Lennon fans 'Imagine'

NEW YORK — An audience of 1 billion people from more than 120 countries was expected to have tuned in to hear the words and music of John Lennon on what would have been the former Beatle's 50th birthday.

People in North America, the Soviet Union, Europe and perhaps China listened to a simulcast of what may be Lennon's best-known song, "Imagine." It was to have been preceded by a statement from his wife, Yoko Ono, in what promoters were billing as the largest broadcast event in history.

"I've never seen her as excited about anything as she is about this," Mintz said of Ono. "She wanted to draw attention away from Dec. 8, the 10th anniversary of John's death, and focus instead on what would have been his 50th birthday."

The international simulcast was scheduled to originate from the United Nations at 10 a.m., and be introduced by Marcella Perez de Cuellar, the wife of the U.N. secretary-general. Ono was scheduled to hold a news conference after the simulcast.

Nuns turn the other cheek

OMAHA, Neb. — Talk about turning the other cheek: 15 nuns say they forgave a man who stole their Social Security checks after they let him into their convent to pray.

Sister Teresita of the Contemplative Sisters of the Good Shepherd said the checks, worth $2,489, were found uncashed at a nearby post office Friday, several hours after they were stolen.

"Very providentially, the money was returned that day, and we're very grateful to the Lord," she said.

The 15 nuns, who range in age from 68 to 84, each had a check stolen. The checks ranged from $110 to $203.

State lottery ranks third in efficiency

United Press International

MIAMI — Florida residents spent an average of $143 apiece on lottery tickets in 1989, or about 0.809 percent of their personal income, an industry survey showed Monday.

Of that $143, $55 went to the state government for education and the rest went for prizes and operating costs.

The Florida Lottery was the third most efficient in the nation.

High-tech chalkboards making learning easier for homebound

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Learning may have gotten just a little bit easier for some of the 30 students currently enrolled in the Seminole County school district's home/hospital instruction program.

The addition of six Mitsubishi Vistal image transmitters to the 34 Radio Shack speaker boxes placed in operation last fall will make it possible for an instructor to reach several students at once, thus eliminating the need for travel to each student.

The image transmitters, according to Donna Ellis, program coordinator, will be used primarily for math and science students.

"They're basically high-tech black boards," she said.

Violent crimes among juveniles increasing

United Press International

ST. PETERSBURG — The number of teens who commit violent crimes in Florida has jumped by 40 percent over the last 5 years, and authorities say the trend may get worse before it gets better, according to a published report Monday.

"It happens all the time," said Anthony Payne, 17, convicted in September of trying to shoot a man during a fight. "A lot of young people are involved with guns and stuff like that."

"Unless we wake up, I think it's going to go from bad to worse," attorney Patrick Doherty told the St. Petersburg Times. Doherty defended Jason Harless, 16, who is serving a 17-year prison sentence for killing a Pinellas Park High School principal.

Many experts say the rise in teenage crime — up 40 percent since 1985 according to Florida Department of Law Enforcement statistics — can be attributed to the breakdown of families, violence on television, the availability of guns on the street and a violent drug culture.

In St. Petersburg, the number of teens who commit violent crimes has doubled over the past decade. Although Tampa didn't keep similar statistics until 1988, attorneys say the number of teens in court has definitely increased.

For example, in 1988, there were 25 teenagers charged with rape. A year later, there were 47. Hillsborough prosecutors charge more children as adults than any other county in the state.

"It's hard to match the crimes with those young faces," said

Walter Burnside, an assistant public defender in Hillsborough County who represents juvenile offenders. "It's heartbreaking."

This month in Hillsborough County, two juveniles will be tried as adults for murder: one a 16-year-old boy who robbed a photographer and shot him in the chest, the other a 15-year-old accused of shooting a Michigan tourist when a drug deal went sour.

According to FDLE, a disproportionate number of teens charged with murder, aggravated assault

Bush signs emergency spending bill leaving tax cuts to committee action

By BUD NEWMAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush signed an omnibus emergency spending bill this morning just hours after final congressional approval, allowing the federal government to reopen for business.

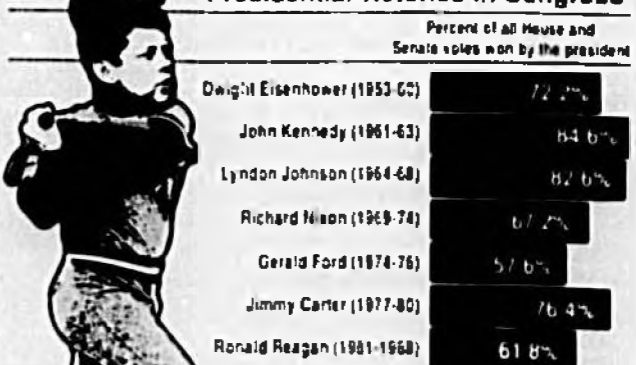

The White House announced that Bush signed the measure at 7:07 a.m. EDT, a signal for all federal employees to report to work Tuesday morning.

In a written statement on his decision to sign the temporary stopgap spending bill, Bush announced that:

"While I am not fully satisfied with the budget resolution, it does provide a framework within which the committees of the Congress can now work to provide substantive law that comes close to fulfilling the letter — and that does fulfill the spirit — of the Bipartisan Budget Summit Agreement announced on Sept. 30, 1990."

There had been a strong indication on Capitol Hill that the president would sign the spending bill now that an agreement to reduce the deficit by $500 billion over

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Bush returns to Florida

ST. PETERSBURG — President Bush steps into Florida's political arena Wednesday for the second time in the last couple of months. Bush arrives in St. Petersburg to drum up support for Gov. Bob Martinez's re-election bid at a rally in Vinoy Park. The visit is considered a boost for Martinez, who faces former U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles in a very close race for governor. The president is scheduled to arrive in Air Force One around 12:30 p.m. at St. Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport. From there he'll leave by motorcade for Vinoy Park, where he'll deliver a brief statement in support of Martinez. This is the President's second visit to Florida in recent weeks to campaign for fellow Republicans. Last month, Bush made a campaign swing to Tallahassee, where he attended a fund-raising barbecue and rally for Republican congressman Bill Grant.

New encephalitis cases reported

FORT LAUDERDALE — A statewide outbreak of mosquito-borne encephalitis has gotten worse as state health officials confirmed three new cases of the disease and added seven people to the list of presumed cases. Monday's new cases placed the disease into its 13th county and pushed the southern boundary to Broward, where one confirmed and one suspected case were reported. State health officials say Indian River and Palm Beach counties each reported one new case as well, bringing the statewide total to 32 confirmed cases and 16 presumed. The new presumed cases have been reported in St. Lucie, Indian River, Martin, Lake and Broward counties.

Dolphins monitored by scientists

ST. PETERSBURG — Windy weather has prevented scientists from spotting two dolphins released during the weekend. However, Echo and Misha, two male bottle-nose dolphins who were returned to Tampa Bay Saturday after two years in California as part of a research project, are likely doing just fine, researchers said. A team of scientists will monitor the dolphins for a year to see how they adjust to being free again. They tracked Echo and Misha until dusk Saturday, then lost sight of them. Their release marks the first time captive dolphins have been returned to the wild and then monitored to see how well they re-adjust. Scientists are hoping the project will prove that captive animals can be successfully released, thus reducing the need to keep dolphins in captivity permanently.

Lobbyists' records subpoenaed

TALLAHASSEE — Expense records from 10 lobbyists representing Florida's biggest industries were subpoenaed as part of an ever expanding ethics investigation. Tallahassee State Attorney Willie Meggs, the leading prosecutor in the investigation, demanded the expense records Monday. Assistant State Attorney Tony Guarico said that brings the number of subpoenaed lobbyists to 30. Lobbyists were told to appear in three weeks with records of any gifts, trips or meals worth more than $100 they gave to legislators in the last five years. The lobbyists include Donald Brewer, who represents AT&T, Robert Hugh with the Florida Phosphate Council and Marvin Arrington with the Florida Association of Realtors.

Sparks fly in state treasurer race

TALLAHASSEE — The race for state treasurer has taken a nasty turn, with the two candidates swapping accusations ranging from having conflicts of interest to drunken driving and flat-out lying. Republican incumbent Tom Gallagher got things going when he sent a letter to challenger George Stuart, a Democratic state Senator from Orlando, suggesting that Stuart publicly disclose his business dealings. Gallagher claimed that Stuart might have a conflict of interest as treasurer and insurance commissioner because of his previous work with Drexel Burnham Lambert. While an investment banker for Drexel Burnham, Stuart sponsored a bill to finance a new expressway in Orlando by selling bonds. Graham holds Chile fundraisers

TAMPA — U.S. Sen. Bob Graham of Miami and 23 other lawmakers are holding a fund-raiser in Washington to help Democratic gubernatorial candidate Lawton Chiles in his bid to unseat Gov. Bob Martinez. The Chiles event is scheduled for Thursday, a day after a planned Martinez rally in St. Petersburg with President Bush. Graham sent invitations to several Washington lobbyists and lawyers, saying that Chiles and his running mate, former U.S. Rep. Buddy MacKay, need their support.

Discovery astronauts complete mission, set to return to Earth

By ROB STEIN
UPI Science Editor

CAPE CANAVERAL — The shuttle Discovery astronauts completed scientific experiments Tuesday, their last full day in space, and readied their ship for a fiery return to Earth Wednesday. Mission control in Houston awakened the five-member crew at 1:47 a.m. EDT by playing "Fanfare to a Common Man," one of co-pilot Robert Cabana's favorite songs, and the University of Missouri fight song in honor of commander Richard Richards' alma mater. "You've been so good to us we thought we'd give you two (songs) for the price of one," radioed astronaut Story Musgrave from mission control in Houston. "We really feel honored," responded Richards. After breakfast and exercise, Richards, 44, Cabana, 41, and astronaut Thomas Akers, 38, William Shepherd, 41, and Bruce Melnick, 40, quickly went to work, performing routine maintenance and checking out various systems on their spaceship. With the Ulysses solar probe 1.5 million miles away and speeding smoothly into deep space, Richards and Cabana briefly switched on one of Discovery's three auxiliary power units to test the spaceship's control systems. The pair will use the systems to guide the ship safely back to Earth, with landing scheduled for 6:57 a.m. PDT Wednesday on a desert lakebed runway at Edwards Air Force Base in California. Perfect weather conditions are forecast. The crew also was slated to retract the shuttle's Canadian-built robot arm, which had been extended to expose solar cells to space to find out how well similar cells on a stranded satellite will hold up until a shuttle rescue mission can be mounted in 1992. Meanwhile, the shuttle gave skywatchers at the Kennedy Space Center a treat as the ship passed overhead at about 6:36 a.m., appearing 181 miles up like a shooting star in the predawn sky and passing directly over the moon. Discovery blasted off Saturday from the Kennedy Space Center and the crew quickly completed their main goal — sending Ulysses on a five-year mission to give scientists their first three-dimensional view of Earth's star. The launch was the first successful shuttle blastoff in more than five months.

Shuttle crew has birthday celebration

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — The shuttle Discovery's crew sang "Happy Birthday" to astronaut Thomas Akers' wife Monday, dubbing themselves "Richard Richards and the Richards" to the delight of mission control. "We don't have a birthday cake on board... so we had to come up with something special here for you, Kays," shuttle skipper Richard "Dick" Richards said from Discovery's crew cabin as Akers displayed what looked like a small pastry with a glowing green "light stick" taking the place of a candle.

Jury selection begins in Humphrey assault trial

By NENE STUTZMAN
United Press International

MELBOURNE — Attorneys closely questioned potential jurors Monday in the aggravated battery trial of a University of Florida freshman charged with beating his grandmother and identified as a suspect in the killings of five college students. Edward Lewis Humphrey, 19, was identified by police as a suspect in the Gainesville slayings but has not been charged in the deaths. A pool of 30 potential jurors was ushered into the Brevard County courtroom at 9:45 a.m. Monday. Each potential juror indicated he had heard of Humphrey or the case but all said they could render an impartial verdict. One member of the jury pool, Willard Bronson, asked to be excused and was. "I get upset when people beat up on women," he said before walking out. Humphrey, who is on medication for depression and has been hospitalized at least four times because of it, wore an ill-fitting blue jacket and black pants. He was alternately quiet and animated. He smiled at relatives who sat three rows back, laughed when jury candidates made unflattering remarks about the news media and rubbed the scars on his face.

At one point, while attorneys conferred at the bench with the judge, retired Circuit Judge Pheron Yawn Jr., Humphrey stood up but was ordered back into his chair by a bailiff. Among the family members watching jury selection was the alleged battery victim, Elna Hlavaty, 79, Humphrey's grandmother. She still bore the faint markings of a bruise under her right eye, which was blackened in the incident. Prosecutors allege Humphrey tried to choke his grandmother then struck her at the Indianlake home they shared, on Aug. 29, the night the University of Florida student returned from Gainesville.

At a bond reduction hearing in Sharpes Sept. 6, Hlavaty testified she could not remember what happened that night. Assistant State Attorney Phil Williams included her name Monday on the list of potential witnesses, although Hlavaty has said she does not want her grandson to be prosecuted. Yawn said six jurors and an alternate would be chosen. Williams questioned the jury pool en masse for 30 minutes and Assistant Public Defender J.R. Russo questioned them for about 20 minutes. They then began questioning jury candidates individually about news accounts they had seen or heard.

Martinez proposes 12-year limit on legislators' service

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez said Monday that if he is re-elected, he would work for an ethics package limiting state lawmakers to 12 years in office and forbidding them to take out-of-state trips at lobbyist expense. In presenting what has become a weekly series of issues papers, the governor also said the law should clearly define "gifts" to include travel, meals and lodging expenses. State Attorney Willie Meggs of Tallahassee is currently investigating numerous vacation trips — some as far away as Paris and Mexico — taken by legislators with influential lobbyists, and not reported on annual gift forms. State law already requires public officials to report gifts valued at more than $100 but some lawmakers have said they were not sure if an intangible favor, like transportation, constituted a gift. The Ethics Commission recently ruled that travel is a reportable gift. The governor proposed banning all gifts and honoraria to legislators and other elected officials, legislative staff members and senior management officials

"We think that's an adequate time to engage in public service, without roosting or perching."

Martinez told a news conference that he wanted to spell out the definition of a gift, which would include transportation, lodging, meals and entertainment. He also proposed a ban on out-of-state trips paid for by lobbyists, and said the Ethics Commission should be allowed to initiate investigations on its own — rather than waiting for a citizen to file a complaint. "We think that's an adequate time for a person to engage in public service, without roosting or perching and without looking down on the people of Florida," Martinez said.

Tampa Jews rallying together to bring Soviet counterparts to southwest Florida in 1991

United Press International

TAMPA — Jews in Tampa are pooling their resources to raise $1.1 million and bring an unprecedented number of their Soviet counterparts to southwest Florida next year. About 600 Jews joined together at a rally Sunday to raise the money necessary to bring a record 65 Soviet Jews to Tampa. Anti-Semitic sentiment has grown in the Soviet Union at a time when the government seems to be relaxing and easing restrictions on religion, said Rabbi Leonid Feldman, who grew up in the Soviet Union and was a recent visitor there. "There is another side," Feldman said. "They're going to Soviet Russians and saying... 'who is ruining our country? The Jews.'" "People are scared for their lives. Children don't walk in the streets," he said. A recent immigrant to Tampa, Jean Manikova, said the new freedom of speech in the Soviet Union has given anti-Semitism the freedom to criticize her faith. "In newspaper and magazine articles, they blame (Jews) for everything. They try to say Jews made Russia's problems. We hear in Russia... it's worse." Manikova was helped into this country by the Tampa Jewish Federation and the Tampa Jewish Family Service, which provided a furnished apartment and a refrigerator stocked with food. They also help immigrants find jobs, sign up for English classes, and pay their bills for four to six months, said Howard Greenberg, president of the Family Service. The Operation Exodus Task Force is almost halfway to its $1.1 million goal, said Rabbi Arthur Lavinsky of the Rodef Shalom synagogue. Other communities across the nation are mounting similar efforts, and an estimated 40,000 Soviet Jews are expected to resettle in the United States in 1990. Soviet Jews have been emigrating to Israel in record numbers since Moscow eased its exit policies in the spring of 1989.

Lake Mary to hold surplus auction

By MARK PFEIFER
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — The City of Lake Mary has approved plans to hold an auction of surplus property Oct. 27. Most of the equipment to be placed on the auction block is office furnishings and equipment declared as surplus following the move to the new city hall facilities on July 1 of this year.

The remaining equipment and furniture is from other city facilities. Four automobiles and a number of bikes will also be offered.

In response to a request from the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, the city will offer some of the office furniture to the chamber prior to the auction to help furnish its office at 3821 Lake Emma Road.

The Lake Mary surplus equipment auction will begin at 9 a.m., Oct. 27 at the Public Works complex adjacent to the Department of Public Safety building on Rinehart Road.

Meanwhile, other cities and the county have already counted the profits from a previous auction. Almost a quarter million dollars net profit was realized by Sanford, Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Seminole County, when they had their surplus property sold at a joint auction at the Seminole County compound Sept. 29.

Seminole County, which had the largest number of upper value items including road maintenance equipment and used city vehicles, reported net proceeds of $187,233.

Altamonte Springs also had a large number of surplus city cars and trucks at the auction, and made a net profit of $62,020.

Sanford's share of the profits was $24,486, while Longwood received $11,755.

Assistant prosecutor resigning

By SUSAN LUDEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Assistant Seminole State Attorney Bob Fisher said today he is resigning and going into private practice, not because of controversy over an anonymous letter directed against him, but to make more money.

State Attorney Norman Wolfinger through a spokesman this morning confirmed that Fisher's resignation to go into private practice will be effective Friday.

"He was a good prosecutor," Wolfinger said. Wolfinger did not comment on the letter, which reportedly accuses Fisher of having sex after hours at the State Attorney's office in Sanford in 1988.

"I've been told of it. I'm not sure I've seen it," Fisher said of the letter. He said the allegations, which have just surfaced, are lies. If the letter writer is identified, "I'm going to sue them," Fisher said. "This is a blatant libelous action. It was written anonymously."

Fisher, 38, said he plans to open a law office with two partners in December or January. He has been a prosecutor here since 1985, and felony intake chief for 2 1/2 years, he said. He prosecuted high profile cases, such as that of convicted rapist Robert Power, who was also prosecuted for other crimes including a murder in other counties.

Fisher said he knows his reason for resigning as a prosecutor is to make more money, but he doesn't know why the letter writer has made allegations against him with "a reckless disregard for the truth."

Ghost hunter banishes ghouls with high-tech

Psychologist from Florida travels world

By JANE CUTTON
United Press International

Got unwanted ghosts hanging around your house or yacht? No need for peaky incantations, old fashioned exorcisms or bewitched, high-tech ghostbusters. The modern ghost hunter chases away ghouls with insults, bad jokes or rock 'n' roll — if you really want them to leave, that is.

"Only about one-third do. In a lot of cases, once they understand, people want to keep their ghosts," said Dr. Susan Smith, a psychologist and professional ghost hunter from Royal Palm Beach, Fla.

"If it's a friendly ghost, most people like the company. They don't eat, they don't drink, they don't use the towels."

Smith, who describes herself as "a nice Jewish girl from Long Island," set out to become a conventional psychologist. But while conducting bereavement counseling sessions she discovered a lot of the dearly departed were still hanging around.

"A lot of patients would say they had visitations from the deceased. That's how I got off the track," Smith said. "Half the practice at this point is devoted to ghost busting."

Smith makes house calls all over the world to investigate reports of hauntings and to comfort the spectrally afflicted. Real estate brokers call her in to perform paranormal house cleanings. Other clients are referred through her associates, Denise and George Tucher, who operate a psychic clearing house in Tamarac called The Bureau of Creativity.

Most clients are well educated, white-collar workers and terribly worried.

"They're experiencing phenomena in their home that they don't understand. They start to see things that just don't seem rational to them," Smith said.

The most common question she hears from her haunted clients is, "Am I going crazy?" Smith feels her dual doctorate degree, in psychology and parapsychology, uniquely qualifies her to answer that question.

"Very rarely will I find somebody who is psychotic. These people are not crazy," Smith said.

The initial consultation, which involves questioning the complainant and ruling out natural causes, takes about two hours and starts at $150, depending on the location and time involved.

Often, the fear is eased when the source of the apparition is explained, Smith said.

One client bought a beautiful home in Palm Beach, only to be troubled by a recurring image of a young man dressed as a construction worker.

"I saw this man walk through the wall. It was so clear," Smith said.

Her research revealed that a construction worker who helped renovate the home five years earlier had been killed in a traffic accident nearby.

The diagnosis: A simple haunting.

"When somebody dies very suddenly and tragically, the body may not be prepared for this shock. You have this apparition waiting around the last place where they were alive," Smith said.

"It may not necessarily be a real live ghost. A haunting is like a recording of the past. It's a movie that plays over and over."

Stress can make people more sensitive to apparitions and other paranormal goings on, she cautioned.

"Stress seems to bring down a psychic barrier, to make them more perceptive. They could have been living there for years with no trouble. Then all of a sudden, they start seeing things they don't understand."

Sometimes, however, the problem is a real live ghost.

That was the diagnosis three years ago, when Smith was called in by a young woman who reported feeling a strange presence at her home. Smith found nothing unusual until she stood by a stack of cartons in the woman's bedroom.

"I felt these hands on my shoulders. They felt very warm, very comforting," Smith said.

Her investigation revealed the woman had been very close to her grandmother, who had died eight months before. The grandmother's belongings were stacked in the cartons.

"Apparently the grandmother wanted to stay awhile and look after her," said Smith.

"If there is, in fact, a real live ghost, you have to determine if they want to get rid of it," Smith said. "In this case, Granny's still there."

"If they're obnoxious, personalities don't change when they pass over. If Uncle Ernie was always obnoxious, putting lampshades on his head at parties, he's going to come back the same way."

Or the ghost may be a stranger, often a former owner who chooses to hang around the house or boat.

Universal says rides now work

United Press International

ORLANDO — Konfrontation and Earthquake, two of the blockbuster rides at Universal Studios Florida plagued by mechanical problems since the park's opening in June, are now fully operational, the theme park said Monday.

Problems with the two rides, as well as with the park's Jaws attraction, hurt park attendance and left many visitors disappointed, prompting park officials to offer all ticket buyers a free pass for a return visit.

"Definitely, we were hurt by it, but it is hard to tell (how badly), because we weren't open before," park spokeswoman Eileen Harrell said.

Park officials are encouraged by recent attendance trends, and by surveys of departing visitors, Harrell said. The park does not release visitor figures.

On Monday, Universal said it will discontinue its policy of issuing a complimentary pass to all ticket buyers since the King Kong and Earthquake attractions are working.

The Jaws attraction is not expected to open until sometime next year.

"We don't have a reopening date. We are still evaluating how we are going to redesign and rebuild it," Harrell said.

Mother asks school board to pay for transportation

By VICKI BOGGS
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — While every student who lives more than two miles from their zoned school is guaranteed bus transportation to and from school, some students, like Lake Mary High School student Justin Jones of Casselberry, have special needs which make that trip impractical or impossible.

Jones, who is enrolled in the school's PMH (Profoundly Mentally Handicapped) program, has severe respiratory problems and cannot, according to his doctor's recommendations, ride the bus.

His mother must, therefore, drive him to and from school twice a day.

Sandra Jones has made a request to the school district that they pay her 20 cents per mile for the 33.3 miles she must travel each day to transport her son to and from school.

According to Jerry Klein, the school district's director of transportation, it is not an uncommon practice for school districts to provide transportation for students in situations like this or where it is "economically unfeasible" for the district to provide transportation to a particular student.

"It is a common practice around the state," he explained, "but we have had only two requests that I know about in Seminole County."

Klein said that another student, who he described as "medically fragile," received a doctor's approval to travel on a bus to a care center in Orlando.

"We are taking that student to the Hug Center for medical care during the day until he can return to a program in the Seminole County schools," Klein said.

Bush

In his statement, Bush said the next step in implementing the budget resolution is the passage of a budget reconciliation bill.

"There is, unfortunately, no assurance that the congressional committees will, in fact, produce a fully satisfactory reconciliation bill. But I repeat: I will not accept business as usual."

Bush laid down several conditions in his statement and in conclusion warned that he will follow the committees' work closely.

Among those tests, Bush said, are requirements that the reconciliation bill "include mutually agreeable, growth-oriented tax incentives" and must "achieve the intended savings from each of the specified committees on the basis that is scored by both the Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional Budget Office as 'real' — no smoke, no mirrors."

The conclusion of a long weekend of legislative upheaval occurred shortly after 1:30 a.m. EDT when the House approved by a 363-3 margin the temporary funding plan amended by the Senate late Monday.

The emergency spending bill is slightly different from the money measure Bush vetoed on Saturday. That veto was sustained in the House and resulted in the closure of the federal government for the Columbus Day weekend.

With Bush's signature on the newly approved bill, 1.1 million federal workers can return to work without the immediate hardship of facing unpaid furloughs. Presidential approval also will ensure the continuation of federal services and programs until Oct. 19 when the measure is due to expire.

The 98-33 Senate vote for the long-sought budget agreement solidified a plan that called for $40 billion in deficit reduction this year and $600 billion cuts over five years. It also included about $135 billion in new taxes through fiscal year 1995.

The House approved the budget package early Monday.

The largest previous deficit reduction package approved by Congress was the $25 billion cut passed after the 1987 stock market crash. The biggest previous tax hike was a $214 billion, five-year package passed in 1983.

The budget plan is a congressional tax and spending blueprint that does not require the president's signature.

It carries no force of law and only instructs congressional committees on how to develop the total amount of spending cuts and tax increases needed to meet the $500-billion deficit reduction target.

The implementing legislation to be addressed by congressional committees in the coming weeks is subject to a presidential veto if passed by both houses.

The budget agreement ended nearly five months of often bitter partisan squabbling between the White House and Congress and between congressional Democrats and Republicans over taxes and budget priorities.

Monday's opening of Senate debate on the budget resolution was delayed for five hours while Democratic and Republican leaders talked privately in search of a deal to produce enough votes to pass the measure.

Lottery

most efficient sales producer in the nation, in terms of sales as a percentage of personal income, according to the annual survey conducted by International Gaming and Wagering Business Magazine.

That was an impressive performance for such a young operation, the study's authors said.

For the fifth straight year, the Massachusetts lottery was the most efficient among the 30 state lotteries, when measuring sales as a percentage of state personal income. Bay State residents spent 1.174 percent of their income on lottery tickets.

Washington, D.C. was second, with capital residents spending 1.008 percent of their income on lottery tickets.

Florida ranked third, with residents spending 0.809 percent of their income on lottery tickets in 1988, more than double the 0.319 percent they spent to play the games in 1985, the survey said.

"The Florida Lottery's top-tier standing was particularly impressive because it is only two years old," the monthly magazine said.

Florida lottery sales have been bolstered considerably by heavy border traffic from Alabama residents and a heavy flow of tickets for resale by private usual Columbus Day holiday session began hours after the House, meeting into the wee hours Monday, passed the Democratic-crafted proposal.

The new, less specific budget plan was hastily drafted by Democrats, in consultation with some Republican leaders.

interests for the Caribbean and South America, the study said.

The Florida Lottery also measured up well when judged by other criteria, the survey showed.

The Florida Lottery spent 11.45 cents to capture every $1 worth of sales, the survey showed. The Sunshine State was ranked No. 9 among the 30 states by that criteria.

Maryland was ranked No. 1, spending only 8.2 cents for every dollar's worth of sales. Montana was last, spending 29.48 cents to generate a dollar's worth of sales.

The survey's authors noted that populous states have an advantage in that category because their numbers help achieve cost efficiency.

Costs also tend to be highest in the earliest years of the lottery, when states spend heavily on equipment, facilities and advertising.

Washington, D.C.'s, lottery was the top producer of government revenue in relation to state personal income. Washington residents gave 0.374 percent of their income to the state government by way of the lottery.

Florida ranked No. 5 in that category, with residents funneling 0.309 percent of their income to the state government by way of the lottery.

High-tech

Ellis said. "The teacher can transmit the image of a graph for a geometry class or a chart for a scientific experiment and transmit it to her students."

Students can also transmit still pictures to the teacher through the machine.

Ellis said the teachers, who had been reluctant to use the speaker phones last year because it would eliminate a lot of face-to-face contact with their students, have taken well to the additional technology.

"Once the teachers started working with the speaker boxes it worked well and they enjoy it now. The Visual gives them an additional teaching tool," she said.

Linking several students into a class has not only saved the district money when teachers stayed in one location to instruct several students, it also allows students to interact with one another and the teacher.

"These kids are out of school for weeks and weeks...even months at a time," she said. "They need the interaction with other people."

The program is not offered to exceptional education students, except those in the gifted program.

"For those students we prefer the old-fashioned face-to-face instruction," Ellis said.

She noted, also, that students who had missed a lot of school time before enrolling in the program would receive the one-on-one instruction until it was deemed they were able to work independently with the new technologies.

"It's an individually prescribed model," Ellis explained. "It is not for everyone."

Ellis said the number of students in the home/hospital program changes from day to day so it is difficult to say how many students will be served by the program. Ellis joked that there needed to be "a pretty big nono outbreak for the program to have a good (student) count."

Students involved in the home/hospital program who use the speaker box and the Visual transmitter can take classes in English, math, science and social studies.

On Fridays, a package is brought to the student which contains work sheets, handouts and tests. The tests are sealed in envelopes which must be opened by an adult who will administer it.

"The courses are well planned so that the student will learn what they would in school," Ellis said.

"The student is provided with a schedule so he can see what is planned for the week. Just as in school, he is also evaluated every nine weeks."

"This new equipment will make it even easier for the students to keep up with their school work," Ellis said.

She noted that lessons are being placed in each of the schools to be sure that students who are absent from school for an extended amount of time will be made aware of the home/hospital program.

"We do not want these students to miss instruction time," she said.

According to Ellis, the Visual technology offers students one more way to get personalized instruction while they are recovering from illness or surgery at home or in the hospital.

"If we can give them the same visual assistance they can get in the classroom, they will learn as well at home," Ellis said.

She admits, however, that her program is not designed to replace classroom instruction. It is designed, she said, to help students keep up with their peers while they are out of school.

for the next five years for the tri-county area of Dade, Broward and Palm Beach," he said. "The Legislature has just approved a similar project for Hillsborough and Pinellas counties, now we're looking to the four-county area of Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Brevard."

Generally the plan would call for the use of existing railroad tracks on which to operate commuter rail service between the cities, population centers and attractions in this area.

"We could go several ways," Rotundo said. "We could get the CBX to move to a new location further out of town which would free up several sets of tracks, or we could run along the I-4 corridor."

Rotundo stressed, however, "Regardless of what you may have heard, no one has picked any rail line at this time."

He said his main purpose is meeting with various city and county commission groups to determine their feelings on the project, elicit their support and obtain a financial pledge.

"The state would probably pick up the cost of buying the tracks," he said, "but it would be up to the cities to buy land for stations, build the stations and provide other needs such as parking near the stations."

Rotundo said Orange County had already pledged $40,000 three weeks ago, with Osceola County promising $15,000 and the city of Kissimmee pledging $2,500. He added that the city of Altamonte Springs had "put up the most money," but stopped short of disclosing the amount.

He indicated the authority would, in the meantime, be conducting studies on projected riders, economic impact, and other factors.

Projecting the concept into the future, Rotundo said he could envision using the tracks that go through Sanford, cutting across Park Avenue near 16th Street.

"Just imagine," he said, "Sanford could be the primary terminal. You'd have a commuter train that would go past the airport, which would certainly be helpful, then out through Oviedo and Winter Springs, then into Winter Park. From there you could transfer to another train and go into Orlando."

He added that even though the project could be years off, "we have two rail lines already interested in this."

Rotundo said he would be reporting back to the Commuter

Rail Authority on the results of his visits with the cities, and asked Sanford to be represented at the next meeting, Oct. 25.

Mayor Betty Smith assured Rotundo, "We'll send people, but money isn't that easy to come by."

City commissioners indicated they wanted more specific information before considering the matter further.

and work won't likely begin until early January.

Homan said Hubbard had completed a Florida's Turnpike project and sought permission to leave the barriers at the Lake Mary Boulevard site in anticipation of receiving the award rather than taking them to their Orlando construction yard then returning them to Lake Mary.

Homan said the interchange construction will take 15 to 18 months and when complete, the interchange will feature a seven-lane bridge over I-4. Two lanes in each direction will allow traffic moving between Lake Mary and the Heathrow-Markham Woods Road area to flow unobstructed.

Lake Mary travelers headed for places south of the city will find two lanes reserved for them. Heathrow-Markham Woods Road-area residents headed for northbound I-4 lanes will have one reserved lane. Homan said.

and robbery and other crimes are black and male.

Young black males make up 71 percent of all accused juvenile murders, 50 percent of the rapists and 47 percent of the batonners, FDLE officials said.

"The crimes reflect the growing desperation of young black men in our inner cities," said Patrick Ewing, a nationally known psychiatrist from Boston who studies juveniles and violent crime.

Social service cuts in the 1980s left many young people without an opportunity to make better lives for themselves, Ewing said. Without training programs or money for college, "they have nothing to lose," Ewing told the Times. "You see your own life as cheap so everyone else's life is cheap, too."

Adding to the problem is the trend toward violence as entertainment and the absence of parents to guide their children, said Professor Roger Dunham, a sociologist who teaches juvenile delinquency courses at the University of Miami.

"We aren't as careful about socializing children, so they feel no remorse," Dunham said. "Somehow they're not able to put themselves in the role of the other person."

worth of $2.1 billion, Forbes magazine reported Monday.

Nineteen other Floridians, including a publisher, a car dealer and a concrete magnate, also ranked among the 400 richest Americans, as calculated by Forbes.

Only New York, California and Texas claimed more list members than Florida.

John Werner Kluge, 76, of Charlottesville, Va., again led the list as the nation's richest person, with a fortune estimated at $5.6 billion.

Arison, 65, of Miami Beach, former chairman of Carnival and part owner of the Miami Heat basketball franchise, was one of only two Florida billionaires. Overall, Arison was the 19th richest person in the United States, Forbes said.

Arison led the list of Florida residents, despite a drop in his estimated wealth. Last year, Forbes calculated Arison's fortune at $2.86 billion.

Florida's other billionaire, William Bernard Ziff, 60, of Manalapan, the chairman of Ziff Communications, made his money in publishing. His estimated net worth of $1 billion, unchanged from last year, placed him 62nd on the list.

New names on the Florida list the agreement culminates discussions the city and county reached about a year ago over the possible joint purchase of Lake Monroe Utilities from I-4 Industrial Park developer James Hickman.

The county purchased the aging utility from Hickman for $1.2 million in June 1988, reserving water and sewer capacity for Hickman valued at about $400,000. The county plans to close the sewage treatment facility when the county's Yankee Lake sewage treatment plant is complete.

Cinder said the Yankee Lake plant, although largely complete, should begin treating about 250,000 gallons of wastewater by the end of 1991.

Cinder said the main value of the utility was its service area, which included the industrial park, the existing gasoline stations, hotels and restaurants at the I-4-State Road 46 interchange, the Fort of Sanford and the land set aside for intensive uses on either side of I-4 between Lake Monroe and north of the Seaboard Coastline overpass.

The $185,720 amount was based on Sanford's pro-rated share of the purchase cost, including the capacity reserved for Hickman.

Because Sanford does not currently have water and sewer lines in the area, the county will continue to supply the service by selling it wholesale to the city, which will in turn sell it to users on a retail basis. The agreement lasts for up to five years. If the city fails to begin providing direct service to the area, utility customers revert back to the county, but not undeveloped areas.

The city will be reimbursed its purchase price of $185,720 either in full or in part if it chooses to supply only a portion of the area.

Simmons said the city will be better-prepared to provide water to the area than the county, but the county's Yankee Lake-Greenwood Lakes system will be able to provide more-immediate sewer service for future development.

this year include James Eisworth Davis, 83, of Jacksonville, former chairman of Winn-Dixie Stores Inc., with an estimated net worth of $350 million, and Marshall Edison Rinker, 85, of Palm Beach, the founder of Rinker Materials, with an estimated fortune of $300 million.

Other Floridians on the 1989 list and their estimated net worth were:

• James Martin Moran, 72, of Hillsboro Beach, Toyotas ($760 million);

• John Hugh MacMillan III, 62, of Hillsboro Beach, Cargill Inc. (one third share of a $2.3 billion fortune);

• Wallace Henry Coulter, 78, Miami Springs, blood cell counter ($710 million);

Kennedy assassination ranked most memorable TV broadcast

By GARY ROSENBERG
United Press International

LOUDONVILLE, N.Y. — The single most memorable television broadcast was the assassination of John F. Kennedy, according to a survey released Monday on the best of 50 years of television.

The survey by statistics professor Douglas Lonnstrom and history professor Thomas Kelly, both of the Siena College Research Institute, showed the moon walk took a distant second and the mini-series "Roots" placed third.

The surveyors conceded the majority of television critics, television station managers, communications professors and other experts who replied might not even have been born the year the show that Life magazine called the first — the New York World's Fair — was broadcast in 1939.

The survey, Kelly said, was slightly skewed toward more recent programs because "television critics as a group tend not to be in their 60s, but in their 30s."

He said the survey also indicated there probably was no Golden Age "real or mythical" in the 1950s because the bulk of the "best" in the survey aired during the 1970s and 1980s.

Only one figure from the 1940s, Milton Berle, appeared on the list, and that was in third place under the category of comedy.

Among the best of currently produced shows were "L.A. Law" (6th place, drama series), "Cheers" (7th place, comedy series), "Murphy Brown" (10th place, comedy series) and "60 Minutes" (1st place, news/documentary).

Lonnstrom said 1,085 open-ended questionnaires went out asking experts in the field to nominate three programs or people in each of 30 categories. The survey was based on 127 responses.

Lonnstrom added 11 percent was "an acceptable response rate."

Other programs and stars who ran away from the pack were "Hill Street Blues" for drama series, the "Tonight" show for late night, NBC "Today" for early morning and Sesame Street for children's programs ("Howdy Doody" crawled in at fourth place).

Other stars included Lucille Ball for comedy, James Arness for westerns and Ed Sullivan for variety/music.

There was a tight race for most memorable on-camera figure in television's first half-century, with Rod Serling beating out Larry Hagman by a meager 6 points.

Strait again tops country music

By JIM LEWIS
United Press International

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — George Strait, the laid-back Texas crooner who got his first success singing at Army service clubs, repeated as the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year.

"I'm truly speechless. I really don't have a speech," said Strait, who beat out Clint Black, Ricky Van Shelton, Kathy Mattea and Randy Travis Monday night for the top award in country music.

Strait gave special thanks to his band "that are out there on the road with me every day. It's so much fun to play with them. They are so solid."

Strait's victory, in what most observers believe was the stiffest competition in recent years, was not surprising since the Country Music Association has shown a tendency for repeat winners in the '80s with Barbara Mandrell, Alabama and Hank Williams Jr. all multiple winners.

There were two double winners, Garth Brooks and the rollicking country group The Kentucky Headhunters.

The Headhunters, the country-rockers who have given a new meaning to re-interpretation of some country standards, such as Don Gibson's "Oh, Lonesome Me," was named Vocal Group of the Year.

Lead singer Ricky Lee Phelps in his acceptance told his mother that he wore a buttoned up shirt. He also thanked the people who bought tickets and records for the past year. The group was virtually unknown a year ago, and country radio has only recently given them total acceptance.

The Heads, as their fans now affectionately call them, also won the Album of the Year award for "Pickin' on Nashville."

The Headhunters, who have been around the music scene for more than 20 years, were given a contract by Harold Shedd, formerly the producer for Alabama. Shedd told the band members that he was taking a chance on them but the public ought to have a chance to hear them. Shedd, Nashville's Polygram Records top executive, told the group they both may be out on the street selling hamburgers.

Brooks, who led with five nominations, won the Video of the Year award for "The Dance."

Brooks, an Oklahoma native who is living out the dream of his mother Colleen Carroll, who was a country singer in the 1950s, also picked up the prestigious Horizon award.

"I've got a million people to thank. I'll never thank them all. The two kings of country to me are George Jones and George Strait," Brooks said accepting the Horizon, an award given to the performer whose career has shown the most development over the past year.

Vince Gill, who has been recognized as a great talent by his peers for years, finally won some recognition.

'Marked for Death' slugs way to No. 1

United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — "Marked for Death," Steven Seagal's latest action-revenge flick, killed the competition at the nation's box office in its debut, taking in $10.5 million over the weekend at 1,988 screens.

Ticket sales for "Marked for Death" were more than double the No. 2 film, Disney's 50th anniversary release of the classic "Fantasia," which made a strong comeback in its opening weekend with an estimated $5.3 million at 481 screens. That gave "Fantasia" an impressive $10, 633 per-screen average.

Last weekend's No. 1, "Pacific Heights," dropped to third place with $5.1 million at 1,283 screens. The thriller, which stars Melanie Griffith and Matthew Modine as landlords with Michael Keaton as a problem tenant, has grossed $14 million for Fox in 10 days.

British troops kill two men in Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Two members of an armed gang were shot dead by British undercover troops in Northern Ireland, the Royal Ulster Constabulary said Tuesday. Police sources said the two men killed probably were IRA members. Two other men and a woman were arrested and three weapons were recovered in the incident near the village of Loughgall, 45 miles west of Belfast. Police said the killings followed a major surveillance operation by troops. Sources said members of the elite Special Air Service squadron were involved.

Lyon suburbs calm after riots

VAULX-EN-VELIN, France — Young demonstrators clashed for a third night with police in the Lyon suburbs of Vaulx-en-Velin and Meyzieu, extending a weekend of violence sparked by the death of a 21-year-old motorcyclist. The towns were reported to be calm Tuesday. Riots destroyed large parts of a commercial center in Vaulx-en-Velin during the weekend and spread to the nearby suburb of Meyzieu Monday night. In small groups, youngsters set cars on fire and threw rocks at the police, striking one officer in the head, officials said. On Sunday, seven firefighters were injured while trying to extinguish fires set by the demonstrators.

Ninja-armed blacks stab whites

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — A gang of 25 black men armed with Ninja knives rampaged through the center of the Indian Ocean port city of Durban Tuesday, randomly attacking white pedestrians and wounding at least eight, police said.

The gang raided a curio shop specializing in martial-arts weapons about 9 a.m., "then took a variety of Ninja knives and stabbing objects" and "ran down the street, chanting songs and attacking whites at random," a police spokesman said.

He said the attackers wounded at least three men and five women aged 15 to 85, at least four of them seriously.

The gang also panicked "hundreds of ordinary shoppers and passersby" before dozens of police converged on the scene of the stabbings on the main Gillespie Street and arrested six of the assailants.

Typhoon Hattie hits Japan

TOKYO — Typhoon Hattie cut a swath across Japan's main islands Monday, drenching the nation and leaving three dead in a landslide.

Hattie, the 21st typhoon of the year and the fifth to hit Japan, struck overnight in the southernmost main island of Kyushu with winds of 65 mph before moving up the Japanese coastline across Shikoku island to the main island of Honshu.

Three people died and 14 were injured in northern Shikoku when Hattie's heavy rains triggered a landslide that struck the bus they were riding in, Kyodo News Service reported.

Rwanda: Most rebels caught

NAIROBI, Kenya — With a nighttime curfew still in effect in its capital of Kigali, Rwanda said it is clearly winning its 10-day-old war against rebels who stormed into the East Central African country.

But diplomats in Kigali said Monday there has been little sign of let-up in fighting to the north, where the British Broadcasting Corp. reported that rebels had shot down a spotting plane of the Rwandan army.

The rebels, calling themselves the Rwandese Patriotic Front, or Inkotanyi, wrote in protest to France, Belgium and Zaire, attacking them for sending troops to support "a brutal dictatorship." The rebels said their cause was nationalistic and not tribal as the government charges.

Playboy begins womens' college search

BOSTON — Playboy is conducting its first search for women's college students willing to pose for a spring pictorial, saying it would investigate a myth that the schools cater to short-haired "dyed-in-the-wool feminists."

The Chicago-based adult magazine sent a crew to Boston for a week of interviewing and photographing students and alumni from all-women colleges in the area.

"The idea was something we have heard from our readers, saying that we go off to coed universities and find young women there, but how about the myth about women's schools," said Jeff Cohen, Playboy's managing photo editor.

"Is it true they all wear short hair? Are they all dyed-in-the-wool feminists? We decided, 'Well, let's see what happens.'" he said.

Original Cheers pub won't change name

BOSTON — The owner of Boston's landmark Bull & Finch Pub announced Monday the bar would not change its name to "Cheers," the television comedy it inspired, because of objections from loyal patrons.

Pub owner Thomas Kerahaw said the Bull & Finch had been negotiating with California-based Paramount Pictures, producer of "Cheers," to make the name change, "but our regulars made a compelling case to keep the Bull & Finch tradition alive."

Created in 1969 as a neighborhood bar, the pub became an international tourist draw 1992 when "Cheers" producers made it the basis of the NBC television series.

Iran's leader backs U.N. against Iraq

By LEE STOKES
United Press International

Iran's president said he would honor U.N. sanctions against Iraq despite warming relations between the former Gulf War enemies, but he ruled out the possibility of sending Iranians to serve with American peacekeeping troops.

President Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani was quoted Monday as saying Tehran is observing the embargo and blamed Iraq for the presence of foreign troops in the Persian Gulf region following its Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

"If, like us, all countries fully applied the embargo ordered by the United Nations, Iraq would be obliged to yield and withdraw from Kuwait," Rafsanjani told the French daily Le Monde.

Ties between Iran and Iraq improved considerably two months ago when Iraqi President Saddam Hussein capitulated to Iranian peace demands and surrendered rights to a strategic waterway in the northern gulf. Both countries decided to renew diplomatic ties, cut during the 1980-88 Iran-Iraq war.

But Rafsanjani said he was not willing to send Iranian troops to "the same trenches with the Americans in (Saudi) Arabia," saying Tehran had enough problems guarding the 750-mile Iran-Iraq frontier.

On the diplomatic front, talks were held in Damascus Monday between Syrian leader Hafez Assad and Egyptian Foreign Minister Amal Abdel Meguid on a new Arab initiative to resolve the crisis.

A spokesman for Assad, who has sent troops to Saudi Arabia, said that Egypt and Syria were working on a "new Arab initiative, within the framework of the Arab League," aimed at "securing an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait."

Jerusalem's worst violence leaves 19 dead

United Press International

JERUSALEM — Palestinians called for a week of mourning after Israeli police fired on thousands of demonstrators during a stone-throwing melee at an Islamic holy site, killing at least 19 Muslims and wounding more than 150.

The violence Monday was the worst of the nearly 3-year-old Palestinian uprising in the occupied territories. Palestinians described the killings as a massacre, but Israeli officials said the violence was a premeditated effort to divert world attention from the Persian Gulf crisis to the Palestinian cause.

Palestinian leaders declared a week of mourning over the bloodshed. Prominent Palestinians and organizations issued a statement charging Israeli authorities committed "another crime against our people" and called for U.N. forces to be deployed as peacekeepers in the occupied territories.

There were conflicting reports on how the mid-morning violence began at the Temple Mount in Jerusalem's walled Old City.

Souter takes seat on U.S. Supreme Court

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — Judge David Souter, a quiet New Englander with a murky judicial record, was ceremonially sworn in at the White House as the 105th justice of the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice William Rehnquist administered the oath to Souter, 51, in the East Room before a large audience Monday that included President Bush, other Supreme Court justices, members of Congress and the Cabinet.

In remarks before the ceremony, Bush said Souter had "demonstrated his lifelong devotion to principle, a straightforward, enduring principle, that the role he is assigned to is to interpret the laws and not to make them."

Bush quoted Souter's remarks during his confirmation hearings that judges must always be aware when they act that "some human life is going to be affected by what we do."

After taking the oath, Souter said, "I will try to pass on the constitutional authority that I received this afternoon. I will try to use it the best I can according to the light that God gives me."

Among those witnessing the ceremony was former Justice William Brennan, a leading liberal on the court for 34 years whose retirement opened the door for Souter's nomination. The 84-year-old former jurist stood and was applauded by the audience when Bush singled him out in his remarks.

Souter, a former New Hampshire attorney general and member of that state's supreme court, had moved up to the federal bench in April of this year, becoming a member of the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals based in Boston.

Bush selected Souter as his first nominee for the Supreme Court just three days after Brennan's retirement in late July.

World Chess championship opens

United Press International

NEW YORK — Bitter rivals used the first match in the 24-game World Chess Championship to "feel each other out," making no obvious mistakes in a five-hour game that left them tied for a record $3 million purse.

Challenger Anatoly Karpov began the game moving his white pawn b 4, but after the first four moves it was clear that Champion Gary Kasparov was defending his title using the King's Indian Defense.

A draw was declared when both men shook hands at 10:40 p.m. Monday. The mental bout began at 5:30 p.m.

"Neither player made any obvious blunders; none made any mistakes," said Al Chow, a spokesman for the championship games.

"I liked the white position for about the first 13 moves but then the way that he began to play, I thought black had the big advantage," said Chow, a national master with the U.S. Chess Federation. "A number of people thought that black was better after his 18th move, which was

YOUTH FOOTBALL

Oviedo Lions still unbeaten

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Oviedo Lions of the Pee Wee Division of the Mid-Florida Pop Warner Football League improved its record to 3-0-1 with a 6-2 triumph over the All-American Rebels at Lake Brantley High School's Tom Story Field Saturday.

Oviedo scored its only points on its first possession of the game as Josh Greer took a power play handoff from quarterback Andy Neufeld and ran through a hole opened by Tim Wichagen, Joe Thomas and Donnie Markey and didn't stop until he scored 70-yard later.

The defenses took over after that and no one scored until the last 1:15 of the game. Oviedo had a first down from its own five yard line. On first down a missed handoff resulted in a four yard loss.

Two quarterback keepers by Neufeld got four yards back, then on fourth down Neufeld intentionally ran into his own end zone and ran around until he had taken nine seconds off the clock before taking the safety.

After the free kick the Rebels only had 20 seconds left to try and score and the Lions held for the victory.

Contributing defensively for Oviedo were Roger Halliburton (12 tackles, forced fumble, sack), Joe Macak and Demetrius Scott (10 tackles each), Thomas (eight tackles, sack), Neufeld (seven tackles, two of which accounted for 14 yards in losses, knoched down pass), LeRoy Jackson (six tackles, two sacks) and Brian Brinkerhoff (fumble recovery).

The loss was the first of the year for the Rebels as they fell to 3-1. The next action for the Lions will be against Ocoee at John Courier Field in Oviedo this Saturday at 12:30 p.m.

In other Pop Warner action the Oviedo Senior Midget team, behind Byron Coffey, defeated the Rebels 21-0 for their first win of the year.

SOFTBALL

Boardroom Mice crushed

CASSELBERRY — Oviedo's Boardroom Mice were unable to generate any offense as they fell to Thursday's 11-3 in Women's Class "C" League action at Red Bug Park.

Thursday's scored three runs in the first inning on a mis-judged fly ball and added two more runs in the fourth. They put the game out of reach with six runs in the top of the seventh inning.

The Mice's scoring came in the bottom of the seventh on consecutive singles by Karen Kohn, Connie Thomas, Mary Shelton and April Lawrence's two-run shot to right which scored pinch-runner Debbie Rousch and Thomas.

Leading the Mice offense with two hits each were Lawrence, Thomas and Jackie Janowiak.

The loss dropped the Mice to 3-3 but they still have a chance at the title as everyone in the league has at least two losses. The Mice will play Don Covey next Monday at 7:30 p.m.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Big East invites Miami

CORAL GABLES — The Big East Conference invited the Miami Hurricanes to become its 10th member Monday, and university President Edward T. Foote said a decision on whether to accept would be made Wednesday.

Foote said the matter would be presented to the 55-member board of trustees and a simple majority would be needed for approval. He said he will make a recommendation, but said he would not disclose it until after the meeting.

TRC, Auto Body Centers rally late to pull out wins

Levi Raines of Tim Raines Connection does his brother proud as he caps a six run fourth inning with a two-run double as TRC came back to beat the Regulators 9-5 and remain one game out of first place in the Sanford Recreation Department's Monday Night Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Chase park.

From staff reports

SANFORD — The two leading teams in the Sanford Recreation Department Monday Night Fall Slowpitch Softball League got a scare but were able to pull out victories with late inning rallies at Chase park.

Auto Body Centers needed a four run fifth inning to overcome the Regulators 8-6 and Tim Raines Connection needed a six-run fourth inning to subdue the Wrecking Crew 9-5. In the other game the Buschwackers trounced the McClanahan Law Offices A's 17-8.

At the mid-way point of the season Auto Body Centers are still undefeated at 5-0 followed closely by TRC at 4-1. Trailing the leaders are the Buschwackers and the A's (both 2-3) and the Regulators and Wrecking Crew (both at 1-4).

Next week the Buschwackers play the Wrecking Crew at 8:30 p.m., the Regulators face the A's at 7:30 p.m. and, in the game that may decide the championship, TRC squares off with Auto Body Centers at 8:30 p.m.

The Regulators scored five runs in the bottom of the second inning to take a 6-2 lead over Auto Body Centers. But a walk, two doubles, two singles and a sacrifice fly accounted for the four runs that Auto Body needed to pick up the win.

Providing the offense for Auto Body Centers were Terrell Ervin (double, single, three runs scored, RBI), Chris Nickle (double, single, run scored, RBI), Ken Oswald (double, single), Dave Blackwell (two singles, RBI) and David Goldstiek (two singles).

Also adding hits were Terri Russi (double, run scored, RBI), Jim Lamb (single, two RBI), Rick Perkins (single, two runs scored), Chuck Lamb (single) and Scott Fletcher (run scored).

Pacing the Regulators, which outlit Auto Body 18-14, were Cary Keefer (three singles, RBI), John Kieger (triple, single, run scored), Frank Randolph (double, single, RBI), Jeff Futrell (two singles, run scored, RBI) and Chris Wargo (two singles, RBI).

Also, Brian Curtis and Kelly Denton (two singles and one run scored each), Mickey Keefer and Keith Denton (one single, one run scored and one RBI each) and Scott Murphy (run scored).

The Wrecking Crew overcame a 3-1 deficit with four runs in the top of the fourth inning, the big blow being a two run single by Frank Mann, but TRC came back to win their fourth straight game with six runs in the bottom of the sixth. Levi Raines' two run double highlighted the outburst.

Doing the damage for TRC were:

Level fives win again

From staff reports

OLDSMAR — Brown's Gymnastics Central of Altamonte Springs completely dominated the Level V competition in a meet held at Gemini Gymnastics in Oldsmar this past weekend.

This weekend the gymnasts will travel to Rockledge and Space Coast Gymnastics for the second local meet of the season. It will give the girls more opportunity to earn their way to the state meet in December.

The first home match for Brown's Central will be the Brown's Invitational at Lake Brantley the weekend of November 3-4.

The Gemini Springs meet featured 225 Level V competitors, including 20 from Brown's Gymnastics Central. At times the competition seemed like a three-ring circus as all 20 of Brown's gymnasts were going through rotations at the same time, keeping the three Brown's coaches very busy.

Brown's Gymnastics Central won the team title with a total of 174.75 points, followed by LaFleurs Gymnastics of Largo (173.70), Gold Coast (172.4), Ron Gallimore's Gymnastics (170.55), Five Flags (167.75) and LaFleurs Gymnastics of St. Petersburg (167.25).

SANFORD HERALD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Smith turns in homecoming beauty

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald sports writer

Marquette Smith thrilled the home folks in his final homecoming game last Friday as the All-American running back rushed for a career high 340 yards and three touchdowns as Lake Howell won its fourth straight game with a 35-0 whitewashing of Lyman.

For his efforts Smith has been chosen the Sanford Herald Player of the week.

Smith scored on runs of five, 24 and 59 yards as the 5'8" senior, as usual, got stronger as the game went along. After rushing for 191 yards on an unusually high 17 carries in the first half, he carried just six times for 149 yards in the second half.

Smith currently leads Seminole County in rushing with 1,206 yards on just 102 carries, an average of 11.2 yards per carry. His 1,206 yards are more than twice as many as anyone else in the county has gained this year.

He has also scored 16 touchdowns, a remarkable 10 more than anyone else this season.

This week the Silver Hawks, now 4-1 overall and 4-0 in the district, move up to the No. 7 spot in the Editor's note: Lake Howell's Marquette Smith had a career high 340 yards rushing and scored three touchdowns to be named this week's Sanford Herald player of the week.

Other players who were considered were:

•Oviedo's Ervin Alexander, who rushed for 40 yards, caught a pass for 31 yards and scored one touchdown.

•Lake Mary's Chris Haney, who rushed for 155 yards, caught two passes for 21 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Rams beat Oviedo 22-19.

•Lyman's Cedric Bouey, who rushed for 103 yards against a tough Lake Howell defense.

•Seminole's Tim Hampton, who caught three touchdown passes for 69 yards and also rushed for 16 yards as the Seminoles trounced Astronaut 27-13.

•Lake Brantley's Sedet Smith, who recovered a fumble and an onside kick and blocked two extra points.

Class 5A state poll.

Two important dates for Lake Howell will be October 18 when they face Seminole in a game that will probably decide the Seminole Athletic Conference and November 2 when they travel to Daytona to take on undefeated and No. 9-ranked Mainland in a game that will probably decide the District 4 race.

Lake Mary, Oviedo, Lyman win in boys volleyball

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary boys volleyball team continued to blast through the opposition as the Rams took a closer than the score appears 15-10, 15-11 triumph over Lake Howell Monday night.

The victory marked the ninth straight match that Lake Mary has won in just two games, a period that has lasted for three weeks.

The win improves the Rams to 17-1 on the season and 9-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lake Mary will play two important matches this week when they host the Oviedo Lions in a SAC match on Wednesday and then play the rubber game against Osceola at home on Thursday. Osceola and the Rams have split two games this year.

"We started the first game slow but came back strong and finished well," said Lake Mary coach Bill Whalen. "We continued to play strong at the start of the second game, then tried to do a lot of things you do when you are ahead. Some worked very well, some not at all."

Lake Howell took a 3-0 lead in the first game before the Rams scored the next 11 points. The Silver Hawks fought back to 13-10 but Lake Mary served out the win.

Jason Mau and Jason Redditt were the serving stars in the first game as Mau won points five through 11 for a total of seven points and Redditt won four points.

The Rams came out smoking in game two as they jumped out to a 12-2 advantage before substituting. Brett Marshall was the big server winning six points.

Leading the Lake Mary attack were John Brown (six kills, five spikes, six blocks), Matt McDonald (six kills, two spikes, three blocks), Matt Sloan (11 kills, four spikes), Marshall (two kills, three spikes), Ryan Munns (two kills, spike) and Chris Parrillo, who came off the bench for three kills and three spikes.

"Matt (Sloan) was murder at the net," said Whalen. "He was really on his hitting tonight."

"I was very pleased with how well our young players did," added Whalen. "If we continue to do well in the next couple of matches I think it will be a good indication of how we will do the rest of the season. We just hope we can

Caring for edema after mastectomy

DEAR DR. GOTT: In October 1981, my wife had a radical mastectomy of the left breast. Six months later, her left arm swelled to about half again its normal size. This was followed by a right mastectomy and right arm swelling. Her doctor says nothing can be done to bring the swelling down, which remains to date.

DEAR READER: During a radical mastectomy (breast removal), other tissues are removed at the same time; these include the lymph glands under the arm and, sometimes, part or all of the chest muscles beneath the breast. Such an operation always causes swelling of the arm because the lymph glands, which act as lymph filters, are no longer present. Lymph — the clear fluid that circulates throughout the body (and forms blisters after a burn) — can reach the arm, but has no way of returning to the heart. Therefore, the arm swells and becomes heavy and uncomfortable.

Some women with post-mastectomy edema can be helped by diuretics, medicine that stimulates the kidneys to excrete excess body fluid. However, as a general rule, women with lymph edema need a pneumatic device or a pressure sleeve to force lymph through the tissues and out of the arm. A Jobst sleeve, although uncomfortable, is a heavy elastic garment worn on the arm; it often reduces edema. Also, there are numerous bras of inflatable sleeves that accomplish the same goal: providing external pressure to push lymph out of the arm.

Frankly, I'm surprised that your wife's doctor has painted such a bleak picture. Physicians ordinarily make every effort to assist patients in overcoming the consequences of surgery, especially such a predictable one as edema. I advise you to obtain another opinion, either from a primary-care doctor or from a surgeon. Although your wife would have to be fitted for a pressure sleeve, such an appliance could make her discomfort far more bearable. These devices are available through most surgical-supply houses. Before purchasing one, I urge you to obtain medical clearance because there may be some reason (of which I am unaware), why she shouldn't use such a sleeve.

By James Jesch
 Once South heard North support spades, he was justified in shooting out a game. His minimum high cards were all prime values, and it would take very little in the North hand for game to be easy. Although West was a finalist in a North American team championship, he clearly took the wrong view on defense this time. He led his fourth-best diamond. Declarer took dummy's king and led a spade back to his king. West won the ace and played another diamond. South won and played a second spade. West was afraid to duck this trick. He did not want to have to win the third spade and then lead away from either the jack of hearts or the jack of clubs. And playing a third round of diamonds might give declarer a useful trump and ruff. So West grabbed the queen of spades and played another. That was 10 tricks for declarer. West should realize that declarer is missing the trump 10. If he has it, his first play in the trump suit will be to lead to the 10 in his hand. If declarer is missing the spade 10, he is almost surely going to play low from the dummy on his second play in the trump suit. (He would not be willing to risk that West might have started with A-Q-10-6.) Whatever else is out there for the defense, it is clearly best for West to give declarer a chance to lose three trump tricks. Failing to do so was a clear mistake. YOUR BIRTHDAY

 Oct. 10, 1990

A number of critical changes could be in the offing for you in the year ahead, because you'll be desirous of breaking off old, unproductive patterns as well as disengaging yourself from troublesome acquaintances. The transition will be good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Important objectives are achievable today, but you might have to pull out all of the stops to gain your aims. This is not a day for the weak hearted or wishy-washy to try to make their mark in the world. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) It could turn out to be an exercise in futility if you try to make peace between dissenting factions today. In fact, if you're not careful you might end up the target for hostility from both sides.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There is a possibility you might prematurely try to alter or adjust something in which you're involved today. Poor timing could make the matter worse, not better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your credo today should be, "What is good for the majority is also good for me," because only those things that take into consideration everybody's needs will work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People who are usually supportive of your plans or programs might assume an adversarial stance today. To be on the safe side, count only on yourself and not others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is one of those days when you might be judged by the company you keep. Be very selective of companions and choose only those who will enhance your image, not tarnish it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you overreact emotionally to problems today, it could cause you to behave in a self-defeating manner. Maintain control by focusing your thoughts outside of yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When you initially size up situations today you are likely to do so from a negative perspective. A poor attitude will cause others to shy away from you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Heavier demands than usual might be placed upon your purse today, so if you do not want to become immersed in red ink, manage your resources with great care.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) If others do not appear to be willing to cooperate with you today, it could be due to the example you establish. Watch for critical signals and make adjustments if necessary.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) This is one of those days when it might be advisable to keep your mouth shut. Be open and frank if you must, but only with people who won't condemn you for your comments.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) In your group involvements today take into consideration the desires and needs of others. If you attempt to manipulate them to serve your ends, you could be the one who may suffer.
