Passenger Service

2A-Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl.

Beef-Up Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Railway Association will recommend Wednesday that passenger train service be upgraded on 17 major northeastern and midwestern routes, sources say. The USRA, which was set up by Congress to restructure bankrupt railroads in the Northeast into a profit-making corporation, will recommend that financially-ailing railroads in the Northeast be consolidated into a 15,000-milelong freight system.

Energy Plan Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional Democrats begin the task of combining their various energy conservation proposals in an effort to produce a single alternative to President Ford's program by the end of the week. Proposals formulated by Democratic task forces from House and Senate feature higher gasoline taxes. House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said that the tax like would reach 16 cents per gallon in two years under the proposal formulated by the House Democratic group.

Bar Ends Bickering

CHICAGO (AP) - The American Bar Association has ended internal bickering and removed one roadblock to wider acceptance of prepaid legal insurance. The dispute within the ABA has centered over the question of whether a group with legal insurance should have the services of one lawyer or law firm or if members could go to the lawyer of their choice. At a midyear meeting Monday, the ABA House of Delegates compromised, saying in effect that it makes no difference - the same rules of professional conduct, including prohibitions against advertising, shall apply for both plans,

Nominations for best actor went to Art Carney, Albert Finney, Dustin Hoffman, Jack Nicholson and Al Pacino

Daley In Primary

CHICAGO (AP) -- Richard J. Daley faces his first primary election challenge in 20 years today as Chicago voters prepared to choose a Democratic mayoral candidate. Daley, 72, is expected to win, but he faces a strong challenge from City Council member William Singer. Other candidates are Edward V. Hanrahan, a former protege of the mayor, and state Sen. Richard Newhouse, a black liberal.

25th Amendment Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Senate panel is examinin whether to rewrite, scrap or retain the 25th Amendment t the Constitution, which guided Gerald R. Ford to the White House and Nelson A. Rockefeller to the vice presidency. A variety of plans are being offered to amend the presidential succession process, but Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., author of the 25th Amendment, says it has proved itself and should be kept intact.

ROBBERY SPARKS COUNTY MANHUNT

The Monday night robbery of a Shop N' Go Store in Lake Mary touched off a manhunt today when Sheriff's deputies, Lake Mary and Sanford police cordoned off an approximate nine-square mile area just before noon after two white male suspects were spotted in the area. Officers were using a Winter Park police tracking dog and the Orange County Sheriff's helicopter to search the woods around Lake Ada for the suspects. Officers said a man was spotted in a tree near the lake after police ordered 12 youths from a nearby school out of an area south of Airport Boulevard, west of U.S. 17 25, and of Lake Mary Boulevard, and cast of Old Lake Mary Road. Sheriff John Polk ducks his head as he arrives at a police command post to direct the search near Airport Road and U.S. 17-92.

Mattingly In Court

On Estate Settlement

DELAND, Fla. (AP) - John B. Mattingly, former attorney for the Volusia County School Board, is to appear in circuit court here today to answer charges that he failed to settle two estates totaling $147,930. Mattingly, 56, resigned his post with the school board in January following the discovery that $44,000 of board money was missing from his trust account. He repaid it.

The latest two cases involve $129,930 from the estate of Earl L. Barnes, who died in 1970, and $18,000 from the estate of Germaine Andraud, who died in 1974. Mattingly was served with a summons last Friday to appear before Circuit Judge Robert Durden.

Federal Spending Cuts Are Needed

Over a century ago Thomas Carlyle described economics as "the dismal science." Arthur D. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. reminded Congress of that the other day, urging that the gloomy forecasts coming from many be taken with a grain of salt.

Mr. Burns believes the President's Council of Economic Advisers is too pessimistic in doubting whether we can anticipate a turnaround in the recession in 1975 after all. President Ford also is warning against a panicky reaction to economic news, especially the recent report that the unemployment rate had reached 8.2 per cent, the highest since 1941.

Just how bad is our economic situation? There is an old truism that whether we describe a glass of water as half empty or half full depends on our point of view. It may be scant comfort to the man in the unemployment line, but the labor statistics also were telling us that 91.8 per cent of Americans in the laber market are holding jobs. That's 54.6 million people, providing goods and services worth $1.5 trillion, still a phenomenal outpouring of production by any standards.

Moreover, the resources committed to plotters against the establishment. They are, in cushioning the privations of the unemployed are greater today than at any time in the past, who love their country, their wives and children. especially during the depression years of the 1930s which are being recalled for comparison with our current recession.

Members of Congress would not be Pollyannas if they took the time to consider the positive aspects of our economic picture before embarking on dramatic programs aimed at treating the negative aspects. It is important to remember that overreacting to the evidence of recession makes recession worse by crippling the area of the economy which is still healthy and needs to get healthier to reduce unemployment.

President Ford has programmed a $52 billion average man and to ease the shortages which deficit into the next federal budget. Congress has have led to inflation. shown little inclination to make the sacrifices in federal spending which would hold the deficit even a hat great size. The unemployment rate is being citied as a reason for bigger tax cuts and bigger make-work programs - and consequently a bigger deficit.

A ballooning federal deficit can have only two consequences. One of them is to drain capital away from the private sector of the economy which farmers have in getting the capital they require uninformed journalism. Throughout this con- has not heard of state teachers' certification. . . creates productive jobs with its capital in- to expand, and the economic barriers to profits vestments. The other is a reckless expansion of the which discourage expansion have been brought money supply which will subject the healthy part of out time and again. But the critical barrier is a our economy to further ravages of inflation, the sections of industry and agriculture, if the men most serious threat it faces.

One thing that should make any economist dismal these days is the possibility that Congress will throw all caution to the winds in borrowing and the detailed interjection of the government into spending under the mistaken impression that business day-to-day operations and by the "anti" overnment can cure this recession. In so doing it would destroy the vitality of the private sector of With all this hate, paradoxically, there's a the economy, which is where the seeds of recovery pervading fear in government today of allowing must inevitably take root.

Time For Peace

A proposal to set a cutoff date for eligibility for benefits for future veterans of the military deserves support in this period of economic strain and spiraling arms costs. An end to pensions and burial allowances could be achieved simply by a presidential declaration that the Vietnam War is

Termination of expensive educational benefits to peacetime veterans will require legislation by Congress, where the sentiment has been in favor of increased - not reduced - veteran assistance.

National security today will be better served by making more money available for ships, planes, tanks and weapons then in perpetuating in time of peace a program designed specifically to recognize the sacrifices demanded in time of war.

I was talking to Dr. Merle Parker the other day. He's the one who filed suit in circuit court regarding smoking in schools. . . specifically, in a designated smoking area at Seminole High School. I'll not address myself to the merits of the lawsuit itself. That'll eventually be resolved in the courts. However, I do question the value of removing those who are 18 years old and force them to either leave the premises or have 'em sneak a puff in the rest rooms. (And as I understand after talking with some of the instructors at the school, that was the practice previously and also created quite a problem insofar as fire hazards were concerned. The kids would hear a teacher was coming and they'd dump their lighted weed into the trash can . . which were usually loaded with paper towels. Again, I'm thinking specifically of those not covered by the law under which Parker filed the suit. These are young adults of 18 or older. Why should their rights be deprived by a law which,

quite frankly, is so hypocritical that on one hand we have the government subsidizing the growing of tobacco in one instance and on the other end of the

Business, Industry Hate Game

RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - There is in this town a most virulent hate for business and inlustry - within Congress, the bureaucracy and mentators.

Much has been said about the oil lobby, the business lobby, the munitions and aerospace lobbies. Little has been reported about the other side of the coin - those to filled with antagonism for business and profits they would peck private dustry into the doldrums.

These haters, it may be said garenthetically, are not members of a subversive party, or But they hate.

They have so enthusiastically, in fact, that they have been nitpicking and creating - step-bystep --- a plethora of impossible - to - conform - to regulations that could strangle productive growth and extend the length and depth of this recession beyond all reason.

For in the end, whatever we may think of business and businessmen, we are dependent on industry to increase the production of energy and other products sufficiently to end the recession and to afford those regular wage gains necessary to keep improving the living standards of the

And we are dependent on business to find jobs for the millions of unemployed. For industry to accomplish these things, it must have the earnings to attract the capital required for investing in equipment necessary for increasing productivity, for expanding output and for meeting the antipollution standards our laws now require.

illustrate the divided thinking of Americans over the question of abortion, surely one of the most painful controversies ever to read society and one of the least susceptible to rational debate. A survey of 623 persons by Ohio Poll, an organization financed by newspapers in the state, found that 70 per cent of those surveyed favored a mandatory death penalty, with no judicial discretion to reduce the penalty. Only 44 per cent of those polled said they favored a law permitting doctors to end the lives of hopelessly ill patients, even at the request of the patient or his family.

Among older people, the percentage supporting the death penalty rose to 90 per cent for those over 65. Only 41 per cent in this age group favored euthanasia. Not surprisingly, the young, who are the least likely candidates for euthanasia, favored it the most and were most opposed to the death penalty.

Catholics and Protestants generally favored the death penalty while opposing euthanasia, but Jews, who might be expected to have the most serious reservations about "mercy killing," overwheiming iv supported both the death penalty (72 cent) and euthanasia (76 per

The poll did not deal with the question of abortion, but its results may not be entirely irrelevant in view of the claim by "right to life" spokesmen that the legalization of abortion will inevitably lead to eugenic laws dispesing, first, of the dying, then the merely old, then the retarded or insane and ultimately political malcontents or anyone else society wishes to be rid of.

It is significant that while the Ohio poll indicates that most Americans favor the death penalty, no one warns that the legal execution of murderers will inevitably lead to the execution of burglars and bank robbers and eventually all classes of lawbreakers.

The history of capital punishment has, in fact, been just the opposite. Once scores of criminals not all of them guilty of capital offenses, were put to death in this country each year. Yet long before the Supreme Court's 1972 ruling that, as customarily applied, the death penalty constituted cruel and unusual punishment, it had been virtually abolished in practice. Despite the fact that many states have since restored it to their books, capital punishment remains in

Rocket Attack Pressed

On Cambodia Capital

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) - The Khmer Rouge intensified its rocket attack on Phnom Penh today as U.S. diplomats reported the American airlift had delivered a record of more than 1,000 tons of ammunition in 24 hours. "We are going even higher," said one official. Mean-while, the U.S. Embassy in Saigon announced that the airlift would be expanded Thursday to fly 545 tons of rice and 62,500 gallons of gasoline and other petroleum products from the South Vietnamese capital to besieged Phnom Penh.

The Khmer Rouge fired 22 107mm rockets into Phnom Penh and its airport between 2 a.m. and noon. They wounded four persons, damaged several shops and set a DC3 owned by a Cambodian airline afire. None of the airlift planes were hit.

Have school; will travel. That's the motto of Seminole County's Homebound achers, whom more and more parents and students are rning to appreciate. Having a sick child, or one injured in an accident is a traumatic upheaval both emotionally and financially for any family. Add to that the parents' worry that their son or daughter is missing school and the child's fear of failure or ridicule when he returns to school, and you have a distressing situation.

Unless you are part of the Homebound program. This is a free program of home or hospital instruction provided by the Seminole County school system for students from kindergarten to twelfth grade who are ill or injured and physically unable to attend school. If a student is expected to be out of school four weeks or longer, and does not have an infectious or communicable disease, a private teacher can come to the home or hospital for up to six hours a week and keep the student current in his school work.

The fulltime teacher who has the "school" and is willing and eager to travel, is Mrs. Karlene Duke. A friendly and versatile woman who thrives on the challenge of teaching children at a half-dozen different grade levels in as many locations each day, Mrs. Duke has been with the program since its inception in Seminole County 18 months ago.

"I thoroughly enjoy the one-to-one contact with the students; I get to know them much sooner than in the classroom," Mrs. Duke explained. "Also, it's a pleasure helping a child who really does need help. "I think it's great our school system is offering this service," she continued, "Because there's no charge, the home tutoring doesn't add to the parents' financial burden and it certainly relieves their worries about their child dropping behind in school." Mrs. Duke has two parttime assistants behind Mrs.

Rita Mann and Mrs. Dottie Urshan. All three women are certified teachers with classroom experience. Together they contrive not only to keep homebound students up to date with their English, math, science and social studies lessons, but to bring as much of the outside world into the sick room as possible.

"A child pretty soon gets tired of lying in bed watching television," Mrs. Duke said. "Generally they really brighten up when we arrive with our tapes and films and books and craft lessons. I believe for most of them, their lesson time is a high point in their day."

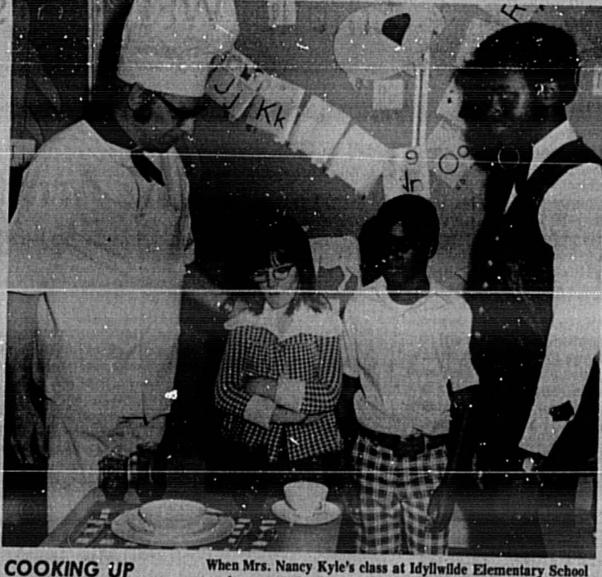

Obviously, the teachers must be flexible in their approach and redesign the school program to fit the physical limitations of the patient. Some can't sit up or use their hands, and on days, an ill child simply will not feel up to algebra or a history test. "Of course we don't work miracles," she smiled.

"Some children are so far behind when we come to them.

that all we can do is take them at whatever stage they have reached, and do what we can to prevent them falling even further behind. And some children are totally unmotivated - they're ready to drop out of school anyway, and aren't exactly delighted when a teacher follows them even into their sickroom!"

Last year, a total of 34 students participated in the Homebound program. So far this year, 34 have already been visited by the Homebound teachers. One of these is seven-year-old Tim Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Lee of Old Lake Mary Road, Sanford. Tim is a second grade student at Idyllwilde Elementary School, and broke his femur (the largest bone in the body, in the upper leg) when he fell off his bicycle. "When we heard Timmy would be in a cast for two months, I was ready to say, forget it. He might as well not even go back to school this year. He'll be so far behind." commented the boy's father. "Then the school called us and told us about the Homebound program." Tim's mother said she was worried sick about her son missing school - until Mrs. Duke took over his lessons.

At the same time, Morrall's 18-year-old son, Matt, a 6foot-3 offensive tackle, signed a letter of intent Monday to play college football at the University of Floridz. "So far as I know," Morrall said from his home in Birmingham, Mich., "there hasn't been any other active pro football player whose son was playing in college." Morrall, the Dolphins' backup quarterback for Bob Griese, said he had sold his auto parts business in Michigan and was moving to Florida in the fall.

SPORTS

"I'm definitely going to be back with the Dolphins, so selling my part of the business seemed the best answer for everybody," Morrall said.

He said his partners were upset because he wasn't able to work full-time in the business. Morrall has seen little action with the Dolphins since he relieved an injured Griese in 1972 and directed the team to QUEBEC (AP) - A few sparks flew in Monday night's World Hockey Association game, but judging by one remark after the game, an explosion could erupt at the next meeting between the Quebec Nordiques and San Diego Mariners.

"They're going to need a spectal plane to bring back the injured Nordiques from San Diegral said the Mariners" Jamie Bateman after Quebec score 1 a 5-3 in a match that saw Bateman tangle with Quebec's Allan Globensky. It was the only WHA game played. The National Hockey League took the day off.

Indiana Tops Poll

Top-ranked Indiana has gained prominence in college basketball this season by winning all its games while on the other end of the poll, No. 20 Washington has received attention by finally beating UCLA. The Hoosiers again are No. 1 in The Associated Press major college basketball poll after receiving all 47 first-place votes cast Monday by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. NCAA-bound Indiana, 26-0, wrapped up its third straight Big Ten Conference title Saturday with a onepoint victory over Purdue, but the Hoosiers' jubilation was dampened by an injury to leading scorer Scott May, who broke a bone in his left arm and is lost for the season. Indiana Coach Bobby Knight thinks his Hoosiers now will be hard-presed to remain the nation's only undefeated team. "It'll be a hell of a thing for these kids to go all the way undefeated," he said.

The Hoosiers, riding a 29-game winning streak that began last season, received $40 points in the balloting.

Prep Stars Sign

AMES, Iowa (AP) - Two Florida running backs are among fourteen out-of-state prep football players signing national letters of intent to attend Iowa State University, Coach Earle Bruce said Monday.

They are Ray Hardee of Mulberry, 5-feet-11 and 180 pounds, and Stan Hixon of Lakeland, 5-feet-10 and 170 pounds.

The group brings to 19 the number of athletes signed. Bruce said he hopes to land seven more. Five of the players were prep all-staters. They are Mike

Clemons, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound defensive back from Chicago; Tom Stonerouk, a 6-foot-3, 255-pound center from Buffalo Grove, Ill., Ray Dieckmeyer, a o-tool-1, 215pound fullback from St. Louis; Tom Boskey, a 6-foot-2,

The Sanford Recreation Department girls' basketball league has announced its 1975 all-star team.

The team is composed of Shirley Wynn and Ceci Rawls of the Skin Tights, Annette Thompson, Johneatta Williams and Patti Mergo of the Green Berets, Mary Aiken, Cherry Carter, Amy Louwsma and Dawn Berguson of the Blue Bombers and Beth VanNess, Donna Flamm and Dorothy Grigley of the Red Devils.

The team will play the Springs Oaks Recreation Department All-Stars March 8 at 10 a.m. at the Lakeview Middle School gym, located just south of Seminole High School. The department also announced the winners of its foulshooting contest. Veronica Hill won with 13-of-25 foul shots and Virginia Hilton was second with 11-of-25.

In regular season games Saturday, the Red Devils eked out a 13-12 win over the Green Berets and the Skin Tights edged the Blue Bombers 10-8. The Red Devils led 11-4 at, halftime, but the Berets rallied to ouiscore the Devils 3-0 in the third quarter and 5-2 in the

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) - Declaring "the country has been the loser" because of congressional slowness, President Ford prodded the House and Senate today to act promptly on taxcut legislation. "We need a stimulant now and I hope Congress will realize the urgency of the need for action," Ford said at another in his series of out-of-Washington news conferences. The President was in Florida to promote his energy and economic proposals. In responding to news conference questions, he made these major assertions: -He is "willing to cooperate" with Congress in developing a compromise energy program but declared "I intend to keep the pressure on" because at present there is no viable alternative to his own proposed program. -He said negotiations have been under way with unspecified nations on a "minimum or floor price" on oil. He didn't elaborate on the negotiations, but said he seeks a reasonable minimum price to stimulate domestic production of additional oil and natural gas. -He declared the situation in Cambodia is "extremely critical" and said U.S. military aid is urgently needed to help the Lon Nol government survive. -He declared his opposition to suggestions that the nation's oil industry be nationalized. "I don't think nationalization of any industry ... is in our best interest nor do I think government monopoly in any industry is in our best interest," he said

-He again predicted that the rise in unemployment will ease in the third quarter of this third quarter of this year. "Most experts agree that we are bottoming out," Ford said. He said there is little he can do to ease the problem without congressional action. The President, as he has repeatedly in his series of trips across the country, chided Congress for failing to enact a tax cut.

He said at its current pace, Congress might not complete work on a tax cut until June. "I think that is very ill-advised and extremely serious." he said of that possibility. As for Indochina, Ford said "Cambodia will run out of ammunition in a relatively short period of time" unless the U.S. government quickly extends military aid. He said that if the Cambodians are able to maintain their national integrity in the months ahead it will lead to the "possibility of negotiations that would end the war." Ford also was asked about the possibility of pardons for the recently convicted Watergate cover-up defendants - all former advisers to resigned President Richard M. Nixon, whom Ford pardoned.

"... Since they are appealing their sentences . it would be inappropriate for me to make any comment one way or another," Ford replied. He added, however, that if the defendants seek pardons, they should apply "through the regular Drocess."

Departing from a toughly worded text at a White Housesponsored economic conference here Tuesday, Ford said: "I believe in the final analysis Congress will do its part." The President did not read a passage in which he said Congress was heading toward a course that "could lead America to disaster" by delaying action on energy legislation. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the deletion was not significant, that the President simply departed from his text on an impromptu basis and did not return to the text at the point he left off.

The President was to be host at a breakfast today for newspaper and broadcasting executives from the Southeastern region, then hold a news conference.

In the afternoon, Ford was to play in the proamateur division of the Inverrary Golf Classic with comedians Jackie Gleason and Bob Hope and pro golfer Lee Trevino.

The President entertained 15 mayors from seven states and Puerto Rico at a three-hour working dinner at his ocean front hotel Tuesday

Mayor Carlos Romero Barcelo of San Juan, president of the National League of Cities, told newsmen there was "a kind of a consensus" among the mayors present that while Ford's energy policy might have flaws, "it's still the best one we have."

At a White House-sponsored conference Tuesday on domestic and economic affairs, Ford praised Askew's request that he release more than $2 billion in highway funds impounded as an economic measure by then President Richard

"I promised him that we would take a closs look at the situation, and as a result these funds were made available to all 50 states," Ford told 600 Floridians at the conference.

Three Sanford men were jailed on $18,000 bond each and a 17-year-old Sanford juvenile male was turned over to state Division of Youth Services authorities at the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center.

Being held in county jail were Rocky Ray Darnell, 21, of 101 Mayrose Drive; Marion Lee Corey Jr., 23, and Elvis Howard Webster, 27, both of 600 E. Second St.

The four suspects were charged with obbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony in connection with the 11 p.m. Monday robbery of a Shop 'N Go store on Country Club Road in Lake Mary.

Sheriff John Polk said Sanford Police Capt. C.B. Fagan and sheriff's detectives Sgt. William Hogan and Jerry Capshaw intensified the hunt for suspects in the robbery after a five-hour search of woods and swamp
