A hysterectomy may not be needed

DEAR DR. GOTT: During a recent Pap test and examination, I was advised that I will need a hysterectomy within the next year or two...

Stick with your present treatment. If you want to travel to Mexico, take a vacation - and carry your medicines with you.

To give you more information on COPD, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Living With Chronic Lung Disease."

DEAR READER: It seems to me that your gynecologist's prediction is a bit premature.

As women age, their uteruses may sag deep into the pelvis, putting pressure on the bladder and rectum, resulting in urinary incontinence and constipation.

Peasaries are age-old devices used for this purpose. Modern ones are plastic and, when properly fitted and inserted into the vagina, will often help.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have chronic obstructive pulmonary disease for which I have been prescribed Theo-Dur pills and Ventolin and Beclovent inhalers.

Recently, I heard from friends with COPD that they were prescribed a drug called ambophyllin by a Mexican doctor.

DEAR READER: First of all, you are receiving appropriate therapy for your COPD. In the form of pills and a spray to relieve constriction of your bronchial passages...

From what I can discover about ambophyllin, the drug (which is not available in the U.S.) resembles Theo-Dur. Therefore, I do not believe that your best interests would be served by making a change...

As last year, the cleanup effort will be located at 1504 W. 8th Street, home of the Arthur Jackson family.

Local blacks: Time to unite

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — A million black men are expected to converge on Washington, D.C. on Monday at the bidding of Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakahn.

Few, it would seem, will be from Sanford, although many will be there in spirit.

Be it for disagreement with Minister Farrakahn's teaching, a lack of financial resources or personal obligations, many in Sanford's black community have no plans to be in the nation's capital for tomorrow's event.

The event, which is alternately drawing praise and criticism from people across the country, is being promoted as a day of atonement, prayer and inspiration for black men. Women were told to stay away and to remain at home with their

SANFORD — While the ghosts and goblins of Halloween have not yet darkened our doors, the Thanksgiving turkey is not too far from our tables.

Few know that better than Sid Pollock, who has arranged for some of Sanford's needy to eat well and with friends at Crooms Academy each Thanksgiving for the last five years.

Pollock, known affectionately as Mr. Sid to all who are associated with the school, has already begun making his shopping list for this year's feast.

While some businesses have stood steadfastly by Mr. Sid and the Crooms Academy for many years, the event needs the assistance of more people in the community.

Each year, on the evening before Thanksgiving, the Crooms Academy students transform the school's cafeteria into an inviting dining hall with handmade placemats, centerpieces and wallhangings.

Longwood discusses fire-rescue service

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The public vs. private transport of patients will be discussed again Monday night by the city commissioners.

On Oct. 2, commissioners by a 4-1 vote gave the go-ahead to fire chief Charles Chapman to continue developing a plan allowing Longwood Fire-Rescue to transport patients. Monday night a presentation is scheduled by Life Fleet Atlantic, the private ambulance service now transporting patients, discussing the franchise service and EMS transportation.

Commissioner Iris Benson was the lone no vote on developing the city take over of the service from the private company. She said the move would increase the budget substantially by an increase in personnel, equipment and liability. Benson said ambulance transport should be left to private business and the hospital.

Chapman presented a thumbnail sketch of how the single tiered EMS system would work with local fire departments providing transportation service rather than the current double tiered system.

When a 9-1-1 call is received at the dispatch center, the nature of the emergency is determined and the closest life support unit is dispatched. An advanced life support engine would be dispatched along with the closest private ambulance to transport. The local government people would begin treatment until the ambulance arrives, currently an exclusive franchise held by Life Fleet. The ambulance then transports with the local government paramedic accompanying. The ambulance company collects about $400 per trip. That cost might be reduced if the city rescue units transported patients.

Chapman said the level of service would increase if fire-rescue units took over the transport function as well. However, the city ambulance would have to be reclassified. Transport fees might also be used to purchase another ambulance, the chief suggested.

County commissioners are expected to review the ambulance service question in the coming weeks, following extensive study of the issue. Although the current

Sheriff Eslinger announces candidacy for re-election

Special to the Herald

Today, I formally announce my candidacy for re-election as Sheriff of Seminole County.

My management philosophy is based upon a bond of trust and partnership of respect between law enforcement and our citizens. It is appropriate, therefore, that I take this occasion to thank the people of Seminole County who have been so receptive and supportive of the initiatives that we have put into place during my years as Sheriff.

The Sheriff's Office has been progressive in taking advantage of technical advances in equipment and in applying new techniques gleaned from business and management to improve efficiency and productivity. In many ways, however, our re-engineering and new directions have actually accomplished a return to traditional values.

We don't treat prisoners as clients. Now, prisoners incarcerated in Seminole County no longer have TVs to watch. Today, they must pay for their medicine and health care. Seminole County prisoners are growing their own vegetables. Once again, there are inmate work details.

We know that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The Sheriff's Office is involved in educating children in the dangers of illegal drugs and the pitfalls of unlawful activity. We have deputies on our school campuses to serve as a resource and friend to students. We are active in providing positive reinforcement to our young people. Students in each of our public high schools have been recognized by the Sheriff for outstanding citizenship and good conduct. We know that at the earliest possible age, we must eradicate the low self-esteem or ignorance that is the pathway to illegal drugs and a life of destruction.

Hurricane

food was brought in and if you could bear standing in line, you could get another dry cheese sandwich, providing you had a sticker posted to your chest indicating that you were from the right hotel. No smoking was observed inside but it was amazing to see how many people were willing to brave the winds to fill their lungs with carbon dioxide. (Mea culpa, I was one of them. I cannot tell a lie.)

I have to tell you, though, they seem to respect people with disabilities here more than we do stateside. While they don't have things set up more conveniently for persons with disabilities, they respect people more and make every attempt to make you feel comfortable and lend a helping hand when you need one. Many times we found this to be true and it wasn't because someone was holding their hand out for a "propina" (that's a tip).

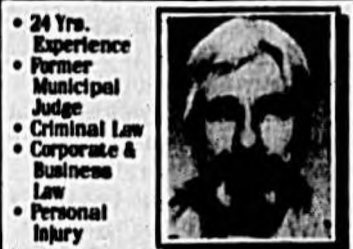

The days preceding the hurricane were magnificent, the water so clear, so blue (azul), and drinks served in watermelons big enough for two. Although at times you couldn't tell the difference between Cancun and South Florida, the language is definitely Spanish.

I would hope that people start to realize that it's time to admit that while English is our first language, there are others who speak other languages as well.

Being rather the friendly person that I am, we made some relationships that won't soon be forgotten. For instance, there is Jose' Luis, a trainee bellman at our hotel who only gets paid tips with no guaranteed salary or stipend. You have to understand that this is a country where the minimum wage is only 19 pesos a day; that's about $3 a day in our money. Jose' Luis was more concerned about books than tips and wants me to help get him some McGraw-Hill English books to help continue with his studies of our language. I will get them for him.

With desalination plants in operation, you can drink the water! Each hotel has special filtration and purification anyway, so if you go to Cancun, you can drink the water (at least in the hotel zone). As for now, we have new friends in Cancun and can't wait to return. We left saying, "Amigos para Siempre." - friends for always and that we'd be back.

Helping patients help themselves

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Understanding is the key to treatment when it comes to young people and asthma.

Unfortunately, they often don't get the instruction they need to make sure they take their medicines and treat their condition properly before it becomes a problem.

"Children, especially teens, aren't really compliant when it comes to taking their medications and treating their asthma," Dr. John Terwilliger, a Sanford pediatrician said.

A new program, provided by Osteen Kimberly Quality Care, brings an educational program to young people at home. The young people learn the why's and wherefore's regarding their illness and are more likely to treat it the way they should once they have an understanding of what the illness is.

A patient of Terwilliger's, Niquita Scarva, has had asthma since she was three years old.

She has been taking part in the proactive treatment program and says she believes will help her prevent asthma attacks and to treat them properly when she does have an attack.

She has gained new confidence in that understanding and said that understanding will help her better educate her teachers and her peers about the disease so they will better understand what she is experiencing it.

"I feel much more comfortable talking to my teachers and doctors about it (asthma), because now I know what I'm talking about it," she said.

Terwilliger said he is very pleased with the program because it supplements when they can teach patients in the doctors office.

"Here, we can spend some time talking to the patient about what they need to know," he said, "but we can't spend an hour doing it. And in the home, the patients feel much more comfortable."

The approach to the educa-

Karen Brashear, R.N., a pediatric client care specialist for Osteen Kimberly Quality Care, helps explain the treatment and care of asthma to patient Niquita Scarver.

tional program mirrors the theme of this year's Child Health Month, which is "Solutions Before Problems." It is a proactive, long-term approach to care that home health care providers are pursuing with children.

"Home health care focuses on prevention, not just disease maintenance," said Michelle Darling of Osteen Kimberly Quality Care in Maitland. "As a result, we are able to decrease the severity and frequency of many disease complications."

The outcome, she said, there are fewer unnecessary hospitalizations and visits to the doctor.

"And that means a better quality of life," Terwilliger noted.

The home health care workers at Osteen Kimberly Quality Care want to help children learn to manage their symptoms and reduce the complications associated with their disease.

"To a child, a trip to the emergency room or being hospitalized can be an extremely traumatic event," said Holly Miner, R.N., the national asthma resource manager for Osteen Kimberly Quality Care. "Our goal is to help children learn to manage their symptoms and reduce the complications associated with their disease — and thereby reduce unnecessary stressful situations."

For example, through its pediatric asthma self-management program, they have decreased the hospitalization rate for pediatric asthma patients by 60 percent and reduced the number of trips to the doctors' office by 25 percent.

By using specially designed education programs and developmentally appropriate teaching tools, including flashcards and colorful charts, children in the program and their parents were better able to understand — and therefore manage — their asthma.

"Helping children learn to manage disease about modifying behavior and making the appropriate lifestyle changes," Darling said. "Home health nurses work with children, giving them manageable amounts of information, repeated over an extended period of time — as opposed to a quick visit to the doctor's office. This allows them to absorb and retain the information they need to successfully manage their disease."

MAACO anniversary

LONGWOOD — MAACO Auto Painting and Bodyworks Center, 753 N. U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood is observing its 10th anniversary. "We must be doing something right," said Chuck Magaw, who co-owns the center with his son Harold. "We attribute the success of our center and the number of satisfied customers since we opened to the MAACO policy of quality work at reasonable prices."

Since the company began operations in Longwood in 1985, Magaw says the company has handled over 15,100 cars.

Home sales

The Florida Association of Realtors (FAR) says a revitalized housing market has produced a 12 percent increase in August sales. Sales in five metropolitan areas jumped over 20 percent.

In the Orlando Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA), which includes Seminole County, resales rose 21 percent in August, compared to August of 1984. Strong growth in Orange County is reportedly spilling over into adjacent areas, particularly Lake County.

FAR President Marie Powell commented, "August is typically one of the busiest months in the housing market as families get settled before the school year begins."

Apparently, even more buyers participated in the action this year, as interest rates hovered at 7.86 percent, an average rate for a 30-year fixed-rate mortgage. At this same time last year, the same mortgage rate average was 8.51 percent.

Realtors in the Orlando MSA reported 1,461 single-family existing home sales during August of this year, compared with 1,204 in August of last year. The median sales price was $87,200, down two percent from last year.

Garrett's store closes its doors There is still a lot of merchandise to sell

By MICK PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — After 48 years of operating a business in downtown Sanford, Joe Garrett called it quits. He's not throwing in the towel, however, he still has that and several other items for sale.

Garrett, now 75 years of age, along with his wife, Laura, have been one of Sanford's longest continuous business owners/operators. They started J.M. Garrett's at 323 E. First St., corner of Sanford Avenue in downtown Sanford in 1947. In 1963, they moved the business to the former Yowell's store location at 200 E. First St. under the name Garrett's Department Store.

The last move, in 1987, was to 105 W. Second St. The business officially closed its doors to the public two weeks ago.

"I still have a lot of merchandise left over," Garrett said. "I have it on my porch and in my house. Laura is ready to toss me out if I don't get rid of all this stuff."

Garrett said he has a new phone number, 322-3385. "People can give me a call any time," he said, "if they are interested in some of this merchandise."

Garrett has already donated a number of items to the Sanford Museum. Curator Alicia Clarke said the items included a vacuum cleaner believed to be between 90 and 100 years old. "We also found a wooden secretarial-type chair which was originally used by Mr. Yowell when he had his store," Clarke said. "When we checked it, we found it was dated 1887."

Other items donated to the museum included Sanford phone books dating back to 1963. Garrett said they were the good old days when local phone numbers contained only three digits.

Clarke said she has also contacted the Student Museum to investigate possible additional items which Garrett has offered.

Even though he has officially closed his business, Garrett said he isn't ready to stop. "I'm still going strong," he said, "and I intend to stay that way for many years to come."

Regarding what he would say to many customers who have shopped at his stores over the years, Garrett commented, "Well, it's been good to know you."

Garrett's Department Store is now ended. It's another page turned over in the history of Sanford's long-time businesses.

New logo is sought

By MICK PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

OVIEDO — The Greater Oviedo Chamber of Commerce is seeking an innovative person with ideas. The chamber is undertaking a project to develop a new corporate logo, and is looking for suggestions from members of the community.

Chamber president Jim Fox said the chamber's present logo was similar in design to that of the city of Oviedo. "We want to distinguish our operations in view of expanded activities being undertaken by the chamber," he said.

"Our correspondence is going further out into the Central Florida community, and we need to avoid confusion that might arise because of similarity between our logo and the city's official seal," Fox added.

The Oviedo chamber is seeking submissions from Central Florida graphic designers, artists, academic art departments, and anyone with the ability and desire to showcase their work by having it selected for use by the chamber.

Deadline for submissions is Dec. 15.

The chamber wants the new logo in light of the rapid growth of the Oviedo business community, as well as its growing role in Central Florida affairs.

Logo designs for consideration by the Oviedo chamber may be mailed to P.O. Box 921236, Oviedo, 32762. Designs may also be delivered in person to the chamber offices at 200 W. Broadway.

Information on the chamber and its search for the new logo can be obtained by calling 365-8500.

Stinecpher

Susan Percy. I got my first taste of the hectic lives these girls led, especially during basketball season when there were two or three games a week. All were excellent students and on game days would work diligently to finish their work in class. They would even take their school books to the games to do their homework.

Also in that class was Frank Murray, a JV basketball player and another excellent student. He had a great sense of humor which comes out in several things he wrote in my Salmagundi. And he used to write me jokes on his test papers. I later taught his sister, Regina, who I believe continues to teach in Seminole County.

Buddy Burton wrote a cute piece of poetic nonsense in my Sally - another person with a good sense of humor. He still calls me "Miss Stinecpher," but I can't remember how that got started.

Larry Sherwood was the only person to ever make 100 on my final geometry exam. He later became a Baptist minister.

I became a sponsor on the Girls Future Club (we also had a boys' chapter) that year so have many memories of the class of 1965 girls who were members. I especially remember Elaine Echols who was president during her senior year, Sharon Booth, Donna Collins, Elizabeth Evans, Marcia Lippincott, Jane White, Pam Patterson, Susan Perkins and Susan Haynes.

Three members of the Class of 1965 were siblings of my 1954 classmates and taught all three classmates - Glenda Goebel, sister of Marvin; Tommy Cason, brother of Paulette; and Andy Lyon, brother of Ellen.

Bobby Rumsley was the son of my seventh grade geography teacher. He was born a little before we had her and we'd visit "Little Bobby" occasionally as we walked by their home on Palmetto Avenue on the way to town. Bobby is presently a supervisor with HRS in Tallahassee.

Several in the class went to First Baptist where I was a youth worker at the time. I especially remember Steve Richards, Pete Reynolds, Sharon Booth, John Cullum, Sue Lynn Howell, Terry Rabun, Cherie Pennington, Susan Percy, Marilyn Hendry, and Rosemary Walton. There were retreats, youth weeks, etc.

And we worked on a float for Seminole County's 50 years of Progress Parade in 1963.

Billy Stemper, organization member and leader extraordinaire as well as now, is my cousin. I didn't teach him, but he would come by my room often for a visit. With his being my youngest first cousin, this was the first chance for us to really get acquainted. He recently received his doctorate in history from Oxford University in England.

I've already mentioned what some of these students have done since their graduation; I wish I had kept notes when I learned about others. Most have done very well and I can give you what a few others are now doing. Cathy Cammack Hanson is a member of the Lake County Commission; John Cullum is activities director at SIS; Dr. Charles Stein is director of The Infertility Center of Daytona; Michele Jones is the supportive wife of her Baptist minister husband, the Rev. Syd Cook; Sharon Booth, Susan Haynes, Pete Reynolds are school teachers; Gary Ganas is a barbecue dinner caterer and owner of a grocery store; David Lanier is a CPA; Marcia Lippincott is a lawyer; Bette Odham is a master gardener and other volunteer worker; Herby Rodgers is a firefighter; Don Vincent is a printer at SCC; and Barbara Cox has been my hairdresser for 20 years.

Best wishes to the class of 1965, one of my very favorite classes for a successful reunion this weekend! I look forward to seeing all of you.

franchise expired in January. Life Fleet has offered to continue the service under the current agreement for up to a year.

The city commission will also discuss a resolution related to commissioners attending conventions and conferences. The commission will also consider a request by Benson to attend the League of Cities Legislative Conference in mid-November and use of the city pool car to travel to Tampa for two day session.

Also scheduled for the regular 7 p.m. meeting is the presentation of results from a business survey. Prior to the regular meeting, the commissioners will conduct a work session to discuss opt-out options from the Florida Retirement System for new employees. Both sessions will be conducted in commission chambers of city hall.

parts. They have a patent attorney who is helping with the patent which is pending. Tom's wife, Millie, is their office manager and typist.

Wayne has already installed the safety cap on several AC systems. Several air conditioning manufacturers, such as Carrier, have called, expressing interest in the safety cap. The only other safety cap that is on the market is easy to take off with an adjustable wrench.

If you're interested in finding out more about the safety cap, you can call Tom Pratt at 330-5227.

Meal

The homeless and the needy are invited to come and enjoy a traditional meal of turkey and stuffing, ham, sweet potatoes, collard greens, green beans, cranberry sauce, bread, pies and cakes.

The students greet them at the door with a smile and welcome them to the dinner.

Teachers and staff serve the meal. Sometimes students or members of the community provide musical entertainment for those in attendance.

Some needy in the community are unable to make it to the school for the meal. Many are too feeble, some are sick and unable to leave their homes. Teachers and administrators help students deliver boxed meals to those people.

Last year 1,100 people were served meals through the Cronis program. They expect to serve at least as many this year.

APB American Finals to be held on Lake Monroe

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — "It's something like going 110 miles per hour in your car and then wheeling into your driveway without slowing down. Oh, and it's raining — hard, and other cars are also trying to turn into your driveway simultaneously," remarked Joe Postanski, a reporter for The Augusta Chronicle about the sensation and experience of riding in a powerboat.

This raw excitement will be evident as American Performance Racing (APR) brings the Powerboat Superleague American Finals to Lake Monroe for the third consecutive year.

The excitement begins Saturday, October 21 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. with testing followed by qualifying race heats to determine the starting positions for Sunday's championships. Testing for the final rounds on Sunday will begin at 11 a.m. with the final rounds slated to start at 1 p.m.

The race course will be centered in front of Fort Mellon Park with the powerboat village and pit along Seminole Boulevard. Florida Seaplanes will check out Lake Monroe before racing begins to make sure no manatees have wandered into the area.

Top competitors such as the Bud Light National Team will ride on the jagged edge, powering through turns at top speeds, close to the shore in their sleek, one-of-a-kind racing machines, built to compete and capture the imagination of spectators.

Admission each day is $8 for adults (14 years and up), $1 for children (ages 4-13) and kids under the age of six are free. Pit row admission is included with your admission tickets, which can be purchased at the gate. Gates open at 10 a.m. Spectators are advised to bring lawn chairs and beach towels. No coolers are allowed.

There will be a Friday Night Pit Party on October 20th from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. for a special free evening to meet the drivers, get autographs, take photos, and talk about the race.

OVIDEO — Every team wants its Senior Night to be something special. The Oviedo Lions are no exception.

After a pregame ceremony honoring the senior football players, the Lions pounded the Deltona Wolves 23-0 Friday night at John Courier Field.

"I'm glad that we were able to get this win tonight on Senior Night. We did exactly what we needed to do," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "Two of our seniors, Adolphus Davis and Andy Neufeld, both had exceptional games tonight and our defense just did an outstanding job."

Davis moved from linebacker and started at tight end for the first time this season and recorded a safety in the first quarter. Davis added points on offense as well, scoring on an 11-yard pass from Neufeld late in the first quarter. Overall, Neufeld completed five of 10 passes for 112 yards and an interception.

After leading 9-0 at the end of the first half, the Oviedo offense

ORANGE PARK — Early last week Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon decided standard-out quarterback Der Brown would not play in Friday's game at Orange Park because of an injured ankle. The Patriots responded by playing with a lot of heart, but it wasn't enough to overcome five turnovers in a 24-14 loss to the Raiders.

"We played hard," Almon said. "Domini Shaw did a great job in place of Der. Turnovers killed us, but I knew we were going to commit some. We have to hold up and win the district now."

The Lake Brantley special teams produced the first big play of the game on Orange Park's first possession. Patriots linebacker Eddie Lee broke through the Raiders' offensive line and blocked a Brandon Gray punt. Justin Vantek recovered the ball for Lake Brantley at the Orange Park 33-yard line.

The Patriots drove to the Raiders' 7-yard line in six plays, but squandered the scoring opportunity when Shaw fumbled. After an Orange Park punt, Lake Brantley lost fumbles on its next two offensive plays. Ryan Robinson returned the first music nine yards for the Orange Park touchdown. Gray

The Patriots' offense could not get the 100-yard drive against tonight's game at Orange Park as the Patriots lost for the second time. After the start, with 7:58 left in the first half, the Patriots lost the game, 24-14 to the Raiders.

Muzzleloading gun seasons may vary on public wildlife management areas. Hunters should consult wildlife management area regulations summaries for specific dates.

FISHING FORECAST

The river is very slow due to high water. Bass action is best in local lakes where fish are confined by clearly defined banks. Lower water temperatures and the influx of fresh water has bass more active than they have been in months. Buzzbaits, topwater lures, and plastic worms all work well this time of year.

Sebastian Inlet is getting better by the day as migrating schools of finger mullet move south for the winter. Snook, tarpon, jack crevalle, redbfish, ladyfish and bluefish are all feasting on this annual banquet. Large live shrimp and finger mullet work best in the daytime, while lures such as one-ounce jigs and swimming-minnow lures get the nod after dark.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral has little to report in the way of offshore action due to non-stop rainy, squally conditions. Inside the Port, expect plenty of sheepshead and flounder to be biting. Redfish are rated as good on the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Ponce Inlet has great action with sheepshead, while redbfish, drum, small jack crevalle and 1-2 pound bluefish are all caught on a regular basis.

Liz's gala birthday party revives 'good old days'

A birthday party on Saturday, Oct. 7 beautifully revived the "good old days" according to several of the invited guests who are still raving over the simply marvelous event.

The excited guest of honor was Elizabeth (Liz) Paulucci Helfrich and the hosts were her brother and his wife, Jeno and Lois Paulucci, and their children, Mick Paulucci, Gina Paulucci and Cindy Soderstrom.

Liz beamed, "We had such a marvelous time. It was lovely. Jeno selected the menu for the beautiful, Italian meal. It was an old-fashioned Italian festa."

She added, "It was like homecoming and seeing each other for the first time."

The LaTerrazza Room of Enzo's Restaurant on the Lake at Longwood will never be the same. Excitement, merriment, divine cuisine and cordial hospitality reigned supreme as longtime friends, as well as new ones, gathered for a gala celebration to honor Liz whose birthday is actually Oct. 14.

Jeno graciously welcomed the guests and invited them to eat, drink and be merry. And they did.

A "Happy Birthday Liz" banner graced a wall of the private dining room along with larger-than-life photographs. Liz said nephew Mick (who was unable to attend the party) had the photos "blown up" from family snapshots before he departed for a trip to Italy. She explained the origin of the family art gallery and gave a brief family history of each one, from her girlhood on through the years. Friendly and courteous Italian waiters served authentic Italian food all evening including: Antipasti Misto, Brushetta al Pomodoro & Mozzarella, Penne Arrabiata, Bucatini, Costoletta di Abbacchio Piccante (lamb), Patatine al Pomodoro, Birthday Cake, Fresh Fruit, Espresso and Cappuccino.

"The menu was out of this world and the Italian waiters were just wonderful," Dorothy McRaynolds extolled. "It was a beautiful party. I tell you, Honey, it was like old times — the ones I reminisce about. Everybody was so congenial — so happy. I have never been treated so royally."

Those invited to attend the birthday gala with the hosts and honoree were her husband, Dr. Norman A. Helfrich Jr., Cindy Paulucci Soderstrom and Bob Selton, Gina Paulucci and Joel Conner, Beth and William Bush, Betty and John Cannavino, Nellie and Boyd Coleman, Viola and Charles Fazio, Rena Fazio and guest, Sandra Glenn, and Kenneth Leffler.

Also: Janet and Dwight Hoeg, Dorothy McRaynolds, Dottie and James McWhorter, Dr. and Mrs. Robert (Sally) Rosemond; Sarabacca and Joseph Rosler, Sophie and Kay Shoemaker, Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and Dr. Robert J. Smith.

Also: Diane and Larry Nelson, Ellen Shirmer and Leo Trepanier, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Annette) Wing, Martha and Ned Yancey, Charlotte Knowles, Lourine Messenger and Mary Anne and Mack Cleveland.

Also: Dr. and Mrs. Frank (Jean) Clontz, Dr. and Mrs. Roger (Gall) Stewart, Shirley and Carl Schilke, Marcia Duffey and Toby Cardiff, Vida and Milton Smith, Vicki and Steve Emery, Winifred "Bill" and Walter Gielow, Lori Paulucci and Mark Masrallah, Catherine and Don Vanneste, Tiffany Soderstrom, Cha-Leen and Larry Daughtry, Jean and Joe Russi and the Dietrichs.

Liz said she got her first glimpse of Sanford in 1955 when the family came here in search of celery for Chun King products. She recalls that the late Mr. William A. Leffler Sr., then president of Chase and Co., was the "first southern gentleman I met."

After 40 years, she still lives in Sanford while Jeno and Lois spend part of their time here and the other in Duluth where he still supervises his interests including the Michelin food line in memory of their mother.

Brought up on the iron range in Minnesota, Liz studied the violin and played with the Duluth Symphony Orchestra as well as the Range Symphony Orchestra. She taught French, English and music and was a WAVE in the United States Navy. She is the former executive secretary-treasurer to the Chun King Corporation.

Liz married Dr. Helfrich, a Winter Park pediatrician, in 1973. They have traveled extensively and he has attended cooking classes with Liz in Europe. As food consultant to Paulucci Enterprises, Liz expanded her culinary expertise into a book, "Cooking from a Melting Pot," published in 1981. Where she was reared, immigrants from 25 nations lived, worked and shared their native cooking lore. This cookbook contains recipes from these friends as well as other friends from around the world, including a number from the Sanford community. Reflecting back on the happiest of birthdays, Liz said, "I hope everybody has as nice a birthday as I."

Girl Scouts unite for Camporee

LAKE MARY

MARY ROWELL

Other than a little rain, a few chiggers and quite a few ticks, the Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts had a great Camporee last weekend. For those who are not familiar with girl scouting, camporee is when all the troops in one service unit camp together. Stardust is the troops in and around Lake Mary. There were Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes camping for the weekend. Daisies, the kindergarten level, are considered too young to camp, so they just came out for the day Saturday.

This is only the second year Stardust has had a camporee. Last year, the troops camped at a Girl Scout camp. This year, they chose to go to Wekiwa Springs State Park in Apopka. Wekiwa Springs has a wonderful youth camp. The leaders were especially pleased because their cabins had their own bathroom and a refrigerator.

Saturday was filled with activities for the girls. They made crafts recycling old containers and they learned about the value of recycling. They went on a biodiversity scavenger hunt. They played games, they played Girl Scout baseball and they swam in the springs or the pool. Saturday was the day of the great downpour. It started at about 3:15, but it only lasted until 4.

The sky cleared in time to cook hamburgers and hot dogs on the grill. After supper, the girls gathered around the campfire. They roasted marshmallows, made Smores and sang songs. Sunday was cleanup day and check-out. The girls exchanged animal stories as they worked. Some had seen a snake, some a deer, and a few had seen a gopher tortoise.

A couple of the troops who were there just for the day Saturday left when the downpour began. That left Stardust with extra food. On Monday, they donated the food to the Safehouse of Seminole County.

Lyman High drama students present 'The Wizard of Oz'

You can't miss it! No matter what is going on in your life, take the time and a few dollars and see the Lyman High School Drama Department's presentation of "The Wizard of Oz." Maria Cruz as Dorothy is just as brilliant as Judy Garland was in the movie production, but Renee Derouin as the Wicked Witch and Almira Gulch (the old woman on the bicycle who takes Toto) are perfectly cast and absolutely scary. If you have small children, the sound of the witch's voice is bound to cause an initial "cover the eyes" reaction. The Munchkins will put a smile on the face of the most negative critic, especially the "Lollipop Guild" while they perform their shy and backward dance routine.

The presentation of "The Wizard of Oz" will be held on Oct. 26, 27 and 28, at 7:30 p.m. at Lyman High School; the cost is $4 in advance and $5 at the door. There will be a special show for groups of children on Oct. 25 at 7 p.m.; cost for the Oct. 25 performance is $3. Lyman High School is located at 865 S. County Road 427, Longwood. ## WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kelley Fore Jr.

Deanna L. Dyer, Marvin Fore Jr. exchange vows

OVIDO — Deanna Lynn Dyer and Marvin Kelley Fore Jr. are announcing their marriage today. They were married July 22, 1995, at 2 p.m., at First Baptist Church of Oviedo, Oviedo. Dr. Dwayne Mercer performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Anne Dyer of Oviedo and the bridegroom is the son of Kelley and Alida Fore.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a full-length white satin gown. The fitted bodice covered with lace daisies and seed pearls highlighted the off-the-shoulder neckline. The short sleeves featured the daisy motif; lace daisies and seed pearls bordered the gown's hemline. Her chapel-length train descended from a cascading bow at the back. Her fingertip illusion veil was held by a small tiara decorated with lace daisies and pearls with accompanying blusher. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, dendrobium, mixed greenery, ivory Casablanca lilies, stephanotis and Queen Anne's lace.

Shelley Shaw served the bride as matron of honor. She is a sorority sister from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala. She wore a long fitted fuchsia sheath gown. The cap sleeves were embellished with rhinestones. The back of the gown featured an open circle cut-out and a deep slit at the back. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink Stargazer lilies, pink lipo, white roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Bridesmaids were Stephanie Shirling, Diane Overton, Eugenia Vaughn, Danielle Matchen, all sorority sisters of the bride, and Jamie Jenkins. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Junior bridesmaids were Krystle Williams, Natalie Hammond, Kaley Kipl, all nieces of the bride. They wore white Battenburg lace dresses with pink sashes. They wore halos of baby's breath in their hair and carried small bouquets similar to the honor attendant's.

Jason Cooper served the groom as best man. He was a former roommate of the groom's at Samford University, Birmingham, Ala.

Tromblay honored as Valentine Girl

Laureate Alpha Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its September meeting at the home of Patricia Johnson. During the meeting, Laurel Tromblay was selected as the chapter's Valentine girl. Also, plans were made to assist the Safehouse of Seminole, this year's primary service project.

According to Grace Marie Stinecpher, an informative program on the Wekiwa State Park was presented by Marty Kenny, park attendant. Slides were shown on various aspects of the park while Kenny gave a fascinating narration. The group was interested to learn that the word Wekiwa means boiling and refers to the spring while Wekiwa means flowing and refers to the river.

DEAR ABBY: My father was killed in Vietnam in 1974. I was only 4 years old and don't remember much about him, but my mother kept his memory alive through stories and photos. They were childhood sweethearts, and after he died, she never remarried.

was so embarrassed I could have crawled into a hole. Abby, what would you have done in this situation?
DEAR ABBY: No need for you to have been embarrassed; it's happened to all of us occasionally.
I would have said, "These are my friends, 'Mimi' and 'Rhonda,' and you are ... (short pause)" at which point, he would have provided his name. Try it; it never fails.

There were lots of things I wanted to make up to you. When you returned from Vietnam, But you didn't.
Abby, my mom never wrote anything in her life, but this piece seems to describe my parents so perfectly I'm wondering how it could have come from anyone else.

What About Tomorrow

By KATHY McPHEAN
Grade 8

Not thinking past a day or two
Not planning for ahead
Never once stopping to listen in
On what Mom and Daddy said

Living in a sheltered world
A fairy tale to be
Not having the slightest clue
Of mere reality

Thinking everything will fall in place
In perfect shape and form
Not realizing that extra things
Take effort beyond the norm

Not planning for emergencies
Or mishaps unaccounted for
Not giving yourself a decent chance
By opening the future door

Not taking that key to success
And making it fit the lock
Always waiting for the opportunity
To come up to you and knock

Letting wonderful chances
Up and pass you by
Without even a bat
Or blinking of the eye

The further this keeps up
Never standing out
Will hurt you that much more
When your luck has all run out

'Cause one day it will hit you
And suddenly you'll say:
Oh what a fool I've been
To wait 'till the last day

So start planning now
'Cause when it's all done and said
You'll really regret that you
Didn't use your head.

Local students take part in economic program

By VICKI BUCHANAN

OVIDO — A group of Oviedo High School students are presently in training to be international investors in an import-export business.

The teens, all of whom are enrolled in Alan Musante's applied economics class at Oviedo, are taking part in Project GLOBE, a semester-long course designed and offered by Junior Achievement and the Eastern European Linkage Institute of the University of Central Florida.

The institute helps Central Florida high school students form partnerships with students in Eastern Europe for hands-on experience in operating a small joint-venture, international business.

A $800,000 grant from the United States Information Agency (USIA) will help about 100 students from across Orange County and from Oviedo High School.

Oviedo students will form a partnership with a group of students from Poland again this year.

Last year, a group of students also worked with a group of students from Poland.

They formed a partnership that started with letters, moved on to faxes and then took to cyberspace on the internet. A group of students from Oviedo, along with Musante, travelled to Poland for 10 days to meet their partners. A group of Polish students spent a little more than a week here in Seminole County.

The Polish students brought their amber jewelry to Oviedo where it was sold in the school Commons and around campus.

A group of students from the Republic of Moldova will be visiting six Orange County schools later this month.

The Moldovan students will join forces with teens at Dr. Phillips, Evans, Jones, Oak Ridge, West Orange and Winter Park high schools.

The students in Orange County will arrive on Oct. 27. The visitors to Seminole County will arrive during the second semester of this school year.

Junior Achievement is the nation's oldest, non-profit economic education organization for students in elementary, middle and high school.

More than 40,000 students and 2,256 volunteers participated in the local Junior Achievement programs in Central Florida.

Language laws rise against sound of new voices

By SALVIN WOODWARD

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — "One Flag, One Country," says Allentown's old downtown monument. But there are 18 languages in the valley it overlooks and strains on the sense of community hailed by its stone inscription.

Cities like this one, swollen by newcomers, their words and their ways, are driving efforts around the country and now in Washington to make English the official language.

While typically limited by the letter to making governments speak in one language, the push has wider goals: speeding assimilation, upending the "linguistic ghettos" that keep foreign schoolchildren in their native tongue, and in some cases discouraging immigration itself. "I'm an architect" by profession, says Mauro Mujica, a Chilean immigrant leading the group U.S. English and the fight for official English. "We build the foundation first."

A year after Allentown passed an ordinance urging the exclusive use of English in government, little has changed. So few documents were printed in other languages that Mayor William Heydt pegs savings at $36.

"Absolutely meaningless," the Republican says of the law he neither signed nor vetoed. "Basically you do what you want."

But if English-only laws like Allentown's have no teeth, they do have legs.

More than 20 states and 40 municipalities have laws de-

By JIMMY CAMPS

That day I would walk into class late and give myself a tardy. Then I would introduce myself. "Hi, class. Please call me Mrs. J. I want all of you to treat me like a student. Now we need to go over the rules."

The class moans, "Owww!" "Now class, I have only one rule. If you want to do work, then you get a detention."

"Now class, it's time to get the pizza."

"Now class, we're going to dance till the pizza gets here, but first we need to take care of those tests. But instead of doing the tests, we're going to rip them up. Next, I would like all of you to push your desks to the back of the room and sit or lie on the floor for the rest of the day. Oh yeah! I forgot one rule. It is that if you have something to say, don't raise your hand, just call out."

After that the pizza would have arrived and we would dance, drink, and eat pizza for the rest of the day!

Hey it could happen!

Secrets

By PRECIOUS BOLDEN
Grade 6

Secrets are meant to be kept. Sometimes. What do I mean, sometimes? Well, the kind of secrets that can be kept is the kind of secrets that a girl has a crush on a boy and you tell friends to keep it a secret.

The kind you shouldn't keep secret that you know if you don't tell can hurt the person who told you. Like for instance, a person told you that her uncle was beating her and she told you to keep it a secret. You don't know what to do, because when you tell the secret and the uncle finds out, the person can get in serious trouble.

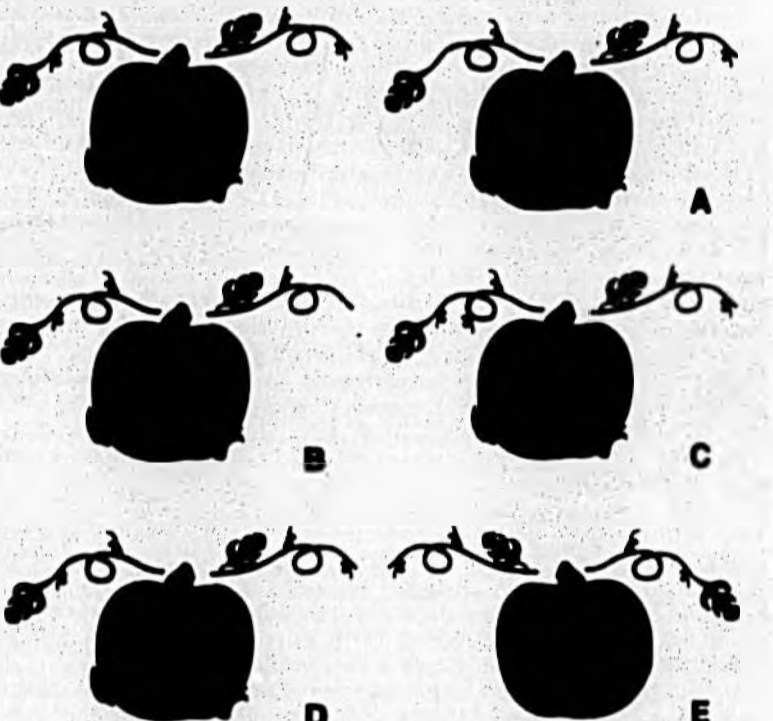

That's the kind of secret you should tell, but not the kind when a person has a crush on someone.

(Like the crush ... has on ... but don't tell anybody. It's a secret.)

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Cool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Oct. 15, 1995

You might feel exciting, fresh hopes awakened in you in the year ahead. They will be unrelated to your past interests and new friends might help bring them into being.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Family members or relatives might present you with opportunities of a material nature today. Listen attentively when a relative starts talking about his big ideas. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year by mailing $2 and BASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Some good news you've been hoping for is trying to break through to you at this time. There is a strong possibility you might even hear it today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take time today to analyze your circumstances from every angle. There is a possibility you've overlooked two significant opportunities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your leadership qualities might be very pronounced today. Your authority will seem obvious and you're not apt to be challenged if you step in and take charge of situations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today will be a good day to reclaim something of value that you loaned a friend. Asking for what is justifiably yours won't offend your pal.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Unique benefits could come to you today through two contacts in distant places. If your sources don't get in touch with you, get in touch with them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Do not lower your sights for your goals and objectives today. Anything realistic that you desire strongly enough will be achievable.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Get in sync with your mate today if he or she has something enterprising in mind. It is doable, but will require equal efforts from both to pull it off successfully.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A new channel might suddenly open up today to provide you with increased income. You might have to work harder, however, to garner rewards from this source.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Even if it requires adjustments in your social plans today, try to include a friend in your activities who recently did you a special favor.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Personally supervise any work or repairs done on or around your house today. Even if you called in professionals, make sure they're doing it properly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In fun, competitive activities with friends today, all eyes might be on you. If you win, do so graciously. If you lose, be equally gracious. Either scenario will help your image.

The world is full of plamrnts (sic) some funny, some unfortunate. Last August, an advertisement for a pharmacy not a million miles from where I live proclaimed: Free bag of sugar with any purchase of diabetic supplies.

That should have been sugar-free candy, apparently. I wonder what they pay for proofreaders.

In today's deal, South made a misplay, then claimed, as players do, that the light was bad.

Opposite a passed partner, South decided that a slam was out of reach. So he bid what he hoped he could make.

West led the heart 10. After declarer called for dummy's eight, East guessed well that his partner hadn't led a singleton.

Withholding his ace, East signaled encouragement with the seven.

South won with the king, drew trumps and played his club to dummy's queen. After winning with the ace, East switched to the diamond jack. West captured South's queen with his ace and returned his second heart. East taking two tricks in the suit to defeat the contract.

Declarer made his fatal error at trick one. If only he had played dummy's heart queen, the contract would have been safe. He could have finessed East out of his heart jack and held his losers to one in each side suit. (If necessary, South uses dummy's spade eight as an entry.)

Charles Schulz, in his Peanuts cartoons, has given Lucy many great excuses for missing routine fly balls in their Little League baseball games. My favorite is that light from the moons of Saturn had got in her eyes.

NEWS DIGEST

BRIEFS

Geneva Gardens shooting

A 28-year-old Sanford man was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center early this morning after he was shot at Geneva Gardens. Demetrius Hill told police he was approached by a black man who attempted to rob him as he left a woman's apartment at 12:07 a.m. Hill was shot once in the back. Sanford police Sgt. Pat Smith said the investigation into the shooting is continuing this morning.

Murder charges

Sheriff's deputies arrested Saul Rodriguez, 19, of Casselberry, and Jose Benitez, 20, of Deltona, in connection with murder. Deputies arrested the suspects early Sunday morning at the intersection of Red Bug Road and Rising Sun Blvd., near Winter Springs.

Seminole County sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said Rodriguez is accused of shooting to death an Orlando woman and wounding her boyfriend during a traffic altercation near the Frat House nightclub in East Orange County early Sunday morning.

McDonough said the wounded boyfriend, George Dumas, managed to chase the suspects in his vehicle while using his cellular phone to call 9-1-1.

Orange and Seminole County deputies responded and intercepted the suspects' vehicle near Winter Springs.

McDonough said a .45 caliber semi-automatic handgun was found near the suspects' vehicle. Deputies reportedly believe it was thrown from the car before it was stopped.

Rodriguez was charged with first degree murder. Benitez is charged with principal to first degree murder.

STOP meeting tonight

LAKE MARY — The Seminole County chapter of STOP (Stop Turning Out Prisoners) will meet tonight at 7 p.m. at the Lake Mary Police Department, 235 Rinchart Road.

Undersheriff Steve Harriett will brief members on the court hearing next month for Sean McCollum, 29. McCollum killed and dismembered his mother in July 1987 at the family's Winter Springs home. McCollum was found not guilty by reason of insanity. He was committed to the Florida State Hospital in Chattahoochee, sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said.

Psychiatrists want to observe McCollum for six months to a year. If his condition improves, they want to move him to a halfway house in Tampa. The sheriff's office and state attorney's office oppose any change in custody. The court will decide if the change is warranted.

AARP seeks tax volunteers

Volunteers are being sought for AARP's Tax-Aide Program. Tax-Aide counselors help prepare tax returns and assist with filing requirements for older taxpayers and others.

Individuals with an aptitude for tax work, experience in filing personal returns and good communication skills, are urged to sign up.

Volunteer counselors are trained by AARP in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.

Sign-ups are being sought now. Training begins in mid-January.

For information or to register, phone Bill Mack at 238-0557 or Bill Nelwander at 345-0816.

LONGWOOD — City officials were urged to take a long hard look at the pros and cons of providing ambulance transportation to area hospitals Monday night before opting to provide the service.

Under a contract with the county, LifeFleet Atlantic Ambulance has provided emergency medical services and transportation since 1991. Casselberry is the lone municipality which has provided ambulance transportation services to its citizens, rather than having LifeFleet transport patients. The city pays for the service through their property tax.

Longwood Fire Chief Charles Chapman noted the city has a certificate of necessity from the county to provide the service now, but has chosen to go along with the program in operation for most of the county.

LifeFleet's exclusive franchise ends in January but county commissioners have said they will thoroughly study the matter before making any decision. LifeFleet has offered to extend their service up to another year beyond the terms of the contract to allow time for study.
