ARIES (March 21-April 19) This can be an interesting day, because you get enjoyment out of whatever you do. You even have a way of doing your work so it becomes fun.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll be a lot better off today if you step back from a project which has you stymied. Eliminating the pressure may give you a fresh approach.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Others find you dependable today and they know things will be done properly. You can make many points.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Because you're not one to overlook small amounts today, they'll add up for you. You'll end up with a sizeable sum. Others may not.

Non-Aspirins Relieve Pain

DEAR DR. LAMB— I have never been able to take aspirin. Is there any other medicine as good to take the place of aspirin?

DEAR READER — A medicine should be chosen for a particular purpose. Aspirin is useful in both relieving pain and in decreasing inflammation. I do not know why you can't take aspirin, but accepting your statement I would suggest that you avoid any of the available medicines you can buy without a prescription that also contain aspirin. To give you a list of these I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-B, Aspirin and Related Medicines. Others who want information about these medicines can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX, 78209.

You can use Tylenol as it does not contain any salicylates found in aspirin. It will be useful in relieving mild pain. It will not relieve inflammation. Medicines to relieve inflammation should be prescribed by a physician. The amount of aspirin it takes for this effect is too much to take on your own. A physician may wish to prescribe Motrin. It also is useful in relieving pain, but it is no more effective than aspirin treatment in equivalent amounts.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 16-year-old girl and have an intimate sexual relationship with my 17-year-old boyfriend. I am concerned as to whether I can become pregnant if my virginity is not taken. We use the withdrawal technique. Is there any possibility that I can conceive if the hymen is not ruptured?

My boyfriend is confident that no sperm can inundate the ovary if the hymen is still intact. Personally I tend to believe this, but I am having apprehensions. I hope you can yourself. The information could cause more harm than good.

A Canadian reader wants to know if the two-club double was for takeout.

The answer is no. Once your opponents have bid three suits all doubles are primarily for penalty.

We are indebted to Terence Reese and the Bridge World magazine for today's hand. South gets to four spades after a club opening bid by West and a heart response by East. He wins the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's queen and studies the hand. Obviously the hand is going to collapse if East can get in to lead a club through the king. Also South must find some way to get rid of a couple of his clubs on dummy's hearts. Can he accomplish these two things?

Yes, if he can trade his heart loser for a diamond loser. So, South cashes his king of diamonds, leads a diamond to dummy's ace and returns the 10 of diamonds. East plays low and now South jets his jack of hearts. West takes his jack of diamonds and can find nothing better to do than play ace and another trump. South wins in dummy, leads the 10 of hearts, ruffs East's king, enters dummy with another trump, discards two of his three clubs on the nine-eight of hearts and makes his contract.

SUNDAY EDITION

Evening Herald

69th Year, No. 120—Sunday, January 9, 1977 Sanford, Florida 32711—Price 20 Cents

Let's scotch some rumors, Earlings. First off, School Sup. Bud Laver informs the Ear he'll be here for the duration of his recently won four-year term. The latest rumor has the popular superintendent joining State Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington's staff in Tallahassee.

"That's crazy," says Laver. "Absolutely untrue." The rumor is circulating among some teachers, and it was prevalent among members of the county's teacher's union — the Seminole Education Association (SEA). SEA boss Gene Grooms is irked at School Board Atty. Doug Stenstrom for telling the board it can accept the master's report (an $8,400 minimum starting salary for teachers). Laver's recommendation ($8,300), or come up with one of its own. If the board opts for its own package, The Ear hears Grooms will ask to go back to the bargaining table. If that doesn't happen, it may be lawsuit time.

County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski, known to be heavy-handed at times, may be at it again. After a county planner criticized the board's decision to locate a new car dealership on U.S. 17-92, The Ear heard Kwiatkowski asking who the planner was and, more specifically, who he thought he was. Careful, Harry, those planners may just leave you out of the future if you get them too perturbed. The planner in question — Jim Chantry — gets a tip of The Ear for speaking out — telling the truth as he sees it even if it is in opposition to opinions held by political bosses.

It was a sight to see — Probation and Parole officers working out of suitcases after they were ousted from the courthouse in Sanford. District Supervisor Jim Lee said 16 officers responsible for 500 persons in Seminole will make their temporary home in — of all places — Orlando.

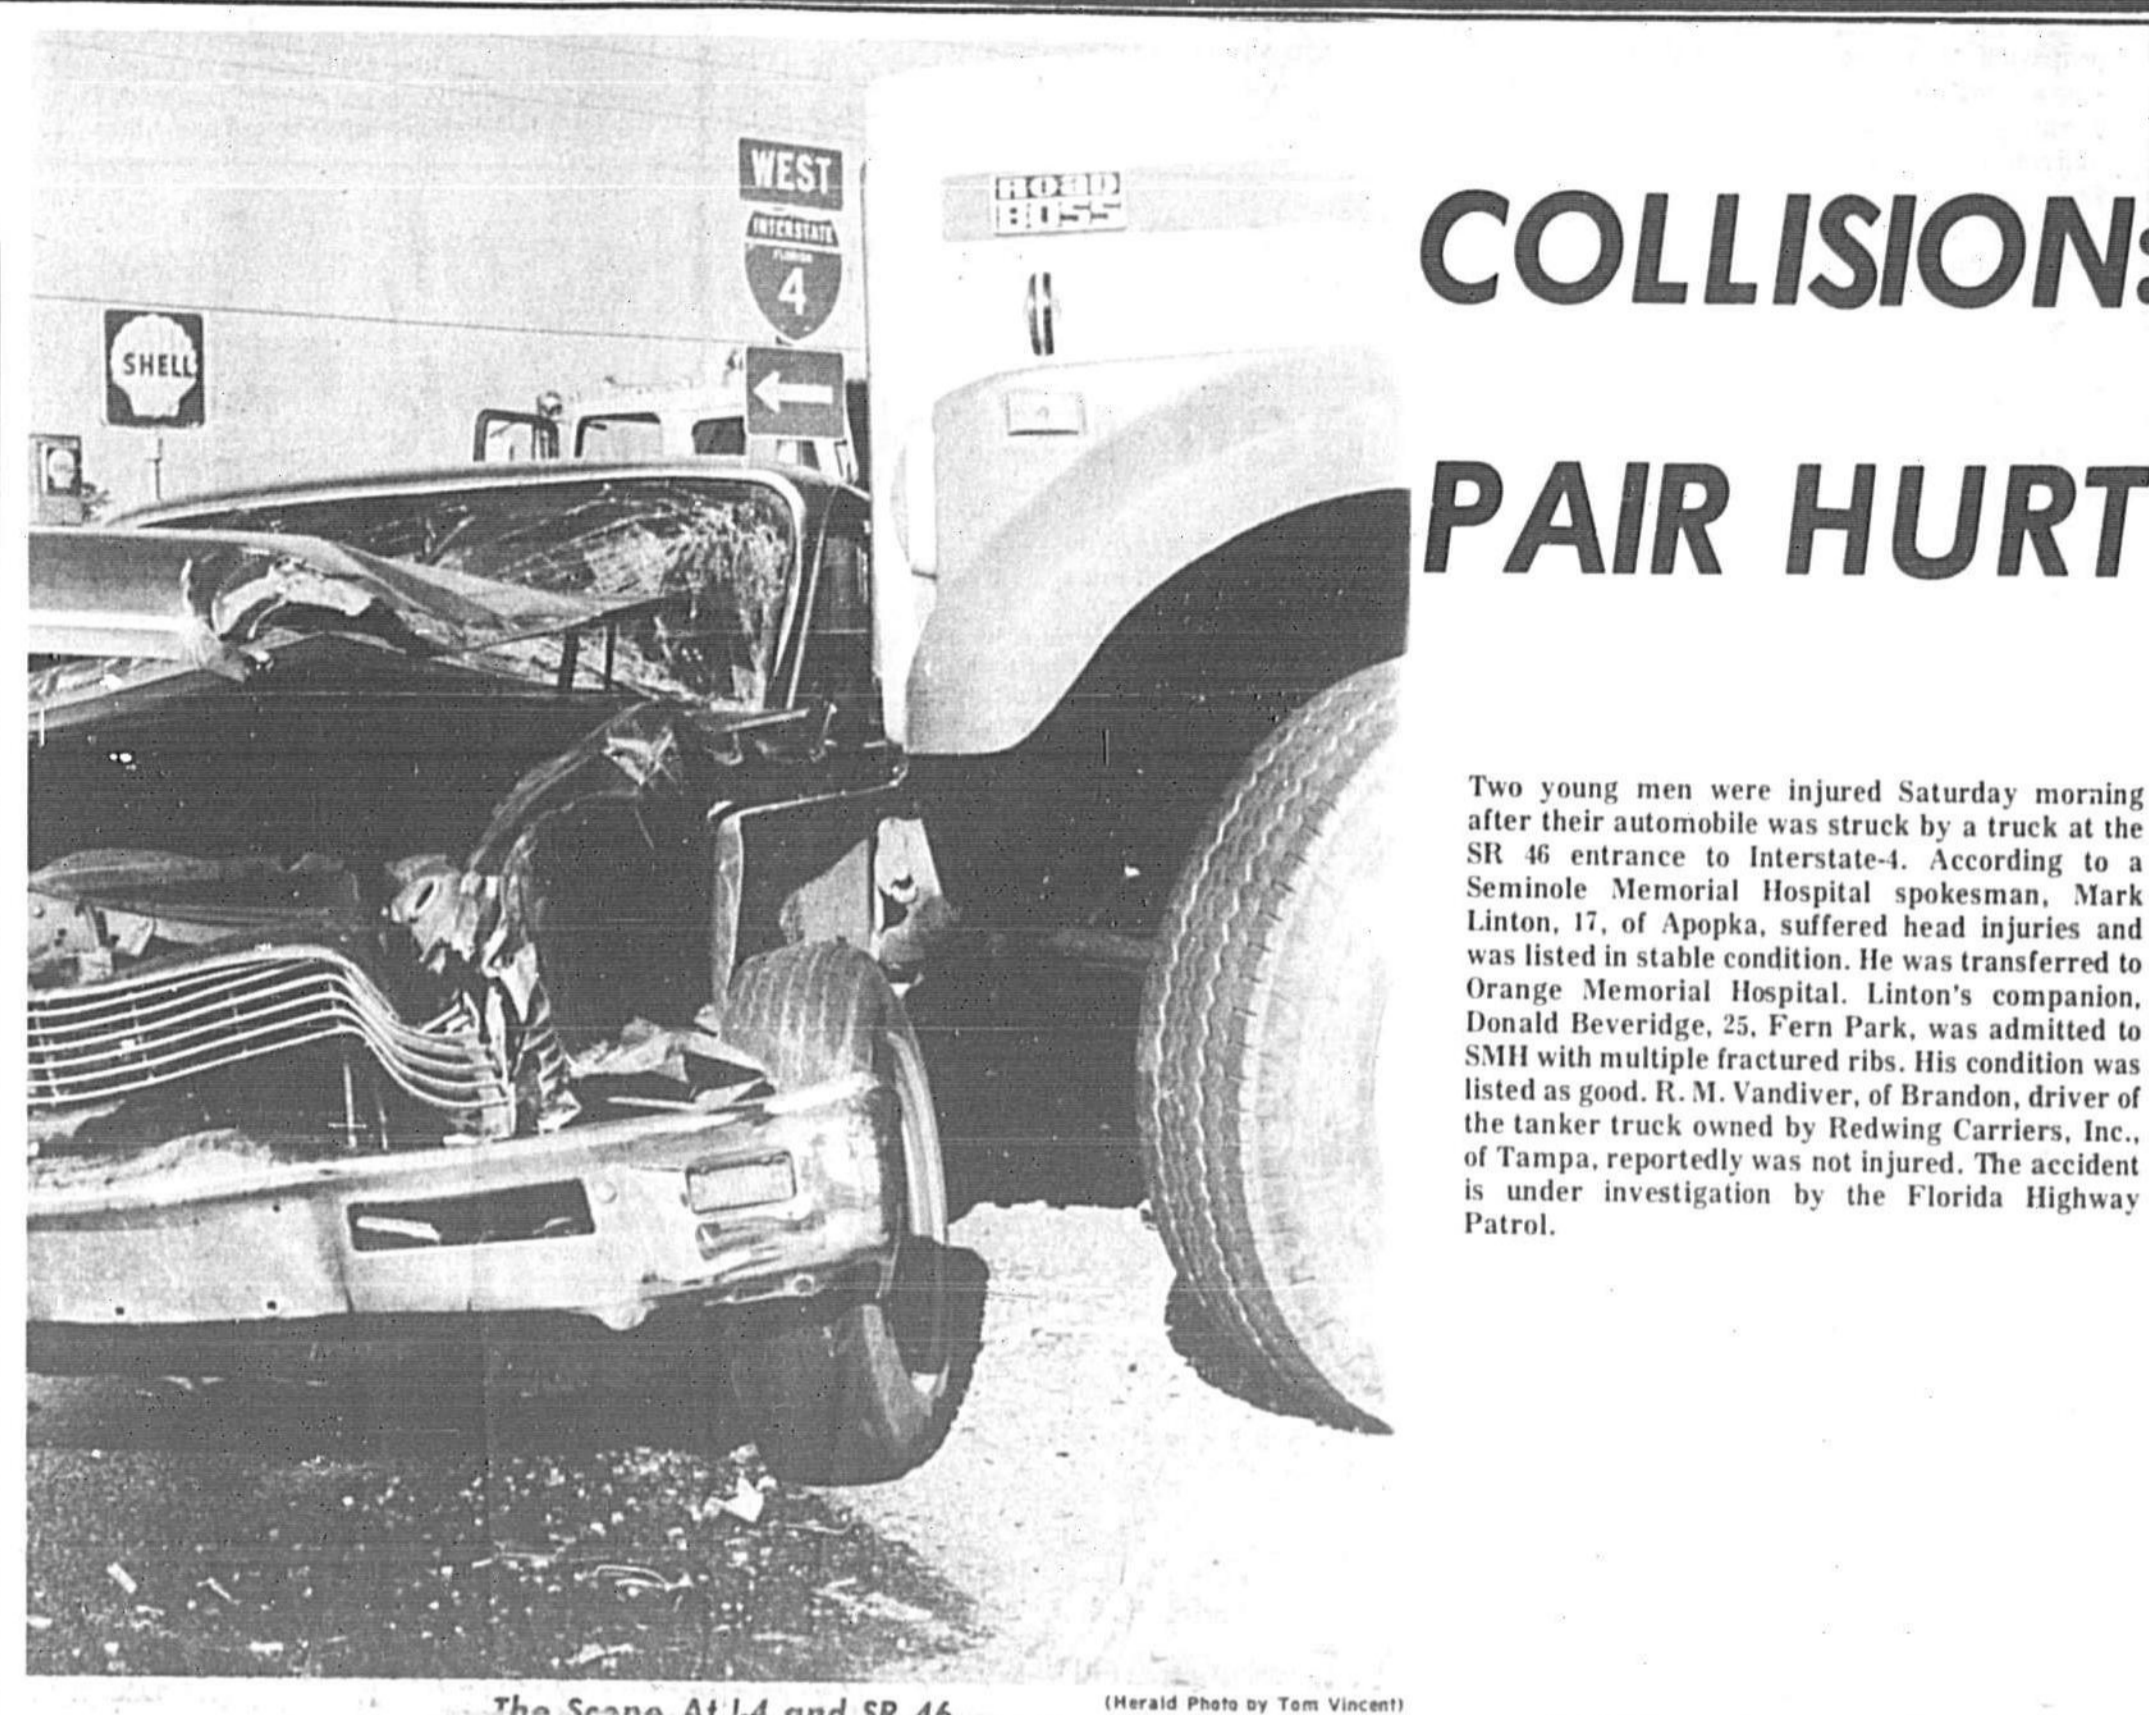

Lee's operations were ousted to make way for the new county judge, Alan Dickey. And, anyway The Ear looks at it, it was an exercise in absurdity — both on the part of the state and the county.

Officials — including Lee — have known since last September that Lee's offices would have to go. But it wasn't until the 12th hour that Lee got out and Dickey in. If that's the kind of planning the state and the county are responsible for, The Ear wants no part of it.

The Ear hears Casselberry Mayor Gerald Christensen is going outside the city to hire a new utility director to replace former director John Lane.

Seems utility chiefs are miffed that they're not being considered for the top post, but the word is Christensen's got his man picked out — and he's not from Casselberry.

Another Ear source, however, says the title "Utility Director" may be passed. Instead, one new person would be hired, and utility operations would be run by two or more top-ranking chiefs. Wait and see.

Two young men were injured Saturday morning after their automobile was struck by a truck at the SR 46 entrance to Interstate-4. According to a Seminole Memorial Hospital spokesman, Mark Linton, 17, of Apopka, suffered head injuries and was listed in stable condition. He was transferred to Orange Memorial Hospital. Linton's companion, Donald Beveridge, 25, Fern Park, was admitted to SMH with multiple fractured ribs. His condition was listed as good. R. M. Vandiver, of Brandon, driver of the tanker truck owned by Redwing Carriers, Inc., of Tampa, reportedly was not injured. The accident is under investigation by the Florida Highway Patrol.

He's The Teachers' Tallahassee Voice

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's teachers and all teachers in Florida will have an effective advocate — a lobbyist — working on their behalf during the upcoming session of the Legislature in Tallahassee.

The man's name is Tay Green. He is a former math and science teacher, formerly principal of a large high school, past principal of a research and development center for Florida State University, and executive director of the public school committee of the Florida Senate.

Now he is employed by the 30,000 member Florida Education Association, which is affiliated with the 1.8 million member National Education Association (NEA).

During the upcoming session, he will eat and breathe teachers' needs and spend 20 hours daily passing the word and exhibiting his enthusiasm and dedication to the educational profession he loves and someday plans to go back to.

Practicing his particular concept of guarding against being a part of and competing with the people he is trying to pinpoint, he refuses to name any individual legislators who are more proeducation than others and lauds the legislators of today.

"All legislators are pro-education," he said, adding that some have received faulty information of what legislation they think is needed," he said, noting their job now is to communicate "our goals and objectives" to the Seminole Legislative Delegation.

"Our (the state) number one priority is educational finance and teacher welfare," Green said.

"Teachers in Florida since 1968 have lost 14.8 per cent in real dollars in salary. They have progressed less than any other state in the union. According to a national research association that collects data on teacher salaries from all over the United States, Florida in 1968 ranked 22nd and now ranks about 37. There has been no significant progress since 1961 in salaries for teachers. The two major factors in this are the state's economy and collective bargaining," Green said.

"The educational system in Florida is faced with reducing programs or not providing adequate salaries for teachers. Some of our teachers actually qualify for welfare and food stamps.

"I will be trying to identify and gain passage of additional taxes on alcohol and cigarettes, as primary targets with adjustments in the corporate taxes and consideration as well to increasing the sales tax.

"Taxes on cigarettes and alcohol seem more acceptable

LOVE DOES NOT PAY

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH, (AP) — Shamus, a 150-pounds German Shepherd trained to be ferocious and apprehend dangerous felons as this city's only police dog, has been declared unfit for duty because of love.

A female German Shepherd tickled Shamus' fancy this week when she walked through an alley next to the backyard where Shamus was sunning.

Six-year-old Shamus followed, and now will have to pay for his unsheduled journey with several weeks of retraining in obedience school.

"It was the first love," said policeman Gary Petch in defense of his dog. "I've had the dog for three years, and he's never walked off before."

Petch, who lives in nearby Gulfport, had friends, St. Petersburg Beach and Gulfport policemen and Pinellas County sheriff's deputies looking for Shamus when the dog disappeared Tuesday.

"I thought it was possible a little old lady might have had him in her house," said Petch. Finally, a local postman told Petch that Shamus was visiting at the James Lassiter home six blocks away.

Lassiter said Shamus had befriended the young schauzuer, Fritz. Lassiter said a part-German Shepherd, a female, lives next door.

"Everytime it (Shamus) heard a siren, it sounded like a bear was howling," Lassiter said. "I heard about three sirens that night. It sounded like a grizzly bear."

But he said Shamus was friendly and didn't get mean when he was shooed out of the way when he opened his front door.

Petch explained, "Police dogs have a split personality. When they're in the police car, they won't let anyone in the car except their master. And when they're out, anybody can pet them that the master allows."

But when he's off duty, he's off duty just like a regular cop," added Petch.

PRESIDENT FORD

A HAPPIER MOMENT

THE FINAL DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's farewell agenda is marked not for passage but for posterity, and he has no illusions about the fate of the proposals he is bequeathing to the government he soon will leave.

Still, in the last days of his presidency, Ford is making for the record a series of recommendations and messages on topics old and new.

There are more to come in the 11 days that remain before Democratic President-elect Carter takes office.

In large measure, a White House official said, Ford's final messages are intended to underscore matters of personal conviction.

One, his tax cut recommendation, redeems a campaign promise, even though it has no chance of enactment. Another, the energy message he released Friday, reviews his two-year series of conservation proposals, many of which foundered in Congress long ago.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb indicates that Ford still is "very likely" to attempt to remove price controls from gasoline, despite mounting congressional opposition. But there appears to be little chance of success. Zarb called the proposals "a scorecard... a document that can be left behind and studied by whomever."

In proposing statehood for Puerto Rico, Ford acted to meet a long-lapsed deadline for some kind of recommendation. His aides insist it was done with careful study and preparation, not as an afterthought. Still, that New Year's Eve proposal came as a surprise, and Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, acknowledged it was not well presented.

Those recommendations went to Congress, as well as a stipulating move to end price controls on gasoline and a possible measure to overhaul the government's energy agencies.

Ford will appear before a joint session of Congress on Jan. 12 to deliver his final State of the Union message, and his last budget will be submitted five days later.

But Congress is in a holding pattern, awaiting Carter, and White House officials acknowledge there is no chance the last-minute Ford proposals will go anywhere.

Ford still is considering some measure of amnesty for Vietnam era draft evaders and deserters, as he promised the widow of Sen. Philip A. Hart. Nessen said there is no chance Ford will approve blanket amnesty, but that he may order some more limited action.

Any move in that area would get him in a step ahead of Carter, who has promised to pardon draft dodgers the first week he is in office.

Ford could, and probably will, hand Carter a dilemma in another area simply by doing nothing. The issue is federal pay. Hefty increases have been recommended for top level officials, judges and members of Congress. Congressional pay would go from $44,600 to $57,500.

The increases would cost $129.5 million a year and, if Ford approves them, would take effect in 30 days unless Congress disapproved them.

But the issue is a tough one politically. A White House aide said the raises are needed, but the public isn't going to like them.

"It's a question of taking the political heat," the official said. "The Carter administration is going to get the benefits and the incumbent would take the blame."

THE WAY IT WAS

Mondale Will Go To Europe

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter said today he will dispatch Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale on a get-acquainted trip to West Germany, France, Great Britain and Japan within one week of the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Responding to questions at a chilly outdoor news conference on the lawn of his home, Carter also said he may make an exception to his rule against traveling abroad himself during his first year in office in order to attend an international summit conference on economic problems.

Carter said he expected the economic summit to be scheduled for late May or June but said the time and place have not been determined. It is expected that it will be held in Japan.

Discussing continuing contacts between his incoming administration and the Soviet Union, Carter said there's "been no major breakthrough" in the search for a new strategic arms limitation agreement.

However, Carter said he hoped there would be "substantial progress" before he has his first face-to-face meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The President-elect said he thought he might meet Brezhnev next fall, presumably in Washington.

Asked if he perhaps should be making the trip himself, Carter said Mondale "can perform adequately" at his best.

Gentlemen, Start Your Reels: Shad Derby Is On

The Shad Derby, a 10-week fishing contest for those two to five-pounders which inhabit Seminole County waters this time of the year, kicks off today.

There are few rules for this contest and no entry fee. Prizes for the tournament are still being arranged by a committee headed by Gene Meadors.

There will be weekly and overall winners for the largest shad caught and registered at one of several weigh-in stations — including Lemon Bluff Fish Camp, Marina Isle Camp and Monroe Sports Center.

Shad, which migrate from salt water to these waters to spawn, are to be found in large numbers all along the St. Johns River, stretching particularly from west of Lake Monroe to east of Lake Harney.

An average shad is one and one-half to two and one-half pounds, but this year's shad are running a little larger than usual, which prompts camp operators to speculate that it might take as much as a six-pounder this year to claim the grand prize.

Area businesses which have donated prizes for the tournament include Capp's Clothiers, Meadors Marine, Seminole Sporting Goods, Lemon Bluff, Flagship Bank of Sanford, Monroe Sports Center, Katie's at Wekiva Landing, Penney's of Sanford, Bob Dance Dodge, Walker Chemical, Land & Water Sporting Goods, Montgomery Ward of Altamonte Springs, Oshman's Sporting Goods and Johnny Bolton Ford.

Hello, Mr. Shadrack!

No one asked me, but: Shad just might be some of the most overlooked game fish of the day, and the Shad Derby which gets under way today is going to help give this little battler the credit he deserves.

I was down at Lake Monroe the other day and ran into Shadrack himself, who had a few revelations.

"Huh," said the little guy while taking a breather from chasing minnows, "all we've been hearing about are bass, bass, bass. What about us shad?"

You got a point there, Shadrack. But what's so special about shad, I mean, aren't there more than one fish in the ocean?

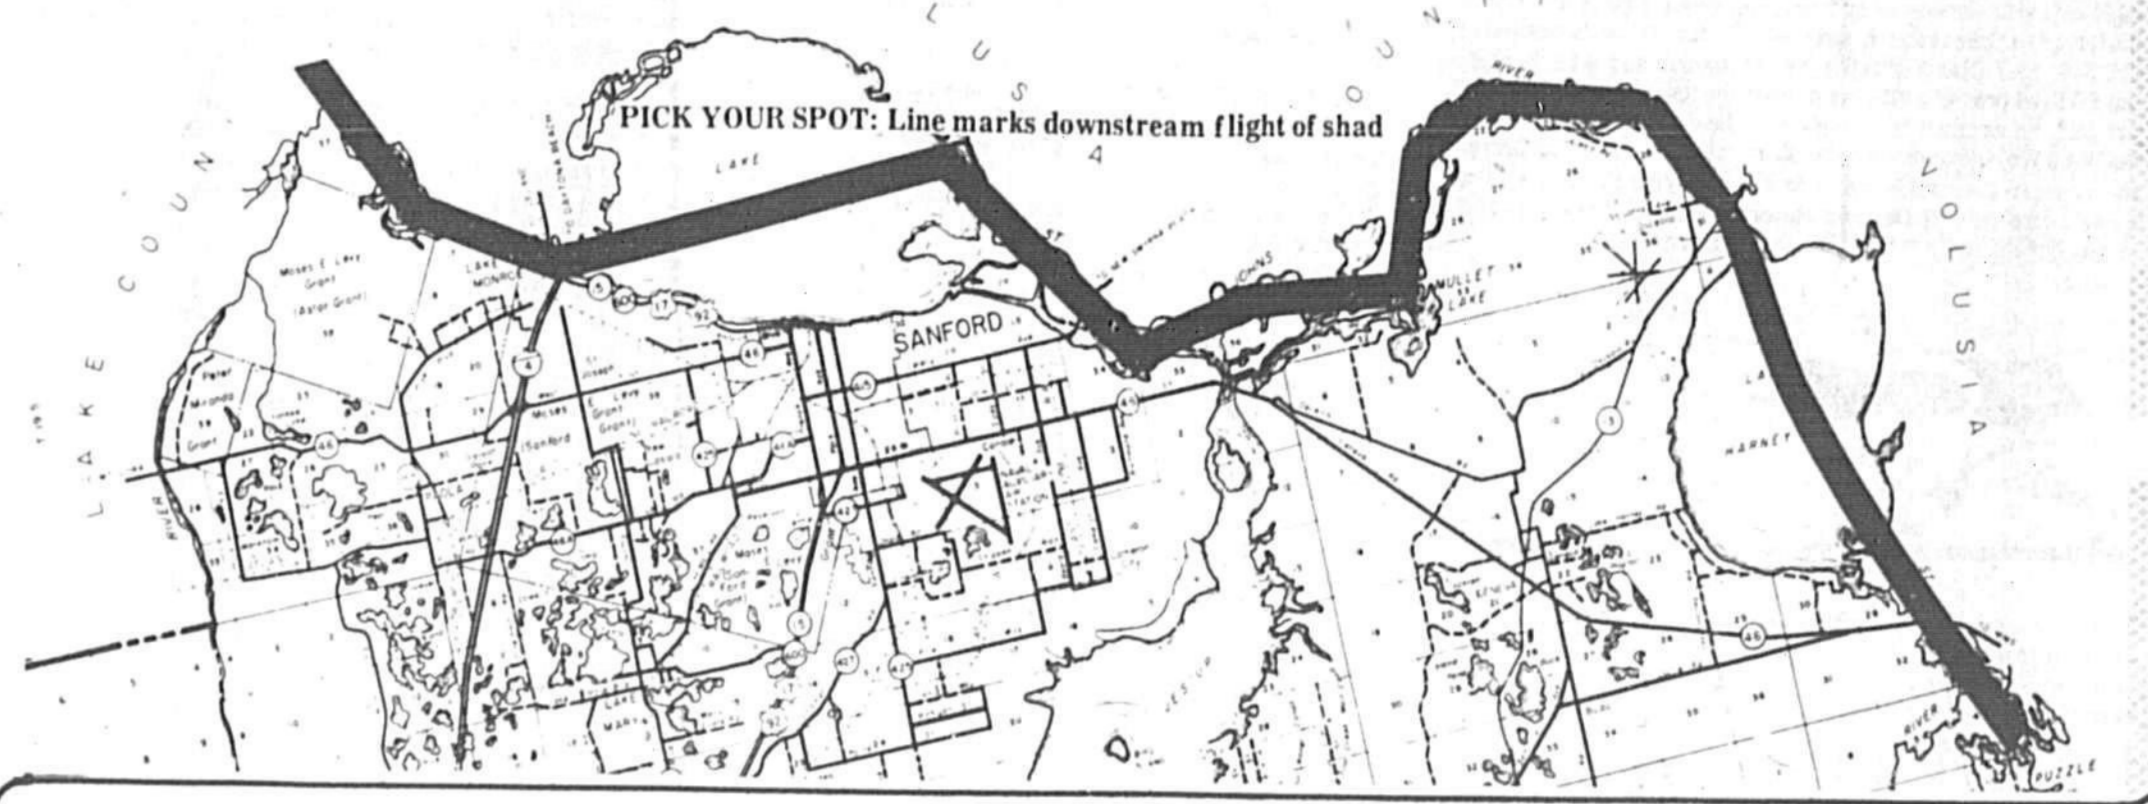

"You don't understand, bub. Equate it to your own Olympics. Every four years your best athletes go to Munich or Montreal and do their thing. Well, we shad spend four years in training, and we all participate. It's a test to the death."

Okay, Shadrack... but suppose I decide to play your game and I run in the Derby. How about a few tips for a beginner?

"Oh, no. No deal. You guys are wiping us out without help. We had to bring reinforcements down the St. Johns just to make certain we make it to the spawning beds. After four years of celibacy, I'm not giving away any secrets."

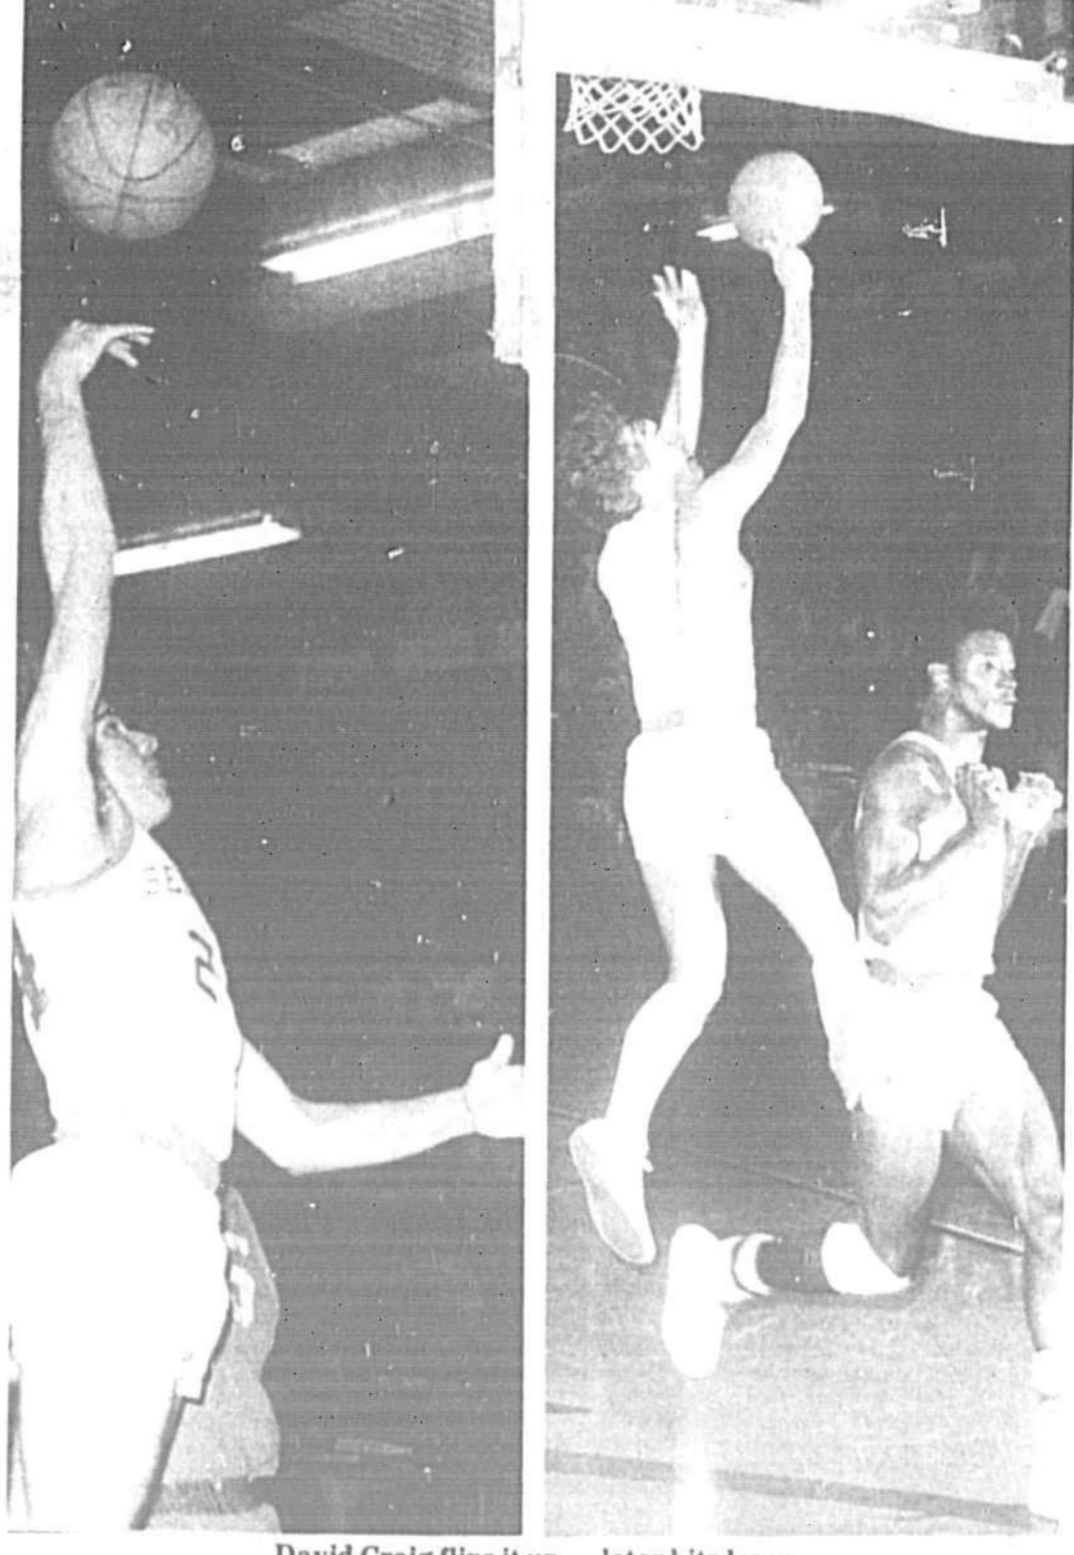

And off he went, headed presumably, to bed. I later learned that shad will bite on anything, but prefers spoons. They say the best way to catch 'em is to troll the river, since they stick to deep water, an area not easily accessible from the banks.

So to speak, the race is on.

There's a new sports club in Sanford, and if things go as planned, the city's semi-pro football team and a number of charities could benefit.

The Cosmopolitan Sports Club of Sanford has rented the building at 400 Sanford Ave. and plans to coordinate a number of adults activities which include golf, basketball, baseball, softball, football and general physical fitness.

In addition, plans are for weekend disco dances.

There are 30 members so far, mostly members of the semi-pro football team, who pay $5 dues per year. The club meets the second Sunday of each month at 7 p.m., is a non-profit organization, and is headed by president Larry Lemon.

Prospective members should contact Michael Roberts at 322-9296.

Tattletales Not Needed

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The chief enforcement officer of the National Collegiate Athletic Association doesn't need more tattletales.

There are plenty willing to provide information on rules violations — involving the other guy.

Warren S. Brown would rather see more voluntary cooperation from schools under investigation.

"Maybe the trend will be that more will cooperate voluntarily in the future," Brown said Friday.

It could result in a lighter penalty in the event the Committee on Infractions decided to place a school on probation, and probably did so in the University of Kentucky case last month.

"I think the penalties were severe," Brown said. "But Kentucky did one of the best jobs of self-disclosure and took significant action against some of their employees. Those things probably lightened their penalties."

The NCAA placed Kentucky on two years' probation in football and basketball, but applied sanctions only to football for one year, meaning the team cannot appear on television or compete in a bowl game next season.

No sanctions were placed on the basketball team, but grants were reduced for each year in both sports — by five in football and two in basketball.

defeat.

Seminole tasted two-point defeat twice Friday as Mainland's boys and girls basketball team posted victories.

The Seminole boys were beaten by a 56-54 count when little Earl Snead calmly dumped in an 18-foot jump shot with 13 seconds remaining. Snead finished with 14 points in the slow-down game, but James Edwards led the winners with 17 points.

Ruben Cotton led Seminole with 20 points and David Wiggins added 18.

In the girls' encounter, Mainland took a 33-31 victory as Devorie Cooper had tie winning baskets in the closing minutes.
