonuses, clothing allowances, company vehicles to employees and future employees.

"With SCC, the keys to your dream car are closer than you think," was a message to prospective students.

From all indications, SCC's president and faculty would prefer everyone get a dream car and not use skates or skate boards. Skates and skateboards are prohibited on college property.

building 25 homes on the property.

In January, City Commission approved the rezoning request. However, it denied the development's preliminary site approval based on concerns over the exact amount of wetlands on the property.

Plans for the development eventually fell through, which gave the Leidighs an opportunity to purchase the property. Currently, the couple, who are long-time residents of Lake Mary, is waiting for "the lawyers to finish the paperwork" so they can buy the land.

"This property is a sensitive piece of property," Darrell Leidigh said. "We need to protect such an environment."

"The environment should be important to everybody," he said. "The better environment you have for wildlife, the better environment you have for people."

Plans for the sale and transfer of the property will be finalized during the next several months. In the meantime, city officials are pondering what a wonderful gift the Leidighs are giving to the city.

"What an amazing legacy," Meador said. "This is remarkable."

Suns roll into Elite 8

Lake Mary-based squad posts third straight blowout

Special to the Herald

PHOENIX - Now the real work begins for the Central Florida Suns.

After falling behind for the first time in the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) 17-and-Under National Tournament the Suns' bats came to life once again as the team picked up its third straight run rule victory, 14-4, over the Bayshore (San Francisco, California) HaySox at Phoenix, Arizona Wednesday.

Jason Weir led the offense as the Suns rallied from a 3-0 deficit to improve to 6-0 overall in the 40-team tournament and finish 3-0 in Championship Pool play, earning a spot in the eight-team Championship Playoffs.

The Boone High School standout was a perfect three for three at the plate, but he got plenty of help from his teammates.

Also having monster days at the plate were former Dr. Phillips star Ralph Colon, who went two for two, scored three runs and drove in three; Plant City-Durrant product Stephen Lee, who went two for three and scored three runs; and the Lake Mary duo of Kyle Bono (two hits, two RBI) and Josh Gray (single, two RBI).

Anthony Carbo, out of Tampa-Hillsborough High School, was the winning pitcher allowing three runs on four hits while striking out four. Lake Mary's Matt Horwath came in to close the comp.

Wednesday's clubbing follows 12-2 (Illinois Bolcats) and 11-1 (Dallas Hurricanes) Run Rule wins on Tuesday in the Championship Pool, giving the Suns a combined score of 37-7 over their opponents in the pool.

The Suns hoped to carry that momentum into their quarterfinal contest against the Slam Senators from Austin, Texas. The winner of that game would advance to Friday's Final Four.

Because of the ease of the victories this week, Sun's manager, Mike Bono, feels that his pitching rotation for the championship bracket is set up perfectly with Weir (an All-Tournament Team selection in the Junior Olympic Tournament in Tucson last year), Lee (the Suns' top pitcher the past two years and the Tampa area's ERA leader this past season) and Boone's Cameron Abel (second in Central Florida in strike outs this season and the winning pitcher in the 14-and-Under National Championship Game at Disney World three years ago), all well rested for the Suns' championship run.

This would be the first National title for the Suns, which was one of the original Florida AAU teams that were founded back in 1994, and Chris Parsons, Ben Poole and Kyle and Ryan Bono, all of whom have been with the team since the very beginning.

Post 53 wins, but rain is still plaguing State Tournament

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The Sanford American Legion Campbell-Lossing Post 53 baseball team finally got to the take the field in the Class A State Tournament on Thursday in Lakeland.

And things went well in the opener as the local squad, which is seeking its third state title in four years, knocked off Bay County Post 375, 8-4.

Post 375, made up of players from the highly successful Mosley High School program at Lynn Haven in the panhandle, had come into the tournament with the most wins, 39, of any team in the eight-team field.

The victory improved Post 53 to 39-8 and sent them into a scheduled game with Palm Beach Post 12 (24-8) which whipped Jost Winter Haven Post 8, 8-3, on Thursday.

But once again, the evening rains washed the game out and the two teams were scheduled to play at 8:30 a.m. this morning at Joker Marchant Stadium, the spring training home of the Detroit Tigers.

In games that were played on Thursday, New Smyrna Beach Post 17 (21-9) stayed alive by eliminating Madeira Beach Post 273 (17-12), 8-7 in 10 innings; Bay County (40-18) bounced back to oust Winter Haven, 21-5; and Ft. Pierce Post 358 (39-5) was leading Brandon Post 278 (14-3), 12-7 in the fifth inning when the game was suspended because of rain.

The Ft. Pierce-Brandon game was to have been completed at 9 a.m. this morning, with the loser having to turn right around and play Bay County at 11 a.m. at Henley Field.

The Sanford-Palm Beach loser will also not get much rest either as it was scheduled to take on New Smyrna Beach at 2 p.m. at Henley Field.

After the 2 p.m. game, the schedule gets confusing because the tournament is set up in two brackets like the NCAA Division I College World Series.

The Sanford-Palm Beach winner was scheduled to play the winner of the Bay County vs. Ft. Pierce-Brandon loser game at 5 p.m. at Henley Field.

If the Sanford-Palm Beach winner wins that game, that team would win the bracket and advance to the Championship Game. But a loss by the undefeated team would force a winner-take-all game between the two to see who advances.

The Ft. Pierce-Brandon winner was to play the winner of the New Smyrna Beach vs. Sanford-Palm Beach loser game at 7 p.m.

The same scenario exists in the 7 p.m. game as the 5 p.m. game. If the winning team is undefeated it would win the bracket and advance to the finale, but a loss would force a winner-take-all game.

The "if necessary games", if one or two is needed, would be played Saturday morning with the winner and/or winners advancing to the Championship Game at a time to be announced later Saturday.

PREDATORS ADVANCE

ORLANDO - Quarterback Connell Maynor (No. 10 above) was named the MVP of the game after throwing three touchdown passes and running for another, and the defense held the Tampa Bay Storm to only three second half points as the Orlando Predators eliminated the Storm from the playoffs for the third straight year, 34-24, at the TD Waterhouse Centre Thursday.

Orlando, the No. 2 seed, will host a semifinal game next Saturday or Sunday (August 12 or 13), the time and opponent to be determined after the completion of the quarterfinals on Sunday.

Magic get more local on very active day

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - The Orlando Magic said good-bye to three popular players, including a hometown product, but welcomed three Floridians and a five-time NBA All-Star to the fold on a very busy Thursday.

The Magic's top rookie from last year, Orlando Evans High School product Chucky Atkins, and last year's leading rebounder, Ben Wallace, were both sent to the Detroit Pistons as part of a sign-and-trade deal for All-NBA stand-out Grant Hill, while the top rookie from 1998-99, Matt Harpring, was sent to the Cleveland Cavaliers for Clearwater native Andrew DeClerq.

That deal should help soften the loss of Wallace.

Also on Thursday, Orlando traded a future draft pick to Toronto for Auburndale native Tracy McGrady and veteran guard Dee Brown, who already called Orlando home in the off-season and is a Jacksonville native, signed with the Magic.

In other news, the Magic also got a new trainer and announced their preseason schedule.

MAGIC OBTAINS GRANT HILL

The Orlando Magic have obtained five-time NBA All-Star forward Grant Hill from the Detroit Pistons in a sign-and-trade deal in exchange for Chucky Atkins and Ben Wallace, General Manager John Gabriel announced Thursday. Per club policy, terms of the deal were not disclosed.

Hill (6-foot-8, 225-pounds, date of birth - 10/5/72) averaged 25.8 points per game, 6.6 rebounds per game, 5.2 assists per game and 1.39 steals per game in 74 regular season games for Detroit during the 1999-2000 season.

He was selected to the All-NBA Second Team after finishing third in the league in scoring, 20th in field goal percentage, tied for 21st in assists, 21st in minutes played, 31st in steals and 39th in rebounding. Hill led the Pistons in both scoring and assists.

Hill has played in 435 career NBA regular season outings, all with Detroit, averaging 21.6 points per game, 7.9 rebounds per game, 6.3 assists per game and 1.60 steals per game in 39.1 minutes per game.

He has also appeared in 15 career playoff contests, averaging 19.6 points per game, 6.9 rebounds per game, 5.6 assists per game and 1.20 steals per game in 36.8 minutes per game. Hill was originally drafted in the first round (third overall) by the Pistons in the 1994 NBA Draft. Hill has started in the NBA All-

Star Game five consecutive times and led the league in voting twice (1995, 1996). He was named to the All-NBA First Team and cap-

NBA Player-of-the-Week five times during his career and picked up NBA Player-of-the-Month honors once.

Orlando Magic head coach Doc Rivers got a whole bunch of new toys to play with on Thursday as the team made several moves to improve itself for 2000-2001 NBA season.

Following his rookie campaign, Hill was named to the 1996 United States Olympic Men's Basketball Team, where he helped "Dream Team III" capture the gold medal in Atlanta. He was also named to the 2000 U.S. Olympic Team, but will not be able to participate due to injury.

The honors continue for Hill off the court as well, being named the NBA's All-Interview First Team in 1999-2000 and 1998-97. He picked up All-Interview Second Team honors in 1994-95, 1995-96, 1997-98 and 1998-99.

While at Duke University, Hill helped the Blue Devils win back-to-back NCAA titles in 1991 and 1992. Duke appeared in three straight NCAA Championship games, won three ACC regular season championships and one ACC Tournament title with Hill, who averaged 14.9 points per game, 6.0 rebounds per game and 3.6 assists per game during his collegiate career.

He was named consensus First Team All-America and the ACC Player-of-the-Year following his senior season (1993-94), earned Second Team All-America honors as a sophomore and junior and was a consensus Freshman All-American. Hill became the first player in ACC history to record 1,900 points, 700 rebounds, 400 assists, 200 steals and 100 blocked shots. He was the eighth player in school history to have his jersey (33) retired.

Hill is married to four-time Grammy-nominated recording artist Tamia Washington. He is the only child of Calvin and Janet Hill. His father was a running back with three NFL teams from 1969-74 and 1976-81, while his mother serves as a consultant in the Washington D.C. area. He also served as vice-chairman of the 1999 Special Olympics World Games, held in North Carolina.

Atkins (5-foot-11, 160-pounds) played in all 82 games last season for the Magic, averaging 8.5 points per game, 3.7 assists per game and 1.5 rebounds per game in 19.8 minutes per game off the bench.

He finished second on the Magic in assists and ranked among all NBA rookies in three-point field goal percentage (5th, .350), assists (7th), scoring (8th) and field goal percentage (10th, .424). He also stood third among all NBA rookies in points per 48 minutes (23.1 avg.). Atkins was named to the 1999-2000 NBA All-Rookie Second Team.

Wallace (6-foot-9, 240-pounds) appeared in 81 games during 1999-2000 for Orlando, averaging 4.8 points per game, 8.2
