REHEARING PETITION DENIED BY THE SUPREME COURT YESTERDAY FIFTEEN DAYS

Are Left to Gunn in Which He Can Amend His Complaint

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 12.—With denial by the Supreme court yesterday of rehearing of the gasoline tax case sought by S. J. Gunn, who attacks the constitutionality of the law, the Leon circuit court in which Gunn brought action expected to issue a mandate validating the decision. Gunn has fifteen days from the time of its receipt by lower court to amend his complaint and if this is not done his case will be thrown out and tax act, as far as the present litigation is concerned, will remain in the statutes.

Should he file an amended bill he is confronted with the supreme court's opinion that the question of whether the bill was legally signed by the president officers of the senate and house should be decided only by the legislative journals. The journals show the bill was signed as a law. Mr. Gunn claims that the act was not signed by the president and was concerned until after the adjournment of the legislature.

When it comes free of the litigation and begins to operate...

TO MAKE TEST CASE IN "DRY" SHIP RULING

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Officials of the United Fruit Line announced last night that they had launched steps to bring a test case before the supreme court of the United States of Attorney General Clegg's decision that ships flying the United States flag could not bring liquor for sale within the three mile limit.

The line sent its attorneys, Lord, Day & Lord, of New York, to Washington yesterday to confer with the attorney general and to arrange for a writ of injunction to restrain the government from putting the law into effect.

The attitude of the American Steamship Association, however, as expressed by an official statement issued after the meeting of directors, is that it will peacefully abide by the Clegg ruling if the prohibition will, as a reward, tend their support to the ship subsidy bill now before congress. After enumerating the advantages which private American vessels, running dry, will suffer in competition with foreign ships, the association said:

"There is but one way in which this disadvantage can be met and that is by national aid along the lines now provided for in the national shipping bill."

The association believes that the friends of prohibition appreciate the situation and will be among the strongest advocates of giving to American ships every assistance that is necessary to maintain and uphold the merchant marine."

The association's stand was against any concerted effort to retain liquor on passenger ships by recourse to legal action, saying it felt "the situation is one which should be left to the individual companies."

Incidentally, all officials of foreign owned lines, announced it would be their policy "to live up to the law, no matter what the cost," and to await the outcome of the Cunard Line's test of the validity of Mr. Daugherty's ruling.

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Merchant Marine, said it would be the policy of his line, although he believed "it is our legal right to carry wine and liquors as stores to be consumed during the voyage."

BEAUTIFYING THE HOME

BY PROF. COOPER OF THE SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL AT THE BETTER HOMES DEMONSTRATION WEDNESDAY

At the Better Homes demonstration yesterday Prof. Cooper, agricultural instructor at the Sanford High School gave an instructive talk on "Beautifying the Home." There were 296 persons present among them being many members of the D. A. B. and other organizations. The talk of Prof. Cooper follows:

"A bare and ugly home ground is not good business, for beautifying grounds increases the value of the home and makes it more desirable to a purchaser. The common or hitherogeneous way of planting is unprofitable. We should use permanent plant and of that section of the country you will realize that salubrity is often influenced by the first impression.

Having a place with improvement already made has an advantage and a disadvantage. The plantings may mistakes are not all bad after all for they may help to teach him useful lessons.

In planning and planting our home grounds we should keep away from straight lines as much as possible and follow the curves of nature.

The natural style of landscape gardening endeavors to present it pictures in forms typical of the natural landscape and this is made vital by the landscape spirit. In small parks, undergrowth should not be cut away and a few large flower beds are preferable to a number of small ones.

Beautifying of the home and grounds is rapidly pushing to the front and becoming one of our most important arts. Lawn planting for small places is a simple, harmonious arrangement of plants. Individual beauties and not broad mass effect must be emphasized. Disposition of shrubbery one of the most important points in planting a lot. Curves and walks should be easy and flowing. Position of house should be on one side so as to mass in a single lawn as much as possible. Fence should be screened and very little if any architectural adornment should be allowed. Pleasing vines should be preserved, and special care taken to avoid uniform horizon lines. Never plant a large dark ever-green with a lot of brilliant deciduous trees. Beware of using large growing trees on small places.

Hardy borders can be used to a good effect in varied positions and should be planted so they will be attractive all the season. Perennial borders should not be planted against a hedge.

Well prepared seed beds should be used and plants set out in early spring. Summer cultivation is very important. Shrubs or ever-greens make a good background for borders. We should always keep in mind what our plants will develop into.

Simplicity should be stressed for this is the keynote of all great art.

You can improve your home this week.

The Better Homes demonstrations are very interesting.

And something that every lady in the land needs no matter how large or how small her home may be.

The oldest striker in the world died yesterday in Iowa. He had been on strike since 1888. The present railroad strike probably hastened his death.

The loss to the public and railroads and various trade channels in the recent coal strike was over a billion dollars. This ought to be a lesson to the operators and the coal miners and the government.

There is a new way to measure and compare the value of things. The new method is to measure them in terms of the things they can buy.

A new method of measuring the value of things is being used in the United States. It is to measure them in terms of the things they can buy.

BETTER HOMES EDITION

We are pleased to announce the publication of the special edition of the Herald which is in the eye of the community this week and the campaign to bring the better homes idea home to the people of every part of America.

"NOTHING TO DO BUT HOUSEWORK"

A Tired Housewife whose husband told her she had "Nothing to do but housewife" found, in providing to him a reason for her being tired, that by actual measurement of steps with a pedometer in a badly planned kitchen she walked three or four miles every day.

The Better Homes Campaign in its demonstration of model houses October 9 to 14 will show kitchens in which the steps of the average housewife may be reduced by half, thus saving energy and incidentally increasing efficiency.

The kitchen should be small, with no more wall space than is necessary to accommodate the furniture. In country homes where the kitchen is large the sink, stove, table, cabinet and cupboard, at least, should be placed close together.

Under the sink of the model house is a sanitary garbage-pail that opens with a foot lever, with a shelf at the right. The sink should hold two dish pans, one for soapy water and one for rinsing. The cupboard where the dishes are put is only a step away. A drawer in the cabinet at the left holds the kitchen silver. Other dishes are put on a wheel tray and carried to the dining room cupboard, which is situated near the kitchen door.

The ice box is placed next to the stove in order that food may be taken out of it and put on the stove with one motion. Of course the ice box should be solid and shut out warm air.

A SATISFACTORY APPOINTMENT

William M. Corry of Quincy may not be well known in South Florida. He has just been named by Governor Cary A. Hardee to succeed J. D. Smith as the representative from the West Florida congressional district on the State highway board.

If we know anything about William Corry of Quincy, the state of Florida has a real man and the state road department has a real member and one that will give every part of the state a square deal.

OCALA, Oct. 12

The most important sale of orange grove property in Marion county for years, and one of the most important in the state, was the transfer last week of the Kendig groves near Sparr to Kenneth H. Day of New York.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12

One Floridian paid tax on an income of between $500,000 and $750,000 in 1920 according to the Bureau of Internal Revenue which has recently issued a report on collection for that year.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

AN HONEST APPORTIONMENT ALL WE ARE ASKING

We have great esteem for the judgment of Editor Benjamin of the Ocala Star, and for his always evident purpose to do justice—even for the "chip on his shoulder" spirit of most of his writings.

In the issue of the Star of the 4th inst. we find an extended discussion of the question containing many statements which are unfair to the practically unanimous attitude of the people of south Florida.

There is no good argument against reapportionment. The proposed reapportionment is not what the Star wants. It is not fair and square to all the state, but it is better than the apportionment we now have.

The Times in that article admits that there is no good argument against reapportionment. The people of Florida have been clamoring for reapportionment for 30 years.

The Times in that article admits that there is no good argument against reapportionment. The people of Florida have been clamoring for reapportionment for 30 years.

We have seen no argument in any south Florida paper or from any south Florida politician justly calculated to anger or frighten any honest citizen of western or northern Florida.

If Editor Benjamin has carefully read the analysis of the pending amendment prepared by Hon. Frederick Van Roy, representative from Citrus county, recently published in The Times, he must admit that there is a very adroit provision for maintaining control of the senate in north and west Florida.

We earnestly urge upon Editor Benjamin a careful reading of the amendment, confident that after doing so he will line up with the newspapers and people of south Florida in demanding a square deal in the apportionment of power in the legislature. Tampa Times.

Cape Cod Turnips

On Cape Cod a special type of turnip is being developed, asserts the Washington Star. Not that there is anything unusual to be said for the taste of this turnip as compared with other turnips raised elsewhere.

The single head of wheat about 40 grades in all, raised in 1929 at the Pennsylvania State college as the best developed in the selection made over a period of years is resulting this year in a crop of about a quarter of a million bushels of seed.

Coal Slack

Fifely divided coal, which for a long time was treated as a waste product, and known as "slack," has now a high value as a filtering material for sewage. This has been tried both in the United States and abroad.

Bulgarian Aluminum Coinage

The Bulgarian government, through its British representative, is asking aluminum producing firms in this country for quotations for the supply of metal in connection with the new law authorizing the issue of aluminum coins.

Aerial Mail for Palestine

The aerial mail route established between Cairo and Bagdad has been extended to include Palestine. A regular fortnightly service will be maintained in each direction.

OCALA, Oct. 12.—A baby girl was left upon the doorstep of the Methodist parsonage here in 1895 and now, grown to a woman, she is seeking to learn if her mother is alive, and in advertisement in the local newspapers giving an address in Spartanburg, S. C., to which information should be sent, recites that the infant was placed in a good home and that afterward the foster parents moved north.

Japan's Unique Population.

There has never before been a nation of once so numerous and so homogeneous as the Japanese. Their population is estimated at somewhere between 70,000,000 and 75,000,000. Their territory hardly so extensive as was controlled by our Revolutionary colonies, contains from half to three-quarters as many people as inhabit the whole United States. This population, too, is remarkably uniform. Those who know Japan best agree that, if we except the negligible aborigines of some northern provinces, you can hardly find among the Japanese any difference much more pronounced than those which might distinguish New Hampshire from Connecticut. Compare this with our country, or with the widely various races and languages of China or of India, or with England, Scotland and Wales, and you will see that the patriotism of Japan has to sanction its intensity a population unique in human record.—Scribner's Magazine.

Green Dye From Corn Cobs.

Science has found a way of utilizing all corn cobs, short or long, in the manufacture of various chemicals. As the corn cob consists of cellulose, which is valuable for the making of many products, such as celluloid and paper, it is considered desirable to save the substance of the cob. The furfural, therefore, is taken from the extract which is obtained by boiling the cob in water and the cellulose can thus be kept for other purposes. This liquid is employed for many purposes in industrial chemistry, and can be so treated that it will yield a bright green dye, which is much liked by women of fashion, says the Detroit News.

Fish Far From Home.

Indians at Glacier Park Mont., caught in Teberg lake a species of trout identified as the Salvelinum Rossi, which hitherto has been known to exist only in the Arctic ocean, and geologists in that territory are convinced this strange body of water in Glacier National park is connected subterraneously with the icy waters of the Far North. This is the second species of this trout taken from Teberg lake, the other "farlike chad" member of the trout tribe having been hooked by a fly fisherman about ten years ago. The specimen caught measures slightly over two feet from nose to the fork in its tail.

HOLDS HIGHLY PRIZED RELIC

Famous Crucifix Presented to St. Francis Xavier Has Been Long Preserved in Dublin Convent.

The valuable crucifix of St. Francis Xavier which is preserved in the Presentation convent, George's Hill, Dublin, was presented as a token of gratitude by St. Francis Xavier by an Indian of importance whom he had converted to the faith. It remained for 200 years at the College of Goa, where the saint had founded. When the Portuguese Jesuits were expelled from India some French or Belgian missionaries who were returning to Europe happened to pass through Goa and succeeded in obtaining possession of the relic. It was brought by them to Paris, where it remained until 1723 when the Jesuits were expelled from France.

Among the Jesuits working in Paris at the time was Father James Philip Malabail. In the disturbance and confusion of property Father Malabail was successful in procuring the relic which he brought to Dublin. In Dublin he worked as a secular priest and was instrumental in introducing a community of the Presentation order to the city. He died in 1807, leaving all he possessed, including the precious crucifix, to the nuns. From that day to this it has remained in their possession.—Detroit News.

SEEMINGLY HOME OF SPIDERS

In South America One Builds Trolley Line and Another Appears Like an Electric Fan.

In South America and many other tropical countries, the very earth teems with spiders. They live in and on the water, they swarm in the grass, they live in the bushes and on the trees.

The spider is a very important insect in the tropical regions, and by some means of force, not unknown to science, can instantaneously shoot out filaments twenty or thirty inches long by means of which aerial trolleys these creatures are always floating about in the atmosphere.

A member of the South African order of the trolley lines is a dusty, domestic-looking creature, a poor sort of thing, which, unadorned, carries its passengers. It is a very common sight in the tropics. The spider is a very important insect in the tropical regions, and by some means of force, not unknown to science, can instantaneously shoot out filaments twenty or thirty inches long by means of which aerial trolleys these creatures are always floating about in the atmosphere.

Sawfish Attacked St. Petersburg Girl, Instead of Barracuda

Old Fisherman Tells His Experience With Gulf Monsters

(By The Associated Press) EUSTIS, Oct. 11.—Jim Goode, who for twenty-four years has sailed Florida waters and who is regarded as probably one of the best informed Florida fishermen, declares he is as certain as if he had seen it done that the fish which attacked Miss Dorothy McClatchie off St. Petersburg with fatal results during the summer, was a sawfish. Miss McClatchie and Miss Mary Ruhner were swimming a mile off the end of the pier, in Tampa Bay, when the attack occurred, the fish lacerating the girl's leg, and she died from the shock and loss of blood before a boat picked them up.

Goode, in the current issue of the Florida Fisherman, published by Ruben Allyn, said he had sailed and motored over Tampa Bay for nearly a quarter of a century and that he knew the bay, immediately off St. Petersburg was a favorite place for sawfish to sleep.

"You will not see them passing in a motor launch," he writes, "but go by as I have done many times in a sailing vessel and you will see them. Now, the sawfish is not vicious. They will not attack anything, but they lie asleep often near the surface of the water, practically motionless. But just touch one, and with a speed that is quicker than sight, it will swirl its snout and strike and cut with marvelous rapidity, wood or anything else that touches them.

"Now, my theory is that the young lady was swimming along and just happened to touch one of these fish with her foot or leg, and it gave a quick swirl of its saw and on her leg afterwards sinking to the bottom, the way they do.

"It could not have been a shark, because a shark would have eaten her once it got the taste or smell of blood, nor do I believe it was a barracuda, because I have never known of a barracuda attacking anyone, and, besides, barracudas are very rare here.

"But I know sawfish do sleep off St. Petersburg in Tampa Bay. I have seen them many a time, and I feel as sure as if I saw it all that it was a sawfish that wounded Dorothy McClatchie."

It never has been determined what kind of a marine monster attacked Miss McClatchie but it is the general belief in St. Petersburg that it was a barracuda. Others hold the theory that the fish was a shark but those who disagree declare if a shark had made the attack it certainly would have returned to the attack because of the presence of blood which flowed copiously from the girl's wound.

Mr. Allyn, who has discussed Goode's explanation with fishermen of many years experience, declares that every one he has approached, believes Goode has hit upon the solution of the question.

VENT OF VOLCANO IN CITY

Authorities of Edinburgh, Scotland, Somewhat Stirred Up by Unlooked for Discovery.

The back yard of the tenement of 80 St. Leonard's hill, Edinburgh, adjacent to the king's park, has suddenly become a center of interest to geologists through the discovery, by Cuthbert Day, secretary of the Edinburgh Geological society, of a volcanic vent. The place already has been visited by geologists from Norway and America and has furnished material for some animated discussions.

The visitor walking through the "close" to the common drying green (i. e. common to all tenants, and not necessarily grassy) is confronted with the jagged, almost perpendicular, face of a small quarry, long in diase. On this face is exposed a basalt sill, just where the once molten igneous rock was brecciated by explosion in bygone ages, and has given rise to a parasitic volcanic vent, mainly choked by basaltic debris. It can be seen clearly where the local explosion, with its concomitant escape of hot volcanic gases, notably cooled the adjacent portions of the basalt sill.

E. B. Bailey, M. A., F. G. S., of his majesty's geological survey, expounded recently his interpretation of the phenomenon to the Edinburgh Geological society. His conclusions will be published in the transactions of the society.—Christian Science Monitor.

PLAYED WITH NAJURAL GAS

Earliest Settlers Could Not Understand Wonderful Part It Was to Play in Civilization.

Natural gas first was used for illuminating purposes in Fredonia, N. Y., early in the Nineteenth century. Indians formerly inhabiting the region had legends of burning springs in Candaaway creek, a little stream running through the town. Children of the early white settlers amused themselves by setting large onion stalks over its fires in the slate rock at the bed of the stream, picking them around with sand and lighting the gas which emerged from the top.

The first gas well, tapping a pocket 200 feet below the surface, was drilled in 1829, the year Lafayette made his last triumphal tour of America. A lead pipe was laid on the top of the ground to pipe the fluid to the tavern where he was entertained when he passed through the town on his way from the West. Lafayette commented on the new light in his journal, still preserved in Paris.

good shape, have overcome all the bumps and bruises of last week's game with Ocala and will go to DeLand fully prepared to add another scalp to their belt.

The DeLand outfit are prepared also, and Sanford will have no cinch of this game, but will have to fight for all they get. DeLand feels that "their worst enemies" are the Sanford boys and are making preparations to let them down hard, as evidenced by the following from the DeLand News:

"DeLand high football team put in their hardest practice of the season yesterday afternoon in preparation for the opening game of the season here Friday with the Sanford aggregation. Twenty men were out in uniform which doesn't sound very large but when it is considered that up to this time it has been hard to get enough out for one full team it looks good. Jim Ed. Summerhill, the 215 pound guard, returned to school yesterday and strengthened the high school line. Frierson will be at school today and he will probably play in the backfield putting Tiny Tatum in the line which will give the line an average of close to 170 and the backfield an average of 175 or 150. This is a fairly heavy team for a high school and if the boys get into condition they should have one of the best teams in the state in order to keep the season running a big crowd must come to the first game of the season and show the boys that they are right behind them. It is understood that the entire Sanford high school is coming over for the game Friday and intend to make more noise than DeLand high school. DeLand students have never been beat when it required noise to win, so don't let it happen that time, especially against their worst enemies, the Sanford club. Everybody come out to the first game and at least two more high class games will be given football fans on the local field. The boys have the best schedule which has ever been mapped out for DeLand high and more schools asking for games every day so come to the game and show the boys that you want them to make a good record for DeLand this season."

player has a guarantee he can get to Commissioner Landis, one of the farthest men in the world."

"I don't think the organization will have the game," he added. "The previous one didn't and I don't see how this one will."

Vice President Huston and Business Manager Barrow, of the New York American League, pleaded general ignorance concerning the association. Barrow said it was his understanding that the movement was largely confined to the National League and one club in particular, which he declined to name.

Gator-Tar Football Scrap in Orlando Saturday, Oct. 11

WINTER PARK, Oct. 12.—The intercollegiate football season of Florida will open in Orlando next Saturday, October 11 at four o'clock when the formidable Tars of Rollins College are scheduled to meet the hefty Gators of the University of Florida in their annual gridiron classic. It is more than five years that the state championship will be decided by this game as it is very improbable that any other team in the state can muster the strength which these two teams are reputed to possess.

Although the Gators went down to defeat last Saturday before the "Purple Hurricane" of Furman University, it is understood that they will be well prepared to meet stronger forces for their second game of the year. The University team, always a heavy one, has developed speed since last year and will no doubt turn out a fancy brand of gridiron entertainment for Saturday's fans.

The Rollins Tars, although a comparatively light team last year, rolled up a total of 121 points against 39 for their opponents and are considered a dangerous foe. The team has gained in both weight and speed, and despite the fact that the Gators began practice two weeks earlier, it is said by those who have followed recent scrimmages that the Tars are in first class condition to give Florida a hard battle.

Because of the size of the colleges, this game has been termed the "Centre-Harvard Game of Florida," the University of Florida having about 1,000 men to draw from, while the total enrollment of Rollins, which is co-educational, is slightly over 300.

"JAZZ" BANDS HAVE A RIVAL

McGinnis Brothers of Glade-water, Tex., Have "Bull-frog Quartette."

DISCOVERED AT CAMP

Boys Teach Amphibians to Sing—Neighbors Gather Nightly to Hear Unusual Concert—Dive Into Bap-tismal Waters at Church.

Glade-water, Tex.—The "bullfrog quartette" of the McGinnis brothers of this city is the very latest sensation in musical circles. So popular has the "frog quartette" become that no musical entertainment or church service is complete without a couple of contributions by the erst-while denizens of the Sandy Creek marshes.

John and Joe McGinnis, twenty and eighteen year old singers of note, spend a good deal of their time in the woods camping. Several weeks ago the boys noticed that their woods were full of frogs in the creek which were pretty close together and that their croaks were easily distinguishable. They by awake at night listening to the frogs. The boys started singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" one evening. They sang a couple of times just to while away the time.

They were astonished an hour later when they heard the bullfrogs croak- ing away on the same tune, picking it up little at a time.

The next night the boys sang the same song three or four times, at in- tervals of an hour, with the bullfrog quartette picking it up in between times. This continued for four nights, when the boys' "concert" naturally "carry the time" to the nearby.

The boys went home and told the story. Six of the most representative men in the community accompanied them to the creek for a "bullfrog concert." These, arranged on a log in proper musical order, were the four massive bullfrogs, singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," just about as well as any quartette. The voices of the tenor frog, the bass frog, the baritone frog and the second tenor frog stood out clearly.

The McGinnis brothers decided to capture the frogs. They had no trouble. They stayed for the night and when they interrupted the frog concert by singing "Old Black Joe," the four bullfrogs hopped off the log and came to where the boys were. In an hour's time they were piping along on strains of "Old Black Joe" with the McGinnis brothers. They were brought home, and since then they have been in in- tense training from an artificial pond in the back yard at the McGinnis home. The "bullfrog quartette" now sings four times, and the neighbors gather in nightly to hear them.

When the McGinnis brothers take the bullfrogs out for entertainments each is placed on a pedestal.

Last Sunday when the "bullfrog quartette" was the feature of the singing at the Baptist church the first bellied. Intelligent looking croakers were arranged along the rail- ing of the baptismal. When they com- menced croaking "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and responded to an en- core with "Old Black Joe" they dived into the baptismal waters and no amount of persuasion could get them out.

The McGinnis brothers are training a second set of frogs for a quartette. A joint concert will probably be held at the church within a month.

Sawfish Attacked St. Petersburg Girl, Instead of Barracuda

Old Fisherman Tells His Experience With Gulf Monsters

(By The Associated Press) EUSTIS, Oct. 11.—Jim Goode, who for twenty-four years has sailed Florida waters and who is regarded as probably one of the best informed Florida fishermen, declares he is as certain as if he had seen it done that the fish which attacked Miss Dorothy McClathie off St. Petersburg with fatal results during the summer, was a sawfish. Miss McClathie and Miss Mary Ruhner were swimming a mile off the end of the pier, in Tampa Bay, when the attack occurred, the girl lacerating the girl's leg, and she died from the shock and loss of blood before a boat picked them up.

Goode, in the current issue of the Florida Fisherman, published by Rube Allyn, said he had sailed and motored over Tampa Bay for nearly a quarter of a century and that he knew the bay, immediately off St. Petersburg was a favorite place for sawfish to sleep.

"You will not see them passing in a motor launch," he writes, "but go by as I have done many times in a sailing vessel and you will see them. Now, the sawfish is not vicious. They will not attack anything, but they lie asleep often near the surface of the water, practically motionless. But just touch one, and with a speed that is quicker than sight, it will swirl its saw and strike and cut with marvelous rapidity, wood or anything else that touches them."

"Now, my theory is that the young lady was swimming alone and just happened to touch one of these fish with her foot or leg, and it gave a quick swirl of its saw and cut her leg afterwards sinking to the bottom, the way they do."

"It could not have been a shark, because a shark would have eaten her

once it got the taste or smell of blood, nor do I believe it was a barracuda, because I have never known of a barracuda attacking anyone, and, besides, barracudas are very rare here.

"But I know sawfish do sleep off St. Petersburg in Tampa Bay. I have seen them many a time, and I feel as sure as if I saw it all that it was a sawfish that wounded Dorothy McClathie."

It never has been determined what kind of a marine monster attacked Miss McClathie but it is the general belief in St. Petersburg that it was a barracuda. Others hold the theory that the fish was a shark but those who disagree declare if a shark had made the attack it certainly would have returned to the attack because of the presence of blood which flowed copiously from the girl's wound.

Mr. Allyn, who has discussed Goode's explanation with fishermen of many years experience, declares that every one he has approached, believes Goode has hit upon the solution of the question.

VENT OF VOLCANO IN CITY

Authorities of Edinburgh, Scotland, Somewhat Stirred Up by Unlooked-for Discovery.

The back yard of the tenement of 20 St. Leonard's hill, Edinburgh, adjacent to the king's park, has suddenly become a center of interest to geologists through the discovery, by Gilbert Day, secretary of the Edinburgh Geological society, of a volcanic vent. The place already has been visited by geologists from Norway and America and has furnished material for some animated discussions.

The visitor walking through the "close" to the common drying green (i. e., common to all tenants, and not necessarily grassy) is confronted with the jagged, almost perpendicular, face of a small quarry, long in disuse. On this face is exposed a basalt sill, just where the once molten igneous rock was brecciated by explosion in bygone ages, and has given rise to a parasitic volcanic vent, mainly choked by basaltic debris. It can be seen clearly where the local explosion, with its concomitant escape of hot volcanic gases, notably cooled the adjacent portions of the basalt sill.

E. H. Bailey, M. A., F. G. S., of his majesty's geological survey, expounded recently his interpretation of the phenomenon to the Edinburgh Geological society. His conclusions will be published in the transactions of the society.—Christian Science Monitor.

The ladies tournament will start, October 16th, at nine-thirty in the morning. It will last until the ladies have made their rounds and the men's tournament will start promptly at two o'clock on Saturday.

The first match will take place at the Sanford course and the contenders for the championship are not yet known.

Reports that the players were organized to present demands to the owners and to call a strike if their demands were not met.

The existence of a movement has been under way about the direction of Ray, a lawyer of Chicago, but all of them professing to be in the movement's presence, its purpose and its members.

As the attorney for the "Black Sox" who were organized base ball players of the world's series, they are the magnates.

The movement is based on the fact that some players will be in the manner in which Commissioner Landis has handled their affairs.

The new association includes the players on the advisory council, and the ten day club, and the establishing of a board of directors to hear players' grievances.

The players identified with the movement also are said to nurse a bitter grudge against some ball players, who have incurred the displeasure of their employers, have been shunted out of the big leagues through secret agreements among the owners.

The players, it is also reported, are in contact with the "Black Sox" has reported in the report that his main effort is to have the barred players returned to the fold, are insisting that the constitution of the association provide that the former White Sox players remain forever outside the barrier.

According to those in position to know, the ground work of the association was laid in the National League and gained such headway that it was discussed by the magnates at their last meeting in Chicago this summer. The clubs of the older league are said to be fairly well organized and players of more than half of the American clubs are claimed to have been enrolled.

"I never knew of a more inauspicious time to start a ball players' union," President John A. Helder, of the National League, said to the Associated Press in discussing the reports.

"I don't think the organization will hurt the game," he added, "the profession didn't and I don't see how it can."

Vice President Huston, and Business Manager Barrow, of the New York American League, pleaded general ignorance concerning the association.

Barrow said it was his understanding that the movement was largely confined to the National League and one club in particular, which he declined to name.

Gator-Tar Football Scrap in Orlando Saturday, Oct. 11

WINTER PARK, Oct. 12. The intercollegiate football season of Florida will open in Orlando next Saturday, October 11 at four o'clock when the formidable Tars of Rollins College are scheduled to meet the hefty Gators of the University of Florida in their annual rivalry classic.

It is more than two years since the state championship was contested in this game as it is very much more than any other team in the state can muster the strength which these two teams are reputed to possess.

Although the Gators went down to defeat last Saturday before the "Purple Hurricane" of Furman University, it is understood that they will be well prepared to meet stronger forces for their second game of the year.

The University team, always a heavy one, has developed speed since last year and will no doubt turn out a fancy brand of gridiron entertainment for Saturday's fans.

The Rollins Tars, although a comparatively light team last year, rolled up a total of 121 points against 39 for their opponents and are considered a dangerous foe. The team has gained in both weight and speed, and despite the fact that the "Gators began practice two weeks earlier, it is said by those who have followed recent scrimmages that the Tars are in first class condition to give Florida a hard battle.

Because of the size of the colleges, this game has been termed the "Centre-Harvard Game of Florida," the University of Florida having about 1,000 men to draw from, while the total enrollment of Rollins, which is co-educational, is slightly over 300.

SANFORD READY FOR DELAND

The Sanford High's foot ball squad will work out again today for the last time before meeting the High School team of DeLand, at DeLand tomorrow afternoon. All the players are in good shape, have overcome all the bumps and bruises of last week's game with Ocala and will go to DeLand fully prepared to add another scalp to their belt.

The DeLand outfit are prepared also, and Sanford will have no cinch of this game, but will have to fight for all they get. DeLand feels that "their worst enemies" are the Sanford boys and are making preparations to let them down hard, as evidenced by the following from the DeLand News:

"DeLand high football team put in their hardest practice of the season yesterday afternoon in preparation for the opening game of the season here Friday with the Sanford aggregation. Twenty men were out in uniform which doesn't sound very large but when it is considered that up to this time it has been hard to get enough out for one full team it looks good.

Jim Ed. Summerhill, the 215 pound guard, returned to school yesterday and strengthened the high school line. Frierson will be at school today and he will probably play in the backfield putting Tiny Tatum in the line which will give the line an average of close to 170 and the backfield an average of 115 or 150. This is a fairly heavy team for a high school and if the boys get into condition they should have one of the best teams in the state.

In order to keep the season running a big crowd must come to the first game of the season and show the boys that they are right behind them. It is understood that the entire Sanford high school is coming over for the game Friday and intend to make more noise than DeLand high school. DeLand students have not been heard when it required noise to get a don't let it happen that time a pep rally against their worst enemies, the Sanford club.

Especially come out to the first game and at least two more high class games will be given football fans on the local field. The boys have the best schedule which has ever been mapped out for DeLand high and more headbanging to get into the game and show the boys that you want them to make a good record for DeLand this season.

John and Joe McGinnis, twenty and eighteen year old singers of note, spend a good deal of their time in the woods capturing several species of the boys noticed that there were some frogs in the creek which were pretty close together and that their notes were easily distinguished. They lay awake at night listening to the croaking. The boys started singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" one evening. They sang a couple of times just to while away the time.

They were astonished an hour later when they heard the bullfrogs croaking away on the same tune, picking it up little at a time.

The next night the boys sang the same song three or four times at intervals of an hour with the bullfrog quartette croaking in between times. This continued for four nights, when the boys could actually "carry the tune" to the melody.

The boys got home and told the story. Six of the most representative men in the lawwater accompanied them to the creek for a "bullfrog concert." There arranged on a log in proper musical order, were the four massive bullfrogs, singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," just about as well as any quartette. The voices of the tenor frog, the bass frog, the baritone frog and the second tenor frog stood out clearly.

The McGinnis brothers decided to capture the frogs. They had no trouble. They stayed for the night and when they interrupted the frog concert by singing "Old Black Joe," the four bullfrogs hopped off the log and came to where the boys were. In an hour time they were piping along on strains of "Old Black Joe" with the McGinnis brothers. They were brought home, and since then they have been in intense training from an artificial pond in the back yard at the McGinnis home. The "bullfrog quartette" now sings four times and the neighbors gather in nightly to hear them.

Gladewater, Tex.—The "bullfrog quartette" of the McGinnis brothers of this city is the very latest sensation in musical circles. So popular has the "frog quartette" become that no musical entertainment or church service is complete without a couple of contributions by the erstwhile denizens of the Sandy Creek marshes.

Last Sunday when the "bullfrog quartette" was the feature of the singing at the Baptist church the bullfrogs hopped. Intelligent looking croakers were arranged along the rail back of the baptismal. When they commenced singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and responded to an encore with "Old Black Joe" they dived into the baptismal waters and no amount of persuasion could get them out.

The McGinnis brothers are training a second set of frogs for a quartette. A joint concert will probably be held at the church within a month.

Brooklyn Dodgers will train at Clearwater and that town has bonded $20,000 to make suitable quarters for the players.

Miller Huggins made the announcement yesterday that he will pilot the Yanks next year. He made this announcement to quiet all the rumors about his being ousted.

Landis states that the reason the American barn storming outfit will leave on a foreign vessel is because no one figured on the world series being over as soon as it was and no other arrangements could be made. He stated he will ask them to return on an American vessel.
